Chamber of Commerce President Gives Report

A few months back I was asked to act as head of the Tawas City Chamber of Commerce. Previous experience had shown me that the only honor in such a job is the honor of doing a lot of hard work, in return for which, a man is often misunderstood in his motives, is criticized for what he does or doesn't do, and is lucky if he has as many friends when his term of office ends as he had when he began.

In spite of these facts, I accepted the challenge. I believe every man owes his community a service beyond what performs in earning a living in it and I saw an opportunity to render Tawas City and Iosco county a service working through the Chamber of Commerce. I have no personal axe to grind. Our own business is growing rapidly and its various phases demand long hours daily of my time and that of my partner, Mr. Westrich, but we agreed that I should take "time out" whenever necessary to serve the interests of the community with the Chamber of Commerce, the body through which those interests would find expression.

We set about to appoint committees, a board of directors and a committee of ten to act as advisers and counselors.

A "drive" for members was instituted under the chairmanship of Howard Hatton. Mr. Hatton's committee succeeded in selling memberships each costing $10.00 to more than 60 businessmen in Tawas City and East Tawas, and to 22 individuals at $4.00. Many of the businessmen took business memberships at $10.00 and individual memberships. This means that the citizen not in business has contributed to date only about five per cent of the funds now in the treasury.

Let me cite the program of the Chamber of Commerce for this year and let the reader see for himself who benefits from it, and therefore who should support it.

CLASS C AND D TEAMS IN MEET

Event to be Held in Tawas City High School Gymnasium

The Michigan High School Athletic Basketball District tournament for this section of the state will be held in the Tawas City High School Auditorium on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of next week. This is according to a recent announcement by Julian W. Smith, state director of athletics. There will be two games each night, with the championship game in both C and D Classes on Saturday night. The first game will be at eight o'clock E. W. T. each night. There will be no reserved seats. The doors of the auditorium will open at seven o'clock.

Six teams have qualified in Class D; namely, St. Bernard of Alpena, Hale, Au Gres, Harrisville, Tawas City and Whittemore. Two teams in Class C have qualified; East Tawas and Oscoda. Drawings for places in Class D have not as yet been made, but it is expected that Tawas City will be one of the teams to play the first night.

Joseph F. Martin of Standish and Paul Crein of Bay City are to be the two referees for the series. Commissioner Russell Rollin of Tawas City and Arden Charters of Whittemore will act as official scorers.

High school athletics are an important part of any school's fitness program. A good attendance is an important factor for a successful tournament from more than one standpoint. One factor is financial one. We urge all people who are interested in this important sport to patronize the event. The price of admission is forty cents to all each night.

First—We have forwarded to Congressman Roy O. Woodruff a petition bearing the signatures of 1000 citizens requesting that the Tawas River mouth be dredged and a haven for small boats be established at the mouth of the river. This project would be completed at government expense. The problem is now in the hands of the congressman and we have his promise of all the help he can give in bringing this project before the Rivers and Harbors Committee of which Congressman Donderso, Dondero of Royal Oak is a member. Harry Goldsmith, one of our own members and advisers, is an old friend of Congressman Donderso and has correspondence on file from him promising his support in this undertaking.

This project to date has entailed individual effort by our merchants and businessmen. I have made two trips to Detroit at my own expense to interest the Detroit Yacht Club officials in the project. Our work for the moment on the project is completed and its fate rests with the Rivers and Harbors Committee.

Project No. 2—We have in mind the building of a club house to be used by the Youth of our Community to be erected somewhere in Tawas City where both boys and girls can meet under approved supervision and carry out the ideals of their organization. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts or any character building organization from any church or community group.

At the moment, as I see it, our boys and girls are to a large extent left out when it comes to a spot in the community where they can relax and be at home away from home. We would dedicate this building to the youth of Iosco county whose lives have been lost in service of our country. In that it is to be a permanent memorial to them, we dare not make it a cheap memorial.

$5,300.00 IN IOSCO QUOTA

Lyle T. Mooney Chairman Of Drive in Iosco County

Lyle T. Mooney, chairman of the Iosco County Red Cross War Fund drive, announced today the the county's quota in the campaign would be $5,300.00. Of this amount, $1,100.00 will remain in the county and will be used in the work of the Iosco County Chapter of the organization. The remainder will go to National headquarters. The drive starts Thursday, March 1, and ends March 15.

Arrangements for the coming drive are well underway, stated Mr. Mooney with the same workers in charge as last year. W. D. (Mike) Nunn is special gift chairman and Howard Dietzel, publicity chairman. "Keep Your Red Cross at His Side" is slogan of the 1945 campaign which starts next Thursday. Iosco county has always met its quota in Red Cross War Fund drives and undoubtedly this year's drive will be no exception. With the many Iosco boys and girls in the service, both in garrisons and camps in the States, and in our fighting forces in foreign lands, we are familiar with the fine work performed by this organization, so nearly every resident of the county is a member of the local chapter.

The National quota of 200 million dollars will be budgeted for work to be performed during the next 12 months, which includes recreational projects, service to Army and Navy hospitals, services to American soldiers in enemy prison camps, overseas canteens and servicemen's clubs, aid to the servicemen and women and their families in emergency, maintaining communication between the soldiers and his family, and disaster relief in the United States.

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

By Col. Robert L. Scott W.N.U. RELEASE

The story thus far: After graduating from West Point as a second lieutenant, Robert Scott wins his wings at Kelly Field, Texas, and takes up pursuit flying.

CHAPTER XVII

So Johnny glided to the field with his missing engine, and then we heard him say that he couldn't make the field and was going to sit down in the river.

We came in and landed now, for the ground crew had gotten the smudge-pot boundary lights set out to mark the runway as well as the bomb craters.

I sent Captain Wang, our salvage man, out to see if he could get any news of Major Alison. We made our reports out and kept waiting on the alert.

A procession had entered the field. The Chinese sentry had passed the crowd of people and was himself holding his thumb in the air calling "Ding-hao-ding-hao."

Johnny Alison had a couple of burns on his hands and legs where some bits of the Japs' explosive bullets had hit him.

During my stay in China I have watched the Chinese being bombed, and have seen them go out and pick their dead from among the ruins of their cities.

With the small fighter and bomber force that we now had in China, the people had taken a new lease on life.

Our small force had put new life into them. They had plaques embroidered in commemoration of the battles that we fought.

But towards the second day's close, I began to wonder, and that evening as darkness settled over the river I went out to watch their tireless labor.

close, I began to wonder, and that evening as darkness settled over the river I went out to watch their tireless labor. Suddenly there was a movement among the rivermen to tighten the four cables that tied the fighter to the barge.

They had floated the 9100 pounds of P-40, and now they towed it to shore. Our salvage crew put the wheels down in the water, and with the aid of about a hundred coolies the ship was pulled up the river bank.

When I first went to China I think I imagined in my short stay that I would gradually change the simple Chinese.

"My armament sergeant and the crew chief of the fighter."

the houseboys better and more efficient ways to do things. But they never changed, and finally I realized that they were changing me.

During my stay in China I have watched the Chinese being bombed, and have seen them go out and pick their dead from among the ruins of their cities.

that was a credit to the greatest country in the world? Towards the middle of August, as our pilots died in the old ships that we had, we had begun to doubt it.

For no, we didn't win all the time. Sometimes we lost, even when we traded one for ten. We lost because the Jap could replace his lost planes; we could not.

One day in August, Johnny Alison was leading six P-40's to intercept a larger number of Japanese coming in against Hengyang from both Hankow and Canton.

The little force of fighters knocked down another Zero. But one of the P-40's was in trouble. Johnny said later that he had seen the enemy ships following the Forty.

As we drove out along the highway that afternoon—Baumler and Alison, Jack Belden of Life magazine and I—were hoping by some fluke that Minor had bailed out.

Wrapping Minor in his parachute, we took him back in a rickety Chinese bus that we commandeered.

We took Minor's body to the Catholic mission across the river, and bought one of the old, ancient-looking Chinese coffins, made out of wood about six inches thick.

The headquarters in Yunnan is the burial ground for all of our pilots killed fighting against the Japanese.

There on the plateau in Yunnan is the only memorial ground the 23rd Fighter Group will ever have.

Even with the small fighter and bomber force that we now had in China, the people had taken a new lease on life.

Our small force had put new life into them. They had plaques embroidered in commemoration of the battles that we fought.

But towards the second day's close, I began to wonder, and that evening as darkness settled over the river I went out to watch their tireless labor.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

JESUS, THE SON OF GOD

GOLDEN TEXT—Matthew 16:13-17: 17:19. LESSON TEXT—Whoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 10:32.

"What think ye of Christ?" There is a question that every human being must answer.

It is the touchstone that tries men, and churches, organizations and movements. The answer to it is of deep importance, for it determines character, condition, and destiny for time and eternity.

I. Jesus Confessed (16:13-17). With His crucifixion now only six months away, our Lord in preparation for it is about to make a more definite claim to Messiahship.

First, it is a general question, "Whom do men say that I am?"

The question becomes personal as He asks, "Whom do ye say that I am?" That question no one can escape. We cannot refuse to answer.

Peter's answer is really the sum and substance of Christian doctrine. He recognized Him as the Messiah, the fulfillment of all Hebrew prophecy, and as the Son of the living God.

II. Jesus Transfigured (17:1-13). As His amazed disciples looked on, the eternal, divine glory of the Son of God could no longer be hidden by the human body.

They saw their beloved Master now for what He really was, the Son of God. The testimony of Peter was no longer mere words, although ever so blessed.

III. Jesus Triumphant (17:4-6). The crowning point of the transfiguration came when the voice spoke out of the bright cloud and gave not only the Father's unqualified approval of Christ, but also His command that men should listen to Him.

Note how this word of the Father completed the transfiguration. In itself it might have been likened to that which happened to Moses (Ex. 34:29, 30).

But the words from heaven provide the conclusive and final witness. They so impressed Peter that he talked of them as a cherished memory and a transforming power in his life.

How do they impress you? Are you ready to acknowledge Jesus as the Christ, the Son of God, and take Him as your Saviour?

IV. Jesus Only (17:7-9). Having seen Him in His glory, they now saw Him alone. True, the others had gone, but there is not also the thought that He, the blessed God, now filled the vision of their souls?

Surely we find it right at hand to make that application to our own lives. When we really see Him as He is, then He fills our vision, and when He does that, we have reached real satisfaction of life.

"Jesus only" is more than a motto or a theme for a song. It is the epitome of a life worth while. It makes one want to ask everyone, "Do you know Him?" Well, do you? If not, will you take Him as your Saviour right now? Christian, will you let Him fill your life?

Expensive Ore

Between 1939 and 1944, the price of wolfram, or tungsten ore, increased from $300 to $20,000 a ton in Spain and Portugal, through the bids of Allied agents who were instructed to pay any price for this indispensable war material to keep it out of the hands of Germany.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Rubber does not enter into the making of tents, yet the demand for military tents has reduced the manufacture of passenger car tires. Tire cord and yarn for tent duck are made with the same machinery.

Assuming that the trees are in reasonably good condition when the Far East rubber plantations are re-occupied, experts anticipate that within two years some 1,600,000 tons of natural rubber will be made available, enough to fill one year's estimated needs. That is why B. F. Goodrich officials believe civilians will still have to depend upon synthetic rubber tonnage in addition to that required for natural security.

When can I get my telephone?

WE WISH we could tell you. Nearly 100,000 other people want to know the same thing. Even though we're filling some orders every day as present users give up service, the waiting list keeps on growing.
As soon as wartime shortages ease up, we plan to start a five-year expansion program costing $120,000,000. But that won't mean that everyone who wants a telephone will be able to get it as soon as that program gets under way.
After the necessary materials, manpower and manufacturing facilities are available, buildings must be erected or enlarged, and cables and central office apparatus must be manufactured. Then begins the slow, painstaking task of installation with its millions of hand-soldered connections, and the job of tying the new equipment into the present system without interrupting service. All that takes a long time.
So we can't say just when we can install your telephone. But we do promise that your order will be filled in its proper turn, and just as soon as possible.

U. S. TREATMENT OF GERMAN PRISONERS

Parents of boys who are prisoners of Germany get increasingly burned up at reports showing how badly they are fed by the enemy, while German prisoners in the U. S. are eating better than American civilians.

German prisoners of war, many of them arrogant, insolent, and considered beyond political rehabilitation, get rationed foods denied civilians, and in some cases receive scarce foods requiring four times the food stamps now allowed American civilians.

The provost marshal, of course, is living up to the strict letter of the Geneva convention regarding prisoners, which provides that they be fed the same rations as U. S. soldiers.

Thus at one Florida camp, a one-week menu recently showed that the Nazi prisoners' ration for a single week would have required 45 meat points and 63 processed food points per man. Here is a sample of some of the meals German prisoners of war received at MacDill field, Florida.

Dinner: Turkey a la king, parsley potatoes, cauliflower, celery and pickles, bread, butter, chocolate cake, coffee.

At breakfast the next day they received grapefruit, dry cereal, fresh milk, boiled eggs, toast, butter, jam and coffee.

For luncheon they had veal steak, lyonnaise potatoes, stewed corn, fruit salad, bread, butter, peaches and coffee.

For supper the PW's had veal loaf, gravy, escalloped potatoes, green peas, cabbage and pineapple salad, bread, butter, cinnamon rolls and coffee.

The prisoners are served butter three times a day, seven days a week. During other days of the same week they had fried pork chops, bacon and eggs, beef stew, spareribs, roast veal, veal a la king, roast beef with gravy, baked ham and baked beans with salt pork. They were also given Boston cream pie for dinner, butterscotch pudding, pineapple fritters, marble cake, fruit cobbler, mince pie, peach shortcake, and other fancy dishes.

Meanwhile, American boys held by the Germans complain that were it not for Red Cross packages provided them by relatives they would be hungry constantly.

ARMY DISCHARGES

With all the pressure the army has been bringing for a work-or-fight law, no one in congress has taken time for a real investigation of the army's own wasteful disposition of manpower. Among other things, there has been no probe of army policy regarding medical discharges.

Actually, army medics all over the country are discharging men for minor ailments which, although rendering them unfit for front-line action, don't effect their ability to do clerical, construction, or other types of work.

Last summer General Marshall also ordered discharges for men found to be developing nervous disorders as a result of their army service. But last October, so many men were successfully faking these difficulties that a six-week freeze was called, and a much stiffer discharge examination required.

But "goldbricks" and "gripes" are still the men who most frequently win their discharge papers. If a man dislikes the army, is uncooperative and is determined to get a medical discharge, the attitude of his officers is usually "good riddance." But a good man on other than combat duty, who has a legitimate illness which merits discharge, finds it extremely difficult to get his release because "he's a good man and we need men like him."

❑ The office of War Information so far has banned Lester Cowan's new movie hit "Tomorrow the World" from distribution in European liberated countries. The story shows a Nazi youngster transferred to the U. S. A. and being beaten up when he still sticks to Hitler's idea. OWI officials say they may release the ban for France and Belgium, but will not let the film get to Germany.

❑ An inside row is being waged over the reappointment of Al Woll, son of AFL labor leader Matthew Woll, as U. S. district attorney in Chicago. Matt Woll is 100 per cent against Roosevelt and White House advisers don't see why his son should be rewarded by FDR. However, Sen. Scott Lucas, friend of Jake Arvey, is pulling wires for Woll's reappointment.

❑ Behind the United Automobile Workers' nationwide referendum to continue the "no-strike" pledge, was the feeling on the part of some workers that this pledge originally was forced on them by the union bosses. Union leaders therefore wanted to give them all a chance to vote. . . . The Walter Reuther faction of the auto workers previously favored a "no-strike" pledge until the war with Germany was over, but Reuther is now supporting the all-out "no-strike" pledge for the all-out effort against the Japs.

Grantland Rice

AFTER all wars, morals collapse and character takes a nose dive. For wars are destructive in more ways than in the matter of human life, human flesh and bone, and man-built cities.

It was after the first world war that the Black Sox scandal developed. This was in 1919. But the Black Sox were not the only crooked offenders. There were many others — on other teams.

Everyone has heard recently of the 12,000 soldiers who were AWOL in France where every man was needed for his job. Many of these sold cigarettes and other front-line needs to the French black market. Only a few have been convicted and sentenced to death or long terms of penitentiary labor. But here is proof of thousands willing to betray their own fighting mates for some form of profit.

This is something far beyond throwing a baseball or a basketball game. Or a football game. It is the ultimate in infamy. So if this can happen to our army along the fighting front, with over 12,000 betrayals, some far lower than any Benedict Arnold, you can see what can happen to sport.

The Brooklyn college basketball matter was only a small part of the picture. We all know that the average kid—the average college student—is honest. We also know that we have had crooked governors, crooked senators and crooked congressmen. But politics is accepted as at least a partly crooked game. Sport isn't.

Must Be on Guard

Once they blast the foundations of complete honesty from under sport, the entire structure starts to cave in. We have had too much dishonesty, entirely too much crookedness, entirely too much cowardice in politics. Everyone knows that. But sport can't be "almost clean." It can never reach the lower level of politics, and still get by. It is for this reason that sport must be on guard through the remainder of the present war—and through the postwar period on beyond.

It isn't enough to say that most athletes are honest. This applies to baseball, football, basketball and boxing. In another way it applies to racing.

We must go beyond this rating. In 1919 there were over 400 honest ballplayers — yet there were eight players who came near wrecking the game. Judge Landis and Babe Ruth saved it.

The professional gambler, as a rule, is smart, smooth and intelligent, although there are exceptions. He knows human nature and its weaknesses. And he has cash to offer. Above all else, the pro gambler wants the winning edge, the winning percentage, for his money. Too many of these would betray the souls of their mothers for a winning bet.

Once again — I honestly believe this applies to the minority. But the minority, with the playing minority in sport, can wreck any game whose main bulwark must be honest effort.

Unless there is the strictest sort of control shown by sporting leaders — including coaches, college presidents and iron-hearted commissioners, sport can wallow into more crookedness than it has ever known.

To me, it isn't enough to say that most of these athletes are honest. Most people are honest. But there is still many a crook around who can at least come close to wrecking the whole works. Let's not be too gullible again. Who would have believed in 1919 that almost an entire ball club could be bought at a cheap price to throw a world series—including two potential hall-of-fame stars? Who could have believed that 12,000 soldiers in France would betray their fighting mates at the front? Or who could have believed that a Brooklyn's prides—would have sold out to cheap gamblers? The gamblers hardly count. They were barely ducking Sing Sing anyway. But the five kids are wrecked beyond all help. Their lives are over in any decent community.

Sport today needs keen, alert, honest and fearless leaders—more than it ever needed them before. For there is a tidal wave of dishonesty on its way, no matter what the optimists may tell you.

Boxing Decisions

Just why is it that referees, judges, boxing writers and the crowd so often disagree violently on the winner and the winning and losing rounds? I know practically every boxing writer and official around New York. In a ten-round contest I've seen two able boxing writers disagree entirely on six or seven of the ten rounds, and both disagree just as violently with the three officials, who in turn were disagreeing with one another.

Water Buffaloes on Leyte Isle

Veteran signalmen of the Seventh division on Leyte give high praise to water buffaloes as pack animals, but have a serious grievance regarding other habits of these sturdy beasts. Provide Land With Nitrogen Regularly

Corn Yield Will Be Materially Increased

WHILE farmers can establish a "soil nitrogen bank account," it is necessary that they manage the land on the basis of small nitrogen deposits made regularly for withdrawals in the immediate future, rather than on large deposits designed to build huge reserves for use over long periods of time, according to F. C. Bauer, professor of soil fertility of the University of Illinois.

Professor Bauer declared that experiments indicated that nitrogen—one of the most essential plant food elements—cannot be amassed in large reserves in the soil for use during succeeding years of crop production.

Nitrogen supplies necessary to secure attainable yields may be restored to the soil previous to growing crops which have large nitrogen requirements, he added. Crop rotations must be planned so as to provide legumes for transferring atmospheric nitrogen to the soil either directly or through livestock feeding and the use of manure. Such rotations do much to maintain nitrogen supplies of the soil, if desirable legumes are seeded on the same field once every four or five years, he pointed out.

Professor Bauer cited results at the Aleo Soil experiment field in Mercer county. Here, during the last 34 years, untreated land has averaged 58 bushels of corn in a four-year rotation, consisting chiefly of corn the first two years followed by oats and wheat in the absence of legume crops. The quality and durability of the soil is evident in the yield of 61 bushels obtained during the past four years. But when sweet clover was seeded in the wheat and plowed under as green manure, the long-time average yield of corn increased from 58 to 78 bushels and from 61 to 102 bushels an acre during the past four years. Bauer attributes the increases in yield to the favorable influence of sweet clover on the nitrogen supplying power of the soil.

Postwar Highway Act To Benefit Farmers

The federal aid highway act, recently approved by the President, provides half a billion dollars a year for the first three postwar years, an equal amount to be matched by the states.

The act provides for principal traffic arteries into and around the chief metropolitan areas, cities and industrial area, according to Charles

M. Upham, director of the American Road Builders association. It further provides for principal secondary and feeder roads, including farm-to-market roads, rural free delivery and school bus lines, either inside or outside municipalities of less than 5,000 population.

Plans will not await the end of the war. Routes will be determined, right-of-way purchased and a comprehensive plan drawn up in the near future.

New Lima Developed

Forkhook 242, a new bush lima, has been developed by researchers of the U. S. department of agriculture, and it is expected to aid in production of limas during 1945.

Last year, for all locations, the average for Forkhook 242 was 8,037 pounds per acre, a 37 per cent increase over the regular Forkhook yield of 5,852 pounds and 26 per cent more than concentrated Forkhook's 6,395 pounds. It has been selected for six years.

Contest Undertakes to Find Future Leaders of Science

Scholarships Offered To Nation's Top-Ranking High School Seniors

The first week in March, Washington will spread out the welcome mat for 11 girls and 29 boys—all high school seniors. They'll come from North, South, East and West; from schools with as many as 800 students in the graduating class and as few as 12. The youngest is 16, the oldest 18. Some are 4-H'ers, some Scouts or Hi Y'ers, but their common interest is science.

All 40 youngsters have shown a marked aptitude for science in stiff competition with thousands of other teen-agers, and have been named as finalists in the fourth annual nationwide Science Talent Search conducted by Science Clubs of America. The Washington trip, with all expenses paid, is awarded the finalists to give them an opportunity to compete for $11,000 in scholarships provided by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co.

The purpose of the search is to discover these youngsters of exceptional aptitude, help them obtain an education and begin careers in science. Thus a pool of trained scientists will be formed on which America can draw for leadership in the future.

To one boy and one girl will be awarded a Science Grand Scholarship worth $2,400. Eight runners-up will receive $400 scholarships, and an additional $3,000 will be awarded at the discretion of the judges. Interviews with the judges, and exams, during their five-day stay in Washington will determine the scholarship awards.

If history repeats itself, these 40 finalists—and also another 260 youngsters who received "honorable mention" in the search—may be pleasantly surprised to find themselves considered worthy of financial assistance from still another source. Scholarships worth almost $82,500 were granted by American colleges and universities to the 300 top-ranking entrants in the search concluded two years ago. This was exclusive of the $11,000 awarded as a direct result of the search. One girl wrote that had she been able to accept all the scholarships offered her, she would have received a total of $38,000.

It isn't "all exams and no play" for these science-talented boys and girls while they're in the capital. They'll see the sights, participate in a radio broadcast, and put on a hobby show of their own.

Not all their hobbies are scientific. Among the boys, one finds model railroad and model airplane enthusiasts, a glass-blower, several stamp collectors and amateur photographers. One of the girls redesigns patterns for her family's and her own clothing. Many are musical, playing more than one instrument. They go in for dramatics, cryptograms, chess.

But if they follow in the footsteps of the 120 finalists in the past three searches, science will continue to be their first love. Except for those in the armed forces—whose scholarships are being held in trust—all are in college preparing themselves for a career in science.

Some have already utilized their talents in summer jobs. Evelyn Pease, for instance, a 1942 winner now in her junior year at the University of Michigan, worked in a pharmaceutical laboratory in her home town. She made a critical study of the five best-known drugs of the sulfa series and helped synthesize and investigate the properties of four new ones.

Then there's Mary Ann Williams who spent the summer working for a nylon laboratory where she made chemical analyses of nylon, the material of which both parachutes and the tow ropes that pull gliders through the air are made.

Science even follows finalists on active military duty. Pvt. Robert Lynch, now in Europe, is doing secret work dealing with the robot bomb. Pvt. Harlan J. Smith is stationed at Stuttgart Army Air Field in Arkansas as a weather observer.

728,400 War Veterans Placed Through USES

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States employment service found jobs for more than twice as many veterans in 1944 as in 1943. In the 11 month period from January to November last year, the war manpower commission reported, job placements totaled 728,400 compared with 317,600 in the same period of 1943. Veterans of the present war accounted for about 75 per cent of the total.

No. 1 Continued from First Page.

No. 2 and No. 3 should be combined. Project No. 3 involves the beautification of the water front in the business district.

We have a beautiful water front. Nature was kind. We have done very little to assist nature. It is our opinion that swings, tables, benches in the park would provide local folks and out of town folks alike a place to relax day or evening, making a community center of this area.

Now—these things cost money. We need at least $4,000.00, and we should have $8,000.00 to do what is entailed in this program.

Here is how $4,000.00 can be raised—If 175 additional citizens will take out $4.00 memberships and ten businesses take $10.00 memberships our treasury will have about $1,500.00 in its coffers, including our present balance.

And $480.00 can be realized on a beautiful painting which will be disposed of at the March meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. The painting is now on display at the Howard Hatton barber shop, and will be exhibited at the Bigelow Barber shop after March 5.

A word about this painting. Last summer when nature was at its best, Mr. Westrich took a picture in color of the Five Channels, beauty spot of our area. The photography matched in excellence the scene. Shortly ago we "discovered" an artist of talent in the person of E. A. Cuny of Tawas township. Mr. Cuny has painted the scene, using the colored film photographed by Mr. Westrich as his blue print, presented it to the Chamber of Commerce for less than 10 per cent of what he received for some of his paintings.

Let us say that we have $2,000.00 after we sell the painting idea to the community. (That done I believe there are 20 citizens in Tawas who will each contribute $100.00 to bring the total to $4,000.00 I herewith offer to be one of the twenty to help contribute the added $2,000.00.

Then—if this community does that much, I believe I know how we can secure $4,000.00 outside the community in contributions. But, first, we must do our full share, then we can ask for help from others. We must bear in mind that nothing that is worthwhile is achieved without effort.

Communities grow and prosper because those within its borders are unselfish, loyal, alert to opportunities. Likewise, forgotten cities decay where imagination fails, where vision fades and where achievement in heart of men is lacking. Let us not join the host of forgotten places, but rather take our place in the forefront of communities which make America great.

Joe Schnitzler of Mt. Pleasant recently visited our community and left a stirring note of challenge with us—both in what he said, but even more in what he is—a man bereft of both legs and one arm, but able to carry on a successful law practice, and have time left to serve his community, his state and nation. If Tawas City, East Tawas and all the other towns and hamlets in Isosco county are to find their rightful place in the march of progress, they must drop the idea of "What do I get out of this or that," and adopt the slogan "What can I give." We must all be Joe Schnitzlers in so far as we can.

We are prone to be individual players and forget that a beautiful symphony is only produced by cooperative effort. Let us get all together back of the program as outlined and see what united action can accomplish.

My own children are now grown to the age where a club house in Tawas City will not be something they ever use, but I am interested enough in your boy or girl that want them to have a spot where they can congregate and grow in desirable character patterns. The least you can do is offer 100 per cent co-operation in a plan designed for their benefit and in memory of your fallen sons or the sons of Isosco county.

If you want to see the result of a program designed to help youth, visit the Boys Club at Alpena and see what the vision of a group of men has done for the youth of that community.

Let's get together and lift.

Sincerely,
Charles Hamilton,
President of Chamber of Commerce.

High School

We desire to call attention to the District Basketball Tournament which is to be held in the high school auditorium, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of next week. There will be two games each of the three evenings, and we are quite certain that the Tawas City boys will play the first night. The price of admission is forty cents to all. There will be no reserve seats, and the doors of the auditorium will be open at seven o'clock. The first game each night will be at eight o'clock, E. W. T.

The ninth grade algebra class is now completing that important part of algebra known as factoring. The members engaged in the mysteries of solving quadratic equations by factoring Wednesday. A written lesson covering this phase of the subject will be due the first of the ensuing week.

The members of the Twelfth Grade recently made final arrangements for their caps and gowns to be used at Commencement time. The garments are to arrive in time for the Baccalaureate and are to be used by the Class members until Commencement. The contract has been placed with the "College Cap and Gown Company of Champaign, Illinois."
