EISENHOWER AND RUSSIANS

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, a real diplomat, has been making progress toward friendship with the Russians, but got a setback the other day.

S. officials entering Eisenhow er's office found him despondent. He was holding a copy of Time mag-

"Look at that," he said, "six weeks' work gone."

Eisenhower pointed to a picture of a female entertainer in a Berlin night club standing on her head, legs apart, holding a picture of Stalin between them. Time had re-

"And just as I was making some progress with Marshal Zhukov," Eisenhower mourned. "First he would scarcely see me. But recently we have become pretty good friends. When I go into his office he says, 'Here's to Ike.' " Eisenhower went on to tell how Zhukov was blazing mad over the Time magazine picture. He had just come from seeing the Russian commander who had demanded: "What are you going to do about this?"

"Nothing," replied Eisenhow-"What! You let the American press make mockery of the marshal?" exclaimed Zhukov. "That's what we fought the war for-the right to criticize, the right for people to say what they please," said Eisenhower. Eisenhower went on to explain to the Russian that because one newspaper or magazine published a picture of Stalin, it did not reflect the sentiment of either the American government or the American people, and that the American government scrupulously refrained from censoring the press on matters of

However, the Russians continue to be sensitive. It is hard for them to understand the difference between a regulated press as in the Soviet and a free press as in the U.S.A.

NEW SUPREME COURT JUSTICE President Truman really let his hair down with Senator Burton when he called him in last week to tell him he was being nominated to the Supreme court.

Catching Burton just before the Ohio senator was about to leave for Cincinnati, Truman told him that he had actually promised the Supreme court job to another man, Robert Patterson, now secretary of war, but changed his mind.

"Harold," said Truman at the start of the interview, "I've made up my mind to appoint you to the Supreme court.

"You were always my first picture, choice," Truman continued, "but I Simple had some vacillations. I considered appointing Phillips of Denver, Parker of North Carolina and Patterson.

"Finally I decided to appoint Patterson and told him I was going to appoint him.'

Truman then explained that it was better to leave Patterson in the war department to replace Stimson as secretary of war.

"One of the things that disturbed me about your appointment," Truman continued, "was the probable claim that I might be playing politics in order to get a Democratic senator from Ohio." (Truman had in mind the fact that Governor Lausche of Ohio, a Democrat, now can appoint a Democratic senator to replace Burton, a Republican.)

"So I talked it over with Alben Barkley," Truman explained, "and he advised that if I was convinced you were the right man, I should appoint you and let political consequences go hang."

Note-Truman had picked up Senator Barkley at Paducah, Ky., the evening before and flown him back to Washington in his special plane, at which time they had conferred regarding the Burton appointment. Truman, incidentally, seems to be leaning more and more on sage, experienced Barkley for advice.

Young Moderns Demand Clothes Styled With That 'American Look'

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

MERICAN designers are doing A MERICAN designers are the themselves proud in establishing a definitely distinctive individuality in the fashions they create. This has come to be recognized and acclaimed as the "American look." Clothes with a definitie American look are what the young moderns, including teen-age, college and career girls, are clamoring for these

The keynote to the new all-American fashions is their striking simplicity, a simplicity that bespeaks a new era of smartness that gives accent to the uncluttered silhouettes, tuned to feminine prettiness in a most practical way. Such are the smartly styled dresses here pictured. These up-to-the-moment fashions by Emily Wilkens, the designer who is noted for her inimitable way of creating clothes for the campus set, are just the sort that are bringing a refreshing "American look" into the present-day fashion

Simplicity - plus is expressed all the way through the styling of the swank bolero suit. The designer makes the skirt and bolero of the now - so - fashionable wide - wale corduroy, which in this instance is in a striking electric blue, for bright colors are making a tremendous splurge this year in the fashion realm. Using the wide wale horizontally instead of vertically is a master stroke as it gives a strikingly original look to the entire costume. The slightly peg-top skirt has a shaped built-up waistline bespeaking an important trend in the season's styling. A blouse of light blue ray-jumper dress shown to the left. It has all the attributes of youth and style and feminine charm teamed with a practicality and dependable wearability that makes it ideal for classroom and campus wear. Also, it's ever so smart to wear about town. Its weskit top, soft bow at the neck, together with the white striped sleeves of zephyr knit are style convincing. This young original costume has all the qualities that go to make up a "success fashion."

In sports separates the "American look" is outstanding in the new mix - and - match (more mix than match is noted this year) outfits that go in for dashing color contrast. Noted are the chic jackets, sleeveless jerkins and separate weskits with warm knitted sleeves. You will find in the stores such fetching numbers as an aqua wool jersey torso rape and hemp for oil jerkin striped in fuchsia and black fiber are also needed. worn over an aqua crepe blouse with black sleeves and black collar, the separate skirt also in black. Gray Is a Favorite Color This Autumn

Favor for gray is seen throughout the fall collections. For daytime dresses the smartest fabric you can choose is gray flannel. As for gray furs, they are right in the limelight this autumn. Many of the smartest cloth coats are in gray wool or tweed which is lavished with spectacular gray fur. If you are going to buy a new sweater choose a fine gray Shetland wool. If you want to be the admired one of your group, here's telling you how. With your gray sweater wear a crystal cut necklace with a bracelet to match of crystal beads. Or if you are wearing a simple afternoon gown of gray crepe, give it new sparkle with crystal beads at your throat and your wrist. Returning to the topic of gray, it is that high in favor designers are making exquisite evening gowns of rayon gray crepe draped in sculptural lines. Suits of gray hollow-cut velveteen are high fashion.

Velvet Bows Return

Remember when it was the fashion to pin a big velvet bow here or there on one's frock as a glamorous finishing touch? The pendulum of fashion has swung around again to just that. It's smart to have in reserve a velvet bow or more to make your basic dress take on a dressy air. This trimming with bows is an important fashion gesture and the bows are really very flattering.

Fur-Lined Coats Popular

If you believe in preparedness now is the time to take up the matter of buying a fur-lined coat. News from style headquarters is to the effect that more fur-lined coats than ever will be worn this winter. Many of the fur linings are made detach-

UNRRA Shipped 38,000 Tons Since Early Spring

By L. F. Stice, Extension Marketing Expert.

First harvests from UNRRA (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration) seeds are being reaped by European farmers this fall, for despite early difficulties of shopping it was possible to send some seeds in time for the 1945 spring planting. A shipping program has been drawn up to meet Europe's 1946 spring needs and an initial program has been started in China. From the multiplication of UNRRA seeds will come seeds for the first plantings in Jap-free soil.

The 1945 fall and winter seed shipping targets for Europe are mainly wheat, rye, barley, oats, vetch and alfalfa. Data from current shipping reports indicate the amounts, varieties and destinations of the seeds included with UNRRA cargoes now going forward from the United States and Canada.

For instance, on July 2 the Chief Osceola left Baltimore for Constanza with 70,000 bags of rye seed for Czechoslovakia. The following day the Aleksandar I cleared Montreal with 934 bags of alfalfa seed for Yugoslavia, and the Tamara left St. John, New Brunswick, for Piraeus, Greece, with 905 bags of alfalfa seed. The Nicholas Labodie left Houston, Texas, for Constanza, July 8, with 15,420 bags of wheat seed and 1,166 bags of rye aboard to be routed to Czechoslovakia along with other UNRRA materials and sup-

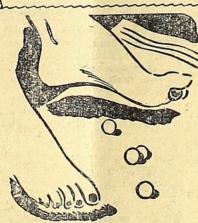

Europe Exported Seeds Before War. In prewar times, Europe was not only self-sufficient, but a producer of an exportable seed surplus. This was true for cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, red clover and many other seeds although seed corn and perennial grasses were imported. But the destruction of war forced constant switches in the normal economy upon the occupied countries. At the end of hestilities such seeds as the edible legumes-beans and peas, most of the vegetables, wheat and other cereal seeds were needed. Many areas in Europe were also short on grass seeds to rebuild neglected pasture land, seeds to grow animal feed and seeds for industrial crops. Forage legumes, alfalfa, the clovers-red, alsike, and white-and turnips for animal feeding are called for. Seeds to grow rape and hemp for oil, and flax for livestock feed supply is considered urgent. The tonnages shipped and distributed to date reflect this priority. Seeds dispatched for 1945 spring planting were largely beans and peas from Canada and the United States, and other vegetable seeds from the United States and the United Kingdom. Food grown from these seeds is now furnishing some of the protective elements so badly needed in the diets of most of the people of the world today. Some of the seed distributions in the liberated countries were carried on jointly by UNRRA and the military. As the military governments withdrew the remaining seed stocks were turned over to UNRRA. Seeds from this source were distributed in the Balkans. Some of the seed held for UNRRA in the U.S. for use last spring in case of an earlier V-E Day were then channeled into the domestic market.

For instance, vegetable seeds to replant the irrigated truck lands near the city areas in Greece were first made available through military supplies and later through UNRRA shipments. Vegetable and root crop seeds from plants grown in England were shipped this spring to Czechoslovakia. Root crop seeds were included with the first UNRRA cargoes for Poland.

Surplus Stocks Distributed.

One objective of the UNRRA seed program is to re-establish a flow of seeds within Europe from surplus pockets to areas of need. Military authorities found that Germany had been stimulating seed production in some of the occupied countries. Where crops were not destroyed these reserves are now made generally available.

Seeds of French origin are going to Holland and Belgium. Danish seeds may flow across Danish frontiers. Italy may have a surplus of seeds which can be routed to other countries. Seed potatoes from Cyprus have been sent to Greece. A small portion of the crops raised from the 1945 shipments of seed is being set aside to produce the seed for next year's planting.

The breakdown of interior transportation in the liberated countries as a result of German occupation is a complicating factor in the seed situation as it is in nearly every other relief and rehabilitation program. Every seedman who has led the fight in his own community for better farm to market roads can understand the situation. Roads and waterways have been bombed. Civilian motor vehicles have disappeared, carts have been wrecked and draft animals have been stolen and slaughtered. Much of this was deliberate sabotage on the part of the al minimum requirements to proretreating Nazis. Even when there duce maximum crops.

MEDAL MANIA

Lets see how quickly you gals can move in on a High Fashion. Seems the smart fashion leaders in New York and in Hollywood are wearing costly antique medals for decoration cn all kinds of clothes. Well, who says they have to be antique? See if your father has some old medals (wasn't he wading champion or something in his youth?); see if your O.A.O. will part with the medal he won for track. Pin them to bits of colored ribbon and wear them instead of your trickier lapel gadgets. If you have a lot of medals, you can pin them to a broad ribbon worn diagonally from one shoulder and Early this spring there was a surplus of sorely needed alfalfa seed in one of the liberated countries but the farmers couldn't thresh it because there was no power or fuel. Even if it could have been threshed there was no means for getting it to the seed cleaning plants. Throughout the channels of distribution the same problems of fuel power and transportation arise. However, the trucks, tractors and draft animals now going to the liberated countries are beginning to ease the situation.

The 1946 spring shipping targets are being worked out now by UNRRA in consultation with the agricultural officials of the countries receiving aid. All shipments will be based on estimates which reflect the actu-

High School Crowd Taught How to Drive In Safety Program

Anticipating a teen-age rush to used car lots for "jallopies" discarded by the motor public when new model automobiles are placed on the market, state and local school officials are accelerating programs in high school driver education. Termed "behind the wheel" programs, those in operation or planned for the near future are designed to teach high school students to drive safely on the public highways. Some 5,000 high schools throughout the country now have behind-thewheel programs, according to infor-mation to the American Municipal association, with six states apparently well in the lead in developing such programs: North Dakota, Iowa, California, Wisconsin, North Carolina and Illinois. In each of these six states, at least 200 high schools offer driver education

Delaware includes behind-thewheel training in 27 classes in 18 high schools. Only six high schools in the state remain without the statewide driver education program because of wartime lack of personnel and equipment. The West Virginia board of education has approved the proposed course of study in driver education prepared by the West Virginia driver education committee and included it in the standard state highschool curriculum.

LOWER EGG PRICES EXPECTED IN 1946

because of the usual seasonal decline in production and upward revisions of price ceilings. In the first half of 1946, however, the price is expected to be somewhat lower than for the same period in 1945. The over-all meat shortage and a 6 per fected because a relatively larger cent decline in egg production were part of their output has been dried

Egg prices are expected to remain | meat supplies will be more plentiful strong during the rest of 1945 and and egg production may be higher, may even advance in coming weeks | depending on the number of chickens sold for meat.

As civilian, military and export demands for eggs decline, a lower level of production will be necessary (see chart). Egg producers in the corn belt states will be particularly afmajor factors supporting egg prices and the production has increased at the 1945 level. In 1946 civilian relatively more.

Too much has already been written about the "T." And yet it is surprising the number of sidliners who keep writing in to ask just what the "T" is and how it works. We'll try, with no promise of success, to make it simple—for the last time.

1. The "T" doesn't demand old-fashioned blocking or hard body pressure. It depends more on speed and deception.

2. It needs a hard-hitting full-back who can split an opened line.

3. It needs a fast-moving back who can circle a massed or tightened line.

4. It demands a good passer who can work with deception and smooth ball-handling.

These latter three qualities put heavy pressure on any defense. The greatest pro "T" I you every known The greatest college "T" I ever saw at work was Notre Dame's 1943 outfit with Bertelli, brigade with Luck-

man, Standlee, Gal-

lernau and McAfee,

if my memory isn't too fuzzy. They hit

Creighton Miller, Kelly and two or three good fullbacks. They fell far away when Bertelli left, who was not only a great passer but the smoothest and trickiest ball-handler I've seen around. Ask Rip Miller, Captain Johnny Whelchel of Navy or Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech. It's true that the old Bears and Notre Dame's 1943 squad would have been hard to handle under any system. Material makes the system more than any system ever made material. And material has made more coaches than any coaches ever made material.

The main answer to football success is your playing strength-the forward wall and the backfieldyour man power. And don't ever let anyone tell you a different story. Football coaches have done great jobs. Their general average is the highest in sport. But the best still need good football players to have winning teams.

After all, they can't rush out on the field and do their own passing, running, blocking and tackling.

Sports Fans' Squawks

Sports fans who move up into the 50 or 60-million class, ranging from ages between 10 and 80 years, are certainly entitled to their beliefs, their squawks, their praise and their blame.

For, after all, they are the big part of sport, the major part by at least 90 per cent. They pay all the expenses, all the salaries. They make both amateur and pro sports possible. And in too many cases they only get shoddy treatment and take the big shove around by both amateur and professional promoters.

They are taken for granted. They are rarely given any consideration from baseball, football, racing, boxing, golf or other sporting directors.

They are usually the goats, who have grown accustomed to taking. the worst of it. Their hardihood and their capacity for punishment is the most amazing feature of sport.

They are too often packed in after the manner of human sardines at race tracks and other sporting centers. They are too often overcharged.

It has been said there is no law that forces them to take this beating. This is true. But they happen to love their games, whether it is boxing, baseball, football, racing, golf or something else.

They are astonished at little courtesies they are so seldom shown anywhere or any time by the hired people who live off their main outlet for recreation and entertainment.

They are really an amazing breed. They take it on the chin and on the shin, back of each ear, in the stomach and also in the pocketbook.

Courses Too Tough

Take golf, for example. It has always been my belief that any golf course should be trapped only for the star player. Put all trouble out beyond the 200 yard mark which the average player can't reach.

The duffer or average player has enough trouble trying to hit the ball or get his bogeys. Why should he pay uncounted millions to make his golfing life more miserable?

We have built too many golf courses against the skill of the pros and the crack amateurs who, after all, give most of their life to golf—and who pay nothing in return.

Who cares whether a pro shoots a 63 or a 58? Why build courses to keep him from breaking par on courses which the average golfer can't handle in a 95?

The Nelsons and the other par-breaking stars are a breed apart. Let them go around in even 3's. Who cares? But why keep punishing the 98 per cent who pay all the freight?

Golf is our greatest playing game for everyone. It is a friendly and a companionable game, demanding its share of psychology, philosophy, sportsmanship and nerve controlas well as physical skill.

THE TROLLEY CAR PASSES. New York City, one of the last strongholds of the surface car, announces that they will be removed from the streets by January 1. We, for one, feel a little sad, not only to see the trolley car pass from the streets of Gotham but from any other place. It was a symbol of a happier, more philosophical and more comfortable America.

The swifter, more up to date and less restricted bus has replaced it all over the land, but to us a bus is as satisfactory a substitute for a trolley as a witch's broom would be for a ride on a cloud.

Not that we have been on a trolley in years. We don't remember the last time, but our childhood memories of the trolley ride are bright and glamorous. We can recall trolley cars on the Sylvan avenue line back home that we loved. And trolleys on the run from Merwin's beach, miles through a leafy passage by Woody Crest, Rocky Ledge, Prospect Beach and West Haven that still seems like something out of a fairy tale.

We have a particularly soft spot for the first trolley we ever remember. Grandma took us for a ride. It was winter. And it had a stove in the center and a conductor with side whiskers who put in a shovel of coal now and then.

An American congressman urges that we introduce baseball to the Russians. Can you imagine what would happen under Stalin to a pitcher who pitched his own way? . . .

Can You Remember-Away back when a small steak sold for 40 cents instead of $3.50?

Our big job is to select the war criminals of Japan. It would be a lot easier to pick the ones who are

FOR USED FATS

Help Increase Supplies of Soap and Other Peacetime Products By Saving More Used Fats

Industrial fats far short of last year! We are almost down to the bottom of the barrel. The nation's industrial fat supply is millions of pounds less than it was in 1944. We need fully as much as last year to help make the soaps and other civilian goods you want and need so badly. So . . .

If you want more soap and soap flakes . . . if you're dreaming of nylons, sheets, cotton fabrics and want them to hurry back to the store counters...you can help by saving those used kitchen fats as you never saved before! Save every drop, every day!

These fats are vitally necessary to help speed greater supplies of soaps and hundreds of other things—like new cars, electric washers, irons, refrigerators and tires. Industry must have these fats ... to help get to you more quickly the peacetime products you've been longing to have for years!

So skim and scrape and scoop just as you did so faithfully before V-J Day. To prove how important it is, your government has increased the point bonus. So help meet this nation's need by continuing to save used fats. If you can't find a store that accepts used fats; call Home Demonstration or County Agent:

"NO MORE TROUBLE WITH CONSTIPATION!"

Says Long-Time Sufferer Who Tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

If you, too, are disappointed with pills and purgatives, be sure to read this unsolicited letter:

"For several years I was afflicted with common constipation. I tried various remedies, but got only temporary relief. Several months ago, I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN each morning, drinking water freely through the day, I have since never had the slightest trouble with constipation. My gratitude to KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN." Mr. H. M. Riley, 11 E. Division Street, Chicago, Ill.

Do you want to be free of harsh laxatives for the rest of your life? You may be, if your constipation is due to lack of bulk in the diet! Just eat a dish of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN and drink plenty of water every day! If not satisfied, send the empty carton to Kellogg's of Battle Creek. Double the money you paid for it will be paid to you.

ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It is a delicious cereal made from the vital outer layers of wheat. It's one of nature's most effective sources of gentle-acting bulk, which helps support normal laxa-

THE STORY THUS FAR: The American troops arrived in Adano, with Ma-jor Joppolo, the Amgot officer in charge. Sergeant Borth was in charge of securi ty. The Major was determined to hold the confidence of the people and to replace their bell stolen by the Nazis. Despite orders issued by General Marvin, barring carts from the city, Joppolo re-called the orders, to permit food and water to enter the city. The people of the city had arranged a party of appre-clation for the Major. The bell arrived, as did also orders from General Marvin relieving the Major of command. Un-aware of the orders the Major continued his work. He made arrangements to attend his party that night.

CHAPTER XXII

Major Joppolo was excited. He called up Lieutenant Livingston and thanked him for his part in getting the bell. "Why hell," he said, "it ought to be up this afternoon. Maybe we can ring it for the party tonight. You're coming to said, "it ought to be well as the party tonight." night. You're coming, aren't you?"
"Wouldn't miss it, Major."

"Well, see you there, Captain. Thanks a hell of a lot."

"Don't mention it. Say, there's just one thing, Major."
"What's that?"

"I'm a Lieutenant. It takes a long time to get to be a Captain in the Navy.' "Is that a fact?" the Major said. "Well, you ought to be a Captain soon," and he hung up.

Zito moved near to the desk while soon," the Major read, and when he was finished, the usher said: "We have a new bell, Mister Major?"

'We have a new bell, Zito." "Is the tone good enough?"
"I hope so, Zito. I think so."
"Is there some history to it?"

"Yes, Zito, I'll tell you about it when the bell is up. Do you think I ought to make a little speech explaining the bell to the people here?"

"Oh yes, you should, Mister Major. The people of Adano will be curious about the bell."

"Zito, do you think they will understand all that the bell means? I mean that it stands for the things that I believe in? Do you think I could explain that to them?"

"I think so, Mister Major. I understand what you mean, and Zito is not very clever."

A few minutes before eleven o'clock the funeral procession of the three fishermen who had been killed in the explosion went through the Piazza. Major Joppolo went out onto the balcony to watch it. At the head of the procession there were three carts. The first two carried the bodies of Agnello and Merendino. Their coffins were small dinghies such as the fishermen used to get out to their boats, with the tops planked over. The third cart, which was for Sconzo, carried a dinghy which was not planked over, but was filled with flowers.

Long before eleven thirty, Major Joppolo was out on the sidewalk beside the crated bell, waiting for the Engineers to come. He poked and shoved at the crate affectionately, as if there were something delicious

The gang from the Engineer battalion was surprisingly on time. The Major explained the job, pointing to the top of the clock tower.

"How long do you think it will take?" he asked the old buck sergeant in charge.
"Well," the sergeant said, "some days the boys gets cramps in their stomachs and they claim they shouldn't ought to hurry when they has the cramps. Other days they don't get no cramps. It all de-pends."

"How long do you guess?"
"We'll have it for you today or tomorrow. It all depends."

"Try to finish today, will you?"
"It all depends," the sergeant said, and he turned furiously on his men, who slowly gathered themselves for work.

Major Joppolo went to lunch at noon. Sergeant Borth was already in the Albergo dei Pescatori when the Major arrived. The Major sat down with Borth, as he often did, in spite of his rank.

He told Borth about the bell, and his excitement about it gave Borth something to tease.

"You're worse than the first day we came here," the Sergeant said.
"How am I worse?" the Major

"You're so damn sentimental." "Oh, cut it out, Borth."

Borth's teasing cut a little deep.
"No, I'm serious," he said. "There's a war going on. Fishermen get blown up in the harbor here. Children get run over in the streets. There's one case of malaria in every six people. And you can't think about anything but tinkling a bell.'

Major Joppolo said: "I'm worried about those fishermen, Borth. I could get in trouble over that. Do you think I was guilty of carelessness about it? You know I forced the Navy to let them go out."

Purely by way of teasing, Borth said something he had cause to regret later: "Sure," he said, "you could catch hell for that. You could get sent back to the States."
And Major Joppolo said: "They wouldn't do that, they couldn't." Borth said: "Why couldn't they?

I heard about a fellow in airborne who got sent home just for getting drunk.' Major Joppolo said: "They couldn't, Borth, there's so much to is peri do here. Think if they got some good."

body bad in this town. Think if they got a dope like that fellow up at Pontebasso.' Borth said: "You don't like yourself much, do you?' Major Joppolo said: "Oh lay off, Borth, sometimes you aren't fun-

At 12:25 Zito came running down to the Albergo dei Pescatori to tell the Major that the bell was uncrat-"It looks nice," he said.

The Major tried to get Borth to go up with him to look at the bell, but Borth said: "This eggplant is so good, I don't see how I could leave

So the Major went up with Zito. On the way the usher said: "Before I forget it, Mister Major, the officials are very anxious to meet with you at four o'clock. They said it was important."

A moment of worry showed itself on the Major's face. "Is it about the fishermen, Zito?"

Zito said: "I am the usher, Mister Major, the officials do not tell me what is on their minds." Then

"We have a new bell, Zito."

Zito seemed to think better of what he had said, and he added: "No, it is not about the fishermen."

The Major said: "Oh, so the usher has ways of finding out what is on the officials' minds?"

Zito just smiled. There were quite a few people standing around watching the Engineers working on the bell. One of them was the ancient Cacopardo. Because he had spoken to the Major himself a kind of supervisor of the work, although none of the Engineers could speak Italian. As soon as the Major came up, Cacopardo said: "I have sent for Guzzo, the bell-ringer at the Church of San Angelo. He will be able to tell just by looking at it whether it is a good bell. If it is not, you will of course have to send it back." The bell stood on the sidewalk just where the Navy men had put it down. The crate had been peeled down from around it.

It was bronze, and the men of the Corelli had taken the trouble to polish it, so that it was like gold in the midday sun. On one side there was this inscription:

U.S.S. CORELLI America ed Italia.

When Cacopardo saw the Major reading the inscription, he asked: "Who is this man Corelli, and how does he happen to get his name on the bell of Adano?"

The Major said: "I will tell you later, when the bell is hung." Then he got a little stone out of the street and tapped it against the side, but of course there was only a dead sound, since the bell was sitting on wood. "I wonder how the tone is," the Major said.

"Guzzo will know," Cacopardo In time the bell-ringer came. He was almost as old as Cacopardo. His hands and forearms looked very strong, but the rest of him looked as if it were long overdue. Cacopardo called him to the center of the crowd and told him to examine the bell. The old bell-ringer walked round and round the bell, looking at it. Then he leaned over and ran the flat of his hand from top to bottom. Then he stood up and seemed to read the inscription over and over. He looked once up at the top of the clock tower, where some engineers were rigging a hoist. He asked that the bell be turned over and when some of the engineers had turned it up on its side, he looked inside.

He stood up finally and shrugged his shoulders and said: "It is all right."

Cacopardo was delighted. He said to the Major: "I know old Guzzo. He does not exaggerate. When he He does not exaggerate. When he says something is fair, he means it is perfect. The bell will be very trait of the Major.

"I'm glad," the Major said. At a few minutes past one o'clock, Major Joppolo went home to his villa to take a nap. He wanted to save up some strength for the party -but he also wanted to think a little about his speech about the bell. He lay down on his bed. At first his thoughts were confused, because he was excited. But gradually the thoughts began to sort themselves out, and everything came very straight to Major Joppolo.

He would say a few words, he thought, about the removal of the old bell. Then he would tell about how the people of Adano had interested him in the people of terested him in trying to get a new one. Then a few words about Co-relli, and what he had done for Italians in the last war, and then the meaning today of the inscription on the bell, America ed Italia, American and Italy, and then perhaps something about the Americans' Liberty Bell. After talking about it that day, the Major had been curious about the Liberty Bell, and he had written a letter back to Amgot headquarters inquiring about it, and now he would be able to explain the crack, and he would tell the people of Adano the inscription on that bell, the words from Leviticus: "Proclaim liberty throughout the land and to all the inhabitants thereof.

And then everything was wonderfully clear in the mind of Victor Joppolo. He knew exactly what he would say. Words came to him which were beautiful and were the truth about the new bell and its meaning for Adano, and about what he, Victor Joppolo, wanted for the people of Adano. The words were as clear as anything can be, and as

At about two o'clock the courier came by motorcycle from Vicinamare. From his office Sergeant Borth saw him throw the pouch onto the sidewalk in front of the Palaz-zo. Mail, even official mail, was enough of an event so that Sergeant Borth got up and went across to the Palazzo and up to Major Joppolo's office to see what there was. There was nothing for Sergeant Borth, but as long as Major Joppolo was out, Sergeant Borth decided to riffle through what there

In time he came on a paper addressed to Major Joppolo. He read

"1. You are authorized to proceed by first available transportation to A.F.H.Q., Algiers, via port of Vicinamare.

"2. Reassignment of station will be made by A.F.H.Q.

"3. Reason for this order is that reference (1) did wilfully and without consultation countermand orders issued by General Marvin, 49th Division, re entry of mule carts into town of Adano.'

And the order was signed by General Marvin.

Sergeant Borth folded the order, put it in his pocket, and left the building. He went directly to the about the bell on the very first day M.P. command post in the Fascio. of the invasion, he had appointed He said to Captain Purvis: "The He said to Captain Purvis: "The Major's been relieved." Captain Purvis said: "What do you mean?"

"Just what I said: he's been ordered back to Algiers for reassign. ment."

"What for?" "Insubordination. Countermanding an order by Marvin about mule carts. I guess it was after that affair of the mule the General shot outside town." Captain Purvis had forgotten all about the report he had sent to Division. Now that he remembered he didn't have the courage to say anything about it. All he said was:

'What a hell of a note.''
Borth said: "I'll say. The Major's just begun to accomplish things in this town.'

Captain Purvis said: "Yeah, guess he has." A suspicion crossed his mind: this fellow Borth had a way of knowing too much. "How did you know he was ordered out?"

Borth said: "I saw the order up in the Major's office." "Does the Major know about it, then?"

"No, the Major's out. I have the order in my pocket. I took it. I'm not going to tell him about it until after the party tonight."

The Major got back to his office at about a quarter to four. He went through the courier mail and worked for a few minutes on a report to Colonel Sartorius. Promptly at four Zito came in and said: "Will you see the officials now?" "Yes, Zito."

Now when the officials came inold Bellanca first as usual, then the others, Gargano, Saitta, D'Arpa, Rotondo, Signora Carmelina Spinnato, and Tagliavia-Major Joppolo could see by their cheerful expressions that there was to be no unpleasantness in this interview.

Old Bellanca spoke: "We have something we wish to give the Mister Major."

D'Arpa could not resist saying in his high voice: "We wish to give the Mister Major a Mister Major." The others snickered. Bellanca said: "Please get it, Zito." Zito went out. First the usher came back carry ing an easel. He went out again, Then he brought in Lojacono's por radiations in the bactericidal portion of the spectrum.

Tests have shown that irradiated birds have a tendency to level out the peaks and valleys of the egglaying season with the gain reaching to 15 per cent, most of which comes during the winter months.

The greatest use on the poultry farm has been in the brooding of chicks. It has been proven that not only has mortality been greatly reduced by the application of bactericidal lamps, but that vigor and gain in weight of the chicks has been materially improved.

Even when the lamps are kept operating over the roosts all night, the hens rest perfectly, and gain in general health. The lamps have been given thorough tests on individual poultry farms and tests are now being conducted at various state experimental stations.

These invisible bullets of light, sprayed by the sterilamp ultraviolet tube, has given the poultry raiser a new weapon to fight his present high rate of mortality.

By the feeding of abundant riboflavin or vitamin B2, in addition to ample protein, iron, copper and the B-complex vitamin known as pyridoxine, it is possible to effect remarkably quick recovery from the type of anemia of livestock caused by hemorrhage, according to work at the University of Wisconsin.

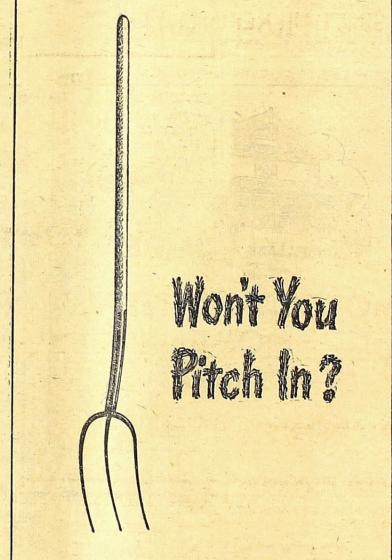

In the past, it has taken from six to eight weeks to regenerate the blood after hemorrhage, or even after transfusion.

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

||Thursday morning features cattle selection and the judging of both pens and individual calves. The sale will begin promptly at 1:00 p. m. Col. Steve Panion of West Branch will cry the sale while James P. Mielock of Alabaster with the assitance of the State Savings Bank of West Branch will clerk the sale. Members of the association have attempted, during the past six years, to improve the quality of feeder calves produced in this Northeastern Michigan section. They have not only improved feeding and pasture management but have also carefully selected commercial Hereford cows of the early maturing, thick fleshing type with plenty of good rugged grazing ability. The sires have been selected, with care, from the purebred breeding establishements of the state. The top quality Hereford bulls from the Gladwin and Lapeer sales have come to this feeder calf area as herd heads and are the sires of mny of the calves to be sold Oc-

More details regarding the consignments may be had by writing assocation president, C. T. Prescott of Prescott, Michigan, or W. L. Finley, secretary, East Trivas.
