Rural Study Club to Sponsor Scholarship

The Rural Women's Study Club will sponsor a Nurses Scholarship fund to help pay for the training of a Iosco girl who will take Nurses training. Michigan's quota of nurses this year is 675 and girls are urged to enter training. The various clubs and organizations, and individuals are planning to help the Study Club raise the $250.00 for the scholarship.

The Rural Women's Study Club met April 7 at the Vine School Club room with Mrs. Ivah Earl, president, in charge. The meeting was scheduled for one o'clock. Due to weather conditions election of officers, which should have taken place March 3, had to be held at this time. Officers for 1942 were re-elected for 1943.

At 2:30 our club gathered at the Tawas City Baptist church, guests of the Twentieth Century Club of Tawas City. Our club would like to take this opportunity to thank the ladies of the Twentieth Century Club for a very interesting and enjoyable afternoon.

Ladies Literary Club

The Ladies Literary Club held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon. Following the business meeting Jack Carlson sang two numbers, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Arvid Carlson; Mrs. C. E. Stringer played a group of selections. Mrs. Laura McKenzie gave an interesting paper on music in war time.

To My Friends

I am alone, yet not alone
So many friends are near
With words and acts of kindness
To comfort and to cheer.

As I travel on my way
I'd like to help you now,
I'll do it very gladly
If you'll only tell me how.

My Will is still beside me
I know he'll always stay,
Tho' his chair is, Oh, so empty
And his cane is put away.

My Savior walks beside me
I feel His presence near,
He comes to comfort in the dark
And takes away all fear.

So, tho' alone I'm not alone
And I will ever pray,
For faith to guide me onward
Toward His perfect day.

Annabel Davidson.

March 29, 1943.

Dear Mr. Thornton:
I thought that I would drop you a line to find out when my subscription for the paper is up. I don't want to miss it. It is really interesting for us in the service away from home. I really enjoy reading about the home town boys, and it seems good to find out where they are and what they are doing. Also about the home town folks.

Well, Mr. Thornton, I suppose it is still plenty cold up there. You should have some of our weather. It really is getting hot down here. The trees are all leafing out and the grass is getting green.

When I talk about trees, I mean the ones here on the post that were set out last fall. Off the post, there just isn't any, unless you go up in the mountains which are about 200 miles away.

When I was going home on my furlough, we rode from Roswell to Amarilla, Texas, which is about 300 miles, and if I remember right, I saw about four trees. Nothing like Michigan, is it?

The dust is plenty bad now and that the wind is doing OK at blowing, it really piles up like snow drifts back home. Why, the other day when the wind was blowing, the dust and sand were so bad that I saw a gopher ten feet up in the air trying to dig a hole. Believe it or not, but it really is bad.

I was recently promoted to Staff Sergeant, and also from crew chief on an AT-11 to aerial engineer on a B-25. I like the change very much because I am doing a lot of time in the air. That gives me a chance to see a lot of the country from the air, but it looks nearly all alike from 12,000 feet up. I have about 250 hours in the air. It gives a man a thrill, but it gets tiresome and old stuff, too. There is extra pay in it, which amounts to one-half of your basic pay.

An engineer's duty in combat is also a turret gunner, so some of these days I may be getting a chance to take a crack at some of these Zeros, which I'd love to do very much.

These ships that I'm on now are the same as the ones that bombed Tokio.

It is nearly time for me to go to work, so I'll have to close for this time, and I'm hoping to see all of the folks back home again some time this summer.

Good luck to all.
Staff Sgt. Andy A. Lorenz,
940th T. E. F. T. S.
R. A. F. S.
Roswell, New Mexico.

Gene Lickfelt, who has been awaiting his call to the Navy Air Corps for some time, received word last week to report in Detroit, Wednesday.

Funeral services were held Monday morning from St. Joseph church, East Tawas. Rev. Robert Neumann officiated. Burial was at St. Paul's Cemetery, Owosso.

Indian Princess Visits Iosco Schools

A visit by a real Indian Princess is being enjoyed by Iosco county school children this week, as Princess Watassa, health envoy of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, brings her dramatized health lessons here. This is one of the educational services financed by the tuberculosis Christmas seals. Princess Watassa's schedule, arranged by Russell Rollin, school commissioner, is as follows: Thursday April 15—At Hale and Whittemore, Friday, April 16—Tawas No. 2 and Tawas No. 3 in the morning, and East Tawas Public Schools in the afternoon. Monday—Tawas No. 9 and Tawas No. 5 in the forenoon, and Oscoda Public Schools in the afternoon.

Watassa, whose name means "bearer of happiness," uses authentic Indian legends many centuries old to illustrate proper health habits for children. Examples are taken from Indian lore to stress the value of bathing, sleeping long hours, eating proper foods and getting sufficient fresh air and sunshine.

In addition to the health rules, Princess Watassa tells of Indian life and customs.

St. Jude Circle

St. Jude Circle No. 674, Daughters of Isabella, held their business meeting at St. Joseph school, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Frank Lansky presided. The meeting opened with prayer and the pledge to the flag was given.

Plans were made for a bake sale to be held Saturday, April 23, with Mrs. Frank Berzhinski, chairman.

Mrs. Louis DeFrain was elected first guide and Mrs. Reuben Quarters, inner guard.

A letter from Mrs. Star Longe was read announcing the state convention to be held in Lansing, June 18, 19 and 20.

The next social meeting will be held May 4 at the K. of C. Club. Mrs. Leo Hosbach and Mrs. Gertrude Brabant will be co-chairmen of the affair.

Unlawful to Set Fires Without Permits

Conservation Officer A. G. Lietz gives warning to anyone wishing to burn brush and grass that it is unlawful, without first obtaining a fire permit to do so.

The law requires a permit to burn when the ground is not snow-covered to start or have an open fire except for domestic purposes and to protect the persons or property in case of fire, without written permission. Under Act 143 P. A. 1923, Act 139 P. A. 1929.

Fire permits can be obtained from Fire Warden C. R. Brown, Tawas City, Phone 377; Charles Bellville, Whittemore; Hale Fire Tower; Bert McGregor, Seven Mile Hill; Conservation Officer A. G. Lietz; Ranger Herman Olson, U. S. Forest Service; and the Silver Creek Fire Tower.

Conservation Officer Lietz said yesterday that he advised people who planned picnics to use public camp grounds.

Hitler's Children At Family Theatre

J. M. Thomsen, manager of the Family Theatre, announced today the forthcoming engagement of "Hitler's Children," one of the most powerful of anti-Nazi indictments yet to emerge from Hollywood.

This is the film dramatization of Gregor Zeimer's non-fiction best seller, "Education for Death," which shows the upbringing of German children along the lines of Nazi ideology. Items such as camp and rest home for unmarried expectant mothers, concentration camps, sterilization of women whose independent way of thinking make them "dangerous" in Nazi eyes, are told in the film, which ends with the slaying by storm troopers of a German boy and an American girl when they broadcast over the radio that the system is an alliance.

"Hitler's Children" shows next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 20, 21 and 22, at the Family Theatre. There will be no advance prices.

Unlawful

It is unlawful to dump junk of any description along the highway, states Jesse Sloan, Iosco County Road engineer, after viewing piles of cans and bottles on many of our county roads.

YOUR tape measure and a little figuring can help you save material when making those new slip covers. In estimating goods remember that the length and width of each section must be the same as the widest and longest measurement of the part of the chair to which it is to be fitted plus seams, seat tuck-in and flounce fullness. The method of measuring is shown here. Slip cover material usually comes in 36 and 50-inch widths. Frequently a narrow chair back may be covered by splitting a 50-inch width of goods. For other chairs 36-inch material might be cut to better advantage. If the material has a large figure an extra yard will be needed for matching and centering the design. Decide in advance which seams are to be accented with welting or trimming and measure them to determine the amount needed.

NOTE—Do the springs in your chairs need fixing? Mrs. Spears' new BOOK 9 gives illustrated directions for doing this. This book also contains more than 30 other thrifty ideas for keeping your home attractive in wartime. Copies of BOOK 9 are available at 15 cents each. Address:

Just a Natural Curiosity To Know One's Position

The manager of Super-Colossal Pictures entered the office. "Get out!" he howled at a young man sitting there. "While I'm boss I'll not tolerate any loafing around here."
"I beg your pardon," said the young man, "but I don't work here. I just came in looking for a position."
"Then you're engaged," growled the manager, "and now you're fired! Get out!"
The young man, surprised, picked up his hat and turned to the manager. "Do you mind telling me," he asked, "just what sort of a job I had before you fired me?"

War workers cars are being checked in company parking lots by at least one manufacturer to make certain that tires are kept in serviceable condition. If worker talks to have his tires re-capped in time he is denied further application either for tires or re-caps.
It takes three to eleven times normal distance to stop on snow or ice without tire chains, and you can't negotiate slippery hills with bare tires that spin on packed snow, waste gas and wear tires.
Each tapper on a rubber plantation is responsible for about 300 trees, which in one day's tapping will net an average of 50 pounds of latex, equal to about 17 pounds of dry rubber.

Sentinels of Health
Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide disturbance. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

To Hasten Victory

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse.

The most you can do is little enough compared with the sacrifice offered by our boys in service. They give their lives—you lend your money.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

Come on, Let's WIN this war!

If we should lose the war, life would not be worth living.

"But we won't lose it," you may say.

Listen, brother—in this world nothing's sure, unless you make it so.

This month it's up to us here at home to do our part, and then some, to make Victory surer—and quicker! To do it, we've got to lend Uncle Sam 13 billion extra dollars.

It isn't easy—but war isn't easy and Victory isn't cheap. It takes money—and more money—to buy planes, ships, tanks, guns and a million other things our boys must have to deliver that final, paralyzing knock-out punch.

And it's a whale of a lot easier for us at home to lend our money than for our boys to fight through the hardships and dangers of deserts, swamps, jungles, ice-fields and sub-infested seas!

Just think! Every extra bond you buy will help provide the weapons to save the lives of many American boys! Isn't that alone worth every effort, every economy you can make? You bet it is!

There are 7 types of U. S. Government securities to meet the needs of every purse. They offer the finest investment in the world—liberal interest, plus securities guaranteed by Uncle Sam himself.

A volunteer worker for the 2nd War Loan Drive may visit you soon. Welcome this unselfish patriot—and buy all the bonds you can. But don't wait for that call. Go—today—to your bank, investment dealer, broker, post office or bond booth and invest to your uttermost limit. Even if it hurts, it's nothing compared to the agonizing impact of a bayonet thrust, a flesh-tearing torpedo fragment or a bone-crushing bullet.

So dig deep, brother, and do it NOW!

There are 7 different types of U. S. Government securities—choose the ones best suited for you!

THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES . . . YOU LEND YOUR MONEY!

MARTINIQUE APPEASEMENT

How tolerant we have been of the French island of Martinique, for two years thumbing its nose at us with its bombing distance of the Panama canal, is illustrated by a conversation which took place between the state department's Sam Reber and treasury department officials.

Reber had gone to Martinique to negotiate with Vichy Admiral Robert regarding the airplane carrier, cruisers and six oil tankers rusting in Martinique waters. Subsequently, the state department announced that an agreement had been reached with Admiral Robert whereby these ships would be turned over to the U. S. A. Months have passed, however, with no result.

After state department envoy Reber returned, treasury officials asked him:

"What about the gold in Martinique? What is to become of that?"

They referred to 25 billions of gold francs still stored in Martinique.

"Oh," replied Reber, "that didn't come up."

"Wasn't it even mentioned?" asked treasury officials, who remembered how France had defaulted on her debts from World War I, still owing us several billion dollars.

"No," replied Reber, "did you think it would be safer up here?"

"Well, it certainly isn't very safe down there," countered the treasury.

"We decided," replied Reber, "that we didn't want to do anything which might infringe on the sovereignty of France."

That ended the matter. The gold is still in Martinique, and Admiral Robert, who apparently isn't much impressed by the subtleties of state department appeasement, has continued to thumb his nose at the United States.

RED CROSS DONOR

Several weeks ago Mrs. Roosevelt phoned the Red Cross to say that she wanted to donate blood to the Washington blood bank, but wanted no publicity.

Red Cross officials agreed and the visit went off without any fanfare. Mrs. Roosevelt merely took her place in line with other blood donors, rolled up her sleeve, had a pint drawn from her arm, and went on about her business.

Some weeks later, Red Cross officials were astounded to have Mrs. Roosevelt appear at the blood bank again. This time she had not telephoned, but they felt their pledge of no publicity still held good. Once again, the First Lady took her place with other blood donors, and scarcely anyone knew she had been there.

Red Cross officials wished they could have publicized the incident, because they were in the middle of their drive for funds. However, they did not do so, and this column learned of the facts quite by accident.

PAY BEFORE PATRIOTISM

War Production board officials tell of a heavy snow-and-sleet storm that blanketed Seattle and left the Boeing Aircraft plant snowbound, unable to operate for two days. By the end of the week roads had been opened, and Boeing broadcast a back-to-work call.

Men came to the gates of the plant, but stopped there. And they declined to go further until they could be assured of receiving time-and-a-half pay for week-end work.

"But you haven't put in 40 hours this week," officials retorted.

The men stood their ground, however, and Boeing officials telephoned Washington for advice. They talked with Madame Perkins, who ruled that nothing should be allowed to interfere with production and that the men should be paid.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

U. S. department chiefs have asked for the deferment of very few government workers, but local draft boards, acting on their own, have deferred a tremendous number simply because they worked for the government.

The diplomatic envoys of Honduras, Costa Rica, Salvador, Guatemala, and Nicaragua soon will become ambassadors extraordinary instead of ministers plenipotentiary. This would give all Good Neighbor diplomats the rank of ambassador except Haiti and the Dominican Republic; would also place them ahead of Australia, Canada and New Zealand.

Figures for accidents on the home front continue to be almost as tragic as war casualties. Ned Dearborn of the National Safety Council says that 93,000 Americans were killed and 9,300,000 injured last year.

Of the 26 British camera men who filmed General Montgomery's "Desert Victory," four were killed, seven wounded and six taken prisoner. . . . The film is imperfect and hard on the eyes because it was taken under battle conditions. But it is a great story of British heroism.

Only American journalist to visit the Japs' secret naval base, Truk, is Willard Price. In his book, "Pacific Adventure," he scooped the world on Japan's surreptitious plans to dominate the Pacific from Truk. Recommended as required reading for the state department.

PEAKING OF SPORTS

by Bob McShane

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

WHO was the greatest baseball player of all time?

Ty Cobb was voted that honor last year in a national poll conducted by the Sporting News. But not every authority agrees with that verdict.

Andy Coakley, baseball coach at Columbia university, is one of the dissenters. In a recent story by H. G. Salsinger, widely known Detroit sports writer, Coakley—former pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics—is quoted as saying that "The greatest player of all time was Sockalexis, the Indian. He had the speed, dexterity and agility of Cobb, the fielding genius of Tris Speaker and also his throwing ability. On top of that he had as much hitting talent as any man who ever swung a bat, and probably more. He was a master artist."

Ty Cobb

Sockalexis, according to Salsinger, was one of the most tragic—and least known—figures of baseball. When he made his big league debut he probably showed more natural ability than any other player before or since. He could hit, field and throw. Within a few weeks he was the most discussed man in the game.

But he lasted only two years. Before he reached the majors he never drank anything stronger than milk. Then, after sufficient urging on the part of a few of the boys, Sockalexis tried a glass of whisky. That was the beginning of the end. He liked the drink and from then on couldn't leave it alone.

Sockalexis became an out and out drunkard. None of the cures proved successful. He would slip away from his guards and wind up in an alcoholic stupor, sleeping in doorways or alleys. Managers finally gave up. He was ruined. He finally drifted out of the game, winding up on an Indian reservation with his own people. His death came in a few years—not long after the public had forgotten him.

Return Honors

Memories of another great Indian athlete were revived recently when two legislators introduced a bill in the Oklahoma legislature to have that body petition the AAU for the return of Jim Thorpe's Olympic medals and his name to the record books.

Such a step would pay proper homage to a legendary character, and it would come during his lifetime. Thorpe at present is employed in the protection service of a Detroit plant.

About 30 years ago Jim Thorpe's name was known in all parts of the world. In 1912 he performed near miracles by winning the pentathlon and the decathlon at the Stockholm Olympic games. The king of Sweden proclaimed the big American Indian the greatest athlete who ever lived.

But Thorpe's name can't be found in the record books today. It was only a short time after the 1912 games that he was found guilty of accepting a salary for playing a game of ball earlier in the summer. Despite the small amount involved—and it was said to have been $5—he was declared a professional.

All Around Man

The marks made by Thorpe have been bettered—but they were made 31 years ago. And few of the modern record holders could fare as well as the big Indian in the all-around test—including the 100 meter run, broad jump, shot put, high jump, 400 meter run, 110 meter hurdles, discus throw, pole vault, javelin throw and 1,500 meter run.

It must not be forgotten that, apart from his great showing in track and field, Thorpe played football at Carlisle Indian school. In fact, he is most widely known for his grid prowess. In the minds of many he is the greatest of all football players.

As a baseball player he had the ability to play with the New York Giants under the late John McGraw. He had one drawback that eliminated him from the majors—his inability to hit curve ball pitching.

Sporadic attempts have been made to return Thorpe's name to the record books and to give him back his trophies. It would be a fitting gesture to honor him thus. Usually such homage awaits the death of the individual most concerned. Then the whole affair has a very hollow ring.

SPORTS SHORTS

Cornelius Warmerdam, world's greatest pole vaulter, never enters competition until the bar reaches 14 feet—at which point most of his competitors have been eliminated.

Bob Zupke, former Illinois grid coach, named five newly born lambs on his Champaign, Ill., farm the "Whiz Kids"—after the Illini Big Ten basketball champions.

The Boston Braves of 1935 set the all-time mark for the least number of league victories with 39. But keep your eye on the Phils!

House Rejects Tax Proposals in Wild Session

The house of representatives climaxed a fiery session by refusing to accept the Ruml plan to forgive ten billion on 1942 income taxes to put taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis, as well as the administration's collect-at-the-source tax bill which would have started collecting 20 per cent from paychecks on July 1. The ways and means committee was ordered to bring out a new bill that would help the nation's income taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis. In this photo, made after the votes had been counted, Representative Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, supporter of the administration tax plan, and its leader, is congratulated by Representative Frank Carlson of Kansas, leader of the Ruml forces, who had embodied its proposals in his plan.

Pasturing Cows for First Time in Spring

Sudden Change in Diet May Lower Milk Output

Although luscious, green grass is one of the best dairy feeds, milk production may drop when cows are first turned out to pasture unless special care is taken to prevent it, says W. B. Nevens, professor of dairy cattle feeding, University of Illinois college of agriculture.

It is best not to turn cows to pasture for the first day until after they have been well fed in the barn, and then to limit the number of hours at pasture for the first two or three days. A sudden change from the feeding of hay, silage and grain-mixture to pasture feeding only may cause a sudden drop in milk flow and digestive disturbances.

Fresh, green grass is so palatable in early spring that cows will fill up on it if given the opportunity, but, because of the high water content of the grass, they fail to receive enough nutrients from grass alone to maintain high milk production.

A grain mixture should be fed to higher-producing cows throughout the pasture season, Nevens points out. Holsteins, Swiss and Ayrshires need about one pound of grain mixture for each three pounds of milk produced over and above 30 pounds daily, while Jerseys and Guernseys need about one pound of grain mixture for each 2.5 pounds of milk a day over and above 20 pounds daily.

If cows do not care for grain mixture when pastures are luxuriant, it may prove advantageous to take them from pasture one or two hours before feeding time so that they will consume the mixture more readily. The use of 1 1/2 to 2 per cent of salt in the grain mixture is also helpful. As soon as pasture grasses begin to ripen or become scanty in amount, the rate of feeding may need to be increased.

It may not be a zoot suit but it's the style for smart high school students this season.

Agriculture in Industry

By FLORENCE C. WEED

SHEEP

One industry where there is never a surplus is wool-growing. The United States has 472,000 wool producers and 46,000,000 sheep, yet 40 per cent of the nation's requirements must be imported. Two-thirds of our output comes from the Rocky mountain and West coast states. Chief producers are Texas, California, Wyoming, Montana, South Dakota and Ohio. We also produce each year, about 350,000,000 pounds of shorn wool and 60,000,000 pounds of pulled wool from slaughtered sheep.

After the fleece is removed from slaughtered sheep, the slag goes into glove leather, lining for shoes, sweat bands for hats, and college diplomas. The wool grease or Lanolin is used as a basis for medicinal ointments.

Sheep fat has wide uses in tallow, soap, stearine or oleo oil. As glycerine, it goes into anti-freeze liquids and finds uses in paints, cellophane, cosmetics and bases for polish. Blood is used in serums, medicines, weather-proof glue and animal feed and as a retardant for plaster.

It requires the glands of 100,000 lambs to make one pound of adrenaline, the powerful heart stimulant which has been known to cause a heart once stopped to resume its beating. Sheep intestines become strings for violins, cellos, harps and ukuleles and many other musical instruments. They are much used for surgical ligatures to tie blood vessels and sew wounds during operations. They are much favored because nature absorbs them while the wound is healing. The best quality of casings can be used for strings for tennis rackets.

Farm Notes

Agricultural insecticides and fungicides will be available in sufficient quantities this year for all farm and urban victory gardens.

The churning of sour cream is easier than the churning of sweet cream. You can sour, or ripen cream by keeping it at a temperature of about 70 degrees the day before churning.

WAR ON ALL FRONTS

A SERIES OF SPECIAL ARTICLES BY THE LEADING WAR CORRESPONDENTS

A Yank's Life In India

By William Chaplin

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with Woman's Home Companion.)

In the heart of New Delhi, capital of India, you will find the headquarters of the Tenth Air force of the American army. It is really a city of its own.

Before this war, there have been eight Delhis, six of which crumbled away with declining civilizations. Beginning of the war found still in existence the seventh Delhi, a typical teeming eastern city of rickshaws, sleeping coolies and wandering cows; and the eighth Delhi, a governmental suburb of broad streets and fine buildings known as New Delhi.

Now that the Yanks have come to India, there has come into being a community which may well be called the ninth Delhi.

When my plane arrived in India I drove to the Imperial hotel, then the American headquarters, along streets my taxi shared with camel caravans, bullock carts, motor buses, bicycles and pony carts. On broad tree-lined Queensway we ran between empty lots where ground was broken for construction projects.

Already foundations were at work on fresh foundations and loose-limbed hill-women with rings in their noses and heavy silver anklets clanking above their bare feet were carrying bricks on their heads.

I stayed in India six months and long before I left the ninth Delhi was completed and occupied, with the American flag flying before the headquarters building and thousands of American soldiers comfortably installed in their new quarters.

Bomb Japs in Burma.

As I write, British troops are still pouring across the Burma border and members of the American Tenth Air force are bombing Japanese installations in Burma. America didn't get into the war in time to give mass aid to preventing the loss of Burma, but by wise planning they got there in time to take part in its reoccupation. Theirs is destined to be a vital part in turning the tide of war in the East.

The ninth Delhi, spread along both sides of Queensway for half a mile, comprises two-story barracks, officers' quarters, office buildings, hospital and post exchange. Last but far from least are the mess halls, where Yank soldiers eat as do few armies on either side of this war.

While the barrack room bearers are making the beds and comparing admiring notes on their new masters, the boys themselves are eating a breakfast that might just as well have been prepared in East Orange, N. J., or Terre Haute, Ind. Fruit, eggs, much of the meat and all the fresh vegetables are purchased locally, but there's a good sprinkling of canned and packaged goods brought through half a dozen submarine zones so the boys can have the kind of meals that mother used to make.

Yanks Eat American Style.

The American soldiers in India are eating American style in the army mess halls, but healthy curiosity has led them to make a thorough investigation of Indian food as well.

The little restaurants are always crowded with them, nibbling strange curries, savoring hot spices, perhaps even trying a chew at the red betel nut the Indians think good for their digestion. And a particular favorite is a rich pastry covered with real silver leaf.

The Indians think silver is good for their insides. The Americans don't take much faith in that, but they do get a kick out of eating real silver. Some of them are writing home warning the folks to lock up the family silver after the war; they say they might forget where they were and chew up Aunt Lou's best creamer or swallow those souvenir spoons from the World's fair.

These men of the Indian AEF are mechanics, clerks, cooks, technicians of a hundred different kinds, and they put in a full day at their appointed tasks unstayed by sun or dust storm or monsoon. But they have their fun while they can get it.

A tonga is a two-wheeled cart drawn by an undersized, mangy but spirited Indian pony. There is one broad seat, separated into two by a back rest running from side to side. Thus two passengers can ride facing forward and two facing backward.

The man who invented tongas didn't know much about the laws of balance. If two passengers take a tonga and sit in the back seat, the shafts go up in the air so high the pony has to walk on tiptoe. To counteract this the driver crawls out on the right shaft and operates as a sort of off-side jockey.

House of Future To Be Miracle of Comfort, Health

After-Victory Home to Be Within Range of Low-Income Group.

The "Miracle Home of the Future," already on the architects' drawing boards for construction as soon as this World War Two has reached its victorious completion for the United Nations, will be as startlingly new and different from the old traditionally-built type of house as day is from night.

The house of the future will be truly a miracle home, having as its first objective, comfort and health at low cost.

There will be movable walls that open a side of the house to the garden, or that can be shifted to change the size and shape of the room, thus providing additional variety in room outlines, and extra space for entertaining or for temporary sleeping quarters for an over-night guest.

Electrostatic installations will dust, sweep and sterilize every room. Mechanical servants will take over most of the drudgery of routine housekeeping tasks. Climate-proof construction will guard health, shut out summer heat and also the chill of wintry blasts, thus cutting down heating cost.

A crusader for better living, Bror Dahlberg, president of Celotex, is a firm believer that mass production will be the keynote of the building era to come.

"War is the most important thing at hand now," said Dahlberg, in a recent interview, "but even as we put every ounce of strength into the support of our armed forces, we must look forward to providing better living in the time of peace that will follow."

Air conditioning will provide an important contribution to the home of the future. Astounding improvements have been made in this science, enabling it to now provide fresh, healthful and tempered air adjusted to the seasons. It can be arranged so that pressing a button will deliver the aroma of alpine firs, the soft, night breeze of the tropics, or the health-giving dry air of the desert. Sufferers from asthma and hay fever, in particular, will find this latter a godsend.

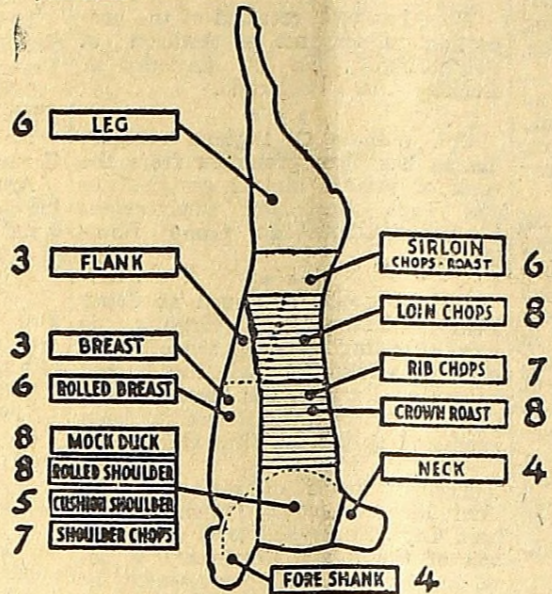

Available for the new miracle home will be invisible artificial illumination that will be automatically controlled by variations in the amount of daylight. Large, decorative picture windows and many household fixtures will be of a new type of glass, shatter-proof and practically unbreakable. Cabinet work and trim will be of a wood so treated that it will not burn.

These homes will not be identical in appearance, but instead, the builder or purchaser will have a wide range of selection in shape, size and exterior effects.

The homes will be within the purchasing reach of the low-income family. Some will sell as low as $2,500, including the price of the lot, while those of more expensive and elaborate built-in fixtures and equipment will be within the $6,000 mark.

FUN FOR YOUR FAMILY

By MISS ABBIE CONDIT

National Recreation Association.

Spring fever may make some individuals lackadaisical, but most persons suffering from an attack want to get out and do things. This is one of the reasons why spring is an excellent season for parties. Why not make yours a real spring affair centered about the garden, since everyone's interest turns naturally to the outdoors at this time of year?

Write your invitation on a pastel card or a white card with sketched or cut-out flowers brightening a corner. Setting the mood for a gay, informal party, your invitation—a recipe for a spring party—might read as follows:

Take "the flowers that bloom in the spring";

Add a glimpse of birds on the wing—Some trees resplendent in green array,

And the balmy evening of some spring day.

Add a dash of gardening lore, One portion of games—maybe more—

Stir in some people in festive mood; And a better spring party has never been brewed!

Place below the verse your name, address, and the date and time of the party.

Games.

Spring Winds Blow. Have all persons on one side of the table belong to one team, and those on the other side to the second team. A ping-pong ball is placed in the center and the players provide the "spring wind"—without any assistance from hands which must be kept under the table. The object is to blow the ball off the table on the opposite side and to keep it on the table on your side. Each time the ball goes off the table a point is scored for the opposite team. Set a total of points for a game.

Selecting Seeds for the Garden. This game is also played about the table. The end player of each team receives a cup with a certain number of pumpkin seeds in it. Each player has two toothpicks to play the game. The captain removes one seed from the cup, using the toothpicks as chopsticks. He hands the cup to the next player in line, who takes out a seed. The cups are passed up and down the lines until all the seeds have been taken out. The team finishing first is the winner.

Aligning Rows for Planting. A string stretched from one end of the row to the other is the gardener's way of insuring straight rows. It is up to these gardeners to find the string in this case. Before the party, cut up a ball of string into two or three-foot lengths, and hide the pieces about the room (under rugs and tablecloths, for example). Each team searches for the string. As a player finds a piece, he takes it to the captain who ties it to the rest of the string which his team has found. At the end of the time limit, the team with the longest piece of string wins.

Picking Flowers. The gardens planted at this party grow very quickly, so this game is next in order. Prepare the "flower gardens" by sticking long nails in the tops of cardboard boxes: one "garden" to each team, and several more "flowers" than there are players in a team. Place beside each garden a pair of heavy canvas gloves, a sun-bonnet, a pillow, a box and pliers. The head players of each team race from the other end of the room and perform these actions in exact order: put on the gloves, don the bonnet, kneel on the pillow in front of the garden, "pick a flower" with the pliers, stand up and flower in the box, stand up, take off the hat, take off the gloves, and return to the starting point. If a player makes a mistake, he must return to the starting line and begin over again. Each member of the team goes through these actions. It sounds simple, but there will be many a slip before the winning team is announced.

VFW Sponsor Knife Drive for Armed Forces

In answer to an appeal from the war department, the state department of North Dakota, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States recently sponsored a knife collection campaign for the benefit of the armed forces. Local VFW units throughout the state co-operated in collecting several hundred knives which will be sent to men in jungle areas where the possession of a knife, either to hack his way through the dense undergrowth, or to present to a native in return for food and water or guidance, may often save the life of an American soldier.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

PETER AND JOHN IN GETHSEMANE

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 26:36-46; John 18:10-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation. Matthew 26:41.

The morning of that great day when atonement was made for the sins of all the world was nearly at hand. In the darkness of the night, following the institution of the Lord's Supper, and the words and prayer of our Lord (John 15-17), He and His disciples came to the Garden of Gethsemane. Taking three of His disciples He went deeper into the shadows to pour out before the Father His soul, "exceeding sorrowful even unto death."

It is a sacred scene, and we feel a sense of awe and reverence as we approach it, feeling that we too would prefer to tarry outside the garden, did we not feel that we should try to understand a little better what took place that night.

We are especially concerned with Peter and John, who with James shared our Lord's sorrow up to a point, and then so sadly failed Him. We note that they had a

I. High Privilege (Matt. 26:36-38).

To be asked by Christ to stand by in this crucial hour was to be entrusted with one of the greatest privileges a man could ever know. As there swept over His holy soul a great tidal wave of sorrow unto death, He wanted and needed their fellowship. As Dr. Maclaren puts it, He "grazed the very edge" of human endurance. "Out of the darkness He reaches a hand to feel the grasp of a friend, and piteously asks these humble lovers to stay beside Him; not that they could help Him bear the weight, but that their presence had some solace in it. His agony . . . they could not bear with Him, but they could watch with Him, and that poor comfort is all He asked."

Undoubtedly they intended to do it. Jesus bore witness that their spirit was willing (v. 41), but in spite of that, and all the boasting of Peter at the table that he would never desert Him, they failed Him in His hour of need. It was

II. Sad Weakness (vv. 39-46).

Our Lord's prayer showed great faith in God the Father, the terrific recoil of His soul against being blackened with the burden of sin, and a complete surrender to the Father's will. Here was true denial of self and submission to God, but it was nonetheless an appalling experience for our sinless Lord. So He went back for fellowship with His three trusted friends—and they were asleep.

Jesus recognized that the weakness of the flesh caused them to forget and slumber. We may profit by a little closer scrutiny of the scene. Was it just a physical tiredness? That doubtless entered in, but was not Jesus even more tired than they could possibly be? Was it not rather the weakness of indifference? They did not yet fully believe that their Lord was about to die. That was why they were quickly scattered in unbelief when He did die. This matter was not so serious in their sight, so it was not difficult to yield to the tired body and the deep, quiet darkness, and fall asleep.

We are in much the same position. Danger—grave, spiritual danger—threatens our souls, our families, our nation. We who call ourselves Christians have declared our readiness to stay awake and alert. But we have become at home in this world, the enemy soothes us with the assurance that all is well, time goes on and nothing too serious happens. So, we go to sleep right in the midst of danger, and sleep on even though the Master awakens us again and again.

But now the scene changes. The mob has come to take Christ, and then the sleepy Peter, now much awake, indulges in

III. Foolish Courage (John 18:10-12).

The act of Peter was courageous, even to the point of recklessness. What chance had he against a great armed multitude? It was the natural impulse of a loving heart, but it was misguided and foolish.

What did he think to accomplish—to deliver Jesus from those who would crucify Him? That would have meant no death on the cross and no redemption. The hour for the offering up of the Son of Man as Saviour had come. Peter might have learned that with our Lord in the garden, but then he was asleep. Christ who had hitherto walked right through the crowd of enemies (Luke 4:30), now submitted. In the dark hours of the night He had been prepared to drink this bitter cup (v. 11).

We need to learn from this experience of Peter's lest we make the same mistake. There are all too many in the Church who are asleep as far as its spiritual struggles and opportunities are concerned, who are eager to wield a reckless sword in outward conflict. In their folly and ignorance they do more harm than good, and yet they think they are working for Christ.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE

Resolution
"Whereas, in the operation of the Army Air Base at Oscoda, Michigan, the military authorities have transferred a contingent of soldiers of the Negro race, and apparently intend to transfer additional contingents, for training and other military operations there,
"Whereas, such soldiers of the Negro race create social and racial problems in such a community where there are no persons of the Negro race and never have been and where there are no facilities for the entertainment of such colored persons, and
"Whereas, although this Board of Supervisors representing the entire county of Iosco, is mindful of the sacrifices this community must share in the cause of the United States and its allied nations in its total war against its enemies, such Board is of the belief that the war effort is not advanced by placing Negro soldiers at a military base in a small community composed entirely of white population, but rather that it is detrimental to such effort and to the morale of the soldiers and civilians affected;
"Resolved by this Board, that the War Department be requested to remove Negro soldiers from the Oscoda Air Base and to refrain from sending others there, but rather to avail itself of the multitudinous communities and bases where such social and racial problems could not arise."
