JOHNSON NEW PLAINFIELD SUPERVISOR

January Session of Board Held Here this Week

A new member appeared at the January session of the Board of Supervisors, which ended Thursday, in the person of Dale Johnson of Hale, who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Glen P. Sabin as supervisor of Plainfield township. Sabin had become a member of the Iosco County Road Commission.

At this session the salaries of the undersheriff, manager and matron at the county farm were increased. The salary of the undersheriff was increased to $125.00 a month. The salaries of the manager and matron at the county farm were each increased $12.50 per month.

Charles Hamilton, president of the Tawas City Chamber of Commerce, addressed the board relative to the proposed improvement to Tawas river for which aid will be sought from the Federal government.

The salary of the register of deeds was set at $2,000.00 per year. Before this action of the board the register received $270.00 per year and fees. The fees of the office, which amounted to about $290.00 last year, will go into the general fund of the county.

Some time ago landowners adjacent to Van Etan Lake requested that a dam be built to restore the water in that lake to its normal level. Judge Herman Dehnke recently issued a court order determining this normal level. A committee consisting of Edward Burgess, Hobart Brayman and Lloyd McCuaig was named to secure an engineer and handle any other details which might arise before the next session of the board in April relative to the dam.

The cost of the proposed dam will be met by a special assessment district of property owners directly benefited by the improvement. The dam is to replace others that have washed out during the past.

Harry M. Preston

Harry M. Preston, well known and highly esteemed resident of this city died at his residence at Swartz Creek, Sunday December 31. He had been ill for some time.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Preston, pioneer Iosco county residents, and who was born in Tawas township 66 years ago. Mr. Preston was a life member of Tawas City Masonic lodge.

Funeral services were held Tuesday from the Bental Funeral Home at Swartz Creek and burial was at Sunset Hill cemetery, Flint.

He is survived by the wife, the former Celia Martin, of Alabaster; two daughters, Mrs. Irene Smith, and Mrs. Ruth Dorris of Ferndale; two sons, John M. Preston of Flint, and Elmer H. Preston of Johnstown, Penna.; a sister, Mrs. Winnifred Proper of Flint, and six grandchildren.

20th Century Club

The Twentieth Club met with Mrs. A. E. Giddings on Wednesday evening of this week with 19 members and two visitors present.

During the business session the report on the bond drive was given, also it was reported by the committee that ten Christmas baskets were delivered. The President, Mrs. F. J. Bright expressed her appreciation and thanked the club members who willingly volunteered to sell bonds during the 6th War Bond Drive in the city.

The forum on Latin America was in charge of Mrs. George Leslie, and presented papers on "Who is My Neighbor and Latin America Culture, Art and Sculpture." "Spanish American Writers" was given by Miss Margaret Worden.

"Spanish Dance and the Stars and Stripes Forever" as piano duets, were presented by Mrs. George Leslie and Mrs. Giddings. A dainty lunch was served.

Russell Rollin to

Have Busy Week

Next week will be a busy one for Russell A. Rollin, Iosco county school commissioner. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday he will attend the Michigan Conference on Education for Rural Living at Grand Rapids and the remainder of the week will spend at Lansing at the conference on Reorganization of School Districts of Michigan. Both meetings are under the auspices of the Department of Public Instruction. The Conference on Education for Rural Living is held expressly for people who live on farms and in our towns and cities with population of 2,500 and under. Invitations are being extended to citizens from agriculture, small business, labor, education, the church, the press and professional organizations.

IN the SERVICE

Sgt. Donald McGillivray, son of Editor and Mrs. Will McGillivray of Oscoda, was killed in action at Angaur Island in the Pacific in October. His commanding officer Capt. Nelson A. Summers, wrote to Mr. and Mrs. McGillivray as follows:

Your son, Donald, who was a member of my command, was killed in action on the morning of October 2, 1944, at Angaur Island. You have the deepest sympathy of the officers and men of this organization in your bereavement. Donald was held in high regard by all the members of this command. He was a splendid soldier and of outstanding character, and his display of great courage and fearlessness under enemy fire was a great inspiration to every one of us. It is regrettable that men of his calibre must have to pay the supreme sacrifice, but he gave his life fighting for the great cause in which we believe. His loss will be deeply felt by his many friends.

Prior to his death he was leading his squad against a strongly held enemy position. The Japs were holding up the advance of our unit; so he climbed to a vantage point despite the enemy fire, to locate the hidden enemy. He was shot by a sniper while attempting to eliminate the enemy resistance. His enthusiasm and untiring energy in training and combat have always been an example to his men and credit to our unit.

Sgt. Marvin Warner, 19, has recently been awarded the Air Medal at a 15th IAAF B-24 Liberator heavy bombardment group where he is serving as a tail gunner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Warner, Tawas City, Michigan.

The award "for meritorious achievement while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy" was made by Lt. Col. Jack L. Randolph, group commander, of Fort Worth, Texas.

An ex-student of Tawas City High School, Warner entered the Army January 4, 1944, and receiving his gunner's wings at Harlingen, Texas, June 3, 1944. He arrived in Italy October 15, 1944. During his high school days he was an active participant in baseball.

Warner is a member of a group which has flown more than 180 combat missions to strategic targets in Hitler's crumbling empire. It has been cited twice by the War Department for outstanding performances in the Mediterranean Theatre of operations. As a result of these citations, Warner is authorized to wear the Distinguished Unit Badge with the Oak leaf cluster.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Anderson have received a telegram from the War Department that their son, Pfc. Leroy R. Anderson has been slightly wounded in action, December 23, in Luxembourg. A letter from Leroy states that his wound was not serious and that he was back in his outfit. He also received the Combat Infantry Badge.

ALBERT BUCH GETS REGISTER APPOINTMENT

Had Been in Grocery and Meat Business 26 Years

Albert H. Buch, Tawas City merchant, was appointed register of deeds Tuesday afternoon to succeed Mrs. Marjorie M. Lickfeldt who had resigned. Mr. Buch took over his duties as register Wednesday morning.

Mr. Buch is a life long resident of this city and was associated with his father, Emil Buch, and his brother Fred Buch, in the grocery and meat business for 26 years. The two brothers have operated the business for the past 15 years. Mr. Buch has severed his connection with the business, and yesterday he said "I wish to express my thanks for the fine patronage during all of those years and the goodwill and friendship extended to me by the customers of the store. Fred Buch will continue as operator of the business."

A statutory commission consisting of Probate Judge H. Read Smith, Prosecuting Attorney Herbert Hertzler and County Clerk Russell H. McKenzie made the appointment. Others to seek the appointment were Mrs. Frank Lansky who has been deputy for the past three years and James H. Leslie, Tawas City businessman.

Blust of this city, recently was promoted to this rank from sergeant. Platoon Sergeant Blust is stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Pvt. Gerald Rapp, U. S. Marine has safely arrived in the Pacific Area according to a message received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rapp of Tawas township.

Elmer Ogden, aviation cadet, at Bryan, Texas, spent the past few days at his home here.

Richard Ziehl, AOM 2-e, U. S. Navy, is home on a 30 day leave from the European War Theatre. He took part in the invasion of Italy and France, and says that he is making the best of his 30 day leave.

Pfc. Buster Shellenbarger and Cpl. Richard Shellenbarger from the Pacific Area, Australia and New Guinea, met last week at Detroit. The boys have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shellenbarger at Hale in a happy reunion after three years. Buster is now stationed at Atlantic City, N. J., and Richard, at Cherry Point, N. C.

With a 12th IAAF B-26 Marauder Bomber Group, S-Sgt. Lloyd A. Rahl of Turner is entitled to wear the Distinguished Unit Badge, mark of the highest citation that is awarded units of the American Armed Forces. His AAF B-26 Marauder bomber group in the Mediterranean theatre has been cited by the War Department for "outstanding performance of duty in armed conflict with the enemy." POLIO FUND CAMPAIGN JAN. 14-28

Mrs. Francis Schriber to Manage Iosco Drive

The polio epidemic which hit Michigan and the nation last year with a number of cases in Iosco county left many reasons why fund raising campaign during the next two weeks should be supported.

Mrs. Francis Schriber, of East Tawas, manager of the campaign in Iosco county, announced that the funds would be raised here by personal solicitation, contributions at the theatres and contributions from organizations. She will be assisted by Mrs. Harris Barkman and Mrs. William O'Laughlin, both of East Tawas. Contributions in the campaign last year, $726.52 was raised for the fund in the county.

All Iosco county residents will be asked to co-operate in the drive which begins next Monday.

When the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was sponsored by President Roosevelt back in 1938, its one purpose was, and still is, to make sure that no victim of polio go untreated because of lack of funds, regardless of age, race creed or color.

One half of the funds collected in Iosco county for the treatment of local polio victims.

BULLETIN

Judge Herman Dehnke was nominated as one of the two Republican candidates for justices of the supreme court of Michigan at the Republican convention held at Grand Rapids today (Friday).

Miss Edna Otis of East Tawas was named as one of the two women members of the Republican State Central Committee for the 10th District.

ADULT SCOUT LEADERS MEET HERE JAN. 28

Summer Trails Council To Study Troop Problems

A council-wide "training seminar" is slated for all Boy Scout committeemen and adult leaders at the Barnes Hotel in Tawas City January 28 for the entire Summer Trails Council, according to announcement by George F. Landane, council executive, of Bay City.

The "Seminar" will open at three o'clock in the afternoon, when men attending will be divided into about 10 groups to study various phases of Scout leadership, including camping and finances. Later, they will convene for a general meeting in which leaders of various fields will summarize problems of their respective areas and submit recommendations for improving the program.

Dinner will follow a motion picture on Scouting to be shown in the evening, Landane said.

Reservations and fees must reach Scout headquarters from all men planning to attend by January 24, in order to place reservations with the hotel.

The seminar will include a talk by Gerald Woolver of Midland, council president, and the Rev. Paul Moeller of Alpena, council training chairman, will preside.

Traffic Accidents Increase in November

During November five more persons were killed in Michigan motor vehicle traffic accidents than during the same month last year, 111 compared with 96*. This increase of 16 per cent reversed the downward trend experienced during the months of September and October.

A total of 23 persons, 16 of them in four accidents, were killed in automobile-railroad train collisions during November. This was one-half the number persons killed from this type of accidents during the first eleven months of last year.

Because of the upward trend it is now estimated that traffic deaths for the year will be between 5 and 10 per cent higher than last year's experience when 992 persons were killed. This increase will occur despite little change in total mileage.

Cumulative provisional figures for the first eleven months of this year show a 5 per cent increase in traffic deaths over the same period last year, 910 compared with 870*.

Estimated total mileage (the first 10 months of this year dropped one-tenth of one percent, while the death rate per one-hundred million vehicle miles increased 3 percent).

With the exception of the sharp increase in automobile-railroad train collision deaths during November other established trends continued much the same.

*Current fatality figures based on information furnished by the State Department of Health.

Mrs. Lorain Woreley

Mrs. Lorain Woreley of Whittemore died last Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha McNeil at Flint. Death was due to complications after an illness of less than two weeks.

She was born Lorain Smith, May 28, 1869, at Tillsonburg, Ontario, and was united in marriage May 19, 1886, to George W. Woreley of Langton, Ontario, who passed away 13 years ago. To this union four children were born, Mary Martha of Flint, William George of Whittemore, James Henry and Treva Lorain of Flint, who survive her. She is also survived by ten grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

The remains were brought to the Jacques Funeral Home and funeral services were held Thursday from the Whittemore Methodist church. Rev. Brooks officiated. Burial was in the Saints cemetery at Whittemore.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the neighbors and friends for their acts of kindness in our bereavement. The Woreley Family.

EAST TAWAS

Mrs. Earl Hester will entertain the Grace Lutheran League at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. A program has been prepared and lunch will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. James McLean of Oscoda, are the parents of an eight and one-quarter pound laughter on January 9 at the Nelen Maternity Home. She has been named Ellen.

James Klime spent the week end in Grand Rapids. His wife and baby accompanied him home.

Misses Dorothy White and June Gurley spent the past week with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gurley at Alpena.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tebo and children have returned to their home in Detroit following a weeks visit with Mrs. Jay Platé.

Mrs. Frank Benish was in Bay City on Monday to attend the district board meeting of the W.S.C.S. She was accompanied by Mrs. Percy Scott.

The American Legion Auxiliary honored four Gold Star Mothers at their meeting Monday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. Wm. DeGrow. Initiation ceremonies were performed and gold star pins were presented to Mrs. S. G. Siglin, Mrs. Harry Cross, Mrs. Martha Klinger and Mrs. Effie Daley. The secretary, Miss Helen Appin presented the Gold Star Mothers with yellow rose buds honoring the memory of the five boys from East Tawas who made the supreme sacrifice in World War I. Regular business was transacted and refreshments served at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. A. E. Wickert and daughter, Norma have returned from Detroit, where they had spent the week with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vaughan spent several days in Saginaw this week. Osmon Ostlander returned to the West Branch hospital on Sunday. His left hand which was badly injured in an accident at the National Gypsum plant in December, is not healing satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Jones and daughter, Mrs. Nina May were in West Branch Tuesday to attend the funeral services for Mrs. Jones' grand nephew, 7 year old Eugene Buckingham. The young lad died from concussion of the brain. He fell while playing in the house with his older brother a few hours prior to his death.

Little Margo White, who has spent the past four months at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Durant returned to her home in Owosso. Her mother, Mrs. Kirk White, enroute home from Washington, D. C. spent the week end with her parents.

Semester exams will be in order a couple of days next week.

East Tawas E. & B. Bowling Team, consisting of Fred Lomas, Dale Butterfield, A. J. Carlson, Art Stadaucher and Arthur Bartlett gave a good account of themselves at the Michigan State Tournament in Detroit the first of the week. They took 3rd place in the special squad prize and placed fourth in regular standing. Captain Art Bartlett paced his team with 591. The team score was 2861.

Mrs. Richard Hewson and children of Imlay City spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewson. Mrs. Earl McElherson was hostess to her Birthday Club Wednesday evening. Mrs. Henry Klenow was the honored guest and was presented with a gift. The evening was spent socially after which refreshments were served.

Following their regular business meeting on Wednesday afternoon members of the L. L. C. enjoyed a one act play, "The Modern Woman". Leading parts were played by Mrs. Frank Benish and Mrs. Francis Schriber. Others who took part included, Mrs. Fred Adams, Mrs. R. H. McKenzie, Mrs. E. J. Moffatt, Mrs. Jas. Colby and Mrs. O. W. Rowley. Plans were completed for the L.L.C. banquet to be held at the Barnes Hotel on Wednesday evening. It was suggested that the club offer to repair clothing for the boys at the Coast Guard Station. This would be a Red Cross project and is certain to meet with high approval from the boys at the stations.

Prosecuting Attorney's Report

Prosecuting Attorney Herbert Hertzler gave the following report from his office: One hundred twenty-nine justice cases. Nine circuit court cases. Only four circuit criminal trials, with convictions in all cases. There were three civil cases brought into court by Iosco county. One justice court case for the recovery from dog owner of damages paid by county animal claim.

Bulletin Board for Juniors or Seniors

HERE is an all-purpose bulletin and blackboard that will be welcomed by juniors and seniors. Its gayly stenciled or painted top and bottom trim makes it quite handsome enough for front hall, kitchen, sewing and rumpus room or nursery. It also has a number of special features that one does not find in ordinary bulletin boards.

The main part may be made of plywood or composition board and is finished with a special black paint mixture so that it may be used as a blackboard as well as for pin-ups of all sorts. The useful trough at the bottom holds that elusive chalk, eraser, memo pad, pencil and thumbtack. Both the trough and scalloped finish at the top may be made of plywood or scraps or other thin wood and are decorated with a pair of quaint birds and hearts.

NOTE: Pattern, which is available to readers, gives actual size cutting guide for scallops; paint formula; illustrated directions for decorations with stencils which require no special skill for perfect results. Color guide is included. Ask for Pattern 237 and enclose 15 cents with name and address. Send to:

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

By Col. Robert L. Scott W.N.U. RELEASE

The story thus far: Robert Scott is graduated from West Point as a second lieutenant, and after winning his wings at Kelly Field takes up pursuit flying. When the war breaks out he is too old for combat flying. He appeals to one General after another for a chance to fly a combat plane and finally the opportunity comes. He says goodbye to his wife and child and flies a four-motor bomber to India, where he becomes a ferry pilot, flying supplies to Burma. After Burma falls he visits General Chennault and tells him his story. Chennault promises that he will be the first P-40 to arrive from Africa will be his. Scott soon gets a Kittyhawk and flies the skies over Burma. He gets his first Jap.

CHAPTER XII

After following the Salween to the South until I could see Lashio, I turned West for the field and came in right on the treetops, strafing the anti-aircraft guns in two passes. On the second run across the field I felt and heard bullets hitting my ship, but didn't see their origin until nearly too late. Down close to the West end of the field, almost under the trees, were Japanese ground soldiers. They were grouped into two squares like the old Macedonian phalanx, and were firing rifles at me. I turned my guns on them and could tell the fifty-calibre fire taking good toll from the Jap ranks. But even after I had made three runs on them, I noted that they continued to hold their positions, an excellent demonstration of perfect battle discipline. Later on one of the AVG aces, Tex Hill, told me that he had seen the same thing down in Thailand, and that after he'd strafed one of the squares of about a hundred men and there were only two or three on their feet, those few still were shooting at him when he left the field.

Leaving Lashio, I went to Katha looking for a Jap train on the railway, but succeeded only in gathering a little more ground fire. From there I went back North to Bhamo, and seeing no barges, continued on to Myitkyina, keeping very close to the surface of the Irrawaddy, and strafed the gun positions of the enemy on the field with the last of my ammunition. When I landed I had made almost eight hundred miles, which is just about the limit for a fighter ship, especially since I had strafed at full throttle for several minutes. There were a few holes in my ship, but mostly in the fabric of the rudder and the flippers. The Japs couldn't learn to lead me enough; I guess they'd never hunted game birds.

In less than an hour I took off again and made a shorter trip to Mogaung and Katha, searching without success for a train. After getting more fuel I went back and strafed Myitkyina, turned South, and caught a barge of enemy equipment at Bhamo. Though I didn't sink this river boat, I put at least eight hundred rounds of ammunition in it, and left it settling in the water and drifting slowly with the current. The crew either were killed or jumped into the river.

And now, to close the big day, I got in the air again and set my course for the bridge on the Salween about twenty miles West of Paoshan. I had received a radio report that the AVG under Tom Jones, Bishop, and Tex Hill were dive-bombing the Japs who were constructing a pontoon bridge there. Reaching the rendezvous point, I couldn't see a thing except some burning trucks that the AVG had strafed on the Jap side of the Salween; evidently I had got to the battle too late.

I had turned South towards Lashio and was flying through a moderate rain when, down below on the Burma Road, I saw a troop column marching South, probably towards Chefang. At this point the Burma Road is about eight thousand feet above sea level, rising nearby to its ceiling, just over nine thousand feet.

The troops below me were Japanese soldiers, evidently retreating from the mauling they had taken back there on the river, when the AVG had bombed them with five-hundred-pound bombs. I turned to the side, to watch them—they were in heavy rain, and from the standpoint of their own safety they were in the worst possible place on the road. The Burma Road was cut out of red Yunnan clay, and there were steep banks on both sides of the column—besides I don't think they had heard me over the roar of the rain, and I know they hadn't seen my ship.

I turned my gun switches on and dove for the kill, sighting carefully through my lighted sight. My tracers struck the target dead center, for I had held my fire until the last moment. There was no need of doing this job at high speed, for if I merely cruised I'd have longer to shoot at them and could also look out for the hills hidden in the rain and the clouds. This time there was no dust, but the red, muddy water went up like a geyser. The six Fifties seemed to cut the column to bits. As I passed over, I could see those who hadn't been hit trying desperately to crawl up the muddy bank to the safety of the trees and slipping back.

Turning very close to the hills, I came back over. Every now and then I'd lose them, for the rain was heavy and it was dark in the clouds, so dark that my tracers burned brilliant to the ground and then ricocheted away into the air again, still burning. I think it was in my third pass, as the Japs seemed to be giving up the effort to climb off the road, that I decided my ship would be called "Old Exterminator."

Their officers must have called double-time, for they spread out as much as they could and ran South on the road through the rain. I kept on cutting them to pieces until my ammunition was gone; I fired 1,890 rounds into those three or four hundred Japanese, and I don't think more than a handful escaped.

As the May days drifted into weeks, I made up little schemes to fool the Japs. Perhaps the schemes worked, perhaps they didn't—anyway they eased the disappointment of not getting letters from my wife and little girl and from the other folks back home.

During this month I went to China as much as possible to talk to members of the AVG. Some of these pilots I had taught to fly in the Army Schools back home. I had checked quite a few of them and I was older, but I'm glad I realized then that these younger pilots knew a million times more about combat than I did. I'd corner some of these Flying Tigers and ask them questions, for I longed for the day when I'd get to fly on attacking missions with them.

Symbol of the American Volunteer Group "Flying Tigers", which made aerial combat history over China and Burma when the Japs were having their inning. The AVG was later inducted into the Army Air Corps, with General Claire Chennault as commander.

At first they were hard to know. The men they had met as representing our Army in China had been pretty harsh with these high-strung flyers, who after all had done the greatest job in the war against the enemy. In the beginning they were reluctant to answer my questions or tell me the secrets of their success in combat. They couldn't understand why a Colonel in the Army Air Corps had to know anything. As George Paxton put it: Didn't the Army know everything? "Seems like to me," he said, "every army officer we've seen out here knows all the answers."

When he found out that I was serious, and that my ambition was to get over there and fly with them, and learn combat from them, so that in the end I might teach it to our younger pilots who would be coming out, he told me things that I would never have learned otherwise. "First," he said, leading me off under the wing of one of the P-40's, "first, the Old Man says, never turn with one of the Zeros. He says that's bad."

I learned that the Jap ship would outmaneuver anything and would outclimb the P-40 four to one. "But that doesn't matter," Paxton said. "The P-40 is the strongest ship in the world. It's heavy as hell, but that makes it out-dive just about anything, and it'll out-dive the Jap two to one. With those two Fifties and the four thirty-caliber guns in the B's we have done pretty good. Now with the six Fifties in the new Kittyhawks we out-gun anything."

He told me that Hill, Rector, Bond, Neal, Lawler, and other aces had seen Zeros disintegrate in front of their six Fifties, and went on to advise that I use the good qualities of the P-40's against the bad qualities of the Jap, but never try to beat him at his own game—climbing and maneuverability.

Paxton did me a lot of good—he got me my first flight with the AVG on the Emperor's birthday. But the Jap didn't come in. We were the most griped bunch you've ever seen. Everyone up and waiting at three a. m.—and then the dirty so-and-so's didn't have the guts to come in!

I heard a story on George Paxton that will show you the kind of tough Texan he was. It was down over Rangoon, near Mingaladon air-drome, in the early days of the Burma war. Doctor Gentry, who told me the story, said that the squadron George was in was aloft and engaging the Japanese over the field. Looking upstairs, you could see the condensation streamers criss-crossing the sky, and every now and then a trail of smoke as a Jap Zero turned and plunged towards the earth.

Finally eight or nine Zeros ganged up on George Paxton. They got on his tail and they got all over him.

He fought his way partially out of the trap, but two of them right on his tail literally shot him to pieces. George's ship was seen to trail smoke and dive straight down, from about fifteen thousand feet. Doctor Gentry said they watched the stricken Forty and knew who it was by the number. As it disappeared behind the trees they mentally crossed the boy Paxton off their list of living men.

But George and the sturdy P-40 were not through. There was the surging scream of an Allison engine's last boost, and the ship skimmed over the trees and made a belly landing on the soft part of the field. Even then, considering the number of Japs who had been using George for target practice and the way the ship looked, with big holes in the tail, wings, and fuselage, as they drove out for him in the jeep they expected to find just a body.

Instead, they found George Paxton standing by the side of his ship, swearing and shaking his fist at the sky.

Doctor Gentry said he looked into the cockpit. The instrument panel was just about shot away, the rudder pedals were partly shot to pieces, the armor of the pilot's seat was badly bent—but Paxton was out there yelling:

"I still say those little bastards can't shoot!"

Even his Texas boots were practically shot off. Two doctors picked rivets from George's back all the afternoon, and Jap explosive particles from his feet, legs and hands. The worst injuries had been caused by the Japanese explosive bullets hitting the seat armor and driving the rivets through into George's back. But for the armor, those explosives would have been in Paxton's back, instead of just the rivets.

On May 17, I flew with the AVG on a mission from Kunming into Indo-China. Squadron Leader Bishop led the attack. I flew the wing position with R. T. Smith, one of the aces of the Flying Tigers and one of the pilots I remembered checking during his training days at Santa Maria, California.

We got off the Kunming field with our fighters and headed South over the lakes at twelve thousand feet. In a few minutes we passed Meng-tze and the clouds thinned out and the weather got pretty clear. We went just about over Laokay, on the Chinese-Indo-China border. Then we followed the River Rouge through the very crooked gorge in the mountains, on South towards Hanoi.

Just about halfway between the border and Hanoi we saw a train coming North on the railroad. Bishop led four of us down to strafe it while the other four stayed at twelve thousand for top-cover. We circled over the train as we spiraled down to attack, and while the speed of the dive built up I got my gun-switch on and tried to trim the ship for the increasing speed.

As we levelled off and went in for the kill, I saw Bishop's tracers hitting the engine. By the time I got there—in number two position, on Bishop's wing now—the white steam was spraying from the punctured boiler. I saw the engineer and fireman jump from the locomotive, and as we went on down the cars, shooting into them, I saw Jap soldiers and probably Vichy French civilians jumping off too. We came back and set some of the cars on fire. It was a cinch now, for the train had stopped and was no longer weaving through the narrow curves of the gorge.

While the boys talked to one another, we re-formed and I heard Bishop say, "Let's bomb the railroad yards at Laokay with our frags." (Fragmentation bombs.) I thought then that was wrong, for we had alerted Laokay as we flew over and they were probably listening to us and would be waiting for us. That didn't matter, though; we'd get the railroad yards and some of the anti-aircraft crews too, if they didn't look out.

We spiralled down to bomb the target and I saw Bishop's bombs hit dead center on the round house. Then I dropped mine. Just at that instant Bishop's fighter belched fire and smoke, and I saw him slide his canopy open and jump. His chute opened so close in front of my ship that I pulled up for fear I'd run into it. I hung there for what seemed like hours, with my air speed indicating three hundred miles an hour, while black bursts of anti-aircraft fire broke all around me. The ship just seemed to stand still, but I saw Bishop floating down towards the river that was the boundary between China and Indo-China. At the very last moment, as I got my nose down and got out of the center of the anti-aircraft, I saw an unlucky wind blow the chute back to the Indo-Chinese or Jap side of the river, and Bishop was captured. We heard from him later that he was really a prisoner of the French and was getting along all right.

We re-formed North of Laokay and went back to Kunming. General Chennault said that the train wasn't worth Bishop—we should have left Laokay alone.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS BEGINS HIS MINISTRY

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 3:13-4:11. GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve.—Matthew 4:10.

Ready for service—this is the next scene from our Lord's life which comes before us in Matthew. Thirty years had passed since His birth, but these are hidden in silence, save for the one glimpse of Him in the temple which is given only by Luke.

These were not years of idleness or luxury. He was obedient to Joseph and Mary. He worked in the carpenter shop. He fellowshiped with God's people, and best of all, with His heavenly Father. He showed obedience and faithfulness in life's ordinary things. And then, all at once, the day of His public ministry was at hand.

His baptism and temptation were a part, the opening event, of that ministry. We find Him:

I. Identified With Sinners (3:13-15). John, the fiery forerunner of Jesus, had come with a burning message of repentance, and sinners were coming to him to be baptized as a sign of their contrition.

Suddenly Jesus appeared. John pointed to Him as the "Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29). When He offered Himself for baptism, John demurred. There was no sin in Jesus that He should need baptism. There was no occasion for Him to express in a special act His obedience, for He always did the will of God. (Heb. 10:7.)

Why then was Jesus baptized? We find the answer in the central purpose for which He came into the world, namely, to save sinners. Here at His official entrance upon that work He, who though He knew no sin was to become sin for us, took the sinner's place in baptism. It was not because He had Himself sinned, but because He was to become the substitute for the sinner. What marvelous condescension and grace!

II. Approved of God (3:16, 17). The Holy Spirit, like a dove, rested upon Him. The dove is one of the symbols of the Spirit, and speaks of gentleness, meekness, purity, peace and love.

Out of the eternal dwelling places in heaven came the voice of the eternal Father expressing His approval and pleasure in His son. The person and work of Christ bear their own commendation of Him to us as divine. Here we have the Father's word, and the Holy Spirit's coming. Thus we have here the entire Trinity.

III. Tempted by Satan (4:1-11). A time of testing was ahead. Jesus did not fear it, but notice that He did not seek it either. He was led by the Spirit into this great conflict. We may learn that we must not seek nor put ourselves in the way of temptation, but when it comes we may meet it without fear. God is with us.

He was tempted as the Messiah, and the Son of God, and it was a real testing, one from which we need to learn what to do when tempted. It was threefold: physical, spiritual and vocational.

1. The Physical Temptation. Forty days of conflict with Satan made His body hungry. Under such circumstances it was a terrific temptation to use His divine power to make bread. He could have done it, but He did not. One doesn't have to live, but one does have to obey and honor God.

Note how effectively Christ used Scripture (from Deuteronomy—have you read it lately?). It is the only sure answer to Satan's temptations, but you must learn it if you are going to use it.

2. The Spiritual Temptation. Here Satan asked Him to presume on the grace of God. If he cannot get you to abandon your faith, he will urge you to go to some fanatical and unscriptural extreme in using it.

God always cares for His own when they are in the place where He wants them to be, but He does not deliver us from foolhardy and unnecessary risks which we want to call "faith."

3. The Vocational Temptation. Christ had come into this world to wrest from Satan, the usurper (who is now the prince of this world—John 12:31), the kingdoms of this world. Satan suggested to Him that He could accomplish this by simply bowing down to him—thus escaping Calvary's cross.

Satan is busy urging men to take spiritual bypaths. He has his own leaders who skillfully evade and avoid the cross. They have a religion without the offense of the cross, but mark it well, it is not Christianity, even though it bears that name.

Jesus met and defeated Satan by the use of Scripture, and by honoring God the Father. Jesus' resistance of the devil caused him to go away. It still works. Read James 4:7. Then came the angels to minister to Him. Victory over the enemy of our souls brings peace and spiritual refreshment.

Splendid Cough Relief Is Easily Mixed at Home

No Cooking. Makes Big Saving.

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your kitchen. Once tried, you'll never be without it.

First, make a syrup by stirring 3 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and tastes fine. And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you sleep. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

HINT FOR HOME BAKERS

New Quick Roll Recipe—Easy and Good!

Make them with Fleischmann's yellow label Yeast—the only yeast with those EXTRA vitamins

QUICK ROLLS

1 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cake Fleischmann's Yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
3 cups sifted flour
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Scald milk, add sugar and salt; cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water—and be sure it's Fleischmann's yellow label, the only fresh yeast with all those extra vitamins. Add to lukewarm milk. Add 1½ cups flour and beat until perfectly smooth. Add melted shortening and remaining flour, or enough to make an easily handled dough. Knead well. Shape into rolls and place in well-greased pan. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk (about 1 hour). Bake in moderate oven at 400° F. about 20 minutes. Makes 12.

Bettors Paint Job
While modern enamels and paints have high hiding power, good undercoatings, especially in the case of enamels, will improve the job. Manufacturers of enamels usually also make undercoatings which are carried in stock by the dealers who sell the enamels.
One-Celled Plants
The yeasts are predominantly one-celled plants which reproduce rapidly and in their growth form alcohol and carbon dioxide from the sugary materials on which they feed. The precise nature of the products depends on the kind of yeast and the nutrient used; originally the "wild" yeasts floating in the air did man's fermentations, but today carefully cultured strains are used, adapted to the particular application and protected from contamination. Traditionally the two great fields for yeast are the production of alcoholic products and the leavening of bread, where carbon dioxide bubbles from the yeast give a fluffy structure.

Poor Lighting
A large firm of insurance brokers which does a nation-wide and foreign business, in a recent statement on why insurance costs differ, says one reason is that one concern may have higher insurance costs than another because of poorer lighting and more accidents. Modern lighting equipment in conjunction with walls, ceilings and floors painted in good light-reflecting colors improve such unfavorable conditions.

COL. BLACK'S STAIRWAY
This winding staircase in the Black mansion at Ellsworth, Maine, was built in 1802. Col. John Black, whose father-in-law was aide-de-camp to General Washington, erected his elegant house in a tiny frontier settlement as a token of his confidence in the future of America. Just as courageous are the designs being approved by our city and town-planners for post-war expansion and improvement. But first the war must be won on all fronts. Continued investment in War Bonds speeds the day of victory and stores up savings for post-war security and expansion.
U. S. Treasury Department

Distinction Difficult
Animals younger than four months will not resist Brucellosis and those older than eight months will retain the positive reaction to the blood test for an undesirable length of time. The bred cows and heifers may abort because of the vaccination, and the majority of them will always react positively to the blood test. In this situation the owner can never be sure which animal has Brucellosis and which one is reacting to the vaccination.

Mechanical Defects
Mechanical defects in some cases are the direct cause of accidents and a contributing factor in others. The safety section of the bureau of motor carriers, Interstate Commerce commission, found that 6.9 per cent of the accidents reported to it in 1942 were classed as "mechanical defect" accidents.

Farm Implements
Contrary to the expectations of many farmers, there is a good chance that a definite scarcity of farm machinery will exist for the 1945 production season, extension agriculture engineers at Michigan State College believe. For this reason farmers are cautioned against permitting any old machine to go through the winter into the busy season unrepaired.
Optimism concerning the farm machinery outlook because widespread following recent announcement of the lifting of the restrictions on the manufacturing of machinery. There was a growing belief that an abundance of new machinery would become available next spring. As a result, a slackening of old machine repairing has become an epidemic.
But old equipment will be needed, for it is expected that the "lead time" period necessary from the time materials are made available until machines can be manufactured and placed on the market that is necessary for the production of many types of equipment will probably prevent any significant increase in the quantity.
Labor and production facilities will be utilized for manufacture of such labor saving equipment as corn pickers, side delivery rakes, pick-up balers and combines. Production of repair parts will remain at a high level in 1945, college agricultural engineers have learned. Any parts used in quantities in war production will remain difficult to obtain. These include engine and electrical equipment parts.

Fewer Workers
March 1 the farms of the nation had 8,562,000 workers, the lowest number on record for that date, and 4 per cent less than in March, 1940.
Birdsfoot Trefoil
Birdsfoot trefoil is primarily a forage crop for land that is not to be plowed often. It does best on good soil, but will grow and persist on rather wet situations and on shallow, drouthy soils.

Disguise Eggs
Hollandaise sauce, mayonnaise dressing, cooked dressing for meats and vegetable salads and for fruit salads also can be served to disguise eggs.
Main Cause Is Man
Man has been the cause, directly or indirectly, almost without exception, whenever a form of wild life has become extinct in North America.
Farm Hours
The United States average of 11.2 hours each day worked by farm operators is just about equal to the national average of hours between sunrise and sunset on March 1.

Finnish-Americans
Many Finns have immigrated to the United States. The 1940 census showed more than 260,000 persons born in Finland or of Finnish descent.
Eye Care
Eye exercises, while useful in some cases of poor muscle coordination, are useless for errors of refraction. Don't pin your hopes on vitamins to correct visual shortcomings. Children seldom outgrow defects. Eye washes are not as good as the natural tears of the eyes.
Plant Lice
Plant lice, or aphids, can be easily controlled by the use of nicotine spray or dust. Aphids suck the juices from plants, causing them to be stunted and the leaves to wilt.
Dry Beans
It takes 1 to 2 1/2 hours to cook dry beans (on the stove). In a pressure cooker, cook beans 30 to 40 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.
Change With Age
Remember that eyes change with age. Have your eyes checked up occasionally. The age of 40 is the dangerous age for eyes.

Bakers' Yeast
 Backbone of the yeast industry is bakers' yeast, generally grown in molasses. More than 248,000,000 pounds will be made in 1944, mostly for civilians. This material, containing some 70 per cent moisture, sold in bulk for about 13 cents per pound in 1939. The vitamin content of bakers' yeast is low, only about one-third that of brewers' yeast, but it is possible by changing the nutrient to produce a high-vitamin bakers' yeast.

Food Value
 Potatoes pack a lot of food value. If eaten daily they can provide as much as 25 per cent of the average person's vitamin C needs, as well as the B1 vitamin, iron and other minerals.

Farming Country
 Although the majority of Finland's more than 3 1/2 million people make their living normally by farming and dairying, the nation's cultivated areas amount to less than one-tenth of the land spread. Leading crops are typically northern—rye, barley, oats, wheat, potatoes, and hay. Pre-war Finland exported chiefly forest and dairy products; imported—in addition to machinery and industrial materials—meat, fruit, coffee, grains, tobacco and processed foods.

Disastrous Fires
 Forest and grass fires in the United States in the past five years have burned over an area as large as the entire New England states. The timber burned in one of these years would have built 20,000 Liberty ships.

Flush Season
 In the flush season of production from February to June, the laying flocks of the nation actually produce about 1.4 eggs a day for every person. In the rest of the year they produce only .4 of an egg a day for each person.

The Army reports that 61,547 tons of lumber are needed to land 100,000 men on a large Pacific island.

NO MILITARY ERROR

Those close up to the war picture are convinced that aside from faulty intelligence, there was no one single military error which brought on the swift and disastrous German breakthrough.

Undoubtedly some intelligence officers will be disciplined or broken for failing to evaluate the concentration of German troops opposite the First Army about a week beforehand. But there were other factors contributing to the reverse, none of which can be laid at the doorstep of a single commander. Basically they are factors which only General Eisenhower and General Marshall themselves could properly evaluate and act on.

Here are some of the inside, basic factors involved:

1. General Marshall himself ordered the U. S. offensive which began November 8, and which continued with battering-ram tactics until Von Rundstedt turned the tide against us. Marshall, visiting the battlefield in October, said that during the winter the Germans could mobilize 100 new divisions, so it was wise for us to clear them off the west bank of the Rhine before winter closed in.

2. There was and is no disposition to doubt the wisdom of General Marshall's decision. However, these battering-ram tactics cost men, also tire men out. The American system is to keep divisions on the front line, bringing up fresh men only for replacements. Thus the divisions now at the front have been fighting steadily since the landing in Normandy last June—with, of course, a lot of men coming up as replacements.

3. This is considered an excellent system and gets results. However, the Germans immediately took out their battle troops after Normandy and sent them to rest behind the lines. The Nazi boys and old men we encountered in the Siegfried line made us think the German army was shot to pieces, but it wasn't. The experienced battle troops, now refreshed after a long rest, are taking the offensive against us.

4. The war department itself was responsible for a lot of the favorable news which gave the public a general feeling of overconfidence. One of its most important indications was that some 800,000 German troops were killed or taken prisoners during the clean-up of France, making a sizable hole in the Nazi army. Of these, however, about 400,000 were Russian-Ukrainian labor battalions. Thus the American public had reasons to believe that a large slice of the German army was decimated.

5. Germany's new Royal Tiger tank is superior to ours and we have known it. It is extremely difficult to knock out of commission. However, we thought the war was going to be over soon and that we could finish up the job with the tanks already on hand—of which we had tremendous quantities. More recently, however, we have started building a big tank which can equal or better the Royal Tiger.

6. Robot bombs and rocket bombs can fly in any weather whereas airplanes can't. Also they don't require men. Thus the Germans have been able to bomb us from the air—by robots and rockets—while because of bad weather we couldn't bomb them. The Nazis lay out a square of territory in and behind our lines, then systematically pepper it with rocket bombs. They can aim them well enough to hit within certain areas.

7. The German system is to attack suddenly with tremendous force and heavy armor in one small area; they concentrated hundreds of tanks in their first attack. Once they broke through, they spread out. Also the Nazis had little to lose.

8. However, it remains a fact that we had advance information of great Nazi activity for about a week before the attack came, though apparently we sized it up as preparation for retreat rather than attack.

Note — Gen. Courtney Hodges, against whose First Army the blow was launched, is regarded as an average American general. He was not able to make the grade at West Point, but immediately enlisted in the army and has worked his way up. He was a major in command of infantry in the last war, one rank higher than Marshall, who was then a captain, and has commanded infantry all his career since, having risen to be chief of infantry shortly before we entered the war.

UNDER THE DOME
The expansion in the tire industry, announced by WPB, inspires no cheers from anyone in the tire industry. Labor is unhappy because manpower difficulties rule out Akron as the site for the new plants. Akron is a strong union town, and organization there is fairly simple. . . . The big rubber companies are unhappy because they have no assurance that the new tire plants will be ripped apart after the war. They are afraid of new postwar competition.

Tractors Continue To Supplant Horses, Even in War Period

Number of Work Animals On Farms the Lowest In Fifty Years.

Although gasoline is rationed, repair parts are hard to get, and new machines scarce, tractors are steadily displacing horses and mules during the war period, thus continuing a trend that has been going on for 25 years. There are fewer work animals on farms today than at any time in more than 50 years, according to the department of agriculture.

With production needs at their present high level, it is estimated that it would be necessary to place 20 million head of work stock on farms in order to have as much power in relation to cropland as was the case in 1910—were it not for the tractors and other machine power.

The number of work animals has declined about nine million head since 1920, or 45 per cent, government figures show. In their place are some 1,700,000 farm tractors, plus the influence of about two million farm automobiles and about 900,000 farm motor trucks added to farm equipment since 1920.

Tractors are believed to supply around 50 per cent of the total farm draw-bar work, although only about 30 per cent of the farmers in 1944 will own tractors. Government figures show that in 1939 there were about 400,000 fewer tractors than are now on farms, with 53 per cent of the farms in the country depending principally upon animal power. Nearly 24 per cent had neither tractors nor work animals. The remaining farms reported tractor power, most of them also employing some work animals.

Tractor farms are large farms, however, it is pointed out, and in 1939 when they totaled about 23 per cent of the farm numbers, they contributed about half the value of products sold, traded, and used in the farm home.

Larger Acreage Harvested.
Surveys in 1942 showed that the harvested cropland per farm where tractors were employed was on an average more than three times that of farms relying on animal power for draw-bar work. While most of the tractor farms also utilize animal power, the tractors at the same time contribute to the power needs of other farms.

Wide variations were reported in the displacement of work animals by tractor power. While average displacement on 10,000 tractor farms included in the 1943 survey was 4.4 head per tractor, numbers of work animals actually displaced ranged from about 2 head to somewhat more than 10 head in different state groups. These fluctuations reflected mainly differences in tractor size and the effectiveness of tractor use.

How hard animals work on farms appears to be dependent upon the region in which they are located, government reports show. Average time worked per head for all reporting farms was 835 hours in 1942, but in the southeastern and Delta states, more than 60 per cent of the work stock were used 1,000 or more hours. At the same time, less than 25 per cent of the animals in the Pacific coast and Mountain states worked 1,000 hours or more. Variations were observed not in regions and states,

Sturdy draft horses like these are losing out to tractors and other machines, although the war has slowed up their displacement somewhat.

but among mechanized farms using animals.

Feed supplies for horses and mules have been good, in general, with corn and oats accounting for more than 90 per cent of the total concentrates in 1942. Corn alone amounted to about 55 per cent of the total, and oats 37 per cent. Seventy-five per cent or more of the grain fed to these animals in the Southeast, the Appalachian and Delta states, eastern Texas and Oklahoma and along the Ohio, Cumberland and Potomac rivers was corn. In areas such as the Pacific states, most of the Mountain states, and in New England and the northern Great Plains, where corn production is less important, little of this grain was fed.

Heaviest oats feeding was found in the northern areas, where 50 per cent or more of the total concentrates were oats. This grain was fed pretty generally throughout the country, however.

ORIGINALITY

He wished to look like the actor great,
Whom he saw on the silver screen.
He wanted his ways to emulate—
To copy his classic mien.

He wanted to walk in the way he walked;
To sit in the way he sat.
He wanted to talk in the way he talked;
To wear just his style of hat.
He studied his manner debonaire;
His carriage straight and true.

He tried to attain his savoir faire
In everything he might do.
He worked for the contouring of a slat,
To be like his hero great—
Became just a simple copy cat
In manner and speech and gait.
Nor thought that he might much better do,
And perch on a higher shelf;
If he would behave in a manner true
And try to be just himself.

Hybrid Trees Grow Twice As Fast as Natural Timber

America faces a lumber shortage. Because of war demands we are cutting our trees faster than they grow. None of the experts can agree on how long our wood supply will last. But they all say that the forests are being slashed down at a rate far above replacement.

The scientific answer to the problem is to make trees grow faster. The experts have discovered how to do the job two and three times faster than before.

The trick is hybridization. Through crossbreeding, it is possible to create new strains that not only develop sooner but often produce better wood.

Experts at the United States Forestry service have long been at work on new types.

They have succeeded in hybridizing poplars, birches, ash, maples and oaks. In Maine, for example, it was found that hybrid poplars grow two to three times as fast as native poplars.

If the shoots of a young poplar are cut into short lengths and the pieces planted in the ground, thousands of plants can be produced from one tree within a few years.

What to Do
By PHYLLIS BELMONT

The popularity of the Telephone Bridge has grown since the war. It is a good way to hold a "benefit" for some worthy charity—it makes the least possible work for the greatest returns and permits each hostess to gather together a group of her friends.

A group of prospective hostesses from various parts of the city meet and plan their party. A price is fixed for the admission fee, the date is set, the house prizes are chosen and the grand prize is picked. Each hostess then invites her own friends for bridge on the set night. Each guest pays the admission price, and when the evening is over the highest scorer at each house wins the house prize. Each hostess telephones the highest score at her home to headquarters and the highest of all the scores wins the grand prize.

The proceeds, or the individual admissions, go to charity and each hostess foots the bill for her entertainment and refreshments.

HOW D'YA VOTE—SMOOTH OR SLOPPY?

It's the big issue at fashion shows for the sweater 'n skirt set all over the country. No doubt about it, chicks, there's a change in the air. Maybe it won't click with you 100 per cent, but it's a promise of better things to come. Yes, the "sloppy" party is still in power, but the opposition from the "smooth" party gets stronger and stronger.

Tuck-In vs. Sloppy Joe — Go on shrouding yourself in that oversize sack you call a sweater if you want to, but it's smoother to wear a jersey shirt or blouse-like sweater tucked inside your skirt.

Boys' vs. Girls' Socks — Go on amplifying your ankles with boys' heavy sweat socks if they fascinate you, but it's smoother to wear girls' socks that bring out the Betty Grable in you.

Sports vs. Dress-Up — Go on dating in sweaters if you think you look your best in them, but it's smoother to dress up to your dates in flattering dresses that inspire those low, long whistles.

Coats vs. Jackets — Go on frightening children in those knee-length boys' coats if you're a die-hard, but its smoother to look slick in a blazer or loafer jacket really made for you and not for your favorite six-footer.

JITTERBUG JOOLERY

Whether the wind blows "smooth" or "sloppy" in high school fashions, you still cast your vote for jitterbug joolery. Try out these new ideas to dress up your sweaters.

Pen Point Pick-Up — Collect old pen points until you have enough for a necklace. Wash them thoroughly, color with nail polish or shine up with colorless polish — then string into a choker length necklace, points down.

Big Deal in Peels — Bet you never knew that orange and lemon peels make droolsome necklaces if you let them dry out first, then coat with colorless polish and string into long necklaces. Alternate them for a two-tone effect.

Match Makers — Make a job picture frame for your O.A.O.'s dime store photo by covering an empty match case with red polish and pasting his photo inside. Let it dangle from your lapel or belt. Paste your O.A.O.'s initials and yours in alphabet noodles on the outside flap.

JABBERWOCKY DAFFYNITIONS

Blotz the dirt — Give with the gossip.
Ain't it the so? — Isn't it the truth?
Bootlegger — Boy who takes another boy's date home from a party, or gal who does vice versa.
What's up, Doc? — The newest way to say, "What's new?"
Odd ball — Queer character.
Ferdinand, go smell your posies — Stop slinging the bull.
R.O.T.C. — Right off the cob.
Rough, Tough and Unrefined — Instead of "Tall, Dark and Grewsome."

Widespread Vogue Predicted For New Bolero and Cape Suits

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ALWAYS in advance of the times, fashion's calendar is dating spring surprisingly early this year. Gay new prints as refreshing as spring itself have been peeping from under fur coats for quite some time and the lovely little flower hats that are being so smartly worn these midwinter days work like magic in uplifting spirit and morale.

However, the message that fashion brings of smart suits "on the way" is undoubtedly the most significant foreword of all, for standing at the threshold of a new spring season, it's the suit that becomes a fashion-first urge with every woman who is planning a perfectly appointed wardrobe of timely style-right apparel.

The importance of a suit as the mainstay in every wardrobe is the big reason why it should be given deliberate consideration, for it is your suit that you'll "live in" for the most part during midseason and on through the days to come. Speaking in general, the outstanding feature of suits newly designed for spring is that their style technique stresses a soft handling that is distinctly feminine and flattering. Fashion seers predict a tremendous vogue for cape and bolero suits that tune right into the new soft-styling program.

The bolero suit here shown stresses two important details that are being played up in a big way for spring. The conspicuous use of buttons is one. Color contrast is the other. Note the wide skirt band in striking contrast, as are the bands at the wrist. In this instance buttons are seen on the bolero only, but another model has a side-fasten skirt with buttons (large ones at that) all the way down from belt to hemline, thus continuing the button technique on the brief bolero jacket.

Watch for the new-style cape-suits this spring. Not only will you see stunning styles as pictured to the left, but there's going to be a veritable landslide of cape-suits styled in most intriguing and versatile ways. The cape suit pictured is proving a big style success, being an outstanding favorite for about-town wear, styled as it is of fashionable wool check with monotone contrast. A charming new gesture is the cape and skirt of navy, black or brown, or whatever smart color is to your liking, the highspot being the cape lining which is in vivid color contrast.

The current trend to soft grace accentuated with ultra chic highlights is especially reflected in the one-button cardigan suits. These are strikingly detailed with designful stitching and endless other little strategies expressed in unusual pockets and flattering self big-bow ties at the throat.

Prominent in the new showings is the suit that tops a dark skirt with a light color jacket. The long white or pastel tunic jacket worn with the weskit dress or suit makes a stunning costume.

Floral Trimming

Hats have gone very pretty-pretty this winter. Fashion is ever doing the unusual and this year the big sensation is that of flowers blooming atop of adorable little hats in wintertime. The idea of winter flowers has made instant appeal, especially when one or more lush roses add romance and flattery to a fetching little chapeau. The lovely little millinery confection by Lillie Dache shown at the top is in a new Amaranthus (pinkish violet) shade. The delicate pink rose at the front is set in a swirl of gray velvet and pink ribbons studded with silvery pearls. The hat below, also a Dache mode, is one of the new turbans with side width. It is made of white faille embroidered with an oak spray done in gold thread.

Popularity of Black Lingerie Increases

It is with increasing enthusiasm that women are asking for lingerie in all black. The lace-trimmed costume slip is especially liked, for under sheer black frocks the lace that gleams through seems like a very part of the gown itself. You can get these slips very simply edged with black-eyed Val, or if your taste runs toward ornate effects you can find beautiful types that are simply lavish with lace. A favorite with women who covet a slender silhouette is the costume slip of sleek jersey. The strictly tailored type make widest appeal for practical everyday wear, but lace trims are also easily available. Black sheer gowns are so very attractively styled with lace, and the materials that make them are so good-looking, such as the dotted black sheers and crossbar patterning, that many women are buying them to wear with housecoats.

Exotic Flowers Trim Pasted Feather Hats

Milliners are taking special interest this season in creating little bright-color feather hats to wear with dark wintry-looking fur coats. You can get a variety of little types; the wee sailor, the pill-box, hats with narrow brims and all sorts of headdress formed of feather flowers mounted on a bicycle-clip bandeau. The new feature of the pasted feather hats is that they are trimmed with gorgeous feather flowers that are exotic in color.

Dressmaker Sweaters Are Styled Like Blouses

Something new has happened in the sweater realm. It is the dressmaker sweater-blouse, which means that these sweaters are softly styled like a blouse, having sweetheart and ruffled U-necklines and the popular high shirred-front neckline. They are variously trimmed with bows and buttons and yarn embroidery. Evening sweater blouses are starred with beads or sequins.

Brother Meets Sister On Far Pacific Island

SEATTLE, WASH. — It happened on a far Pacific island — Clifford Derosia Jr., machinist's mate second class with the coast guard, was doing shore patrol and warned a WAC she was walking toward an out-of-bounds area. It was his sister, Ruth. He had returned for a rest period after service at Leyte and she had been transferred from an Australian base. They had been separated 19 months.

Restaurateur Posts Sign, Loses Own Coat

LAWRENCE, MASS. — When Samuel M. Freedman opened a restaurant here he was careful to post a sign reading: "We are not responsible for property lost or stolen." Recently Freedman hung his coat near the sign, only to return a few hours later to find it had been stolen.

SENATORIAL CIGARETTE INVESTIGATION

Senator Wibbie—As I stand here doing my part in the great battle for the preservation of that thing which is so dear to America, the cigarette, I sometimes wonder if my colleagues fully appreciate the part played by it in the life of our glorious country. What, I ask, would civilization be without it? What would democracy be with no smoke-rings curling above it? What would a free world be with no ashes on the rugs?

Senator Bunkem—Does the Senator contend that the world could not survive on the old-fashioned clay pipe of our forefathers?

Senator Wibbie—We have passed beyond the era of pipes. They are a relic of the days before mankind, and womankind, reached that stage of development where the very home was built around the cigarette. With the last drop of my blood I will hold the fort against those reactionaries who would plunge our wives, mothers, and sisters and kiddies back into those dark ages when nicotine-stained fingers were the privilege of princes and prelates, when the great blessing of blowing smoke through the nose was unknown to the masses, and when that great blessing to all mankind, the ashtray, was almost unknown.

Senator Toopsey—In my grandfather's time they had to use old saucers for trays.

Senator Bunkem—I remember my grandfather going around the old home looking in vain for something to empty his pipe into, and finally using grandma's ginger jar.

Senator Wibbie (resuming) — My friends, this is one of the gravest hours in history. This country must face that great question, can our people get all the cigarettes they need, and upon which their lasting happiness depends. Deprive us of our cigarettes and you strike a blow at the very foundation of liberty. Would Thomas Jefferson stand idly by today and watch long lines of mothers and daughters waiting patiently before the store offering but one pack to a customer? Would Jackson submit to cigarette rationing? Would Lincoln, Cleveland, McKinley and the great Teddy Roosevelt have stood unmoved by the suffering involved when thousands of our school children were obliged to reduce their cigarette quota by as many as two smokes per day?

Senator Toopsey (getting into the spirit)—The important place of the cigarette in our civilization is plain to all. With it we conquer, without it we fail. I have a few statistics here marking the extent of the crisis now confronting us. In 11 of the northern states 60 per cent of the women and children haven't been able to inhale in weeks. In 8 western states over 80 per cent of the wives and mothers do not know where their next smoke is coming from. In 4 border states the nicotine stains are fading fast.

A strong Democratic senator—Let us here and now place the blame for the cigarette shortage where it belongs, at the door of Herbert Hoover.

A Left Winger—Right! But let us not forget that the forces of reaction as represented by Wall street, the capitalistic system and the United States chamber of commerce are also to blame.

A Republican—There was no cigarette shortage under Hoover!

Senator Earake—There probably was, but it was concealed by the Tory press.

Senator Bunkem—Are we sure there is a shortage? I listen to the radio and all the big cigarette companies are filling the air with sales talks for their product. Why do they do this if they are out of cigarettes?

Senator Earake—They are building up good will.

Senator Duffer—Would it be possible at this time for the senate to take up the arms shortage on the western front? It seems to me to be more important.

(Cries of "Throw him out" and "No! No!")

Senator Duffer — Is it not advisable that we look into the matter of getting more shells to General Patton, stopping the drift of workers from war factories and focusing the attention of the American public on the more vital aspects of the world situation?

Chorus of Voices—What! And make cigarettes a secondary issue!! (The session ends in disorder.)

The Gotham Taxists Don't See: To this writer's mind one of the sights of New York worth seeing, yet seldom mentioned by the guides, is Washington Market, a combination county fair, food show, flea, picnic, carnival and horse town "general store," it is one of the town's big shows. During the noon hour, when thousands crowd into it to lunch at its unique clam, sandwich, fish and quick-lunch bars, it is at its best.

'Waddy's Wagon' Comes to Life at Saipan

The crew of "Waddy's Wagon," fifth B-29 to take off on the initial Tokyo mission from Saipan, and first to land, pose to duplicate their caricatures on the plane. Upper left shows Brig. Gen. Haywood S. Hantsell of San Antonio, Texas., who commands the 21st bomber command of the 20th air force. Upper right, Col. Byron E. Bruggs, left, of Tampa, Fla., and Brig. Gen. Burning Navy Plane Saved Aboard Carrier

'New and Old' Transportation

An oxen wagon loaded with supplies for the U. S. army rolls slowly by as a modern war plane comes in for a landing on a newly constructed runway, somewhere in China. Many of the landing fields were constructed with the aid of Chinese labor, and their ever faithful and hard working teams of oxen.

Congressmen Aboard Carrier

From the deck of a carrier, members of congress visiting the Pacific area observe the accuracy of navy gunners. In the center of the front row, peering through binoculars, is Adm. C. W. Nimitz. At his right is Congressman J. J. Hefferman of New York, and at his left is Congresswoman Margaret C. Smith of Maine.

A QUERY comes in from far away Leyte in the Philippines to this effect—"What is the distance record for the forward pass?"

This is one of the most interesting, and one of the most unproved records in sport. Years ago this forward - passing distance crown was given to Brick Muller of California who was credited with a 65-yard pass against Ohio State, as we recall the faint and faraway details. Brick Muller is still credited with the distance record, registered as 70 yards in many dust-covered guides.

Grantland Rice

Later on along the West coast many conceded a new record to Kenny Washington, U. C. L. A. star, who was supposed to have thrown a completed pass for 68 yards against Southern California.

"It was in that neighborhood," Howard Jones of Southern California told me later. "It may have been 65 yards—it may have been 70 yards. It was too long for me. I couldn't tell you the exact distance."

Brick Muller and Kenny Washington were undoubtedly two of the great long-distance passers on the West coast — probably two of the best in football history.

Isbell's Long Peg

The longest completed pass I ever saw came in a game between the professional All Stars against the Green Bay Packers in California several years ago. Green Bay in this game had the ball on its one-yard line with only a few seconds left to play. Cecil Isbell of Green Bay faded back of his goal line and whipped a long, high one through the balmy California air.

Don Hutson was already under way. He galloped down the field with two All Stars alongside. Suddenly Hutson, with his amazing speed, put on full steam, ran away from his guardians and took the ball around the mid-field strip at least 65 yards from the spot where Isbell had thrown the pass. It was an easy touchdown. I happened to be sitting on the Packers bench where I could measure the throw.

All of this still doesn't answer the Leyte sergeant's question. There probably isn't any answer. I was talking this problem over with Eddie Dooley, Dartmouth's long-distance passer.

A 75-Yard Toss

"We had a contest at Dartmouth once," Eddie said, "for distance passing. I was to pass against Swede Oberlander. We had no following wind. In this contest I passed on the carry for 75 yards and Swede hit the 73-yard mark. This is the only occasion I recall where forward passes were accurately measured. But remember, this was not in competition. It may be that someone has passed the ball over 75 yards on a carry, without a favoring wind. I doubt it. Of course, if you have a favoring gale at your back it would not be difficult to pass 80 or 85 yards."

The main trouble is this—if you can pick up a passer who can heave the ball over 60 yards—how can you find a Hutson or another end who can ramble that far and catch it? I recall, vaguely, one pass in a Dartmouth game against Cornell, where Eddie Dooley, from his own 35-yard line, hit Bjorkman on the shoulder, 65 yards away, and just at the goal line.

The great passers of more modern times have been Sammy Baugh, Sid Luckman and Glenn Dobbs. And it might be mentioned that Cecil Isbell and Arnie Herber were no punks. Two of the most accurate passers I've ever known were Benny Friedman and Sammy Baugh. They were not 65-yard marksmen. But they could hit a gnat in the eye from 10 to 30 yards. So could little Davey O'Brien. There is another great and now forgotten passer.

There is no set or proved record on the longest pass ever thrown in actual competition—a pass that was caught and held. Maybe Brick Muller of California is the man. Maybe Kenny Washington of U.C.L.A. It might be Isbell to Hutson. I know of no other end who could go as far to catch one as Hutson of the Green Bay Packers. I only know that Eddie Dooley could cover 75 yards through the air and Eddie today can hit the 65-yard mark, long after he has been away from the Green of Hanover.

Stars in Service

All this matter about service training, rough life in the barracks, lack of time to play or practice, said to be wrecking skill timing, is about 97 per cent bunk.

It doesn't take any too long to swing back to the matter of touch and timing or to the more important fundamentals. Army sergeants Ferrier and Harrison, and Sammy Sneed, late of the navy, have already proved this point in recent golf tournaments.

School NOTES...

High School
The Ninth Grade algebra class has completed the special rules of multiplication and so is already to begin factoring the next semester. It is generally believed by algebra teachers that the student who completes factoring satisfactorily should have no particular trouble with the remainder of elementary algebra.

The semester examinations will be held on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. There will be no school on Friday of this week in order to permit the teachers to grade the papers and to record the results.

Magruder's American Government a text used in the 12th Grade of the Tawas City Schools, points out that the amount of revenue spent on public grade schools, high schools and colleges each year in the United States is about the same as the amount spent on tobacco each year.

Typing I
The First Year Typing students have finished a booklet entitled "Man Conquers the Air." The booklet tells the different steps man has made in flying. The students have placed them on the bulletin board. There are some very fine copies. We are now learning to make designs on the typewriter, these are to decorate covers and borders. We are also learning how to make symbols such as: The minus sign, multiplication sign, division sign, equality sign, algebraic expressions, chemical formulas and the degree symbol.

Home Ec II
Baby baths, formulas, schedules and dressing the baby has been our topics for discussion this week.

Home Ec I
Doctors and Nurses weren't born but made. So do your duty and learn First Aid, will be our theme song for the next month. We are practicing making beds, giving bed baths and making our patient comfortable. We took temperature and pulse and respiration rates and have learned how to treat burns and care for colds and flu patients. Some of us want to be nurses and all of us find this knowledge very practical in caring for the sick at home.

7th and 8th.
We have received a new foods game, "The Basic Seven," which we enjoy playing and which teaches us what foods are necessary for our health and growth.

Grades 3 and 4.
Clarence Lossing has left our fourth grade and returned to Bay City. We are sorry he had to leave. Christine Bradfield has been absent because of illness. We hope she will be back soon.

Gerry Smith and James Rapp brought two of their new Christmas books for us to read. We enjoyed each book very much.

Third grade pupils who had an A on last week's spelling test were: Nancy Reid, Janette Konenski, Jackie Misener, Geneva Ulman, Kay Bunning, Rolland Hughes and Ronald Chaney. Those in the fourth grade who had an A were: Edward Hanna, James Rapp, Billy Brown, Darlene Bariger and Jean Ulman.

Primary
Tommy Campbell entered the first grade last Wednesday. He came here from Hazel Park. We now have 28 first graders.

Virginia Potts has gone to Ludington and is attending school there. Our Defense Stamp sale amounted to $9.00 last week.
We are studying about the Eskimos and are enjoying the story of Tuktu, a little Eskimo boy.

Nutritious Food
Protein foods include liver, kidneys, brains and heart. They are rich in protein and nature has stored more iron and minerals in them than in the muscle meats.

ers displayed extraordinary accuracy bombing numerous targets. Overseas since June 3, 1944, Sgt. Rahl has flown more than 25 missions as a radio gunner. His wife, Barbara, lives in Detroit. He is the son of Mrs. Ida Rahl, of Turner.

Glenn Ross, son of Mrs. Gertie Ross, has been promoted to storekeeper 3rd class, on the U. S. S. Kennebec.

Pfc. Melbourne Metcalf writes to his mother from a hospital behind the lines in France that he was getting along fine, and that the nurses and doctors are good to all of them. Had turkey and trimmings on Christmas. He had been hit with German artillery shrapnel in both shoulders and thigh, but says it could be a lot worse. He has been presented with the Purple Heart and was sending it home.

Lieut. (J. G.) June La'ter, N. C. U. S. N., is home for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Latter of Reno, after 18 months duty in the South Pacific. She will report for duty at Quantico, Virginia, when her leave is over.

Mrs. Leah (Pelton) Reaves has joined the WAC's and will go to Fort Des Moines for training in the medical corp.

Lawrence Rank, R. D. M. son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Rank of Flint was killed in the invasion of Leyte according to a telegram from the War Department. Lawrence and his mother, the former Hazel Boomer of East Tawas visited summers here.

Pfc. Robert Soderquest injured in the European theatre on November 10 has been evacuated to an English hospital. He was wounded by shrapnel in the neck and back of head. He says he is saving the pieces the doctors removed and will have a paper weight made of them. He is getting along nicely.

Sgt. Wayne Wickert has been reported wounded in action in Belgium. A letter, written following the injury, said he was being moved and would send new address later.

Sgt. Charles Nash and brother Pfc. Claud Nash write home telling of their Christmas, which they spent together. They are stationed at Saipan.

ALPENA NEWS ENDORSES JUDGE HERMAN DEHNKE

The Alpena News, in a recent editorial, has this to say about Judge Herman Dehnke of the 23rd Judicial Circuit:

The name of Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke of Harrisville is being prominently mentioned as a likely man to be given one of the Michigan Supreme Court nominations to be made by the Republican convention at Grand Rapids this Friday.

The Republican party could make no better selection.

Judge Dehnke is fully qualified as to integrity, legal training and personality. In addition to his earlier training in the general practice of served on side his home circuit and law, he has served seventeen years as judge of the 23rd Judicial Circuit. During much of that time he has thus built himself a state-wide reputation as one of the ablest circuit judges in Michigan.

Nomination of Judge Dehnke as one of the candidates for Supreme Justice would constitute a fitting recognition of his qualifications and ability as a jurist. At the same time, the Republican party would be honoring a man whom the party owes much. Judge Dehnke is one of the men who years ago revolted a "boss" control of the party. His was as a voice crying in the wilderness when he rose in that embattled party convention in Flint years ago and protested against "boss" domination, but it is not too much to say that there began the movement for a party housecleaning which was so well forwarded by Gov. Kelly when he brought about the ouster of Frank McKay last year.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Actual experience on the world's war fronts has proved the collapsible boat an essential safety feature for both Naval and land based planes. They are made of rubberized material, easily inflated.

At the Battle of Midway an Army Lieutenant, after bombing a carrier, was forced to bail out of his bomber. He was able to get a "fish eye" view of the entire battle from his collapsible boat and was later picked up by an American plane. ANNOUNCEMENT

After being associated with me for a number of years in the operation of the Emil H. Buch & Sons Grocery and Meat Market, my brother, Albert Buch, has severed his connection with the store in order to accept his appointment as register of deeds. I have taken over his interest in the business, and assure our customers of a continuance of the same courtesy and service which they have received in the past.

When this war is ended my son, Cpl. Roland Buch, plans to enter the business with me.

We wish to thank you for the liberal patronage of the past year and previous years.

"Why, there is a telephone here!"

YES, BUT A TELEPHONE ON THE PREMISES DOESN'T ALWAYS MEAN WE CAN FURNISH SERVICE

If you move into a vacant home or apartment and find a telephone already there, you'll probably wonder why we may not be able to give you telephone service. Here's the reason: As soon as a present customer moves out, even though the instrument may not be removed for several days, his service is disconnected at the central office. Then the equipment and switchboard space that telephone required are put right into use for war-essential or other priority service or for the next person on the waiting list. With the armed forces taking most new telephone equipment, and with more people wanting service than ever before, we're following this fair and equitable plan provided for in governmental orders. We'll be glad when we can again give all the service everybody wants—wherever and whenever they want it.
