THE STORY THUS FAR: Forty-fouryear-old Wilbert Winkle, who owns a modest general repair shop in the alley back of his home, is notified by his draft board that he is in 1-A. He is very much surprised, as he had thought that his many physical handicaps would keep him He breaks the bad news to his wife, Amy, who has always domineered him, and goes to work without kissing her goodby. His picture appears in the paper next day under the headline, "Winkle Proud to Fight." The Pettigrews and other neighbors pay a call in the evening, and shake their heads solemnly. Next day Winkle tacks a "Closed" sign over his place of business and his wife packs his things.

CHAPTER IV

"They will," said Mrs. Winkle, "when they find out how you catch cold right away if you get your feet wet.'

Mr. Winkle didn't argue about it, but let her have her way. After all, he was leaving tomorrow, and she would be alone except for Penelope.

He seated himself in an armchair, and Mrs. Winkle came to stand before him. There was a peculiar look on her face. "Wilbert," she whispered.

He glanced up. He didn't understand at first what she wanted, but was prepared for it when he did. By this time he was getting accustomed to almost any surprise.

Shyly, she slipped on to his lap, and sat there. It was a long time since she had done this, and she had put on her plumpness since the last time. Mr. Winkle found her somewhat heavy, but not disagreeably so.

Mrs. Winkle fussed and fretted over him.

She rested her head on his shoulneck, and he put one of his arms there.

MR. WINKLE THEODORE GOES TO WAR wait till I am," he retorted testily. "I'll send you a postcard. And on it," he said darkly, "I'll also attention. ask why everything you're saying doesn't work on your side of the fence, too." Instead of the frown between her eyes returning, and the pressing together of her lips, as Mr. Winkle half expected, Amy's blue eyes simply went wide.

Mrs. Winkle's eyes filled with tears and she flung herself at Mr. Winkle, wailing, "Oh, Wilbert, you're going to war and you'll come back without a leg or an arm or-or . . and I haven't been nice to you for a long time, not nice at all . . . and oh, Wilbert, Wilbert!"

She sobbed, letting out all the shame that had been hers since the morning his notice arrived, and all the fear that she, too, had kept hidden during the last days. Now it was Mr. Winkle who held her, and patted her, and assured her.

This made him feel strong and manly, and almost good about going to war.

In the morning, before they drove downtown, taking Penelope with them because they felt she, too, should see him off, Mrs. Winkle fussed and fretted over him.

"You've got your pills?" she asked. "The big bottle we had made up for you?"

Mr. Winkle patted his pocket and the pills, in their bottle, rattled. "You haven't taken out your rubbers again?"

Mr. Winkle shook his head. Mrs. Winkle contemplated, her brow furrowed for a moment, but she could think of nothing else. "I still can't believe you're really going," she said.

"Maybe I'll be back tomorrow." "Oh, Wilbert, I know it isn't the thing to say, but I hope you will be." Anxiously, she asked, "If you aren't, are you sure you're going to be all right?'

"I don't see why not," he answered stoutly.

Now that the moment of leaving was here, all he could think was: Will I ever return? Will I ever see Maple Avenue and home again? As he drove away he looked back, to catch a last glimpse of the house. Still craning his neck when he reached the corner, he nearly collided with a truck which wasn't saving its tires, eliciting a shriek from Mrs. Winkle and a protesting yelp from Penelope.

In front of the post office he got out and Mrs. Winkle took over the wheel. She would meet him with his bag at the bus station, to which Mr. Winkle understood he was to march in a parade.

Mr. Winkle negotiated the stairs to the second floor of the post office feeling a little as if he were mounting a scaffold to his doom. When he walked down the hall and into the draft board's room he found that der, snuggling her face against his most of the other men were already

Mr. Winkle was indignant. It had been bad enough to have certain people laugh at him. But he hadn't expected one of his fellow draftees to make fun of him.

He decided that Freddie Tindall didn't know any better and wasn't worth bothering about. But Freddie was the instrument of something else that really touched him. For the first time Mr. Winkle told himself that he wasn't old. The others were just young.

The chairman of the draft board looked at his watch and then rose. He made a little talk, while the men all listened attentively, except for Freddie Tindall, who gazed indolently out the window.

The chairman explained that they had all been chosen fairly, strictly according to the Selective Service regulations. They were being asked to do a serious thing at a serious time. He knew each would do it to the best of his ability. He wished them good luck. He said that the roll would now be called. Each man, at his name, was to come forward and receive his papers and a small going-away kit furnished by the Women Volunteers.

"A leader," he concluded, "is being appointed for you, and you are required to obey him on the way to your Induction Center. The senior member among you, Mr. Wilber Winkle, will be your leader." Mr. Winkle was flattered. He was glad for the responsibility. It would help take his mind off himself. Freddie Tindall leaned toward him and inquired, "How do you like being a big shot, Pop?"

Mr. Winkle saw that he was going to have trouble with Freddi ..

The men began to go up. Mr. Winkle's was the last name called, He received his kit, contained in a brown imitation leather packet. Each of the draft board members shook his hand. He was given his own papers, and then instructions about a number of other documents for the group. The clerk was reading one of these, his warrant of authority, when the American Legion band burst into sound outside on the street. The clerk had to raise his voice to make the rest of the warrant heard.

They all trooped down to the street. Quite a crowd had gathered. The band, which had completed its first rendition, took up another at the sight of the group of draftees. There was a scattering of

The fact that both broad and narrow stripes contrasting navy and white are used in the styling of this gown adds greatly to its interest. The high round neck, the unique contrast of the yokelike treatment and the brief sleeves, achieve a most intriguing effect. Advance style collections stress important-looking restaurant suits and regal dinner gowns that tell the news of luxury-striped materials such as handsome rayon satin done in striking color contrast, used for bodice tops and the very new peplum blouses, worn either with street-length skirts or long slim formal types. The new deluxe stripes that occur in satins and crepes boldly contrast black with white or black with shocking pink or with aqua blue or lime and many equally lovely color duets. There are also some exquisite stripes done in white and pastel colorings. The vogue for stripes has inspired the striking evening gown shown in the oval inset. Here you see a bodice top of aqua and black regency striped rayon satin with skirt of mossy rayon crepe, the smoothly fitted midrib section accented with a cummerbund of jet black rayon

H that time betwixt and between when fall clothes look too advanced and summer clothes somehow do not seem to be quite in tune with the shifting scene. What to do? Here's where fashion steps right to the front with a wardrobe rejuvenator that animates the style picture like magic. Told in a single word, it's stripes! It's a wonderful way-of-their-own that striped fabrics have of "stealing the show" when it comes to striking effects. They have a refreshing sprightliness about them that looks just right, in season and out of season. The big news about stripes is that they bid fair to hold their popularity and importance in the mode right through the coming fall and winter season. You may expect to see stripes wherever you go during the months ahead, for not only do fashions for immediate wear exploit them in simple casual frocks, skirts and blouses, but stripes are playing a stellar role in way of luxury blouses and versatile accessories that will dramatize gala costumes, such as milady will be wearing during the forthcoming social season. There's certainly high - fashion news in stripes, but if perchance you happen to be one who "has to be shown" the group illustration will bring you proof positive of their importance on the current style program. That attractive little frock to the left, which makes sophisticated simplicity its theme is a "darling" around her waist. Penelope gazed at them curiously; as if she found the scene not quite proper.

"I didn't mean to say anything about this," she told him, "and I'm thinking of you as much as myself when I do. I've been worrying," she confessed, "about trouble you might get into."

"Trouble?" asked Mr. Winkle. "What kind of trouble?"

"Well," she said, "this is the first time we've ever been separated. Do you realize that?"

Mr. Winkle was bewildered. "I don't see what-"

"I mean," she explained, "that you could be tired of me. I meanother women." She came out with it in a rush. "You read about it every day. You might-you might . . .

Mr. Winkle was startled. He hastened to assure Amy that there was nothing for her to worry about on that score. He told her he wasn't tired of her and that he wasn't interested in any other woman.

She sat bolt upright on his lap. "But you don't know," she stated. "You don't know yourself. You don't know how it will be."

"How," inquired Mr. Winkle, "will it be?" He was suddenly pleased to find her jealous.

"When you've been away from me long enough," she elucidated, "you'll find out."

Mr. Winkle contemplated that. At the prospect of there being something to what she said, he thought he flashy. had better deny it with convincing spirit. "Now you look here," he said, "when you catch me with another woman, you take it up then."

"But I won't be there to catch you!" she protested. "I won't know a thing about it. Except," she re- excelled. It was his boast that he flected, "I'll be able to tell when I see you again."

Threatened with this test, Mr. Winkle accused, "All you're doing is putting ideas in my head."

She drew back. "Why, Wilbert Winkle!" she cried angrily, and again there peeped forth the Amy of recent years. "Do you know what you're doing? You're placing the blame on me for your being unfaithful!"

Mr. Winkle felt that, having been given his trousers back, he should retain them. It was no time to quib-ble about that or shirk it. "You

Three members of the board, including the clerk and the chairman, who was clad in a blue American Legion uniform and made a very official appearance, sat before a table at the front of the room. They shuffled papers with a grave air.

The draftees themselves sat on collapsible chairs and with uneasy expressions alternated between regarding each other and the men at the table

Mr. Winkle took a seat in the rear row. Some of the men, he saw, recognized him from his picture in the paper. A few of them gave him brief smiles or nods, tentative invitations to being comrades in arms. Or recognition that he was in the same boat with them. Mr. Winkle couldn't decide which it was.

More men came in and seated themselves. Jack Pettigrew arrived and sat gingerly on the edge of a chair; he didn't look around. Mr. Winkle counted, to keep his mind busy, and saw that seventeen were the draftees appeared. Mr. Winkle knew Freddie Tindall from having seen him decorating the main street of the town. He was a fixture there, like one of the lamp posts or a traffic sign. He was twenty-eight, handsome, with a thin dark mustache plastered across his lip, and his clothes were too

Freddie was a prominent member of the depression generation. He had come to maturity when there were no jobs to be had. Once having formed the habit of not working, he made it a career at which he had never earned a nickel in his life and never would as long as his family's money held out. Now the war had come along to interfere with the signal success he was making of his ambition.

Freddie eyed the gathering with a superior air. When he agreed to come in and join the group, his eye lighted on Mr. Winkle. He slammed his suitcase on the floor, eased his frame gracefully to a chair in the rear row and greeted Mr. Winkle, "Hello, Pop."

One man tittered nervously. A few smiled without conviction. Jack

Those who carried suitcases piled them in the cars of the draft board members. Then the chairman lined up the selectees in a ragged forma tion, four abreast, in back of the band. Mr. Winkle was placed at their head, out in front all by himself. He didn't care for this distinction, but he couldn't refuse it. The attention thus drawn to him; and the noise and the staring, cheering people, bewildered him.

They marched off behind the blaring band, and Mr. Winkle couldn't get over how the music sent a chill up his spine, stirring him. It hadn't been so long ago that he was firmly convinced martial music was an evil thing, spurring people to war.

'Weskit Dress' Makes Its Debut This Fall

A new type of dress is making its debut this fall, known in fashion parlance as the "weskit" dress. Which is to say that a weskit effect takes the place of the usual blouse. These trig little outfits top a narrow skirt with a neat fitting vest-like blouse that buttons up the front with pointed effect at the front hemline. This type is especially smart in fancy check or stripe wool and is especially goodlooking made up with con-trast sleeves. There is opportunity given in this weskit-and-skirt fashion for endless color contrasts. The weskit top may be of check, the skirt of monotone matched to the sleeves. Pulpwood is needed for hundreds of war uses. The demand has increased tremendously and the supply gone down for lack of manpower in the woods. ADMIRAL KING SLAPS Insiders now admit that friction between Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Ernie King is just as bad as it was between King and the late Frank Knox-or worse.

Knox and Admiral King rubbed each other raw. King used to go over the head of the secretary of the navy, even overruled him regarding the navy's new gray summer uniform, which Knox-and most navy men-opposed.

When Forrestal became secretary of the navy, it was hoped that relations would be harmonious. Last week, however, Admiral King publicly gave his chief an adroit slapdown Forrestal, Admiral King and fighting Admiral Halsey were holding a joint press conference. The secretary of the navy was asked if he had any comment on the fall of the Tojo cabinet. He replied that navy personnel, including himself, were not supposed to comment on politics.

Whereupon Admiral King inter-rupted and, almost as if the secretary of the navy were a little boy, corrected him.

"I will comment on that," he announced, despite Forrestal's statefor comment by navy personnel. "Obviously, the cabinet would not have fallen unless there was dissatisfaction on the part of military leaders with the conduct of the war. The Japanese can be expected to continue to wage war with all the powers they possess."

Secretary Forrestal took the admiral's remarks - interpreted by those present as an indirect slapdown-without saying a word.

VETERAN STRUGGLE

One of the most important behindthe-scenes struggles for postwar power is now being waged between the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Actually, the Veterans of Foreign Wars are in a better position than the Legion to get a head start on recruiting veterans of World War II. The VFW charter from congress permits recruiting men before they are discharged, while the Legion must wait until a man leaves the service before recruiting him.

Fact is the VFW has picked up more than 400,000 new members since Pearl Harbor, while the Legion's gains have been relatively paltry. At the start of the war, the Legion had more than one million members, the VFW only a quarter million. But today the VFW magazine has the largest overseas cir- New York Average culation of any non-governmental publication, is now read by 300,000 men monthly. GIGURES from the nation's race tracks are sufficient evidence that horse racing has lost none of its popularity.

With the season about half gone for many of the major tracks, betting totals are high enough to indicate that just about every record will be broken in 1944. The present betting spree is unprecedented in American thoroughbred history.

Just seven years ago the pari-mutuel tracks totaled a fancy $266,000,000. That amount was even greater than many an enthusiast had predicted, but the follow-up has been little short of phenomenal.

Each year, since 1938, the betting handle has increased. In 1939 it mounted to $291,000,000, and in 1940 climbed to $408,000,000. Racing officials thought that the 1943 mark of $703,000,000 would stand for quite some time, but with the 1944 season slightly more than six months old, it is obvious that all records are to be shattered thoroughly.

Heavy Gains Reported

The country's biggest tracks are operating on a colossal basis. New York, Chicago, New England, Cali-fornia and Detroit all report heavy ment that political matters were not gains. More than a billion dollars will have been wagered by bettors before the season's end.

It should be remembered, too, that this total is the legalized betting at the tracks. It has been estimated that at least an equal amount is wagered with illegal handbooks throughout the nation. When New York's season passed the halfway mark as the Saratoga 30-day meet opened, indications were that by mid-November at least $400,000,000 will have been wagered, and the state treasury enriched by some $27,000,000.

The New York estimate is based on the assumption that the second half of the season will be compara-ble to the first. When the Empire season ended, marking the halfway point, the total betting for 96 days (97 were originally scheduled but races were cancelled on D-Day) came to $208,038,623. If the second half of the campaign equals the first, the total would reach $416,077,246. And there is every reason to believe that betting won't fall off at any of the major tracks.

During 1942 the average Detroit racing fan bet $26.96 every time he went to the Fair Grounds to aid in the improvement of the breed. In 1943 this average went up to $33.50. But in 1944 the average jumped to $39.04 and is still mounting.

However, New York continues to stay ahead in matters of horse rac-

America's answer to the Nazi flying bomb has been the further development of the new rocket gun armament on the huge P-47, which not only can do as much damage as the flying bomb, but actually does many times as much, for the bombs can be accurately placed.

THE PROPHET IN THE LIFE OF ISRAEL

LESSON TEXT-I Samuel 3:19-21; 7:3-12. GOLDEN TEXT-He that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully.-Jeremlah 23:28.

Remarkably up-to-date is the helpful guidance found in this lesson. When our nation finds itself facing those other nations which would destroy our Christian faith, and we know that we need the key both to a true victory and a satisfactory peace, the message of this scripture comes with fine helpfulness.

The prophet Samuel (who was also priest and judge) served God in ruling his people at a time when they were under the hard heel of the Philistines. The way out of op-pression was revealed in God's ten in the day of triumph.

I. God's Word Declared (3:19-21). While a prophet had the ministry of foretelling, his chief work was forth-telling. He told of the future, but his larger ministry was to de-clare the message of God. As Samuel did this in faithful devotion to the Lord, there was the immediate blessing of God which established the prophet throughout the whole land.

Nazis complain that the new rocket is "un-Those who are timid about "limitfair" and does not give them sufficient oping" their ministry (imagine that!) to the Bible should learn of Samuel portunity to get under cover. U. S. army officials report that its effect will be inthat it is the only really effective message. God will not "let you down" if you teach and preach His Word. He let none of Samuel's "words fall to the ground" (v. 19) "There should be ceilings on forand He will not desert us as we give forth His truth. Note that the Lord Himself came to strengthen and encourage Samuel (v. 21). He is just as gracious to

His servants today. He comes to them in that blessed strengthening fellowship which stirs their hearts and fires them anew with holy determination.

II. Man's Heart Revived (7:3-6). The response of the people to Samuel's message was whole hearted. They were sick of their sin and idolatry. They proved the reality of their repentance by putting away their heathen gods.

Such repentance and appropriate action is a prerequisite to spiritual revival. God cannot give us His blessing if we hold on to our sin and idolatry. Note how the revival expressed itself. They gathered together and prayed (vv. 5, 6). Spiritual life thrives on the gathering together of God's people. The crisis in Israel was met by a convocation of the people. We need to revive the great soul-stirring religious gatherings of a generation ago. Go yourself, and encourage others to go. Let the fire of God burn, and let those who meet scatter far and wide as brands which will light new fires. "I will pray," said Samuel. He was a great intercessor (I. Sam. 15:11, Ps. 99:6; Jer. 15:1). Revival starts in the faithful intercession of a burdened heart. Should we not ask ourselves, "Have I really prayed for revival in my church, my city, and my country?" III. A Nation Delivered (7:7-11). "Cry unto God . . . he will save us," was the word of Samuel. They cried, and He did! "The Lord thundered with a great thunder," and discomfited the enemies of Israel. In these days of warfare we might well cry out, "Lord, do it again," thunder upon our enemies and defeat them in such a way that they and we shall see that it was the hand of God and not of men! (See Ps. 20:7.) That is one thing for which we might well pray, for "behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear" (Isa. 59:1). Seeing Israel at prayer, the enemy took advantage of them and attacked. In the previous battle at this very spot (see last Sunday's lesson) Israel had been defeated because they had fought with the weapons of man. Now, with God's weapons of prayer and faith, they had glorious victory.

ELMER ON SUMMER RESORT CEILINGS

OPA is investigating overcharging at summer amusement resorts, following complaints of exorbitant prices for hotdogs, soda pop, salami sandwiches, etc. This column is not in sympathy. Pleasure seekers at amusement resorts eat too much. Nothing they stuff themselves with is necessary.

We think the dollar hotdog would be a good thing, with an extra twobits for mustard. It is responsible for much of the irritability found at summer resorts.

But Elmer Twitchell is for ceilings on many other items at the summer playgrounds of America. He wants the OPA to put a limit on what can be charged for picture gallery photographs, bathing houses, sideshow freaks and fortune tellers.

"I demand OPA protection at the picture galleries," he snapped to-day. "They are getting twice as Word, which brought revival and much for a snapshot of me leaning deliverance—which was not forgot- against a fake cabin cruiser as in prewar days and I'm using the same face. When I squawk to the photographer what does he say? He says photography has gone to war! He tells me camera parts are hard to get, that all the best assistants are in Normandy and that the artist who painted the backdrop gets 50 per cent more than last year for the same waves, whitecaps and rocks."

Elmer was in a temper. "And take the bathhouses. They sock me more than ever for a locker, suit tune tellers, too. I paid 50 cents more for my fortune this summer than last summer. I insist that the shortage of tea leaves is bogus and that gypsies have to pay more for earrings and hair grease.

"They've upped the admission price to see the Two-Headed Boy. Why? Well, they claim there is a shortage of two-headed boys due to the war, but I am yet to see one in the army or in a war plant.

"The Fat Lady is getting more money, and I can see some justice in that. It must cost her more to keep fat, but there is one amusement resort feature that should be punished by OPA at once." "Who is that?" we asked. "The lady sword swallower," said Mr. Twitchell.

"I paid 10 per cent more to get into the tent to see her and a flame eater. About the flame eater I'm not sure. Maybe flames are harder to get. But I denounce the alibi of the sword swallower as wholly without foundation. "What alibi is that?" we asked. "He had the nerve to tell me that swords are being rationed," concluded Elmer.

However, labor has not fallen for the bait. Instead, trade-union chapters of the American Legion are being rapidly built up to help combat any anti-union feelings of returning servicemen.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars also made "hay" with a speech delivered by national Legion Commander Warren Atherton in the South Pacific area recently. Atherton debunked the idea that men in the front lines fighting the Japs want furloughs home. The VFW immediately took advantage of this statement, set up a terrific howl for overseas furloughs, soon found membership applications pouring in.

Uncensored military and political dispatches reaching the diplomatic corps reveal that the German army is defeated and that fat Hermann Goering, father of the Luftwaffe, may soon rise as the German "man with the Allies.

According to John N. Sabo, Detroit turf editor, more than $160,000,000 is invested in race tracks, horses and big breeding farms. The estimated value of the horses racing in the United States today is $55,000,000.

"Actually," Sabo writes, "under present-day high prices of thoroughbreds, the total is greater. Horses which cost $1,500 two or three years ago now are unobtainable at twice that figure.

"A good indication is the racer Pericles which William A. Hellis of New Orleans purchased for $66,000 as an untried yearling.

The contributions made by the tracks have been impressive, but not out of proportion. Racing is big business-and extremely profitable. The sport not only can afford to be generous, it must be generous. It is too dependent upon the public's good will to be anything else.

SPORTS SHORTS

Cleveland sport fans have donated $15,000 to a fund to provide playing equipment and free medical care to sandlot ballplayers in the city.

IV. God's Mercy Remembered (7:12).

Samuel raised a stone of remembrance, to remind Israel in the years to come that the Lord had been their help. A defeated, disheartened, sinful people had turned while just to see if we had anything to God in repentance and faith, and God had given them victory. They must never forget His mercy.

One of the great concerns of thinking men in our day is the fear that victory may come to us before we are spiritually and morally ready to receive it. If it does, we shall see a mad rush into excesses of all kinds, a bold glorying in our own ability and power, and even greater forgetfulness of God.

What America needs now is a deep going spiritual revival which will both prepare us for a God-given victory, and for the peace which is to follow.

The Pullman company says the present sleeping car is to be a thing of the past before many years. No more will be manufactured. This is going to be a terrific blow to the ladder and net industries.

The new sleeping car will not have the double berths down both sides of the car, with aisle in the center. It will be a car of roomettes, each with running water, etc. It has always puzzled us that the conventional sleeping-car could have survived so many years, but we shall regret its complete disappearance. We used to take a sleeper once in a left physically.

Storage Lockers Are Increasing In Popularity

One war-born custom that will almost surely be retained after the boys have come marching home and settled down is that of buying commodities when they are plentiful and cheap and storing them for the days when there is a scarcity. Thanks to the quick-freezing method of preserving food, the vegetables, meats, poultry, fruits or dairy produce can be kept without loss of flavor or vitamin content for many months.

A housewife, wearing a fur coat although it was July when the picture was taken, is shown taking a package of quick-frozen food from her locker. It is possible to keep as much as 250 pounds in the storage box. Most customers keep their boxes full, replacing whatever they take out with something of equal bulk, so that the compartment really holds many times its capacity during a year's time. Rental of ordinary sized lockers costs from $12.50 to $16.50 a year.

Quick freezing may be done at home by means of specially made small units. But these are limited to wartime restrictions. Every home may have one after the war; for the present, however, the housewife who wants to plan ahead may use the community lockers in frozen food locker plants which are now located in many places throughout the country. A recent government survey revealed that there are 4,600 of these locker plants in 46 states, handling about a half-billion pounds of meat, poultry, fruit and vegetables a year. Of the million or so families served, about three-quarters are farmers. But lockers in the metropolitan New York area report an increasing num-ber of city folk taking advantage of this method of insuring a supply of food months ahead as fresh as the day the vegetables were taken from the garden or the chicken was killed. Many suburban victory gardeners are preserving their crop surpluses by the quick freeze method and storage.

The American Frozen Food Locker in White Plains, N. Y., reports that its 1,600 lockers began to fill on last July 15, when first fruits of Victory gardens began to come in. Since then a steady stream of customers has been pouring through its doors with bushel baskets, car- For few are the higher places, tons, packing cases, etc. This plant has a butcher for processing meats and poultry before freezing and storage. Vegetables and fruits must be prepared by the customers themselves.

Chickens that are to be quickfrozen are carefully cut up and packed in a cellophane-lined, waxed paper box, ready for the process. After freezing they are placed in the storage lockers of customers, there to remain until wanted, perhaps as long as six months. Most locker plants have a staff to prepare to the back. and pack meat for freezing, but generally the customer has to put up his own fruits and vegetables.

Various foods are prepared in different ways for quick freezing and storage. Ears of corn, for instance, are blanched in steam or boiling water, and then wrapped, each ear separately, in cellophane. Other vegetables are placed in cellophane bags and sealed to keep out moisture.

For few is the blare of the trumpets; For few is the high degree. For few is the glaring headline, That all who can read may see. where the white light beats always down; Where fate can deal nought but aces, And man may wear jeweled crown.

JITTERBUG JOOLERY There's a new crop of summer joolery on the way in-either the make-it-yourself variety or the digit-at-the-dime-store style. Exotic looking shell necklaces will take first place as soon as you start to wear those peasant blouses and here are some of the whackier ideas you'll soon be seeing.

Clutching Claws-Some bright gal discovered that lobster claws make paint them with colorless nail polish for a fine gloss. Glue a pin Try stringing small claws for a grewsome necklace. Let's revive that old song about "Want some sea-food, mama." Gypsy Sweetheart-The latest earring fad is to wear a large metal hoop on one ear. Gives you a sort-a one-sided look and brings out the gypsy in you. Tickets, Please-Every time your date takes you to the movies, be sure to save the ticket stubs. When you have a good-sized collection, mount them on pieces of cardboard, cut to fit, and string them into a necklace. Cover them with color-less nail polish, of course, to preserve them. Write the name of the boy who took you on the back of each cardboard, if you really want to be a show-off. Keep Cool-One of the popular new gadget pins (dime store variety, we think) is a pair of plastic ice tongs holding a plastic cube of ice. Pin it on your lapel and give him the cold shoulder!

THE LIFE OF THE PARTY

Parties are moving outdoors these warm days. Even with rationing you can manage to whip up a picnic or two, especially if everybody brings his own pickin's. Here are some recently reported party trends that should help you plan your next rat race.

Sock 'em-Don't ask us why, but Sock Dances are very popular. Everybody takes off his and her shoes and the idea is to dance in your socks. (Ouch, that guy must be an Eskimo; he dances as if he had snowshoes on!)

On the Square-Summer's the time for square dancing-so get the gang together and buy an album of square-dance music. Get some local old-timer to teach you how to do this rural jitterbugging and you're all set for a strenuous evening.

Yo-Yo Contests-We reported a few weeks ago that the Yo-Yo fad was sweeping high school campuses. Well, now we hear that Yo-Yo contests are the hit of teen-age parhave fun!

Hey, Sucker! - Make your own suckers for the next party with a package of powdered fruit drink, Add water and sugar, according to the directions on the package, and Lack of Machinery pour the mixture into your ice cube tray. Let it freeze and then serve Calls for Sharing as hard candy.

Have fun over a coke and then go home and raid your own irebox. Don't hull a taxy when i's a ping

With the harvest season well un der way in most farming areas, the problem of getting enough labor and machinery to do the job at the right time is again present.

With little or no prospect of more large combines and labor-saving equipment for haying this season, the War Food administration is urging small grain producers to make the greatest possible use of existing machinery. Owners of combines suitable for custom work will have to help their neighbors to insure harvest of the crop. Sharing of all types of equipment will be necessary, says WFA, but the production schedules have run far behind on heavy machinery.

Custom use of large combines and the more expensive types of having machines would be necessary even if manufacturers had completed their production schedules on time, it is pointed out, as a result of curtailed manufacture since the beginning of the war and the failure of some old machines to carry through. Production of corn pickers was reported as lagging in late spring, but there were prospects of a step-up before the harvest. Shortages of manpower for manufacturing plants and of component parts for the machines are reported as largely responsible for production delays.

Emphasis is also being given to the need for keeping old machines in tip-top condition. While most farmers will have checked over their equipment before harvest time, to avoid breakdowns after the begincheck-ups during the period of operation are also essential to efficient

It is anticipated that some four million volunteer urban workers will be required to complete the harvest, as farm population is at a 30-year low and those remaining on farms need every bit of help they can get. Farm labor requirements are based

Requirements for volunteer farm labor are for two million men, 1,200,-000 boys and girls, and 800,000 women. In addition to increased use of women and part-time workers, and intensive local community recruiting drives, labor recruitments include available prisoners of war.

Answering the problem of how to salt stock in the high areas of the county, Morris dropped 50-pound blocks of salt from an airplane to his stock 1,000 feet below. Local stockmen had maintained that the salt blocks would break if dropped to the range from planes, but on riding into the area, Morris found that only one block had broken and that each block had fallen within 10 feet of its objective.

Making two trips, 800 pounds of salt were distributed in 40 minutes. It would take at least four days by team and wagon to distribute that much salt, if they could make it at all. Proving that "precision bombties. You'll fool so feelish, but you'll ing" works, Morris has become the local hero.

Russia Purchases Rights To Newest Rubber Process

WILMINGTON, DEL.-Russia is purchasing rights to the process for making neoprene synthetic rubber as a result of negotiations requested by the U. S. government, the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and company, which developed the process, announced.

Under an agreement dated June 22, no compensation for the production of neoprene will be asked of Russia while that nation is at war against Germany, the announcement said.

The picturesque old two-man saw is being displaced by a gasolinedriven saw in Canadian forests. A two-hour job is done in five minutes. After reaching a record high figure in 1943, farm cash income has continued to show expansion in 1944, according to the Alexander Hamilton institute. Although government benefit payments during the first quarter dropped to $224,000,000 this year from $271,000,000 last year, this decrease was more than offset by a gain in receipts from marketings.

Total farm income in the first quarter this year amounted to $4,511,000,000 as against $3,968,000,-000 in the same period last year, an increase of 13.7 per cent. The increase in receipts from sales was due partly to a 5.3 per cent higher price level for farm products and partly to a gain of 10.1 per cent in the quantity sold.

The price level of goods which the farmers bought was 8.0 per cent higher than a year ago in the first quarter. This was more than offset by the gain in income and, consequently, the farmers' purchasing power showed a 5.2 per cent rise. This gain in purchasing power, however, was made in the first two months. In March, the farmers' purchasing power was slightly smaller than a year ago, thus providing support to the present expectation that the farmers' purchasing power for the year as a whole will be smaller than in 1943 despite a record high income in 1944.

The farmers' cash income in 1944 is now estimated at $20,011,000,000 as compared with the previous high record of $19,704,000,000 in 1943. The increase which is now indicated will not be sufficient to offset the prospective higher price level of goods bought by the farmers. Consequently, the outlook is that the farmers' purchasing power in 1944 will be 3.4 per cent smaller than in 1943.

At the end of only a ten-day test period, their feet were examined in two ways: 1. Scrapings were taken from the feet and examined by the bacteriologist. 2. Each subject was examined by a physician. We quote from the report:

"After the use of Soretone according to the directions on the label for a period of only ten days, 80.6% of the cases showed clinical improvement of an infection which is most stubborn to control."

Improvements were shown in the symp-toms of Athlete's Foot-the itching, burning, redness, etc. The report says:
