Farmer Pulpwood Cutters to Retain Deferment Status

Farmers having an agricultural classification of 11-C or 111-C may work in the woods cutting timber or in the sawmills during the slack farm season without fear of losing their deferment status, the Isosco County Selective Board stated today. Any farmer, after completing the fall harvest or on odd days between regular farm work, who wishes to work in the local lumbering industries should first ask the Isosco County Selective Service Board for a permit entitling him to work in the local mills or on woods jobs. The Board emphasized that persons leaving the farm for work in the local lumbering industries must return to the farm in time for the spring planting season or lose their farm status. Farmers having dairy herds may work part time also as long as their cows are adequately handled. The urgent need for forest products of all kinds is recognized by the Isosco County Selective Service Board and they are publishing this statement in an effort to boost the production of sawlogs, lumber, pulpwood, ties, boy bolts, posts and the numerous other vitally needed wood products.

Every farmer who is not fully occupied in farming activities or other war work at this time of the year is urged to make application for this permit and get into the woods and sawmills to produce the materials for the planes, ships, trucks, cranes, and numerous other items the boys at the front urgently need.

TAWAS CITY WINS FROM EAST TAWAS

High School Basketeers Take Five Games During Week

In the presence of a thrilled crowd which completely filled the local high school gymnasium last Friday night, Tawas City won two out of three closely contested games from East Tawas, with the third, the girls' game, a tie.

Clare Herriman, Tawas City Reserve sharpshooter, was absent because of the measles. Olen Herriman, Tawas City Reserve guard, was handicapped because of a very hard cold which slackened his speed and impaired his effectiveness. The whole Reserve team was off balance and under considerable nervous strain.

However, the boys did manage to defeat their opponents seven to eleven. The East Tawas boys collected only on point out of possible eight tries at free throws, and the Tawas City boys made five points out of ten attempts. Olen Herriman garnered four points out of four tries at free throws. Each team made only three field goals, so the Tawas City boys won this game by the way of the free throw lane.

The game was a hard fought affair with East Tawas leading at the end of the first quarter 4 to 5. Tawas City took the lead in the second stanza and maintained it throughout the contest. The Tawas City Reserves have a chicken dinner coming because they were able to defeat their worthy opponents, the East Tawas Reserves.

The Tawas City and East Tawas Girls' teams battled to a 20 to 20 tie. East Tawas lead at the end of the first quarter 1 to 3 and kept the lead during the second quarter which ended 6 to 5.

During the third quarter, Tawas City collected nine points, and East Tawas gathered eight points. This quarter ended in a 13 all tie.

Eunice Ross shot a field goal within seconds after the fourth quarter started, but Kenow, East Tawas forward, soon afterwards sunk a field goal for her team. Linda Libka shot a field goal for Tawas City, and Vaughan retaliated with one for East Tawas. Eunice Ross again shot a field goal, and again, Vaughan retaliated. The last quarter was very thrilling with the score sliding back and forth from a lead of two points to a tie. Our girls have been wondering whether or not the bell might have rung just a little too early or a little too late.

Eunice Ross dropped five field goals and one free throw through the ring for total of eleven points. Donna Moore shot two field goals and one free throw.

Elsie Vaughan, the sharpshooting forward for East Tawas, was confined within due bounds by the excellent guarding of Norma Westcott. Miss Vaughan was permitted to shoot only four field goals. Elsie Rollin and Hazel Galliker also played a very effective defense game.

The East Tawas Girls made two points out of nine attempts at free throws, and the Tawas City Girls made four points out of ten attempts. The Tawas City Girls were promised a chicken dinner for a defeat over East Tawas. They did not lose, neither did they win. Our girls have asked their coach, Miss Benedict, (Turn to No. 2 Back Page)

Whittemore Loses Here

The Tawas City Girls' basketball team defeated the Whittemore Girls here Wednesday evening 25 to 4. The Whittemore Girls could collect but two field goals. All the Tawas City reserves were used at some time during the contest and each one made an excellent showing. Seven different forwards and ten different guards were used by Tawas City. All the forwards made at least two points each. Linda Libka and Eunice Ross each collected five points during the short time in which each played.

Although the Whittemore girls put up a hard fight, they were completely outclassed by the Tawas City girls.

The Tawas City Varsity defeated the Whittemore Varsity 37 to 13. Roy Landon, Tawas City forward, thrilled the crowd by dropping long shots through the hoop from the corners. Roy sank nine field goals and one free throw for a total of 19 points, more than enough to defeat the opposing team.

On Friday evening, February 4, Alabaster high school will play Tawas City at the local gym. Alabaster defeated Tawas City on the small floor at Alabaster earlier in the season. This game should be very fast and interesting. Don't forget the date.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors who assisted in any way at the time of our fire. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schrieber and family.

Pfc. Frederick Rempert arrived Thursday from Camp Tyson, Tennessee, for a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rempert, Sr.

PIONEER TAWAS CITY MERCHANT DIES TUESDAY

Services for Emil H. Buch Held Thursday Afternoon

Emil H. Buch, pioneer Tawas City merchant and highly esteemed resident of this city, died Tuesday morning at his residence. The deceased was 85 years of age and had been a resident of this city since 1882.

Emil Henry Buch was born August 24, 1858, at Altenweddingen, Germany. In 1882 he was united in marriage to Dorothea A. Schaditz. He left Bremen, Germany, September 21, 1882, and arrived in this city in October. As a young man he had served an apprenticeship at the meat trade in Germany and for several years following his arrival here he was employed in several meat markets, including Gramann's, Van Wey's and Weckerly's. In 1880 he purchased the Weckerly business on Matthew street and in 1912 the business was moved to its present location on Lake street. Due to ill health he retired from active business in 1932, but remained the senior partner of the present firm of Emil H. Buch & Sons. His first wife died January 6, 1896, and on May 16, 1897, he married Aurelia Dommer.

He is survived by the widow, Aurelia, two daughters, Mrs. Ida Wuckert of Saginaw and Mrs. Emilie Henning of Sebawaing, two sons, Fred W. Buch and Albert H. Buch of Tawas City; 18 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from Emanuel Lutheran church Thursday afternoon. Rev. J. J. Roekle officiated. Burial was in the Emanuel Cemetery.

Those from our city who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wuckert, Mr. and Mrs. John Wuckert, Sr., John Wuckert, Jr., Viola Wuckert, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph C. Wuckert, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Wuckert, Mrs. William Rhode, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rhode, all of Saginaw; Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. William Holzheimer, Jr., all of Osowso; Mr. and Mrs. William Holzheuer, George and Emil Holzheuer of Hale; Rudolph Schenkel, Albert Schenkel, Louise Schenkel of Drayton Plains, Mrs. E. Zellmer of Detroit and Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Henning of Sebawaing.

Elmer Malenfant

Elmer Malenfant, well known resident of this city, died suddenly as he started at his work Wednesday morning at the Huron Shore Rustic Furniture Co. Mr. Malenfant was sawyer in the mill department of the plant. Heart attack was the cause of death. He had just recovered from the flu which he had had since before Christmas.

Elmer Malenfant was born November 10, 1880, in Canada. Except for short periods he had always lived at Oscoda, where he was employed in the mills until the fire in 1911. Mr. Malenfant was an experienced saw-mill man and had followed that occupation for the greater portion of his life.

On June 25, 1910, he was married at St. Joseph church to Julia Hoshbach of this city, who survives him. He is also survived by two daughters, Mary and Leona Malenfant at home, three sons, Edward Malenfant of Centerline, Cpl. George Malenfant in Italy and Richard Malenfant of Saginaw; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Doesckle of Chicago; two brothers, Charles Malenfant of Virginia, Minnesota and Frank Malenfant of Bay City.

Funeral services will be held at nine o'clock Saturday morning from St. Joseph church. Rev. Fr. Hubert of Saginaw will officiate.

Local Spotting Tower Permanently Closed

Chief Observer L. H. Braddock announced today that the Airplane Spotting Tower in this city had been permanently discontinued and all watchers released from duty. During the past few months watchers had been on duty only Wednesday afternoons.

Tawas City constructed the tower in the fall of 1942 and it was immediately commissioned into service. During its existence 190 Tawas City and East Tawas people, ranging from 11 to 72 years of age, have served as watchers. Seventy watchers have served 50 or more hours, and 30 are to receive merit badges for serving more than 100 hours.

Cecil Cox of this city has the honor of having served the greatest number of hours at the post. He served two periods each week. William H. Leslie, Felix Stepanik and Fred Swartz had unbroken records.

Mrs. Eleanor Cook of East Tawas served as the first watcher after the post was opened, and Mrs. Florence Moeller of this city was the last on duty when it was discontinued.

The chief observer and day captains thank all the people who participated for the fine cooperation which made the post at Tawas City one of the outstanding in northern Michigan.

In Appreciation

Having sold our business, we want to thank our many friends for their generous patronage and the confidence placed in us in the preparation and handling of the food we have served them in our four years at Tawas City.

We feel confident that the new owners and operators, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Laurence, will prove worthy of your continued patronage.

We shall always feel that our greatest gain has been the number of friends we have made.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gabler.

PEOPLES STATE BANK MAKES FINE GROWTH

Business Increases from $203,000 in 1933 to $1,400,000

The earnings, savings, prosperity and wealth of a community is reflected by its bank. The thrift and wealth of Isosco county is indicated by the fine growth during the past ten years of the Peoples State Bank of East Tawas. This increase has been from $203,000 in 1933 to over $1,400,000 in 1943. A summary showing the growth of the bank is published on another page of the Herald.

The Peoples State Bank, organized 17 years ago, is a locally owned bank. The officers of the bank are Isosco county businessmen and the stockholders are residents of the community. With the exception of the late W. A. Evans, the bank has the same directors as when organized in 1927. They are: R. G. Schreck, F. J. Adams, John Schriber, L. G. McKay and G. N. Shattuck.

In addition to the regular banking service required for such rapid growth, an officer of the Peoples State Bank states, "The bank has issued $210,000 of E War Bonds, $30,000 of F War Bonds, $18,000 of G Bonds and $9,000 of A and C tax certificates. This requires 1402 individual issuances of bonds. At the request of our government we have carried ration stamp banking accounts for the merchants of the county and surrounding territory. During 1943 the bank purchased $280,000 of government bonds for its own account.

"Yet, we in the bank, like most of you, feel that our part in the war effort is insignificant as compared to the suffering sacrifice of our boys now scattered throughout the world. We join with you in the hope that they will soon be home."

Boy Scouts Will Collect Paper Jan. 29

The Boy Scouts of Tawas City are going to pick up paper Saturday, and Scoutmaster J. F. Mark informed us that, weather permitting, they would make every effort to visit every home in city to the end that all magazines and newspapers are gathered.

He made the following statement: "We want the citizens of Tawas City to know that we are doing what we can in the war effort and find that we can handle newspapers and magazines, but not the miscellaneous scrap that needs baling. The last time we tried that we got into tobacco juice, rancid fats, old meat, used paper handkerchiefs, old sandwiches, floor sweepings, etc., and I don't feel that I should expose the boys to that kind of a mess again.

The paper given the boys is really given the war effort. The boys earn every cent their troop gets when they gather, sort and bundle the newspapers and magazines, and it is all we can handle, with the number of boys we have, and the time available to them. The ideal way to get your paper ready is to lay the magazines flat in one pile and the newspapers in another, and tie the bundles while flat. Unrolling newspapers and wrapping paper to be repacked and bundled takes a lot of time that is needed on the balance of the work.

"We want to especially thank the adults who have helped us. Rudy Geringer furnished his truck for all of the first pickup and the afternoon of the second pickup. James Leslie a troop committee man, furnished his truck for the morning of the second pickup. Mr. Geringer will furnish the truck for tomorrow's pickup. We also want to thank Mrs. Geringer and George Featheringill and Rudy, himself, for driving the truck. It is useless help of this kind that encourages workers with the Scouts.

"The boys have bought two War Bonds with part of the proceeds, and I can assure the citizens of the city that the troop, as a whole, is a patriotic group that they need not be ashamed of. All are being taught and are absorbing the principles of good citizenship. Keep in mind the fact that they govern their attitudes toward life in a great measure according to the way the men they look up to face their everyday problems."

Remember, and be ready for the Scout paper pickup, Saturday, January 29.

The Weather

Detouring winds are largely responsible for Michigan's present mild dry winter weather, according to Prof. R. D. Calkins, head of the geography department, Central Michigan college.

Cold air from the Hudson Bay region has been passing west and south of Michigan to southern latitudes before circling back to this area as relatively warm southwestern winds, according to Prof. Calkins. He forecasted a continuance of pleasant weather unless there is a shift of prevailing winds.

CONSIDERATION is the soil in which wisdom may be expected to grow...

See Here, Private Hargrove! by Marion Hargrove

I saw him, he was working out plans to feed you on Buncombe County...

From now on I must deny myself one of the fundamental rights and joys of mankind...

Being a slave to the despoiler of human health and well-being, the cigarette, I still have a fondness for an occasional switch to a pipe...

Smoking a pipe only occasionally, I still have not become overly proficient at keeping the little things burning...

I was busy today typing out a story, and I had lit my pipe for about the twenty-second time...

I noticed by degrees that our office was becoming lighter and warmer. I noted the fact with a rich feeling of comfort...

There was nothing to get excited about, I told the remainder of the public relations staff, the sergeant major's corps of assistants...

To the bystanders' catcalls, unseemly laughter, and accusations of arson, I turned a fatherly ear and a quieting voice...

The basket had in it a cheerful little blaze bright enough to take action photographs on a moonless night...

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former feature editor of a North Carolina newspaper...

CHAPTER XIII

"Well," he said, hemming and hawing a little, "three stripes means he's just a plain buck sergeant..."

"I didn't say anything for a while; just sat there looking like I was letting it soak in..."

"So help me, he looked like he was going to choke for a while..."

"Well," he said, "first-class privates have one stripe, just like us supply sergeants..."

"Well, sir, I thought I'd die. I almost popped trying to keep from laughing, but I kept a straight face..."

"So there was another bull session shot to hell. Maybe it was for the best, though..."

"Oh, it's lovely to run into an old top sergeant who can't put you on kitchen police when you sass back at him..."

"You're a sweet little lad, Hargrove," he purred. "We really do miss you here..."

"Sergeant," I told him, propping my feet on his wastebasket, "you never miss the water until it's gone under the bridge..."

The sergeant lay on his lazy back on a stilted bunk in his cadre room, reading Dorothy Parker...

"How's sergeant Ooton making out with his grocery budget?" I asked. "Trying to feed you for forty-two cents a day?"

"Oh, that," he said. "I've saved so much on cigarettes since you left the battery that I could afford to eat uptown now if I wanted to..."

"It ain't nothing else but," he said. "Painted by a friend of mine up in Columbus. Guy knocks them off like that in about twenty minutes..."

"You didn't notice this," he said, lifting himself lazily from the bunk. From the table he took an ordinary-looking beer can with an extra lid on it...

"He lifted the top lid, revealing a businesslike cigarette lighter. I took the can, struck the flint and a roaring blaze leaped at me..."

"Not bad, huh? Good advertising scheme..."

"It should come in handy," I told him, "anytime the furnace goes blah. That little conflagration would heat a whole barracks in three minutes flat..."

"What happened to the magic skillet?" I asked. "How come you're lying around here instead of bustling about your kitchen—tickling the pal..."

"Have you any last words before I pass KP on you?" the sergeant asked.

"Private Hargrove," he began slowly and deliberately, "the government of the United States, to whom no task seems impossible..."

"Yes, sir," I said hesitantly, running my finger around the inside of my collar. "You mean the radio lectures on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons..."

"From four until four-thirty," the first sergeant said. "The entire population has been invited by upstairs to gather in the mess halls to hear and discuss these lectures..."

"Here we go again," sighed the sergeant. "Have a chair and begin breaking my heart. It will make you feel better to have that off your chest before you go to the kitchen..."

"Sergeant," I asked him, "were you ever editor of a high-school newspaper?"

"Is this long story about me or you?" the sergeant asked. "Please continue with your story..."

"Well, sir," I continued, "only a high-school editor could know the pain that is in my heart. Only he could sympathize with me..."

"Meeting such a dignitary is one of the greatest occasions of my life," the first sergeant said dryly.

"Oh," was the reply, "he's the heel I used to be..."

George MacDonald, who just sold the Roney-Plaza Hotel, says he read it here, but we don't recall it...

At the Newspaper Guild Canteen a hostess was dancing with a Coast Guardsman. When the music stopped, he pulled out routine 77B and said: "Now let's sit down and talk about you..."

Mrs. Albert Einstein visited the astronomical observatory atop Mt. Wilson and asked about the giant telescope. "We use it," she was told, "to discover the shape of the universe..."

A Major told this one to the cadets at Yale the other day. He said General Giraud and Lt. Gen. Clark were discussing the best possible places for setting up staff headquarters in combat zones...

Shortly after the Sullivan parents of Waterloo (Iowa) learned of the loss of their five sons aboard the cruiser "Juneau," they visited Washington, where they volunteered to do anything to complete the job their boys had started...

"Mom" Sullivan (after a lifetime in Waterloo) suddenly found herself a lady of leisure. There was plenty to keep her busy with ten and twelve defense plants scheduled, yet she missed the little tasks of cleaning the house, getting breakfast, etc...

One morning when the Navy Lieutenant (who accompanied them) called at her hotel room in Chicago he found Mom making the beds. She confessed she had been tipping chambermaids (throughout the country) for permitting her to make the beds herself...

My favorite gag dealt with funny man Tait (Tait's motoring act) who dreaded coming to the U. S. from London where he was always a riot. Martin Beck persuaded Tait to come here—assuring him he'd click...

Next afternoon (sauntering along the main street there) Tait paused at a fish store window. As he studied a huge dead mackerel, with eyes staring blankly and mouth wide open, Tait exclaimed: "Eaven's above! That reminds me! Hi 'ave a matinee!"

Will Rogers in 1927: The best way to describe Russia is, Russian men wear their shirts hanging outside their pants. Well, any nation that don't know enough to stick their shirt-tail in will never get anywhere...

Raymond Paige relays it via a pal in London. It's about the Air Corps officer assigned to a desk job. He objected to fliers getting extra pay for flying time. "Why should you get more?" he barked at a Texas pilot. "We're all in this war together!"

"I know," drawled the Texan, "but who ever heard of two desks crashing head-on?"

Variety, discussing the chilly reception given actors in Pittsburgh, recalls when Katharine Cornell appeared there in "Three Sisters." Some in the audience complained that they couldn't hear much of the dialog. Told this (between acts) by the stage manager, Miss Cornell retorted: "Tell the audience we can't hear them either!"

Much the same thing happened recently when "Blithe Spirit" played there. Night before it opened, some of the troupe put on a show for wounded soldiers at an army hospital. After the premiere, Clifton Webb wired his agent: "Last night we played to the wounded; tonight we played to the dead!"

Van Boven, one of the funnier comics (always a riot at the Palace on Broadway), used to warn others about the opening matinee audience at North Adams, Mass. "They sit down front," Van used to scream, "and devour their young!"

Autobiography: A Broadway book-ing agent (noted for his rodent-like past) was asked why he hired an assistant noted for being even rattier.

"Oh," was the reply, "he's the heel I used to be..."

ON THE HOME FRONT
RUTH WYETH SPEARS

THE corner shelf with towel rack screwed to the bottom and red cut-out scallops across the front is an idea for a kitchen brightener. The scalloped strip of wood over the stove with cup hooks for pan holders is another. It is the Mexican pan holders, towels and curtains that will interest the gift maker with needle and thread.

A whole set of amusing Mexican figures may be embroidered in simple outline stitch in bright colors. Some of the transfer designs are large and some are small so that they may be used for many different purposes. Try them on a luncheon set of coarse turquoise linen.

NOTE—You will enjoy making articles embroidered with these quaint colorful Mexican figures. There are more than twenty on this hot iron transfer sheet—all different and all easy to do. Price 15c. Order No. 203 and it will be mailed immediately upon receipt. Address:

Musical Filipinos Play Flute With Their Nose

"Singing through the nose" is a common criticism of some vocalists, but only the Filipinos are known to be able to play a flute with the nose. The difficulty of producing a sufficient volume of air to make musical notes by this method may readily be imagined. Evidently these natives have greater lung power than most people.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Inflatable rubber barges for the U. S. Navy are "cured" at B. F. Goodrich in a steam vulcanizer that is 42 feet long, 10 1/2 feet in diameter, weighs 35 tons and has a door that alone weighs 10 tons. It's a record for size and turns out the 25-foot barges at a rate of one every 50 minutes.

Synthetic rubber plants already completed and those scheduled for construction will have an annual rated capacity of 850,000 long tons. Before the war the United States consumed about 600,000 long tons of rubber annually. Now, however, our supplies must be shared with the United Nations.

How American Farmers Are Meeting the Pulpwood Challenge

EARLY in 1943 when the country was faced with a disastrous pulpwood shortage, the Secretary of Agriculture said, "The only place we can look for additional supplies is from the farm woodlot".

And the farmers of America did not let him down. Their patriotic response helped a lot to supply much needed pulpwood for war industries.

Now, as we enter 1944

It is clear that a serious pulpwood shortage will continue. But farmers have learned that pulpwood cutting is good business as well as sound patriotism. Now is the best time to thin woodlots when pulpwood prices are at their peak. And recent rulings of the War Manpower Commission encourage farmers to cut pulpwood in off seasons by counting it as war unit credits toward deferment.

And so the farmers of America are asked to make pulpwood cutting an important part of their 1944 work program. It is off-season work; profitable work; patriotic work. Do all you can. Your country needs every cord you can cut. Keep in touch with your local pulpwood committee.

Mrs. Chas. Chipps and daughter, Theda of Prescott were callers in town Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. John Higgins returned Tuesday from the West Branch hospital and is gaining nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bowen spent Sunday in Midland.

Mrs. Wm. Fuerst, Grand Warden of the Grand Chapter of O.E.S. of Michigan returned from Tuesday where she spent the past week. The staff of Grand Officers exemplified the degrees in several chapters in Detroit and Wayne county.

Nancy Miller underwent an operation at Ann Arbor the past week and is doing nicely.

Whittemore Chapter, O.E.S. will observe family night at their February meeting (Thursday evening, February 3 with a pot luck supper at 6:30 and the children will be entertained with movies after supper down stairs while the chapter meeting is held after which games will be played. All O.E.S. members and families invited.

Mrs. Roy Charters spent Thursday in Saginaw. Mr. Charters who has been visiting there for several days returned home with her.

H. B. Brockenbrough returned home Friday from the West Branch hospital.

Wilber

Pulp wood cutting is in the order of the day.

The shower at the Wilber church for Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schreiber last Friday night was well attended. Mr. and Mrs. Schreiber were very unfortunate, having lost their house and most of their furnishings by fire. They received many nice gifts and also a donation in money from their friends and neighbors. A lunch was served afterwards. That is the good old fashioned spirit of helpfulness.

There was a dance at the Town Hall last Saturday night for LeRoy Anderson of Tawas who is leaving for the army next week.

Last Tuesday there was a "wood bee" getting wood for the church.

There are a few cases of measles about the community.

Arthur Dawes left for Detroit last week for an extended visit.

PLENTY OF TRAINED PILOTS

General Arnold did not say so in his report to the secretary of war, but the tremendous job of expanding air forces personnel is almost finished. He might have penned a little footnote, saying, "We have pilots running out of our ears."

No cadet training bases have been closed as yet, but the army will close approximately one dozen schools for training pilots between now and April. Air forces officials find that the elaborate program has now produced enough competent navigators and pilots to finish the job in both theaters of war.

The tip-off to this is found in recent changes in policy of the transport command.

Army transport command, which does non-combat flying all over the world, has always preferred to take pilots from the open market, usually from the airlines. These pilots are specially trained in safe, efficient transport flying, as distinguished from the combat type of training in the army air forces.

Recently, however, transport command has been forbidden to take on civilian pilots, and has been forced to accept combat-trained pilots from the air forces.

MIRACLE WORKERS

Miracles happen, even in Washington. Farm Security administration, heir to all the grief of Rex Tugwell, and long confined to the Capitol Hill dog house, is now emerging into the warm sunlight of congressional favor. A simple matter of southern friendship did it.

The miracle resulted from the fact that Frank Hancock and Harold Cooley were a couple of congressmen from North Carolina. Hancock, now out of congress, has just been appointed head of Farm Security. Hence, Congressman Cooley, formerly FSA's deadliest critic, is now a supporter and friend.

All during the past year, FSA operated on a shoestring. Its funds were cut, and congress frowned on almost everything it tried to do. But now, a report of a house agriculture subcommittee which Cooley heads is about to give FSA a clean bill of health and recommend that it be continued as a permanent agency.

The report will not whitewash Mr. Tugwell or any of his works. In fact, it will sharply criticize all the old resettlement projects (already in process of liquidation). But it will give strong approval to two other FSA programs—rehabilitation and tenant purchase.

Also, there will be a proposal for combining the lending programs of Farm Security with two types of Farm Credit administration loans, with a new corporation to handle the joint lending activity.

EXIT BOMBSIGHT

There is every indication that the U. S. bombing to which the Japs will be subjected in 1944 will be without benefit of bombsight.

The Norden bombsight has been publicized as the great secret appliance which will help us win the war. It has been highly successful in the European theater, but in the Pacific it has actually become excess baggage.

Supply officers in Washington are still assigning bombsights to planes for Pacific action, but fliers are urging that the device be left at home. They have found that the most successful air attack in the Pacific is the low-level tree-top bombing, in which medium bombers sweep in on the target and let the bombs drop when they are so close they can't miss. This is better than any precision instrument ever invented.

Also, it is less dangerous than high-altitude bombing. Coming in low, the planes avoid detection by the enemy, whereas the high-altitude planes are caught both by instruments and vision.

The tree-top flying requires greater pilot skill, also the use of delayed-action bombs so that the plane can get away from the target before it blows up under the plane.

This is the kind of work that was done in the famous battle of the Bismarck sea, in which every Jap ship was destroyed. It was also how the Nazis sneaked up on Bori and wreaked havoc with Allied shipping.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The budget bureau several times has offered Cordell Hull all the money he needs for the state department if he will only clean house and get in some good men.

The A. F. L. executive committee will finally vote John L. Lewis' mine workers into the A. F. L. at this month's meeting in Florida.

Harold Ickes and Henry Wallace, who didn't love each other too much when Wallace was secretary of agriculture, have made up. Jesse Jones (not love for him) brought them together.

Instead of cutting down red tape, the war department is increasing it. It opened the new year by requiring reception clerks at all entrances of the giant Pentagon building to ask no less than 14 questions of each visitor, and write down all answers on a pink, blue or yellow filing card. Guess the army thinks we are losing the war, not winning it.

Oveta Culp Hobby, for 600,000 lady troops.

HAROLD ("JUG") McSPADEN'S great victory in the Los Angeles Golf Open more than justified the faith a great many followers had in him.

Always a steady golfer, and at times even brilliant, the 35-year-old Philadelphia pro put together a 69-72-71-66 for a 72-hole total of 278, cracking the Wilshire Country club course record by 3 strokes. He butchered old man par by 6.

McSpaden fired six birdies—and one bogey—in fashioning his sensational last round. His efficient putter never failed him and only one out-of-bounds shot marred his shot-making. Otherwise it was close to perfect golf.

Things have been on the upgrade for Jug during the past year. He has won 4 of his last 6 tournaments, among them the All-American in Chicago. His Los Angeles victory netted him $4,375 in war bonds as first prize money.

The Headlines

It was reminiscent of better times to see competitive golf draw big headlines again. The game has suffered much in the last two years. Many of the big name players are in service and the few tournaments from the air forces.

HAROLD "JUG" McSPADEN

of today rarely capture the national interest.

Golf has turned out to be a real American game. England and Scotland are represented by many great names, including Harry Vardon, Henry Cotton, George Duncan, J. H. Taylor and many others. But the combined list can't be compared to the roster of stars native to the United States.

Names like Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Francis Ouimet, Jack McDermott, Byron Nelson, McSpaden, Ben Hogan, Tommy Armour, Craig Wood, Sammy Snead, Harry Cooper, Lawson Little, Ed Dudley, Billy Burke, Bob Cruickshank, Macdonald Smith, etc., will have a permanent place in golf's record book. A few of them—including Smith, Armour and Cruickshank—came from Scotland, but they won golfing fame as citizens of this country.

Why has America developed so many champions? The answer is the same for golf as it is for boxing, baseball, basketball and almost any other sport. The amount and kind of competition breeds champions. Americans are deadly serious about their sports. They don't take them in a leisurely, off-hand manner.

The Winter Circuit

Golf is no longer a summer sport for the top-notchers. The long, hard winter and spring tours from coast to coast have a great deal to do with turning out winners. These off-season tours are tough. They force the player to stay in year-round condition, mentally and physically. Concentration and determination are essential to the player who hopes to do more than break even on the winter circuit.

Par means practically nothing to the Nelsons, McSpadens, Hogans, etc. A par score would give them no more than tenth place in the average tournament.

The pros who win consistently are the hardest workers. Golf to them is a business, not a form of recreation. They work as hard to perfect play with each club as the lawyer does to prepare a brief.

Above all, Americans have a deep-seated desire to win. Obviously no one relishes defeat, but few athletes will work as hard to win as those of our country. Some other nations are developing that spirit, but we still have a fairly comfortable lead.

That such efforts pay dividends is evidenced by the records—in golf as in the many other sports where American athletes enjoy unchallenged supremacy.

SPORTS SHORTS

JESUS USES HIS POWER TO HELP

LESSON TEXT—Mark 4:35-41; 5:35-43.
GOLDEN TEXT—Why are ye so fearful? How is it that ye have no faith?—Mark 4:40.

Help—that is what man needs, and nothing but the power of Christ will suffice to meet his fears and sorrows. Christ appears in Mark as not only the matchless Teacher of the parables we have just studied, but the mighty Worker.

This is the Gospel in which Christ is presented as the Servant of Jehovah, who came to use His infinite grace and power for our deliverance.

Two great fears gnaw at the vitals of man's existence. Life is full of awful dangers, and death is so dreadfully final and sorrowful. He is afraid to live, and afraid to die—apart from his faith in Jesus Christ. We find the answer to both these fears as we here see—

I. Fear of Life's Dangers (Mark 4:35-41).

The long day of teaching had ended (v. 35), and the disciples carried out His request that they go to the other side of the lake to rest. Just "as he was" they departed, and before long the tired Jesus was asleep. We know how He felt, and what is even more blessed, He knows how we feel when we are tired.

As He slept, a sudden storm (common on the Lake of Galilee) brought deathly fear to the hearts of His disciples. For the moment they saw only the angry waves, the smallness of their boat, and the hopelessness of their situation.

Had they forgotten Jesus? With Him in the boat, they had no reason to fear. They called on Him, and in His majestic and authoritative "Peace be still" the wind and waves recognized their Master's voice.

Should we not learn that in this day of fears and alarms, we may (if we are Christians) count on His presence and His power. If we look at the overwhelming waves of circumstances and think how frail we are, surely our hearts shall fail us for fear. But if Christ is with us, we are in no danger.

Now they were struck with awe at His power. "Sometimes the deliverances wrought by our Lord so reveal His presence and power that His followers are more deeply moved than they were by the perils which threatened. Whether mastering the storm, or standing unseen in our midst today, He appears to the eye of faith, clothed in divine energy and power" (Erdman).

II. Fear of Death's Deep Sorrow (5:35-43).

Trouble is a visitor in every home, it does not matter how securely that home may be founded upon wealth or social position. Frequently, death chooses a shining mark in taking a dearly beloved child. Children strike their roots deep into our hearts and when they are torn from us our whole beings are rent and convulsed. Such was the great storm of sorrow which had come upon the home of Jairus, leading him to make the brave step of faith and hope which brought him to Jesus.

Then as Jesus turned to go with Jairus a woman touched Him. He stopped to seek her out and commended her for her faith. The seeming delay must have greatly troubled Jairus, particularly when the servants came and informed him that he need no longer trouble the Master since his daughter was dead. Not infrequently we have similar experiences, where it seems that while God has promised to help us, He has turned aside and has forgotten us. The psalmist in Psalm 42:3 cries out, "My tears have been my meat day and night, while they continually say unto me, Where is thy God?"

Our Lord was not troubled at all by the message of the servants of Jairus, but He showed His thoughtful consideration of the father, by reassuring him with the words, "Fear not, only believe."

Everywhere fear blocks the way of human peace and progress. Divine wisdom offers a remedy for it all—only believe. We excuse our lack of faith by the conditions which confront us, but none of us face conditions worse than those which confronted Jairus. His daughter was dead and he was told to believe! He obeyed and his faith was rewarded.

When He said, "The child is not dead, but sleepeth," our Lord did not mean that actual death had not taken place, but He meant that in the sight of God death is like a sleep. In the eyes of Christ spiritual death was undoubtedly far more terrible than physical death. A man may be physically alive and yet being spiritually dead be worse off than a man who, though physically dead, is spiritually alive.

After putting forth the mourning scorpions, the Lord performed a miracle by simply speaking to the child and saying, "Little girl, arise."

Here then is the Lord who can overcome every fear, in both life and death. Is He not the one we need as our Saviour?

'Cannibalism' in Flock Should Be Prevented

Adding Salt to Feed Reduces Pecking

"Cannibalism" in one form or another is fairly common among young chicks, growing pullets, and laying birds, according to "Brooding and Rearing Chickens" by W. E. Newlon and V. S. Asmundson of the U. of California. This practice should be promptly discouraged, the authors say.

In young chicks, toe picking is the commonest form of cannibalism encountered, but picking of other parts may also follow if the toe picking is not checked. In slightly older birds feather picking is common. A limited amount of apparently harmless feather picking sometimes occurs, but it may develop to the point where the birds are completely naked and may lead to cannibalism.

Some outbreaks of cannibalism are perhaps to be regarded as purely accidental. Chicks pick at each other's toes and, if blood is drawn, the picking may develop into a vice unless it is promptly checked. Such accidental cases are not likely to cause serious difficulties if the birds receive regular attention.

Other outbreaks of cannibalism are caused by overcrowding, hunger, usually a result of irregular care, chilling, overheating, or general discomfort, and inactivity. Regular care of the birds and keen observation will do much to prevent outbreaks of cannibalism.

Picked birds should be promptly removed and the offenders also removed if possible. Young chicks that have been picked should have pine tar or other adhesive anti-pick ointments applied to the affected parts. It is usually advisable to isolate them for a few days. The cause should be looked for and, if found, corrected.

To check the vice, common salt may be added to the mash. The salt content of the ration should be increased to 2 or 3 per cent for a few days only. Mash usually contains about 1 per cent of salt; hence, 1 or 2 per cent should be added. If this is not effective, the salt may be increased to 4 per cent. When grain and mash are fed, the amount of salt added should be correspondingly increased. For instance, if the birds are eating equal parts of mash and grain and the mash contains 1 pound of salt in each 100, then an additional 3 pounds of salt should be added to each 100 pounds of mash. The high salt mash should not be fed for more than a few days.

Protective Devices.

Outbreaks of cannibalism among older birds can usually be checked or prevented by the use of various mechanical devices which are now on the market. Unfortunately, however, none of these are known to be infallible, because losses may occur in spite of their use.

Tipping the beak is also recommended to control severe outbreaks. The edge of the upper beak is cut in about one-eighth inch, one-third to three-sixteenths inch from the tip, according to the size of the beak and the length of the tip. Then by prying and pulling with the flat side of the knife, the point of the beak is removed by tearing and not by cutting. Thus the tip of the beak is removed to the quick so that it is tender for a while and is left in such shape that the bird cannot firmly grasp either feathers or flesh. About three weeks is required for the beak to grow out again and by that time the habit is usually broken.

Experience at the Western Washington experiment station indicates that there is more feather picking when pelleted mash is fed, and that there is less picking when rations high in fiber are fed than when rations are low in fiber.

Agricultural Notes

The natural color of milk is due to the refraction of light from the suspended material and to the carotene and vitamin G contained in it.

Restrictions limiting use of binder twine to mechanical harvesting have been removed by the WPB. This means farmers will now be permitted to use binder twine for growing, harvesting or shipment of agricultural products.

PETER RABBIT CLIMBS ON PADDY'S ROOF

VERY, very carefully Peter Rabbit crept across the smooth ice of Paddy the Beaver's pond. Already Peter had bumped the back of his head and had intention of getting any more bumps if he could help it. So he watched every step and presently, without another tumble, he reached Paddy's house. Once, the winter before, Peter had visited the house of Jerry Muskrat out in the Smiling Pool, so he thought he knew just what to expect. But he found that he didn't know as much as he thought he did. The fact is, that while Paddy's house was very like Jerry's in some ways, in others it was very different. It had been no trouble at all to jump up on the roof of Jerry's house, but Peter went three times around Paddy's house before he found a place where he could scramble up, and even then he slipped and scraped his shins.

But he reached the top at last and there sat down to get his breath. And while he panted for breath Peter looked around, and suddenly his heart gave a great jump. Someone else had been before him on the roof of Paddy's house and Peter had only to glance at one of the footprints in the snow to know who that somebody was. It was Old Man Coyote. There was no doubt about it. Old Man Coyote certainly had been on the roof of Paddy's house, and, more than this, he had tried to tear the roof open. Yes, sir, that is just what he had tried to do. Peter could tell that by the way the snow was dug up. But the snow was all he had been able to dig, for the mud of the roof was as hard as stone. You see, Paddy had put that mud there every night that Jack Frost had arrived, and Jack Frost had made it so hard that Old Man Coyote would have worn his claws quite off without being able to make the teeniest, weeniest hole in Paddy's roof. Peter grinned as he thought of how Old Man Coyote must have lost his temper when he was so near to Paddy the Beaver and still could not get at him. He knew he had lost his temper by the way in which the snow was kicked about.

He wriggled and wriggled his wabby nose, and sniffed and sniffed.

"And I don't suppose Paddy was the least mite scared," thought Peter. "It must be great to have a house that no one can break into. I believe that some day I will build a house myself."

How Peter's friends would laugh if they could have known that such an idea ever entered happy-go-lucky Peter Rabbit's head. But Peter didn't think about it very long. He is like a great many other people—he no sooner gets one idea in his head than he lets another in to crowd the first one out, so none of them ever amounts to anything. You see, he hasn't learned yet that one good idea worked out is worth more than all other ideas together that are not worked out.

Now, as Peter sat on the roof, it seemed to him that he could smell Paddy the Beaver. Yes, sir, that's the way it seemed. He wriggled and wriggled his wabby nose and sniffed and sniffed. There could be no doubt about it! He certainly did smell Paddy the Beaver. Peter's long ears stood straight up in surprise and he looked this way and looked that way and every minute grew more puzzled. It was just as if Paddy was right close at hand, and yet all Peter could see was a great white still world in which he seemed to be the only thing alive. Of course, Peter had thought right away that Paddy might be in his house, but how could the smell of him come through that thick hard roof, which even Old Man Coyote couldn't break through? This was too much for Peter, and he just had to believe that Paddy was somewhere outside until—well, until he just happened to discover something. It was where the smell came from.

Hand Crocheted 'Keep Warm' Togs Come in Typical Gay Peasant Mood

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IT'S clothes that keep you warm and "comfy" and cheerful that's the wanted kind these days. Which accounts for the unprecedented style acclaim given to things knitted or hand crocheted. The big hand-crochet craze now sweeping throughout the fashion realm is staging nothing less than a riot of color and intriguing design, most of it carried out in the picturesque mood that tunes in so gaily with the winter landscape.

Whether it be a sweater, a scarf, hood, snood, mittens or a fireside shawl or flower motif trimming the pocket on your dirndl skirt or a handbag or muff, if it be hand-crocheted it has high-fashion rank.

The hand-crocheted togs come across in the stores these days in the sports departments or at the accessory counters, the sweater sections or be the place where it may be something to rave about, just a single high-spot of hand-crocheted yarn will give an extra fillip to any costume, be it a casual or an evening formal.

Your winter wardrobe will take on new life if you freshen it with a collection of crocheted "pretties" after the stunning numbers pictured in the illustration. Shown above to the left is a fascinating ensemble vest, cap and mittens hand-crocheted of white wool yarn. The vest is worked in an attractive shell stitch and all the pieces of this charming "set" by Greta Platry are accented by red and green embroidery. These gay little whimsies are worn with a green wool jersey shirt and black jersey slacks in the picture and they will perk up any of your simple little cloth dresses just as effectively.

Above to the right, a vest and bonnet set is shown which is such a gay flatterer you'll be wanting to wear it wherever you go. Both vest and bonnet are crocheted in a shell stitch, the yarn being in most any smart bright color you happen to choose. The pastel embroidered flowers and black velvet are wonderfully decorative, and you can get mittens to match. Wear it with black jersey shirt and slacks for dramatic contrast.

With Velvet Accent

What to wear!—in the interval between the ebbing away of winter and the delayed arrival of balmy spring days. The answer is an ensemble that makes up for the fur topcoat you've laid aside in that it adds velvet accessories. Here you see the cleverest imaginable three-piece of gloves, hat and huge muff-like bag all of velvet. Typical of Chinese influence is the pert little peaked velvet turban with twisted fringe. The dress of heavy wool crepe is trimmed with pleated scrolls of the same material.

Cunningly Designed Hat and Pinafore Set

Little girls will be stepping out in hat-and-pinafore ensembles this season that are too eye-pleasing for words. The pinafores are fashioned with great cunning on the part of designers, who use as media pique, denim, percales, gabardine, glazed chintz and even black sateen, the latter animated with vivid color touches. Many of the aprons and pinafores are so styled, they will serve beautifully later on as play frocks. When it comes to decoration, they are prettied with applique fruits, flowers and fairy-tale figures to the delight of the little folks who will wear them. Fagotting, feather-stitching, little bows, lace frills and insertion and loads of colorful embroidery, rick-rack too, used in unique ways enter into the make-up of these pretty twosomes of hat and apron. The headwear devised to top off the pinafores is especially attractive, in that the present vogue runs to quaint and picturesque bonnet types.

White Sequin Neckpieces Highlight Black Frocks

Dressy little black frocks take on an air of great charm and sophistication when highlighted with the new white sequined neckwear items which are the "last word" in smart accessories. You can get collar and cuff sets in the all-over embroidered sequin effects, also separate yokes, some square, others in round berths, also pockets of the solid-worked sequins. These white-sequined novelties are a perfect gesture toward interpreting the now-so-voguish black-and-white theme.

HIDDEN TAXES AND WASTE IN GOVERNMENT

WHEN WE BUY cigarettes, cigars, tobacco, playing cards, wines and liquors, if any, we know there is a tax included in the price we pay because of the internal revenue stamp on each package. But there are other taxes we pay on these things and on all other things we buy. They are referred to as hidden taxes and they include taxes levied by municipalities, counties, school districts, states and the federal government.

It is by no means the tax bill we receive that represents the taxes we pay. These hidden taxes that are a portion of the price of every commodity we buy represent the taxes paid directly by all those who produce the things we buy. They are passed along to the consumer as a part of the price he pays. If that were not done all industry would soon be bankrupt and we would have industrial chaos. Taxes are a part of the cost of production, just as much as is labor or materials or power.

A loaf of bread offers a simple illustration. The farmer raises wheat and must sell it at a profit if he is to continue producing wheat. An item of the cost of production is the taxes he pays on his farm. If his taxes are $100 and his only production has been 1,000 bushels of wheat, the tax item amounts to 10 cents a bushel. That must be, and is, passed along to the man who buys the wheat.

The elevator operator buys the wheat and pays the farmer's taxes. He sells the wheat to the miller at a price that includes the farmer's taxes with the addition of a share of the taxes of the elevator operator. It goes on from the miller to the wholesaler, the retailer, the baker. Each one adds a bit of taxes. By the time a bushel of wheat has reached the consumer in the form of bread it is possible there may have been added 25 cents, or more, to the actual cost of the wheat. That 25 cents becomes a part of the price of the bread made from that bushel of wheat and the consumer pays it. Competent tax analysts estimate that from 20 to 30 per cent of the price of a loaf of bread represents the taxes the consumer pays for those who produced the wheat and converted it from grain to bread.

That is as it always has been, and must continue to be, if American industry is to continue to operate. When the tax fixing bodies, local, state or national, collect a high tax rate from the industrial corporations, they are not soaking such corporations, they are soaking us, the consumers. When the taxes on anything we buy—commodities, transportation, gas or electricity—are increased, the price we pay for the product is, and must be, increased. When taxes go down we get more for our money.

We, the consumers, have a very definite interest in government, local, state and national, economics. We, in the end, must pay the cost of government waste and extravagance. It is right that we do so, if anybody must pay, but it is unfair when those who fix the taxes try to fool us into believing that we do not contribute to the tax collector.

SUBSIDIES AND BUREAUCRATS

OPA WAS CREATED for the purpose of controlling distribution, price and consumption of commodities used by the civilian population on the home front. It has full authority to specify the amount of any commodity that may be used by the civilian population. Through the point rationing system it regulates the amount of each commodity each civilian may have. It is authorized to, and does, fix prices that may be charged for commodities by the producer, the processor, the manufacturer, the wholesaler and the retailer. It tells the consumer what he is to pay for any commodity on which OPA feels it should, and does, set a price.

These things being true, why does any failure to pay subsidies threaten us with runaway, inflationary prices on food products? When the farmer, the processor, the wholesaler, the retailer are told at what price they can sell and the consumer is told at what price he may buy, where does the threat of runaway prices come in?

The payment of subsidies, it would seem, provides but another means by which Washington bureaucrats may tell American farmers what to raise and when and how. The farmers are to be commended for their opposition.

ONE POINT about farm subsidies that seems to have been overlooked: The administering of them would provide jobs for several thousand additional federal government employees.

THE ONE OBSTACLE THE FARMER has so far been successful in surmounting is the racketeering labor leader who has attempted an invasion of the farm field. The racketeer's difficulty is in finding mass elements with which he can deal.

OF COURSE having guests today means that you'll have to be lucky to have enough red points to feed them but you don't need any points at all to have these seven handsome designs to embroider on your guest towels! Do the lovely cross stitch in your spare time in the afternoons—while you are mentally planning the next day's menus. Each design is about 4 1/4 by 5 inches. To obtain seven transfer designs for the Lucky Seven Towels (Pattern No. 5637) color chart for working, send 16 cents in coin, your name and address and the pattern number.

Never use a coarse, gritty scouring powder on any enameled part of a stove. It is likely to destroy the surface glaze.

Water rings on varnished furniture can often be removed by rubbing them with a cloth dipped in camphor. Work quickly and wipe dry with a clean, soft cloth. When dry, rub with furniture polish, applied on a soft cloth.

Save half on tablecloth laundry by turning over the cloth when one side is surface soiled.

Frayed carpet edges can be prevented from further fraying by applying binding tape.

SORETONE
soothes fast with COLD HEAT ACTION in cases of MUSCULAR LUMBAGO OR BACKACHE due to fatigue or exposure
MUSCULAR PAINS due to cold
SORE MUSCLES due to overwork
MUSCULAR SPRAINS

YOU BET you show it when those cruel pains shoot through arms, neck, back or legs. Do something. Rub on SORETONE Liniment. Get the blessed relief of Soretone's cold heat action. Quickly Soretone acts to:

1. Dilate surface capillary blood vessels.
2. Check muscular cramps.
3. Enhance local circulation.
4. Help reduce local swelling.

Developed by the famous McKesson Laboratories, Soretone is a unique formula. Soretone contains methyl salicylate, a most effective pain-relieving agent. For fastest action, let dry, rub in again. There's only one Soretone—insist on it for Soretone results. 50¢. Big, long-lasting bottle, $1.

SCHOOL NOTES

Kindergarten
The kindergarten now has 17 pupils. Three new pupils entered during the month of January. They are Kay Frank, Patricia Ann Clements and Judith Ann Brown.
James Pomerantz is ill with the measles this week.
During the six weeks period which ended last week, Judith Ann Rapp and James Pomerantz were neither tardy nor absent.

Third and Fourth Grades
We enjoyed having Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Uman visit our room last week.
Most of our boys and girls were in very good physical condition when checked by the doctor and nurse last week.
Third grade pupils having an A average for the semester are: Patsy Montgomery, Joan Uman and Lawson Trask. Those having B average are: Darlene Bariger, Rollie Gackstetter, Everett Lake and James Rapp.
Fourth grade pupils having an A average for the semester are: Shirley Allen, Rosalin Gackstetter, Elaine Latham, James Minard, Joan Musolf, Lillian Pfeiffer, Nancy Rollin and Norman Westcott. Those having a B average are: Russell Barnes, Larry Clement, Betty Kendall, Marjorie Matchuret, Harry Morley Kay Myles, Wayne Nelson, Patsy Toms and George Yanna.

First and Second Grades
We were sorry to lose two pupils this week. Delbert Ackley and Jackie Misener have moved away. We do gain a new first grader, however, as John Harmening has entered school here.
Larry Brown was the only pupil neither absent nor tardy during the last six weeks period.
We have learning about Eskimos this week. We read a story about a little Eskimo boy called Tuktu. We drew pictures of icebergs, northern lights, igloos and huskies. Edward Yanna brought a book about dogs and we read the story of the best-known husky, Balto, who carried the anti-diphtheria serum to Nome, Alaska.

We are sorry that Bobby Freel, Sharon Boomer and Virginia Haglund are ill. We hope they will be back to school very soon.

Library
The school appreciated the new set of books written by Dickens, given by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rollin. They will be added to the library as soon as the pockets and cards are put in. We wish to thank the Harry Rollin family for the interest which they have taken in their school.
The English Class received their new books this morning called Literature and Life.
In most of the classes the first of the week, we went over our examination papers to see where we made our mistakes.

It would seem that an excellent repast of chicken for the boys would not be complete without the presence of our courageous girls. So, girls, you are included.
The Tawas City Varsity defeated the East Tawas Varsity 15 to 18. Tawas City held a very comfortable lead of nine to three at the end of the first quarter, and the half ended eleven to five with Tawas City leading.
The East Tawas boys were lucky in the third quarter which ended in a 13 to 13 tie. East Tawas took a lead of one point in the opening of the fourth quarter, but this lead lasted but a very short time.
A field goal and a free throw by Willard Musolf and a field goal by Bill Ogden put the game on the ice for Tawas City. East Tawas could collect but one more point.
Willard Musolf made almost enough points to defeat the East Tawas quintet. Willard sank six field goals and one free throw for a total of 13 points.
The Tawas City boys made two points out of four tries for free throws while the East Tawas boys collected only three points out of a possible 17 tries. So, East Tawas lost another game via the free throw lane.
The Tawas City team was somewhat weakened because of bad colds, and the boys did not show their usual stamina. Nevertheless, Tawas City Varsity has again defeated East Tawas Varsity, and the boys are entitled to a bounteous repast of chicken with all the trimmings.
The Tawas City School Athletic Association wishes to thank the people of Tawas City and community for their excellent support at this victorious contest against the East Tawas high school basketball teams.
