Resources of Iosco Area to be Promoted

Banquet Held Monday Evening at the Hotel Holland

"To promote, develop and sustain the welfare of the Tawas area" is the aim of the new Tawas Chamber of Commerce organized last Monday evening at a dinner held at the Holland Hotel. The new organization was formed by a consolidation of the two Chambers of Commerce previously existing in the area. A movement to combine the two organizations has been underway since the first of the year.

It is planned that the organization have a paid secretary. The constitution and by-laws provide for a board of directors consisting of 14 members. This board to meet once each month, and a general meeting of the membership will be held quarterly. Each of the two cities will be equally represented on the board of directors and on the various committees.

Publicity projects to be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce will include: Winter sports, winter fishing, hunting, smelt perch and trout fishing, summer sports, information bureau, industrial promotion, community planning and community improvement.

The next meeting of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce will be held Wednesday evening, April 9. Preparations for an election of members of the board of directors is being made. The ballots will be cast by mail and will contain the names of 28 candidates. The seven from each city receiving the highest number of votes will be declared members of the board of directors.

The speaker of the evening was Edward R. Denecke, manager of the Sears, Roebuck & Company store at Saginaw. He congratulated the community for consolidating the two organizations and said, "People outside the Tawas area consider the two cities as one community and you can now work together more efficiently for the betterment of the area. I suggest 'Serving Northeastern Michigan' as a slogan for your new organization. The summer tourist trade in Northern Michigan is going to double or triple within the next five years and you will get your share of this increased business."

About 100 professional and business men of the two cities were in attendance at the meeting Monday night. Included in the group was Milton J. Greenbaum, a summer resident of Tawas City. Mr. Greenbaum is manager of Radio Station WSAM, Saginaw.

Detroit Man Buys Tawas Recreation

Takes Immediate Possession of Popular Place

W. A. Sias of Detroit has purchased the Tawas City Recreation from Charles Moeller. He took possession Monday.

An employee of the Bower Roller Bearing Company of Detroit, Mr. Sias has been spending his summer vacations in this section of Northern Michigan for the past twelve years. He says, "I am new at this business, but if the public will bear with me I'll try to please everyone." Mrs. Sias will join her husband here this week.

The Tawas City Recreation was established by Charles Moeller and son, Harold, in 1939. At the time it was considered one of the finest bowling alleys in Northern Michigan. Following a fire last year the building was enlarged and increased from six to ten alleys and many improvements added, including a modern dairy bar. The people of this city have taken a great interest in this recreation center and are proud of its fine equipment and handsome appearance.

Mr. Sias has announced a new policy. Every Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, high school children may bowl three games for 60 cents. There will be an instructor.

THE WASHINGTON SCENE

Senate Committee Chairmen
Are Experienced Legislators

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles on new congressional committees and their chairmen.)

By WALTER A. SHEAD
WNU Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON.—Experienced legislators are at the helm of senate committees of the 80th congress, a survey disclosing that the committee chairmen have served an average of 11 years in the upper house. Their length of service ranges from four years for Sen. Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia to 28 years for Sen. Arthur Capper of Kansas.

In age, the new Republican chairmen average 61 years, five years older than senators as a whole. Youngest of the group is Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who is 48, while the oldest is 81-year-old Capper.

The list of committees and their chairmen continues:

Agriculture

ARTHUR CAPPER (Kas.), chairman of the senate agriculture and forestry committee, is at 81 the oldest man in the senate and ranks second only to Kenneth McKellar (Dem., Tenn.) in length of service. He was elected to the senate in 1919, after serving two terms as governor of Kansas.

Now dean of the farm bloc, Capper has been an important figure in agricultural legislation for the last 20 years. He voted for the McNary-Hauger bill in 1927, the agricultural adjustment bill in 1933, soil conservation in 1936, crop insurance in 1938. He voted in 1942 to include the cost of farm labor in computing parity prices and for the Russell amendment to the same effect in 1946. Capper was for the Smoot-Hawley tariff in 1930. In 1934 he voted for reciprocal trade agreements but by 1940 he was against extending them. He supported creation of TVA in 1933 but is against the proposal for a Missouri Valley authority. In a recent speech he announced that the parity price support program needs revision to prevent accumulation of unsalable surpluses.

Capper has a wide influence in the grain belt through a number of newspapers and magazines which he supervises from Washington. He entered the publishing field by becoming a typesetter for the Topeka Daily Capital, which he now owns. His other publications are Capper's Weekly, Kansas Farmer and Mail and Breeze, Household magazine, Capper's Farmer, Missouri Ruralist, Ohio Farmer, Pennsylvania Farmer, Michigan Farmer and Kansas City Kansan. He also owns radio station WIBW in Topeka.

Public Works

CHAPMAN REVERCOMB (W. Va.), still serving his first term, becomes chairman of the public works committee, which will take over the old committees on commerce and public buildings and grounds and non-personnel functions of post offices and post roads.

Revercomb is 51 years old. He was born in Covington, Va., served in the army in World War I, returned to Covington to practice law and moved to Charleston, W. Va., in 1922. He was a member of the Republican state executive committee from 1932 to 1936 and was president of the Young Republican league of West Virginia from 1934 to 1936. He was elected to the senate in 1942. He is a former president of Charleston Bar association.

On public works matters, Revercomb voted against an appropriation to continue the national resources planning board in 1943, against an appropriation of 75 million dollars for a postwar planning fund in 1945, for the full employment bill in 1945 and against an amendment the same year to reduce federal aid for airports from 500 million dollars to 250 million dollars.

On most issues, Revercomb has followed Republican party policy. He voted with the majority of his party on 82 per cent of controversial roll calls in the 79th congress.

PALESTINE.—The United States must be more cautious regarding Palestine now that Britain has agreed to lay this problem in the United Nations lap. Instead of giving advice regarding Palestine, the U. S. A. now will have to act.

EUROPEAN RELIEF.—Food continues to be the greatest stabilizing influence in the world, and the United States must continue to feed the world—perhaps for some years to come.

CHINA.—"I am somewhat disillusioned about the Chinese situation," Marshall commented. He spent more time on this subject than any other, remarking with a laugh that he felt more at home when talking about China. His off-the-record discussion, however, included little he had not already stated publicly.

'Building Bee' Solves Housing Shortage

HOLDREGE, NEB.—Harking back to the pioneer days, Holdrege is reviving the old-fashioned "building bee" in an attempt to solve its current housing problems.

Early settlers in the plains country always "pitched in" to help their neighbors build a home. D. C. Lefler, assistant manager of a local bottling works, recalled in suggesting the cooperative plan. The idea was accorded a hearty

One of the first problems before the judiciary committee under Wiley will be advisability of repealing emergency war powers not affected by the President's proclamation of the end of hostilities. In a report to the Republican conference, Wiley stated that, in view of the "continued national emergency," the "varied and complex nature" of the wartime controls and the "chaotic effects" of immediate termination of controls, the problem should be studied by the senate committees concerned with the various types of controls before the judiciary committee draws up overall recommendations.

Capper

Wiley, born in 1884 in the town of Chippewa Falls, where he still lives, is a lawyer. He also owns and operates a farm and has been a director of a local bank. His only public office before his election to the senate in 1938 was that of district attorney for Chippewa county, which he held from 1909 to 1915.

The judiciary committee deals with courts and judges, anti-trust problems, bankruptcy laws, patents, immigration, civil liberties and constitutional amendments.

Interstate and Foreign Commerce

WALLACE H. WHITE JR. (Me.), new chairman of the interstate and foreign commerce committee, is one of the few Republicans who have had previous experience as a congressional committee chairman. White was chairman of the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries from 1927 to 1931. In addition to transportation and general bills affecting commerce, White's committee handles radio and communications, civil aeronautics and merchant marine bills.

White was also minority leader of senate Republicans in the 79th congress and now comes majority leader in addition to commerce committee chairman. He was strenuously opposed for the committee job by Clyde M. Reed, (Rep., Kas.) who was represented as having the support of the railroads while White was backed by the radio industry. White is 69 years old and has been in congress continuously since 1916, when he was elected to the house. He went to the senate in 1930, and is the third ranking Republican senator in seniority. Before entering congress, White practiced law in Washington and Maine and was a senatorial secretary.

Labor and Public Welfare

ROBERT A. TAFT (Ohio), new chairman of the labor and public welfare committee, has endorsed changes in labor laws to enable "employer and employee to meet on a fairly equal basis." Specifically, he will seek enactment of legislation to hold unions responsible for contract violations, to require union financial reports, to establish mediation machinery outside the labor department to outlaw secondary boycotts, and to exempt foremen from the Wagner labor relations act. Most of these provisions were in the vetoed Case bill last spring.

Taft, a 57-year-old lawyer, is the son of former Pres. William Howard Taft. He served in the Ohio house of representatives from 1921 to 1926 and in the state senate in 1931 and 1932. He was elected to the United States senate in 1936.

The labor and public welfare committee will handle bills on education, health, veterans' hospitals and medical care, in addition to the subjects covered by its name.

'GOING PLACES'... Planning a trip is almost as much fun as actually going, the Camp Fire Girls in this picture attest. The teen-age Horizon Clubber tells two Blue Birds about a trip her group is planning this summer.

AGE NO SECRET

Camp Fire Girls 'Go Places,' Resume of Services Reveals

WNU Features.

Camp Fire Girls, your birthdays are showing! Yes, they are—35 of them! But instead of growing older with the years, you're mainly young in spirit and mind, eagerly looking forward to new horizons.

Camp Fire Girls! Perhaps that brings to mind a group of girls in Indian ceremonial gowns, adorned with beadwork, rubbing two sticks together to make a fire in the woods. Well, they do that, too, but it's only a fraction of what the girls do!

On March 15, 1912, the organization was incorporated. Two years prior to that, a group of progressive educators, naturalists and woodsmen founded the youth-serving agency, "to formulate a plan of constructive leisure-time activities for young girls from 7 to 18."

These far-seeing people realized that character is formed predominantly during the recreational hours of a child's life. They outlined a program of work and play, based on the finest ideals of civilized living.

During 35 years their wise planning has paid dividends. For more than two million girls have enjoyed fun and friendship in Camp Fire since the organization was incorporated. At present, more than 360,000 members in 222 councils scattered from Maine to California provide proof that Camp Fire's program offers the recreational needs girls are seeking.

Every year Camp Fire proposes a project particularly geared to service and citizenship. The 1947 anniversary project has as its theme, "Going Places." Although the organization's youthful members have been "going places" ever since 1912, they now will plan to go even farther afield.

As an example, in Reading, Pa., 100 Camp Fire Girls received a behind-the-scenes training in business as they took over various jobs for one day in one of the city's large department stores. They went forward, not only in learning how a big business is run, but also in the field of human relations.

Another instance of how Camp Fire members are alert to new trends occurred in Dayton, Ohio. Thirty girls recently enrolled in a four-week course in child and baby care. Now Dayton mothers of young children will feel secure in using Camp Fire Girls as "baby sitters."

Out in St. Paul, Minn., Camp Fire Girls went places in a big way during the Community Chest campaign by caring for children of volunteers while the mothers were out collecting funds for the drive.

Alert to other community needs, Klamath County, Ore., Camp Fire Girls volunteered to work in public health offices, bringing files up to date, at the same time getting experience in business procedures.

Adopt War Orphans. Promoting international good will always has been a part of Camp Fire's program. In Washington, Ore., Horizon Clubbers (Camp Fire's senior group) have adopted a French war orphan and regularly send him clothes and food. A similar undertaking is being accomplished in Sacramento, Calif., where another teen-age group also has adopted a war orphan.

From these few excerpts may be gathered a small idea of the vastness of the Camp Fire program. Rubbing two sticks together to make a fire is not the half of it!

"The vision of the world and all the wonder that would be," which the founding fathers of Camp Fire had back in 1912, has indeed been realized as Camp Fire Girls show the world they are "going places!"

Historical Group Asks End of Civil War Bond

MADISON, WIS.—Under terms of a bill introduced in the state senate, Wisconsin State Historical society will be freed from its Civil war shackles. State law restricts the society to gathering historical data and exhibits concerning "the war of the rebellion." The bill will free the group from its ancient bonds and allow it to look at things past the year 1864

INTIMATE FELLOWSHIP WITH CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—John 14:1-6, 12-18; 15:1-6.
MEMORY SELECTION—Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.—John 15:14.

The hour had come for our Lord's final intimate words with his disciples. It was indeed a solemn, but also a blessed, hour.

It was the night before the darkest day in the world's history. On the morning the Son of man was to hang on Calvary's tree for the sins of the world—for your sins and for mine. But for the moment he was alone with his disciples.

The last Passover had been eaten together, the betrayer had been discovered, and the Lord had told them that he was soon to go where they could not follow. Peter had, by his bold self-assurance, brought forth the prophecy of his denial.

The disciples were disturbed in heart and mind. Then came from the Saviour's lips the words of comfort, assurance and power which have been the strength and solace of his people through all the centuries. Our life both here and hereafter is in his mighty hands.

We learn in this precious portion of Scripture that

I. The Christian Need Not Be Fearful (14:1-6).

That is indeed a good word—a needed word! Troubled hearts are everywhere—in the palace and in the cottage, on land, in the air and on the sea. There is a place of rest, thank God! There is One who still speaks the majestic words, "Let not your heart be troubled, believe in God, believe also in me."

His comfort is one which covers the future life, for he says, "I go to prepare a place" (v. 2). Concern about future destiny is settled at once when Christ Jesus becomes our Lord and Saviour. We need worry no longer. He has gone on before to the Father's house to prepare a place for his own. When we come to that ever-peaceful shore we shall not come as strangers, but as sons and daughters to a prepared place in our Father's house.

His words, "I will come again" (v. 3), gives present meaning to the future promise. He not only prepared the place, but he it is who brings us there. The glorious hope of his coming again is the Christian's greatest comfort and mightiest incentive to useful, holy living.

II. The Christian Need Not Be Powerless (14:12-15).

Christ's followers are not here in a world of sin and need as a little group of hymn-singing weaklings, thinking only of the day when they shall be in a brighter land. Ah, yes, they sing hymns and rejoice in them; they look for a better land; their weapons of warfare are not carnal. But weaklings? Oh, no! God uses them to do great and mighty things for his glory.

Note the blessed words of Jesus, "He that believeth on me" (v. 12). The army of God carries the royal banner of faith in a living Christ. "Greater works . . . shall he do" (v. 12). Jesus only began his work on earth; his greatest development was to be the joyous privilege of his followers. We are ashamed that we have not lived up to this great promise, but by his grace we will do better.

"If ye ask . . . I will do" (v. 14). Someone has called this a signed blank check on all the resources of God.

III. The Christian Need Not Be Distressed (14:16-18).

The Holy Spirit, promised by Christ as the abiding comforter, came so to abide in the believer on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2).

The ministries of the Holy Spirit are many, but here the emphasis is on his work as Comforter. What a blessed and helpful ministry, and how much needed by distressed and disturbed souls! The Christian may count on him—and not be distressed.

IV. The Christian Need Not Be Detached (15:1-6).

What is worse than the feeling that one does not belong to anyone else, that one is a detached individual! That is never true of the believer in Christ. We are as close to him as the branch is to the vine. We are in him.

Christ is the vine, and the believer as a true branch is united with him. There is a oneness here which is difficult to express, but delightful to receive and believe. He who is the vine needs no cleansing, but the branch needs constant, daily purification by the word. Are we permitting God's Word to keep us clean? Only if we are reading it, studying it, meditating upon it.

There is, moreover, a severer type of purging to which the husbandman subjects the vine that it may bear more richly, and that is pruning (v. 2).

Eimer Tritchell Dodges Southern Cows and Pigs

Dear Folks:
Well, I have just made one of them trips South through Georgia and Florida by auto and the cows are ahead on points although I am still holding the pigs even. I never knew there was so many cows and pigs loose on highways before in the whole U. S. A. Them Georgia cattle are the skinniest I ever seen and now I know why. They keep thinking there is grass in macadam, cement and asphalt. And a cow born and raised in Florida evidently has been sold on the idea there is nourishment in them white lines that mark the middle of through roads.

Georgia and Florida cows are the only kind that have to be taken into a service station every few weeks to have the dents taken out of them.

They are a breed known as Back-into cattle. They will back into anything. You get the breed by crossing a very calm cow with an extra dumb jackass. All cows is oblivious to traffic more or less, but a Georgia cow won't even look up at a Mack truck. It operates on a queer basis. When a car comes along it places itself in front of it, waits for the shriek of hot brakes and then answers with a low "Nuh-h-hits to Yoo-oo-oo!" moan.

The pig is a Georgia and Florida road problem, too. There are big sows there that have bumped into cars so often they have developed collision resistance. I saw one hog with the license plates of four states engraved on its right side. These hogs have learned to "give" when hit, and there is just a queer flump! sound and a slight jar like you had hit a balloon.

On the few southern roads little pigs dash out on the express highways every few feet, too. Starting young like this they develop high speed and by the time they are a year old they are either dead or else on the market for dog races.

So if you know anybody setting out for the South by auto, warn him about the animal life and tell him to drive slow passing farm stock and always hold out his hand so a hog or heifer will know what he is going to do.

Yours, Elmer.

Office Boy—She ain't in yet. Tied up in the subway. I guess.

Office Boy—The Bronx, N. Y.

Boss—That's the trouble having a stenographer who lives in the Bronx and has to come to work in San Francisco. Yesterday she was 15 minutes late. I've a mind to hire a girl who lives near the office, somewhere like Chicago or Cheyenne. You're always on time. How do you do it?

Let Children Entertain Their Young Friends At Home Suppers

When serving supper to a gang of teen-agers, prepare a casserole as illustrated here, and let the youngsters serve themselves. Complete the main course with a tossed salad.

If you're one of the many mothers worried about where your teen-aged children spend their recreation and leisure time, then start doing a little hinting that it would be nice occasionally to entertain their friends at home.

You can enlist the help of other mothers in the neighborhood and plan a series of suppers or evening snacks for the younger crowd, and in this way, have some idea of where the children spend their idle hours. Daughters, and sons, too, will be glad to cooperate with mother in "cooking up" something super special in the way of refreshments which should be simple but good to eat.

If you want to have a snack party for the youngsters, here's an easily planned and executed snack idea:

- Salmon Salad Bread Box
- Pickles and Olives
- Dutch Apple Cake
- Milk or Chocolate
- Potato Chips
- Ice Cream

The salad loaf can be made ahead of time and set in the refrigerator for chilling, then removed at serving time and sliced.

Salmon Salad Bread Box. (Serves 6 to 8)

- 1 tall can red salmon
 - 1 tablespoon plain gelatin
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 3/4 teaspoon salt
 - Dash of Worcestershire sauce
 - 1/2 teaspoon grated onion
 - 1/2 cup salad dressing
 - 1 loaf (small) unsliced white bread
- Drain salmon; remove skin and bones. Flake fish into small pieces. Soften gelatin with lemon juice and dissolve over hot water. Add seasonings and salad dressing; combine with salmon, mixing thoroughly. Trim crusts from bread; cut thick slice off top of loaf. Remove inside of loaf leaving a wall about 3/4 inch thick. Fill box with salmon mixture; replace top slice of bread, pressing it in gently. Chill thoroughly. When ready to serve spread top and sides with extra salad dressing and garnish with ripe or stuffed green olives. Serve in slices.

Another easy type of dinner to serve is an oven stew with a simple tossed salad.

- Both of these can be prepared ahead of time, and finished up by the gang, if necessary. For dessert, serve something frozen because of the convenience of preparation.

Supper Idea.

- Oven Stew
- Baking Powder Biscuits
- Tossed Vegetable Salad
- Relishes
- Frozen Lemon Cream
- Milk

The stew is rich in vegetables and will be filling enough for hearty, youthful appetites if prepared as follows:

- Oven Stew. (Serves 6)
 - 1 pound beef or lamb, for stew
 - 2 tablespoons butter or other fat
 - 1/2 cup sliced onions
 - 3 cups boiling water
 - 3/4 cup diced carrots
 - 1/4 cup diced turnips
 - 1/4 cup diced potatoes
 - 2 teaspoons salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 cup cooked peas
 - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 1/4 cup cold water
 - 3 tablespoons flour
- Brown beef or lamb in fat. Add onions and saute until golden brown; then add water. Turn into casserole, cover and cook in a moderate

LYNN SAYS:

Serve Fruits Often For a First Course

Give your appetites a new slant on dinner. Try serving fruits and fruit juices in delectable combinations.

Canned raspberries and seedless grape halves, marinated with a bit of orange juice are a grand combination.

Equal parts of orange sections and Tokay grapes are guaranteed to whet the appetite.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Poached Eggs on Toast
- Scalloped Spinach
- Mashed Potatoes
- Raw Carrot Strips
- Beverage
- Chocolate Pudding with Cream

(350-degree) oven for 1 1/2 hours. Increase heat to hot (450 degrees). Add carrots, turnips, potatoes, salt and pepper and continue cooking covered for 20 minutes or until vegetables are nearly tender. Add peas and Worcestershire sauce. Add water gradually to flour, mixing to a smooth paste; pour into stew, stirring vigorously. Place biscuits on top of stew; turn into oven and bake 12 to 15 minutes longer or until biscuits are browned.

Dutch Apple Cake.

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup butter
- 1 egg
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 5 apples, cut, pared
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- 1/4 cup currants

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Work butter into flour mixture. Beat egg, add milk and stir into dry ingredients. Spread the dough in a well buttered biscuit pan. Spread apples on dough, pressing sharp edges of fruit into mixture. Sprinkle with currants, sugar and cinnamon which have been mixed together. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 30 to 40 minutes.

Baking Powder Biscuits. (Makes 12)

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 teaspoons double acting baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 to 5 tablespoons shortening
- 1/2 cup milk

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Cut in shortening. Add milk and stir until soft dough is formed. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll 1/2 inch thick and cut with floured, 2-inch biscuit cutter. Use on top of stew. The remainder may be baked on an ungreased baking sheet in a hot (450-degree) oven for 12 to 15 minutes.

Frozen lemon cream is the perfect dessert for a hearty main dish. This dessert may be made in the freezing tray or a mold.

Frozen Lemon Cream. (Serves 10)

- 3/4 cup finely crushed corn flakes
- 2 egg whites
- 6 tablespoons sugar
- 2 egg yolks
- 2/3 cup evaporated milk, thoroughly chilled and whipped
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice

Thoroughly butter freezing tray of refrigerator and cover sides and bottom with cornflakes. Reserve some for top.

Beat egg whites stiff but not dry. Add sugar gradually, beating constantly until thoroughly blended. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; fold into egg white mixture. Then fold in evaporated milk, lemon rind and juice. Turn into freezing tray. Cover top with remaining corn flakes. Freeze until firm, using coldest freezing temperature. Freezing time: 4 hours. Unmold and cut in slices for serving. Or, pack in large melon mold, using equal parts of ice and salt (without stirring); let stand until firm (about 5 or 6 hours) pouring off salt water as it accumulates, before it reaches top of mold.

Grape juice mixed with gingerale is guaranteed to whet jaded appetites.

Avocado slices which are combined with grapefruit or orange sections may be served sprinkled with halved, seedless grapes.

For a rich new smoothness in ice creams, whip butter-ripe avocado with a rotary beater until fluffy. Then beat into ice cream, frozen to the mushy stage. Return to refrigerator and freeze until firm, stirring occasionally.

Why freight rates are going up . . .

Since 1939, railroad employees have had three general pay raises totaling 52%¹⁰/₁₀, and the prices of fuel, materials and supplies have risen 61%¹⁰/₁₀.

But when the war ended in 1945, the railroads were still hauling freight at rates no higher, and in some cases lower, than when the war began.

Without increased revenues, railroads could not meet these costs and also provide improvements in equipment and facilities—improvements that are essential for the low-cost freight and passenger services which are necessary to America's high standard of living.

Under these circumstances—and almost a year after the last major wage increase—the Interstate Commerce Commission recently approved an average increase in freight rates of 17%¹⁰/₁₀.

Of all the price increases in America today, few have been so little and so late as that in the price of railroad transportation.

How important are healthy railroads to a prosperous country?

Only when the railroads are financially healthy can they provide the new equipment, improved road beds, and better terminal facilities needed for still better service to you.

The defense of the nation depends upon the continuance of the efficient transportation which served the nation so well in the last war.

The railroads are among the largest employers of labor. They buy over 100,000 different products. They pay big taxes—taxes which are spent not only for public schools, public health, and police and fire protection, but even for highways, airways, airports and inland waterways.

Railroads are America's lifeline—keeping goods flowing among the 48 states day and night in all weather.

They can continue to do this only if there is a reasonable balance between income and outgo. Like yourself, the railroads must make ends meet!

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk with you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.

LAST LOVER

BY Helen Tipping Miller

Jill McFarlane, 26, has fallen in love with Lieut. Spang Gordon. Her mother, Julia, is upset as her own husband, Richard, disappeared during the first war and she had hoped to spare her daughter from being an army wife. Jill's brother, Ric, is involved with a divorcee and Jill goes to camp to investigate the matter. Ric tells her he is on duty and unable to see her but while she is dancing with Spang they see Ric and the woman in question, Sandra Calvert, together. Jill finds Sandra an older, hardened woman. Later she is accosted by captain Mackey, known at camp as "old Gyanide." He tells her he knew her mother years ago. He looks vaguely familiar.

CHAPTER VIII

She might as well catch the afternoon bus, but she would have lunch first and then try calling Spang again to say good-by.

Few people were in the dining-room, a few commercial travelers, several lonely looking women whom Jill catalogued as officers' wives, a child perched in a high chair and being coaxed to drink milk by a wan-looking mother, and at a table secluded near a window was the blonde Mrs. Calvert.

Jill went straight to her table. "How do you do?" she said coolly.

"I'm Jill McFarlane, we met last night. Mind if I sit here? I have a phobia about eating alone."

"Delighted, I'm sure." Mrs. Calvert was cool, too, and definitely unenthusiastic. "I'm practically finished, however. My lunch—" she made a little gesture toward the half consumed salad before her, "is usually unimportant."

"A few vitamins and no calories?" Jill took a chair. "You're one of the courageous women. I'm a farm gal myself, with an outrageous appetite."

"You're very fortunate to be able to indulge it. Few women can and keep the respect of their mirrors."

"I'll have the jellied soup, stuffed crab, and some coffee, please," Jill told the hovering waitress, then leaned her chin on her palms. "You live here, Mrs. Calvert? In the hotel?"

Mrs. Calvert was studying her eyebrows in a little mirror, disciplining the curves with a long-nailed forefinger.

"I'm a camp follower," she said. "I followed my husband here—my former husband. Then he was transferred back to the Islands, and I decided that I couldn't endure being married to him any more. So I'm staying because when you're entirely alone places don't matter."

"And with all the boys at the field so near there's less chance to be lonely, of course?"

Mrs. Calvert's eyes sharpened a little, but her voice kept its cool smoothness.

"They're such nice boys, all of them. I was an officer's wife, badly cramped by a lot of taboos and military procedure, but now that I'm free I enjoy being with these boys of my own age. My husband was years older," she added, "and definitely a home tyrant. I shouldn't talk about him, poor Win, he may be in some ghastly jungle now in horrible danger!"

Nice, safe danger, after being married to you! Jill was thinking with the crude brutality of youth.

Aloud she said, "Nice of you to give so much time to Richard. Ric has always been more or less of a family problem. My mother was terribly worried about him until he enlisted."

"Rickey's getting on well, I'm sure. Though, of course, military life is difficult for men with his background. Men who've been accustomed to freedom and having the best, of course. But they adjust themselves beautifully. We have to admire their spirit."

"I hope Ric decides to stay on in the army." Jill salted the vapid soup, poked at rubbery lumps in it. "He hates our farm, and he hasn't shown any aptitude for anything else. And, of course, he hasn't any money."

"He told me about your farm. It must be a lovely place—quite a show place, he said. I was so interested in hearing about it."

"It's a pig farm," Jill was blunt. "Ric must have let his imagination get the best of him once he got away from it. When he's there he loathes everything about it. We have to work awfully hard to keep it going. My mother works all day in overalls and a man's shirt. I got this blister hoeing beans." She exhibited her palm. "Our farm help have gone off to the army, and even my eighty-year-old grandfather has to work, so if Ric has been embroidering tales to you about green lawns and pedigreed horses and stuff, just write them off as a homesick boy's wishful thinking."

Mrs. Calvert's eyes were masked behind carefully trained eyelids. She put away her lipstick and the little mirror. She reached for her check and picked up her purse with fingers that clutched a little.

Spang Calls to Say Good-By

"Nice to have seen you again. Good-by," she remarked, rising. She walked away briskly, without looking back. Jill, watching her receding shoulders, felt a heavy sense of failure, a feeling that she had done a naive and childish thing. She's quite sure that Ric is a rich woman's son and that I'm a meddling sister with my knife out for greedy throats like hers. Jill told herself.

She put Ric out of her mind grimly and thought only of Spang, wondering if she would see him again.

Everything lovely that she owned she had put on this morning. She had turned a hundred times before the mirror, changed her lipstick twice, worried at her nails, and pinned and repinned her hair into exactly the right sort of halo so that every curl should shimmer with allure, when at last the telephone rang.

Spang said, "Hello, Jill. I was afraid you might have checked out."

"Oh, no—I may not go for hours. Will I see you again, Spang?"

"Sorry," he said slowly, while Jill's heart grew heavier, "can't make it today. They're running in Sunday classes on me, I'll be tied up all day. But I had a moment,

"Oh, no—I may not go for hours. Will I see you again, Spang?"

"Sorry," he said slowly, while Jill's heart grew heavier, "can't make it today. They're running in Sunday classes on me, I'll be tied up all day. But I had a moment,

Tennessee named Julia McFarlane.

"That's part of the technic, Jill." "But it could be true, you know. Mother was a belle before she was married, and it was war then, too, Spang. You couldn't by any chance be jealous?"

"Sure, I'm jealous! I don't trust Cyanide, for all his bars and medals."

Jill giggled delightedly. "You're so funny, Spang. The poor old man looked entirely harmless to me. Just a lonely, unhappy old man."

"He's not so old. I don't trust him any, Jill. Stay away from the fellow."

"Oh, I'll be going home right away now, on the afternoon bus. You don't know when you're leaving, Spang?"

"No, I don't know, and even if I did, I couldn't tell you, Jill—and you know better than to ask."

"You'll be fighting, won't you?" "Gosh, I hope so! I'm tired of this academic stuff. The Japs haven't read any books, but look how they fight!"

"Will you write to me, Spang?" "If I have a chance, I will. Will you answer if I write?"

"How silly! Of course I'll answer. Pages and pages, all about the pigs."

"You can tell me what you're doing."

What would she be doing? Waiting! Hung up by the heartstrings, tormented by the itching of the hours! Oh, Spang, please let me have love to keep, a fire to warm myself by when the dark comes too early!

But though he said good-by half a dozen times, he did not speak of love. He hung up, with the same little flick as the salute he always gave when he left her.

She breathed, "I love you, Spang." But the click of the telephone being disconnected left the whisper hanging in air, unheard, unanswered.

After that she cried. Long and wretchedly, all alone, with the hot afternoon passing.

The yellow leaves began falling from the apple trees and the sumac burned red against the fences.

Jill crossed her booted leg over the saddle. The mare, Dave's new saddle mare, was warm and saltily moist and lazy.

"I hate September!" Jill said abruptly. "It's a stupid month, that doesn't mean anything. It isn't summer, and it isn't fall. It just sulks through third days. All the flowers are tired, but they won't die, and the whole world looks shabby. People look shabby, too, in fady summer clothes or fall things that show dust and are smothery. If ever I do something completely mad and unforgivable it will be because it's September and I can't bear it."

Dave did not look at her. Julia was worried about Jill, her growing irritation, her restlessness, her impatience with everything.

"That isn't the answer, Dave," Julia had said. "Not trumped-up jobs that she sees through instantly and does with that air of awful patience and thinly concealed contempt."

She knew so well that there was no answer to the problem of Jill. The bloom of love, fruity and glowing, was upon Jill now, she was ripe with it, gilded with it, and every nerve and vein were vibrant with readiness, and she had not been chosen. Her loneliness was made crackish by the bitter distillation of disappointment, and tears too fiercely contained canker into acid and weaken the strongest spirit.

"Take her places, Dave," Julia had pleaded. "I cannot do anything for her. To a woman in Jill's state of mind other women are utterly obnoxious, even women they love."

"Sometimes he says that Carol is the most intellectual woman he ever knew. If I say that she is not particularly pretty or has rather a heavy figure, he says with amused authority that men find her perfectly fascinating. Once or twice he has said to his friends that he has a sensible wife; that Edda never makes any fuss about his platonic friendships with other women. He puts it in the plural. I put it in the singular.

"I am good-looking, I dress well, nothing sensational but quite up to the mark. What's the matter with me that my husband is perfectly content to let me cook, finish the ironing, keep house, entertain his friends, drag him off for an occasional dinner—but that for companionship and glamor he goes elsewhere." And the letter finishes desperately: "Can a man and a woman have a platonic friendship, anyway?"

She thinks it's Fair Play.

My answer to that, Edda, is "no." Not under these circumstances, no. With Monroe at his age, Carol at hers, and your marriage at this point, this friendship is not platonic.

This is not to say that matters have proceeded to the point technically known as infidelity. More likely Carol is happy to play it along safely, having all the fun of a man's admiration and attention and companionship, but not sacrificing anything that would make her feel guilty of disloyalty to you. It is a fond illusion, with women of her type, that everything short of actual surrender to a love affair is fair play. She is holding Monroe all the tighter by her refusal to enter into a serious relationship with the husband of her friend. He probably deeply admires her strength of character and purity of motive. But in truth she is as low as any other woman who comes deliberately between a man and his wife and throws dust in his eyes while doing so.

My advice to you is to wake up and realize that this is disloyalty, sugared over with the claim of being merely an intellectual and honest friendship. Such a thing rarely exists between a man and a woman, even when both are entirely free to marry; it certainly does not exist here.

You will win, in the end, if you can rise above all this. Keep busy, have as little to do with these high-minded friends as you can; don't discuss it with Monroe and don't see Carol at all. Ask her quietly not to telephone, don't argue, don't make scenes, just let them both know that you are perfectly aware of the fun they are having at your expense. The shock to Carol may stop the affair right there; Monroe will be shocked, too. But whether it takes only days or takes months, that's the way to end it, and the only way. Don't forget prayer.

SURGERY ENDS WORRY

Psychiatrists in Glasgow, Scotland, have made public details of a new brain operation to cure worry, anxiety and fear. Hospitals already have successfully handled hundreds of cases, they say.

It consists of cutting the white matter in the frontal lobes of the brain. Study of war wounds showed that these lobes are the worry part of the brain and that many people can get along better without them. Anxiety goes at once, but the memory and intellect are unimpaired.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Just Like a Husband

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"Carol squabbled with Monroe over dominoes and crosswords. I was delighted at this new friend's congeniality with my husband; it relieved the strain for me."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

SOMETIMES a husband does something that makes his wife wild, without giving her the satisfaction of either ignoring the matter or changing the situation. Such a husband, evidently, is Monroe White, whose wife, Edda, writes me from Buffalo.

"Monroe has a dear woman friend, that's the gist of the matter," writes Edda. "That sounds innocent enough, doesn't it? Nothing sinister, everything happily open and above board, but there it is. Carol is everything he needs in gay, sophisticated companionship; he sees her every day. Or if he misses seeing her for a day or two he gets restless; last summer Carol went into the mountains for a month and three times in that month Monroe went up to see her on one pretext or another. Once he took me, and you may imagine what a lovely time I had.

"This Carol is about 30, I am 38. Monroe is 39, and we have been married 15 years. We have two daughters, Phyllis, 11, and Maryann, 9. Monroe is a cheerful, easily pleased man, not fussy about meals, very popular in business and club circles. He has always been a model husband as far as I know and a conscientious father. When my mother was with us, a long pull with three years of helplessness and illness, Monroe was generosity itself. I think it was at that time that I began to hear a good deal of Monroe's dear old friend, Carol, widowed, and back in town. Carol often came to supper in those days, and squabbled with Monroe over dominoes and crosswords. Absorbed in my mother's tragedy, I was delighted at this new friend's congeniality with my husband; it relieved the strain for me.

Unconcealed, Unashamed.

"It went on. Nothing to conceal, evidently, nothing of which to be ashamed. Carol telephoned me every day or two to say that she saw a hat downtown that would be ideal for me, or that she is sending the girls books. Monroe says quite casually, 'I'll not be home for dinner, Carol is crazy to see that show, and I'm taking her.' Or he says—'The Masons have asked Carol and me up for the weekend. I told them we had measles at home and they said it was O.K. for you to beg off.'

"Sometimes he says that Carol is the most intellectual woman he ever knew. If I say that she is not particularly pretty or has rather a heavy figure, he says with amused authority that men find her perfectly fascinating. Once or twice he has said to his friends that he has a sensible wife; that Edda never makes any fuss about his platonic friendships with other women. He puts it in the plural. Spotlight by GRANTLAND RICE

TONY ZALE, middleweight ruler, starred in the best ring fight of 1946 with a dozen miles to spare. His hurricane meeting with Rocky Graziano happened to be one of those thrillers you won't see twice in a lifetime.

Tony Zale

There was no other fight even close to this one. I can't recall any other fighter who ever showed more intestinal fortitude than Zale showed that September night, when he came out of a foggy dreamland to knock out Graziano. It so happens that Zale is in the toughest division of them all. Among those after his middleweight crown you'll find Jake LaMotta, Marcel Cerdan, George Abrams, Charley Burley and one or two others—all tough. Graziano, the toughest of the lot, has had his license revoked in New York, but the National Boxing association has ruled that he can fight in any place under NBA's jurisdiction. This gives Rocky a lot of territory to swing his lethal fists in.

Zale had been away from ring action so long when he met Graziano that his handicap was known to be a heavy one. Various crowds had seen too many baseball and football players from the service show a startling lack of old-time form, including speed and timing. Zale had been away longer than most, close to four years.

So when Graziano knocked him down early in the fight and then had him dazed, bewildered and badly battered, his reign apparently was over. But Zale down the stretch proved several things. He proved that he was dead game and could take the hardest punch the hard-hitting Graziano could throw. He also proved that he had a punch of his own. He proved that he knew how to fight—and what to do in a storm.

Faces Tough Competition

With more time in which to get ready, it stands to reason that Zale should be a better fighter in 1947 than he was in 1946. His win over Graziano gave him greater confidence, for one thing. He is also sure to be in better all-around physical shape. Yet in this present middleweight outfit no one is safe. Tony is surrounded by a pretty rough crew, the best in any other weight division, and he will have to be better than good to keep his crown.

LaMotta is a rough and ready customer who won't be any soft mark. LaMotta is a hardy man to hurt and he also can hurt on his own. Cerdan made a promising debut over here and he should be better on his next visit, when he has a longer time to become acclimated and to get in better physical condition. There is no Stanley Ketchel, Harry Greb or Mickey Walker hanging around the premises, but there is more class in this section than the ring has known for many years. Just how the tangle will be unraveled is another guess. LaMotta must be given a chance and so must Cerdan if he can repeat his opening performance, or show improvement.

In addition to the leaders named, Jersey Jones still insists that his man Burley can slash his way through the entire list.

With the heavyweight bunch outside of Joe Louis, in such a sad state, it begins to look as if the middleweights must take over a big part of the show. But as good as many of his challengers are, they will find Zale none too easy to shove around.

Two West Coast Stars

The west coast is keeping an alert eye on the coming actions of its two favorite baseball sons. Their names are Joe DiMaggio of San Francisco and Ted Williams of San Diego, both reporting from the extensive domain of California.

DiMaggio, bothered by physical ailments, had an off year. Regarded as one of the great outfielders of all time, a brilliant artist, fielding, hitting and throwing, Joe finished with the worst season he has known in big league baseball. He fell back with many other big league stars who had been in war service.

Williams, who looked as if he were on the verge of wrecking the entire American league without help up through mid-July, began to skid later and spent an unhappy fortnight during the 1946 World series. Despite this decline Williams batted well over .340, which left his all-time average still over .350.

Ulcers Stopped Joe

Anyway Joe and Ted were not what they had been in their former seasons. Only Dom DiMaggio came along to repair part of the damage, as far as California was concerned. Bobby Doerr and Johnny Pesky were two west coast features from further north. Joe DiMaggio wasn't feeling any too well when he reported for spring training. A few stomach ulcers didn't help him. After an early start at high speed, Joe began to fall away.

Planes Used to Maneuver Carriers in Place of Tugs

Aircraft carriers of the U. S. navy are maneuvered today in small areas by the propeller force of their own planes when tugs are not available.

For instance, if 10 planes are lined up facing starboard on one end of the flight deck and 10 are lined up facing port on the other end, all securely lashed, the propellers of each group, pulling in opposite directions, will turn the carrier completely around.

Thousands have reported benefit! Also a very effective stomachic tonic. Worth trying!

When Your Back Hurts - And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood. You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.
