FEDERAL MEN EXPLAIN G. I. BILLOFRIGHTS

Emphasis Placed on Loan Guarantee at Meeting

In order to be prepared to help the returning veteran who hopes to establish himself in an agricultural profession, a meeting was held at County Agricultural Agents office at Tawas City last week Thursday at which some twenty interested citizens were in attendance. They represented the schools, veterans' organizations and farming interests of the county. There were members of the committees who will have charge of the work and representatives of the selective service board also at the meeting.

F. O. Potter, county farm security secretary, and Foster Woodman, district F. S. A. supervisor from Gaylord, explained the GI Bill in detail. However they gave special emphasis to the Loan Guarantee.

World War II veterans will be given assistance in establishing themselves in civilian life after returning from their military employments. Federal assistance of numerous angles will be provided as outlined in the frequently referred to bill known as "The G. I. Bill of Rights."

The bill is divided into six different divisions which are referred to as "Titles." Title 111 of the bill has to do with a "loan guarantee" that will provide financial backing that should assist returning veterans in the financing of a business or family enterprise.

The G. I. bill provides that any veteran, male or female, is eligible to secure the benefits therefrom, providing: 1st—That he has served in active armed services on or after September 16, 1940, and before the termination of World War II. 2nd—That he has received a discharge other than dishonorable (a) after serving 90 days or more or (b) because of injury or disability incurred in the service. 3rd—He must apply for benefits within two years after separation or within two years after the end of the war, whichever is later.

The loan feature is not a direct loan, but is a guarantee upon a loan that must be secured from any public or private financing institution. The guarantee may be used to assist in the purchase of a residence, business or farm. It also applies to loans that provide for the purchase of buildings, livestock and machinery, or the repairing or improvement of the same, when such is used in farming operations conducted by the veteran.

The maximum amount of guarantee to a veteran is 50 per cent of the amount of loan, but not to exceed $2,000.00. The maximum period of amortization is 20 years for real estate and the useful life of security for chattels. The maximum interest rate is four per cent.

The discussion emphasized the importance of securing complete information regarding the loan guarantee program and suggested the following procedure:

- 1.—Contact County Agricultural Advisory Committee at the County Agricultural Agent office.
- 2.—Locate property and the prospective lender.
- 3.—Request a Certification of Eligibility.

Those interested in a loan should contact the County Counselor for the Office of Veterans Affairs, R. A. Rollin, or County Agricultural Agent Wilton L. Finley.

Local Granges Condemn Proposed School Plan

The members of Whittimore Grange were visitors of Greenwood Grange at its meeting March 14 and exemplified the work of the first degree. The members of the two Granges unanimously endorsed the following resolutions from the Cass County Pomona Grange:

Whereas; The Michigan State School Study Commission has recommended a reorganization that would eliminate all small school districts and centralize the control of the educational program with the state and federal government.

Plans and maps for the furtherance of this program are being prepared in the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction at Lansing. These plans fail to take into consideration the convenience and comfort of the school children, who would be forced to travel long distances to and from school, and be gone from early in the morning until a late hour of the afternoon.

Whereas; The present laws of Michigan provide ways for the people of communities or areas that so desire to establish consolidated schools, and

Whereas; The present trend is to centralize all governmental agencies and functions far removed from the people who pay the bill, and

Whereas; We believe these bureaucratic and autocratic agencies to be a death blow to our sacred American institutions of self government and home rule.

Therefore be it Resolved; That this Grange will support any plan for the betterment of our educational system so long as it is economically sound and the rights of the local people to govern their own affairs are protected. But we do emphatically oppose and condemn any reorganization plan that would force consolidation of schools and the elimination of the small district school, or create an expensive program with power control taken away from the local people.

Copies of these resolutions with indorsement of Greenwood and Whittimore Granges have been sent to Senator Carpenter and Representative Deadman.

Joy Bringers Attract Increasing Audiences

In the words of Little Jerry McKenzie, as he stuffed his hands deep down in his pockets, "They sure bring the joy, don't they?" The Joy Bringers are living up to their name. Their radiant faces, vibrant personalities and deeply spiritual messages are attracting increasing audiences as the meetings progress.

Miss Irma Hermann and Mrs. Pansy Huffman come to us very highly recommended although they need no introduction to East Tawas since they were here just two years ago and left a very warm welcome behind them.

The special services will continue every evening of this week and next, with the exception of Saturday. The series of messages this week are centered around the theme, "The Portraits of Jesus." On Friday evening a Community Youth Rally will be held to which all the young people of the community are invited. GOD IS MY CO-PILOT
Col. Robert L. Scott WNU RELEASE

The story thus far: After graduating from West Point, Robert Scott wins his wings at Kelly Field and takes up combat flying.

CHAPTER XXII
With my first burst the next ship rolled over and dove, with one engine shot-up.

We got all our bombers back, of course, and the pictures showed very good results for the bombing of Gia Lam field.

Just as the General had been expecting, heavy movement began in late September along the Burma Road, from Lashio North towards Lungling.

One day Daniels dove on a truck column to find that the Japs had placed light tanks along with the truck convoy.

Now begins Bruce's trip back from the interior of China to our base at Kunming.

from the interior of China to our base at Kunming. It's almost a saga, for Holloway was feted, winned and dined in the primitive fashion

Our truck-strafing caused us to lose several planes and two pilots, but we cost the Japs lots of material.

Gen. Caleb Haynes, who went to China to head General Chennault's bombers.

may have moved a few at night, but not many after Morgan and Bayse got through bombing the bridges on the Burma Road.

Even with the hardships that a rugged country like China imposed, I was living a wonderful life there in Kunming.

There was "Wong Chauffeur" who drove the General's car. Wong had a little boy—of course called "Little Wong"—who was suspicious of foreign devils and who used to cover his face with his hands when I spoke to him.

General Chennault's other house-boys were "Wang Cook," who had been on the US Gunboat Panay, and "Gunboat," who had served in the American Navy for three years.

and asked what was going on—what all these staring people meant? Major Shu replied that here in Kweyang the people had never seen a foreign devil, and the Governor had given them permission to come in and look at one.

General Chennault's other house-boys were "Wang Cook," who had been on the US Gunboat Panay, and "Gunboat," who had served in the American Navy for three years.

Coming home some nights from the exercise of our hunts together, I would think of my wife and little girl far away in Georgia, and get very homesick.

Col. Meriam C. Cooper was the Chief of Staff to the General. His business was war, too.

Now Cooper was working tirelessly to plan our greatest raid against the Japanese. I remember vividly how he toiled for six days and six nights at the General's house.

General Haynes had come to China to lead General Chennault's bombers when he left the leadership of the Ferry Command.

Radio Tokyo had recently been "panning" Haynes, referring to him as "the old broken-down transport pilot."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

BY HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for March 25
Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE LAST WEEK
LESSON TEXT—Matthew 21:6-16. GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest.—Matthew 21:9.

The official presentation of Himself to the Jewish people as their King, their rejection of Him and, what was even more solemnly meaningful, His rejection of the Hebrew nation because of their unbelief—such are the stirring events which face us as we go with our Lord into the last week of His earthly ministry.

The first event in that sequence is the one we study in our lesson for today, namely, the coming of the King to Jerusalem.

I. Preparation and Presentation (vv. 6, 7). The King comes, but even in His hour of royal triumph He gives to His followers the unexplainable but inestimable joy of meeting His need.

2. "And He Sat Thereon" (v. 7). Though He did not come with the pomp and trappings of an earthly potentate, the King of Glory came to His people to offer them for the last time the opportunity to receive Him.

II. Acceptance and Rejection (vv. 8-11, 13, 16). 1. "The Multitude . . . Cried . . . Hosanna" (vv. 8-11). The fact that before the week was over some of the same voices cried, "Crucify him!" should not obscure the fact that there were childlike believers (v. 16) who really had faith in Christ.

III. Judgment and Compassion (vv. 12-14). What a remarkable picture! In the midst of flaming judgment and destruction we find His loving compassion upon the blind and the lame.

You will not be ready to clean out the tavern or that other low place where the gang hangs out in your town until you have cleaned out the church if sin is being harbored there.

Each one received that which He sought by his own attitude and action. How will you, my dear reader, meet Jesus—as your Judge or as your Saviour? You must make the choice. Choose Christ today.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Overloading has been responsible for much lost tire mileage on commercial and farm motor trucks. Loading of a truck or trailer so the weight is evenly distributed to all load-carrying wheels will prove an important rubber conservation measure. It pays to check loads.

If the average rubber consumption in China, Russia and India were brought up to American rubber consumption standards, they would require 4,500,000 tons of rubber a year, nearly twice as much as the anticipated world supply of natural and synthetic rubber after the war, B. F. Goodrich officials declare.

The City of Tawas City Ordains:

Section 1. That whenever the word "Grantee" appears in this ordinance, it is hereby intended to designate, and shall be held to refer to the Consumers Power Company, its successors and assigns.

Section 2. The right, power and authority is hereby granted to said Grantee, to construct, maintain and use electric lines consisting of poles, masts, towers, cross-arms, guys, braces, feeders, transmission and distribution wires, transformers and other electrical appliances on, along and across the streets, alleys and other public places in the City of Tawas City, Iosco County, Michigan, and do a local electric business therein, for a period of thirty years.

Section 3. No street, alley or public place used by said Grantee, shall be obstructed longer than necessary during the work of construction and maintenance, and shall be restored to the same good order and condition as when such work commenced.

Section 4. All towers, mast poles and other supports shall be set, and all wires shall be suspended in a careful and proper manner so as not to injure persons or property. The Grantee shall have the right to trim trees, if necessary in the conducting of such business, subject, however, to the supervision of the Street Department of the City. The Grantee shall at all times keep and save the City free and harmless from all loss, costs and damage to which it may be put by reason of the construction and maintenance of the poles, masts, towers, wires and other structures and appliances, the erection and maintenance of which are hereby authorized.

Section 5. Said Grantee shall be entitled to charge said City and its inhabitants for electric light, heat and power, the rates presently filed with the Michigan Public Service Commission, and now effective within said City. Said rates and schedules shall be subject to review at any time by the Michigan Public Service Commission or its successors upon proper application by either said Grantee or the City being made thereto, and the regularly filed rates as approved by said Commission or its successor, as applicable to said City of Tawas City, shall at all times be the legal rates.

All bills for electric energy shall be payable monthly. The Grantee may collect the minimum charges as specified in said schedule. It shall also furnish and maintain commercially accurate meters to measure the energy furnished. Said Grantee shall at all reasonable times have access to the premises of its customers, for the purpose of reading, inspecting, removing and replacing such meters.

Section 6. In consideration of the rights, power and authority here granted, all of which shall vest in the Grantee for a period of thirty (30) years as aforesaid, said Grantee shall faithfully perform all things required by the terms hereof, and such performance by the Grantee shall be in lieu of all license fees, rentals or charges of every name and nature, except property taxes, which the City might otherwise levy and impose.

Section 7. This franchise shall not be deemed exclusive. It shall not affect, qualify or limit any rights accruing under any legislative grant heretofore vesting in the Grantee.

Section 8. The enactment of this ordinance shall be submitted for ratification to the vote of the electors of said City, and the same shall be and become valid and binding upon the approval and ratification of this ordinance by the affirmative vote of at least three-fifths of the electors of said City voting thereon at a regular or special municipal election to be held in the manner provided by law. This ordinance shall not be submitted to the electors unless the Grantee shall, within thirty (30) days after the adoption hereof, file with the City Clerk its written acceptance, subject to the approval of the electors. Upon the acceptance hereof, and approval by the electors as aforesaid, this ordinance shall constitute a contract between said City and said Grantee, for the full term of thirty (30) years from and after the date of approval by said electors.

KATE SMITH asked to write this message on Saving Used Fats!

"The help of every woman is needed in saving used fats for hundreds of battlefield and home-front essentials. But some of us don't know all the ways we can do it. Here are a few points I've found helpful."—Kate Smith

MANY WOMEN SAY: "But I never have fats left over."
Certainly it's good economy to re-use your fats...but there's always some left over even after that...and that little is more important than you can imagine. Only one tablespoonful of used fat will help make 5 machine-gun bullets. So there just can't ever be too little to save! Come on, everybody, scrape your broiling pan, your roaster, skillet. Save meat trimmings and scraps of fat left on plates.

OTHERS TELL ME: "But my fats are often too dark to turn in."
It doesn't make a mite of difference how dark or blackened...or what smelly things like onion or fish you've cooked in your fat. Every drop of it will help make parachutes, synthetic rubber, soaps for the fighting and war fronts. Don't feel ashamed to hand it in to your butcher. If you save every bit of fat you possibly can, you're doing a job to be proud of!

THEN YOU HEAR: "But what sort of container will I use?"
Any kind of tin can will do. The next time you open a can of fruit or juice or soup or vegetables, save it. But please don't use glass...it almost always breaks and makes the fat difficult to salvage. When the can is full, take it to your butcher. For every pound, you'll get 2 red points. If you have any difficulty disposing of your fats, call your Home Demonstration or County Agent.

MEAT FOR FISHERMEN

(Fishing fleet crews, deprived of red meat by coupon limitations, are appealing to OPA for relief.—News item.)

A fisherman needs his daily meat. He slaves amid wintry scenes; He can't live on hash where nor-easters crash, And doesn't care much for beans. He battles the cold and wintry gales, And hark to the skipper's wish; His appetite is never quite light, And, boy, he gets sick of fish!

Oh, tough is the life on a fishing smack, And hungry the crews do grow; When hauling a net all icy and wet For dainties he'll never go; A fisherman works on a rugged job, His appetite knows no whims; He likes a steak thick, and gets very sick Of any known food that swims.

Oh, hard is the life on the ocean cold, A little green salad? Bunk! No cheeses on rye will a fisherman's eye fill, And eggplant a la king is punk; So, up with more points for the fishing lads, And off with the iron lid! Some meat from a cow makes seafaring cheap— And you keep the codfish, kid!

Back Home Stuff.

It appears that tripe is coming back. We just read of its reappearance. A recipe called for its being put in a pot and simmered for two hours, then cut into cubes.

Phooey! Any such preparation would be a violation of the code of the old-fashioned tripe eater. Tripe was a common dish back home in our boyhood. Every butcher market carried it, good times or bad. And we had it in our house at least once a week. But no simmering and no cubes! The orthodox system was to cut it in slabs, bread it or roll it in flour and fry it to a golden brown. We have never been able to explain the decline and fall of honeycomb tripe. But we welcome it back.

China officially states that it is possible to stand an egg on end on the first day of spring (Chinese calendar time). We will take an egg, on end or not, any time. Our quest is for a slice of bacon on its side or a slab of ham flat on its back.

We will never think our civilization what it is cracked up to be until we see in front of the blood donor stations lines of Americans waiting as patiently and as long as they sit in front of stores advertising cigarette sales.

Wind Strip-Cropping Halts Blowing of Soil

Time at Hand to Plan For Future Protection

FARMERS are making more and more use of wind strip-cropping to help protect the soil and increase food production in areas where bare, dry soils are subject to blowing by constant winds of high velocity, according to the War Food administration. When the fertile topsoil is removed, productivity of the affected land is immediately lowered, and will continue to decrease from year to year unless some means of stopping the depletion is employed.

Wind strip-cropping is the use of alternate strips placed at right angles to prevailing winds, or in a continuous "S," so that the winds cannot blow parallel to the rows. Close-growing crops such as legumes, grasses and small grains are planted in alternate bands with cultivated crops, and when turned under as green manure replace nitrogen, organic matter and other plant food essential to fertility. If the strips are laid out on the contour, the water conservation that results will offer additional help in preventing the soil from blowing.

Alternate strips of summer fallow and grain shorten the distance that loose soil can move during "rest periods." When fallow and wheat are stripped together, for example, the stubble left after the wheat has been harvested will protect the fallow land while it renews its fertility in preparation for the new grain crop. The old wheat strip will then go into fallow, in progressive rotation.

In many areas where it is especially suitable, wind strip-cropping has replaced the earlier method of alternating entire fields of fallow and crops. The movement of soil exposed during winter and spring months is greatly reduced when the land is planted in alternate bands rather than in fields which would be open to the wind.

The danger and severity of the winds must be taken into consideration in planning the width of the strips. The stronger the blowing, the narrower the strips required to counteract its effect.

Many barren wastes in America could be completely salvaged by proper wind strip-cropping.

Agriculture In the News By W. J. Dryden

CORK OAK TREE

Cork oak tree cultivation is limited in the United States by two factors, drought and severe winter temperatures. The tree has withstood a minimum temperature of five degrees below zero along the Atlantic seaboard. It is believed to have survived even lower temperatures in the mountains of Spain. Poor drainage or rainfall below 20 inches per year are not conducive to proper growing conditions.

The federal government's forest service is encouraging the planting of cork trees. Not only do they serve a national need, but prove valuable additions to pastures and general shades for the farmstead.

The present most critical use for cork is the making of engine gaskets. Other uses for cork are insulation, floor and wall coverings, bottle stoppers, corn cobs, handles for fishing rods, shoe insoles, linoleum, friction pads and life preservers and rafts.

Pre-Calving Care

First calf heifers need more grain than cows, because they must continue to grow after they begin milking. The quantity of grain to feed such heifers beginning about three months before freshening should depend somewhat upon the character of the roughage. Two pounds a day is enough at first. This should be gradually increased until five or six pounds are eaten. The plan must be to have the animals in good flesh but not fat.

COMING COAL CRISIS
President Roosevelt got back from his notable achievements at Yalta to find serious problems awaiting him at home, particularly on the labor front. Some of his advisers felt, however, that these problems, especially the coal crisis, could have been averted by beginning to prepare for it earlier and by appointing a new secretary of labor.

The President left for Yalta almost immediately after his inauguration. And, up until a day or two before his inauguration, he had not made up his mind what to do about appointing a new secretary of labor. In the end, he did nothing and Miss Perkins continued, despite her very firm desire to resign.

Meanwhile, various moves could have been made to head off the coal crisis. One of them, discussed in the background but never brought forward, is an annual wage for miners. If the miners knew they would be able to work all the year around, especially in peace times when they have been laid off for about one-third of the time, they might forego wage increases now.

Another move, proposed backstage, was to appoint coal mine representatives on local OPA boards to make sure the cost of living did not go up, or if so, under circumstances they understood.

But the most important move was to have appointed a new secretary of labor, with a new, fresh outlook, untarnished prestige, who could have tackled the job firsthand, and, if necessary, gone out to the mining areas to meet with the miners themselves.

No one is looking for this thankless job. But senate colleagues say the one man who could do it, if willing, would be forthright, fair-minded Senator Harley Kilgore, who comes from the great coal state of West Virginia, is known and trusted by labor but also would not hesitate to oppose labor when it is wrong.

FARM BLOC FUNCTIONS

Sometimes the congressional farm bloc feels its oats to such an extent that it demonstrates its power just for the fun of it. That was what happened when the house passed the Flannagan resolution—which does nothing more than say that congress considers a law it passed two years earlier still should be observed. This law is the Tydings amendment to the Selective Service act which provides for the deferment of farm workers.

The house spent several hours trying to decide whether it should pass the new resolution, even though everyone knew it would go through. Hard-hitting congressmen like Ed Izac of California, Gene Worley of Texas, and Ewing Thomason of Texas pointed out that all the resolution did was remind the nation that 340,000 men from 18 to 25—the age group the army wants most for fighting—are being denied the army.

El Paso's Thomason declared his support for the Tydings amendment, but said he saw no reason to pass further legislation on the subject. San Diego's Izac, a wounded and decorated lieutenant commander in the last war, came out against the Tydings amendment.

"If we turn this resolution down, maybe the senate will have backbone enough to throw out all legislation that interferes with the winning of the war," Izac continued. "The 340,000 boys on the farm are no more precious to their fathers and mothers than are the other boys who have been taken away and are now serving in the army and the navy."

After several hours of debate, however, the house passed the resolution by a voice vote, but not before the author of the resolution, John Flannagan of Virginia, was called upon to define what he meant by an "agricultural occupation." Republican Congressman Clason of Springfield, Mass., was afraid the words might be interpreted as referring only to men growing or handling crops. Flannagan assured him it included also poultry farmers and livestock farmers.

CAPITAL CHAFF

Col. Harry Vaughan, now military aide to Vice President, was formerly his secretary. Vaughan is now virtually back on the office staff—in uniform.

There are about 375 baseball players in the American league, of which 130 are 4-Fs. Baseball moguls say: "If the 4-Fs are barred from baseball, the game will have to be played by old men."

Quoth Senator Tom Connally of Texas during prolonged hearings on the Mexican waterways treaty: "The flood of oratory in this committee room is as hard to control as the notorious floods of the Colorado river."

Not as many people know about Elmer Irey as know of J. Edgar Hoover, but Irey is being talked about for Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis' job as dean of baseball. Congressman Cochran of Missouri says: "If baseball gets Irey, they won't have to worry about gamblers. He knows them all."

"WE ARE letting the grass roots of baseball die," Sam Breadon, owner and president of the World Champion Cardinals, remarked to me recently. "I am referring to the millions of kids from 12 to 16 years old who would like to play baseball, but who get no help or encouragement."

"This is true even in the big Southwest—from the Ozarks to Texas—the Cottonwood trail that gave baseball such men as Tris Speaker, Rogers Hornsby, Dizzy and Paul Dean, Carl Hubbell, Pepper Martin. I could name a hundred others, including Bill Dickey from Arkansas and Lonnie Warneke, the tobacco chewing champion from Mt. Ida.

"Soft ball, football and other sports have started replacing baseball as a recreation for the youngsters. They like baseball and would rather play it if they only had the chance. This will be the big job of any new commissioner we might name. He must offer and work out a plan that will give youngsters all over the country this chance."

We have been hammering with what punches we had left along these same lines, receiving no support except from Pittsburgh and Detroit and a few individuals like Jack Coombs, the old Colby Carbine, baseball coach at Duke.

Neglect Schoolboys

Baseball, year after year, has gone to sleep in this important development—and this includes baseball's Big Three. These three have run the game ably in other respects. But they have all fallen down on building up and bringing baseball to the kids from the ages of 12 to 16, many, many thousands of whom would rather play baseball than any other game, but rarely get the chance.

Crowded cities—lack of space—lack of any help or cooperation on the part of baseball leaders—these have all figured in the decay of the game's so-called "grass roots." They have either forgotten all about the kids, or else they have been too shortsighted to face the major problem of the game.

The new commissioner must be one who can rebuild baseball for the kids—and that will be his most important job. It will be a job no one in baseball has even approached, barring the few places I have mentioned.

There are millions of kids who would like to play baseball—who never have the chance. And anyone with a half grain of intelligence knows that if a kid from 12 to 15 years old doesn't have the chance to play baseball, he will never get anywhere in the game.

Football is different. You can take a husky young fellow around 13 or 19 who never saw a football and turn him into a great tackle or a great guard. Especially if he is big and fast. You can't do that with a baseball player—or a golfer. The great baseball players come up as kids—who played the game. The great golfers came up as caddies—Hogan, Sarazen, Ouimet, Nelson, Hogan, Chick Evans, Goodman, McSpaden, Johnny Farrell, Harry Cooper.

Must Start Early

Baseball and golf are games you must learn in early youth. Football can be picked up later on. Golf has been given a big break. Baseball hasn't.

I don't care whether the new commissioner is Jim Farley, Edgar Hoover or Ford Frick—or some one else who has the respect of the ballplayers and the spectators. All I know is that his first job will be to organize a new youth movement for baseball, which (outside of Pittsburgh, Detroit and in certain locations where the American Legion has been an active sponsor) has been almost completely overlooked, although the two big leagues have each contributed $20,000 to this fund. Certainly there has been no help from the two major leagues outside of this contribution and little help from any of the minors.

In many big cities, it must be admitted there is little room left where the kids can play—except along cobblestone streets or those haunted by automobiles. But there is still space enough left in the United States to give boys from 12 to 16 a chance to play baseball. It is still a national crime that out of 100,000 18-year-old boys called to the draft, over 25,000 are turned back as physically unfit.

But it is a difficult matter to get anyone interested in this problem. Army and navy say they are too busy trying to win a war to bother about the situation. And this group is too young for sport promoters to use as money-makers.

Besides Breadon, only Larry MacPhail and Horace Stoneham seem to think that part of the duty of the new commissioner should be that of trying to rebuild the waning enthusiasm for the game in the high schools and the colleges, and even they can't agree as to how that should be worked out.

Greatest Flaxseed Crop in History Asked

From farms to foundries, factories and the fighting fronts, and back to farms—that's the cycle of millions of bushels of flaxseed to be produced in the United States this year. After the farmer in the upper left-hand picture has harvested his flaxseed, it becomes linseed oil and acts as a binder in the cores of the molds for metal castings shown at lower left. Much of this metal goes into machines of war. Linseed oil is an essential ingredient of paint and varnish, and the meal left after the oil is pressed out returns to farms as high-protein feed for cattle. Five million acres of flaxseed are sought in 1945.

THOSE mighty mites from America's farms—flaxseed—are in the news again. Linseed oil is the reason. About three-quarters of a billion pounds will be needed to answer minimum national requirements in 1945, and the only source of that essential oil is the tiny flaxseed.

Chief use for linseed oil is in paint and varnish. It accounted for approximately 85 per cent of all the fats and oils used by the drying industries last year, and may be expected to carry on in the same way in 1945. It is also a valuable ingredient of linoleum and oilcloth, printing inks, adhesives and soap, and for processing leather and textiles.

One of the little-known, but important, uses of linseed oil is in the manufacture of metal castings for many types of military, industrial and agricultural machinery. It acts as a binder for the fine sands of cores for the molds.

Nothing is wasted in the processing of flaxseed, says the War Food Administration. The meal remaining after the oil has been pressed out or extracted from the seeds goes back to farms as high-protein livestock feed. In fact, the tonnage volume of the meal is a bigger business than the oil! Last year, for example, about a million tons of linseed meal were sold.

Five Million Acres Needed. It will take 5,000,000 acres of flax for seed, plus a small amount of imported seed if it can be obtained, to produce the necessary 775,000,000 pounds of linseed oil, according to the WFA. Military requirements for the oil are increasing at a time when domestic reserves are short because of the small 1944 flaxseed crop. In addition, possible imports are uncertain.

The acreage sought is 64 per cent greater than last year, which reached only 3,052,000 acres. Total use of linseed oil in 1944 hit an all-time high of 1,025,000,000 pounds, far exceeding U. S. production. This brought a serious drain on reserve supplies.

WFA points out that with consumption levels, inventories of linseed oil will be as low as they can safely go by next fall when oil from the 1945 crop becomes available. With normal yields, the acreage goal would produce about 36,800,000 bushels of flaxseed, to which would be added an expected import of 6,300,000 bushels, for a total of 43,100,000 bushels. The minimum oil requirements would take about 40,400,000 bushels of seed and another 2,700,000 bushels are estimated as the seed requirements for plantings during the following year.

So vital is the need for linseed oil that congress has authorized the expenditure of $30,000,000 in special payments to farmers to help assure a sufficient supply. This is in addition to the regular price support program for flaxseed, and will be administered by the Agricultural Adjustment Agency. Farmers who plant flax for seed will receive payments at the rate of $5.00 an acre, up to the limit of the individual farm goals worked out by the farmer and his AAA committeemen. The flax must be on suitable soil and the crop properly handled, to be eligible under the payment plan.

Price supports for flaxseed in 1945, as announced by the War Food Administration, are designed to bring the farm price to not less than 90 per cent of the parity price.

Crop Can Be Insured. Further protection for growers is available through the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. Insurance on this crop is being offered this year for the first time, and will assure production returns up to 75 per cent of average yields. Contracts are for one year, and will be available through county AAA offices or other authorized agents. Closing date for submitting applications will be the beginning of seeding or March 31, whichever is earlier for all areas except North Dakota and Montana and parts of Minnesota, where the FCIC closing date is April 10.

Average yield of flaxseed is 8 bushels per acre. That means it takes some 31,360,000 of the seeds to produce 152 pounds of linseed oil, since they average 70,000 to a pound. Although all seeds contain oil, some, like flaxseed, are a rich source of that valuable product. By weight, just over one-third of a flaxseed is linseed oil.

French Losses, Excluding Prisoners, Total 130,000

PARIS, FRANCE. — The newspaper L'Ordre reported recently that five years of war had cost France 130,554 military and naval personnel killed, wounded or missing, of whom 103,233 were killed in France, Africa and Italy. These figures excluded prisoners. At the time of France's fall the Germans said they had captured more than 1,900,000 French troops, including 29,000 officers.

CUT A FINE FIGURE

Whether you skate on blades or wheels, you should have one of those glamour outfits that the slickest chicks are gliding around the rinks in. We've snooped around some of the popular rinks around the country and here's our up-to-the-minute report. You'll have to get out your needles and thimbles, gals, coz none of this finery is for sale. It's for the making.

Velvet and Spangles—The big favorite among the gals who really go to town with figures in the middle of the rink is velvet and spangles. They like the short, short princess dresses with square or sweetheart necklines. The swooniest one we saw was pale blue with the Able Grable's initials in sequins at one side.

Pants to Match—Some girls make themselves swirling plaid wool (white ground patterns preferred) with little matching pants that show on the swirls.

Oh, My Stars!—You paste silver and gold stars all over your white skate shoes or you look like something out of another world. You also paste stars all over a colored sneed that holds your page boy in place.

Hem Hints—Sew your trimming inside the hemline of your skating skirts. Beads, buttons, spangles, even Christmas tree tinsel, are more effective when you only see a flash of them around the corners.

HEADSTARTS TO GLAMOUR

Was it only yesterday you were strewing flowers in your high pompadours and wing bows higher and on among your curls? Was it only the day before yesterday that you were seeing the world through one eye with a Veronica Lake hair droop? And—today you go for velvet ribbon bands. Well, what about tomorrow? Here are the newest hair-do trends reported by our soda fountain sleuths. Get set, get ready and go! They're your headstarts to glamour!

Band Plus Barrette—No need to put your velvet headbands away in mothballs just because barrettes are in. Snap your barrette over your band at one side. Lots of girls are going in for doubleheaders like this.

Barrette Boom—You see those silver bar barrettes on all the sleekest, slickest heads. Friends are giving them to each other instead of friendship links with names inscribed. Boy friends are giving them to their steadies instead of identification bracelets. Gals are giving them to themselves instead of investing in another silver bangle bracelet. It's a trend; it's a fashion!

The famous Anglo-American painter, John Singer Sargent, who died in 1925, neglected to sign some of his works and even forgot, years later, ever having painted them. But he could easily identify these pictures in a unique way. If a painting was his, a microscope would reveal a fine red or green line painted around the white objects because, owing to an eye defect, he saw them bordered in one of these colors.

School NOTES...

High School (The Northern Five Basketball League has arranged its schedule for the 1945-1946 season. Baseball practice started today with eighteen players enrolled. The first game is with Sterling at Tawas City on Friday, April 13. We hope to have about twelve games this spring. Bats are being sanded and varnished in Shop 11. We lost a valuable catcher when Olen Herriman entered service. Our biggest problem is to develop a catcher for this position.

Judge Herman Dehnke has been secured by the seniors to give the commencement address. Judge H. Dehnke has given this address twice before, the last time in 1940.

The twelfth grade economics class has begun the study of money. They will soon know the distinctions in the use of silver certificates, United States Notes, Federal Reserve Bank Notes. Samples of these kinds of currency have been saved during the present semester. One reference book in the library, "Uncle Sam's Money," written by Woods, a former treasurer of the United States. All in all, the students should receive some practical work in this branch of their subject.

One of our seniors, Donna Moore, has accompanied her parents to Florida, where they will visit friends for a couple of weeks. Donna will undoubtedly be able to give us considerable information concerning The Fountain of Youth upon her return.

Typing 1 The first year Typing class has been writing business letter and learning the different styles in which they are written. We find that the Block-Indented Style with Open Punctuation is used most often. We are now taking up how to address an envelope, both the regular and official size. When addressing envelopes, Post Office officials prefer the indented style, with the street address, city, and state written out in full on separate lines.

The World History Class completed a study of the French Revolution.

The members of the Latin 11 class are using Latin Progress Test compiled by the author of the text book used.

Third and Fourth Grades We are making things for Easter and some of the boys and girls are bringing pussy willows for our room.

The Third Grade is talking about clothing materials in their geography class. They have brought many samples, such as silk, fur, wool, cotton and woolen yarn.

The Third Graders who had an A in spelling were: Tommy, Marilyn, Charles, Bruce, Gerry, Kay, Jimmie, Neal, Ronald, Joe, Larry, Shirley, Geneva, Rolland, Nancy and Jackie.

The Fourth Graders who had an A were: Carlos, Edward, Everett, James, Nancy, Ralph, Duane, Barbara, Dickey, Harvey, Bill, Rollie, Patsy, Darlene and Joan.

Primary Room Donald D'Arcy of the Woodside school of Bay City has entered our second grade. He expects to be here only a few weeks.

We have made some Easter decorations.

The first grade will make a doll house. Fay Ferguson brought an orange crate to use for the house.

We are glad to have Kenneth Rollin and Donald Lake back at school after being ill for a couple of weeks.

We hope that Charles Engle and Dennis Konenske will also be back soon.

Patsy Ann Alda, Alfred Wogaman, George Wogaman, Virginia Haglund, Neil Abbott and Patsy Conklin received A's in last weeks spelling test.

The second graders are finishing their readers this week.
