Hale Fair Declared Successful Event

ATTENDANCE, 2,500; TOTAL EXHIBIT, 619

Sponsors Start Planning For Next Year's Fair

Officials in charge of the 1944 Iosco County Fair have announced that the event has proven successful and are already making plans for a three day fair for next year. The first day of the coming fair will be devoted to the entering and assembling of exhibits with a general program carried out during the second and third days. The premium list will be greatly increased in 1945. Both light and heavy weight pulling contests will be featured and an evening program will be held the second day of the fair.

The 1944 fair drew an estimated attendance during the two days of some 2500 people. Officials in charge of the exhibition hereby wish to publicly express their appreciation to the 143 exhibitors who brought fancy work, canned goods, baking, antiques, livestock, poultry and garden produce to the fair and thereby assisting in making the event successful. The exhibitors made 619 different entries and premiums were won on 315 of these exhibits. The 1944 premium list was divided into 13 departments with exhibits appearing in 80 of the available classes. Exhibitors earned to total of $374.75 in premiums at this 1944 fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schatz of Tawas township are credited with making the largest number of exhibits which totaled 42 different entries. These entries were distributed through the fancy work, canning and vegetable departments. The largest amount of money earned, through premiums went to James Wilson of Plainfield township. Mr. Wilson's winnings largely came through the horse department in which his light weight team placed first in the pulling contest on Tuesday and a heavy weight team pulled themselves to second position on Wednesday afternoon, being defeated by a well trained heavy black team driven by John Dooley, also of Plainfield township.

Mr. Wilson was credited with displaying the best horsemanship in the Tuesday contest, while John Dooley was given this distinction in the heavy weight class on Wednesday.

Among the list of 1944 exhibitors were names from every town and from eight townships of the county, thereby indicating that interest in this "Fall Thanksgiving" came from nearly every corner of the county. The large volume of exhibits and the fine quality, as well as the workmanship displayed, plainly shows that Iosco county's agriculture and home arts stand second to none.

First and second place awards were made by the judges as follows:

- Oxford Sheep, ram over 1 year—John Webb and Andrew Anschuetz.
- Ram Lamb—Andrew Anschuetz.
- Ewe over 1 year—Andrew Anschuetz.
- Ewe Lamb—Eldon Streeter.
- Shropshire Sheep, ewe over 1 year—Robert Buck.
- Swine—Chester White Swine, boar pig—Ira Scofield.
- Rabbits—New Zealand Whites—Robert Buck.

The league has been named the Northern Five and includes: Hale, Rose City, Whittemore, AuGres and Tawas City.

At this meeting Mr. Kessler of Hale was elected president of the league and Mr. Roberts of Tawas City, secretary-treasurer.

Fire at Alabaster

A five-car garage owned by the United States Gypsum Co. and being used as a barn and garage by Edward Wernert, was totally destroyed, along with contents, last week-end. There was no insurance carried on either building nor contents, the loss of which was estimated at approximately $1,200.00. In addition to the building, two cows, a horse, 17 chickens and a calf were burned.

UNITED WAR FUND DRIVE UNDERWAY

Community Committees Making Canvass of County

County Chairman Nathan Barkman advises that the chairmen and committees for each community in the county are working hard on the United War Fund Campaign which will end October 26.

The committees cannot urge too strongly that they must have and need your whole hearted support to make the drive a success. If it has not been possible for one of the solicitors to contact you they would appreciate you getting in touch with them. If you wish to remit to L. G. McKay, treasurer, at East Tawas, it will be credited to your district. Any amount, large or small, will be welcome to assist in meeting our quota.

Let us show our servicemen and women that we will support them 100 per cent. Let us be loyal and patriotic in giving. They are offering so much, we must do our part.

- The community chairmen are: Alabaster—Claude Benson.
- AuSable—John Cutting.
- Baldwin—Mrs. E. J. Butler.

IN the SERVICE

This week, Mrs. Bertha Friedrichsen of Tawas township received the following communication relative to the death of her son, Pfc. Elmer (Pete) Friedrichsen who gave his life for his country at Tinian: "Second Tank Battalion, Second Marine Division, Fleet Marine Force, in the Field.

"You will hear from Washington that your son, Pfc. Elmer (Pete) Friedrichsen, was one of those who gave their lives in the battle for Tinian Island. This is a letter representing the feeling of those who lived, worked and served with him. In their names I wish you to know that we understand in some measure your loss, grief and pain, because we have lost him too.

"You will wish to hear the circumstances surrounding his death. While his company was moving into an assembly area, Elmer noticed a small fire around a stack of abandoned enemy shells. He grabbed a fire extinguisher to extinguish the fire, one of the shells exploded and instantly killed him.

"Elmer was given a Christian burial in the Division Cemetery located on a small hillside overlooking the Pacific Ocean. Later full military honors were rendered. We will remember him with great pride for all he was and did.

"Major U. S. Marine Corps, Commanding 2nd Tank Battalion." ***

Cpl. Paul A. Vallier, Tawas City, today completed 12 months duty with the 7th AAF in the Pacific Ocean. Area—a year in which he traveled 7,000 miles as American air, sea and land forces steadily pushed the enemy toward the gates of Tokyo.

Corporal Vallier, 21-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Vallier of this city, is ordnance armorer with the 7th AAF Pathfinder Squadron, a Liberator bomber outfit which has participated in every air campaign since October 1943.

Beginning with the arrival of the Pathfinders in Hawaii, Corporal Vallier's overseas service first took him to the Ellice Islands, then one of the few Allied air bases remaining in the Central Pacific and springboard for the invasion of the Gilbert and Marshall Islands.

Then from the Marshalls his squadron helped reduce Maloeala, Wotje, Mille, Truk, Ponape and Wake to impotency and aided in the conquest of Saipan and Guam. Now from the Marianas, the Pathfinders are smashing at the Bonins, only 650 miles from Tokyo.

TAWAS CITY WINS FROM OSCODA HIGH

Win Friday from Rose City High School in 27-0 Game

Tuesday afternoon the Tawas City nine administered an overpowering defeat to Oscoda High School, 23 to 3. Coach Robert's boys were led by the Herriman brothers in hitting the great "American Apple," Olen smashing out two doubles, and Clare following close behind with one double and two singles.

Dale Landon's pitching ability proved to be one of the major factors in the winning of the game with his teammates, while striking out seven of the opposing team and allowing only four hits, and one pass.

Large-Sized Vestee
By Popular Request

Snug and Warm

SO MANY readers have asked that I design a "large-size" vestee which could be easily knitted that I've done this one especially for sizes 38, 40, 42 and 44. Made in maroon or wine-colored yarn it's just the sort of winter vestee which is most popular. Button the lapel over for added warmth under your coat—wear the vestee for comfort in a too chilly house. And it will make a wonderful Christmas gift for the woman who is too busy to do her own knitting!

To obtain complete knitting instructions for the large sized vestee (sizes 38, 40, 42, 44 included) (Pattern No. 5640).

MR. WINKLE
GOES TO WAR

By THEODORE PRATT

W.N.U. RELEASE

THE STORY THUS FAR: Forty-four-year-old Wilbert Winkle, who operates the Fixit repair shop, is notified by his draft board that he is in I-A. He breaks the bad news to his domineering wife, Amy, who suddenly becomes very tender. Mr. Winkle is sent to Camp Squibb, where he graduates from Motor Mechanics school, and then goes home on a furlough. After the furlough Mr. Winkle finds himself, with his friend, Mr. Tinker, in a big convoy. They land on the island of Talizo, where they meet several old pals. One day the Japs come. Mr. Winkle dives under a command car while Mr. Tinker shoots it out with a plane. Mr. Tinker is hit, Mr. Winkle grabs a machine gun and mows down the Japs.

CHAPTER XIII

As he aimed, the officer was passing Mr. Tinker. To Mr. Winkle's amazement, one of Mr. Tinker's legs moved out and tripped the man, sending him sprawling. Mr. Tinker's jump at him was more of a crawl, but he made it before the Jap could fire his pistol.

The hairy hands of Mr. Tinker found the officer's throat. They held on while the two rolled on the ground. Gradually the Jap's convulsive movements stopped and he lay still. Mr. Tinker continued to retain his grasp on the other's throat, viselike, even when, in turn, there was no more movement from him.

Mr. Winkle turned back to his main business. He felt no shock when he saw more assault boats coming out of the mist in addition to the two now beaching themselves. He had only the determined desire to kill and kill again even when he knew he must be overpowered.

He didn't hear, above the noise of his gun, the trucks grinding to a stop in back of him with a shriek of brakes. For some time he wasn't aware that other men, live men, were in the fox hole with him and that still more were firing from the sand for some distance on either side.

He wasn't aware that other men, live men, were in the fox hole with him.

He didn't know when he left the fox hole and with the others ran upon the beach with a rifle in his hands. He was astounded, once, to note the bayonet on the end of the rifle, and that he had plunged it into a Jap soldier and was having difficulty in getting it out. Twist, he thought, that was it. He twisted, and the blade came free. It was true what they said.

He felt a sharp sting in his left shoulder.

On top of his head there was a blinding clang.

His helmet was knocked off. Something crashed on his bare head and after that he was aware of nothing.

Mr. Winkle opened his eyes cautiously. He had been conscious for a few minutes, but he couldn't place where he was.

The first thing he saw was the face of Jack Pettigrew. Jack had only a head, which floated in the air all by itself. The mouth in the head said, "Hello, Pop."

"So you made it, too," observed Mr. Winkle.

"Made it?" Jack's head inquired.

"We're dead, aren't we?" asked Mr. Winkle. "You were dead the last time I saw you. This is Heaven, I suppose. Or is it?" In some panic he demanded, "Which one?"

The head laughed. "We're in an Army hospital just outside of Los Angeles."

The rest of Jack came into focus. Clad in pajamas and a bathrobe, he was sitting on the edge of a white bed. There were lines of white beds.

"I don't understand," Mr. Winkle said. "We're supposed to be on Talizo. You—and the Japs . . ."

"The Japs," Jack grinned, "didn't get anywhere. We've taken the whole island since then. You saved it. You're a hero. You're going to get a medal. The President told about you in one of his speeches."

"And look at these papers," Jack rummaged in a locker between the beds and then held the front pages of newspapers so Mr. Winkle could read them. One of them was The Evening Standard. Mr. Winkle took it and saw big black letters which said:

WINKLE, HERO OF TALIZO

"I'm supposed to call the nurse if you wake up," Jack said. "You've been out for five weeks. You're not supposed to talk."

"You do the talking," Mr. Winkle ordered. "And lots of it."

"You don't have to worry," Jack said. "Mrs. Winkle knows. I went home to see my folks. I'm here now only for a check-up before I join my new company. We're headed for the Philippines this time."

"You left out something," Mr. Winkle said. "The most important part. The Alphabet, Freddie, and the others . . ."

In a low voice, Jack said, "I was the only one."

It was a moment before he could ask about Mr. Tinker. Then he spoke only his name.

"No," Jack told him.

At least, thought Mr. Winkle, Mr. Tinker had got his Jap himself. He would always cherish thinking of the sight of Mr. Tinker with his hands around the Japanese officer's throat.

"That's why I want to go back," Jack said.

"I'm going, too," Mr. Winkle told him.

Mr. Winkle enjoyed, instead of shying from, every moment of his reception when he arrived in Springfield. He beamed at the huge crowd waiting at the station. With satisfaction, he saw and heard the American Legion band which had turned out for him alone this time. He read the banners and posters people carried. He admired the decorations, one of which read unashamedly: "Our Hero."

There was Amy embracing him and murmuring brokenly, "Wilbert . . . Wilbert . . ."

"Look," he said. Right there before all the people he lifted his arm to shoulder height, telling Amy, "That's as far as it will go."

Amy stared at him, embarrassed and stricken. The crowd hushed.

"It's good enough for holding you," Mr. Winkle told his wife, putting his arm around her.

The crowd roared its approval, while Amy, blushing, whispered to him, "Wilbert, you're changed more than ever."

The Mayor stepped up and gave him the keys to the city, in the form of a large wooden key painted gold and festooned with gay ribbons.

Then came the most important part of the ceremony, the part that made Mr. Winkle most appreciative and brought a lump to his throat.

His own commanding officer being some distance away, it had been arranged for the Colonel who commanded the camp where Mr. Winkle was inducted into the Army to present him with the Distinguished Service Cross.

The Colonel read the citation from a scroll. ". . . awarded to Wilbert George Winkle . . . distinguished himself by extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy . . . beyond and above his duty . . ."

The Colonel pinned the medal on his tunic, stepped back and saluted him. Mr. Winkle was so surprised at being saluted first by an officer, and especially one of such rank as a Colonel, that he forgot to salute back. Instead, he found himself shaking hands with the Colonel.

In the Mayor's car, with the Mayor in front and Mr. Winkle and a weepy Amy alone in the back seat, they paraded through the town to the blaring accompaniment of the band and cheering people who threw a great many bits of paper from the buildings. Mr. Winkle waved and waved his good arm, and it was borne in upon him that it was most men's dream come true, notably because this time no one called out derisively.

Finally they were deposited in front of their house, where a number of people were gathered. Among them was Mr. Wescott, who had evidently come out to see for himself. And having seen, he didn't find any reason to laugh now. He couldn't say anything at all when he opened his mouth in that endeavor, but simply stood there with his lips parted, gaping.

Mr. Winkle greeted him warmly and shook hands before going on with Amy up their walk.

Mr. Onward, the reporter, whom Mr. Winkle had seen at the station taking pictures, followed them up the walk. "Listen," Mr. Onward asked rather humbly, "how about an interview?"

"No," said Mr. Winkle, "no interview."

"But—" Mr. Onward began to plead.

"Use the same one you printed before," Mr. Winkle suggested.

"That was a good one."

Alone together in their house, Mrs. Winkle dabbed at her eyes with her handkerchief, touched his medal with one finger, dabbed some more, and asked, "Whoever would have thought—?"

"Not me," said Mr. Winkle.

"Not I," she corrected. She spoke a little sharply, as if trying to hide her emotions or expressing a desire to bring him down a peg in case his popularity might have gone to his head.

In trying to determine which it was, Mr. Winkle saw the answer to his speculation on whether or not Amy would continue in her new regard for him, or revert to the old. He found a number of things to support his belief that war had changed her as permanently as it had him.

She would not find it comfortable to henpeck a national hero.

God Is My Co-Pilot

By COL. ROBERT SCOTT

U. S. Army Air Force

Introduction by
MAJ. GEN. CHENNAULT

Over the Burma road, in the skies of China, Col. Scott flew and fought against overpowering odds. His story is "full of hair-raising adventure, pathos, romance, drama and almost incredible heroism."

Says John Chamberlain, of the New York Times: "The most fascinating personal story of the war. Whatever way you take him, Col. Scott is one whale of a man."

BEGINNING NEXT ISSUE

"It wasn't always this way," Billy Southworth of the Cardinals said. "Maybe a lot of people have forgotten, but from the start of the National league in 1876, St. Louis had to wait 50 years before breaking into the pennant class. That's a long time for any one to wait, much less a rabid set of baseball fans."

This happens to be true. It was not until 1926 that the Redbirds under Rogers Hornsby finally flew into the promised land, flowing with milk and world series honey.

"But it's been different in the last 18 years," Southworth continued. "Starting back with the 1926 club the Cardinals have won eight flags, not overlooking four world series titles with a pretty good chance to make it five out of eight. I'm not predicting anything, but it will take some high class baseball to knock us off."

"In looking over the record," I said, "The Cardinals so far have played in 41 world series games, winning 19 and dropping 22."

"Yes," Billy answered, "and a big part of that was due to those Yankees with Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig who beat St. Louis four straight. Anyway in four world series games with the Yankees the Cardinals have won two and lost two for an even break, which isn't so terrible when you consider all that Yankee power and pitching."

"There've been a lot of great ball-players on that Yankee club—Ruth, Gehrig, Dickey, Ruffing, Gordon and several more. But we've had a few pretty good ones on our own. Hornsby, Frisch, the two Deans, Pepper Martin, Terry Moore, Medwick, Marion, the two Coopers, to make up a short list and I'm not overlooking Lon Warneke."

"At least you never saw a Cardinal club that wasn't packed with spirit and action and color—one that wasn't always hustling. You couldn't find more color than Dizzy Dean and Pepper Martin carried along."

Billy Southworth

Southworth is a quiet, modest type off the field but he has plenty in the way of fire in action. His proudest memory is that in the last three years his ball clubs, though losing some 27 men to war service, have yet won over 300 games since 1941.

"That shows we must have been pretty well stocked with talent," he said with a slight grin.

"It won't hurt you a lot," I said, "when this talent returns to the Redbird roost after the war is over—such men as Moore, Slaughter, Johnny Beazley, Howie Pollet, Brazill and some five or six others."

If the war should happen to be over in a year or so he would have as many stars returning as the Yankees, and possibly a few more. For the Cardinal stars are younger, and youth is a big factor as far as the future concerns those now in service. Southworth knows this.

Series Features

"You've seen a flock of world series," Southworth said. (Now we were being interviewed.) "What would you rank as the high spots?"

"That happens to be a big order when you look back to 1905, some 39 years ago."

The first was Christy Mathewson's triple shut-out against the Athletics in 1905 when Matty limited a hard-hitting club to 14 hits in three games.

Another concerned the Cardinals in 1926 when Grover Alexander, Old Pete, strolled from the dugout after a hard fight and fanned Tony Lazzeri with the bases full to pull the Cardinals through.

The third was Babe Ruth's calling a home run against Root of the Cubs—and then delivering the same, almost flattening the ball on a line drive.

Then there was Harry Hooper's catch of Larry Doyle's almost sure homer in 1912 against the Red Sox. Hooper dived over the wire in the fifth inning of the eighth game to make one of the greatest and most important catches of all time. This miracle play won the series. And it was 90 per cent miracle.

Bill Dickey's home-run blow against Mort Cooper last fall wasn't any part of an anti-climax.

Almost every world series has its spectacular parts.

Greatest Backs

The debate was—"Who was collegiate football's greatest backfield star?"

This is covering quite a lot of time and territory. Rip Miller, former Notre Dame star, and now a navy coach, picked Buzz Borries of the navy—"A back," as Rip put it, "who could do everything brilliantly."

"What about George Gippe of Notre Dame and Jim Thorpe of Carlisle?" I asked the Ripper.

"I never saw either play college football," he said. "I don't know."

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. What You Should Know About Frills

SO MANY women have learned to run intricate machines in the last few years that it is doubtful that ruffler or hemmer will ever seem awesome again. If you have a power machine and have learned to use the attachments there is quite a saving in making your own frilled curtains, dressing table skirts and bed valances. If you do not have a power machine or the use of one, by all means buy your frills. Sometimes an extra pair of curtains makes a skirt for a dressing table with very little waste. Curtains that are ruffled all the way around may often be split for bed valances. Also, it is possible to buy ruffled material by the yard. Avoid skimpy fullness. Follow the guide given in the sketch and, whether you buy your frills and flounces or make them, take measurements first.

NOTE: Here is news for homemakers. This sketch is from a new booklet by Mrs. Spears called MAKE YOUR OWN CURTAINS. This 32-page book is full of smart new curtain and drapery ideas with illustrated step-by-step directions for measuring, cutting, making and hanging all types from the simplest sash curtain to the most complicated lined over-drapery or stiffened valance. Whatever your curtain problem—here is the answer. Order book by name and enclose 15 cents. Address:

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Economic conditions in the Latin-American countries have been greatly influenced by the demand for natural rubber. This is evidenced by the report that Nicaragua shipped to the U. S. 1,267 tons of rubber in 1943 as compared with only 60 tons sent us in 1941. The B-29 Super fortress, our largest aerial weapon, has built into it some 5,000 pounds of rubber, covering more than 200 items. Thirty bullet-sealing fuel tanks alone account for nearly two tons of rubber. Rubber Director Dewey is authority for the statement that heavy-duty military tires made with 70 per cent synthetic rubber and rayon cord are better than the best military tires made before the war.

Let's Face the Facts
 Good government requires practical men with executive ability and a strong sense of public responsibility. Michigan has found the right combination in the group of men who, under the leadership of Governor Kelly, will administer our State government during the next two years.
 Your Republican administration has increased Government efficiency, brought the State through precarious war years in good shape, and has carefully planned for post-war employment, veteran re-employment, care of the dependent aged and children and a multitude of other immediate problems.
 Good government has always been hard to get. Now that we, in Michigan, have it, let's keep it!

WE SEND THEM THUNDERBOLTS—

But do we give them the greatest weapon of all?
 IN providing our men with the wonder-weapons of all time, is our job complete? Have we given them our best?
 No! Not until every free dollar in America is invested in War Bonds have we provided our men with the greatest weapon of all. For it is support from the folks at home—support that lets the soldier know we're backing him to our limit—that gives him the greatest part of his fighting strength.
 Curiously enough, the farms of America need those War Bonds as urgently as our boys need the weapons and the supplies those Bonds will provide. For as those Bonds mature, they will replace machinery and equipment and provide cash to maintain those farms as profitable business enterprises.
 Have any of us yet really done our best?
 Let's give those boys the greatest weapon of the war—all the War Bonds we can possibly buy!
5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES
 1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED. NOW!
 2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation.
 3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.
 4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.

Draining Soils

On poorly drained or slow-draining soils sow blsike and Ladino clovers with timothy and redtop, agronomists say. Some red clover and alfalfa may be used on well-drained spots. On soils that become very dry in summer mammoth clover should improve yields.

Finnish-Americans

Many Finns have immigrated to the United States. The 1940 census showed more than 280,000 persons born in Finland or of Finnish descent.

John D. Durand, population expert of the U. S. census bureau, predicts that by 1950 over three million women who never worked before will have joined the labor force; this group, he says, will include an alarming number of women over 35 who are "likely to be a serious complication in the postwar employment problem because of the preference of most employers for younger workers."

Thomas Jefferson

Thomas Jefferson, whose 200th birthday anniversary was celebrated April 13, was the first man to put plow making on a scientific basis. Plows have been used by man for more than 3,000 years. The Greeks used the butt of a tree to which they added a metal point. The points for these primitive plows were made as late as 1923 in Connecticut for shipment to other agricultural areas.

Civilian Goods

The output of civilian goods in 1943 amounted to only 34.1 per cent of the total volume of goods manufactured. Nevertheless the output of civilian goods in 1943 was 54.4 per cent larger than at the low for the depression in 1932 when the index was 57.

Farming Country

Although the majority of Finland's more than 3 1/2 million people make their living normally by farming and dairying, the nation's cultivated areas amount to less than one-tenth of the land spread. Leading crops are typically northern—rye, barley, oats, wheat, potatoes, and hay. Fewer Finland exported chiefly forest and dairy products; imported—in addition to machinery and industrial materials—meat, fruit, coffee, grains, tobacco and processed foods.

Chemical Farming Promises To Stage a Postwar Comeback

Air Heroes Training to Become Leaders in Hydroponics Farming After the War Ends.

Hydroponics — that new science dealing with water, (hydro); and labor, (ponos); is soon due for a revival. The war put an end to many of the operations in hydroponics or chemical farming, including a project in our island possessions captured or destroyed by the Japs.

The increased supply of chemicals which will soon be available together with necessary tank material, indicates that the newer form of farming or gardening will soon replace many of the present victory gardens — and be further utilized in greenhouses, attics, basements and other buildings.

Air force men convalescing from wounds at the Coral Gables, Fla., hospital are being taught the art of chemical farming, and will soon be ready to lead the movement back to hydroponics.

While chemical farming will never replace our present methods of farming, it has definite advantages which can be utilized in greenhouses and for the home garden, as well as proving a paying hobby for many returned service men as well as others who have little available soil space.

There is no magic entailed in the growing of plants without soil. Sand, gravel, cinders, sawdust, shavings or just water may be used instead of soil. Plant nutrients are added to whatever medium is chosen and the plant gets its balanced diet just as it would from soil. Because the diet can be controlled, it is possible to grow better quality fruit and vegetables by the hydroponics method than by soil farming.

Some years ago Dr. W. F. Gericke of the University of California dug up an idea of Dr. Knop, a German agricultural chemist, who in 1859 decided that he would add to the water the chemicals that plants needed and grow plants. Dr. Gericke, named this system hydroponics and started the movement in America.

As early as 1935 a number of large growers of certain vegetables and flowers began to cultivate crops without soil. The next few years, until Pearl Harbor they competed with "dirt farmers." In the middle west a number of greenhouses were converted into chemical farms, with success.

The advantage of chemical farming is that the particular kinds of chemicals that each definite plant needs can be determined by the test tube, and supplied in amounts and at times needed. It is also possible to control temperature — and sunlight, either artificial or natural, which is not always possible in open fields.

Encouraging results have been obtained. Tests have been checked in comparison with the same plants grown simultaneously in soil under ideal conditions of temperature and moisture and the results were surprising. As a rule the soilless garden plots gave more rapid growth, larger plants and produced from 25 to 75 per cent more fruit or vegetable, as well as maturing earlier.

Experiments are being conducted to determine if certain earthworms are essential to plant life in chemical solutions as well as in the ground.

During the present year a large farm has been purchased at White Mountains, N. H., to be devoted entirely to chemical horticulture. Dozens of beds of sand-cultured flowers, will be raised and experiments in all forms of chemical culture will be carried out in cooperation with the society of chemical horticulture.

At Howard university seeds were planted at the top edges of sloping sheets of glass, backed by an absorbent material which brings them

Testing Chemicals

In order to determine reaction of various chemicals to different plants, Corp. Art Wagner, New Haven, Conn., army technician is making necessary tests.

water and fertilizer salts. An inorganic wick constitutes a successful form of "wick culture," a modification of chemical or soilless agriculture.

Chemical farming has also been heralded at the University of Reading, England. More than three-quarters of a century in the making, it is proving a new era of home and commercial production of some of the best and most important fruits and vegetables, as well as flowers. They became interested in the subject because of the dire need for maximum food production in Britain. With thousands of acres of British land in which crops could not be profitably grown, it looks as if hydroponics may prove a real solution to Britain's problem, as soon as she is able to get the necessary chemicals.

HOMEMADE CHEESE CAKE

Any newspaper photographer will tell you that "Cheesecake" is leg art photography. You know, those pictures of movie actresses with carefully posed—and exposed—legs. Well, our Cheesecake is the homemade variety and the recipe comes from Tricky Teens like yourselves.

Non-Skid Legs for Rayons—Having trouble with your rayon stockings? Do they crawl around on your legs until the seams are in the front? One smart gal discovered that hand lotion, rubbed all over the legs and allowed to dry, forms a non-skid base for rayons. Your seams stay where they belong and, just for a bonus, your legs don't get chapped, either. Try it out on your own gams. Maybe someone will mistake you for Betty Grable—mebbe.

Hot Feet—The gals are raiding the boys' wear departments again—this time for heavy white wool sweat socks. All the 20-20's are wearing them. (A 20-20, junior, is a perfect vision and a perfect vision is what you'd like to be.)

Double or Nothing—Wear two pairs of socks for smart footwork. Match up the two colors of your sweater and skirt and turn the tops down so that one color sock forms a cuff on the other. Confusing, isn't it?

On the Cuff—When you knit yourself a sweater, use the left-over wool for a pair of cuffs to slip over your sock tops. Keeps elastic-less socks up where they belong and looks smooth, too. White angora cuffs are really de luxe.

Applique Antics—When you buy a package of felt appliques to trim up your sweater, save a few little petals and leaves to scatter on your socks.

Cheesecake a la Wolf—Notice the way your favorite Romeo is rolling up his trouser legs these days? All the better to show off his howling socks, my dear. Argyles and bright yellows are the favorites.

Lapel Legs—Before we close this fascinating chapter, let's mention those lapel pins in the shape of transparent, plastic legs a la Grable. All the gals are wearing them —and lots of the boys too. They're dime store gems.

GOOFY GAGS

If we wanted to be poetic we'd say that these gags are fun for stags and bags. Our ears-to-the-ground scouts report that they're good for a laugh any time. Do we hear a guffaw in the back row?

Push the Button—Make a circle of ink on the front of your wrist. When people ask you what it's for, tell them to push it. When they push it, open up your fingers to show "I love you" written in the palm of your hand. Drooly, isn't it?

Short, Short Stories—Ask someone, "Did you hear the story about the ocean?" When he (or she) answers "No," you say, "It's too deep for you." Or ask, "Did you hear the story about the machine gun?" When the answer is "No," you say, "It's a Killer." There's another short, short story about three holes in the ground, too. The gag is "well, well, well." And there's still another one about the dirty window. When someone wants to hear the rest of it, you say, "Well, you couldn't see through it, anyway." And—we promise this is the last of our short, short stories—did you hear the story about the girl who grew? No? "It's too grewsome for you, anyway."

Jivin' Jabberwocky—My Heart is Flying High—My O.A.O. is in the air corps.

A Sinatra—A popular boy. Touchdown—Success in making a date.

Hair Raid—Crew cut. Hi, Kitten, what's Mewin'—What's new?

TRIXIE TEEN SAYS

Don't accept a date with a drip unless you intend to be pleasant to him. Maybe you wouldn't go out with him ordinarily, but if you wanted to get to that dance badly enough to accept his bid, he deserves to be treated like an escort, and not like an outcast. Maybe he IS on the drooly side; maybe he DOES dance like a fidgety fugitive from Arthur Murray; maybe his conversation IS more double-talk than talk—but you dated him for better or for worse, didn't you? It won't do you any good to have him talk badly about you and it won't do you any harm to add him to your backlog of old reliables. A girl has to get around and glamour boys are so undependable!

Minute Make-Ups

By GABRIELLE

There are so many little tricks which will give you hair glamour—and it takes just that extra minute for perfection! Spray your hair with perfume, then brush well to distribute the fragrance. Dampen cosmetic tissue with hair lotion before wrapping your hair for a good homemade curl. Use lacquer pads to keep stray hairs close to your head when wearing an "UP" hairdo!

Fall Fabrics Place Emphasis On Color and Serviceability

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHAT this year's fabrics lack in variety and novelty is made up for in color, serviceability and pattern interest, to which add the clever self-fabric manipulation by designers, who are displaying utmost resourcefulness in creating stunning fashions out of simple dependably wearable materials.

Not all fabrics are available these days. Silk is about out of the picture and supplies of velvet are limited. So it is up to wools, rayons and cottons to rise to occasion, which they have most gallantly, taking care of the situation beautifully throughout every phase of fashion. Especially noteworthy is this year's output of rayon fabrics which includes weaves that tune to every fashion demand from sturdy made-for-hard-wear types to dressy and glamour types.

An early fall star is spun rayon gabardine. This fabric is being used for intriguingly tailored sports dresses and suits, in soft pastels and bright shades. Spun rayon flannel is also a popular fall and winter fabric for dresses and soft tailored suits. It is especially chic in chalk stripes and plaids. Incidentally light-background plaids are newest and are preferred this year.

Blends of spun rayon and wool in dress weights are being used for those warm dresses done in pastels and high shades, which so definitely fill a winter need. Another interesting fabric for warm dresses is brushed jersey. This looks like duvetyn and has lovely drape and comfort.

The outstanding dressier rayons are mossy crepe, rayon faille, moire and jersey. Strictly in the running as to style are the drape dresses, which make striking color contrast their theme. The attractive model to the left in the illustration brings the jumper frock of your school days up-to-date in that it boldly contrasts one color against another. Dark green with lime is a delight to the eye. Black with Cherbourg blue is ever so smart and you will like Parma blue with deep purple.

Centered in the group is a rayon faille frock that's one of those sophisticated-simplicity types that young girls adore. It's the sort that will make your GI Joe's heart go double time. The lowcut square neckline is the very essence of flattery. Its flared skirt is grace itself and the three-quarter sleeves call attention to your pretty hands. It is perhaps smartest in black but you'll love it in a delectable color, too. Rayon failles are also important for dressmaker suits made eye-catching with sparkling jeweled buttons. While limited in quantity there are some dressier rayons shown with "pattern interest." These include jacquards especially smart for dressy blouses and evening wraps also matelasses and moires and some very lovely pastel brocades for waistcoats.

A dressy junior style done in young and gay jersey is pictured to the right. It is starred with gold nailheads for glamour. The fashion moguls predict this will be a favorite for those moments when you want to dress up—yet be not too dressy. To make the most of a limited supply of rayon satins and rayon velvets, designers are using these fabrics as trimmings in way of bows, insets and midriff yokes to highlight plain wool and crepe dresses.

This year's rayons are especially designed for good service. Many of the fabrics are washable and have been tested for color and other qualities. The best way of finding out about washability and other service qualities is to look for informative labels on dresses and fabrics.

New Silhouette

This drama coat for evening designed by Pauline Trigero gives something new in way of both fabric and silhouette. Fashioned of Ducharme brocade in midnight blue, it takes on the new "tunic lines" which this year appear in coats, suits and two-piece dresses. Very ultra also are the new blouses made of brocade.

Belts of Medieval Splendor Stylish

Belts have become a theme of high importance. They are being so richly jeweled and embroidered they reflect a look of medieval splendor. When you wear one of these luxury belts with your simple black dress you need not another trimming accent. In the new collections you will come across such eye-intriguing types as the belt of purple velvet that is embroidered with gold thread and tiny white pearls, a scroll work being applied in gold kid. Colorful stones with gilt embroidery give to a black suede belt a precious antique look. Beauvais embroidery is a young way of adding dressiness to colored suede belts. A cummerbund style in bright green has a pink and green floral motif. Of course these belts come in the luxury class but any woman or girl who can sew and has creative talent can buy a simple velvet, ribbon or suede belt and enrich it with intriguing embroidery and various artful accents.

Sweater Dress New

A fashion that is eminently practical and goodlooking and is heralded as carrying an air of style prestige is found in the new sweater dress which just recently made its appearance in the fashion scene. From all signs the sweater dress is going to prove a winner because it is so smartly wearable about town and through the day's round of activities. A successful model that has captured feminine fancy, tops a black skirt with a long-torso jacket sweater done in gray and white knit. Throw a handsome fox stole over one shoulder.

Washington, D. C.

JOE MARTIN BUSY

Republicans aren't saying much about it, but it is extremely noticeable that Joseph W. Martin, house minority leader, is not playing a prominent role in the national campaign. Inside fact is that he is too busy trying to get reelected in his own district, where he is opposed by Edmund P. Talbot, former mayor of Fall River and a former sheriff of the county. Talbot is of French-Canadian extraction, a Catholic and a Spanish War veteran.

In the 1942 election, the largest city in this congressional district, Fall River, voted as follows: Joe Martin received 11,765 votes, while the Democratic nominee, Lomax, received 17,334 votes. Therefore, while the whole district went Republican by 17,000, Fall River went Democratic by almost 6,000. Already there is a 41,000 registration in a city which cast only about 30,000 votes in 1942.

Outside of Fall River, if Martin can be kept down to a 12,000 lead, Democrats figure he can be licked. Martin led outside Fall River in 1942 by 22,000. But in many of the small towns there are powerful groups of Yankee liberal intellectuals who are close to the Willkie line. Talbot has made contact with the United Nations groups in this area and they are working enthusiastically for him.

BIGGER AND BETTER BOMB

Army officials haven't revealed whether they plan to use it yet, but they've already perfected and tested a new flying robomb, bigger and faster than anything the Nazis have ever seen.

Fact is, the new robomb was tested in the Middlewest last month, and whizzed through the air at more than 100 miles an hour during performance checks. The bomb has been developed with the aid of the Ford Motor company. Whether it is in production or not is a military secret.

Actually, during the last war, Ford produced a heavy robot bomb of his own, but couldn't find out how it would perform under front line conditions. It has never been revealed, but, in the American part of World War I, one robomb was partially inspired by Gen. "Hap" Arnold, now commander of the U. S. army air corps.

Arnold brought his idea to the Ford company, asked Ford to work out a motor to go with it. Ford rolled up his sleeves, soon produced a two-cylinder engine that worked well. Probably if World War I had lasted another six months, the robomb would have made its appearance 24 years earlier.

NOTE—The original American robomb is still preserved in the Ford laboratories in Michigan.

TEXAS THINKS TWICE

Before Roosevelt delivered his campaign speech at the teamster's dinner, he had a private session with Teamster Pres. Dan Tobin, in which they discussed the political situation, especially in Texas, the state that had been trying to make up its mind whether to have Roosevelt electors or non-Roosevelt electors on the ballot.

"Did you hear Bob Hannegan's story about Texas, Mr. President?" asked Tobin. "With those electors coming and going he says it's 'On again, off again, gone again, Hannegan.'"

Roosevelt observed that he had done everything he could about Texas, but didn't know what was the matter with the folks down there.

"There's a fellow down there named Garner who doesn't love you much," replied Tobin, "but I don't think he's going to vote against the ticket. And if Texas does defeat you, they'll lose all the juiciest jobs in congress, for the best committee chairmanships from the speaker down are chiefly held by Texans. I don't think they'll cut off their noses to spite their faces."

Next day the Texas Supreme court voted to put the pro-Roosevelt electors on the ticket.

JAP WAR MAJOR JOB

Administration leaders aren't talking about it but they are privately concerned about America's reaction to V-E day. They not only fear a possible slowdown of production and fighting spirit, but also an unrestrained celebration on Armistice day.

Noisy street celebrations, widespread drinking and any feeling that the war is over will be most unpleasant for the millions of families who have sons in the Pacific still faced with the big job of defeating stubborn Japs.

There was strong sentiment within OWI to suggest announcements that unrestrained irresponsible celebration would be out of place, but Elmer Davis finally decided against it. No agency has the right to dictate to the people how they should receive the news, Davis feels. At the same time, OWI will propose that radio and press carry potent reminders that the war is not over and that we are still faced with a major conflict in the Pacific. OWI will point out that war effort must replace V-E celebrations.

Spraying Is Essential in Chemical Farming

Chemically grown plants have few pest troubles, but spraying becomes necessary at certain times. That is why this convalescent airman is giving the spray treatment to the soilless-grown plants.

What to Do

By PHYLLIS BELMONT

Question—May I borrow a dress from my girl friend for a special occasion?

Answer—I have no idea what your girl friend thinks of borrowing, but you could not very well ask her to lend you anything so personal as a dress. Many people don't object at all to lending their clothes—but if your friend is one of these let her offer you the dress rather than your asking for it.

If you can't possibly get along with what you have—or can afford to buy a dress—don't borrow. If anything happens to whatever you borrow you must replace it, and that is apt to be quite difficult in these days.

Penthouse Coop Is Used For Raising Chickens

TOLEDO, OHIO.—There's one flock of chickens in Toledo that's up in the world.

Eleven-year-old David Dennis of nearby Maumee, Ohio, raises 25 chickens on top of his dad's garage—because his mother and two sisters objected to the spoiling of their grassy, well-kept back yard with a chicken coop.

David compromised with the "penthouse."

"They are learning to yell, 'Got a franc, Yank?'" he said.

Signal Corpsmen Swim Moselle

When communication lines laid across the Moselle river, France, by the signal corps battalion were broken three times, the men decided to swim the lines across the river. The signal corps work has been outstanding in this war in keeping open all lines of communication, many times under heavy fire.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for October 22

RELIGION IN EDUCATION

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 7:7-12; Luke 6:39-45. GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.—John 8:32.

Education without religion will make America a pagan nation in a generation or two. Even worldly-minded educators are concerned about the neglect of and opposition to Christianity in many branches of our country's educational system.

Christians will want to be informed and to act as they have opportunity to bring Christian influence to bear on the education of children. They will want to give their hearty support to real Christian education.

I. Seek Wisdom from God (Matt. 7:7-11).

We have made great progress in the improvement of educational equipment, in the construction of fine school buildings, and in the provision of trained teachers. There have been earnest efforts to develop the most effective courses of study adapted to the needs of our day.

All this is commendable—except for one thing, and that is really a foundational error. We have given little, if any, attention to the development of character, without which the skills of hand and of head may be actually dangerous. Theodore Roosevelt is said to have observed that "to educate a man's mind without educating his conscience is to make him not a social asset, but a social liability" (Douglass).

The teaching in our schools of the evolutionary theory as though it were fact when it has never been proved has provided a foundation for all manner of denial of God and of the truth of His Word.

What shall we do? Surrender? Not at all. Let us look to God for His wisdom and grace. The promise is that the one who asks, receives, when he asks in faith and for God's glory (cf. James 1:5-8 and 4:3). Prayer is vital in real education.

II. Use Wisdom with Men (Matt. 7:12).

Education has as one of its important goals the ability to get along with our fellow men. As the Lord enables us to grow in wisdom and knowledge, it should show in our treatment of those who look to us for guidance and help.

This so-called Golden Rule is a high standard of conduct which many profess, but which only the grace of God can accomplish in a man's life. To always be positively doing for and to others what we would have them do for us is far more than the negative thing which most people assume it to be. They reverse it and are trying to avoid doing things to others that they would not have done to themselves.

Note again that this is on the positive and the active side. We are to go about doing good, such as we would desire for ourselves.

III. Follow Wisdom in Humility (Luke 6:39-42).

If the teacher is spiritually blind he will lead his equally blind pupil into the ditch. That is exactly what is happening in many schools and colleges. No pupil will rise higher than his teacher (v. 40).

Real education makes a man humble. He is not ready to destroy his brother's eye because it has a speck in it, for he recognizes his own weakness and sin. He needs the grace of God in his own life first; then he is ready to give help to others.

There is something fine about the genuine sweet humility of a man who is really educated. He is not pompous and proud, parading his learning so that the populace may be impressed. He is humble and teachable. Real scholarship calls for genuine faith in God.

IV. Find Wisdom in Godliness (Luke 6:43-45).

Every tree brings forth its own kind of fruit. Christian character is a fruit which grows only on the tree of Christian doctrine. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom (Prov. 9:10). That means that to be truly educated a man must be a Christian.

That which is good and noble and upright can be brought forth only from a mind and heart of which the same things are true (v. 45). An evil man will teach others evil, a good man will teach them that which is good. Hence, the folly of thinking that if a teacher only has a brilliant mind, and is versed in the technical learning of his profession, it makes no difference what his morals are nor how he lives.

That theory has brought ruin to thousands of young lives, and it is high time that all who have to do with educational work demanded godly character as the first requisite of the teacher and made it the leading subject in the curriculum. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."

SEWING CIRCLE PATTERNS

Slip, Panty Set Designed to Fit

Well-Fitting Underwear

YOUR new fall suit deserves well-made underwear. Make up this slip and panty set—its nicely tucked waist assures a good figure line under your costume. It may be left plain or trimmed with lace. We're sure you'll want more than one set!

Pattern No. 8560 comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38, slip with built-up shoulder and pantie requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material. For this pattern, send 25 cents in coins, your name, address, size desired, and the pattern number.

Leave It to the Irishman To Find a Bright Side

Two Irishmen, employed in a stone quarry, were blasting with dynamite when one of them was killed by an unexpected explosion. His mate was given the unpleasant task of conveying the news to the newly created widow.

Slowly and thoughtfully he plodded to her home and knocked on the door.

"Mrs. Flanagan," he began, when she opened the door, "isn't it today the collector will be calling for your husband's life insurance payment?"

"Sure it is, but what is that to you?" replied Mrs. Flanagan.

"Then 'tis yourself that can be snapping your fingers at him," the man responded cheerfully.

To Relieve Bad Cough, Mix This Recipe, at Home

Big Saving. No Cooking. So Easy.

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, when you try this splendid recipe. It gives you about four times as much cough medicine for your money, and you'll find it truly wonderful. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Then put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quiet action. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Propaganda Distribution

Bundles of propaganda material dropped by Allied airmen on Germany no longer open at great heights and have their leaflets scattered over vast rural areas by the wind.

Each bundle now carries a new, inexpensive gadget, about the size of a shoe-polish can and operated by barometric pressure, which holds the sheets together until reaching a low predetermined height, so they will not scatter outside of the intended area.

Gather Your Scrap; ★ Throw It at Hitler!

National League Champions

The St. Louis Cardinals, winners of the National league pennant, fought it out with the Browns for the world title. The Cardinals are not strangers to world series' contests, although playing another St. Louis team for the title is something new for them, as well as for any other member of National league.

WACs' Miss America

Rivaling the recently selected "Miss America," is lovely Pvt. Kathleen McCann of Detroit, Mich., who was chosen as the prettiest WAC in the country from thousands who participated at the New Jersey state fair.

Where Allies Invaded Albania

Striking by air and sea, an Allied invasion of the Albanian and Yugoslav coast is now well under way. First airborne landings were in northern Albania and islands off Yugoslavia. Lines were formed in short order and a new hole driven in the southern rim of Hitler's fast-cracking fortress, as the Russians drive on.

Lights Go on Again

For the first time since Pearl Harbor, the floodlights on the 555-foot shaft of the Washington monument flashed on again. It was not V-E day, but the mistake of a new guard who pulled the wrong switch. It will soon be lighted each night.

American League Champions

The St. Louis Browns, winners of the American league series, entered the world series for the first time in history. They started out as if they meant business, winning the first game against their "sister" team, the St. Louis Cardinals, who are old veterans of world series. They promised a first victory.

Real Broken Heart

Motherly love in its embryonic stage is displayed in tiny Mary Jane Donnelly's concern for welfare of her doll that was run over by motorist. Time and a new doll may afford the balm for her broken heart.

School NOTES

High School
The second year typing students have made graphs on the time tests they have taken in class. These graphs show the number of errors and words per minute they are making. According to these graphs most of the class is increasing in words per minute and decreasing in errors. Besides the business letter writing they have been doing, the class has also been learning how to address postal cards, how to type programs and what abbreviations sometimes seen before or after a name stand for.

The high school band is working on music for a concert which we hope to give in about a month. There are 35 in the band this year at present. We hope to be able to add more players from the beginning groups throughout the year.

The 12th Grade American Government class had its first test this week. This test has been published for several years, but is revised every two or three years. Each revision is graded to the same difficulty as the previous one, so the test is an excellent one to compare merits of one government class with another over a series of years. Records of the results obtained by Tawas City Seniors on this test go back 13 years, and so some interesting comparisons may be made between the Class of 1945 and previous classes. Incidentally, some interesting comparisons may be made between members of the same family.

The library is now ready for use with a student committee in charge. Ruth Ulman, who has been librarian for the past two years, is chairman of the committee. She is assisted by Betty Roach, Betty Brown, Eugenia Klemish, Gloria Farley, Ruth Westcott, Rhea Rempert, Kathryn Westcott, Mary Ann Rempert, Eunice Ross, Marian Bing and Joan Erickson.

7th and 8th Grades
Our new pupil in the Eighth Grade is Clifford Grove from the Grand Lodge High School.

We are pleased to have our new textbooks.
Sylvia Ostrander is absent because of illness.
Everyone enjoyed a two-day vacation last week.

3rd and 4th Grades
Clarence Lossing entered the Fourth Grade Monday. He has been living in Bay City for the past year and a half.

We are glad to have Darlene Bariger and Delores Konenski back to school again.
We are having more perfect spelling lessons now. We hope to have several more in our list this week.

5th and 6th Grades
Bruce Leslie, Jerry Gracik, Delano Myles and James Phillips are in the Junior Band this year.
Betty Lossing of Bay City has entered the 5th Grade.

Defense Stamp Day has been changed from Friday to Wednesday. We are reading "Tom Sawyer" in our morning opening exercise.
Our room has made some Halloween pictures.

Katherine Ostrander is absent due to illness.
We were weighed last week and plan to get weighed each month.

Primary Room
The monitors for this week are: Melvin Timreck, Judy Austin, Janet Lansky, Jimmy Pomerantz, Faye Ferguson and David Featheringill.
Janet Rapp is the only First Grader who has been neither tardy nor absent during the first six-week period.

The Second Graders neither tardy nor absent are Sharon Boomer, Patsy Conklin, Dwight Finley, Virginia Haglund and Melvin Timreck.
Judy Austin and Louise Potts had perfect spelling papers all last week.

a lot of ground, and there were a lot of places that I wish I could have stayed longer. In so many places we were the very first Liberation Troops coming through, and the welcome that we got was really tremendous. I tried to go down the street on foot and the people just wouldn't let you get through. I guess I must have received a million kisses from girls, women, children and men from six to 60!

"My slight knowledge of the only foreign language I know is beginning to come in handy, and am having no trouble in picking up a few words here and there. For a long time the going was pretty easy, but lately it has been pretty rough. Wish me luck and that we may be back soon."

Philip Mark, soundman 3rd Class, and brother, Lieut. Robert Mark, left Thursday for their duties after several days leave with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mark. Philip has been on duty in the Italian and French Invasion areas and has three stars on his service bar.

Sgt. Earl B. Davis of Tawas City, ball turret gunner on a B-17 Flying Fortress, has been decorated with an Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal for outstanding performance of duty on bomber combat missions over enemy Europe.

The citation accompanying the award read, in part: The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this enlisted man on these occasions reflect great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States.

Sgt. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bing of this city. His wife is the former Jean Robinson.

Major James Dillon of Curtis Field, Texas, and Lieut. Willard Dillon of Denver are the guests of their mother, Mrs. John Dillon, and sister, Mrs. H. J. Keiser, at the Keiser home for several days.
