Friday night was probably the last evening the boys of my old crowd would be together. At least, it was the last evening they were sure of being together. The following day they were to go home for a week's furlough. On their return, next Monday, they will be assigned to their permanent stations to enter the field as soldiers. So they arranged to hold a party Friday night on the river beyond Fayetteville. There was one Sunday evening When we rode to the river in our when Sher started a letter to his chartered bus, we rang the welkin with the old songs-the faintly frathese stay-at-home nights, the best grant songs you pick up through the years and the "Caisson Song" solution is to go to the second barracks down the line. There's noand "Old King Cole" that you learn in the Army. They were boisterous, those songs, but a melancholy strain body down there except fifty-eight members of the band, who are always rehearsing at this time of night. ran under all of them.

At the party we ate barbecue and we drank beer and we recalled the best anecdotes of the training cycle. We sang and we shouted. Two or three of the boys dipped a little too entreating them to return him to his deep into the keg and became slightly sentimental. And although the food and the beer were the best, the songs were the songs we loved and the anecdotes were the cream of the season, it was empty joy. It had a dull undercurrent of sorrow. It was the sort of feeling that you know in the last hour before the New Year's bells, the feeling that reaches its fullest when "Auld Lang Syne" is heard.

Since we left our homes last July we've learned a lot. Drills and rifles, pup tents and gas masks, all of that.

This, though-the scattering of our first fraternity-is another thing we have learned, now and for the first time. It is our first lesson in a new kind of homesickness, bred only in the Army.

JESUS BUSY WITH HIS MINISTRY OF LOVE

LESSON TEXT-Mark 1:32-45. GOLDEN TEXT-I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work.--John 9:4.

Jesus said that He "must work the works of him that sent him" (John 9:4). And so we find Him going straightway about His Father's business. It is a good example He has set for us.

What He did and how He did it will give us many lessons which we may apply to our service. We cannot do exactly what He did, but in His power we may do mighty works. We find our Lord doing four important things-

I. Healing (vv. 32-34).

We will do well to include verses 29-31 in our thinking, for there we find our Lord tenderly sharing the sorrow of the home of a friend. One can picture the anxious hush that hovered over the home as distressed relatives and friends sought to alleviate the suffering of the one with a fever. They knew the possibility of a serious outcome of the illness. Many of us have gone through that dark valley. All at once there was new hope, and soon there was joy. Jesus had come and had brought healing. Many of us have also had that blessed experience. Christianity is not a selfish faith, if it follows its Lord. We see in verses 32 to 34 that all the city came to His door with the diseased and demon-possessed, and He healed them all.

The account of the kindly and intelligent care of the sick is written large on the pages of the history of the Christian church. We do not have His divine touch of immediate healing, but we may have His compassion which served the multitude with tenderness and kindness.

II. Praying (vv. 35-37).

The Son of God sought out a place and a time for prayer communion with His Father. How often we who Water is GI lemonade. Salt is profess to follow Him fail to pray sand or Lot's wife; pepper is at all. Certainly we need the grace specks; sugar is sweetening com- and power that prayer can bring far pound. Milk is cat beer; butter, more than Jesus did. But, we say, gfat. Ketchup is blood. In the we are so busy. So was He. We untiring imagination of the soldier, are tired. So was He. III. Preaching (vv. 38, 39).

Grind or crush corn and cereal grains used in the grain mixture. A coarse to medium grind is preferred to finely ground material, especially where wheat is concerned.

Utilize miscellaneous forages, such as pumpkins or turnips, to replace roughages or grain for cows and growing heifers. One ton of pumpkins equals 400 pounds of mixed hay or 800 pounds of corn silage; one ton of turnips equals 500 pounds of mixed hay or 250 pounds of oats.

Changing Kind of Hay.

The choice of hay, and the manner of feeding are also important considerations. Even if your roughage is the best, it may not be doing a 100 per cent efficient job if your cows grow tired of it. When this happens, there should be changes made, a hay of a different plant source fed, if possible. Even changing the hay to an inferior quality will often cause production to pick up because the animals will eat more of it for a time. When consumption again decreases, another change can be made. With hay of poor quality, enough of it should be allowed so that the cows may have opportunity to pick over it. Smaller amounts fed at more frequent intervals is also a good hay feeding policy. Some dairymen who have the highest producing herds feed hay four or five times a day. Calves Need Vitamins.

Calf feeding hay should be bright, free from dust and leafy. One of the best calf hays is early cut clovertimothy mixed hay. The calves need the vitamins A and D that are in it to build strong healthy bodies.

Too many farmers call their poorest hay "bull hay." In light of the most recent information, bulls should get hay of equal quality with the milking herd. The production management of the herd, as far as freshening dates of the cattle are concerned, depends upon the bull.

Creosoting Posts Will

Lengthen Their Service

Creosote treatment gives a much longer life to nondurable woods, recent tests of the durability of fence posts under Mississippi Delta conditions show. They were conducted by J. E. Davis of the U. of Illinois. Creosote - treated posts were classed after 41/2 years as either "sound" or "partly decayed but still serviceable." Among untreated posts, Osage orange was definitely superior to other varieties, but black locust and red mulberry had fairly satisfactory scores.

Second-growth bald cypress, honey locust and overcup oak showed serious decay, with from less than a half to less than one-fourth of the posts serviceable. An "unserviceable" post would break off.

Hill-grown black locust proved more durable than posts from trees that grew more rapidly in fertile Delta soil. There was little difference between posts cut in summer and in winter. The treated posts -including loblolly pine, shortleaf pine, southern cottonwood and sweet gum-were not considered worth testing without creosote treatment.

disobeyed the instructions of Jesus (v. 44), with the result that the Lord's ministry in that place was greatly limited.

We should obey the commands of God without question, and without any deviation from them. Disobedience, even though it be by reason of great joy and enthusiasm, results in confusion. The smitten man cried out, "If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean." And Jesus said, "I will . . . and he was cleansed." So may the sinner be cleansed, for "whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Rom. 10:13). He will not turn the

Advertising Manager C. W. Hungerford Takes Over Duties as Acting Assistant to President George M. Welch of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company

Detroit-W. Calvin Patterson, assistant to president in charge of public relations for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, has been loaned to the Morale Services Division of the War Department to act as assistant to Major General Frederick H. Osborn, director, according to announcement by George M. Welch, president of the company.

The Morale Services Division is responsible for the planning and supervision of matters relating to the maintenance and improvement of morale within U. S. Army Forces throughout the world. In accomplishing its mission, it operates information services to acquaint military personnel with the background, causes and current developments of the war. Army newspapers, films, news reels, radio and news services are used in this global operation. The division also conducts the Army Orientation Course and educational programs for troops, consisting of correspondence and self-study courses, educational films, exhibits, lectures and group instruction.

Washington, D. C. FARM LAND BOOM

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard will soon trot up to Capitol Hill with a proposed bill in his pocket to put an end to the farm land boom. He is keenly worried about speculation in farm properties, has made a couple of speeches on that subject, but has not disclosed the full extent of the penalties he will propose to stop land speculation.

His bill carries a tax of 90 per cent on profits from the sale of farms held less than two years. In other words, if a farm is bought and then sold again in a few months, the deal is obviously for speculation, not for farm production, and the profit would be practically confiscated by the proposed tax.

Farm sales are so heavy that, if the present trend continues, they will surpass those of 1919-20, which was a record year. Iowa farm land, for example, is bringing $225 an acre.

Wickard has evidence indicating that the men engaged in this speculative buying are not farmers, and most of them are not even residents of farm areas. They are investment houses and insurance companies, who have money lying around loose and think they can make a killing, as they did in World War I.

The record of their speculation in that period is still written black on the pages of farm history. It is seen every time AAA makes benefit pay-ments, for the largest checks in many states go, not to individual farmers, but to insurance companies and banks which have bought land or taken it over by foreclosing mortgages.

Wickard is prepared for opposi-tion to his bill. However, the opposition will come, not from farm elements, but from the speculators, and also from Wall street brokers who fear that the next move might be a capital-gains tax on stock-market operations. * * *

ELK HILLS BOILS

Latest developments in the Elk Hills oil controversy are known only to those who can see the inner workings of the cabinet.

Attorney General Biddle was expected to denounce the navy's con-tract with Standard Oil of California as illegal. The reason he didn't is that two cabinet colleagues got next to him and changed his tune.

Experts in the justice department have declared the contract definitely illegal, and passed their findings along to Biddle. Biddle, in turn, was expected to tell the house naval affairs committee the same thing, with the result that congress would undoubtedly recommend condemna-tion. Thus, Standard of California would relinquish all the property to the government.

But when Biddle appeared before the committee, he pulled his punches. Instead of declaring the contract illegal, he merely stated finishing eighth. that he had "grave doubts" about it.

SONJA HENIE, whose ice shows have thrilled millions, still is breaking records. It is likely that she will set an all-time mark for any performance by playing to 340,000 customers in the 20-day run at the Chicago Stadium.

And the petite skater has another record-one of which she is equaly proud. To date she has sent four leading men to the armed forces. Stewart Raeburn, her first leading waltz performer, is a major in the Canadian army. Harrison Thomp-son is overseas with the signal corps, Gene Turner is in the air corps and Gerry Steffen is with the ski troopers. The latter performer is the son of the old lightweight champion, Willie Ritchie.

It should be reported, too, that Dan Topping, her husband, is in active service.

The 1943-44 Henie ice extravagan-za has 60 girls and 30 boys. A year ago there were 38 men in the show, but 34 of that original group are now in the armed forces. Most of the boys in the show are less than 17 years, and in some instances it is necessary for the girls to dress and serve in boys' roles.

World Audience

Probably the most widely known woman athlete in history, Sonja's career has been remarkably successful. Through her ice shows millions of people have seen her in person. Millions more-in many parts of the world-have seen her in pictures.

The records show she had her share of disappointments before victory came her way. At the tender age of 10, Sonja competed in her first world championship, finishing last although she already was Nor-way's best. In 1924 she competed in her first Olympic championship,

In the 1926 world's championship at Stockholm she was runner-up to Helmar Szabo, figure skater from Vienna. The following year Sonja replaced Szabo as champion after the latter had held the title four consecutive years. She was 13 when she won her first world's title and only 16 when she won her first Olympic crown at Oslo in 1928.

WHEN it comes to flattery and all out charm-it would be hard to exceed this gay, young . . .

The committee was expecting a forthright statement. Even its chairman, Congressman Vinson of Georgia, who is very close to navy officials, privately favors condemnation.

Secret of what happened is this. Two cabinet colleagues got hold of Biddle's coattails. One was Secretary of the Navy Knox, who was responsible for the contract in the first place; the other was Harold Ickes, whose Petroleum administration is headed by a Standard Oil of California executive.

The fight is not over. Look for fireworks in public hearings before the committee next month.

SUBSIDY ISSUE POSTPONED

The 9-8 vote by which the Bankhead anti-subsidy bill was defeated in the senate banking and currency committee came as a surprise to insiders.

When they first took it up behind closed doors, most members of the committee figured that the bill would be reported out favorably and that Roosevelt would suffer a resounding defeat on subsidies. As it turned out, the deciding vote for subsidies was cast by Republican Senator Joseph Ball of Minnesota, whom Bankhead supporters considered in their anti-subsidy camp.

Terrific pressure had been exerted on Ball by some of the big dairy interests in his state. However, the young Minnesotan is a fearless statesman who believes in putting the interests of the nation and of the majority of the people over special or state interests. He not only voted against the inflationary Bankhead bill, but also against the Taft compromise which was licked by a lopsided vote.

TIP ON PEACE RUMORS Note to New York stock brokers: When you get panicky over peace rumors, read the following words of Col. N. B. Briscoe, commanding officer at Fort Knox, Ky.: "There is much talk of early peace. If you were in a poker game, consider when you would like the game to end. Obviously that would be when you had all the chips in played 478 out of a possible 480 front of you. The Germans and the Japanese would be greatly pleased to make peace now while they hold captured possessions."

Sonja declares that the closest competition she ever had was during the 1936 Olympics at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, when she faced 23 of the world's ranking skaters from 12 countries. She finished the school figure competition with a the school lighte competition with a narrow three - point margin over Cecilia Colledge, an exceptionally talented English star. A brilliant performance in the free skating en-abled Sonja to beat Miss Colledge by the scent margin of 424.5 points by the scant margin of 424.5 points to 418.1.

Royal Welcome

A week later she competed in the tenth world's championship in Paris, where 16,000 spectators jammed the indoor sports palace to see the twinkling Norwegian star skate to an easy victory over her 15 rivals.

King Haakon VII of Norway witnessed her 1928 victory and became one of her most ardent "fans." It was through him that she was made Knight of the Order of St. Olaf-one of the few women ever to be honored in such manner.

Spills are an inevitable part of ice skating—and Sonja has had her share of them. Her most embar-rassing tumbles were taken during a performance before King George and Queen Mary of England. Badly flustered, she fell three times. It is an episode she would just as soon forget.
