WIN FROM HALE AND STANDISH

Tawas Pitchers Give Fine Performance in Games

The Tawas City High School baseball team racked up a pair of victories for themselves by defeating Hale 10 to 2 last Friday and by beating Standish 8 to 2 Monday.

Herriman was the starting pitcher in the Hale game and turned in a good performance by striking out nine of the opposing team and allowing no hits. Landon, the regular pitcher for the team, turned in his second victory of the spring season by defeating Standish 8 to 2, allowing only five hits and a walk, and striking out nine players. Bublitz, who handles the catching position on the team, showed some good playing behind the plate, making several nice pickups that probably would have resulted in runs. The Tawas boys showed in both of these games that they could play heads up ball. Many balls which were hit to the outfield which were certain to be hits, were hauled down by the outfielders. Herriman led the boys in hitting in the Hale game, and Thornton had two hits to lead in the Standish game.

Hale Game
In the first inning for Tawas, Anderson singled but was thrown out trying to steal second; Landon tripled; Thornton was safe on a fielders choice, with Landon scoring; Herriman singled; Bublitz lied to short; Ross, flied out to third.

In the third inning for Tawas, Anderson flied to third base; Landon singled; Thornton singled; Herriman singled with Landon scoring; Bublitz walked; Ross struck out, and Thornton was thrown out by the pitcher trying to steal home.

In the fourth inning for Tawas, Ristow walked then stole second; Burtzloff walked and Ristow took (Turn to No. 1, Back Page)

Teachers Have Fine Meeting at Hale Tuesday

Clair Taylor, Director of Finance of the State Department of Education in his talk before the Isosco County Teachers Institute held Tuesday at Hale, gave a very detailed description of some of the bills before the State Legislature. He also pointed out that each school in Michigan will receive an added amount of money in the final state aid payment this year. This is due, he said, to the state having about $1,000,000 left over after paying out the regular demands. He also stated that the probabilities were greatly in favor of a larger state appropriation next year, and that we could expect an increased payment of approximately $750 per child.

Following Mr. Taylor's talk the teachers were divided into three groups for the discussion of school problems. Dr. Troy Stearns was in charge of the high school group, Dr. Martha Addy, the elementary, Mr. Taylor the rural teachers.

At noon a very fine luncheon was served to about 85 people in the large dining room of the Plainfield township Hall. Immediately following the luncheon the teachers reassembled in the auditorium of the hall and were appreciative of a very fine series of vocal selections delivered by the Hale High School Glee Club and individual members. During the meeting the Hale High School Band gave a fine musical demonstration and Mr. Rose, the music director, deserves a great amount of credit for the performance of his group.

The afternoon program was completed by an address by Dr. Troy Stearns, assistant director of education department of Michigan State College. His address, "Schools for What?" was very ably given and enjoyed by the teachers. His talk very well laid the job of educating youth right in the lap of the teaching profession, and he said that if youth are to be educated to take part in lasting peace, it certainly will be the job of the schools to assist in putting such a program over.

The institute was dismissed by School Commissioner Russell Rollin at about 3:30, and we all felt that we really had received an inspiration that would be of great assistance to us in completing our years work, and in getting ready for the next year which will be here all too soon.

IN the SERVICE

Phillip A. Mark, 18, sonman, third class, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. F. Mark of Tawas City was a member of the crew of the Atlantic Fleet destroyer that carried King Ibn Saud from the Arabian port of Jiddah to his historical meeting with the late President Roosevelt.

To reach Jiddah the destroyer had to pass through the Suez Canal into the Red Sea. When the royal party of 48 persons embarked American sailors were treated to a sight reminiscent of Biblical times. A huge tent was erected on the forecabin completely covering the forward gun mount. In it the king slept, serving a banquet for the ship's officers and saw the new Navy film "Fighting Lady."

A corral for the sheep, brought along to supply food for the royal party, was built on the stern of the ship among the depth charges. About the decks the personal belongings of the king's ministers, household and guards - thick rugs, great trunks and stores of fruit and rice reflected the light of the many charcoal fires that burned night and day to prepare food and thick Arabian coffee. It proved impossible for the ship to black out after sunset. An American destroyer resembling nothing so much as an Arabian camp in the desert was a new experience even for that experienced band of seamen, the destroyer sailor.

Ensign Robert Halligan of the Merchant Marine, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Halligan in Tawas City.

SPORTSMEN'S CLUB NAMES 1945 OFFICERS

Monday Evening Meeting Of Club Draws Large Attendance

Heading the Isosco County Sportsmen's Club again this year will be Thomas White of East Tawas, president; Laurel Lawe of Whittemore, vice president; E. A. Cuny of Grant township, secretary; and W. C. Roach of Tawas City, treasurer, as a result of an election by the board of directors which was held Monday night at the Tawas City School Auditorium. The directors meeting followed a regular meeting of the club which was held earlier in the evening.

The regular meeting of the club drew a very large attendance of members, and all sections of the county were represented. A report by Thomas White, president of the club, revealed that the club had contributed in a practical way to conservation and propagation of game and fish during the past year. Last season a large number of pheasant were liberated and through the club's efforts more legal size trout than ever before were planted in the streams of the county.

As to future activities, the club has raised nearly $1,000.00 for cleaning and improving the pond above Rodman's dam on Silver creek. After many years the pond has become filled with silt, and cleaning the silt out would improve trout fishing conditions there.

Another project planned by the club is the establishment of one or two rearing ponds for the propagation of bass and bluegills. A site for pond has been donated by seven of the club members, Carl Babcock, Dan Thayer, Earl Bielby, Herbert Townsend, Glen Sabin, Clarence Peck and Thomas White.

At this meeting eight directors were elected, and the board was increased from 12 to 16 members. The directors elected are: Scott Shuman of East Tawas; Clarence Peck of Oscoda; Hobart Brayman of AuSable; Lawrence Jordan of Sherman; Dr. John LeClair of Tawas City; Herbert Townsend of Hale; Frank Mochty of East Tawas and Harold Trigger of Oscoda.

W. C. Roach, treasurer of the club, reported that the club had a cash balance of $750.68 in the general fund.

Huron-Manistee Forest Offices to be Combined

"During the next two months we are consolidating the administration of the two national forests in the lower peninsula of Michigan," stated Jay H. Price, federal forester for the north central region of the United States Forest Service.

"The consolidation," continues Mr. Price, "is being made in the interest of economy and in line with the wartime practice of manpower conservation. The present headquarters of the Huron National Forest, located at East Tawas, and that of the Manistee National Forest at Muskegon, will be combined and located at Cadillac as soon as rapidly as accommodations there become available.

"Paul S. Newcomb, the present supervisor of the Manistee will be the head of the combination forest. C. L. Harrison, now in charge of the Huron, will transfer to Columbus, Ohio as supervisor of the Wayne National Forest where there has been a technical vacancy in the supervisorship since H. A. Svensen became area forester of Ohio's Timber Production War Project. No changes are being made in ranger headquarters.

"The Huron is by far the older of the two national forests on the lower peninsula, having been created from land of the Public Domain on February 11, 1909, whereas the first purchase unit of the Manistee was not authorized until August, 1933 and it did not become a national forest until October 25, 1938 through proclamation of the late President Roosevelt.

"Government ownership in the Huron is now approximately 380,000 acres and in the Manistee 350,000 acres, but, in the case of the Manistee—"

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

By Col. Robert L. Scott W.N.U. RELEASE

The story thus far: After graduating from West Point, Robert Scott wins his wings at Kelly Field, Texas, and takes up combat flying. He has been an instructor for four years when the war breaks out and is told he is now too old for combat flying. After appealing to several Generals, Scott is finally offered an opportunity to get into the fight. He flies a bomber to India, but on arrival is made a ferry pilot, but this does not suit him. He visits Gen. Chennault, gets a Kittyhawk and soon is flying the skies over Burma, where he becomes known as the "one man air force." Later, he is made C.O. of the 23rd Fighter Group, but he still keeps on knocking down Jap planes.

CHAPTER XXVII

Another theory was that the realization that you had strafed enemy ground troops, shot down Japanese pilots, strafed troops getting out of an enemy transport, or even killed Japanese satellites, would come back to you at night, and you'd wake up in horror at having "blood on your hands." To that I say "Nuts."

Later, when the newness of combat had worn off, I used to watch a Japanese pilot come towards me on a head-on run, picking me out, I guess, because I was leading the Group. I'd get my sights on him and yell, perhaps a bit hysterically: "You poor sucker, with my six Fifties that out-range your short-range little cannons that jam lots of times, I'm going to blow you apart before you get close enough to hit me!" Overconfidence, perhaps, for I didn't get every one who came at me, and I took lots of hits in my own ship—even had to dive away sometimes when two came on at once. But I'm still here, and from thirteen to twenty-two Jap pilots who fought against me are dead.

You know that you have everything to live for, and that the Jap has everything to die for. That's his only hope of reaching the heaven that we already have.

Yes, they are suicide pilots; at times they will try to ram your plane, or will dive their ships into our carriers. I've seen a Japanese dive low over Hengyang and circle while they shot at him with everything on the field and we shot at him with every ship above the field. But he flew his ship in a slow circle, as if he were blinded and couldn't see, or were only partly conscious. Then, with a half roll at barely three hundred feet, he dove his plane into the only building on the field—our thatched-roof alert shack, which burned with the Jap in his ship. When the wreckage had cooled enough we finally pulled his charred body out—and by his side was his Samurai sword, and through his body the doctor found one lone bullet-hole, severing his spinal cord near the small of the back. He had been able to move his hands but not his feet. But with his last consciousness he had picked out one more object on our field to destroy for the gods of the Shinto Shrine.

But they have fear too. Don't think they're supermen, for I assure you they're not. They're little, warped brain savage animals with the complex of suppression—but they have fear, like any one else. Their fear is worse, for there's that phobia of having nothing to live for—the inferiority-complex they try to overcome.

I once saw that fear on the face of a Japanese pilot when he knew he was going to die, and it did me lots of good. I told of it many times to youngsters in my Group and it always made them feel better to know that the Japs were afraid when they met them—probably more afraid than we were. Oh, the Jap is a wonderful pilot when he meets no or little opposition. They come in over undefended Chinese cities and loop and roll and zoom, shooting at the helpless pedestrians while arrogantly flying inverted on their backs. But when they meet good American fighters, with pilots who know how to fight them, they are the most anxious people I've ever met to leave our territory and go "hell for leather" towards Japan.

One day I flew very close to a lone Jap pilot during a fight near Kweilin. I placed my sights right where his wing joined the fuselage of the 1-97-2 and steadily squeezed a burst from two hundred yards, holding the trigger down while I moved into closer range. Then I swerved out from behind the enemy ship, expecting it to stream fire and perhaps explode. I had seen pieces come off, and I had seen the canopy glass turn to a fine, shining powder that sparkled in the slipstream as the ship nosed almost straight up. But when it didn't burn, I skidded back across its tail, first with a look to my rear quarter.

I saw into the cockpit. The canopy had been shot away and I could see the Jap's face—and on it was a look of terror such as I had never seen before. The realization went through me with such force that as I nosed down to fire again I nearly cut the tail from the Jap fighter with my prop. Then I savagely held a long burst from less than fifty yards while I shot the ship to pieces. Even after the enemy plane had fallen and I had flown through the debris, I found that I was continuing to fire at the empty heavens, for I had learned to hate also.

No, the Jap is far from a superman. But we must never again be little the fanaticism of the Japanese. They are as dangerous as mad dogs.

They think they will win—and they can if we continue to underestimate them.

Strange things happen in the air, strange as the fiction of the ages. Six of us shot into a ship that detached itself from one of the circling Japanese "circuses" we encountered one day East of Hengyang. When you meet the Jap in his larger-numbered formation, he at once goes into the circling technique that Baron von Richthofen made famous in the last war. This "circus" gradually moves in on or away from their objective as a defensive maneuver, for in it the ship behind protects the tail of the one in front. Our tactics were to dive through the "squirrel cage" and get snap shots at as many ships as we could, but keep our speed to prevent their getting on our tails.

It was in one of these attacks that this lone Jap Zero left the protection of his other ships and began to do aerobatics—sloppy loops, wing-overs, stalls, and then another loop. Thinking it was a trick, we were wary; but after two of our pilots had made passes on it, two more of us went down towards it. As I kept getting closer and closer to the enemy plane I could see that the pilot was evidently hurt, but when I crossed the top of the strange-acting plane I saw that he was leaning forward over the stick control, obviously dead.

As the speed of the dive would build up pressures on the tail surfaces, the nose would rise, for a Jap ship is rigged that way. As the ship climbed more steeply, the pilot's upper body swung to the back of the seat in the normal position and the plane made a sloppy loop.

For several minutes we watched the pilotless Zero in fascination. From 16,000 feet a ship that is shot down can dive into the ground in a few seconds—it can even spin in from an explosion in a little longer than that; but we watched this plane for twice the time that it would normally have taken. It worked closer and closer to the ground over the same area, as it lost altitude gradually in the maneuvers. Then, after the longest wait that I can remember having gone through in the air, in one of its dives from a loop it struck the hills below and burned. We could have burned it with a long burst many times during the minutes of our watching, but I imagine we were all spellbound at the spectacle.

No one spoke for several minutes as we turned back to Hengyang. Then some call over the radio broke the spell, and we just marked the Jap off as another confirmed Zero—another "good" Jap.

Over in Yunnan we fought the Japs a few times in Burma and had the sadness of another military funeral. Those moments in the Buddhist burial grounds were the hardest in China. As the Chaplain read the prayer and the flag-draped casket was lowered into the red earth of Yunnan, a small formation, with slow-turning engines that gave forth a muffled sound, would fly over the grave. There would be one vacant niche in the evenly spaced fighters, in honor of the brother airman who would fly no more.

After eight months in combat I was sent with five other pilots to ferry six new P-40K's over from the air base at Karachi. During our work for the planes to be ready for combat, we were permitted to go to Bombay for the detached service. There, in this splendor of the Hotel Taj Mahal, we had a glorious time. In fact, it became very hard to realize that a war was going on over in Burma and China, as we looked at the night clubs from Malabar Hill and from inside them too, at the horse-races for the Aga Khan's Purse—and at all the things that we had forgotten to remember.

The return across India was a happy one, for we were ferrying new and higher-powered ships back to the war, and all of us were eager to try them out in combat. From Assam we took the old familiar trail that I used to fly with the transports, and it felt especially good to look around and see those friendly looking P-40's along with me over the Burma Road where I had, in earlier months, been compelled to fly alone. The shark-mouths had not yet been painted on, but the silhouettes of the new fighters looked friendly nevertheless.

A fast trip over the five hundred miles from Assam is like this:

We're off from our base and heading 118 degrees across the twelve-thousand-foot Naga Hills to the first check-point, where the upper fork of the Chindwin forms the likeness of a shamrock. Up to our left now, from the altitude of eighteen thousand that we've attained so effortlessly with the new ships, can be seen the higher snow-capped peaks of Tibet and Chinese Turkestan. Down below us the valley of the Irrawaddy is low and green, but forbidding nonetheless. Ahead, as we cross the "Y" in the little known "triangle of the Irrawaddy," we see the real hills of the "hump" begin to rise. Snow-capped peaks everywhere. Our map reads that our highest peak is going to be 15,800 feet; yet we well know from experience that we've tried it many times and we need to be very sure that we are at 18,000 to clear the mountains from the Irrawaddy to Tali Lake.

Below us are the villages of the Miaows. We climb to 25,000 feet to test the "suped-up" ships, and a smile comes to our faces under the oxygen masks—for this is going to surprise the Jap. We're going over the Mekong now, and from the time that has elapsed we've certainly picked up a tail wind—must be making over three hundred. The gorge of the Mekong runs like a gash in the sinister country of Burma to the South, and we know it goes on and on towards Saigon and the sea.

It's barely twenty miles to the Salween, and we make it so quickly that we begin to doubt that the other river had been the Mekong. Our ground speed is well over three hundred as we see Lake Tali and start the down-hill run to Kunming. Now we catch the first glimpse of the Burma Road, North of Yunnanyi, and soon we see the small lake that is near our field at that town. The mountains to the North are very high, and we know they get higher and higher and stretch almost without break to the East and the Pacific. We see the hairpin turns of the Burma Road near Tsuyung, and know that we're nearly home from the Taj Mahal and India.

We dive over the field of our headquarters just one hour and twenty-five minutes from the time we took off from Assam, five hundred miles away. I can tell by the smiles on the faces of the other men in the flight that we're all thinking the same thing: We have had medicine for the Jap packed into the increased horsepower of these new "Kays"—our Warhawks. They are the latest of the P-40 series, and coming to us this time of year we look upon them as Christmas presents from the States.

The P-40 was in production when the war began. Then the decks were definitely stacked against us, and everything was in favor of the enemy. During the past year of our war these ships produced as no other fighter plane did, for they were serving on every front. Any pilot who actually fought the Axis enemies in the P-40 Tomahawks, Kittyhawks, or Warhawks will tell you they are tough and dependable. They will dive with the best of projectiles—including a bomb. All of us hope that the best fighter plane has not been produced, but we know that America will develop it.

In the meantime, through those lean months when America had to fight on many fronts with so little, the glorious P-40 series paid off when the chips were down in a ratio of between twelve and fifteen to one—twelve to fifteen enemy ships for every one of ours lost.

Some day, when the war is over and our sturdy American engines driving great American ships have won victory with air power, I hope and pray—with all fighter pilots who have faced our enemies in aerial combat, from the hot sands of Libya to the cold tundra of the Aleutians, from the jungle heat of Guadalcanal to those torrential rains of the Burmese Monsoons—that some understanding group of citizens will go to Kitty Hawk, North Carolina. There, beside the statue that commemorates the first flight of the Wright Brothers, I hope that they will build a monument to the Curtiss P-40 with its Allison Engine.

And now, with a few minor battles in the air, we saw Christmas in China draw near, and I couldn't help wishing for fast action somewhere. After all, there's only one place a person wants to be at Christmas.

I took off from Kunming one day just before Christmas to inspect the warning net in western Yunnan. It didn't take long to find out that it was very inefficient near the Burma border, where a steady influx of fifth-columnists and Japanese money was filtering across the Salween. Even then I knew that instead of getting the Chinese officers who were in charge of the net to investigate, it would be much better to have a few engagements with the Jap over the failing net-area. There was no tonic like burning Jap planes over the country to improve the functioning of the air-raid warning net.

Something New Has Happened— It's 'Big 'n' Little Prints' Mode

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A NEW fashion in prints came into being this spring.

It's really a new branch on the family tree of mother - and - daughter or big - and - little sister fashions. The idea is, the print design produced for mother or big sister is reproduced in miniature to tune to little daughter or little sister age.

This print innovation is so very new, so gay and so obvious the wonder is that no one thought of it before. The theme of big-n-little prints is developing into much more than a mom and child proposition in that it is making a tremendous hit for adult play clothes and daytime dresses. The idea of a large print plus a print scaled down to right proportion for children offers endless possibilities to creative genius.

The fashion-wise girl with imagination will use the small print for her dress, making the most stunning accessories out of the big print that fancy can picture. She'll try a blouse in little and a skirt in big print.

When mother turns out a frock for herself and a miniature duplicate for her child, she will do well to make them of the big and little doughnut print trimmed with gay ric-rac braid as shown in the foreground of the illustration.

The patternings of these new related prints are as gay and out of the beaten path as the big-and-little idea itself. The doughnut print is a favorite, and a bright-hued Dutch tile motif in the two sizes is charming, as is also the floral that patterns calico daisies in two sizes.

Speaking of prints in general, the story they have to tell this season is as exciting as it can be. The entire fashion world is intrigued with the remarkable "conversation prints" that take just any theme, be it a ball of yarn, a safety pin or a prancing horse that goes through all its antics in print on a colorful background handling the patterning so designfully and artfully it turns out to be a work of art that delights the eye.

When it comes to the new florals, the story of prints deals with the theme in breathtaking new slants. There is, for instance, a superb print shown which splashes large white flowers with green leaves widely spaced on a navy blue satin background. Another beautiful print spaces enormous California poppies, entirely realistic in color.

Coming trends in prints herald dark grounds for both day and evening wear. The smartest types are widely spaced. Satin prints with widely spaced motifs are last word news.

There are many styling details that make as big news as the prints themselves. One of the late features is the side drape and side-fasten that is executed in original ways. Many of the side drapes that end in a cascade of ruffles have the edges finished off with sawtooth scalloping, with a like treatment edging the sleeves. Such clever things are done as seen in the dress of black - on - white background polka dots, the dots rather widely spaced so that the impression is mostly white. The gown is very youthfully and simply styled, a dash of color supplied in a bright red piping that finishes off all edges. The big color sensation in current prints is the combination of pink with black. When topped with a dainty pink-flower hat and pink gloves or other accessories, the costume resolves itself into a picture of sweet femininity.

Filmy White Hats Are 'A Dream Come True'

There's a white hat vogue on, the like of which has seldom if ever been equalled in the annals of millinery history. The white hat of today is like a dream come true. There is an ethereal beauty about a lovely confection that is made of yards and yards of filmy illusive sheers or chiffon veiling or dainty ruched net or fine horsehair braid. In these sheers, billowed about the crown nestle white roses or some smaller white posies. Or perhaps one discovers the flutter of a ribbon or two from within the filmy mass. Then there are the little "lovely lady" hats fashioned of wee blossoms such as lilies-of-the-valley, tiny hyacinths, stephanotis and other diminutive snow-white flowers. Contrasting the little flowers, there are dramatic confections that pose three enormous white roses firmly anchored to a disc of fine white straw. There's charm aplenty also in the immaculate white hats fashioned in versatile and intriguing ways of starched pique or eyelet embroidery. They are the coming vogue for the spring and summer.

Caplet Dress Attuned To Spring and Summer

The more you see of cape dresses and suits the more you admire them. The latest models are so daintily fashioned they will be wearable right through spring and summer to fall. The type you'll love best is the rayon crepe dress with print top. This has a matching caplet that comes just to the elbow. The print top has a neat collar band of self print with a huge soft bow at the front that falls out over the cape in an attractive manner.

Housing Project to Attract the Birds

IF YOU would attract birds, remember that they are discriminating tenants. Bluebirds like a house with nest space six inches deep below an entrance an inch and a half in diameter, and they prefer a sunny location five to ten feet high. Robins want a roof but no front on their house; a high location and a little shade, please. Wrens like a tiny house tucked under the eaves of your own dwelling.

The bird house designs shown here are planned to suit prospective tenants and their lines are so pleasing that you will be proud to make them permanent features of your yard or garden. They make wonderful gifts or items to sell too. It is easy to cut out their simple curves in scraps of outdoor plywood or other lumber.

NOTE—Pattern 277 gives an actual-size cutting guide for all shaped parts of these three bird houses and illustrated directions for their construction. A list of all materials is included. To get pattern 277, send 15 cents with name and address direct to:

New Bond Film Features Talks By U. S. Leaders

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The War Finance Division of the U. S. Treasury has recently released a dramatic film, entitled "Mr. and Mrs. America," stressing the importance of War Bond ownership.

Early highlight of the film is a brief address by President Roosevelt who points out that 85,000,000 Americans have already invested billions of dollars in Bonds.

"Never before," states the President, "have so many people held such a direct share in a great national effort. To save—to buy and to hold all we can of War Bonds—this is a small service to ask of us who do not fight. Yet it is one of the biggest things we can do for our fighting men."

Following the President's speech, there is a series of quick cuts of battle action, followed by scenes of first aid, surgery, nursing, convalescence.

"Your War Bond has two sides," says a narrator. "One side fights the war, the other wins the peace... your own personal peace."

Philip Murray, President of the C.I.O., declares:

"The great Payroll Savings plan was introduced as a wartime measure to help finance the war and combat inflation. Few of us realized when it was first introduced that it also was a powerful instrument for winning the peace. Through a program of regular savings... men and women of America have an unprecedented opportunity to insure themselves of a substantial measure of security."

Next, William Green, President of the A.F.L., states:

"Men of labor know that in organization there is strength and the men and women of America are today organized in a vast War Bond army... If we remain united by buying and holding War Bonds until they mature, we shall be taking a great step toward that security we are all looking forward to in the future."

And then Eric Johnston, President of the Chamber of Commerce:

"It takes work and money—lots of it—to keep our giant industries operating at full steam. War Bonds you buy and hold account for a large part of that money today... War Bonds you buy today and hold for the future are vital stakes in our America—that is and your America—to-be."

An important part of the movie is an address by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, who, describing the many advantages of E Bonds, makes this unequivocal statement:

"As Secretary of the Treasury, I can assure you that the Government will stand back of this Bond and fulfill every provision of it. It will be paid precisely and exactly according to the terms under which it was issued."

Garden Equipment

A few simple, sturdy garden tools, well cared for, are all that most gardeners require to do good work.

Tools used for hand preparation of the soil are a square-nosed spade or spading fork and a steel-toothed rake. These and other metal tools, such as wheel hoe, pruning shears and knife, lawn mower, and wheelbarrow, should be cleaned of dirt, and the working parts wiped with an oily rag after use. Tools should be kept in a dry place, such as a garage or tool shed.

Farm Hours

The United States average of 11.2 hours each day worked by farm operators is just about equal to the national average of hours between sunrise and sunset on March 1.

Draining Soils

On poorly drained or slow-draining soils sow alsike and Ladino clovers with timothy and reedtop, agronomists say. Some red clover and alfalfa may be used on well-drained spots. On soils that become very dry in summer mammoth clover should improve yields.

Potato Values

Two medium sized potatoes will furnish over half of a person's daily requirements of vitamin C, one-third the needed vitamin B, and one-sixth of the iron.

Poultry Ration

Experimental work has shown that poultry require somewhat less phosphorus and calcium in their feed when vitamin D is amply supplied than when minimum amounts feed by adding extra amounts of this are used. This means that vitamin D can, in part, compensate for a lowered phosphorus content in the vitamin. However, this does not imply that by adding plenty of vitamin D the phosphorus and calcium content of feeds can be disregarded.

So the city folks have done it! Well, WATCH OUR SPEED!

WORD comes from Washington that the fat-salvage problem has got to be licked in the small cities, the towns and on the farms.

Don't worry—just watch our speed!
HOW TO DO IT: Save all used fats in a tin can. Keep it handy to the stove. Scrape your broilers and roasting pans, skim soups and gravies, for every drop counts. Keep solid pieces of fat, as meat trimmings and table scraps, in a bowl.

Melt down once a week when your oven's going, add the liquid fat to the salvage can.

Take the can to your butcher as soon as it's full. He will give you two red points and up to four cents for every pound. If you have any difficulty, call your County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent. This message is approved by WFA and OPA, and paid for by Industry.

Four Billions
In E Bonds Goal
In 7th War Loan

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"In the Seventh War Loan your government is asking for the largest sum in investments by individuals in the history of America. Of the $7,000,000,000 individual goal, $4,000,000,000 is to be in E Bonds," Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. recently said in announcing the Advance Payroll Savings drive. The Secretary further stated: "To meet this unprecedented but vitally necessary E Bond quota, the American worker, through the payroll savings plan, is being called upon for increased allotments and extra cash War Bond purchases to a greater extent than in any previous drive."

"War is the grimmest and greatest of human endurance tests. The side that wins, in the final analysis, is the side that is in there working and fighting at the end—the side with the stamina and the spirit to endure the long and terrible ordeal."

"The present war imposes its test no less upon civilians than upon the men in the armed services. Victory goes inevitably to the side whose men and women, in and out of uniform, stick longest and most unwaveringly to the performance of their jobs."

"There has been a fundamental change in the nature of the war. There is no limited objective now. The objective is total victory. The nearer we drive toward the enemy's heart, the costlier the war becomes. As we begin to go all out against the Japanese, so will our costs increase due to greater distances."

"I know that Americans need no appeal to meet the demands of the Seventh War Loan. The way for each of us here at home to meet these demands is through increasing War Bond purchases, unceasing devotion to his duty and his job and through a vivid knowledge that to win we must sacrifice."

"Our response to the Seventh War Loan will be the vindication to these men of their faith in us."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

DREW PEARSON

ARMY AND MEAT SHORTAGE.
It happened behind closed doors, but a lot of housewives would have relished being present when Cong. Clinton Anderson's special food committee quizzed an array of Washington bigwigs.

A lot of star witnesses were present, but the army, represented by Maj. Gen. Carl Hardigg of the quartermaster corps, chiefly took it on the chin.

War Food Chief Marvin Jones started the ball rolling when he produced figures showing that last year, when meat was plentiful, the army gobbled up the works by failing to take anywhere near the quantity allocated to it. In the fourth quarter of 1944, the army had asked for one and a quarter billion pounds of meat. Actually, the army took half a billion pounds less.

That, according to the closed-door testimony, was the chief reason why ration points on meat were dropped last year and the housewives got a windfall. The public then got back to the habit of eating meat. But today, with meat far less plentiful, the army has ordered even more than allocated to it last year.

General Hardigg was unable to satisfy the congressmen as to why the army failed to take up its meat last year, or at least failed to put it in cold storage for later use. Had this been done, army demands would now be much smaller. General Hardigg also was asked to report back to congress on meat consumption per soldier in the British army, also in the Russian army. Congressmen also asked Hardigg to report on how much meat was consumed by U. S. troops overseas, as compared with that consumed by troops in the United States.

RELAXED MEAT INSPECTION
One proposal to ease the meat shortage is to abolish federal inspection in small local slaughter houses. These slaughterers have to pass state inspection anyway, and most of them are thoroughly reputable. But to sell inter-state they must pass federal inspection, so many now sell only within state limits. This is one reason why cattle-raising states are experiencing no meat shortage today.

General Hardigg, however, sat on the idea of relaxing federal inspection. He argued that federal inspection must continue. War Food Chief Jones and War Mobilizer Vinson were not impressed with Hardigg's argument.

"I never tasted federally inspected meat until I was in my 20s," scoffed Jones.

"Out in Kentucky we did all right without federally inspected meat," Vinson agreed. "I never had it until I was out of my teens."

Representative Anderson of Albuquerque, N. M., chairman of the committee, then took General Hardigg to task for the army's system of poultry buying.

"Out my way, where we've got plenty of meat," Anderson said, "the army isn't interested in buying poultry. Here in the East, where meat is scarce, you're taking all the poultry. Why not spread your poultry buying so that in areas where the public has a hard time getting meat it can at least get a little poultry?"

He pointed out that the army is taking 100 per cent of the poultry in the Delmarva area — Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

Vinson supported Anderson, telling Hardigg: "Try to work that out with the war food administration, General."

Otherwise it ranks as an A-1 picture.

With Russia's denunciation of her neutrality pact with Japan, hostilities may break out in the area pictured on the above map. Should hostilities start, some of Japan's better troops that garrison Manchuria to protect key war industries will face Siberian forces of equal if not superior strength. Child Health Day, May 1, Is Dedicated This Year To Campaign for Better Birth Registrations

A BIRTH Certificate for Every Baby in the U. S. A. is the slogan for Child Health Day, celebrated on May 1. Since 1923 May Day has become traditionally the children's day, and in 1928 congress passed a joint resolution requesting and authorizing the President to issue an annual proclamation designating May 1 as a day on which all groups interested in bettering conditions for children might unite and rededicate themselves to this cause.

The war emergency and selective service has demonstrated the value of complete and accurate birth registration at the time of birth. During the first 18 months following the bombing of Pearl Harbor the U. S. Civil Service commission alone asked the Bureau of the Census to make 500,000 searches of records for proof of citizenship when birth records were unavailable. These and subsequent searches have cost the federal government a million and a half dollars and required the services of 800 clerks and typists.

State vital statistics offices and the Bureau of the Census have been flooded with requests for delayed birth registration from great numbers of people who have had to prove citizenship to obtain jobs in war industries.

So a birth certificate is your "first citizenship paper." Most all states have laws governing these birth registrations, but despite these laws the Bureau of the Census estimates the nation has a backlog of almost 55 million persons who were not registered at the time of birth. The census in 1940 revealed that in some states birth registration is only about 75 per cent complete and in some of the southern states less than 50 per cent of the current births are registered. In the nation as a whole, the percentage of registrations was 92.5 per cent.

Country Records Less Complete.

On the average, rural counties had less complete birth registrations than urban counties.

There are scores of instances in which a proper birth certificate is essential. Evidence of age, citizenship and family relationships may be required when a person enters school, obtains a work permit, auto driver's license, pilot's license, marriage license, nurse's license, to carry firearms, an insurance policy, to qualify for voting, to enlist in the armed services, to enter civil service, to qualify for social security benefits, for federal pensions, to obtain employment in industry, passports, old age assistance, right of inheritance, to establish claims for servicemen's dependent's allowance and a score of other reasons.

The children's bureau of the department of labor has played a major role in the development of more complete birth registrations. Other organizations which have helped in this important work include the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Mothers' Congress, the Association of Collegiate Alumnae and other women's organizations throughout the country.

The war has brought a bumper crop of babies. Since Pearl Harbor more than 10 million births have been recorded in this country. 1943 set a record of more than 3 million. Proper registration, which includes information on health, is important in the proper treatment and allocation of funds under the various federal laws, such as maternal and child health care, etc.

For instance, under the Social Security act federal funds are available to states to promote these welfare programs on the basis of the number of registered live births in the state. Much of the money appropriated through the social security act is earmarked for service in rural areas where community health facilities are limited, but it is in the rural areas where birth registration is least complete.

Birth records also are essential in determining the accuracy of gains and losses in the infant mortality rate and the causes of these deaths. Based on the records available, from 1915 to 1942 both infant mortality and maternal mortality have been cut about 60 per cent. In the decade 1933 to 1943 infant mortality has been reduced from 58 to 40 per 1,000 births. For every 3 babies who died in 1933 during the first year of their lives, only 2 died in 1943. In the same period maternal mortality was pared down 58 per cent. While 62 mothers died for every 10,000 births in 1933 only 26 died in 1943.

Depends on Registrar.

The key to complete registration of babies is the local registrar. In 1941 there were approximately 30,000 of these public servants charged with the responsibility of gathering birth and death certificates. In many states the duties are imposed on civil officials who have other duties, such as the town clerk. In other states the duties fall upon any citizen who is public spirited enough to assume them. The roster of local registrars includes housewives, pharmacists, merchants, physicians' wives, farmers, undertakers and individuals in other callings. Fees paid to the registrars run from 20 cents to $1, but in a survey of six states, 72 per cent of these folks earned $50 or less a year. Less than 2 per cent earned more than $500.

Improvement in the records, however, is due to the work of these 30,000 local workers who depend upon the assistance of the doctors, nurses, midwives or others attendant at births.

Child Health officials say now is the time to bring mothers into the picture so that if every one else forgets, these mothers will do their part to make sure that there is on file a birth certificate for every baby in the U. S. A.

City Family Finds Living on Two-Acre Farm Much Better Than in New York Apartment

By Ed Robinson in "Better Homes and Gardens."

Two years ago we Robinsons lived in a New York apartment. We discovered that the unadvertised inconveniences outweigh the much-boasted conveniences that living in a large city has to offer.

When we had to take a long bus ride to let the baby play outdoors, we began to think seriously about living in the country. What we had in mind was a small place near enough to my job for me to go back and forth every day and yet large enough for us to grow a big part of our own food. We knew nothing about farming but began to read books and pamphlets. Then we moved to a small place near Norwalk, Conn., about an hour from my New York office.

Our basic idea was to farm for our own use rather than for profit—we called it our Have-More plan. When you produce only a few things, you have to sell the surplus at wholesale and buy other things at retail. When you raise a great many different things and use them yourself you are in effect selling at retail. How near have we come to this goal? Today we are producing all our milk and cream, some butter, all our eggs, about 120 pounds of chicken a year, over 200 pounds of pork, bacon and ham, plus rabbit, lamb, goose, raspberries, asparagus, and all but a few dollars worth of fresh, canned and frozen vegetables. And we are doing it all in our spare time.

We handle it all easily, and I am still able to commute to my New York job five days a week. We get up at six-thirty and I'm home from the office by seven in the evening and can work in the garden until nine. Usually we are in bed by ten, but in the canning season we are sometimes busy until midnight.

Earn Extra $100 a Month.

Our figures show that the market value of the food we are producing averages $55 a month above cost. Our expenditures for clothes, doctor bills and other costs have gone down. Instead of our spare time costing money for entertainment, we use it productively. Our payments on the place (which in 20 years will mean ownership) are less than the rent used to be. Add all these savings and the total is around $900 a year—the equivalent, considering income taxes, of earning nearly $100 a month extra.

Eggs were our first project. We started with seven pullets at $11. During eight months those seven hens laid 646 eggs; they cost us 25 cents a dozen against 60 cents in the store. We increased our flock to twenty. A better laying breed, these cut our feed costs about 15 per cent. We now eat four dozen eggs a week.

When several neighbors use the Have-More plan, variety can go up while both cost and labor are going down. We traded geese for turkeys, rabbits for pears, broilers and eggs for potatoes.

Milk From Goat.

In season we had all the fresh vegetables we could eat. In addition we canned and froze about 275 quarts for winter use and saved ourselves about $150—that's $150 over the $22.50 we spent for plowing, seeds, fertilizer and spray.

A grade Nubian doe and her two-week-old kid, shipped 2,000 miles from one of America's best goat breeders, cost $49 including shipping. Our friends are always flabbergasted when we tell them that was goat milk they had for lunch. Actually, goat milk, properly handled, has no distinctive taste, is a little richer than cow milk and naturally homogenized.

We bought two inoculated seven-week-old pigs in April, slaughtered them in December and had 460 pounds of pork at a cost of 22 cents a pound. From our two does and buck we'll have 30 to 40 young three or four-pound rabbits in a year. They are easier to dress than chickens, require less than five minutes care a day and cost only 8 to 10 cents a pound.

Colorado Wheat Takes Prize Third Year

For the third successive year wheat grown in Colorado won the Phillip W. Pillsbury prize for the best grain raised in the country. Jesse Powers, Henderson, Colo., farmer, was awarded the trophy for the 1944 crop year with hard red spring wheat. Presentation was made in Denver by R. H. Tucker, left, and Carl Powell, right, two of the judges.

UP IN ARMS

How many sterling silver bangle bracelets can you load on your arm from wrist to elbow? Well, that's how many you'll wear. Or maybe you prefer those two-inch-wide silver bangles with your name engraved on one, your Dream Man's name on the other. They look like handcuffs, sorta. And don't forget your silver identification and friendship link bracelets.

How to Be Charming—You just wear silver charm bracelets, of course.

Barrettes are back—But they must be sterling silver and they must have his name or yours (or both) engraved on them.

Rings 'n Pins—Yes, the silver fad has spread to lapel and sweater pins, too—and big bulky silver rings are tremen. Also, that popular friendship ring with two tiny silver hearts dangling from it.

Wanna Spoon, Goon?—Then just salvage a sterling silver spoon and bend it to fit your wrist. Time was when you were satisfied with a dime store spoon, covered with nail polish. This year, you'll take sterling—or else!

Daffynitions
BOOMER SOY—Popular Wolf.
YOU JAR ME—You make me mad.
DIM BULB—A stupid person.
GAMBLER—One who makes blind dates.
DAPPER—The brand new word for neat, keen, rugged, super or sharp. (What—another?)
MARRIED—Going Steady.
GRAVEL GERTIE—A drippy gal (The D. Tracy influence).
ARE YOU SERIOUS—Instead of "Are you kidding?"
AN ELEANOR—A gal who really gets around.

PASS THE FEATHER—What you say when someone tells a joke that's not funny. The idea is that you could tickle yourself with a feather and make yourself laugh—see?
COOKIE SUGARING—Telling fibs.
COOKIE DUSTER—Moustache.
TAKE IT EASY, BREZY—In other words, "not so fa-a-ast!"

TRIXIE TEEN SAYS—Keep a day-to-day or weekend-to-weekend diary and you'll have some standard for comparison when your social life seems to slip. Suppose you don't have a date this entire weekend and you didn't have one last weekend either! Look back into your diary. Weren't there wide open spaces last year, too? Then, suddenly, weren't you back in the social whirl with more dates than you could handle? Learn to take the good with the bad—and the good will seem better and the bad not so tragic.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for April 29

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

SETTLEMENT AND STRUGGLES IN CANAAN

LESSON TEXT—Judges 2:6, 7, 11, 12, 18, 19, 6:11-16.

GOLDEN TEXT—Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.—Joshua 1:9.

God keeps his promises. Israel found that to be true as He brought them into the promised land of Canaan. Those who rebelled against Him had died in the wilderness, but now a new generation had come into possession of the land.

Here they met the challenge of the heathen, and were victorious over them as they trusted the Lord. Joshua, their leader, after faithful services was ready to go to be with the Lord, but before doing so, reminded them of God's promise and the danger of unbelief and sin. As our lesson opens, we find the people settled in the land, as far as they had taken it. We find:

I. God's Promise Fulfilled (2:6)
The Lord had promised the land to them as they went in and possessed it by faith in Him. He fully kept that promise in the measure that they believed Him. They never did take the whole land, but that was because of their failure, not God's.

The story speaks to us. God has provided a rich inheritance for the believer in Christ, but it must be appropriated by faith. How much have we taken out of the riches we have in Christ?

We are also reminded of the absolute faithfulness of God. There is little in this world in which we may repose complete confidence, but we may and should trust God. He has never failed anyone, and He will not fail us.

II. Man's Promise Broken (2:7, 11, 12).
The people had solemnly promised to keep God's commandments (see last week's lesson). That promise they had renewed in response to Joshua's farewell challenge (see Josh. 24:20, 21). They kept their word only as long as those who remembered Joshua were alive, and then they "forgot the Lord."

This fall of Israel has its counterpart in what is taking place in our land today. The great mass of decent people in America were reared in Christian homes. They know what is right, and they live on the spiritual and moral momentum received from their godly parents.

The next generation now coming into power, without the benefit of spiritual training in the home and church, are forsaking the Lord and following other gods, the gods of pleasure, of money, of lust.

III. God's Plan of Deliverance (2:18, 19).

One would have thought that God would give up a people so set on sinning, but He did not. He provided deliverance for Israel. That gives us courage, for we know that He has not given us up, but has provided in Christ a sure deliverance—if America will but turn to Him.

For Israel's deliverance God provided judges, who were not only judicial, but, in fact, primarily administrative in their work. They were God's men to call Israel back to Him. The repeated failure and backsliding of Israel brought new acts of mercy on God's part in calling out new judges.

It is interesting to note that God works through men. Some of these judges were great men. Others were just ordinary men. But each in his appointed place, at the appointed time, was God's man.

God is looking for men today who will serve Him. He wants brilliant, capable men, but He also calls the ordinary, everyday variety, and as they are faithful, He blesses them. Has He called you? Have you responded?

IV. God's Presence and Power (6:11-16).

Israel had long been under the oppression of the Midianites, who would sweep over the land and steal their crops and their flocks. Israel finally turned to God for help, and He met their need by calling Gideon as the fifth of the judges.

God knows better than to call an idle man, one who is sitting around waiting for opportunity to knock. He seeks out the busy person and gives him more to do.

Note the entirely adequate provision made for Gideon's success. "Surely I will be with thee." That means both the presence and the power of the eternal and omnipotent One.

Gideon at once began the tearing down of the heathen places of worship in his own community. It was the hardest place to start. It always is. But the one whose light is to shine afar must see that it shines brightest at home.

The humility of Gideon as he looked at himself (v. 15) is commendable. But note that he did not permit it to shut the door of faith, as he believed God and did mighty exploits for Him. Don't trust yourself, but do trust God!

Well-Fitting Slip for Matrons Tots Will Love This Party Dress

Slenderizing Slip
The built-up shoulder on this slip makes it especially nice for the slightly heavier figure. Waistline darts are slimming and make it fit satin-smooth. Tailored panties to match.

Pattern No. 1281 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38, ensemble, built-up shoulder, requires 4 1/2 yards of 35 or 39-inch material.

Household Hints

Daddy's worn-out shirts can be made over into cunning blouses, dresses or suits for the one-year-old, provided a little trimming and imagination are used.

After oiling the sewing machine, stitch through a blotter several times. This takes up all surplus oil on the machine, and keeps from getting it on the material.

Dental floss is fine for mending elastic, because it wears so long. Take care in mending that tiny rubber threads are not damaged. Sew between them.

When painting woodwork, coat the door knobs, locks, etc., with vaseline, so that the paint can be easily wiped off if it splashes on these surfaces.

To remove rust from nickel, grease well with any kind of lubricant, let stand for a few minutes, then rub with cloth soaked in ammonia. Rinse with water and polish.

An easy way to give ferns their weekly watering is to place them in the bathtub, draw shower curtain and turn on the shower, adjusting spray until it is about room temperature.

Jap Outcasts
When Shintoism rose in Japan its teachings prohibited the eating of the meat of animals. Groups that continued eating animal meat or handling animal hides were declared "unclean." Called Etori or butchers, the prejudice against them became widespread. Today, as always, the outcasts are permitted to do only the lowest type of work—chiefly the jobs of butchers and tanners.

istee, the potential acreage that can be acquired when the purchase program is again active, is almost twice that of the Huron.

"While the consolidation units will be designated administratively as the Lower Michigan National Forest, the Huron and the Manistee will retain their identity as far as receipts are concerned. Payment of 25 percent of the gross returns made to the state for redistribution to the counties within which the two units are located, will continue to be made on the same basis as heretofore. In 1944 approximately $7,000 was returned from the Huron receipts and $4,500 from the Manistee.

"No change was ever made without inconveniencing someone, but I am sure that the combination of these two forests in the lower peninsula will facilitate good management, will result in economies, and will be more than acceptable to the majority using facilities of the national forests," concluded Mr. Price.
