Union Thanksgiving Service

Union Thanksgiving services will be held Wednesday evening November 21st at the East Tawas Methodist church.

IN the SERVICE

In a letter written from the Society Islands, Kenny Smith writes, "I'm on the U. S. S. Hurst way down here in the South Central Pacific. Our ship was assigned the job of visiting uncharted islands out here to see whether, or not, during the course of the war some survivors of Marine disasters, any seamen from sunken ships or pilots and crew members of planes may have made their way to any of these islands."

"We covered all the islands in the Marquesas group, the Tuamotu Archipelago, the Society Islands and some of the other scattered islands in this area. We made a two day stop at Tahiti."

"It's certainly been an experience in going to these South Sea Islands, and in doing it we covered from eight to ten thousand miles. We are on our way now to the famous port, Pago Pago."

"Have five more than the required number of points, but as long as we are doing this kind of work. I'm not just sure when I'll be back in Tawas. Hope to be back by Christmas."

Many New Books Added to Collection

The Isoco County Library is again participating in National Book week. This year the library is sponsoring two meetings for adults. The first meeting is scheduled in the East Tawas Library for Thursday evening at 8:00 P. M. and the second in the Tawas City Library for Friday afternoon at 2:30 P. M. Miss Betty Anderson, State Library Consultant for Northern Michigan, will talk about "Children's Books and Good Reading Habits."

Many new books for all ages have been added to the collection and are now on display in each of the Branches and stations. These displays are built around the national theme, "United Through Books."

The Library is urging parents to come in and get acquainted with the books that the boys and girls will be reading as soon as book week is over.

The picture books for the very young continue to draw a great deal of interest. "Jenny the Jeep" by Jack Townsend, "The Big Fire" by Elizabeth Olds, and "Clear the Track" by Louis Slobodkin appeal especially to the little boys who are interested in mechanical things while "Nine Cry Baby Dolls" by Irena Lorentowicz, "Belinda's New Shoes" by Winifred Bromhall and "The White Bunny and his Magic Nose" by Lilly Duplaix appeal to the little girls.

Interest of the middle age group, the 7 to 14 year olds, are very unpredictable. A fourth grader may ask for "Rockets and Jets" while his twelve year old brother may want the story of "Freddy." There are many outstanding titles for this age in the new crop of books. The "Everyday Stories" as the children call them, seem to stand out in recent editions.

T-5 Albert (Ted) Vane arrived home last week from service in Italy with the 5th army. His wife is the former Arlene Brown of Alabaster.

Lieut. Irma Kasishke of the Army Air Corps has returned home from Hawaii.

Cpl. Roland Buch has been honorably discharged from the army and is now at his home here. John Ulman of the Townline has also received his discharge.

After 22 months service with the Army Air Forces, Pfc. Kenneth A. Thibault of East Tawas is being honorably separated from the Army of the United States at the Laredo Army Air Field Separation Center.

Sgt. Gerald Hayes is home after spending four years in the army. 28 months overseas, with the 5th Air (Turn to No. 1, back page)

Malenfant-Byrd

Miss Mary Malenfant, daughter of the late Elmer Malenfant and Mrs. Julia Malenfant of Tawas City, became the bride of Cpl. Frank Byrd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Byrd of Jefferson, South Carolina, at a quiet ceremony performed at the St. Joseph Rectory by Rev. Robert Neumann on Saturday morning, November 10th at eleven o'clock.

The bride wore an aqua sateen dress with black accessories and a lavender orchid.

Miss Margaret Smith of Tawas City was the bride's only attendant. She wore fushia with black accessories and also wore a lavender orchid.

George Hoshbach of Tawas City assisted the groom as best man.

A wedding breakfast was held at the Barnes Hotel for relatives and friends followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother.

Mrs. Byrd is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School and has been employed for a number of years at the office of the Isoco County Agricultural Conservation Association. She will make her home with her mother for the present.

Cpl. Byrd is stationed at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C. and has served with the armed forces for almost four years.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Malenfant and daughter, Janet, of Saginaw.

Increased Number of Deer Hunters Here

Greeted by Fine Weather Conditions

The first one to report at the Tawas Herald office Thursday morning of getting their deer were Louis Katterman and Earl Roberts of Grant township. Katterman was in the woods only 30 minutes.

Among the Tawas City hunters, Clement Stephan reports getting his buck at about 8:00 o'clock. All four of the Harry Goodale family were each successful early in the day. Walter Nelson was also among the fortunate ones to get his venison early the first day.

Beautiful weather during the first part of the week greeted the great army of nimrods invading the northwoods of Michigan. Many are just out of the service or on furlough and this is their first hunting for several years. The highways leading to this section of Michigan have been filled with cars and house trailers bringing in the hunters—some are now on their way back with the kill displayed on the fenders.

Last year 70,980 deer were killed in the two peninsulas of Michigan, with 229,472 hunters in the woods and Isoco county gave its fair quota of the venison. Deer signs in the woods this fall indicate that the season will be good again this year, according to local hunters.

Increased Number of Deer Hunters Here

Included among the bow and arrow hunters in Isoco county deer territory during the season devoted to that sport which recently ended were Register of Deeds and Mrs. Albert Buch of Tawas City. Armed with 45 pound draw bows, Mr. and Mrs. Buch spent a number of days trying their skill at stalking the wily deer. While the two were unsuccessful in bringing home the venison they enjoyed their hunting experience and are enthusiastic about this sport which is gaining in popularity each year.

DREW PEARSON

DEPARTMENT OF PEACE

WASHINGTON. — This columnist recently proposed that we begin thinking a little more about the Sermon on the Mount in our international relations, and among other things establish a Department of Peace.

It was suggested that along with the Department of War and the navy department, we set up as our first line of defense a Department of Peace to promote the idea that the only alternative to the atom bomb is to teach the world and ourselves that we must get along with each other.

One aftermath of this idea is significant. It occurred in the appropriations committee of the house of representatives the other day when its members voted appropriations for the state department.

It happens that the nearest thing we have to a Department of Peace is the Department of State. That organization is by no means perfect, and might not be ideal to operate a Department of Peace. But its new chief, Jimmy Byrnes, has some good ideas and is working hard to establish new bureaus for spreading goodwill and helping peace.

He is trying to carry on the ideas of the office of war information which furnished propaganda to newspapers, aimed toward a better understanding of the USA. Byrnes is also trying to raise salaries. For years state department officials have struggled along on starvation wages. This is partly the fault of the wealthy career clique which wanted to keep wages low and thus operate a closed shop for themselves. So Secretary of State Byrnes is trying to raise diplomatic wages as the first step toward having alert diplomats guard the peace front.

However, when Byrnes' appropriation bill got up before his old friends in congress the other day, the house appropriations committee slashed it to ribbons. They particularly cut the new agencies patterned on the general idea of a Department of Peace.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S TRAVELS

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will soon be off on another globe-girdling tour designed to help international relations. This time Mrs. Roosevelt plans to visit Russia as well as other war-ravaged nations in Europe.

In recent weeks, she has been taking a more vocal, outspoken position on public issues. Although she denied having blasted Secretary of State Byrnes publicly for his handling of the foreign minister conference, Mrs. Roosevelt has been very sharp in private conversations about the way Truman and Byrnes have been rocking the ship of state, especially when it comes to foreign affairs.

Mrs. Roosevelt claims age is creeping up on her, but to an outside observer she gives no evidence of slowing down. She is now almost as active as she was before her husband's death — certainly still the most forthright lady ever to live in the White House.

WHY MEN LEAVE NAVY

Worried about the failure of men and officers to remain in the navy, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal recently put out an order to naval separation centers to interview the next 100 reserve officers who came up for discharge. The result showed bitter resentment on the part of reserve officers against the Annapolis clique. Here are some typical interviews quoted verbatim:

"The only reason I would join the navy again would be if I were starving."

"It's mighty late for the navy to try to sell itself to reservists."

"I think the officers of the regular navy are grasping, pushing and self-centered."

"The attitude of the majority of Annapolis officers to reservists is that they are to be endured only for the time being."

"The Annapolis grads should cast aside their childish attitude."

U. S. Anti-U-Boat Super-Snooper

One of the many ingenious inventions that overcame the U-boat wolf packs, the "expendable radio sono buoy." The sono buoy was a sort of super-snooper radio device dropped from planes. The hydrophonic picks up the sound thrown off by the U-boats and relays it by cable to the radio transmitter in the top compartment which broadcasts the signal to waiting ships and planes.

Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

A SPORTS enthusiast asks this one: "What man in football, player or coach, would you pick as the top of the long list in the way of influence upon his team and the game itself?" Oddly enough this is easy to answer. His brilliant career came to an end on March 31, 1931, over 14 years ago, when they picked his broken body out of a wrecked plane in the midwest. The name is Knute Rockne.

I know the lasting influence that such men as Yost, Zuppke, Houghton, Grange, Bierman, Little and many others have had. I know what these men, and others, have meant to football. But I still say Rockne.

Starting as head coach back in 1917 when Notre Dame was well down the football list, Rockne in the next 14 years made Notre Dame the synonym for football greatness, from Los Angeles to New York and Baltimore—from Chicago to Atlanta. Facing a killing schedule of 10 games year after year, his winning record was a phenomenal thing.

But Rockne's winning record was only a small part of the job he did. Almost from the start he gave his squads the finest spirit, year after year, that I have seen. It wasn't so much a matter of gameness, which most football players have. It was a matter of keenness, alertness, smartness, condition and love of the game. He gave his men a brand of sportsmanship that has never been questioned.

An Inspiration

I have never seen a Notre Dame player under Rockne's reign who was not in superb physical condition, barring only those injured in play or practice. He had fine material as a rule, but a good part of this was due to the fact that many budding stars wanted to come to Notre Dame and play under the baldheaded Norwegian.

Strictly as a football coach on the technical side, it would be difficult to rank Rockne above such men as Pop Warner, Hurry-up Yost, Percy Houghton, Bernie Bierman and others who had exceptional coaching careers in their various primes.

Rockne was a fine coach, but hardly the greatest. It was the inspirational side, his complete control of the squad on and off the field, that took him to the front. The bark of his voice had a lift to it that caught and held attention.

I recall the night before an Army-Notre Dame game in New York. Army's scout for Notre Dame games filed this report to the head coach. "Whatever you do, take the kickoff starting the third period, if you can. Don't let Notre Dame get the ball right after they have listened to Rockne between halves. I've found out what that means."

The advice was overlooked. Army kicked off to start the second half and a Notre Dame back on the first play thereafter ran 75 yards for a touchdown with practically every Army defender flat on the back of his neck from the blocking that followed.

Knew Human Nature

I also recall this—when a big game was being played by Notre Dame in either New York or Chicago, visiting coaches sometimes numbering 10 or 12, immediately headed for Rockne's room. They all wanted to visit with Rock, who also had a keen sense of humor, a gift for repartee and what it takes to supply cheerful, friendly entertainment. Rock's personality was always an outstanding feature. He knew human nature, how to handle men, including his famous top sergeant, the redoubtable Hunk Anderson, who on occasions was about as easy to handle as a Bengal tiger or a Numidian lion. Something like 80 of his players left Notre Dame to coach at other colleges.

But it wasn't so much the Notre Dame shift or any other part of the Rockne system that such coaches as Frank Thomas, Harry Mehre, Elmer Layden, Buck Shaw, Jimmy Crowley, Harry Stuhldreher, Rip Miller, and many, many others carried to their teams. It was more the Rockne contribution in the way of condition, spirit and smartness. I have seen many slightly dumb football teams. I never saw a dumb Notre Dame team that I can now recall.

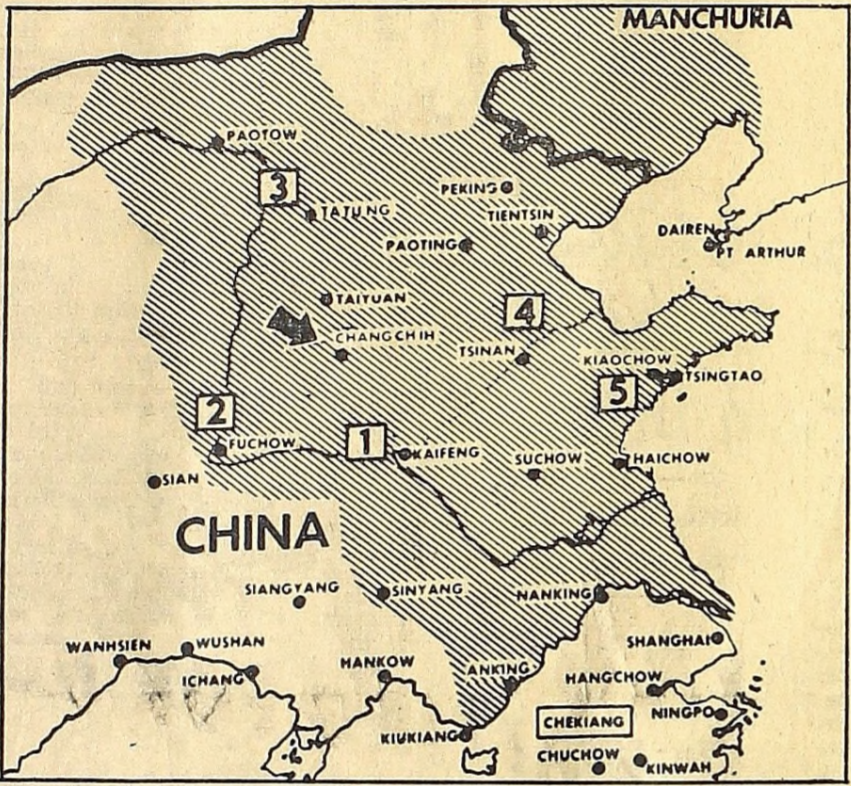

It is for these and other reasons that I rank Rockne on top when it comes to his influence upon the game—not only when he was alive, but 14 years after his death.

Best Football Section

The football query most often asked by servicemen is this: "Which section of the country turns out the strongest football teams, taking a general average year after year?"

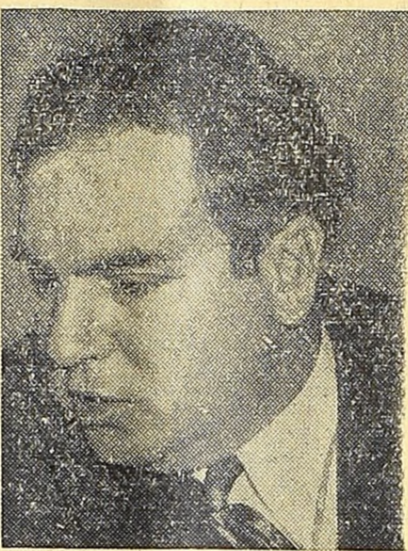

The only answer we could offer was that it is the Midwest. When you have a section year after year that can turn out such teams as Notre Dame, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, you have a mass of gridiron talent that is hard to beat.

RAF Uses Knot

To simplify the work of its navigators, the Royal Air Force now uses the knot, or nautical mile per hour, as its official measure of speed, because its charts, like those of all other military flying forces, employ the Mercator projection in which distances are measured in nautical miles.

Try Making Cough Syrup at Home. Quick Relief

Saves Big Dollars. No Cooking.

No matter what you usually use for coughs due to colds, you'll be more than surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and give it a trial. You'll wonder why you never used it before. It certainly does the work in a hurry.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—it's no trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, if desired.

Get from your druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint—a family supply—and gives you about four times as much for your money. It tastes fine, and never spoils. Children love it.

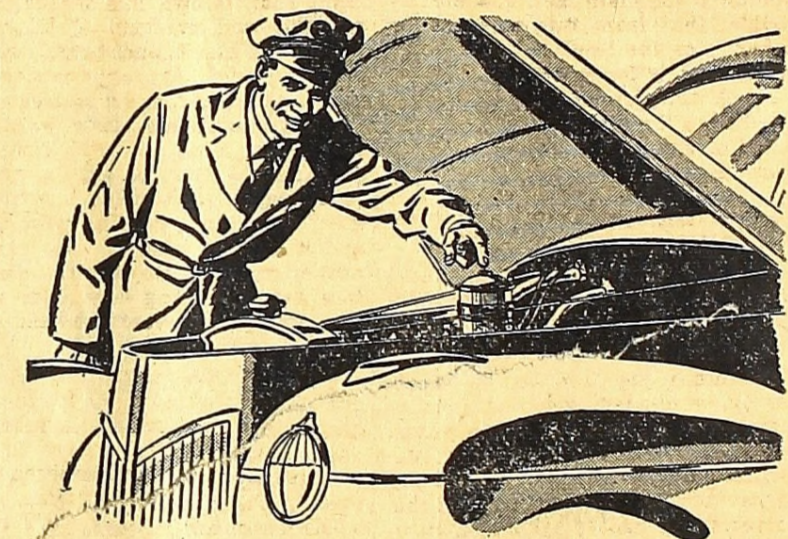

And for quick action, you've never seen its superior. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, makes breathing easier, and lets you sleep. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a famous reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.—Adv.

'End of Trail' Symbolizes Passing of the Red Man

The statue of an Indian with a spear under his arm, sitting on a horse, in an attitude of utter abandon, is intended to symbolize the passing of a great race—the Indian, once the unchallenged master of this continent, but who now, as the sculptor, James Earle Fraser, conceives it, stands hopeless and despairing at "the end of the trail."

The statue is very literally at the end of the trail, too, in Golden Gate park, San Francisco.

What the World Needs More Than Atomic Bomb Defenses

1. Fewer diplomats, greaseballs, smarty-pants and politicians and more straight - shooters, educators and evangelists.
2. Less dependence on Big Three and the Big Fives and more dependence on the Big Ten (Commandments).
3. A general realization that nothing can happen at London, Moscow or San Francisco that can be as important as what happened at Bethlehem.
4. Less concern about the atomic bomb and more concern over an atomic faith.
5. A consecration of church, college, school and fireside to the tremendous job of arousing a deep and sincere regard for religious values.
6. An "atomic" bombing of indifference, slipshod, routine churchgoing and of "quicky" devotions in which a man presumes to give less time to a contact with his God than he would be willing to give to any contact in the business or social world.
7. An aroused, zealous, forceful clergy, impatient with forms and aflame with a determination to build, strengthen and perpetuate faith.
8. A return to the era when men of God were vital leaders of their flocks, pounding home the eternal verities, never kowtowing to thin-skinned, never pulling a punch and talking turkey every Sunday 52 Sundays in the year.
9. The return of the Sunday sermon as a powerful influence for guidance, instruction and spiritual inspiration and no yielding to those restless churchgoers who think a half hour in church is a strain on their patience.
10. A consolidation of churches in the realization that none of the agencies of the devil would dream of scattering their efforts that way.
11. An end to churchgoing in the gimme-gimme mode and an approach to the altars in a spirit of love, sacrifice and gratitude.
12. A general realization that religion is no mere Sunday routine, and that its mood must be carried into the shop, office, market place, and home 365 days a year or else!
13. A return to prayer in the devout, clear-toned fervor of our forefathers in the woods of Massachusetts.
14. Acceptance by every man and woman of the plain fact, now clearly visible, that from this point on he either joins the brotherhood of man or the Society for Self-Destruction.
15. A realization that of all the freedoms, the most helpful in the world of tomorrow must be freedom from hypocrisy.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE?

The most flabbergasting spectacle of the day is Japan playing Little Eva.

Yesterday the Jap was a teething, wild-eyed, snarling gorilla-man, treating slaughter as a picnic pastime; today he presents the picture of a marcher in a daisy chain, not even resentful that his emperor has had to become a Hiro-milquetoast.

Yesterday the Jap was diving to death in a one-man suicide bomb; today he isn't even showing the will to talk back to movie-house ushers.

The nation is taking total defeat more calmly than thousands of democratic communities take the loss of a local election.

The Japs shucked their uniforms with the eagerness of boys eager to take a hot bath. They turned in their weapons with less argument than you would get from an army of Hollywood "extras," and they have adopted "Yes" as a national slogan without batting an eyelash.

Are the Nips the most philosophical people of all time? Are they merely the best actors of 1945? Are they still in a coma? Or when licked are they a race that takes a rain check and calmly awaits the next contest?

Never in history has a warlike nation taken such a shellacking and then put its neck on the block with such gushing resignation and ultra politeness.

Of course, there is one possible exception: Maybe the Japanese are willing to accept anything rather than another close-up of Nimitz, Halsey, Mitscher and the United States marines.

THE DELICATESSEN DEALERS HAD A NAME FOR IT

The former police chief of a great city, giving up a job to appear in crime scripts for the kiddies on the radio, is now making crime movies for the little dears. He will start with the Dillinger case. We don't blame anybody for changing jobs for big money. And we like to see a policeman get ahead. But it's time somebody stripped such cases of all the bunk about its being done to halt juvenile delinquency, and keep the kiddies straight.

Season's Trend to Elegance Is Reflected in Evening Attire

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ALL signs point to a brilliant social season that will be as colorful and dramatic as in prewar days. This brings a challenge to designers of "lovely lady" fashions to create formal dress in terms of elegance and distinction that will add glamour to the many gala events planned for fall and winter.

A definite return of the long-skirted gown to the formal evening mode is top news. From those who are "going formal" the demand is insistent for long skirts, either the tall and slender silhouette or the picturesque full-skirted types generously cut to achieve a full and graceful sweep about the hemline. These beautiful gowns that make rich fabric and dramatic accessories their theme are most assuredly writing a fascinating chapter in the current fashion story, in that they are recapturing the romance and charm befitting formal evening festivities.

The elegance of this season's evening gowns centers about the rich fabrics employed, such as magnificent brocades, rich velvet which has come into its own this season, crisp taffetas and moires. Quality kind crepes in black and bright colors, and beautiful, drapable jersey are making names for themselves in the evening mode, especially white jersey, which is exquisitely glitter-embroidered. Satin of superb quality is a magic word in black, white or deep rich colors such as plum tones and wineberry shades, also radiant amber tones. Royal and electric blue set a striking new color pace. For young deb wear, pastels score high in color choices.

That designers are making wide use of handsome wools in creating gorgeous formal modes is most exciting news. It is the evening coat of superbly jewel-embroidered wool that is the big "hit" theme. The wools used are in rich lush colors or in black or in white. The eye-thrilling mandarin coat shown to the right dramatizes "dead black" wool with brilliantly colorful jewel embroidery. It is worn with great chic over a charming black crepe dinner gown. The skirt is slit in front and caught to a low hobble drape at the back. The belt of the dress gleams with matching embroidery.

Heavy slipper satin in radiant royal blue is the high-style fabric choice for the very beautiful gown to the left in the picture. It has the "new" look from tip to toe, interpreting ultra formality in its every detail. It has an almost strapless bodice with a halter loop, a deep tight-fitted midriff and a billowy skirt with fullness over the hips just as they were in picturesque days of old. The skirt is dramatically slashed at the front, giving a glimpse of beautifully jeweled evening slippers. The long gloves are flecked with multi-toned sequins.

In contrast to the model just described, note the slimmed and sculptural lines of the Greek-column dress centered in the picture. This lovely creation by Bruno is of the classic type that makes up so beautifully in either white crepe or white jersey. The one-shoulder bodice gathered to a short tunic is news. The border trimming in Greek design is exquisitely patterned with delicate gold beadwork.

The demand is terrific for "occasional" dresses and costumes that tune to the mood to "dress up and go places" this winter. These dresses for restaurant wear, for cocktails, concerts and the theater and smart afternoon affairs as well as for after-five gala events flaunt glitter, luxurious furs, and dramatic jewelry, and being short-length they can be appropriately worn at almost every dress-up affair. The feather hats and those of fur or jewel-embroidered fur or fabric top off these glamour costumes to perfection.

Gabardine Casual

All heads turn to the girl in the handsome Nelly Don casual designed with inspired lines and studied simplicity. Distinctly fall, 1945—deep, deep armholes cut in one with the yoke. Sleeves cascade over a smooth, wide shoulder line. The long, lean line is achieved by a fly front.

Knit Dresses Warm As Well as Stunning

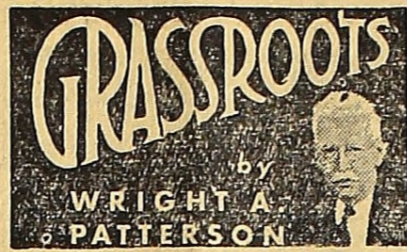

Girls in the grandstand football crowd have a new "rave" on in way of a stunning handknit wool dress worn under a warm tweed topper or fur coat. These chic and "comfy" handknits are to be had both in specialty shops and the better large stores. They are in perfectly stunning vivid colors such as bright jade green, chartreuse, navy, a dazzling copper tone, also in coral, cerise and fuchsia shades, also deep wine tones. They are in one-piece and two-piece styles. The shirtmaker dresses have long bishop sleeves with link fastened cuffs. The two-piece jacket and skirt models are especially liked because with the topper removed they have a suit appearance. The grand thing about these handknits is they do not bulge, wrinkle or sag.

Cotton Plaid Shirts Are Worn With Slacks

Young moderns like the new plaid cotton shirts to wear with their slacks. There are two styles available. One is to be worn with the shirt tails flying out. The other is a wild Western blouse that is just the thing to wear with fishwife skirts, slacks and pedal pushers.

Glove and Scarf Set of Wool

The "keep warm" idea is expressed in scarf-and-glove sets made of all wool fabric. These practical twosomes are chic with unfurled suits. Some of the scarfs come with mittens instead of gloves. One style is of hounds tooth check another dressier type is of red jersey with black yarn embroidery accents.

EVERY INVESTOR A JOB MAKER UNDER FREE ENTERPRISE

GOV. RAYMOND E. BALDWIN of Connecticut, in an article in the American Magazine, says we need job makers. The fact is we now have more than 50 million job makers. They are the American John and Mary Dosks whose money is invested in the plants and tools of industry. They have made jobs for more than 50 million workers.

In the ranks of the 50 million job makers are farmers, merchants, professional people, workers, all classes of American men and women, especially women. They have invested their savings in industry, and provided the tools needed by the workers. Their investments make jobs possible.

The average per worker cost of tools is a little more than $9,000. That $9,000 covers the buildings, and heavy and light machinery, the power plants, locomotives, cars and rails of transportation, everything down to the monkey wrenches and screw drivers the worker uses in his or her job. Without these things the job would not exist.

The investor creates the job by providing the tools, but those tools would be valueless without the worker to apply them to production. Both tools and workers would avail nothing without management, the trained minds that have the over-all know-how of production and sales.

So it is that industry becomes a three way partnership of capital, labor and management, each dependent upon the other.

Those 50 million investors have hired their dollars out to industry. They rightfully expect their dollars will earn a reasonable wage. That wage is the dividends industry pays to the investor. It averages less than four cents a year for each working dollar. That is certainly not an excessive price for workers and management to pay for the tools of production, the tools that create jobs.

Management receives for its technical knowledge, its know-how, without which industry would not operate, less than one half of 1 per cent of what is produced.

Out of each dollar of value produced labor receives approximately 60 cents. Of the three partners labor is the only one that assumes, or accepts, no responsibility, and from which the government demands none as it does from the other two partners of production. Labor should share in that responsibility as it does in the receipts.

WITH ALL ITS FAULTS IT'S A RURAL CITY

"THIS TOWN IS just like New York," said the taxi driver who had migrated from the eastern metropolis to Los Angeles. That is true insofar as street congestion is concerned, but there the similarity ends. New York is a great metropolitan city, and its people are, on the average, more provincial than those of any country village in the nation.

The average New Yorker knows nothing of, and is not interested in, anything outside of New York City. To them civilization stops at the Hudson river, but the city is distinctly metropolitan. Los Angeles is a big, sprawling, overgrown country village in which one story false fronts are mixed with towering skyscrapers. Climatic conditions have attracted its residents from all sections of America. It has a larger proportion of lame, halt, blind and freaks per 1,000 of population than any other place on the continent. It abounds in fakes of every possible description. It is a mammoth dime museum, but it is neither metropolitan nor provincial. Personally if I had to choose between New York or Los Angeles as a place of residence I would pick Los Angeles because it is rural.

TO PARAPHRASE, "you never miss the water until the well runs dry," so you never miss the matches until the hotel room maids stop leaving them in the ash trays in your room. One hotel manager told me the story when he explained: "As OPA will not permit raising room rates we must economize by not giving away anything for which we can charge. You will find matches on sale at the news stand." That spirit of economy accounts for other changes in hotel service. Postwar competition will now bring back the matches.

THE GREATER THE NUMBER of bureaucrats the more complications and muddling. It looks like the sun is setting for large numbers of the brood.

IT IS ENCOURAGING when a secretary of agriculture, as did Secretary Anderson, denounces a policy of scarcity, and advocates full farm production as a means to national, and especially farm, prosperity. The world needs, and will use, that full production from American acres. That is true of the present, and will be true of the future. World distribution machinery, that is now being perfected, is the solution of the American farm problem. That was the one thing needed, and it is now on the way in.

Household Hints

When storing empty fruit jars, replace lids to keep tops of jars smooth and free from nicks.

Place a piece of gum camphor inside the piano case when going away from home. It will keep the moths from getting inside the felt.

To waterproof rope so it will last longer, treat it with a tar and tallow mixture. Add 20 per cent tallow to the tar and melt both materials so they will spread over the rope easily, using an old paintbrush. The rope will also be more pliable.

To make thickening for gravy, put the flour and water into a wide-mouthed jar, with a screw top, and shake well.

To mix cheese with other ingredients to be cooked, cut the cheese into small pieces or grate it. If the cheese is soft, press it through a coarse sieve.

Pour a little paraffin over the sliding groove in the drawer to make it slide easier.

It further appearing that after diligent search and inquiry it can not be ascertained, and it is not known whether or not said defendants are living or dead, or where any of them may reside if living and, if dead, whether they have personal representatives or heir living, or where they or some of them may reside, and further that the present whereabouts of said defendants are unknown, and that the names of the persons who are included therein without being named, but who are embraced therein under the title of unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, can not be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry.
On motion of H. Read Smith, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that said defendants and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cause their appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order, and in default thereof that said bill of complaint be taken as confessed by the said defendants, their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns.
It is further ordered that within twenty days plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in The Tawas Herald, newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, such publication to be continued once in each week for six weeks in succession.
HERMAN DEHNKE,
Circuit Judge

Countersigned:
Effie Mallon,
Deputy Clerk of Circuit Court.
Take notice, that this suit, in which the foregoing order was duly made, involves and is brought to quiet title to the following described piece or parcel of land situate and being in the Township of Grant, county of Iosco, State of Michigan, described as follows, to-wit:
The North half (N½) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼) and the Southwest quarter (SW¼) of the

Christian Outing Grounds
The Christian Outing Grounds association was organized in 1905 and a large tract of land purchased at Long Lake, Iosco county. The promoters constructed a fine hotel and many cottages were built on the banks of the lake. It was a religious organization with headquarters at Toledo, Ohio, and the aim was to have at least 1,000 families spend the summers at the lake.

Ground Waters Rise

Ground water levels rose six inches during October in the AuSable, Manistee and Muskegon river drainage basins.

The abnormal rise, according to the conservation department's geological survey division, has been exceeded only once when a rise of six-tenths foot occurred during the same period in 1941.

October levels were seven-tenths of a foot higher than a year ago, one foot higher than the record October low stage of 1935, two-tenths of a foot lower than the record high stage of 1943, and six-tenths of a foot higher than the October average.

OVERNIGHT GUEST

By BEN AMES WILLIAMS

THE STORY THUS FAR: Adam Bruce, FBI operator, on a trip to his old home, ran into his previous boss, Inspector Tope...

his stocks when the news comes out. But it is certainly Mr. Ledforge. Aren't you going to tell Mr. Cumberland?

"Well, now, Mrs. Tope, I call that sensible. Isaac, he's always wanting to move on and move on. Some people say it's hard on the twins, not going to school; but Isaac gives them their lessons right along."

CHAPTER IV

Cumberland nodded. "How long's he been dead, Doc?"

Doctor Medford had already made some examination. "Twenty-four hours, anyway," he said.

"So?" Tope echoed. "Why, he told us in Middleford that he was taking the midnight train. Must've changed his mind."

They came to look; they saw an old small man, with eyes twisted slightly upward at the corners, a nose thick at the bridge and narrowing to a point which drooped above the upper lip.

She nodded, and presently they came out to the car, Tope brave in rubber boots and an old felt hat adorned with flies stuck in the band and crown.

Be laughed. "Adam's always an uncertain quantity. He must be sleeping late. I'll have Mrs. Priddy keep some coffee hot for him!"

Then Cumberland said wistfully: "I kind of wish Joe was here; but Quill said you didn't want anyone else to know about this right away, Inspector."

After breakfast, Tope and Mrs. Tope returned to Cascade. Tope rummaged boots and fishing garb out of the rumble of the car and put them on.

After breakfast, Tope and Mrs. Tope returned to Cascade. Tope rummaged boots and fishing garb out of the rumble of the car and put them on.

"Well, Mat, maybe you'd better send for Joe."

He was the ideal man to send, for "he was a good man." It is far more important that a man be good than that he be brilliant if he is to edify young converts.

He was the ideal man to send, for "he was a good man." It is far more important that a man be good than that he be brilliant if he is to edify young converts.

"That'd be hard, to keep this quiet. Some one's bound to find out."

He had heard, sometimes, surprisingly useful things. "Don't see many Englishmen here, I expect," he suggested at random.

"Well, some!" Priddy declared. "Fellow come here Friday night late—I guess he was English by the way he talked. Had that kind of a deaf man's voice that they have. I can tell 'em fur as I can hear 'em."

Young Adam spoke. "I think you'd do well to let Tope run this, Mat," he urged.

He found two things. He found, on a slanting ledge, a scratch which might have been made by a nail in someone's heel; but the scratch was broader than the nail would readily have made, and Tope reflected that some men have set into the heels of their shoes a small triangular plate to retard the wear.

"I found this," Tope pointed to the footprint.

"I know," Cumberland assented heavily. "It hits me that way too."

That's what you say? Will you take it on?"

That's what you say? Will you take it on?"

The Inspector looked toward Mrs. Tope, standing by the fire. "We're on a sort of honeymoon," he reflected.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE OUTREACH OF THE CHURCH

LESSON TEXT: Acts 11:21-30; 12:24, 25, 13:1-4. GOLDEN TEXT: And He said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.—Mark 16:15.

A church that is spiritually alive will be missionary-minded. What seemed like unfortunate persecution of the early Church (Acts 8:4; 11:19) proved to be a blessing, for like flying embers from a beaten fire, these believers lighted many new fires as they were scattered abroad.

"So?" Tope echoed. "Why, he told us in Middleford that he was taking the midnight train. Must've changed his mind."

Be laughed. "Adam's always an uncertain quantity. He must be sleeping late. I'll have Mrs. Priddy keep some coffee hot for him!"

After breakfast, Tope and Mrs. Tope returned to Cascade. Tope rummaged boots and fishing garb out of the rumble of the car and put them on.

She nodded, and presently they came out to the car, Tope brave in rubber boots and an old felt hat adorned with flies stuck in the band and crown.

Tope admitted this. "Git you any worms?" Tope shook his head. "I'll dig you some, just chance I git," Priddy promised.

"Well, some!" Priddy declared. "Fellow come here Friday night late—I guess he was English by the way he talked. Had that kind of a deaf man's voice that they have. I can tell 'em fur as I can hear 'em."

Tope was always willing to listen. He had heard, sometimes, surprisingly useful things. "Don't see many Englishmen here, I expect," he suggested at random.

"Well, some!" Priddy declared. "Fellow come here Friday night late—I guess he was English by the way he talked. Had that kind of a deaf man's voice that they have. I can tell 'em fur as I can hear 'em."

Tope nodded indifferently, and he got into the car. When they approached Amasa Dewain's farmhouse, they saw Adam on the porch.

"Cumberland and the doctor are inside," he reported. "Want to go in?" Tope said: "I'm wondering how long that man has been dead. Earl Priddy just told me that a man and a woman came late Friday night and stayed in Little Bear, and left early in the morning."

Bruce's eyes lighted, but before he could speak, Mat Cumberland came out of the house; and when he saw Tope, he drew from his pocket something wrapped in a handkerchief.

"You'll want to see these things, Inspector," he suggested. "They were in the pocket of those overalls. Ever see a knife like that before?"

The knife was of a peculiar design. It bore on one side a graduated scale marked off not only in inches but in centimeters. Tope opened the blade to see the maker's name—a Sheffield firm. "English," he remarked thoughtfully; and he picked up the other article, a thing like a little metal fan, with leaves of differing lengths and thicknesses.

"What's that?" Cumberland asked. "That's a gauge to test valve-clearances. Mechanics use them, on cars and airplanes."

A car came toward them along the road from the highway. Bee Dewain whirled into the yard and alighted, full of surprised questions. "What's happened?" she demanded. "What are you all doing here?"

No one spoke; and she turned to Adam. "Earl told me you came back last night. Why?"

Adam said laughingly: "Couldn't bear to go away without seeing you again."

She colored angrily. "Don't treat me like a child! Why doesn't some one say something?"

Mrs. Tope spoke. "I'll tell you, Miss Dewain." And she made the matter briefly clear. She turned pale, but her head did not droop.

"I see," she said through stiff lips. "That's terrible, isn't it?" She caught Adam's eye. "This was why you came back?" she guessed. "I suppose Mr. Tope telephoned you?"

"Yes." Doctor Medford spoke. "Know him, Miss Dewain?" "No, No, but—" "But what?"

"He has something on his hair," said Bee. "Some sort of musky-smelling stuff. I've smelled it before." And she cried suddenly: "I remember!"

"Where?" Tope asked sharply. "Friday night. Or rather, Saturday morning," she answered. "Some people stayed Friday night in Little Bear, and left before daylight."

Johnny Found Soda Pop To Be Highly Potent Stuff

A story is being told about a couple of moonshiners who came out of the mountains of Kentucky to ride on a train for the first time. To them it was a great experience. Before they got on the train they saw some folks drinking soda pop. Being thirsty, they decided to buy a couple of bottles of the beverage. When the train started, one of them pried the cap off the bottle and started to drink the contents just as the train entered a tunnel. "How is it, Johnny, how is it?" inquired the other. To which Johnny replied: "Don't touch it! Don't touch it! It's made me blind already!"

Constipated? Using harsh laxative drugs? Millions have solved the problem of constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet. They eat a daily dish of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, and drink plenty of water for regular elimination! If you have this trouble and will follow this simple precaution, you may never have to take a laxative for the rest of your life!

ALL-BRAN's not a purgative. Provides gentle bulk to aid normal, natural elimination. It's a great, naturally regulating food.

Even Richer in Nutrition Than Whole Wheat

Because it's made from the vital outer layers of wheat, in which whole-wheat protective food elements are concentrated. One ounce of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN provides more than 1/3 your daily iron need—to help make good, red blood. Calcium and phosphorus—to help build bones and teeth. Whole-grain vitamins—to help guard against deficiencies. Protein—to help build body tissue essential for growth.

Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

PAZO for PILES
Relieves pain and soreness

PAZO IN TUBES!
Millions of people suffering from simple Piles, have found prompt relief with PAZO ointment. Here's why: First, PAZO ointment soothes inflamed areas—relieves pain and itching. Second, PAZO ointment lubricates hardened, dried parts—helps prevent cracking and soreness. Third, PAZO ointment tends to reduce swelling and check minor bleeding. Fourth, it's easy to use. PAZO ointment's perforated Pile Pipe makes application simple. Through your doctor can tell you about PAZO ointment.

SUPPOSITORIES TOO!
Some persons, and many doctors, prefer to use suppositories, so PAZO comes in handy suppositories also. The same soothing relief that PAZO always gives.

School Notes
 High School
 The high school is in receipt of a color photograph of the Japanese surrender which appears in the October 27, Saturday Evening Post. This was done through the courtesy of the Curtis Publishing Company, the publishers of the magazine.
 The eleventh grade American history class has been studying recently concerning the Constitutional Convention of 1787. Among the books in the high school library concerning this event is one entitled, "Journal of the Constitutional Convention," by James Madison. Sessions were held from May to September and Madison took notes during the day and then wrote them out at night as a journal. When he died, at fifty years later, the last surviving of the great Convention, Mrs. Madison sold the material to Congress for thirty thousand dollars and it was published in Washington in 1840.
 The above mentioned book in the library is one of the published editions, and so is one of considerable value from the historical standpoint.
 An Armistice program was held by the junior and senior high schools in the auditorium on Monday of this week. Appropriate songs and readings were rendered and Rev. Frank Benish of the local Methodist church gave a talk concerning the significance of the day. Rev. Benish is a veteran of the first World War and so has an excellent background for a talk of this nature.

7th and 8th Grades
 Sherwood Engle has entered the Seventh grade. We now have thirty-eight in our room.
 Alice Johnson, Florence Bradfield and Stanley Brown received "A" in their Science test.
 The Seventh grade made some good drawings of the Alimentary Canal.
 Eighth Grade are reviewing World War I and expect to have a test on it soon.
 We enjoyed the Armistice program in the gym last Monday.
 Marvin Gingerich brought some souvenirs of the war for us to see.
 Our room had a party in the gym last Thursday. Everyone had a good time and plenty of cats.
Grades 3 and 4
 Our pictures that we had taken a few weeks ago came yesterday. We are all glad to get them.
 Jackie Misener visited our school room yesterday.
 Kay Brunning brought us the book, "The Adventures of Nils" from the Tawas City Library. We like the story, as it is quite exciting.
 Third graders who had "A" on last week's spelling contest were: Patsy Conklin, Bobby Freil, Carol Frank, Judy Austin, Kenneth Rollin, Melvin Himmreck, Neil Abbott, and Marvin Clements.
 Fourth graders who had "A" on last weeks test were: Tommy Morley, Larry Brown, Ronald Chaney, Nancy Reed, Christine Bradfield, Rolland Hughes, Geneva Ulman, Neal Hughes and James Clements.
Primary Room
 We have five new books for our library. They are: "Corporal Crow," "Jumpy the Kangaroo," "Travelers All," "Mr. Wren's House," and "Sasha" and "The Samovar."
 We were all pleased with our pictures that came Monday.
 We are learning a new song called "Thanksgiving Joys."
 The Language classes are learning Thanksgiving poems and about the Pilgrims.
 We are glad to have Martha Westcott back in school. She has been sick.
 Yvonne Russell, Terry Bronson and Terry Tanner are glad to have their Daddies back home from the service.
 The boys and girls are all pleased with their pictures.

It's Big-It's Beautiful-It's BUICK

THIS, we reasoned, is no time to offer folks a car that stops with artful face-lifting. It has been nearly four years since our last new Buick was built — it wouldn't be shooting square now to give you less than our honor-bright best. So we overhauled our whole factory to advantage it with the latest in war-developed machines and processes. We scoured the country for the stoutest metals anyone can buy today. We set ourselves precisions that in some cases exceed those of aircraft engine production. And we eagle-eyed every one of this Buick's 12,000 parts to see if it could be bettered in any way, big or little. 'The result is that through every stunning inch of this bright new honey runs solid, dependable Buick character, honest and uncompromised. It's in swift clean lines. In seats that are three-persons wide. In stout, time-defying frames and underpinning. Above all — in the lift and life of a Fireball straight-eight that's even livelier than in 1942. The cars your Buick dealer will have are big. They're beautiful. They're Buicks. In fact — the best Buicks yet!

When better automobiles are built
 will build them
