United War Fund Drive Starts Oct. 16

The Isoco County Drive for the Michigan United War Fund will be underway, starting on October 16 to 26 inclusive, Chairman Nathan Barkman advises that the quota for the county as set by the state headquarters is $4,000.00. Quotas for the towns and townships of the county will appear in an early issue of the newspapers.

Last year our county met about 80 per cent of our quota. Our bond drives have shown our complete support of national unity by going over the top in each loan drive. We should do likewise on this annual United War Fund campaign.

This committee this year urges that everyone give as much as possible when solicited. Your wholehearted support will show that we stand 100 per cent behind our servicemen where ever they may be and that we are in complete accord with our allies.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ferrister

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Ferrister, highly esteemed pioneer of Isoco county died Tuesday at the Charles Lail home in Burleigh township. She had been a resident of this community for 63 years.

She was born December 9, 1867, in Ontario, and came here as a young girl, residing in Grant township the most of her life. She is survived by one granddaughter, Miss Evelyn Latham. Her husband, the late Guy W. Ferrister passed away many years ago.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon from the Hemlock Road Baptist church. Rev. Paul Dean officiated. Interment was in the Tawas City cemetery.

The pall bearers were: Thomas Scarlett, Frank Long, Fred Pfahl, William Herriman, Victor Herriman and Henry Smith.

Wesley H. Clement

Wesley H. Clement, a former Detroit & Mackinac Railroad employee and well known Plainfield township farmer, died Monday, September 27 at his residence.

Wesley H. Clement was born May 23, 1866, at Hainville, New York, and came here during the lumbering days. For many years he was employed by the Detroit & Mackinac railroad, and he also operated his farm near Hale. He married Mary Moore, who passed away nine years ago. Surviving him are his son, Charles Clement, and daughter, Miss Tracy Clement.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon. Rev. H. E. Davis officiated. Burial was at the Hale cemetery.

Members of the Hale Masonic lodge were pall bearers. He had been a member of the Hale lodge for 26 years and was a Past Master.

BULLETIN

The Isoco County Free Fair Held Tuesday and Wednesday at Hale was very successful. A very large attendance and a large number of exhibits was in evidence.

Everyone in attendance had a fine time and were enthusiastic over the possibility of making it an annual event at Hale. People from all sections of the county were there, indicating that a county fair is still a valued institution.

A list of prize winners will appear in a later issue of the Tawas Herald.

At an executive meeting of the East Tawas Recreation Committee it was decided to extend an invitation to Tawas City young people to take part in their youths' Recreation Program.

20TH CENTURY AND LITERARY CLUBS OPEN

First Meetings of Club Season Held This Week

The Twentieth Century Club held their opening meeting for the year Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. J. Bright. Five visitors were present. Two new members were added to the membership Mrs. E. Potts and Miss Arlene Leslie.

The President's Greeting by Mrs. Bright and the response by five past presidents, Mrs. Dora Mark, Mrs. Rebecca Osborne, Mrs. J. F. Mark, Mrs. May Campbell, Mrs. Jessie McLean, were greatly enjoyed. Letters were also received from five out of town past presidents, Mrs. Jessie Downer, Mrs. Nellie Robinson, Miss Jessie Robinson, Mrs. May Dease and Mrs. Grace Davison.

A piano solo, "Nocturne" by Greig by Miss Ruth Giddings and a piano duet, "The Glow Worm," was presented by Mrs. Giddings and Ruth.

The Club program for the year promises to be interesting and it was voted to hold evening meetings for a time. The next meeting will be held October 18th in the evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Metcalf.

Mrs. Bright will attend the District Convention at West Branch on Friday (today).

The opening meeting of the 60th year of the Ladies' Literary Club was held in the club rooms Wednesday afternoon.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with autumn flowers in honor of the new president, Mrs. J. A. Carlson. Mrs. Carlson was also presented with a corsage from Mrs. Carl Taylor of Essexville, former district president.

The program featured an interesting talk by Mrs. L. G. McKay, concerning the work of the Red Cross for the year. This was followed by a delicious tea served by the social committee, Mrs. Charles Bigelow, chairman.

The club has planned an interesting program for the year and the meetings will be held afternoons on the first Wednesdays and evenings of third Wednesdays.

Mrs. Carlson is secretary for the Northeastern District Convention which is in session this Friday in West Branch. Mrs. R. W. Elliott, delegate, and Miss Amanda Hamilton, chairman of the International Relations. They and Mrs. J. R. Calby and Mrs. J. S. Harrington are attending this meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clement and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brindly and family.

Miss Tracy Clement.

Plainfield P.-T. A.

Plainfield P.-T. A. gave a reception for the teachers, Wednesday, September 27.

Supt. Milligan told of his plans for serving hot school lunches, and suggested that the P.-T. A. might help to get the project under way by raising funds to purchase a steer.

A committee was appointed to raise the money. Mr. Milligan's agriculture class will butcher and dress the animal, and the Home Making Class, under the leadership of Mrs. Milligan will can the meat.

Get acquainted games were played, following the short business meeting then refreshments were served in the Home Ec room.

Some changes were noted in the building since last spring. The room opposite the library is now the superintendent's office, and what was formerly used as an office is now the first aid room. The beds, blankets and equipment were purchased with the proceeds of the literary plays put on by Mrs. Bloomquist's class during the past two years. The screens were made by the shop classes. This is a very fine improvement to the school, since most of the pupils are brought in by bus, and it is used every day.

MR. WINKLE GOES TO WAR
By THEODORE PRATT
W.N.U. RELEASE

THE STORY THUS FAR: Forty-four-year-old Wilbert Winkle, who operates a repair shop in the alley back of his home, is notified by his draft board that he is in I-A. He breaks the bad news to Amy, his domineering wife, who becomes suddenly tender. Mr. Winkle is sent to Camp Squibb, a thousand miles from home. After graduating from Motor Mechanics school, Mr. Winkle goes home on a furlough. Amy hardly knows him, and his dog, Penelope, barks at him furiously. After returning to camp Mr. Winkle and his friend, Mr. Tinker, are sent to a point of embarkation. Soon they find themselves on the high seas, in a big convoy. They meet some of their friends aboard and are encouraged.

CHAPTER XI

At lunch time they were at last told where they were going. Nothing was said about the main convoy. From the beginning it had been planned to send them to the island of Talizo, one of the steppingstones in the retrieving of certain precious stones stolen by the Japanese when no one was looking.

The south end of the fifty-mile-long island had been captured by American forces, along with an airfield conveniently just completed by the Japs, who still held the northern half of Talizo. They would land some time the next morning.

Mr. Winkle searched in his guidebook for the entry under Talizo. To his satisfaction he found that the island had cannibals. It was, in fact, noted for them.

Late that afternoon a collection of dark dots came out of the sinking sun ahead of them. The gun crews of their own and the other ships sprang to their stations, alert and tense. But soon word was passed about that these were their own planes, come to protect them in that most dangerous of all times, dusk on the sea.

No enemy, from under, on, or over the sea appeared either that night or at dawn when the planes returned to take up their vigil and escort the convoy to port.

Land, now made out boldly, was seen to be a low-lying shore reaching up abruptly to a towering volcanic mountain ridge running along the far side of Talizo. It was a scene of such beauty as to be very nearly unreal. As they approached closer, here and there the white wisps of a waterfall could be seen throwing itself down from the mountain jungles and disappearing into the thick green growth below.

That war and the killing and maiming of men could exist on this peaceful looking island did not seem credible.

Looking at it, all you wanted to do was to land here, among the palm trees on the white sandy shore and spend the rest of your life.

Mr. Winkle and his several thousand companions gazed at it with awe and wonderment. The island was almost the thing for which Mr. Winkle searched, and he wondered if he would find it here.

Mr. Winkle's impression of landing was not one of danger, but of fascination.

Their troopship was the first vessel through the mine field and the opening made by a small tug drawing back the boom of the submarine net. Almost before the anchor was down in the harbor, landing nets were being thrown over the sides of the ship and boats lowered.

They climbed down, packing themselves in the lifeboats. Three of these, tied together, were pulled by a launch to one of the piers. The men stared at a half-sunken supply ship they passed. Some of them identified shore batteries placed on either point of the harbor.

It was hot on land, after the sea, as they marched through the town.

Passing by the thatched huts, they saw that most of them were vacant. Only here and there were they occupied by brown-skinned people whose large dark eyes gazed at them apathetically. A few of them were girls clad in a simple garment of printed cloth which left one shoulder bare and outlined the rest of their slim bodies to their knees.

"Whadda you know?" breathed Mr. Tinker. "Whadda you know?"

"Now, now," cautioned Mr. Winkle. "We're here to protect them, that's all."

"Sure," said Mr. Tinker. "Sure." He twisted his head, to keep in sight as long as he could what he looked forward to protecting.

On the far side of the village the jungle began, a monstrous growth of palms, lianas, bushes, vivid flowers, breadfruit trees, and banana plants. Into this they marched along a narrow white shell road that threw up heat in nearly suffocating waves. They began to sweat.

They came to a tent so cleverly camouflaged that they failed to make it all out at once. It was painted the exact color of the vegetation. Limbs of trees grew over its roof. Nets, to which branches were attached and sprayed a permanent green, covered it in other places.

The jungle was honeycombed with such tents, some of them small, some of them large enough to house a small circus. Again Mr. Winkle felt safe. He told himself nothing could happen to him in such a hidden installation. He had half-expected to make a landing amidst a hail of bullets and exploding bombs.

At their first meal in the mess tent they tasted new foods, potato-like taro, papaya, and wild chicken. Mr. Tinker spat most of them out and took to what he called civilized dishes also provided. Mr. Winkle swallowed them, if not with relish, at least with pleasure in their proving how definitely he was on a tropic island.

The newcomers were asked such a barrage of questions that they had little chance to put any of their own. The few they managed to get in were mostly answered with a lifting of the shoulders. One man jerked his thumb toward the north and said, "We're just sitting each other out."

The Messrs. Winkle and Tinker reported to one of the shops, where Mr. Tinker was open-mouthed at the equipment and Mr. Winkle was impressed.

Trucks, reconnaissance and command cars, and jeeps and peeps were driven into spacious tents which held as complete equipment as to be found at home. The canvas sides were rolled up for ventilation, giving them a pleasant air of being outdoors. The familiar smell of oiled machinery and carbon monoxide fumes reached their nostrils. These perfumes were more heartening than the sweet, curious odors of the jungle with which they competed.

Men like themselves, trained as they had been, following the same procedures, labored over the vehicles, one of which had its entire rear end missing as if it had been torn off with a violent hand. The men looked up, gazing idly, curiously, or with interest at the newcomers. Only once did they pause in their quick, deft attentions to the motors. A radio, abruptly turned on, buzzed and crackled for a moment, and then from it came the clear, assured announcement "This is the United States of America."

The men went still for an instant, taking it in. They glanced at each other and some of them smiled briefly, almost shyly. As the short-wave program went on, giving the news from home, they returned to work with an added zest.

Mr. Winkle couldn't suppress a tingle that went through him and a choking in his throat. It quieted the queasy feeling in his stomach. It made him know that the jungle of Talizo, at least this part of it and more to come, was the U. S. A.

When a mail went out, Mr. Winkle was allowed to write out the barest information to Amy. He refrained from saying much for the double reason of living up to the censorship regulations and not caring to frighten her. He omitted certain things he discovered in his paradise, such as malaria, dysentery, white ants with a pincers attack worse than any war maneuver ever conceived, and mosquitoes so profuse that a net over the bed served only to trap them inside where they could concentrate their attack.

It must, he thought, be enough of a strain for Amy not even to know where he was beyond the fact that he was in the South Seas area. He kept to the cheery things, such as the taste of roasted wild pig, and the crawfish, shrimp, and prawns. He described the flowers, and dwelt on the hibiscus, which he thought went better with the tropics than anything else. He told her about the parrots and cockatoos of the jungle, and how the air was filled with the color of flashing wings.

He said there were no cannibals about just then, but he hoped eventually to see one. He described war as being nothing at all like what he had expected, and assured her that he would be back some day. "No Jap bullet has my name on it," he wrote.

He pondered on whether or not he should leave this. It was boasting a little, for he had yet to hear a shot fired on either side. In the end he let the statement go, deciding it was reassuring more than anything else. And he didn't want to give her the impression that he really wasn't in the war.

Mr. Tinker was in it so little that he didn't think much of Talizo as a battleground. When a truck was brought in with a few bullet holes through its body, it was a matter of some curiosity. And the bullets had been fired so far away that the actual fighting seemed remote and unreal.

They saw nothing of the enemy and heard nothing of him. There were so few evidences of his existence that they were hardly worth while. Even the two cots in their tent hadn't been vacated by dead men, but by men who had contracted tropical fever and been sent home. The native girls ran when Mr. Tinker made approaches; they didn't trust any human being in a soldier's uniform.

All in all, Mr. Tinker was very much disgusted. He said he might as well be home working at his plumbing, and he told Mr. Winkle he might as well be home in his shop. Mr. Winkle, on the other hand, could not conceal from himself the fact that he was pleased. He breathed easier, thinking that if this was all there was to it, it wasn't so bad. To the north, he knew, lay the airfield and the main part of the American forces of occupation. And farther on there was jungle fighting where men stalked each other through the undergrowth and sniped from the trees. But this was not his business, and he came into contact with none of those whose affair it was.

Mr. Tinker hoped to be sent north on some mission. "It's the only way I can see for me to get me my Jap," he said.

Mr. Winkle didn't understand how he could expect this. "You'd be on other duty," he pointed out. "Not all the time I won't," Mr. Tinker said. "You wouldn't tell anybody," he pleaded, "if I went off for a while, would you, Pop?"

"You won't do any such thing," Mr. Winkle scolded.

Mr. Tinker remained silent, looking glum but determined.

Mr. Tinker had only contempt for the south tip of the island, to which he and Mr. Winkle were sent several times to rescue vehicles in difficulties. He could hope to find no Japs there. The shore was lined with American machine-gun fox holes, and it was here that the Alphabet, to his chagrin, was stationed.

Sergeant Czeideskrowski and his crew, including Freddie and Jack, agreed with Mr. Tinker about their part in the war. Nothing, they felt, would happen in the portion given to them. They had come thousands of miles to sit and watch and wait for action that would never materialize.

They—with Mr. Winkle—overlooked the fact that when you are in a war you are in a war.

Awakened early one morning, Mr. Winkle and Mr. Tinker were told to report to the orderly tent on the double-quick. Their Commanding Officer looked grim when he told them

"Hop in a jeep and get down to Post Number Nine. Repair a com-

Mr. Winkle was allowed to write out the barest information to Amy.

mand car you'll find there and bring it back. Don't waste any time. There's mist off the shore. Anything can come out of it."

Mr. Winkle's heart leaped as he saluted with Mr. Tinker and hurried out.

"Something," said Mr. Tinker, "is up."

Mr. Winkle was very much afraid that this might be so. "Nine," he said. "That's the Alphabet."

At the motor park tent they found the men on duty there had the same tense attitude. "You'd better take some extra cartridge clips," they were told. These were given to them.

They drove out. Mr. Winkle didn't like the extra cartridge clips, but he did feel better to have rifles slung alongside the bouncing car.

When they reached the road running south along the shore, they saw the mist. Between hillocks of the beach ridge they could make it out standing like a wall several hundred yards offshore, mysterious, dangerous, unreasonable.

It made Mr. Tinker enthusiastic. "The Japs know we're about ready to push them in the face in the north," he held. "Mebbe they'll take this chance."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

JESUS' PROGRAM FOR MEETING LIFE'S PROBLEMS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 4:1-4; 6:31-34; Luke 4:16-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.—Matthew 4:4.

Problems, sorrows, needs, anxieties—how they press in on mankind from every direction. What is he to do about them? He cannot meet them in his own strength. They worry him almost to the point of distraction. What shall he do?

There is just one answer, and it is blessedly simple and completely satisfying. Take your burdens to the Lord and leave them there! Cast all your care upon Him, for He careth for you (I Pet. 5:7).

From the teachings of Jesus our lesson tells us why and how we may do this. Let us not miss its glorious—and convicting—message.

I. We Can Overcome Temptation Through Christ Matt. (4:1-4).

Temptation is the common lot of all mankind (I Cor. 10:13). The strongest and most noble of men are subject to it. Angels were tempted, and our scripture reveals that even Jesus was tempted. We recognize that Jesus was tempted as the Messiah (vv. 3, 6) and as one without sin (Heb. 4:15), but it is also true that He was tempted in all points as we are, apart from sin, and that we may learn from His temptation how we may meet and be the victors over temptation.

We learn of our Lord that temptations may be victoriously overcome—

1. By the right use of Scripture. If Jesus needed that weapon, how can we do without it? But how can we use Scripture if we do not study it and hide it in our hearts?

2. By dependence on God. Every Scripture used by Jesus honored God. We cannot fight Satan in our own strength. To attempt to do so is to fail utterly. The real victory for the Christian is to bring Satan back to the cross where Christ won a decisive victory over him.

3. By denouncing Satan. Jesus sent him on his way. We may do the same in Jesus' name. It is always a serious error to try to argue with Satan or to engage in any discussion with him. Let us meet him with Scripture and say "Get thee hence."

II. We Can Learn to Trust God for our Daily Needs (Matt. 6:31-34).

Some want to be rich. Their folly is made clear in verses 19-24. But then there are some who while not wanting to be rich, are in constant anxiety about food and raiment for the morrow.

What is the answer of the Lord Jesus? Consider the birds. They are not able to work, nor are they able to pray, but God feeds them. Consider the glory of the flowers of the fields, for not even a king can dress himself in such beauty. "Are ye not much better than they?" (v. 26).

"As far as known, no bird ever tried to build more nests than its neighbors; no fox ever fretted because it had only one hole in which to hide; no squirrel ever died of anxiety lest he should not lay up enough nuts for two winters instead of one; and no dog ever lost any sleep over the fact that he did not have enough bones laid aside for his declining years" (Public Health service).

Proper forethought is good and right, for we are intelligent beings, but anxiety about our daily needs is always dishonoring to God.

Yes, says someone that's all very well, but how about the future? Well, why should we fret about that? It is in God's hands, and even if it were in our hands, what could we do about it? Even tomorrow, with its needs and its blessings, with its joy and its sorrows, is not yet here, and when it does come, there will be God's gracious provision for each passing hour.

III. We Can Follow Christ in Sacrificial Service (Luke 4:16-21).

Let us be clear at once that we cannot do what Christ did, for He is the Son of God. He had a special ministry to perform as the Messiah. But we may learn much from this story.

Jesus began His ministry among His own people even though He knew of their unbelief. He used the Word of God as the background for His calling. He recognized the special need of the poor and the suffering, and especially of those who were bruised and broken by sin.

In all these things we may follow His example. Let us declare the truth to those nearest to us, even if they do reject it. Let us look to God's Word for our call and our commission—different from that of Jesus, but nevertheless from God and for His glory.

Then, too, let us learn of Him that we are to serve those who are most needy and possibly neglected, serving their physical needs, but above all bringing to them the light of God's redeeming grace.

Here is light from the Lord on our problems of sin, sorrow, supply and service.

Matching Cornice And Radiator Shelf

The shelf shown is built well above the radiator and curving up under the shelf is a metal heat reflector which also covers the wall back of the radiator. The front and end of the shelf are trimmed with cut-out wooden scallops repeating the curves of those used for the cornice shelf above the curtains.

There is a trick about the cornice too. It fits over the top of the window frame but is considerably wider to allow the overdraperies to hang straight at the sides of the radiator which is the width of the window. The sketch at the left shows how nails hold the box-like cornice in place and how the draperies are held inside with cup hooks.

NOTE—The attractive chair beside the radiator shelf is made with pattern No. 265. Scallop pattern No. 207 illustrates the steps in making cornices and also gives actual size patterns for scallops for cornice and edging of the shelf. Patterns are 15 cents each. Address:

Kanab, Utah, Permanent Motion-Picture Location

Kanab, Utah, is the only American town that has made itself into a permanent motion-picture location. Not only does it have fine living accommodations, a vast assortment of props and all its people available to serve as extras or helpers, but it maintains a casting directory which lists the citizens with special talents, their animals and odd pieces of property.

Consequently, the town has been used for the outdoor scenes of 42 pictures since 1922.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well 24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys clear waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove excess fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging headache, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling. Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER
Rationing of tires and gas has its headaches, but government agencies estimate that it has been responsible for cutting in half the annual scrapping of used cars.
In 1941 the U. S. consumed some 766,000 long tons of natural rubber, on an all-time peak, but in 1944 the country is expected to use only 164,000 long tons. Added to that, of course, is an enormous tonnage of synthetic rubber.
Talking of tire conservation, city driving, with "stop and go" conditions, causes seven times as much wear on tires as 25-mile-per-hour driving in rural sections. Also misalignment of wheels may cause 10 times normal tire wear.

Hemlock
Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bublitz and daughter, Donna, of Tawas City were Sunday supper guests of her brother, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pfahl. Harvey McIvor and son, Ronnie, of Detroit spent the week end here. Miss Erma Lou Pfahl of Saginaw spent the week end at her home here. Rev. Paul Dean was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Herriman. Miss Marilyn Pfahl spent the week end with Miss Donna Bublitz at their cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Long were Sunday afternoon callers at the W. E. Laidlaw home in Laidlawville. The Grange met with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pfahl on Saturday night. Mrs. Harry Van Patten, Mrs. Fred Pfahl and Mrs. Charles Brown spent Monday with Mrs. Clarence Earl. Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Hermann and two daughters of Pontiac spent a part of this week with her parents, and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bron and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Binder. A number from here attended the Hale Fair this week. Joan Hermann visited school with her cousin, Charles Robert Binde, Tuesday.

LOWER HEMLOCK
Vera Rapp is spending two weeks with Betty McArdle. Mrs. Harold Katterman and Darlene are spending several days with her husband at West Branch. Friends and neighbors were very sorry to hear of the death of Ebbie Laidlaw, who died in Australia in the service of his country. Cpl. Clyde Eyrill, who is stationed at an army base in Texas is spending a furlough with his wife and daughter, and other relatives and friends. Miss Babe Cadorette of East Tawas spent the week end with Betty McArdle and Vera Rapp. Waldo Curry, Sr. and Clarence Curry made a business trip to Bay City on Sunday. Mrs. Arthur Leitz and son spent Sunday afternoon at the Waldo Curry home.

NATIONAL CITY
Mrs. Lawrence Jordan was shopping in Bay City on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Butler were callers in Tawas on Monday. Miss Kathryn Dedrick of Bay City is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dedrick. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schneider were callers in Tawas on Saturday. Mrs. Ted Freil, Mrs. Jay Priest, Miss Dorothy and Betty Manning and El Roush attended the show in East Tawas Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Simon Schuster and son, Donald attended the Fair at Hale on Tuesday. Clarence Dedrick in the Merchant Marines spent the week end with his family. Bert Westcott and Hugh Croff of East Tawas were callers here on Saturday. Mrs. Wm. Brown returned to her home in Lansing on Saturday. Mrs. Jay R. Priest received a letter from her husband, Sgt. Jay R. Priest, that he was in a hospital somewhere in France.

Artificial Eyes
Germany, through her "Reichsverband," controlled the export of artificial eyes and the glass for making them. Her monopoly was comparable to that of the Venetians who kept their glass-making artisans virtually imprisoned on the island of Murano in the 16th and 17th centuries. Until the war, practically all artificial eyes were blown from a special glass with a velvety texture that could be made only in one place in the world — the little town of Lauscha in Thuringen, Germany.

Storing Eggs
Eggs can be packed in a water-glass solution in earthen jars, wooden or galvanized pails or wooden tubs. Sterilize the containers with boiling water, then mix the water-glass solution according to directions and carefully insert the clean fresh eggs so the solution covers them. A 6-gallon container will hold 15 dozen eggs. Most drug stores sell water-glass in liquid form ready to mix with water, at a price of about 25 cents a quart.

Distinction Difficult
Animals younger than four months will not resist Brucellosis and those older than eight months will retain the positive reaction to the blood test for an undesirable length of time. The bred cows and heifers may abort because of the vaccination, and the majority of them will always react positively to the blood test. In this situation the owner can never be sure which animal has Brucellosis and which one is reacting to the vaccination.

Mechanical Defects
Mechanical defects in some cases are the direct cause of accidents and a contributing factor in others. The safety section of the bureau of motor carriers, Interstate Commerce commission, found that 6.9 per cent of the accidents reported to it in 1942 were classified as "mechanical defect" accidents.

LOOKING BACKWARD
40 Years Ago—October 5, 1904.
Ash Davis, cartoonist, at the court house, Monday evening.

H. P. Eggleston of Rose City spent a few days here this week. After the foolish caper of letting the potato flour factory be moved away, does it seem possible that we will commit the unpardonable foolishness of letting the sugar factory go as well? J. W. Spooner, general merchant, is here. Will Horton and Henry Bronson of Whittemore were business visitors in the city this week. Maurice Stocks of Sherman township is spending a few days in Saginaw. Vince Korblick of Alabaster returned yesterday from a few days visit in Saginaw. George D. Armstrong of Whittemore sold a half million feet of lumber to Bay City parties last week. Miss Stella Tompkins of the Hemlock road has gone to Belding. H. J. Featherstone of Hale is in Saginaw on business this week. Herbert Downer, the genial clerk at Prescott's store, is visiting his parental home at North Branch. The Tuesday Club of Alpena District Pastors and Laymen will meet next Tuesday at the Tawas City Baptist church. The Opus club met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Baguley. Dr. D. A. Hatt, Opera House Bldg., East Tawas. Arthur Wuggazer is attending school at Springfield, Illinois.

25 Years Ago—October 3, 1919.
Clark Tanner has moved his family into his new residence just completed. B. W. Davis is attending a convention of DeLaval representatives at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Judge Nelson E. Sharp has been appointed justice of the supreme court by Governor Sleeper. Miss Della Moe Yacks and Henry Fahselt were married Wednesday at the home of her sister in Detroit. George and Leo Brabant are opening a gent's furnishing store at Tawas City. Again after paying all expenses, the Isoco County Fair has a good surplus after this year's fair to make improvements to grounds and buildings. George Hall, prominent Grant township farmer and former sawyer in the Hale and Emery mills, died Wednesday morning. Burley Wilson has been at Lynchburg, Virginia, on business this week. Miss Grace White of Flint is visiting relatives in Reno township. John LeClair of Hale is holding an auction next Tuesday. T. G. Scofield, auctioneer; G. N. Shattuck, clerk. More than 340,000 men are involved in the great steel strike which was called September 22. Ward French left Monday for his home in Los Angeles after spending a few days at East Tawas. Wylie Pearsall, recently returned from the A. E. F. in France, is visiting his father, D. I. Pearsall at Hale. Miss Helen Oliver is attending the Michigan State Normal at Ypsilanti. Miss Elna Kronlund of Wilber spent Saturday in Bay City.

Timely Watering
Losses of young plants can be avoided by timely watering and by shading them for a few days after they are transplanted. The gardener who wants to make permanent shading frames instead of using newspaper or other makeshift can stretch burlap, cheesecloth or other fabric over laths or other light lumber. Legs 12 to 18 inches long make the shades easy to handle.

Flush Season
In the flush season of production from February to June, the laying flocks of the nation actually produce about 1.4 eggs a day for every person. In the rest of the year they produce only .4 of an egg a day for each person.

Disastrous Fires
Forest and grass fires in the United States in the past five years have burned over an area as large as the entire New England states. The timber burned in one of these years would have built 20,000 Liberty ships.

There are 185,000 telephone operators in the Bell System — the largest number in history. As telephone calls have increased, more people have been added to handle them. Service generally is good but some Long Distance lines to war-busy centers get crowded. Then the operator may say — "Please limit your call to 5 minutes." We appreciate the way you're going along with that suggestion. INVEST IN VICTORY — BUY MORE WAR BONDS

Poultry Ration

Experimental work has shown that poultry require somewhat less phosphorus and calcium in their feed when vitamin D is amply supplied than when minimum amounts fed by adding extra amounts of this are used. This means that vitamin D can, in part, compensate for a lowered phosphorus content in the vitamin. However, this does not imply that by adding plenty of vitamin D the phosphorus and calcium content of feeds can be disregarded.

Helium Lethal

Because the bureau of mines is producing more than enough helium to meet all of the wartime requirements of the navy, the army and the weather bureau, considerable quantities of this lightweight, noninflammable gas now are available immediately for medical, scientific and commercial use.

Richer Diet

Nutritionally our civilian diet in 1943 was probably superior to the prewar diet of 1935-39 and, with a few exceptions, the per capita consumption of the major nutrients—calories, proteins, vitamins and minerals—was as large as in 1942.

Administered Cheaply

Michigan county governments, on the whole, are administered most cheaply in the more populous counties, the Michigan public expenditure survey reports. By the same token, the most expensive counties (those with 10,000 population or under) are the least populous. The survey also finds that the larger the county the lower the per capita cost, the high costs in the smaller counties being due, in part, to maintaining a minimum government which could render services to a much larger county at no extra cost. In the smaller counties, roads are responsible for the greatest share of costs.

Worker Trend

John D. Durand, population expert of the U. S. census bureau, predicts that by 1950 over three million women who never worked before will have joined the labor force; this group, he says, will include an alarming number of women over 35 who are "likely to be a serious complication in the postwar employment problem because of the preference of most employers for younger workers."

REGISTRATION NOTICE

General Election, Nov. 7, 1944

To the Qualified Electors of the City of Tawas City, County of Iosco, Michigan:

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned City Clerk, will, upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said City not already registered who may 'Apply to Me Personally for such registration. Provided, however that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the Twentieth Day before any regular, special, or official primary election and the day of such election.

Notice is hereby given that I will be at my office

Wednesday, October 18, 1944.

The Twentieth Day preceding said election, last day for General Registration by personal application for said election from 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m. on said day for the purpose of reviewing and registering such of the qualified electors in said City as shall properly apply therefor.

The name of no person but an actual resident of the precinct at the time of said registration, and entitled under the Constitution, it remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

Registration on Election day

Sec. 9. If any person whose name is not registered shall offer and claim the right to vote to any election or primary election, and shall, under oath, state that he is a resident of such precinct and has resided in the township or city 20 days next preceding such election, designating particularly the place of his residence, and that he possesses the other qualifications of an elector under the constitution, and that, owing to the sickness or bodily infirmity of himself or some member of his family, owing to his absence from the township or city on public business or his own business, and without intent to avoid or delay his registration, he was unable to make application for registration on the last 2 days provided by law for the registering of electors preceding such election or primary election then the name of such person shall be registered, and he shall then be permitted to vote at such election, or primary election. If such applicant shall, in said matter, wilfully make any false statement, he shall be deemed guilty of perjury.

Provision in Case of Removal to Another District

Sec. 20.—Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a city, township or village in the same senatorial or congressional district shall have the right to make application to have his name on the primary election day by executing a request over his or her signature for such transfer and presenting the same to the election board in the precinct in which he is registered. Upon receiving such request the inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and if the signatures correspond then such inspector shall certify such fact upon said request and the applicant for said transfer shall then be permitted to vote in such precinct for that election day. The application for such transfer shall be filed with the city, township or village clerk and it shall be the duty of such city, township or village clerk, as the case may be, to transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a city or village or township has been changed, it shall be the duty of the city, township or village clerk to make the change to show the proper name of the street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote. When the resident house numbers of any section of a city or village or township have been changed, such change shall not affect the right of such voter to cast his vote. Corresponding change in the registration records may be made upon election day upon proper showing.

Dated, September 1, 1944.

Albert H. Buch, City Clerk.

Mosquito Deaths

Every year malaria-bearing mosquitoes are responsible for the deaths of between two and three million people.

Soup Mixes

Soup mixes consisting of soya flour or grits, other legume powders, dry skim milk and seasonings may include up to 40 per cent soya, says the USDA bureau of human nutrition and home economics. With cereals like corn meal, cracked wheat, oat meal, hominy grits, rolled oats or granular wheat cereal, 15 to 20 per cent of soya grits or flakes may be used with good results. In quick breads and yeast breads there may be from 15 to 20 per cent soya flour.

Thomas Jefferson

Thomas Jefferson, whose 200th birthday anniversary was celebrated April 13, was the first man to put plow making on a scientific basis. Plows have been used by man for more than 3,000 years. The Greeks used the butt of a tree to which they added a metal point. The points for these primitive plows were made as late as 1923 in Connecticut for shipment to other agricultural areas.

Provided Soldiers

North Carolina provided more soldiers for the Confederacy than any other state. Its military population was 115,369, but 127,000 responded to the call. Nearly twice as many Tar Heels were killed at Gettysburg than soldiers of any other state.

Calf Vaccination

Calhood vaccination is a method of combating Brucellosis by injecting calves with an attenuated (weakened) strain of Brucellosis germs which may create resistance in the animal at maturity.

Dried Brewers' Yeast

Dried brewer's yeast retails for some 72 cents per pound. This apparently high price is really rather low on the basis of its protein content and could probably be lowered if a large demand developed. Dried brewers' yeast contains some 6 per cent water and about 46 per cent protein. Thus yeast protein costs about $1.55 per pound at retail, while in bulk, with some 62 per cent water and 19 per cent protein and retailing at 50 cents per pound, a pound of protein costs $2.60.

City Employees

Milwaukee city employees' average monthly earnings rank fourth among 18 northern cities of 300,000 in population or over, according to the United States census bureau. Milwaukee's average monthly city employee salary of $192 is exceeded only by Detroit ($207), San Francisco ($203) and Chicago ($199).

Is Your Crankcase Full of MUD?

THIS is the crankcase pan from an automobile. Its owner stuck to peacetime rules and had his oil changed regularly every 1,000 miles. But look what happened! Black, mud-like sludge by the handful almost ruined his motor by clogging oil screens and oil lines, cutting off the oil flow.

Sludge forms fast these days because with lower wartime speeds and shorter trips motors don't heat up enough to drive off impurities. Fight wartime sludge and save your motor by following new wartime recommendations.

Have your Sinclair Dealer—

- (1) Drain used oil at recommended intervals, while motor is hot.
- (2) Flush parts clean with flushing oil.
- (3) Refill with fresh, clean Sinclair motor oil.

Washington, D. C. OCCUPATION OF REICH
The war department isn't advertising the details but it has completed plans for the occupation of Germany by American forces.

The Allies have agreed the occupation should be shared in roughly equal numbers by U. S., British and Soviet forces. This will permit the return to the U. S. A. of a maximum number of units, will also free thousands of trained men if necessary for polishing off the war against Japan.

The chief problem involved is getting enough transports to rush the men home, plus sorting out those entitled to go home first. The latter will be decided by the army's "point demobilization system," and millions of forms for computing each GI's service are being printed and shipped overseas.

In 1918, American soldiers in France, deliriously overjoyed at victory, almost threw away their weapons, went wild for weeks and months. Officers, equally happy, suspended regulations, and permitted their men to overrun the big cities of France, having a gay time.

After this armistice, things will be different. The whole plan has been charted to the last detail. Discipline will be maintained, but the war department demobilization plan calls for the elimination of all "harrassing details not essential to the health and welfare of the troops."

GI Tours of Europe.
Most of the troops will be excused from drill, will be given ample opportunity to see Europe while awaiting transports for home. Men who desire it will be taken on tours of the continent under army auspices.

A "Guided Tours of Europe" program is being worked out as a result of the experience, after the last war, of American doughboys who returned home having seen only the battle fronts plus the gay side of Paris. This time officials are anxious to let the boys learn something more of the people and places they have been fighting for.

Some GIs will be given an opportunity to go to school in Europe, attend universities such as the Sorbonne, Oxford, and Cambridge. The army will also organize classes for the younger GIs who want to pick up their studies during the brief period after the armistice before they return home.

The war department recognizes it will be no easy job to get the army home all at once. However, both have emphasized the need for speeding discharges and, with no submarine warfare to cope with and no necessity for sailing in slow convoys, officials are confident that all except the army of occupation in Germany will be back within a few months.

Note—Greatest complaint against the army point system is that it makes no allowance for men over 35, who apparently have to sweat it out until the end of the Japanese war, unless the war department makes new allowances for them.

INSIDE GERMANY
Allied leaders, after surveying effects of intelligence work inside the Reich, are now finally convinced there is no chance of an honest anti-Hitler revolt by the German people. What's more, efforts to spawn a pro-Allied underground in Germany have met with failure.

Principal reason is that the Gestapo controls everything—including the army hierarchy. The communist underground has been completely liquidated; also all remnants of the socialist and social-democratic parties.

The only real hope Allied military leaders have is that the 11 million slave laborers brought to Germany by Hitler from Poland, Russia, France, Belgium, Holland and Norway, will conduct an increasing campaign of sabotage, perhaps giving heart to large groups of Germans to join them.

A year ago, Hitler and his henchmen kicked these slave laborers around at will, fed them poorly, worked them brutally under a whip lash. Of late, this pressure has been eased. In some instances, Nazis have reportedly given special treatment to their captives on the chance that they themselves will not be too badly punished by the Allies when German falls.

It is now even possible for a few of these captives to escape from Germany—for a price in foreign money—as petty Nazi police try to accumulate enough foreign currency to live safely during the Allied occupation.

CAPITAL CHAFF
Whenever Sen. Bennett Clark of Missouri (soon to be an ex) meets Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer, he says: "I should hate you—but I can't." . . . He refers to the fact that, at the Baltimore Democratic convention of 1912, A. Mitchell Palmer received a telegram from Woodrow Wilson, then governor of New Jersey, releasing his delegates to Bennett's father, Speaker Champ Clark. But Palmer refused to show any one the telegram and, in the end, Wilson, not Clark, was nominated.

THERE are many "must haves" that are needed in every college girl's wardrobe. The grand thing about modern clothes is that they are designed ever so purposefully, to meet the occasion be it this or that. There's this matter of rainstorms and damp foggy days, for instance. Regardless of that optimistic refrain "it ain't goin' to rain no more," it always has and it always will. Which brings us up to the subject of modern raincoats that excel anything that has gone before in way of glamorous eye-appeal.

Being that showers and thunder storms are inevitable in campus life, one of the practical needs in a back-to-school wardrobe is undoubtedly a sturdy wearable raincoat. The raincoat in these modern times has to be more than just a protection against the elements; it has to have "looks." Your attention is called to the stunning raincoat shown to the right in the illustration. It's everything that a modern co-ed wants in way of the color you like best, for this model comes in bright red, green or blue or in neutral tones. This coat is beautifully fitted with special regard to comfort and ease in wearing but the pride of prides in this model is its lining or simulated leopard fabric. This lining gives the warmth for cool fall days. What's more, the coat is good-looking enough to wear to sorority teas.

Another essential that should be of first consideration in a well-advised clothes program is a standby dress. No matter how many dress-up gowns one can afford to buy, you'll get most satisfaction out of the gown that serves you well day in and day out. It has to be a gay little flatterer too, as is the saucy sweater dress with tasseled cap to match, shown to the left. In this instance, the sweater is brown with blue stripes. The suspender dress is of matching brown. Both garments are of a new rayon jersey that has a wool-like finish. It is an all-the-year-round dress that will prove a perfect joy in the wearing. Then there are those gay little moments when having a sorority party in a college girl's room means that the youthful hostess has in mind just what she will wear to look modern and definitely style-wise. In fact part of the fun of the party will be wearing a striking two-piece that makes fine cerise velvet its fabric theme for the slacks worn with a pailletted white jersey blouse for glitter, as shown centered in the illustration. Note the rose at the waist of the slacks which this charming collegiate is wearing.

Other items of dress that should be on their way to college this fall is a silver-slim black gown given a youthful look with a pert little peplum. It's nice to take along a little pink wool bolero to wear at times with this black frock, both for flattery and "just for a change." You might also jot down on your shopping list a jersey scarf hood, the ends of which you will wind about your head so that it conceals every wisp of hair. This is considered quite a smart gesture. A stunning glitter-glitter belt is another necessary luxury. These bejewelled belts will dramatize even the simplest frock. You'll be wanting also a stunning blazer, likewise a dapper brief tweed box coat.

Peplum Influence

Here is a charmingly simple little frock that interprets the new silhouette that calls for a sprightly little peplum to break the lines of a slim skirt. In this instance, the peplum effect is achieved with a series of little ruffles. The material for this dress is a handsome green wool. Flowers fashioned of the self-fabric are added for decor.

Newest Colors for Fall

Colors now featuring in the fall fashions cite American beauty and Parma blue (a purplish clear blue) as outstanding. The costume ensemble done all in gray from head to foot with just a color dash in a bit of jewelry or a stunning belt is "the latest."

A Sweater for Every Occasion Is Hobby

All signs point to a tremendous sweater season. In the new display there's a sweater for every occasion. In fact, to acquire a sweater collection is becoming a hobby with college and career girls, likewise their school girl sisters. To get a right start the first best move to make is to buy a trio of sweaters, a cardigan, a pullover and a sleeveless type. This gives three separates to team with various skirts. You can get these soft all-wool beauties in a glorious array of colors or nubby-looking knits, also smart cable-knit sleeveless sweaters in good long length. A famous sleeveless strictly all wool is in torso length in a diagonal rib stitch. It is very smart in navy or black with a bright colored blouse. To wear with your jumper dresses a dainty white all-wool long-sleeved pullover sweater blouse is just the thing. Stunning too is the plaid knit jacket in bright colors. Your sweater collection will not be complete unless it includes a sleeveless sweater. It may be enhanced with embroidery, glittering buttons and a very youthful type has the shoulder seams laced with ribbon.

Clever Jewelry Gadgets Are Useful and Pretty

One of the ideas in real jewels is achieved by reproducing miniature jeeps, mobile guns and trucks, and such, made of gold studded with jewels, but sparingly. These have a tiny spring that releases the gunner or the driver from his hidden post. The whole idea is ingenious and makes a very smart decoration. Looks ever so clever on a classic beret, too! Back-combs and side-combs have been talked of in real shell decorated in gold, and it's no chatter. They're on the way. Jewels should be functional. A watch may be hidden in a jeweled flower. Clips make brooches and vice versa. Necklaces may be trained to hold up the low front of an evening gown.

Stockyards Handle Huge Volume, Though Beset by Help Shortage

Process Millions of Animals With Aid Of Boys and Hobos

By AL JEDLICKA

Like every other business, the nation's stockyards have had their share of wartime difficulties, but with both owners and employees displaying an aggressiveness in solving these problems, the markets have made an outstanding showing in the handling of the heavy runs which have spelled record meat production for the services, civilians and our Allies.

Typical of the nation's yards are those at Chicago, where cattle and hog marketings for the last four years have exceeded those of the immediate prewar period, and where loss of personnel to the armed forces and elsewhere has resulted in a pressing manpower situation.

Contributing to the Chicago stockyards' solution of its wartime problems, is the extremely flexible nature of operations, Assistant General Superintendent Frank Flynn declared. Himself associated with the Chicago yards for 41 years, Flynn said that their long establishment has given them the experience of meeting numerous difficulties.

Everybody Works in Pens.

As a result of this flexibility, Flynn pointed out, such maintenance men as carpenters, etc., have been shifted to actual yarding during the periods of heavy receipts, and then permitted to return to repair work when runs leveled off. However, the yards have still been pressed to man the 4,600 pens for cattle, 2,000 for hogs and 1,000 for sheep, and the 700 chutes, that sprawl over the 215 acres.

With labor scarce, and with the yards no longer able to look to the full employment of farm boys anxious to learn the cattle business, because of demands for production at home, they have been compelled to extend the work-day during busier periods and explore unusual sources of help.

During the summer vacation time, Flynn said, the Chicago yards were able to employ about 30 high school students, who were chiefly used in herding the animals about the scales and pens. But because this number could hardly suffice in meeting its employment needs, the yards tried the noble experiment of recruiting transient help from Chicago's seedy West Madison street district.

Even Hired Tramps.

In attempting to hold on to such help, Flynn said, the yards provide room and board, but with the floaters getting rich quick on high wages, the turnover among such recruits has been large.

Another complicating factor in the yards' employment situation has been the highly fluctuating market runs, Flynn declared. As an example, he pointed to the exceptionally strong hog receipts of last spring, which stretched the yards' facilities, and the very light shipments of late this summer. Because of the need for retaining the force for future increases, Flynn said, the problem of carrying the help along during the slack is a hard one, with short reductions in working time the best remedy.

Despite the pesky labor problem, however, the yards have been able to handle all of the stock shipped, Flynn said, with holdovers resulting from the packers' inability to absorb the heavy receipts during gluts. Because of the existence of more packing plants in the Chicago area during the last war, Flynn said, there was a more rapid movement of stock to slaughter.

In all, the Chicago yards' facilities are capable of handling daily runs of 122,000 hogs, 40,000 cattle and 70,000 sheep, but even with heavy wartime production, receipts have not touched any of these capacities.

When the government applied its freeze on corn to aid in procurement for processing mills, the yards were confronted with a feed problem to add to their other difficulties, but they then switched to use of wheat and potatoes.

How to Carve a Duck

Fall is here again, and with the tangy air comes the yearning to go duck hunting. Cleon Crowell of East Karwich, Mass., on Cape Cod, has been carving realistic decoys for many seasons. He learned the art from his father.

What to Do

By PHYLLIS BELMONT

Plan to spend a part of each day with your children. A certain time devoted exclusively to the children and their problems will reward you in time. Your children will be more alert, and interested than those on whom no time is spent.

If you have children, their father should give them attention too. Play games with your children, teach them card tricks and simple puzzles to try out their skill.

Children should be taught little courtesies as soon as they can walk and talk. They can learn to acknowledge introductions, eat properly and play fair. They can learn generosity in sharing toys with other children, can be taught modesty and be broken of attaching too much importance to themselves.

Dad Has a Fine Craft, But Mom Is Crafty

MISSOULA, MONT.—Mrs. S. J. Knudsen was in a hospital when she received this wire from her husband, a navy lieutenant. "She's a fine craft. Her name is USS-LST-715." From the maternity ward Mrs. Knudsen wired back: "She's a fine baby. Her name is Margit Ann."

She Looks to America for Winter Clothes

When winter comes soon to war-torn Europe, millions of children will have to stay in bed during the daytime because they have no warm clothing. This little Polish girl is an example of millions who depend upon immediate help from America. In a country where temperatures go as low as 35 degrees below zero and where most homes are unheated, many children lack the clothing to go outdoors. To help relieve suffering of men, women and children in the liberated areas of Europe, the churches, parishes and synagogues of this country are conducting an emergency collection of clothing. The collection is being made in cooperation with UNRRA, which will ship the clothing overseas.

COOKIE CUT-UPS

Here's a gadget pin that's just as much fun to make as it is to wear. Buy some plaster of paris and mix it with water until it is of a smooth, pasty consistency. Put a cookie cutter on a hard surface (such as the kitchen table) with a piece of wax paper beneath it. Fill the cutter with the plaster of paris mixture. Before the mixture is quite hard, stick a safety pin in the back. After you remove the hardened plaster from the cookie cutter, file the edges smooth with an emery board, color with water colors, shine with colorless nail polish. You can have a whole set of these smart gadgets, depending upon your mother's assortment of cookie cutters. They look like expensive ceramic jobs.

SOUVENIR

When Butch changed his three letter sweater for a trim fitting suit of O. D.s He said to each gal in the class, "Now take anything that you please." To Madge went his sharpest plaid shirt; His bow-ties were Dorothy's loot; Pat spoke for his corduroy coat. The tan one—so long, wide and zoot. They bid for his hat and his socks. But all the while I stood apart—With them he was leaving his clothes. With me he was leaving his heart!

MUSIC MAD

What do you do when you get together at someone's house after school? Play the platters and spin the discs. Who do you talk about between (and maybe during) classes? The relative merits of two baritones. (You guess who.) Which all leads up to the fact that you're mad about music, nutty about notes, balmy about bands and cr-razy about crooners. Let's take it from here, boys.

Jive Jewelry—Cut bars of music from some old piano books and paste them on little squares of cardboard or wood. Shellac for high finish and preservation, and string into necklaces and bracelets. Tuneful and Tricky.

Title Talk—Song titles work their way into your conversation. For instance, how do you tell someone to go away these days? You say, "Shoo, Shoo, Baby," don't you—on account of it's the number one song in your own hit parade? And doesn't Frankie do swoonderful things with it? And you look swoony and say "The Dreamer" every time a sharp wolf passes by.

Let There Be Light

An optimistic note on the ending of the European war was observed in Washington, D. C. Workmen began cleaning and servicing the floodlights that play on the capitol building in peacetime. These lights have not shone since December 6, 1941, for security reasons. It is anticipated that they will be turned on as soon as Germany is defeated.

Predict Helicopters Aid In Fighting Forest Fires

WASHINGTON.—An official of the fire control U. S. forest service, predicted that advanced types of helicopters developed during the war will revolutionize firefighting. Helicopters can land in small openings in the forest, on small lakes or mountain peaks where it would be impossible for an airplane to land, and men and equipment can be brought within striking distance of the fire.

TELEFACT

SALARIES OF TEACHERS IN U. S. A.

GENERAL "IKE" IS ONE, ALSO General Eisenhower is a golfer. This is revealed by Mrs. Eisenhower who says it is his favorite game. This explains the distance he is getting with his drives.

We understand the General, while not a trick golfer, has an ambition to do some fancy shooting. He wants to place a ball on Hitler's forehead and try blasting it with a No. 1 iron.

It's good to know that our top general is a golfer. We should have known it. He has the eyes of a golfer, revealing impatience to get going, a yen for socking, a sort of "I-I now - I - can - take - four - strokes - off - today" expression.

He looks like a fellow who would be especially tough around the greens. He doesn't strike us as one of those fussybuds who take an hour to line up a putt and who demand the silence of the tomb. We are sure the General walks up to the ball, takes a squint at the pin, addresses the pellet and—bingo—it's in the cup.

He looks like a man who is never afraid to tee up a brand new dollar ball for the drive across the water hole.

He is the type who knows that the grip, stance and swing are important and who gets them right before he goes after the loving cups.

Summing up, we would say of the General as a golfer:

A tough opponent anywhere. Has smooth flow of power and never presses. Coordination perfect. Uses overlapping grip and is seldom off fairway. Hits crisply with irons.

Is rarely in traps (despite many Axis attempts to get him into 'em); when he gets into one he is a wonder with his blast shots.

Rarely loses temper; never breaks a club or blames defeat on boy carrying the bag.

Takes strokes from nobody. Likes to concede the other fellow a couple.

Always puts down right score and adds correctly.

Is proud of Hole-in-one in Italy and France and is approaching Berlin with "the look of eagles in his eyes."

Is soul of confidence, as illustrated by fact he is already studying layout of Berlin country clubs, with special attention to type of grass on fairways and texture of sand in sandtraps.

Thinks Hitler is a hacker who cheats on his score, kicks ball around in rough, always improves his lie, lacks rhythm, accuses other fellow of upsetting him, steals soap from the locker room and purges golf club steward who reminds him that he still owes for last month's lunches and drinks.

Mrs. Eisenhower says Ike also loves fishing. He must be enjoying himself at present. So far he hasn't had to admit that any "big one got away" in Normandy or Brittany.

Conversion Joys ("Donald Nelson plans to permit manufacture of many non-essential goods."—News item). Now I know the Hun is done Now I know he is in bad: Mr. Nelson tells me I Soon can buy a heating pad!

Hitler's sunk beyond all doubt— Daily he is going deeper: Mr. Nelson told the wife She can get a carpet sweeper!

Adolf's finish must be near Doomed for certain is "that man": Washington has cleared the way For a brand new garbage can!

Nazis high and Nazis low, How the tide of battle changes! Here's the tipoff on the end: We can now make kitchen ranges!

Egg beaters and bicycles Frying pans, machines for sewing, Couches, screens and floor-lamp plugs— They show how the war is going!

Bathroom scales and basting spoons, Hairpins, scales and things quite tinnish, Icebox parts and mattresses . . . Clearly point the Nazi's finish.

Thanks, Don Nelson, for the news— You have cheered us greatly, baby; Oh, to ask "Is that in stock?" And to get at least a "Maybe"!

The oyster season is with us again. And at present rates you can get a half dozen on the half-shell almost anywhere if you can complete arrangements with a financing company.

It seems there is an oyster shortage. We asked few questions because we were afraid an oysterman would fix his eye on us and ask "Doncher realize the oyster has gone to war?" It seems it is due to man shortage. That makes us feel better about the whole thing.

MacArthur Follows New Landings of Troops

Gen. Douglas MacArthur inspects Yank positions (left), after successful invasion by U. S. troops on Morotai island, which is within 300 miles of the Philippines. Right—Leathernecks of the First marine storm ashore with the tenth wave of American landing forces on the beach at Peleliu Island, Palau. MacArthur has promised that it will not be long before he and the marines will be landing on the Philippines.

Vice Presidential Candidates Address Legionnaires

The Democratic vice presidential nominee, Sen. Harry S. Truman (left), and the Republican nominee, Gov. John W. Bricker (right), addressed the American Legionnaires assembled in Chicago at their annual convention. Both candidates were given a typical Legion welcome as were high ranking army and air officers who attended the convention along with aces of the present war.

Aboard for Palau Islands

Leathernecks of the First marines, veterans of Guadalcanal and Cape Gloucester, board Palau-bound assault vessels at a South Pacific base. They established a mile and one-half long beachhead immediately upon landing and set about to take over the principal airfield of the Palau group, from which attacks on the Philippines were carried out.

Nazis Surrender to Yanks

Nearly 20,000 Nazis surrendered at Romorantin, France, to Col. J. K. French, of Fairfax county, Va. Nazi Maj. Gen. Erich Elster surrendered his entire force to the Americans. It was later reported that many of his officers objected, believing that they could fight their way back to their homeland. Many stated that Germany would win the next war.

Jap Drive on China

As our forces retreated from the destroyed U. S. air base at Kweilin, the Japs moved upon the area in a twin drive and took Yungming (1), and beyond Chuanshien (2) protect their flank (3) within 100 miles of their Waitsap column (4) fighting around Luchwan and Pokpak (5).

Legion Commander

Edward N. Scheiberling of Albany, N. Y. was elected American Legion commander at their Chicago convention, succeeding Warren Atherton of Stockton, Calif. Scheiberling was in World War I.

UNFORTUNATELY (for its rivals), all this 1944 Navy football squad has is speed, skill, spirit, power, experience, abundance and able coaching. We have no thought of putting coach Commander Oscar Hagberg, the submarine leader, on the spot by saying he has an unbeatable team. There is no such animal, as even Notre Dame discovered last fall. But in line and backfield he has about all that a head coach needs, which the cool, quiet commander cheerfully admits.

For one detail the Navy squad carries along at least 12 fine backs, including such stars as Bob Jenkins, late of Alabama, and Ralph Ellsworth, one of the best backs Texas has ever sent to the field. And we have no idea of overlooking Hal Hamberg, an all-around ball of fire.

Fast hard-hitting backs flit up and down the field in profusion and they will be working back of a strong line, headed by Don Whitmire, the 220-pound tackle, better known as the Decatur Destroyer. In Ellsworth and Jim Pettit, Navy has two backs who can hit around 9.6 or 9.7 for the 100-yard dash, probably the two fastest in the country. Two-hundred pound Bob Jenkins is sure to be one of the stars of the autumn highway.

There isn't space enough to name them all—Barron of Vanderbilt, Earley of Notre Dame, Ambrogio of Penn, Duden, Finos, Barksdale, Sullivan and others.

The eligibility of Whitmire, Jack Martin and one or two others has given the Gold and Blue line just what it needed. I watched Rip Miller's countenance for some time without discovering a single salty tear coursing down either cheek. Rip is the line coach and one who knows his trade.

Hagberg Optimistic

Commander Hagberg came from somewhere near the bottom of the Pacific to take over Captain Whelchel's job. While talking with him who should pop up but Commanders Slade Cutter and Dorning, also just from the Pacific's depths with its wreckage of Japanese ships. Both were former Navy stalwarts.

"I am forced to break down and admit that we have a good squad," Coach Hagberg said. "It is certainly all that any coaching staff could expect to find. We have 10 or 12 fast, hard-hitting backs. We have a good first line in front of them—possibly a pretty good second line. We certainly have our share of speed and two good passers in Hamberg and Ellsworth. You won't find a better tackle than Don Whitmire who is not only big and active, but always keen to go. It would be foolish, however, to say we won't be beaten.

"We also know what Army has," the commander said. "We know the type of football that such backs as Glen Davis, Douglas Kenna, Sensabaugh (Ohio State) and six or eight others can turn out.

"This is sure to be a strong, fast Army team, looking for revenge after what has happened in the last five years. But tell Red Blaik I had nothing to do with this."

Classy Coaching

"This is a good Navy football squad," Rip said. "It can turn on the smoke and it has the punch. But among others don't let anybody tell you that N. C. Pre-Flight, Notre Dame and Army don't have good teams—not overlooking Duke, Ga. Tech and Purdue. What about Notre Dame? I can tell you something about this—it isn't the wrecking outfit of 1943, but Ed McKeever has a great bunch on hand, one of the strongest squads of the year. He hasn't what Frank Leahy had last fall, but he has plenty, including a fine passer to work with his T-formation. Every team which happens to face this Irish line-up will have trouble. All I can say is that any team that can take this Navy squad will have to be extra good on that one day. You can't always tell about football. But we have good stuff here, including a few that I think are standouts. We have more good backs than we have linemen so far, but we still have our share in the line."

All of this would indicate that Navy is likely to have a pretty fair season and possibly win a few of its games, despite the fact that Captain Humphries, graduate manager, has arranged the strongest schedule he could get.

Detroit's Wakefield

"Before Wakefield rejoined the Tigers, York was the only hitter that the enemy pitchers were afraid of in a pinch. They could pass him and settle down to get the next man and have little worry about the men on base getting home. They can't now, for Wakefield is dangerous. He may not hit as many home runs, but he is even more likely to smash a timely game-winning hit over second base." Charley Hughes, headman at the Detroit Athletic club, was speaking.

NOTES . . .

High School

The Seniors held a class meeting last week. The object of this meeting was to discuss means of making money to contribute to the class fund. Various ideas were contributed by members of the class. It was finally decided that we give a class play the first semester.

Members of the Junior and Senior Classes are looking forward to the hamburger fry planned for Friday. The Seniors hope that everyone will have a good time.

School will be closed next week Thursday and Friday because of the regional meeting of the Michigan Education Association to be held at Flint on those days.

Encouraged by their victory over their old rivals, East Tawas, the baseball boys and their coach, Mr. Roberts, are looking for a few games this fall.

Pupils continue to arrive from the large cities of the state. We recently learned that a former resident of the Tawas community, Cecil Drumm of Lansing, has purchased the Miles Main farm, and that his three children will transfer to the Tawas City schools next week.

The Ninth Grade algebra class had their first written test this week covering the elementary operations; that is, addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. Eight of the 28 students in the class made no errors.

An addition to the case holding the Roll of Honor of the school has been ordered and it is hoped that it will soon arrive. This will make it possible to add more of the names of the graduates and faculty members to the list. A student committee is aiding in the search for names of the above which should be posted.

7th and 8th Grades

Opal Linze, Don Westcott and Robert Brown received "A" in our first science test.

The Eighth Grade are studying insurance in arithmetic.

A number of our boys and girls are doing their bit by gathering milkweed pods.

Alice Johnson has been absent because of illness.

Mrs. Goldsmith is reading "Captain Midnight's Adventures" of the radio series, to us.

Third and Fourth Grades

We are glad to have Charles Landon back at school again after being absent because of illness.

Nancy Reed from Flint entered the Third grade last week, which makes nineteen in that grade now.

Nancy Eastham from Detroit entered the Fourth grade last week, making 15 in the fourth grade.

Primary Room

Marlene Sedgeman is absent this week.

Alfred Wogaman, Virginia Haglund, Patsy Conklin and Carol Toms received A's in spelling all last week.

Sadie Linze visited our room last Thursday.

We are making scrap books of farm animals.

Kindergarten

We are still working on our "Three Pigs' Homes." We want to make them for our sand table.

This week we started making Black Cats and pumpkins.

We are learning to march, and this week we learned the song, "Rock-a-Bye."

We finished our picture of the "Four Musicians."

Sara Prescott came to visit us Monday. We had a lovely morning with our guest.

No. 1 Continued from First Page.

Pfc. Warren Hughes writes home that he is in India, and that the weather is very warm. He tells of the ancient farming methods and irrigation systems there. He is well but misses home.

Henry A. Luce has been transferred to Ward 16, Veterans Hospital, Wood, Wisconsin. Henry was inducted into the army April 1, 1941, and served in the invasions of North Africa, Sicily and Italy. In November of last year he became ill with malaria and was sent to a hospital in England, later coming to the Percy Jones Hospital. He contracted TB and was recently sent to the veteran's hospital in Wisconsin.

One-Celled Plants

The yeasts are predominantly one-celled plants which reproduce rapidly and in their growth form alcohol and carbon dioxide from the sugary materials on which they feed. The precise nature of the products depends on the kind of yeast and the nutrient used; originally the "wild" yeasts floating in the air did man's fermentations, but today carefully cultured strains are used, adapted to the particular application and protected from contamination. Traditionally the two great fields for yeast are the production of alcoholic products and the leavening of bread, where carbon dioxide bubbles from the yeast give a fluffy structure.

Microscopic Germ

Brucellosis is an infectious disease caused by a small microscopic germ which usually locates in the reproductive organs of cattle (uterus and udder of the cow and testicles of the bull).

Food Exports

Even with 33,000,000 more people to feed here at home now than in 1920, our total food exports from 1935 to 1939 varied from 2 to 5 per cent of production. We produced less and ate about 8 per cent less per capita than in the corresponding period just prior to World War I.
