Tawas Loses 3 to 2 Game to Pinconning

By bunching their hits and taking advantage of the three errors made by Tawas in the first inning, Pinconning won a three to two decision from the local high school baseball team last Friday. However, Tawas pulled out of their tailspin in the fourth inning and scored two runs. Pinconning hit the local lads with six hits to Tawas's three.

Landon was on the mound for Tawas with Harold Bublitz at the receiving end. Horn was the pitcher for Pinconning and Eigner behind the plate.

In the first inning for Pinconning, Belner flied out to left field, Kurivchak and Alguessa were safe on errors, Horn doubled, cleaning the bases, Bleshinski was safe on an error with Horn scoring. Fryzel struck out.

After having the first nine men to strike out, Tawas scored two runs in the fourth. Landon grounded out pitcher to first, Thornton taking third, Bublitz walked and Thornton scored on a wild pitch, with Bublitz taking second, Ross was safe on an error and Bublitz scored, Anderson grounded out.

Tawas muffed a chance to score in the sixth when two players were left stranded on base with no one to bring them in.

Judge Dehnke Thanks Isosco County People

To the Citizens of the Twenty-Third Circuit: I am asking the newspapers of this area to convey to you my thanks for the outstanding vote of confidence accorded me by you on April 2. The great grief of a judge's life is that the nature of his work compels him to say "No" so frequently and to so many. In the course of my seventeen years on the bench I have been obliged to make many rulings adverse to the interests of many individuals and groups. That more than 90 per cent of those who went to the polls in my circuit were nevertheless willing to cast their votes for me is a tribute to be cherished.

At the time the nomination for the Supreme Court was tendered me, I understood, as did the convention, that in the light of past experience the incumbent justices were certain of re-election. I felt, however, that the nomination was a testimonial to be appreciated for its own sake, as well as a recognition worth bringing home to my circuit.

While I considered it a compliment to learn that a convention composed of representative and responsible men and women from all portions of our great commonwealth was willing to vouch for my qualifications by placing me in nomination, I am not so conceited as to imagine that our distinguished Supreme Court, on which Justices North and Starr are serving so capably, has suffered a mortal blow by reason of my not being a member of it.

It has been said, "A friend is somebody who knows all about you—but sticks by you anyway." I am glad that for the present at least I may continue to live and work among those who for forty years now have been so generous in their forbearance and friendship toward me.

Sincerely, Herman Dehnke.

DOANS PILLS

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

Col. Robert L. Scott WNU RELEASE

The story thus far: After graduating from West Point, Robert Scott wins his wings at Kelly Field and takes up combat flying. He has been an instructor for four years when the war breaks out, and is told he is now too old for combat flying. He appeals to several Generals and is finally offered an opportunity to get into the fight. He flies a bomber to India, but is made a ferry pilot and this does not suit him. He visits Gen. Chennault, gets a Kittyhawk, and soon is flying the skies over Burma, known as the "one man air force." Later he is made C.O. of the 23rd Fighter Group, but he still keeps on knocking down Jap planes. He goes out on his greatest mission, over Hongkong.

CHAPTER XXV

Pilots waiting for the order to go into the air. Sitting at the crude table, waiting for the chow wagon or for an alert. Listening with keen ears for the jingle of the telephone. Playing gin rummy or poker, but hearing everything that was going on. A player would be dealing the deck, and in the middle of the routine of dropping a card here, and one there, the phone would ring. The card would stop in the air, poised over the table while we all heard the Chinese interpreters pick up the magneto phone and utter the familiar "Way—way," as they say "hello." The card would remain there over the table, undisturbed throughout the telephone conversation—until the player realized what he was doing. Then he'd go hesitatingly on.

Perhaps the call was one of the hundreds that meant nothing; only the Chinese really knew, and we could only wait and find out. Then again, the receiver of the telephone might drop back into place and the interpreter would say something to another Chinese. This second one would go to the plotting-board, look at the marked co-ordinates, and quietly put a little red flag down over a certain city towards Japanese territory. Even then, with one warning only, the game could go on for a long time in confidence.

Perhaps the Squadron commander or the officer who was on the alert that day would move out of the game and start looking the map and the flags over, sizing up the situation. As the picture formed and it became apparent that this was a real attack he'd just go over and tell the card-game about it. Or maybe two or three men would begin to get helmets out. The game would silently break up, with cards and CN left where they were. Helmets and gloves would be put on. Men who were pretending to be sleeping in the bags on the floor would be awakened.

And the tension dropped off like a cloak. It wasn't the actual combat these fighter pilots feared, for we all wanted combat more than anything else; it was the damnable uncertainty—the ringing of a telephone, an ominous sound that most of the time meant nothing.

When men went out of the door to get into their ships and take off there was no handing to friends on the ground or last letters to take care of, to empty the magazines and watches, to get the fighter pilots don't get back. They are there, and they have to go. Down in our hearts we are sure that some accident will get us some day, when we are old and gray, when our beards get in the way of the controls, or we get to where we don't see well or react fast—but we know that no enemy fighter is good enough to shoot us down. If that happens it's just an accident.

These thoughts are the "chips" that we carry on our shoulders, and they have to be there—arrogant, egotistical chips mellowed by flying technique and experience and fortified by the motto, "Attack!" Never be on the defensive. Shoot the enemy down before he can shoot you down. You are better than he is, but don't give him a chance. He may get in a lucky shot but you're invincible. Move towards any dot in the sky that remotely resembles an airplane. Move to attack, with switches on and the sight ready. If it's not a ship or if it's a friendly one you'll be ready anyway.

The worry comes before you get to take off for combat—wondering whether or not you'll do the right thing out of habit. After you're in the air it's all the fun of flying and doing the greatest job in the world. You are up there, pitying all earth-bound creatures who are not privileged to breathe this purer air on high. Your training makes you do the combat work that is ahead without thinking about the movements.

Months and years of training... hours of waiting on the ground... high-powered engines pulling you up and up to the attack—and then in a few fleeting seconds the combat is over, your ship is all that's in the sky, and you're on the way home again to base, whistling and thinking how easy it was and what a great and glorious life it really is. You're wondering if you can pick those cards up and finish the game and take your CN back from Ajax or Johnny or Mack. You might be thinking how good that sleeping bag is going to feel, or wondering whether the transports that can land on the field, now that the air raid alert is over, have brought you any mail... "Dog-gone, I wonder if that woman is writing me?" Maybe they've even made some mistake back over there in the a top-cover of several fighters, but the Jap would not come up to fight the shark-mouthed planes. His instructions appear to have been: Wait for the American bombers.

On November 21, the ground crews got to Kweilin. Instead of keeping them in the hostel that first night to insure that information would not leak out to the enemy, we sent them to town, first casually remarking that we were here now for the second attack on Hongkong.

Early next morning our twelve bombers slipped into Kweilin, with Colonel (promoted since the last attack) Butch Morgan in the lead ship. The strengthened fighter force of between thirty and forty planes infiltrated for reserve—some went to Kweilin, others scattered to the surrounding emergency fields for better protection of the bombers. As soon as I landed I ran up to the cave and the General took me in and showed me the plotting-board. The little red flags indicated increased vigilance at Hongkong. Then I got my orders: "Strike Hongkong." In an hour the bombers were off to bomb the coal mines and docks of that Indo-China port North of Haiphong.

Morgan sank a 12,000-ton ship that was reported to have been an aircraft carrier. The fighter escort strafed ferry boats, small surface craft, and looked for Jap fighters trying to intercept. But none came. That night the enemy sent up a flight of three bombers to each of our fields, looking for our forces. But we were so scattered the forces. Luck was bad. Night fighters at their all stations took off, but those from Maj. Harry Pike at Kweilin under perfect contact. The entire formation of three bombers was shot down over the field. Bombers were shot down in flames, but Morgan's ship was shot down in flames, but Morgan's ship was shot down in flames, but Morgan's ship was shot down in flames.

Arriving back at our advanced base, we refueled and bombed up again. Then we made the second raid of the day towards Hankow, over the town of Yoyang. Once again Morgan blasted the target, with black bursts of anti-aircraft fire bouncing around the formation. But there was no interception, and now we were feeling blue. We couldn't destroy the Jap Air Force if they were going to try to save their airplanes.

We spent the next day, Thanksgiving, working on the airplanes and resting. We had flown seven missions in four days, and both men and machines were tired and in need of repair. We had a special dinner that night, but remained extra vigilant against a surprise by the Jap. On that Thanksgiving evening, as we were grouped around the General, he brought out a bottle of Scotch some one had given him. (TO BE CONTINUED)

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BY HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for April 15

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

PIONEERS OF FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 12:1, 2; Acts 7:4-7, 12-17. GOLDEN TEXT—By faith Abraham, when he was called, obeyed... and he went out, not knowing whither he went.—Hebrews 11:8

Bible history is a story of men of faith called and used of God to carry out His purpose in the world. These thrilling accounts of worthwhile lives are to be our special concern during the three months we study the history of Israel and of the Church.

I. A Call and a Covenant (Gen. 12:1, 2).

God was now ready to make known His choice of a man to be the father of His chosen people. He went down into Ur of the Chaldees in the midst of heathen worship, and called out a man who had faith in the true God.

Abram, "when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went" (Heb. 11:8).

The Lord called him out from his own land and kindred, to get him away from his heathen forebears and their worship. God wants separated believers in our day, too (read and ponder II Cor. 6:17, 18). That call comes to every believer.

Why did God choose Israel? It was an act of His sovereign grace, not based on their merit or goodness. He had a threefold purpose: (1) That they should be the repository for His truth (the Old Testament) in the earth; (2) that they should be the channel for the coming of the personal Redeemer to the earth; (3) that they should be a national witness to the one true God amid the nations of the earth.

They accomplished two of these, but failed in the last, and are now under God's judgment for that sin and failure.

II. Obedience and Opportunity (Acts 7:4-7).

Abram went out at God's command, even though he knew that it meant suffering and trial, being obedient without question or hesitation. Bible history reveals that God delights to do mighty things for those who give Him unquestioning obedience.

God did great things for Abraham, and yet he did not live to see the fulfillment of the promise. He knew it was to be so, realizing that God's plan was to be carried out in the children which he did not yet have (see Heb. 11:9-11).

Here is a lesson for us. Our faith today, and the measure in which we apprehend the grace of God for life and service, will bless not only us, but our children (Ps. 103:17). For their sakes we ought to seek to increase the spiritual heritage of our families. Certainly we should do nothing to blight their lives (Exod. 34:7).

III. A Family and Its Faith (Acts 7:12-17).

Stephen, a portion of whose address of defense before the council is here before us, reviews the history of God's dealings with Israel. Tracing the line down through Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph, he recalls how God provided a haven of plenty for them in Egypt until they were ready to be brought up into the possession of their inheritance—the land of Palestine.

Lack of space forbids the review of the lives of these pioneers of faith. The study would be most illuminating, for it repeatedly throws into sharp contrast the awful failures of these men when they forgot God, and the mighty victories they gained when they believed Him.

In spite of their failures they were essentially men of faith, for God has counted them worthy of a place in that remarkable list of heroes of faith found in Hebrews 11 (see vv. 17-22).

VERSATILE and a well-loved style is the jumper-jacket. For sun-tanning, gardening and sports, wear the slim princess dress—the jaunty jacket makes an attractive outfit for street wear.

SMOOTHLY fitting, long-waisted frock that's gay enough for important dates without being fussy. Lace edging or ruffling outlines the sweetheart neckline. Bodice lacing is a novel touch.

Household Hints

Machine stitch the drawing on pop's and junior's pajamas firmly at center back. Then it's less likely to become detached and get caught in the washer.

Reinforce your heavy bath towels along each side with a binding of one-inch tape. Strengthens them for the hard pulling men and boys give them rubbing hard after shower baths.

If you thumb-tack waxed paper to the pastry board before rolling out the pastry, the dough won't stick.

When nuts need to be cracked with a hammer, hold them in place with an ordinary nutcracker. They crack more evenly, allowing less waste, and prevent many an injured finger.

When convalescent children are able to sit up in bed they need a place upon which to draw or color. By opening only two legs of a folding card table, it may be placed over the side of the bed and will take the place of a bed tray.

Clothes need a rest too. Don't wear the same thing day after day if you can avoid it.

Proper inflation is a must for maximum tire service; and now we have reports of an ingenious post-war device which, through a series of lights on the car or truck dashboard, will warn the operator when the pressure in any tire is under what it should be. "Ducks," the amphibious 2 1/2-ton trucks now used by the Army, have tires that originally were designed by B.F. Goodrich for desert use. The tires have broad tread and are exceptionally flexible and light in weight. ### Draining Soils

On poorly drained or slow-draining soils sow alsike and Ladino clovers with timothy and redtop, agronomists say. Some red clover and alfalfa may be used on well-drained spots. On soils that become very dry in summer, mammoth clover should improve yields.

Eye Care

Eye exercises, while useful in some cases of poor muscle coordination, are useless for errors of refraction. Don't pin your hopes on vitamins to correct visual shortcomings. Children seldom outgrow defects. Eye washes are not as good as the natural tears of the eyes.

Administered Cheaply

Michigan county governments, on the whole, are administered most cheaply in the more populous counties, the Michigan public expenditure survey reports. By the same token, the most expensive counties (those with 10,000 population or under) are the least populous. The survey also finds that the larger the county the lower the per capita cost, the high costs in the smaller counties being due, in part, to maintaining a minimum government which could render services to a much larger county at no extra cost. In the smaller counties, roads are responsible for the greatest share of costs.

Worker Trend

John D. Durand, population expert of the U. ## Jap Outcasts

When Shintoism rose in Japan its teachings prohibited the eating of the meat of animals. Groups that continued eating animal meat or handling animal hides were declared "unclean." Called Etori or butchers, the prejudice against them became widespread. Today, as always, the outcasts are permitted to do only the lowest type of work — chiefly the jobs of butchers and tanners.

Eggs Make Sauce

Eggs help make a delicious cream sauce. First make a white sauce and then add a small amount of the sauce to a well-beaten egg. Stir the mixture into remaining white sauce. Serve on vegetables or in other creamed dishes.

Garden Hose
For watering plants, a garden hose with an adjustable nozzle is best. For long wear, keep the hose free of kinks, and keep it out of the sun whenever it is not in use. Coil and store it in a cool place.

Dusting of sweet corn for control of European corn borer has proved to also reduce the infection of corn by smut.

Rhubarb roots should be planted deep enough to cover the buds. The gardener can make a small harvest in the next spring after planting, and make regular cuttings for 8 to 10 weeks each spring thereafter.

After recovering from shrapnel wounds, Marine PFC Russell Halsey, 21, Roseke Park, N. J., returned to action in the Tinian Islands, shot a Jap sniper but sustained a broken hip in the action. Twice War Bond funds have helped restore him to health, and Bonds bought and held are healing hundreds of other service men's wounds.

Poultry Ration
Experimental work has shown that poultry require somewhat less phosphorus and calcium in their feed when vitamin D is amply supplied than when minimum amounts are used. This means that vitamin D can, in part, compensate for a lowered phosphorus content in the vitamin. However, this does not imply that by adding plenty of vitamin D the phosphorus and calcium content of feeds can be disregarded.

School NOTES ...
High School

We are grateful to Janet Musolf for the recent contribution of several reference books to the library. This week the members of the Latin 11 Class will complete the reading required for that course. We expect to read supplementary stories and translate English sentences to Latin during the remaining time.
The seniors held a class meeting Tuesday. The purpose of the meeting was to decide where the Baccalaureate exercises would be held. It was voted on and found that the Class wanted the exercises at the German Lutheran Church with Reverend J. J. Roekle giving the address.
Our high school baseball team traveled to Pinconning Friday of last week where it engaged the high school team of that community. The score resulted in a three to two victory for Pinconning.
The furnace failed us last week and so there was no school on Friday and Monday. The necessary repairs have now been made, and we trust that no more trouble will be found.
The Band is working on a Spring Band Concert to be given during the week of April 23. They are practicing hard and hope to be able to give a good concert. A nominal admittance price will be made for the purpose of obtaining money with which to buy music and repair instruments.
We regret to say that Jean Lansky is seriously ill in the Bay City Hospital. We hope that she will be able to return to school soon.
Proposed Amendment One to the Michigan Constitution, which would have aided districts which need new school buildings, was defeated by approximately a two to one vote in the state. Iosco county gave 367 votes for the amendment and 688 against. Tawas City gave 61 votes for and 62 against.

5th and 6th Grades.
The following people had perfect scores in their Friday's spelling test: Clare, Dorothy, Janet, Carolyn, Wayne, Pansy, Shirley, Nancy and Betty.
The fifth grade is enjoying the play, "The Proud Princess."
Harry Toms, Edward Wells, Delano Myles and Bruce Leslie have joined the Boy Scouts recently.
We are reading "Treasure Island" as part of our opening exercise.

3rd and 4th Grades.
Many of our boys and girls in our room are having good luck fishing. Tommy Morley has drawn us a splendid picture of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."
Gail Ulman and Sandra Brown visited our room today.
Those in the third grade who had "A" on last week's spelling test were: Nancy, Delores, Jeanette, Jackie, Neal, Joe, Larry, Shirley, Geneva, Roland, Tommy, Bruce, Charles and Jimmie. In the fourth grade they were: Bill, Barbara, Patsy, James, Darlene, Joan, Nancy, Everette, Edward Harvey and Dicky.

First and Second Grades.
We have five new books for our Library. They are "Bambi," "Today We Fly," "Little Black Sambo," "Captain Joe and the Eskimo," "Flicka, Ricka, and Dicka and the Strawberry Girl."
We are glad to have Arlene Wells back at school after a two-weeks absence because of illness.
Our room bought defense stamps for $10.50 last week.
Patsy Ann Alda, Marvin Clements, Melvin Timreck, Carol Toms, Alfred and George Wogaman, Judy Austin, Dwight Finley, Virginia Haglund, Neil Abbot, Kenneth Rollin and Louise Potts received A's in our week's spelling test.

Asparagus Bed

A good asparagus bed starts bearing the third season, and will produce good crops for 15 to 20 years more, if the weeds are kept out and the soil is fertilized. Rhubarb will last for a long time, and only requires re-setting of the roots in about eight years, when they get too crowded. The only serious pest of the present rust-free asparagus is the asparagus beetle, and this is easily controlled with a lead arsenate spray or dust.

Distinction Difficult

Animals younger than four months will not resist Brucellosis and those older than eight months will retain the positive reaction to the blood test for an undesirable length of time. The bred cows and heifers may abort because of the vaccination, and the majority of them will always react positively to the blood test. In this situation the owner can never be sure which animal has Brucellosis and which one is reacting to the vaccination.

Artificial Eyes

Germany, through her "Reichsverband," controlled the export of artificial eyes and the glass for making them. Her monopoly was comparable to that of the Venetians who kept their glass-making artisans virtually imprisoned on the island of Murano in the 16th and 17th centuries. Until the war, practically all artificial eyes were blown from a special glass with a velvety texture that could be made only in one place in the world—the little town of Lauscha in Thuringen, Germany.

City Employees

Milwaukee city employees' average monthly earnings rank fourth among 18 northern cities of 300,000 in population or over, according to the United States census bureau. Milwaukee's average monthly city employee salary of $192 is exceeded only by Detroit ($207), San Francisco ($203) and Chicago ($199).

One-Celled Plants

The yeasts are predominantly one-celled plants which reproduce rapidly and in their growth form alcohol and carbon dioxide from the sugary materials on which they feed. The precise nature of the products depends on the kind of yeast and the nutrient used; originally the "wild" yeasts floating in the air did man's fermentations, but today carefully cultured strains are used, adapted to the particular application and protected from contamination. Traditionally the two great fields for yeast are the production of alcoholic products and the leavening of bread, where carbon dioxide bubbles from the yeast give a fluffy structure.

Farm Hours

The United States average of 11.2 hours each day worked by farm operators is just about equal to the national average of hours between sunrise and sunset on March 1.

Poor Lighting

A large firm of insurance brokers which does a nation-wide and foreign business, in a recent statement on why insurance costs differ, says one reason is that one concern may have higher insurance costs than another because of poorer lighting and more accidents. Modern lighting equipment in conjunction with walls, ceilings and floors painted in good light-reflecting colors improve such unfavorable conditions.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round DREW PEARSON

MacARTHUR-KIRK DUEL WASHINGTON.—In a highly secret session before the senate military affairs committee last Thursday, Gen. George Marshall, army chief of staff, refused to guess when the end of the war with Germany will come.

Marshall pointed out that German gasoline stocks are practically dried up, and that the Nazis do not have enough fuel to move their supplies, let alone their armored vehicles and artillery.

The chief of staff also told the senators that it is a mistake to figure that the Japs will fold up quickly once Germany is out of the war.

Marshall said nothing during this session about his plan to take over as supreme commander in the Pacific once Germany falls, but members of the committee now take that for granted.

Explanation? General MacArthur's army friends in Washington have a unique explanation for his refusal to let Maj. Gen. Norman Kirk, surgeon general of the army, visit Manila on his recent inspection tour.

Further details of General MacArthur's refusal to let General Kirk touch foot even on the Island of Luzon in order to inspect army hospitals there have now leaked out.

As a courtesy to MacArthur, Kirk radioed him from Leyte island that he was coming.

Scarcely believing his eyes, General Kirk gave MacArthur a chance to change his mind by sending another telegram which said in substance: "Don't understand your message. Do you mean by your telegram number so-and-so that my assistance is not welcome?"

General MacArthur's reply was brief and to the point. It read: "No, repeat no."

Note—The war department for some time has been split into the pro-MacArthur and the anti-MacArthur schools. Many of the general's own contemporaries don't like him, feel that he has never given sufficient credit to men who bore the brunt of the Pacific fighting such as General Krueger, Eichelberger, Kenney, Arnold and others.

Here is one story as to how American troops managed to capture the important Ludendorf bridge across the Rhine. A group of anti-Nazi students are reported to have been quietly organizing in the Rhine valley, and secretly joined Hitler's Elite guard, the "Schutz staffel" in 1942 where they have been boring from within ever since.

EUROPEAN DEATH TOLL One thing Joseph Stalin pointed out to Roosevelt and Churchill that greatly impressed them at Yalta was the terrific toll the Nazis had exacted from the people of Europe.

This War Isn't So Mechanized— Animals Still Do Their Share

Sometimes the highly mechanized service of supply of the U. S. army finds it can do it better with animals. In Burma, for instance, Indian elephants, directed by native mahouts, handle large logs used in military construction.

Wise Parent Should Watch Child's School Progress Carefully

As report card time nears, your child is excited, tense—wondering and perhaps worrying about what it will tell. How would you feel if you knew you, too, were going to be marked on that card?

If the teacher's opinion as to the kind of parent you are were recorded, would you rate an "A" or would you flunk?

Here are a few simple rules for happier parents, teachers and children, from Better Homes and Gardens magazine:

1. Uphold the teacher in whatever she does until you know absolutely that she is wrong. Investigate if necessary. Do not discuss the teacher's questionable actions in front of the children.

2. Occasionally a visit to school is a necessity, but don't barge in whenever the mood strikes you. Instead, send teacher a note or telephone her (not during school hours) to find out the best time to come.

3. If through your children, you learn of incidents going on in school that you feel should be curbed, contact the teacher. She may be ignorant of the situation, but willing and able to control it when informed.

4. Study your child's report card, particularly the comments by the teacher. The parent who is on the job attends the next P.-T. A. meeting or plans to see the teacher at school to discuss the situation.

5. When Nancy comes home with a tall tale, listen to her, but don't fly into action before you know the whole story. Any teacher is glad to explain the incident if you don't go to school with a chip on your shoulder.

6. Remember, children tend to embroider events, but when faced directly with gross elaboration are likely to grin sheepishly and admit their wrong. That puts you in a very silly position if you have ranted and raved. Better go easy.

Be 'All Dressed Up' 6. When there is a school visiting day, be there, and go looking like a million dollars so your child will be proud to say, "That's my Dad and Mom." It boosts his value in the eyes of his classmates no end.

Your child's teacher needs your help but not your interference. She wants to be his friend and yours and to see him progress according to his ability. You may be sure she will do all in her power to further that progress. Help her!

Highest Medal Goes To One-Man Army WITH THE 9TH ARMY.—The Congressional Medal of Honor was bestowed upon Sgt. LOOK SWEETER IN YOUR SWEATERS

Which side is winning in the siege of the sweaters? Will the Sloppy Joes stay in or will the fitted party take over? They're voting on it in high schools, just as they went to the polls for Frank or Bing last year—and they're getting nowhere in a hurry, just as they did in the battle of the baritones.

Three-Letter Gals—No, you don't have to win them—you just embroider your monogram on your sweaters, if you want to look as smooth as a college junior. Over the left hip, on the left sleeve or right under the neckline at center front are strategic spots for this identification.

For dating, embroider your initials in shiny colors.

ored sequins. You'll be a dazzle doll!

Down With Your Sleeves—Only an ickie and a cold cut pushes up her sweater sleeves anymore. You wear them down and sometimes you hold them in place with wide cuff bracelets.

Genteel Jewelry—Where are the powder puff faces and the macaroni necklaces of yesteryear? Remember how you used to clutter up your sweaters with stuff and nonsense? Now you wear a set of small silver animal pins or just some service insignia pins (if you're lucky); armfuls of silver bracelets and a short strand of pearls.

GOOD TASTE How's for more of our thrilling filling ideas for party sandwiches? Whether you're giving a harpy huddle or an honest-to-goodness boy and girl rat race, these are the slabs they'll drool over and remember.

Tropical Tempters—That's our name for cream cheese sandwiches sprinkled with grated coconut. Bet you never thought of that droolsome combination.

Funny Faces—Girls like dainty open-faced sandwiches, especially if you decorate them with edible features. Use olive slices for eyes, pimiento for nose and red pepper strips for mouth.

Peanut Butter Plus—There's no end to the combinations you can dream up with peanut butter as a base. Try sprinkling raisins in peanut butter sandwiches. Try spreading bottled marshmallow goo over peanut butter. Try blending mayonnaise with peanut butter. We hear that strong men melt after one taste.

TRIXIE TEEN SAYS—

Get your face out of that movie magazine, Chick, and bury it in some nice, fresh newspaper headlines for a change. How are you going to feel when your T. D. & H. comes back from his fighting stint and you don't know Saipan from Singapore or Pearl Harbor from Paris? He'll expect you to know something about this war he's won for you, so start headline hunting now. Keep a scrap book of newspaper clippings to remind you of the big events leading up to V day; follow our boys on a map right into Berlin. There's history being made all around you—and you don't want to flunk out when the boys come home.

It Looks Like Another

Once again American farmers are expected to "knock one over the fence" as they struggle to meet crop goals for 1945. The War Food Administration is asking for a 9,000,000-acre increase in planting this year, for a total of 363,635,000 acres.

Biggest increase over last year will be in flaxseed, up 64 per cent. Then comes sugar beets—a 49 per cent jump is being asked by WFA. Cover crop seed production must be boosted 42 per cent to supply urgent demands, particularly in the South.

Farmers should go ahead with their plantings, confident that a fair return will be paid, WFA officials advise. Adequate protection for maintaining prices has been provided by law, should any unforeseen decline develop in the markets.

THE HIGHEST MOUNTAIN OF EACH CONTINENT

Make Your Own Smart Clothes For Marketing and Gardening

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS spring and summer the great army of American women who are still working for victory on the home front by doing their own marketing and gardening will want to look their best at all times.

The quickest way to lay the groundwork for fashion success on a war-economy basis is to get out the family sewing machine and do some stitching that will prove you're ready to win the fight in a smart and thrifty manner. Even if the only sewing machine you can get at is a long-neglected attic veteran, you will find that local sewing center experts can probably put it back in good working order with an inexpensive "tune-up."

The next step now that the machine is in working order is to take an inventory of back-number "male" clothes, for there is lots of good sturdy material there that can be made over into attractive slacks and jackets and blouses for utilitarian wear. Follow this up with some wise fabric buying of thrifty denims and printed cottons, then invest in several good patterns and you will have a perfect start-off for a successful sewing program.

Whether long or short slacks will provide the most figure flattery for you, or whether matching or contrasting jackets will suit your purpose best are matters that must be decided by each individual housewife. It's wise to assemble a mix-and-match wardrobe as far as possible, for interchangeable items give you endless costumes for many-purpose wear.

A real style winner for bicycle marketing is shown to the right in the illustration. It ensembles a denim jacket and knee-length cuffed slacks with a printed cotton blouse. The jacket buttons are anchored with bias-tape ends and the applied emblem on the jacket is quickly stitched with the zig-zagger attachment.

Even ration-book marketing can be a smart adventure if you wear a thrifty, eye-catching costume as pictured to the left. Red and white candy-striped cotton is used for the short-sleeved tailored shirtwaist and faded blue denim fabric is used for the hip-slurring, sleek-fitting, cuffless slacks. If you have never tackled the job of making tailored slacks before, you can learn the fine points of cutting and fitting and tailored finishes in a few budget lessons at your local center. Experts will be glad to show you the ease with which slacks' placket closings can be achieved by using the cording foot attachment.

Doing spade work in the garden can be fun, and you can enjoy cool comfort all the while you are gardening, if you make an all-in-one overall with built-up bib top and combine it with a short-sleeved striped cotton blouse as shown centered in the picture. And here's a grand idea! Shade your eyes from the sun by adding a visor to a gay print cotton bandana that wraps around your head. Makes a really picturesque headdress, especially if the visor is green and the kerchief is in vivid exotic colors such as this young housewife is wearing with her overall outfit. Please do observe the matching kerchief in her pocket too, adding still another flash of color to her garden ensemble.

And have you heard of the new gardening aprons that have built-in knee pads? You can get overalls too, with blue leather-topped knee pads. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Waffle Pique Print

Use Print Remnants To Make Accessories

If you have several choice print remnants about you can use every inch of them in making up all sorts of flattering accessories, for there's a big vogue on for hats, bags, gloves, diceys and any number of other costume accents made of gay print. You can get patterns for gloves and directions for making. Another idea is the ascot tie or large bow of gay print. You can fray these about in self-fringe or you can add a brilliant touch by embroidering part of the flowers in multi-colored sequins. There's simply no limit to the pretty things that can be made at home of gay print. One of the newest ideas is to ensemble gloves, hat and petticoat of the same print. So let your imagination go as far as it will in converting available remnants of print into stunning costume decor. Bold stripes are ever so smart made up in accessories, and bags.

Scallops and Appliques Popular Trims for Frocks

A vast amount of scalloping is being done this season and you can't find anything more attractive than the little softly styled frocks that are finished off around all the edges with scallops. Varied applique is another popular trimming feature. The applique ranges from vivid felt motifs so appropriate and clever for teen-age and children's clothes to most exquisite work done in lace and passementerie. However, the art of applique is at its best in the field of cutout print frocks. There is no limit to the eye-thrilling effects that can be achieved in this direction.

Navy in Khaki Crosses Rhine

'Will You Spare What They Need?'

These Greek boys get new hope as a relief worker tells them that clothing for children and grown-ups is on the way to their cold mountain village. The United National Clothing Collection is making an appeal for 150,000,000 pounds of serviceable clothing, shoes and bedding for relief of people in war-devastated areas.

Allied Occupation of Germany

Next Move Toward Tokyo Assured

Young Navy Genius

IT MUST be understood in advance that it is the minor leagues and the colleges that make the major leagues what they are. And you can include the sand lots, who furnish their full supply of stars. The big leagues stand and wait.

But, it is the case of Lou Novikoff, recently turned back by the Chicago Cubs, that proves again the number of brilliant minor league stars who can shine in their own domain, but are only dim candlelights in the wind when they move into faster company.

Lou Novikoff is no outstanding exception. He is merely one of many. For example, I recall from my earlier years the case of Three-Finger Jack Hulseman of Shreveport, who could hit .300 in the Southern league, lead that circuit more than once, and yet finished around .190 in the majors. And Hulseman was a great hitter—but only in the minors.

A day or two ago I had a fan session with Lt. Bill Dickey, late of the Yankees, and Duster Mails, one of the best pitchers of his day—20 some odd years ago.

"I could name you 30," the Duster said. "Do you recall Paul Strand? Paul hit over .400 with Salt Lake. What a hitter. Paul was a .400 minor league hitter. But a .200 big league hitter."

"I'll give you another. Do you remember Ike Boone, the Alabama football and baseball star? There was a great football and baseball player. Ike came to the Missions on the west coast in a tough league with a bad right arm. He really had only one arm he could use."

A Flop in Big Time

"But in his first 27 games that season, Ike batted .410. He was terrific. We all said that with two good arms he'd hit .500. He was big, game, strong, a natural athlete and a natural hitter. But in the big leagues with at least one or two clubs he was a steady .240 hitter."

"And there was Smeed Jolley with the Red Sox—6 feet 3—235 pounds, one of the greatest minor league hitters I ever saw. He had everything. In the big leagues he hit maybe .200."

"There was Bevo LeBourveau of the Phillies and Giants—terrific in the minors—but a flop in the big time. I could name you 20 great minor league hitters who couldn't hit the size of their hats in the majors. And this includes the great Russian—Novikoff—who can hit everything in the minors and nothing in the majors."

"One trouble with the minors," Dickey said, "is this—the pitchers or the catchers often fail to discover the batters' weakness. We'll take Lou Novikoff. He can murder a certain type of pitch. He can't even foul a fast one inside. But don't ever give him a fast one outside. He'll murder it. At least that's what I hear. All I know is that after being with the Yankees in the American league so many years, I know just about what every fellow likes to swing at—and also what he DOESN'T like to swing at. And what a difference that makes."

(As a side remark, I'd like to add that Bill Dickey knew more about American league hitters than any catcher in the history of baseball. He knew everything they liked—and everything they didn't like.)

Greatest Hitter

"There was one exception. His name is Ted Williams of the Red Sox."

"There is the greatest hitter I ever saw," Dickey went on. He'd never swing at a ball two inches off the plate. Williams could wait for a fast ball or a fast curve until it was almost in my glove. Then if he liked it he'd even hook it to left.

"Ted had the swiftest reactions I've ever seen. He could make up his mind what to do in at least a tenth of a second. I tried to cross him every way I knew, but I never could. I'll say that Ted Williams is the greatest hitter I ever saw in baseball, and I know how good Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Joe Di Maggio were. But Williams was something out of this world. If we hadn't run into this war I believe Williams would have finished as the greatest hitter of all time."

It might be added here that Lt. Bill Dickey, the Arkansas quail shot, never makes any wild statements. He only calls them as he sees them. Nothing else counts with him.

Most Thrilling Fight

When it comes to the most thrilling prize fight, I always pick the Dempsey-Firpo volcanic eruption that lasted only a trifle more than four minutes. Where Dempsey was hammered to the floor or at least to his knees with Firpo's first right-hand—where Dempsey kept Firpo on the floor most of the round—where Firpo hammered Dempsey through the ropes—where everything happened in such a hurry that no one could follow the swiftly shifting scenario of raw action.

Quite Obviously That Was the Wrong Question

Two G.I.s on a day off were strolling along a suburban road outside London when they saw on a hillside a building which said over its archway "Hall of Remembrance"—the British phrase for crematorium. With usual G.I. curiosity, one of them went in to see what it was.

Moments later, he came flying out. To the other's question as to why the haste, the investigating G.I. replied:

"Darned if I know. I walked in and there were a lot of people in black standing around a pit from which flames seemed to be coming. All I said was: "Hi, folks, what's cooking?"

Michigan State College Marketing Department, then explained how similar organizations are now operated in the states of Wisconsin and New York. He pointed out that great benefits in such an organization should not be expected the first year, although over a period of years marked improvement in dairy products marketing might well be expected. He stated that at least 80 to 90 per cent of the producers in the area should definitely become members at once and sign the necessary marketing agreement.
Other short talks on agricultural marketing were presented by County Agricultural Agents R. B. Culter of West Branch and W. L. Finley of Tawas City and Laurence Holly, field representative of the West Branch Borden Company.
It was voted to establish an organizing committee who will work with Mr. Howland in drawing up the proposed Articles of Association, By-Laws and Proposed Marketing Agreement.
