Rollie Gackstetter to Manage Tawas City Team

The Tawas City baseball team held their first batting practice and in-field drills Tuesday evening of this week. There were about twenty-two candidates present and Manager Gackstetter gave them a stiff workout. Practice sessions will be held on Friday night and again Sunday afternoon.

At a team meeting last Sunday, Rollie Gackstetter was elected to manage the team for the coming year. Bob McPherson and Bill Groff, Sr. were also named as coaches at the meeting.

Tawas City Firm Exhibits at Builders Show

Attractive Miniature Cabin Home Shown by Rustic Furniture Co.

To visualize how desirable are the recreation cabins and cabin homes built from material produced in its plant, the Huron Shores Rustic Furniture Company of this city is exhibiting a miniature cabin at the Detroit Builder's Show this week. Full sized pieces of rustic lawn furniture will be included in the display exhibited by the company.

A handsome folder which the company's distributing at the show is illustrated with pictures of many of the cabins built by the company or built from material purchased at the plant. The folder contains pictures of the plant and the piles of lumber now ready for use, also a half million feet of logs in the woods available for manufacturing into building material.

Started six years ago as a hobby, the business has grown until the volume will exceed a quarter million of dollars in 1947. The company is one of the largest producers of rustic picket fencing, and its products has been distributed to every section of the United States by the carload.

In addition to the manufacturing of building material and fencing the Huron Shores Rustic Furniture Company is developing the Hamilton-Westrich Subdivision which adjoins Tawas City. The folder points out the pleasure, owners of homes in this subdivision will find available here.

STATEMENTS MADE IN THE IOSCO LABOR CONTROVERSY

LABOR

The 230 employees of the National Gypsum Co., of National City, Mich. were idled as a result of a lockout by the Company. The employees are members of local No. 239, United Chemical Workers—C. I. O.

The lockout occurred Tuesday, April 22, 1947 when the Company refused admittance into the plant for five (5) employees who chose on Monday to go home instead of performing other work as was the past practice.

The Union Committee met with plant superintendent Clarence E. Anderson on Tuesday, seeking an explanation of the company's action. He informed the committee that the men quit.

Investigation by the Committee disclosed however, that this was not the case.

The Committee met again, with Anderson, on Wednesday, with Regional director, Chester Wdumzy of the Union in attendance. All efforts to settle the lockout, however, failed.

U. S. Conciliators are making arrangements to effect an early settlement.

MANAGEMENT

On Monday, April 21st, during a prolonged shutdown, a foreman requested five of his men, standing about idle, to lend a hand with some work in another part of the department. This has been usual practice ever since the plant began operation. They refused point blank. The Union steward became involved in the discussion and advised the men to either do the work or check out. The men did just that. They left the plant after the machinery was again in operation.

It was obvious to the Plant Manager, C. E. Anderson, that the men had quit when they walked off the job. Accordingly their time cards were removed, which is standard practice when a man quits.

The following day the Union Committee met with Mr. Anderson and demanded reinstatement of the five men. Mr. Anderson told the Committee that the Company considered the men had resigned their jobs. He advised that, if the men had not resigned and felt aggrieved, their grievance, if they had one, could be handled to the satisfaction of all concerned under the procedure outlined in the joint Company-Union labor contract.

After an hour's discussion the Committee informed the Plant Manager that, if the men were not reinstated by noon and paid from 7:00 A. M. on, the Committee would not assume responsibility for what happened. This ultimatum was delivered at 11:00 A. M.

Then, without consulting the membership of the Union, without complying with the terms of the contract, the Committee called a wildcat strike at noon of the same day. Employees walked off the job without even bothering to shut down machinery. Mr. Anderson and the supervisory force had to act quickly in order to save machinery from being damaged.

The following day the Committee, accompanied by a representative from the Detroit headquarters, met with Mr. Anderson. They demanded reinstatement of the five men. They also claimed that the reason why the grievance procedure of the contract had not been followed was because the five men did not have a grievance in the first place.

Another meeting with the Committee has been arranged by the Company.

Plans were drawn up and completed this week for the 4th of July Regatta in cooperation with the Saginaw Bay Yacht Club and Power Squadron with support of the local Club and Chamber of Commerce. Plans are for the racing of sail and power boats Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Carl Babcock is Chairman of the 4th of July racing with Bill Mallon, R. G. Schreck and Earl Bennett as his committee.

Plans have been completed for a dance and dinner for the sailors and their guests, under the direction of Floyd Ketcherside, Kenneth Grinkey and Wray Cox.

Greek Revolution Sets New Trend

Guerrilla Bands Instructed In Tenets of Communism

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—The Greeks had a word for it—the word revolution, I mean. It was antistasis, I believe, as nearly as I can transliterate the Greek alphabet.

But until very recently it meant something quite different from what it means in Greece today.

I won't attempt to telescope the history of the Hellenes back to Helen of Troy, the first successful shipbuilder, who, we are told, launched a thousand ships, not by floating a war bond issue but on her face, as it were.

Baukhage

But looking back into the memory of our oldest diplomats, or even some of the younger ones, we are familiar with the program. It usually started with the "colonels." It wasn't a too strenuous or bloodthirsty affair. A few colonels got together. They marched on the palace or the war department or the state department, had a few polite words, put their own cabinet in, shot off a few shots which damaged at most a few more or less innocent but curious bystanders and that was that.

But—there came a change. The revolution which followed the "liberation" of the Greeks from Nazi occupation was quite a different matter. It didn't come from the top and work down. It came from the bottom and worked up.

The Allies had armed the "resistance," the Greek patriots who fought the Germans. But while the Allies poured in such material aid as was possible, just as they helped Tito in Yugoslavia, the Russians were pouring in something else. Propaganda. The Allies learned, too late, the true physiognomy of the revolution which opposed the government. The "liberation" was a revolt engineered and carried on by the enlisted men, not the high officers. And its leaders were Communist-instructed.

The majority of the rebelling Greeks were not Communists. They were not fighting to establish a Communist regime, but to overthrow an autocratic junta. But they were organized and directed by Moscow-trained leaders.

Today there is a "revolution" in Greece. The majority of the so-called "guerrillas" are not Communists. They are fighting to establish (they think) a liberal Greek government. But all of their leaders are Communists. And the rank and file are being carefully and thoroughly indoctrinated in communism. They raid, they fight, they eat off the land, they use the weapons provided by the Allies. But out of each such fighting and eating day they take time out to go to school.

These schools are conducted regularly from 10 to 12 and from 4 to 6 unless a battle or so interrupts. In these schools the good Greek patriots are being thoroughly instructed in the philosophy of Karl Marx, Nick Lenin and Joe Stalin. This is of record. It is fact, not fancy. Moscow would (unofficially, of course), probably boast of it rather than deny it.

Those who graduate with sufficient communistic "honors" are appointed political commissars and attached to each guerrilla unit.

It is easy to imagine what would happen if these forces took over the government.

Meanwhile, there is no objection on the part of the agents of Moscow to have the Greeks set up "coalition" governments—they have had nearly a dozen, all of which failed because the leaders of the various parties represented could not cooperate.

The failure of these governments, the revolt, dissension, unrest, terrible economic conditions, all contribute to that great ally of communism—chaos.

Conditions. That is the answer. The whole of the American policy of "aid to Greece and Turkey" is intended to change present conditions. To change them the experts tell us we must:

1. Stop the warfare, assure personal security to the people.
2. Feed them.
3. Restore their normal economic life, and as a result, their normal social life.

Then see that they are let alone to take care of themselves. Communism then will die of malnutrition.

NEWS REVIEW

Parley Still Deadlocked; Higher Prices Predicted

MOSCOW: No Agreement

The conference between U. S. Secretary of State Marshall and Premier Stalin has achieved little or nothing, in the opinion of American diplomats in Moscow. The deadlock between Russian and United States delegations in the Council of Foreign Ministers seems no nearer to solution. Basic disagreements on the German peace treaty are too great, it is thought, for any easy or rapid agreement.

This pessimistic view does not exclude the possibility that some minor concessions may be made by the Russians for propaganda purposes. It is not believed likely, however, that anything important will be achieved at this session. Hope that the Austrian treaty would be completed has pretty well faded.

Main stumbling block in all the treaty negotiations is the Russian demand for huge reparations. If the Russians would retreat somewhat from their position, some arrangement might be worked out, it is admitted.

While there is considerable justification for calling this conference a failure, American diplomats point out that certain fundamental issues have been aired, and that Secretary Marshall has had an opportunity to present American policy to Russia and the world.

HIGHER PRICES: Sloan Says So

Still higher prices are coming soon, according to one of the top-flight business executives of the country—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation. In a speech before the Economic Club of New York, Sloan blamed demands of union laborers for wage increases.

TO OFFSET EXPORTS

Record Wheat Crop Forecast

WASHINGTON.—Although wheat stocks in this country have been drained to extremely low levels by record-breaking movement of grain and flour to war-riddled European countries, prospects are that the 1947 production will be sufficient for all home needs with some to spare, it is revealed in a department of agriculture report.

The winter wheat crop is expected to hit a record of 973,047,000 bushels while the spring wheat crop is indicated at 265,000,000 bushels in present crop prospects. This output, the department indicates, is ample to care for all needs despite the carryover of only 140,000,000 bushels on farms as of April 1.

Although exports of flour and raw grain were the primary factor in creating the low old crop stocks, high prices served as another factor in inducing farmers to sell their grain.

Feed grain officials also were unperturbed over reduced farm stocks of oats and barley, primarily because of a substantial increase in corn stocks, compared with a year ago, and the fact that the corn is of much better quality than in 1946.

Winter wheat was seeded under favorable conditions and ample supplies of soil moisture in the fall of 1946 resulted in generally satisfactory germination and excellent fall growth. Cold winter weather has prevented excessive early plant development, thus improving yield prospects.

Rye was reported planted under generally favorable conditions in the fall of 1946. Growth and development of the crop was said to be satisfactory in the fall and early winter because of good moisture conditions, but cold weather after mid-December retarded plant growth. However, the crop has progressed satisfactorily and no unusual losses are apparent.

'Stone Girl' Finds Cure in Her Heart

Ossification Process Slows Up; Disease Conquered.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Iola Warren declared that her heart wouldn't let her body turn to stone.

Mrs. Warren, 44, said a happy marriage and her determination to live had done as much as medical science to check the strange malady which for 11 years had slowly turned her body to stone.

Twenty-two years ago, physicians said she wouldn't live two years.

She was a victim of myositis ossificans, and with the publication of her plight she became known as Chicago's "Stone Girl."

But now she is happily married, is bringing up a foster son, writes popular music and turns out dresses on her sewing machine.

Mrs. Warren knows she probably will not walk again, because her legs had hardened before the disease was halted.

But she said she was confident now that the rest of her body never would turn to stone, as doctors predicted when she was stricken in 1925.

Mrs. Warren spent 11 years going from hospital to hospital and doctor to doctor before a new gland treatment was tried as a last resort. It retarded the creeping ossification of her body.

After that, doctors gave her physiotherapy, diathermy, light massage, glycine injections and a high-vitamin, high-protein diet, she said.

But Mrs. Warren said it was the love of the organist in the little neighborhood church that helped her most. She and the organist, Theron V. Warren, 47, were married in 1942.

"I only hope someone else can take hope from my happiness," she said.

Pat on Back Urged in Child Training by Sister Miriam

PITTSBURGH.—The best thing you can do for a child is pat him on the back when he deserves it, according to Sister Agnita Miriam, superintendent of St. Joseph's orphan asylum, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Speaking at a conference sponsored by the Catholic child welfare forum, Sister Miriam said in a lecture "The children should be patting each other on the back." "Children should not be made to feel in awe of the superintendent," she said.

Sinking of Yank U-Boat

By Own Torpedo Is Told

NEW YORK.—The submarine Tang, holder of a navy record for destruction of Japanese shipping, was lost in battle in 1944 when the 24th—and last—torpedo in her arsenal reversed its course en route to a target and blew her up, a navy official said.

Seventy-eight crew members were killed. Only nine others survived the freak accident, which was described by Vice Adm. Charles A. Lockwood, navy inspector general, at the annual convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers.

Survivors were captured by the Japanese and later released.

The Tang's self-destruction climaxed a 1944 raid off the China coast in which she sank 110,000 tons of Japanese shipping, "the highest sinking score on a single patrol of any submarine in the war."

Describing the accident, which happened at night, the admiral quoted from the patrol record account of the Tang, which was commanded by Com. Dick O'Kane.

"Those who escaped from the forward torpedo room were greeted by the transport's bow sticking straight out of the water a thousand yards or so away."

B-29 Flies Over North Pole

To Start Weather Broadcasts

WASHINGTON.—An army air forces B-29 flew over the North pole inaugurating routine weather reports from the top of the world.

The B-29, converted from a bomber into a weather-observation plane, was commanded by Brig. Gen. Donald M. Yates, weather expert for the AAF.

No effort was made to keep the flight over the Polar cap secret. The airplane transmitted a weather report from the "position North pole," in uncoded message available to all other nations listening in.

The B-29 left the army base near Fairbanks, Alaska, and was in the air 16 hours 30 minutes.

Expedition to Antarctic Will

Bring Back Some Snowflakes

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—The Finn Ronne research expedition to the South Pole plans to bring home some Antarctic snowflakes.

The expedition took along equipment and instructions from Vincent J. Schaefer, General Electric "snowflake scientist," for preserving species of snow crystals for observation and study.

Schaefer has developed a plaster replica method whereby flakes are caught as they fall in a quick-drying liquid plastic solution. The result—a perfect reproduction of the flake in plastic.

THERE'S MUSIC IN THE AIR . . . Typical of the many musical events which will be staged throughout the country during National Music Week was this outdoor concert presented under auspices of the Choral and Instrument Music association of Chicago.

HIGH NOTE

Annual Observance Stimulates Interest in Musical Activities

WNU Features.

From unrehearsed hymn sings in small rural communities to elaborate musical festivals in larger cities, music will fill the air during the week of May 4 to 11 as more than 2,500 communities throughout the country join in observance of National Music Week.

Intended to stimulate greater year-round interest in music and music education, National Music Week has been observed since 1924. In previous years, various communities had sponsored their own programs at unspecified times.

Although the keynote for Music Week is set by a central Music Week committee, with headquarters in New York, actual programs are entirely in the hands of local committees and individual workers. The central committee, however, is available for guidance and information.

Stimulate Interest.

The only idea actively promoted by the central committee is that the week be utilized for activity calculated to benefit year-round growth in musical interest. They believe that a period in which people are made more conscious of the value of music to the individual and to the community should serve as a time of enjoyment through making and hearing music, and as a stimulus to musical projects for young and old.

Many projects designed to aid veterans will be promoted as features of the 1947 observance. In some cities these will take the form of scholarships and educational opportunities generally; in others musical equipment for servicemen's centers and hospitals; in still others concert appearances for the especially talented. Local Music Week committees also will provide musical programs for patients in veterans' hospitals.

Another interest which will gain through the Music Week observance is "living war memorials" (notably buildings with acoustics for musical performances). In the larger cities such memorials are more likely to take the form of concert halls and auditoriums, and in the smaller places band shells and bandstands for outdoor use.

Churches Cooperate.

For many years churches have marked the opening Sunday of Music Week with sermons on music and religion, and with special programs by organists and choirs. Increasingly there is a trend toward inter-church and inter-denominational services. The closing Sunday, which coincides with Mothers Day, is frequently the occasion of musical events in honor of mothers.

To indicate the wide extent and variety of local observances, the Music Week committee cites a few examples culled from the 1946 records.

In one of the most elaborate observances, Los Angeles, Calif., staged a week-long series of programs under municipal auspices. Leading event was a music festival at Hollywood Bowl featuring a youth chorus of 700 voices. A school music festival entitled "America Sings," the premiere concert by a civic orchestra, concerts by the police, county and selected high school bands, and a program by a combined women's chorus were other highlights.

Baltimore, Md., also gave a prominent part to youth in its observance. A "Children's Prayer for Peace" program was marked by participation of youngsters from the Chinese, Jewish, Negro, French, Norwegian, Russian and other colonies.

Stage 274 Programs.

Under cooperative auspices of the local Business and Professional Women's clubs and the playground and recreation commission, Alton, Ill., observed Music Week with a total of 274 programs.

A campaign for promotion of greater interest in and attendance at its local symphony orchestra concert was conducted in Springfield, Ohio, during the week.

Despite the achievements in the larger centers, however, it is in the smaller communities that the main strength of the Music Week movement lies. There are between 2,000 and 3,000 communities of less than 5,000 population that almost yearly mark the occasion in some worthwhile way.

Because of its median size and long history as a participant, Paris, Tex., is cited as an example of the smaller towns which stage unusual and effective programs.

The 1946 observance there began with an inter-denominational hymn festival led by joint choirs of several churches. Excerpts from an opera by a school choral club provided the entertainment for the Parent-Teachers association meeting. The high school band gave a demonstration for Rotary club, and the public library included in its special display of books on music a scrapbook history of the local Music Study club. Posters submitted in a contest for upper grade children were hung in store windows and awards to the members were memberships in the Civic Music association.

Texas Paradise Stays Crimeless For Four Years

SARITA, TEX.—Surrounded by a sparsely-populated area, Sarita is gaining recognition as the crimeless section of Texas.

That distinction results from the fact that not a single crime has been recorded in the last four years. District court sessions consist merely of selection of jurors, who never are used.

"Nothing much has happened in the 33 years I've been here," insists District Clerk Nettie P. Woods. "We didn't have a divorce last year and I don't think we'll have one this year," she adds. No case of juvenile delinquency ever has been recorded in the county.

"I guess snakes give us more trouble than anything," the clerk says.

Births, deaths and marriages are the only noteworthy events in the county, in her opinion. There is no state old age assistance, no formal charity and during the depression of the 30s there was no WPA.

No 'Close Shaves'

TULSA, OKLA.—Customers cannot get a shave in the "Big 9" barber shop. The shop, despite its name, is so narrow that its chairs cannot be laid back for customers to recline, so its barber concentrates on cutting hair.

Horse on You

COVINGTON, KY.—Cow punching has been added to duties of Campbell county police. In a single week police were called upon to corral 20 stray steers which wandered from their pasture, to capture a rampaging bull and to take charge of two wandering cows.

Vigilantes Now Seek Dummy Nags

WASECA, MINN.—Times have changed since the Waseca County Horse Thief Detectives association was organized to rid the county of horse thieves in the late 1880s.

Now the society, preparing for its annual meeting, had to seek a dummy horse, the kind that harness makers use. The horse was required to instruct new members in how to put on a saddle and other such techniques. Old-timers feel every member should know at least that much.

A group of "deputies" was formed as a posse to capture prospective talent for entertainment.

The organization, which ranks as one of the oldest in the state, has not been active in apprehending horse thieves for decades, but it remains active by meeting annually to allow members to recall thrilling escapades of the past.

AS TEXAS CITY STARTED TO BURN . . . Closeup airview of the burning Monsanto works and oil dumps when the flames began creeping up to the oil depots at Texas City, Tex., during the early stages of the explosion and fire. Damage within the confines of this photograph were estimated at more than $35,000,000. Explosion at the Monsanto works ignited a pipeline which exploded, causing the oil dumps to catch fire during the early hours of the disaster.

MANY LEFT HOMELESS IN TEXAS CITY . . . When fire and explosion wrecked industrial district of Texas City, on Galveston bay, Tex., even many persons who escaped death or injury were left homeless. Miles away windows were blown in, brick walls crumbled and many persons were injured or killed by flying debris. It may be weeks before the total casualty or property loss will be known. First reports, placing the injured and dead at several thousands, have been largely confirmed.

NEW FIRES, EXPLOSIONS ADD TO HAVOC . . . With new fires and explosions adding to the carnage of the Texas City, Tex., tremendous explosion, early reports proved to fall far short of final damages to this industrial city, located on Galveston bay. Photo shows later blazes in the waterfront area. With the leveled Monsanto chemical plant in the background, wrecked cars, all blasted in the original explosion, are shown in the water-soaked area as agencies of cities, states and federal government sought to bring relief.

'ALASKA OR BUST' . . . With "Alaska or Bust" as their motto, Mr. and Mrs. Chris J. Burris, daughter Judith, 3, and dog "Buddy," of Baltimore, Md., and Edward Repetti, Washington, D. C., student, begin the long trek to Port Chilkoot, Alaska, via truck and house trailer. They are part of the first veterans' settlement project in the territory. A large number of vets are heading north.

SPRING IN MOSCOW . . . It's springtime in Moscow and so, despite a 15 degree temperature, this Muscovite youth indulges in a seasonal delicacy—ice cream.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S DAUGHTER . . . Christiane Bertholet, 7, whose father was killed by the Nazis, is the "adopted" orphan of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who sends her a CARE package each month.

'BABY'S' BABY ACTS COY . . . A London zoo employee tries to woo "Candy," two-week-old baby of a Hanover Cream pony named "Baby." The youngster lowers her lashes in the approved manner. The mother is a descendant of the Royal Hanover Cream ponies that pulled Queen Victoria's coaches.

'AND THE LAME SHALL WALK' . . . This dramatic photo shows 10-year-old Jimmy Carrick walking down a hospital corridor carrying the huge cast removed from his body. Bedridden since he was two years old as a result of spinal trouble, the brave lad no longer will have to lie in a special bed.

RATES FOUR STARS

Big Business with Capital B—VA Tackles Stupendous Job

By WALTER A. SHEAD
WNU Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON.—A slightly built, grayish, baldish man wearing the fatigue uniform of a four-star general, sits behind a huge desk in the mammoth, block-long Veterans' administration building. He is, without doubt, among the busiest men and has one of the biggest jobs in the world. He is Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of veterans' affairs.

He brought with him to Veterans' administration the same qualities for which General Eisenhower gave him equal command with General Montgomery on the western front during the war and which made him one of the most respected commanders, one of the ablest tacticians and disciplinarians in the army.

Although eligible for retirement, General Bradley accepted the assignment by President Truman in an effort to bring to a state of efficiency the badly-managed, overgrown Veterans' administration created after the last war and bogged down in red tape and bureaucracy.

General Bradley took into VA his resourcefulness as a military leader, his bent for democratic action, for efficiency, for loyalty and discipline and his respect for the G.I.s who fought and won a war, thousands of them under his direct command.

Streamlines Agency. He has streamlined VA; he has decentralized the administration into regional commands. The job is one of the most stupendous and far-flung tasks in the world today.

General Bradley is head of the biggest mutual insurance business in the world with policies in force totaling 35 billion dollars on the lives of some five million veterans.

He directs a medical program which hires 5,000 doctors and cares for 90,000 patients.

Providing benefits and relief in one form or another for more than 14 million World War II veterans, VA maintains a master file of 24 million veterans or their dependents who have received active benefits. At the present time, approximately 18,300,000 Americans are veterans of some war.

For instance, VA has on its mailing list about 28,000 Kellys, 17,500 Cohens, 2,000 Kominskis, 16,000 Shultzcs. From this tremendous number of former servicemen, VA has received as high as 11 million pieces of mail in a month.

General Bradley heads one of the country's largest loan agencies and, as of February 1, VA had approved loans for 639,200 G.I.s amounting to more than $3,421,000,000. Although a majority of these loans were for homes and farms, they ranged all the way from the veteran who started a diaper service in Spartansburg, S. C., to the farm boy who wanted to purchase a new harrow in Arkansas.

Wholesale Purchases. A purchasing committee of tremendous magnitude is another of VA's activities. This buys in mass lots for veterans' hospitals such as 676,000 pounds of breakfast cereal at one time, 144,000 pounds of salted soda crackers, 7,614 albums of records for juke boxes, 800,000 volumes of books for hospital libraries.

As of February, 1947, more than 2,430,000 ex-G.I.s were in schools or on-the-job training under provisions of the G.I. bill. Approximately 353,000 private business firms were conducting on-the-job training courses. About 1,000 G.I.s are obtaining education and allowances for study in foreign schools.

In addition, General Bradley administers pension and disability payments to veterans, which run into the billions of dollars, and burial benefits, which also run into the billions.

Under terms of one law, he bought more than 6,000 automobiles for war amputees. He also directs a service to supervise legal guardians and custodians of about 141,000 wards of VA, children of deceased veterans.

Benefit Payments High. Approximately six million veterans have received unemployment and self-employment compensation benefits through VA and United States Employment service.

Most of the VA administrative problems, which were at an extremely low ebb when General Bradley took over, have been due to the mushroom growth of its activities.

How long will the nation be paying huge pension lists? In March, 1946, VA made the final payment to a dependent, closing the rolls on the War of 1812. Payments still are being made to 49 dependents of Mexican war veterans, while 916 veterans and 2,392 dependents of Indian wars still are getting monthly checks. There are 116 Civil war veterans, with an average age of 100, who are still receiving payments.

Plagued By Changes. VA officials say that the peak of payments to veterans and dependents of World War I was not reached until 1940.

In the meantime, congress passes new laws and changes those on the books, creating new administrative headaches. More than 200 bills affecting veterans were introduced in the first two months of the 80th congress.

Cost of administering the VA program for the fiscal year 1947 is expected to be approximately 8 billion dollars.

"Off We Go" AVIATION NOTES

YOUNG FLY, OLD DO NOT

When Americans are young and have little money, they fly. When they get older and begin to earn more, they don't fly.

Two interesting curves in graphic form tell this story in a study entitled "Age Study of the Flying Public," made by Civil Aeronautics administration.

The study reveals that almost 50 per cent of all pilots are found in the two age groups of 20-24 and 25-29, while persons in these groups comprise only 19 per cent of the total population 16 years or older. Less than 5 per cent of persons in these age groups earn $5,000 a year. Two-thirds of the people who earn $5,000 a year or more are between the ages of 35 and 55, but the proportion of all pilots in those age groups drops sharply from 10 per cent at 35 to almost nothing at 55.

Beyond 35, the percentage of pilots drops rapidly. Apparently Americans quit flying completely at 65 although there are known to be several sexagenarian pilots still active in the United States.

It is cheaper to operate an airplane than an automobile for business, Arthur Whitcomb, Keene, N. H., contractor insisted in testifying before the New Hampshire legislative committee on aviation. He reported that he flew his own plane 27,000 miles last year on business at an average cost of 5½ cents a mile. He drove his car 18,000 miles at an average cost of 6¼ cents.

FEES REDUCED

A 20 per cent reduction in fees for recording ownership of aircraft and aircraft liens, from $5 to $4, became effective May 1, under orders of Civil Aeronautics administration.

The charges were instituted last August under a congressional mandate to CAA that it defray the cost of service operations through service fees whenever possible.

Other charges levied by CAA in accordance with directions of congress include $10 for issuance of air agency certificates to flying and ground schools, mechanic schools and repair stations, and $5 for issuance of certificates to parachute pilots.

Even airline pilots scurrying back and forth across the continent can't escape the watchful eyes of their wives. Mrs. Jack Jenkins of Cleveland insists a short wave radio band on the living room console is a necessity for pilots' wives. When her husband, who pilots an American Airlines flight from Cleveland to Nashville three times a week, returns from a flight, she always has dinner on the stove and his slippers ready. She picks up his position report to the airport on their home short wave band.

SETS SPEED RECORD. . . United Air Lines' new four-engine Mainliner 300 (Douglas DC-6) set a new official coast-to-coast air-line speed record of 6 hours, 47 minutes, 13 seconds on a 2,400-mile flight from Santa Monica, Calif., to New York City. The Mainliners now are in scheduled service.

HELICOPTER POLICY

Helicopters will perform their growing transportation services with a maximum of safety and a minimum of noise, the helicopter council of Aircraft Industries association has assured aviation authorities. Pointing out that "utility of the helicopter can be developed only by taking advantage of its unusually safe and useful flight characteristics," the council urged that regulations be adapted to permit operation of helicopters in urban areas.

AROUND THE HOUSE

When you select green as the basic hue for your color program you choose a good foundation, as practically everything goes well with green. It also gives snap and life to a room. For wall colors think of yellow-green, blue-green or gray-green. For accent colors: emerald, moss, bottle or leaf greens.

A good crack sealer for cisterns, tanks, etc., can be made by mixing boiled linseed oil with cement. Mix to a consistency of paint and apply with a brush. Sometimes a second coat will be needed.

In painting new wood, first smooth the surface with sandpaper. Then plug all the knots with a good grade of shellac. This will seal in the natural wood resin. Following this, three coats of paint will be necessary for a satisfactory job.

This is a new idea for a shower gift, and it's very handy. Select a set of tools (hammer, pliers, screwdriver, scissors, etc.) and paint handles a bright color. The bride will find the set useful as well as ornamental.

Boss Found Workers Quite Ready to Do His Bidding

Hoping to inspire his workers with promptness and energy, a business man hung a number of signs reading "DO IT NOW" around his factory and office. When he was asked some weeks later how his staff had reacted, he shook his head sadly.

"I don't even like to talk about it," he said. "The cashier skipped with $5,000; the head bookkeeper eloped with the best secretary I ever had; three typists asked for an increase; the factory hands decided to go on strike, and the office boy joined the navy."

When painting stairs which are used every day, paint every other step and when they are dry, paint the remaining steps.

FOREWORD
This year so far has been one of financial difficulties. And there is much uncertainty as to whether relief will be given by the Legislature. We started the year in the red for the first time in many years. The increased cost of labor and materials with the constantly increasing public demand for snow removal, dust layer, and other public service has created something that might be called an impossible situation. Snow removal for the winter just past, was expensive and was a further strain on our already weak financial condition.
During 1946 we constructed or reconstructed twenty-nine miles of grade and placed ten miles of new gravel. In addition to this construction, we did a lot of resurfacing on our old roads. Approximately 23,000 tons was shipped in for resurfacing in addition to approximately 18,000 tons used in construction.
Considerable progress has been made in replacing our old equipment with new. In 1946 we purchased six new five and seven ton trucks, one caterpillar power grader, one Athey loader, two power mowers, two sanders, four snow plows, two chloride spreaders, two coupes, one bulldozer, one tar heater, and one hydraulic hoist. Very little of this equipment has been paid for. Approximately $25,000 must be paid in notes due in 1947; and about the same in 1948. Additional obligations for this year for gravel snow plows, and culvert pipe amount to $7500.00.
Our plans for 1947 are of necessity, very indefinite. Because of the passage of the "Sales Tax Diversion Amendment," the State is in desperate need of money. Under the circumstances, it is difficult to get relief for county highways through the Legislature. The liquor tax law expires next month and we have no assurance that it will be re-enacted.
Most counties are desperately in need of more money for county roads. We were in need of this help five years ago. Since that time there has been a 90% increase in labor rates and the cost of material has greatly increased.
Under the present circumstances and with the information we now have, we are unable to plan anything but a very limited maintenance.
We have post war projects set up for several years, in which the Federal Government pays half the cost if we can provide our half of the cost. But if funds are not available, we must pass up these donations by the Federal Government. In fact no construction or reconstruction can be planned until funds are available.

Support the Government?
Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia has some good advice for those who expect the Government to support them. This is what the Senator has to say: "In recent years the average citizen of America has been influenced to hold the belief that a grant from Uncle Sam is a gift. The people think of the Government as a third party, when in fact, we ourselves are the Government. Its wealth is all the collective wealth of all the people." Mighty true!

LAST LOVER

BY Helen Topping Miller

Jill McFarlane, whose father, Richard, disappeared in World War I, falls in love with Lieut. Spang Gordon. She is upset to find that her brother, Ric, has fallen in love with Sandra Calvert, a divorcee. During her absence, Richard returns from the dead and visits her mother, Julia. He is using the assumed name of Captain Mackley and is stationed at the same camp as Ric. Julia is heartsick. Richard tells Ric he knew his father in France, and later threatens Sandra with exposure of an illegal divorce if she doesn't leave Ric alone. Julia, her father-in-law, John I., and Jill are horrified when they get a letter from Ric announcing his marriage. Sandra will live with them.

CHAPTER XV

Julia said, "Jill—think. Ric is going out—to fight, for us. If he loved this woman enough to marry her, the least we can do for Ric is to make her welcome."

Jill's face was stony. "I love Ric. He's my brother. But when he sends a female tramp here to live with his mother it's too much!"

John I. had come bumbling up behind them. "Confounded young puppy!" he snorted. "He's got about as much use for a wife as I have."

"It's this war. It's that feeling of desperate haste they all have, that they must crowd a lifetime of living into a few weeks or a few days," Julia said. "She can't be the dreadful creature that Jill thinks she is, she wouldn't have appealed to Ric."

"I saw her, I tell you! I had lunch with her."

"Why doesn't he send her to her own people?" John I. wondered.

"Probably she hasn't any. Probably they threw her out, long ago. If you're going to take me to town, Dooley, we'd better go. The telegraph office closes at nine."

"Go up and put on something else then. You certainly can't go to town in a negligee and nothing much under it. Tell Mamie to help you with the zippers. I'm still shaking all over."

Julia dropped on the long seat in the hall. Every inch of her body was cramped and cold. Her throat ached intolerably.

She said, "Should I have told Richard about Ric, John I.? After all, Richard is his father. He might have found an opportunity to talk to Ric. He might have saved him from this folly."

"They're both soldiers. Soldiers go where they're sent. Richard may be in Africa by this time."

"John I., I can't bring myself to turn Ric's wife away from his home! Where would I have been in that other war if you had cast me off?"

"It was you took me in, Dooley. I was a homeless old man, living in a hotel."

"You took care of us for years, till we could make this place pay. Perhaps this is the way I must pay back—to pass that help along. I wish I could change Jill's attitude. She's so determined when she's angry and upset."

John I. lit his pipe, puffed it slowly.

"You and I aren't so young any more, Dooley. You're young, compared to me, but you've lived long enough to know that things pass. Maybe she won't like it here." He chuckled. "Could be she wouldn't like it here at all. You just relax some ways, and get tough other ways. Keep a strangle-hold on your money. Ric's done a lot of bragging about his family, like as not, and she thinks you're a wealthy woman. Well, don't be wealthy when she's around."

"How can I be wealthy, when we both know that if they put low ceiling prices on hogs this year, we won't make a penny?"

"If she does come—if Jill doesn't head her off, put on your seediest clothes and get her up at six o'clock in the morning. Tell Mamie to churn all the cream, and we'll live on country victuals—turnips will be ready soon, I looked at them today. I can be plenty tiresome, too, if I put my mind on it. Any old man gets to be windy. I'll talk her to death."

A Phone Call From Richard

"John I., you're priceless!" Julia smiled again, reached for his hand, as Jill came pelting down the stairs. "Ready?" Julia said. "I still don't approve of this, remember, Jill."

"It's my responsibility, Dooley. I'll sign my own name to the wire."

"I'll get the keys." Julia got up slowly. And just then the telephone rang sharply and long.

"I'll get it." Jill sprang to the receiver. Then she turned back with an odd look. "It's long distance—calling you, Dooley. Maybe she isn't coming after all."

"It could be Ric, Jill. I can't say cruel things to Ric—I can't!" She sat down at the instrument. She said, "Hello, yes, this is Mrs. Richard McFarlane," and instantly all the color drained out of her face, and the receiver trembled in her hand.

The voice that came over the wire said, "Dooley, is that you?"

Richard! Richard was calling, and she could not let Jill know.

She said, "Yes, this is Mrs. McFarlane," stiffly, formally.

Richard's voice came again. "Dooley, I've seen the boy. He didn't know me, of course. I haven't told him anything. You've heard from him, today?"

"Yes." She had to hold her lips stiff, keep her face calm because John I. and Jill were watching her. "Yes, Captain, I heard from him today. He told me that he had been married."

"That's why I'm calling you, Dooley. I wanted you to know that I did everything I could. As soon as I suspected that he had this reckless marriage in mind, I had him up before the board and arranged for his immediate transfer, but I was too late."

"It's an impossible marriage, you think?"

"Oh, Richard, Richard, why are we talking like this? We're Ric's father and mother! And we must speak to each other like formal strangers!"

But a little warmth lightened her wretchedness. Richard had tried to save Ric. Richard had not betrayed himself. It helped a little to be able to believe again in some small nobility in Richard.

"Yes, this is Mrs. McFarlane."

Richard said, "It's a rotten marriage. She won't do, Dooley. She's no good. I knew her in the islands. I don't know just what I can do, but I'm going to try to do something."

"But, she's coming here. That was in the letter."

"Dooley, do the best you can for the present, will you? And trust me? I know I haven't the right to ask it, but I'm going to try to do something about this. Yes, she's coming there. She's already on the way."

"Then I suppose there's nothing we can do? But thank you so much for calling, Captain." She wanted to cry, "Thank you, Richard! Thank you for trying to be a father to your son at last!" But Jill was listening. Jill must not suspect.

Richard said, "Wait, Dooley. I just wanted to tell you. Don't worry. He'll be all right. He's a fine looking boy. He's like you. He isn't going to be like his father. He'll outgrow this foolishness."

"Oh, I hope so!" She said, "Good-by," almost in a gasp, and hung up. She turned to the others. "There's no use sending any message, Jill. She's already on her way. That was—one of the captains at Ridley Field. He said he tried to have Ric transferred in time to prevent this, but he was too late."

"So, that's that! The next move then," Jill set her chin, "is to convince this Sandra person that Buzard's Hill isn't the place she wants to live."

"But surely we can meet this situation with some grace? After all," Julia protested, "we're still McFarlanes."

"What is it worth to be a McFarlane?" Jill cried. "Ric's a McFarlane! She'll be a McFarlane, too, Dooley, if you go soft on us now, I swear I'll tell her that you're a mental case! I'll tell her that we're too tenderhearted to put you in a sanitarium!"

"We'll ask." Moving across the platform, Julia felt the impact of watching eyes upon her. The eyes of women she knew well, women who knew to a day how old Ric was, and she knew that they were seeing, too, with pitiless, female clarity, that for all the illusion of youth Sandra Calvert had achieved, a fierce had put up a losing battle with time. It would be all over town in no time that Ric McFarlane had married a peroxidized old hag, she was certain.

She said, "I'm so sorry we have to take you out in the station-wagon, but we've put up the cars for the duration."

"It came this morning. I'll have some one see to your bags. Are all these yours?"

"They do look a frightful lot, don't they? That's because since the war began I've had no real home. I've lived in a trunk. I have a trunk, too. Do you think it could be here?"

"We'll ask." Moving across the platform, Julia felt the impact of watching eyes upon her. Meat Makes Fine Main Dish Salads

(See Recipes Below)

Spring Salads

"Most women know how easy it is to whip together a salad," said my next door neighbor. "Why don't they think of using a meat or fish salad to make spring lunches easy?"

Naturally I agreed with her wholeheartedly, and promised to remind my readers of this thought now that the weather is becoming warmer. What is better when you've been hanging out clothes or gardening, than coming in to lunch on a crisp, chilled salad? You know you can slip the salad together before you start the morning's work and place in the refrigerator until luncheon.

Protein is an important requirement of our body, whether we are young or old. Thus, it's wise to plan a main dish salad that makes use of one of the good protein foods such as eggs, fish, cheese or meat. But make it crisp and crunchy, too, using vitamin and mineral-laden greens right from the garden.

"I decided that it would be criminal to desert you. You're such a softy, Dooley, that you'd let her walk all over you," Jill said. "I'll give her two weeks. But if she's still hanging around after that, I may go to Washington and get a job. Boots Palmer knows a congressman."

"All right, Jill. But try to be a lady for those two weeks. After that I won't raise any objection, whatever you want to do."

Perhaps, Julia was thinking as she watched the engine thunder toward her, Sandra wasn't too happy either. Perhaps she had let love rush her off her feet, and now she was being shifted off on people she did not know, whom she might suspect did not want her. But would a woman who had been married before be swept off her feet by a boy? Jill could be wrong after all. This might be a girl whom Ric had met later. She held to that hope till the train ground to a stop, then surrendered it, resignedly.

Sandra Arrives At the Farm

That had to be Sandra getting off. Julia's heart gave a sick flop. Small, blonde, no girl for all the soft curls, the delicate make-up. The face under the clever hat had been written upon grimly and a bit cruelly by life.

Julia went forward. "You must be Sandra? I'm Richard's mother."

She felt that slow blue gaze travel over her, moving anxiously, but the voice, too young and limpid for that throat, cried, "How nice of you! I was afraid you might not get my telegram."

"It came this morning. I'll have some one see to your bags. Are all these yours?"

"They do look a frightful lot, don't they? That's because since the war began I've had no real home. I've lived in a trunk. I have a trunk, too. Do you think it could be here?"

Boil potatoes in their skins until tender. Peel and slice. Fry bacon until crisp; remove and brown onion in fat. Add vinegar, salt, pepper and sour cream. Add potatoes and bacon. Serve hot or cold, garnished with sliced tomatoes and weiners prepared thus:

Stuffed Green Pepper and Egg Salad.

- ½ cup mayonnaise
- Lettuce
- French dressing

Wash peppers, cut off tops and remove the seeds. Meanwhile cream the cheese until it is smooth. Put eggs, pickle and olives through a food chopper and add to cheese with mayonnaise and combine to make a thick paste. Pack this mixture into the peppers and chill for several hours. Slice peppers crosswise, ¼ inch thick, and arrange several slices on lettuce. Serve with french dressing, if desired.

Use leftover vegetable juices in place of water in meat and vegetable dishes to utilize them.

When serving leftover ham creamed, add a novel note to the dish by using Chinese vegetables with it. This adds delicious variety to the meal.

If you have leftover weiners from the night before, slice them and add them to a sauce and serve over a nest of spaghetti. This nourishing dish is something the youngsters will like.

Youth's Advantage

One day at rehearsal, Playwright Sir James M. Barrie was having difficulty with a bright young assistant, fresh out of college, who disagreed with the noted dramatist.

"I don't think the scene should be played that way," insisted the young man at one point. "Now when I was at school we did this."

Barrie listened patiently, then quietly repeated his original instructions to the cast.

Throughout the rehearsal the young know-it-all again and again interrupted to offer suggestions. Finally Barrie placed a paternal arm around his shoulder.

"My boy," he said, "I appreciate your comments, but you must not be too harsh with me. After all, I am not young enough to know everything."

Carrot Something New
The familiar carrot was seldom used as a vegetable in the United States before 1920. By 1941, however, 18 million bushels a year were produced, with California, Texas, New York and New Jersey as the largest producers.

Men's Socks
Men's socks will benefit from the experience of the military. The armed forces used about 125 million socks with a built-in cushion foot. This chenille-footed hosiery now is ready for civilians.
