Ft. Meigs Drifts Aground Tuesday

Resume Search for Treasure Wednesday

Tuesday's high seas beached the sand-sucker Fort Meigs, near the East Tawas State Park Dock. The boat had broken its mooring lines and drifted aground. Pulled-off the beach by the Alpena Tug, Ciseco, the search for the sunken copper treasure was resumed Wednesday.

Julius Roth and the salvage crew headed by Captain William J. McNeil of Bay City, Sunday felt that they had definite indications that they were searching in the right location. Spikes and metal from an ancient lake craft were found at the site in the sand of the lake bottom.

Handicapped by long waits for government permits for the salvage expedition, operations have been delayed and the work will extend to a much later period than hoped for when the salvage outfit was assembled. It was estimated that 3,000 yards of sand would have to be removed from around the ancient hull.

Roth, a retired Danbury, Ohio, grocer, has been working on this salvage project for years. He first heard the story of the three-quarter century old shipwreck from two old sailors in 1941. The ship carried a cargo of copper in a lake storm. Learning as much as he could about the wreck from old newspapers and old sailors and inhabitants along the lakes, he came to Tawas and made a diligent search of the bay. Roth finally pinpointed the location of the sunken vessel and dove a rod down into the sand, and presumably struck the ancient hull. Last spring he made a contract with Captain McNeil and secured the sand-sucker, Fort Meigs, from the Scanes Boat & Dock Company at Toledo.

Survey Made of Iosco County Road Needs

Cost of Minimum Standard Roads Would
Total $3,440,000

The Iosco County Road Commission has recently completed a survey of the needs of all roads in the County and the cost necessary to bring them up to minimum standards set by the Study Committee charged with the task of assessing the needs of all roads and streets in Michigan. The cost totals $3,440,000 for Iosco.

The study is being sponsored by the Michigan Good Roads Federation and includes the Michigan State Highway Department, The Michigan Municipal League, The County Road Association of Michigan, and the Highway Users Group.

This study is being made at the expense of these organizations and Governor Sigler has promised to call a special session of the Legislature to consider the needs of roads and streets next January, when this survey is supposed to be completed.

Uniform standards have been set up by the committee and only necessary improvements are included in the survey.

The set up includes grading and black topping the main county roads and such other grade and surface improvements as will provide all weather roads to all farming and resort areas. No improvement is figured for plains trails.

This cost represents only needed construction improvements and does not include necessary annual maintenance expense.

Alabaster to Finance Snow Removal

Alabaster township has recently notified the County Road Commission, that they will provide financial aid for the purpose of removing snow in Alabaster township this winter on former township roads.

This makes four townships (Alabaster, Tawas, Sherman and Baldwin) that have set aside funds for snow removal.

The Old Philosopher Says:

By Gavin Maxwell

"Just Lucky"

The story is told of a city bred boy spending part of his summer vacation at the farm of an old uncle.

Work on the farm was hard and to the youth uninteresting, working hours were long and there were few diversions to break the monotony. All in all the youth thinks it a wholly uninteresting way in which to live.

One evening as they sat on the porch, the uncle peacefully smoking his pipe the young man said, "How did you ever settle away out here, uncle John?"

"Just plain lucky, I guess," replied the old uncle. How many of us are just plain lucky in reference to the work we do? Do we get a bang out of our work or is our daily work just a stunt?

The old proverb, "Happy is he who has found his work," is very true. I believe we can all be just plain lucky or as the proverb says—happy if we will to enjoy our work, if we think our work as important and give it honest effort.

I once worked with a fellow right here in Tawas who represented that kind of chap, named Joe.

There wasn't a set hour agreed upon for Joe to begin work in the morning but he was there about an hour and a half ahead of schedule every morning. No one definitely assigned to him the job of keeping everything including the boss oiled up and running smoothly, but he did and I think of him, comparing him with teachers I have known and with whom I have worked, salesmen, lawyers and other classifications as No. 1 artist workman.

Joe like a very few others in the world is "just plain lucky."

Garden Club
Ends Year With Luncheon

At the conclusion of a successful club year the Tawas City Garden Club enjoyed a luncheon and meeting Tuesday afternoon at Vic and Zel Restaurant. Forty women were present and the gathering included guests and representatives from East Tawas Garden Club.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Otto Toepner of Bay City, a guest speaker gave a very interesting demonstration of flower arrangements. Mrs. Toepner is recognized as an authority in her community on flower growing and flower arrangements. Her clever fingers fashioned corsages, bouquets, favors and many other flower arrangements, and she demonstrated and instructed the group in this interesting phase of garden culture.

The meeting was a high light of the season's program and the members returned to their homes with an increased enthusiasm for their hobby.

"Sky Shooters" to be Lower
This Duck Season

With shotgun shells reported selling at nine or 10 cents apiece this fall, veteran duck hunters hope the beginners will think twice before pulling the trigger while the ducks are still out of range. "Sky shooters" caused complaints on almost all the state's marshes last season.

Water is reported in many southern Michigan marsh and pothole that was dry a year ago, assuring duck hunters of many more shooting spots this fall. Statistical reports of conservation department field men and experienced cooperating observers are now being tallied for estimates of local duck abundance for the season opening October 7.

Resides paying more for shells, hunters will pay $2 for the Michigan license, $1 for a duck stamp.

Alabaster won the first game of the series 8 to 2, and needs only this game to make them the undisputed baseball champion of the NEM League. The game will be played at West Branch, starting at 2:00 p. m.

History Lives in Washington Statues

Americans Dote on Nation's Monuments to Its Heroes

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—If you haven't anything else to do, just take a seat beside me on this bench for a moment. I think this is one of the nicest "little parks" in the world. It doesn't take its name from the gentleman on the horse right over there in the center, behind the iron pickets. I don't know why. Of course, he is only a replica. The original is in a square in the city he defended from the British—in the "vieux carre" of New Orleans.

He was GENERAL Jackson then. We think of him as President Jackson now. And we make fun of the horse he's sitting on, that prancing steed with his feet planted so firmly in the air ("like a liberal congressman," as one of the old conservatives used to say). It took many pounds of lead in Andy's horse's tail to keep the two of them in balance, they tell me.

But don't think the horse's hind feet are not firmly planted! The one man who tried to move them brought down an avalanche on his head, and gave a President of the United States a real headache.

It happened this way: There is a statue of George Washington tucked off on a circle in a neighborhood which has neither the distinguished past nor the glorious present of Lafayette Square. Back in the regime of President Harding, that statue was taken down for a little repair. A newspaperman, hard up for a feature, sat down and wrote himself quite a piece. His name was John Russell Young, and he is now commissioner (mayor) of the District of Columbia. In his piece, he suggested that when Washington was prettied up and returned to public view, he should be placed in the center of Lafayette park. Andy Jackson, Young thought, could be relegated to Washington's former relatively obscure position in Washington Circle. Local officials agreed.

Then the deluge. The story was widely printed and it seemed that every Democrat in the United States was personally affronted. The presidential secretaries had bales of mail to answer. The climax came when a long-forgotten Andrew Jackson patriotic and marching club, which appeared to be very much alive and kicking, threatened to descend on Washington in a body. The President had to issue a public statement saying that Andy was safe.

But I didn't intend to run on about Andy. The park is not, as I said, named after him. It's named after that young man you see over there on the southeast corner—looking right across Pennsylvania avenue into the window of the No. 1 guest chamber of the White House. His name is Marquis Marie Joseph Paul Yves Rich Gilbert du Motier de Lafayette. Yes, we're in Lafayette park.

Over there on the northeast corner is another Frenchman, Field Marshal Jean Baptiste Donatien de Vimeur, Comte de Rochambeau. Over there on the northwest, opposite the Decatur House where Commodore Stephen Decatur died after being shot in a duel with a fellow officer (Commodore Barron) out at Bladensburg, is Baron Friedrich Wilhelm August Heinrich von Steuben, who was as useful to General Washington, in his way, as Lafayette was in his.

Kosciuszko Statue Stirs Reminiscences

But that brings me to the statue I was really going to talk about: Tadeusz Andrzej Bonawentura Kosciuszko, standing on the fourth corner of the park across from the house which once belonged to James Madison. Dolly lived there after her husband died.

The other day, a dispatch came in from Warsaw which said that the minister of education of the Communist-dominated Polish government had ordered there would be no more "salacious chattering jokes and significant smiling" in Polish schools and universities.

I got to reminiscing on the air about how I had been told Polish students acted in the days when Poland was divided between Russia, Austria and Germany. Teaching of Polish history was suppressed, and the Russian secret police then were as brutal (if not quite as efficient) as the Communist police in Poland are today.

It seems a Polish teacher in those days occasionally would slip into his lecture some subtle anti-Russian or patriotic remark. There wouldn't be the slightest response from the students. The teacher would go right ahead, and then, after a perfectly innocent sentence of some kind, he'd pause (and probably do a little "significant smiling"). Then the students would fairly raise the roof with applause and cheers—delayed action.

I mentioned that on the air, as I said, and commented that every time I passed by the statue of Kosciuszko, I could hear a faint murmur. I had no doubt it was Kosciuszko telling what he would do today if he could just get down from his pedestal.

A number of people wrote in about that. They always do when I mention the statues. People are interested in statues even though they have gone out of style as monuments. You know, the Du Pont family took the bust of old Admiral Samuel F. Du Pont out of the famous circle named after him, and replaced it with the present beautiful memorial fountain. Some Washingtonians were deeply offended and the national parks service was kept busy for several days answering phone calls and letters from indignant citizens.

In fact about the only complaints the national parks service has been receiving of late years have been concerned with the upkeep of the 77 statues entrusted to its care. Some Washingtonians call up to rebuke the service for the greenish tinge creeping over some of them, like Kosciuszko's. It is bronze and weather turns it green, which most sculptors feel adds to its beauty, so the service doesn't worry too much.

There wasn't much money for the national parks during World War II to pretty up Washington's statutory. About all the service could manage was a yearly washing of each statue (it takes several men a whole day for the laundering job). But this year congress gave the service $10,000 for trucking equipment, hoses, masonry repairs, plumbing fixtures for the fountains and other monuments.

They have another $10,000 to spend on structural repairs—to replace missing arms, legs and chunks hacked out by souvenir hunters, for statues have their ghouls, too. But most of the finger breaking, it is believed, is done by perverted youth. On the whole, people like statues.

This is the Washington statue of Kosciuszko, Polish patriot, general and statesman, who served as George Washington's adjutant and laid out the fortifications at West Point. There is another monument to him at West Point.

COLD-BLOODED FORECAST

Coal Shortage Looms for U.S.

Take a tip from the coal producers: Unless your furnace burns oil, it will be a good idea to keep a little sunshine in your smile and warmth in your heart this winter. Because, from the standpoint of obtaining coal, it looks like the winter of 1947-48 will be the toughest in at least six years. Producers already are admitting drearily that there is little chance that fuel shortages, inconvenience and suffering can be put aside. Reasons for this uninviting outlook are three, in particular: 1. Unparalleled demand in a peacetime period which even record production (600 million tons) will not fully satiate. Attempts are being made to stockpile, but to little

FLORIDA OYSTER FLEET . . . Fishermen are busying themselves again along Florida gulf ports bringing in the first of the 1947-48 oyster haul. Here "oysterers" secure their craft after a long day's hunting in Apalachicola bay.

Corn Estimate Lowered; Aid Europe Now, Plea

REPEAT: Less Corn

The 1947 corn crop, estimates of which have been shrinking like a $10 suit ever since August, was reduced by another 33 million bushels in the department of agriculture's September report.

Total estimate cuts since August 1 were 256 million bushels, and the expected output this year now has been placed at 2,403,913,000 bushels.

There was more potential bad news, said the department: In case

MEAT SUPPLY

Meat production can be maintained at a high level in the next year, despite the curtailed corn crop, animal feeding authorities declare. Extensive and efficient use of vegetable oil meal and other products will enable farmers to produce pork freely at less cost than if corn were used exclusively in feeding.

an early frost should blanket the corn belt, another reduction would be likely.

Crop reporting board said that "it now seems likely that at least 75 per cent of all corn in the 12 corn belt states will have matured by the average date of the first killing frost," but warned that if it were a week early, it would catch about 40 per cent of all corn at an immature stage. If frost came a week later, only a 15 per cent loss would be registered.

Latest estimates also foretold a sharp reduction in the record wheat crop. Output was set at 1,408,602,000 bushels, as compared with the August 1 prediction of 1,435,551,000 bushels.

HEADLINERS

IN NEW YORK . . . Margaret Truman, coloratura soprano, was unanimously approved by the board of governors for membership in the American Guild of Musical Artists (AGMA) as a junior vocalist in good standing.

IN TOKYO . . . Hidekei Tojo, former Japanese premier, now on trial for his life as a war criminal, peered in to the future, chose an epitaph for his tombstone: "By Buddha's grace all sins committed while living are absolved."

IN LONDON . . . Elliodor M. Libonati, visiting Legionnaire from Chicago, paused in front of No. 10 Downing street, the prime minister's residence, wickedly waved a handful of dollar bills in the air, attracted no takers.

IN TALLAHASSEE . . . Sen. Claude Pepper (Dem., Fla.) opened his mouth to say that if the Democratic party should feel that he could render "greater service in some other way, I would be greatly influenced by that feeling," turned around to find that his friends were booming him for vice-presidential nomination.

IN MILWAUKEE . . . Mrs. Lucy Nostrand stepped from a bus at a busy intersection, was knocked to the pavement by a hit-and-run cow, a refugee from a meat company shipment.

URGENT: Stopgap Aid

George Marshall, U. S. secretary of state, was trying his best to pile up pressure for a special session of congress this autumn to finance immediate interim aid to keep Europe on its feet until Marshall's 20-billion-dollar, long-range rehabilitation plan begins functioning.

Stymied by Republican leaders who were either downright opposed or indifferent to an emergency session before January, Marshall was taking his case to the people, attempting to rally public opinion behind him.

Intolerable cold and hunger are the immediate threats facing Europe, he said. The crisis calls for "urgent consideration."

What would it cost this time? Marshall said that there was as yet no estimate of stop-gap needs, but he didn't deny reports that William L. Clayton, undersecretary of state, had cabled from Europe a request for a special session of congress to vote 2.5 billion dollars for aid now.

The special session was far from assured. If it came to a showdown, GOP leaders probably would oppose it openly, and they could, if they wished, stifle any economic aid legislation.

GOP VICTORY: Straw in Wind?

Jubilant Republicans were making much of Franklin H. Lichtenwalter's resounding victory over labor-supported Phil H. Storch, Democratic candidate, in a special election to fill Pennsylvania's eighth district seat in congress.

The issue, naturally, was the Taft-Hartley labor law, and the outcome was a two-to-one acceptance by the voters of the law and what it signifies. If Pennsylvania is as much a political weathervane as it is claimed to be, the Lichtenwalter victory forecasts a cold, bleak wind from the north for Democrats in 1948.

Republican hoop-la called the vote "a smashing rebuke to the radical labor bosses who chose to make the Taft-Hartley labor management act the paramount issue of the election."

Army Shrinking

Alarmed war department officials have estimated that the army's postwar strength has sunk to a new low of 965,000 officers and men, 105,000 below its authorized quota.

The army lost 75,000 officers and men during July and August and gained back only 50,000 through its recruiting campaign, thus suffering a net loss of 25,000 since July 1, when strength was 80,000 below the authorized level.

Another Glamour Probe Due

MOST folks would think that congress had had enough of Hollywood after that Brewster-Hughes fiasco. However, another big extravaganza is being cooked up by the house un-Americanism investigating committee that will outdo the Hughes probe in names and glamour, if not in headlines.

Until the curtain goes up, a publicity blackout has been ordered by committee chairman Parnell Thomas of New Jersey. However, it is known that a swarm of big-name actors and actresses will be brought to Washington next month to testify on alleged communism in Hollywood.

Even if the probe doesn't prove anything—which it probably won't—it will keep Congressman Thomas' name on the front pages—always helpful when one aspires to be GOP senator from New Jersey.

Thomas and his investigators are mum about which movie stars and producers will appear. However, it can be revealed that those scheduled to be invited or subpoenaed include:

Charles Chaplin, who filmed "The Dictator"; Katharine Hepburn, who introduced Henry Wallace to a Los Angeles rally; Adolphe Menjou, Robert Taylor, Director Leo McCarey and Hans Eisler, a Hollywood composer and brother of Gerhardt Eisler, recently convicted of contempt of congress. Jack Warner, who produced Ambassador Joe Davies' book "Mission to Moscow," at a time when we were wooing Russia, also will appear.

WALTER WINCHELL

The Washington Ticker

The administration is split right down the middle into two blocs—liberal and conservative. The conservatives are led by Secretary Forrestal, for whom the President has great respect, and include Harriman, Krug, Snyder and Clark. The liberals are Bob Hannegan, Gael Sullivan, Schwelienbach and Clark Clifford. . . . The conservative bloc wants to force the ouster of Prime Minister Clement Attlee in Britain by insisting the British will get no relaxation of the loan agreement or other financial aid until Attlee is out, a coalition government is in, and the socialization of industry is stopped. . . . With the elections coming on, Mr. Truman is listening to the liberals on domestic policy.

U. S. Ambassador Griffith is dwelling in a Warsaw hotel because the home provided by the Polish government was taken over by 30 squatters, who resist every effort to shoo them out.

Dwight Griswold will resign as head of Truman's commission in Greece. Because, he says, Greek monarchists (and our state department) are giving him "the finger." He bitterly adds that he "isn't gonna hold anybody's bag!" . . . Another Truman exec will quit and take an offer (at 60 Gs) in private industry, unless he inherits Hannegan's chairmanship of the Democratic national committee. Now why would any man want a thankless (hat-in-hand) job like that?

Treasury Juggles Its Figures

PRESIDENT TRUMAN found the lost figures in his fiscal midyear budget review. Although dollar volume of business and income have been increasing since January, no one around the treasury has been able to find the figures showing how much this would increase receipts, and thus justify the Republican tax reduction.

When the June 15 quarterly income taxes came in to the treasury till, the Democratic actuaries should have been able to estimate immediately how much more money they would take in this present year than they had figured. But the Republican tax reduction bill was then under consideration in congress, so the actuaries just looked dumb, and pointed to the daily treasury statement, which is an unrevealing generalization of matters fiscal.

By June 30, this statement showed receipts were actually down the first six months of this year over last, instead of up above the budget calculations. Even at the fiscal year end, Treasury Secretary Snyder merely estimated the surplus larger than expected for the closing year and warned against tax reduction, as you will recall.

By this little fiscal ruse, the Democrats caused the Republicans to use the six-month-old budget estimates of last January, which kept them on the defensive and forced them to justify any tax reduction by the amount of economies they could make.

Super Duper Russian Tomatoes

Russia has perfected a spray that grows tomatoes three times normal size. However, the effect of them dropped on an enemy city remains undetermined.

"This beef stew is too thick, waiter."

"Make it 20 gallons. I wanna bust a two-dollar bill anyhow."

"Whatever you do, don't let the women see you drinking."

There is this to be said of the liberation of India: Lord Mountbatten gave it an air that not even Tyrone Power could have improved on.

WALTER SHEAD

Two-Party System Falter

SEN. RAY BALDWIN of Connecticut spoke truly when he chided his Republican colleagues: "If we are to remain the majority party we must act effectively in the interest of a majority of the people. If we act only in the interest of a minority of rock-ribbed Republicans, we shall again quickly become a minority party."

The record of the first session of the 80th congress bears out the Connecticut senator's charge, but the charge fits equally well the record of the 79th congress which legislated in the interest of a minority of rock-ribbed Democrats.

Our two-party system doesn't contemplate government by coalition, but during both the 79th and 80th congress it was evident the trend toward continued progressive government was halted and the clock turned back by this coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans, aided and abetted by the pressure groups of self-interest lobbyists.

The power of recall held by the voters of the nation is helpless against this kind of government and a return to strict party responsibility, essential in our democracy, will be the best insurance against the evils of communism and fascism spreading dangerously as a result of Tory irresponsibility.

British Squander Recovery Funds

THE American people are greatly interested in the survival of England. We fully realize her value as a strong and prosperous nation to us and to all free people. We evidenced our desire for her survival by advancing nearly four billion dollars to aid in her recovery from the terrific effects of the war on her production, her economy and her leadership. That four billion dollars has been spent in fruitless experiments and in supporting the British political party now in power. While we are willing to aid England, we are not willing to finance the experiments in national socialism which are being made by the British Labor party.

Twitchell and the Stimulated Bait

Elmer Twitchell was intrigued recently over the fishing exploits of a man who dipped his worms in benzadrine thus enslaving them so much that, once overboard, the gyrations, backflips and wriggling were ones that no fish could ignore, unless blind, senile or in care of a probation officer. Dr. George L. Appelback was the director of "Operation Underwater Ziperoo" and he insists he got more fish on a souped-up worm than he ever did in his life.

But Twitchell declares himself the real pioneer in angling with plastered bait. "I used benzadrine-soaked worms years ago," he declared. "It's only fair. It does not compare with bait dipped in rye, scotch or gin. Vintage champagne beats 'em all, fresh or salt water."

"I once got hold of some good bourbon that caught me some whoopers. I'll never forget the time I dipped a bloodworm into a jug of this and then cast it out for striped bass. This worm was sluggish and disinterested before I dipped it. But one quick dip and it was a real fish killer. The first time I threw it over there was a terrific underwater commotion and up came six big bass with blackeyes and bloody noses!"

"Back in prohibition days I soaked a shudder crab in bathtub gin once, put it on the hook and almost as soon as it hit the water an enormous man-eating shark went for it. Well sir, what that little gin-conditioned crab did to the shark was a caution. It weakened it by fancy footwork at first and then closed both that shark's eyes, using only the claws on its starboard side and driving 'em home like trip hammers. The shark was pretty helpless but mighty infuriated. I reeled in, gave the crab another dip in the bathtub gin and sent it out fighting for round two. Oh, man!"

"That crab shoved a portside claw into that shark's mouth and ripped out both rows of teeth!"

"Well sir, the shark knew when it was licked. It was its first experience with Lost Weekend or Alcoholics Anonymous bait, and it just ran up on the shore and surrendered."

The Annual Crime

The foulest, wackiest and most wholly unjustified murder of the year occurred on Labor Day. Summer, 1947, was shot ruthlessly and prematurely. The coroner's verdict, indorsed by millions of American vacationists and summer resort businessmen, follows:

"Shot from behind by Zillie Kustom, alias Cockeyed Tradition, alias Calendar Habit without warning and on the very moment that she entered the corridor of September. The lady had every right to live out her usual life expectancy; she was never in more beneficial shape or more prepared to complete her mission of bringing warmth, recreation and pleasure to the American people."

"She had every reason to prolong this beneficial and labor lightening work, but she had hardly put her foot on the threshold before her dimwit assailant stepped out from behind the potted palms, flourished an old law marked 'Designation of Labor Day' and, with a leer, shot her down mercilessly."

MODERN PROGRESS

A troubled traveler has just communicated to us an experience he had the other morning in the coffee shop of a hotel in Providence. "I ordered two soft-boiled eggs," he writes in a shaky hand. "The waitress bustled away, but in a couple of minutes she was back. 'I'm sorry, sir,' she told me, 'but we're not serving boiled eggs this morning. Our egg-boiling machine is out of order.'"

Automobiles are coming through faster. When you enter the agency now the salesman gets out of his chair.

A current song hit beginning with the line, "There is no shore without an ocean" moves us to inquire if any of the authors or singers ever saw a lake, a river or an ol' swimmin' hole?

A musical show is to be made of John Guntner's "Inside U. S. A." This will at least end the complaint during rehearsals that the book is too thin.

Now that Helen Hayes has recovered from that fall in her bathtub how about renaming her play, "Happy Bathday?"

EVEN THE HENS REALIZE IT . . . The agriculture department's bureau of agricultural economics recently announced that egg prices may reach a dollar a dozen, highest level in nearly 39 years, by the end of this year. Pursuant to that announcement, and possibly hinting that they want their share, laying hens at the agricultural research center at Beltsville, Md., obliged by putting it in writing. Or it could have been an accident.

BON VOYAGE TO THE PRESIDENT . . . With historic Sugar Loaf mountain in the background, this farewell ceremony for U. S. President Truman was held aboard the battleship Missouri in Rio de Janeiro harbor. It climaxed the signing of the inter-American defense treaty in Rio. In background, a detachment of U. S. marines, and in right foreground two rows of sailors form honor guards for dignitaries.

FIRST BOMBS, THEN FOOD . . . This is a picture of the complete irony of war and war's aftermath. Two homeless Japanese children sit among the ruins of Tokyo, probably feeling dimly grateful to whoever sent them those relief packages. They were sent by a U. SUPER-SONIC WIVES . . . Some women hold to the theory that if they holler loudly enough their husbands will come running, just as a matter of course—and if they've been well trained. That's why husband-calling contests were born. So who should win the Michigan state fair's contest of the same name but these three lusty-lunged ladies.

NOT content with their stellar rating as actors, Dennis O'Keefe and Randolph Scott have joined forces to co-produce as well as co-star in "Draw Sabres." It is all about the daring exploits of a U. S. cavalry regiment during the Indian wars of the 1870s, written by William Hanneman and O'Keefe; Eagle-Lion will probably release it. Dennis is an old hand at writing; he began his Hollywood career as a gag man for Hal Roach comedies. Maybe you have read some of his short stories, signed Jonathan Ricks. He is working now on his first novel, a fictionalized biography, with a Hollywood background, entitled "Ladder of Ladies."

Vaughn Monroe, of his own CBS show, will exhibit his model trains this fall during a toy merchants' convention in New York. To date he has built eight models of the nation's top flight "limiteds." Speaking of gold mines—Gabrielle Canzona has one in his monkey, Josephine. In "Ever the Beginning" he received four checks each day. One for rental of his hand organ, one for Josephine, a third for himself as a member of the Screen Actors' Guild, and a fourth for himself as a handler of trained animals. Josephine has made about 200 pictures; what a gold mine!

Susan Reed, the ballad singer who has been acclaimed in New York night clubs, will sing five old songs in Columbia's musical, "Glamour Girl." Miss Reed is so unlike the usual night club entertainer that it will be interesting to see how she will impress motion picture audiences—they are so much more critical than the average night club crowd.

Professor Albert Einstein is anything but a fervent movie goer. But a special screening of RKO's "Crossfire" was arranged for him in Princeton, N. J., his home town now, at which he was host to friends and associates. Afterward he said "It is a picture I should like people to see," an opinion shared by many Americans the country over.

Some 25 years ago Rudd Weatherwax wore wigs, "which always fell off at the critical moment," says he; as a 12-year-old he was a stunt double for leading ladies in silent movies, because he was an expert rider. Now, as trainer-owner of Lassie, the MGM dog star, he finds working with her in pictures and on the ABC "Lassie Show" an easier—and more profitable—career.

ODDS AND ENDS—Paula Croset, now getting her first big break in radio opposite Douglas Fairbanks Jr. in "The Exile," is the former RKO stock player, Rita Corday. . . . 20th Century-Fox producers wanted to borrow Larry Parks from Columbia after what he could do in "Down to Earth"—proving that his "Jolson Story" click was not just pure luck. . . . Hub Studebaker of "The Guiding Light" has been playing piano for years—the piano given him on his third birthday.

Jenny Lind's Concert Tour Created Greatest Furor

America's greatest furor was that created by Jenny Lind, the Swedish singer, during her concert tour (1850-1852) says Collier's.

Its extent is indicated by a collection of Lindiana owned by the New York Historical society which contains, among its thousands of items, scores of the countless articles on which her name and portrait were used as a trademark or decoration, such as bonnets, beds, whiskies, wallpapers and even men's fancy vest buttons.

SEVENTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS from 50 acres of single cross hybrid seed corn! That was one of the accomplishments last year of Champion Farmer John J. Gannon and his father, William P. Gannon, on their 785-acre farm near Valeria, Iowa. Hog sales totalled over 400 head. In a recent month, 16 purebred Guernsey cows, three of them dry, returned $504.78 over feed costs. Seventy head of purebred Aberdeen-Angus cows, and their calves, provide a profitable outlet for roughage. So does a flock of sheep. The Gannons bale 7000 bales of hay annually. Careful pasture management, manure and commercial fertilizers, and a soil conservation program keep the farm highly productive. For economy and efficiency in operating their farm equipment, Champion Farmer Gannon has found it pays to depend on Firestone tires. When he and his father buy new tractors, they specify Firestone Champion Ground Grips. In the photograph, Shelia Ann Gannon with her grandfather, William P. Gannon, and her father, Champion Farmer John J. Gannon.

For more information about Champion Farmer John J. Gannon, write to The Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, O.

Champion Farmers Specify Firestone CHAMPION GROUND GRIPS

TO GET extra pulling power . . . longer tire life . . . and smoother riding, Champion Farmer John J. Gannon and his father specified Firestone Champion Ground Grips for their new tractor.

Tests show that Firestone Champion Ground Grips clean up to 100% more effectively, pull up to 62% more, last up to 91% longer, and roll smoother over highways than any other tractor tires . . . important facts to cost-conscious farmers.

Only Firestone Champion Ground Grips are made with connected curved traction bars. These bars clean with a plowlike action . . . giving the Champions more pulling power. Extra tread rubber in the bar connections gives them a "Center Bite" in the heart of the traction zone. This, too, means more pulling power. The extra rubber in the connected tread increases tire strength . . . lengthens tire life . . . money-saving points you can't overlook when you buy new tractor tires. So when you buy . . . buy the best . . . buy Firestone Champion Ground Grips.

In soils deficient in phosphorus, the application of superphosphate makes it available to pasture grasses and other plants. These in turn make it available to livestock and human beings. Not only does this practice improve the quality of crops grown, but it also increases the yield.

Ranks of Sportsmen Continue to Increase

Ranks of the state's sportsmen continue to increase, the conservation department reports, citing September 1 figures on sales of fishing license 5, 4.5 and 3.7 per cent higher than at this time a year ago for resident, temporary nonresident and annual non-resident licenses, respectively.

The 640,607 resident fishing licenses sold to the first of the month exceed by 31,523 the number sold to September 1 last year and also exceed the annual total for any recent year except 1946.

The last of a shipment of a million and a half fall hunting and trapping licenses will be in the hands of the state's 3,000 dealers this week. The 1947 licenses have 1947 prices. The small game hunting fee is $2.00, deer hunting is $3.50 and trapping $2.00 for residents. Non-residents will pay $15.00 to hunt small game, $35 to hunt deer with firearms, $10 to hunt deer with bow and arrow.

CHOICE

keynote of today's career

Would you go to Europe, Japan or Korea?
Or would you stay near home? Any man who has had prior service in the Armed Forces may elect to do any of these things if he enlists in the Army now for 3 years or more. He can choose to be assigned directly to duty in Europe or with one of five famous Infantry divisions in the Far East. Or he may choose to be stationed near home for the first full year of his enlistment (where there are vacancies). Men with or without prior service may choose one of the famous combat divisions in Japan or Korea.

Would you select a career in aviation?
This you can do, and be guaranteed the training you choose before you enlist! Only requirements beyond regular physical and mental examinations are that you be a high school graduate, or that you are in the Air Force and can qualify. It's today's great opportunity to write your own ticket in the Air Force.

Would you want to learn to fly? If you are single, 20 to 26½, and have had two or more years of college education or the equivalent, you can become an Aviation Cadet with the U. S. Air Force. Nowhere else can you get better training, for nowhere else is aviation advancing as fast or as far as in our own Air Force.

Would you go to a leadership school? If you have qualities of leadership, would you want to develop them to their fullest? U. S. Army Leadership Schools are now selecting likely candidates from servicemen to take these valuable courses.

The Army and Air Force are doing everything possible today to help each individual develop along the lines that he picks for himself. Army and Air Force training is thorough and take-home pay is better than most civilian jobs. Opportunities for advancement are wide open to every man in uniform. Make your choice today at your U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station.

Township Clerks Agents for New Fox Bounty Law

For the 1,259 township clerks of Michigan who are the certifying agents under the state's new fox bounty law, the conservation department has prepared reporting forms and a step-by-step guide to the new law's operation. The law becomes effective October 11. The bounty applies specifically to wild red foxes taken on and after October 11, the department points out. The rare tree-climbing gray foxes are not included. Foxes must be bountied within 10 days after capture.

To collect the bounty, the hunter or trapper presents only the raw fox pelt to the clerk of the township in which the fox was taken. The clerk collects a fee of 50 cents, punctures the fox's right ear in three places, fills out the forms in triplicate. The bounty claimant may then sell or otherwise dispose of the pelt.

One copy of the report remains with the clerk, two are sent to the conservation department in Lansing. From one of the department's copies a $5.00 check will be written and mailed to the person who killed the fox. From the other, department game technicians will keep a record of where and how the foxes are being taken. The take in each township will be compared with that in neighboring townships, and with the take in earlier years. Reporting the foxes taken as adults or pups and reporting the manner of taking—shooting, trapping or den digging—is required for game men's population estimates.

The bounty application in affidavit form, and a penalty of $500 and six months in jail is provided for fraud or false statement.

(A deduction of 50 cents from each small game hunting and trapping license sold will provide an estimated $275,000 for the fox bounty fund.

Whittemore School Notes

"Cardinal Chatter" Appears

The first issue of "Cardinal Chatter" the official publication of Whittemore High School made its first appearance Friday afternoon and was enthusiastically received by the student body. It is a 12 page issue carrying three pages of advertising and has a special cover drawn by George Wendt representing the birds for whom the school teams and paper are named.

The new monthly is a project of the senior class and is sponsored by Mrs. Florence E. Perry of the English Department.

The staff for the coming year is as follows: editor, Marian Provoast, '48; assistant editor, Phil Nuelock, '49; managing editor, Lois Derr, '48; art editor, George Wendt, '50; circulation manager, Jo Ann Higgins, '49; advertising manager, Charlotte Lehman, '48.

Much credit is due to the efforts of the staff and to the advance typing students who assisted in making stencils. The next issue is planned for October 20.

Physical Examinations Held at Whittemore

Twenty-five girls and twenty-eight boys successfully passed the physical examination conducted by Dr. Robert C. Strode county physician who was at Whittemore High School last week and were declared eligible for athletics.

New sports equipment was purchased during the summer and with services of a full time coach and the erection of the community building assured, the boys feel confident of a successful season.

Although the Cardinals lost several star players by graduation, available material looks very promising and Coach Roberts is sure his team will prove themselves worthy opponents.

Miss Betty Warren, coaching girls athletics, is holding daily practices with them and makes encouraging reports on their progress.

Juniors Hosts at Second Open House
Whittemore High School students enjoyed the second Open House of the term when the junior class entertained the Friday evening, September 19.

A very gay evening was spent in dancing and games interspersed with novelty stunts by the Juniors. A specialty number, "Smoke, Smoke, Smoke that Cigarette," by Dennis Hoffman and a boy's chorus was especially good, and the girls in costumes gave a song with Janet Dorsey playing a banjo accompaniment.

Chester Roberts, class sponsor and Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Ida Dorsey, Howard Cole and Mrs. Florence Perry acted as chaperones. Miss Betty Warren and John O'Farrell furnished music.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake was served.

Mrs. Hope Haight is assisting in the school office during the absence of Miss Fern Williams, who is ill.

Whittemore Teachers Enjoy Luncheon

The teaching staff of Whittemore schools enjoyed a delightful luncheon Thursday noon, September 18, when they gathered in the home economics room to honor three of their number who have birthdays this month. The honorees were Mrs. Ida Dorsey, Miss Betty Warren and Mrs. Alfreda Lange.

A beautifully decorated birthday cake and tall white tapers in crystal holders formed the centerpiece of the long table which the 15 guests were seated.

ATTORNEY GENERAL GIVES OPINION

According to an opinion received from the Attorney General recently, the Commission can not legally do work which is not on roads under its control.

The following questions were asked:

1. Is it legal for the County Road Commission to perform work for a public school board?
2. Is it legal to perform work for or sell material such as gravel for streets, to a village or other municipality?
3. Is it legal to sell gravel and other material to sell gravel and tractors, or perform work for them as such individuals?

The following is quoted from the Attorney General's opinion:

1. "It will be observed that boards of county road commissioners have only such powers as are expressly conferred upon them by statute, or such as may be necessary for the due and efficient exercise of the powers expressly granted, or may be fairly implied from the statute granting the express powers; and the extent and scope of these powers are limited to the matters entrusted to them and to the territory assigned to them."
2. "Said board of county road commissioners shall have authority to grade, drain, construct, gravel, shale or macadamize any road under its control, or to place thereon any form of improvement which in its judgment may be best, and extend and enlarge such improvements."
3. "The statutory authority of a board of county road commissioners extends only to roads 'under its control.' These roads include state trunklines being improved, constructed or maintained."

4. "It is within the implied authority of a board of county road commissioners to sell gravel to individuals and contractors for use in carrying out contracts to construct, improve and maintain roads under the control of such board. As to the other questions, I cannot find authority for a board of county commissioners to do any of the acts in question, and the power to do so cannot necessarily be implied, such acts not serving to promote or benefit the principal purposes of such a board."

"It is therefore my opinion that your Board of County Road Commissioners may not authorize work except on roads under such Boards control."

THE BUILD-UP

By RUBE GOLDBERG

I was ambling along in my car counting posts and watching my nervous windshield-wiper as it slapped out a clear segment of a circle when I spied a smallish man walking ahead. The back of his neck seemed a bit scrawny and a little round hat sat on top of his head as though a vagrant breeze had dropped it there.

He was carrying a small bunch of flowers. When I pulled alongside I asked him if he wanted a lift. His clothes were limp with the steady drizzle and he seemed to have walked a long way. "I've only got a short way to go now," he said. "It ain't hardly worth bothering about."

"Jump in, anyway," I said, "you're all soaked."

"All right. But I'm only going around the bend there to Cypress Hills." As he got into the car he held the flowers high so as not to break the stems.

"Cypress Hills," I repeated by way of showing a little interest. "That's a cemetery, isn't it?"

"Yes, it's a cemetery."

"Oh," I said. "Flowers, cemetery, rain. I kept a respectful silence."

When we had driven a short distance there was a great rumble of thunder through the low hills and the sky opened with a sudden torrent that made the surrounding landscape a wet blur.

"Guess I'll pull up alongside the road until it blows over," I told my passenger. Neither of us spoke for a while.

The great clatter of the storm outside rendered the silence behind the closed windows a little oppressive. Presently the little man said, "My wife is buried over there." He pointed in the direction of Cypress Hills. "I'm sorry," I answered.

"When—"

"Just a few weeks ago."

"Was it sudden or—"

He ignored my unfinished question and said absently, "It's strange what a delicate thing life is. It can be cut off by an accidental move or even a thoughtless word. Something you say can snap it off just like a thin piece of thread."

There was a clap of thunder and the downpour wrapped us in a fresh film of rain. The little man told me his story. I give it to you in his words as closely as I can remember them.

Martha spent her whole life trying to build me up into something. She started right at the wedding. She was about an inch taller than me and she wore her flattest heels at the wedding and stooped over a little when the minister stood us up for the ceremony. She looked so proud you'd think she was marrying a millionaire. And me only a book-keeper at the mill.

There wasn't much about me she could brag about, but she made up a lot of things. She said she won me away from a fancy blonde named Tillie and told how I saved the company's payroll when six armed bandits broke into the mill. Of course, there wasn't any blonde named Tillie and the six armed bandits were just two fellows who looked in when they saw a light and asked the road to Cloverdale.

Martha wasn't very strong and got spells now and then. They said it was her heart. I didn't pay much attention to what the doctor said. I'd always make her rest after one of her spells and she'd come cilmen she was right.

The dinner was two weeks off and during that time Martha got some of the red back in her cheeks and she moved around more lively than she had in years. She made me get a dinner coat with all the fixings that went with it. She had the studs screwed in the shirt four days before the banquet.

After we wrote the speech we went over it here and there until it sounded right. Each evening after dinner we'd go to the kitchen where people couldn't look in and I'd stand on a chair and make the speech. I must have delivered that speech at least fifty times.

"How did it go?" she cried. I shouldn't have told her.

around fine. Jed Miley down at the post office told me his wife was like that and as long as they didn't get any excitement or shock they could live to be a hundred. Martha always rested when I told her but she never really rested even when she was lying down. Her mind was working. She was thinking how she could make the town know what a great husband she had. I tried to explain that it didn't matter as long as we were happy. But she kept on being riled. I just kind of hoped something big would happen to me for Martha's sake.

Well, sir, it was like the hand of fate. Something big did happen at last. At least, it was big to Martha and me. Mr. Clawson, the president of the mill, was getting up a dinner in honor of the town council and asked me to make a speech!

When I came home and told Martha that evening she nearly jumped out of her skin. I had never made a speech before in my life. I was scared stiff at the thought of it. But Martha was going to prove everything she had said about me, through that speech. I just had to show Mister Clawson and the coun-

Well, the big night finally came. When I got dressed up I looked pretty good. Martha stood at the gate waving good-by and looked ten years younger. I was sort of choked up and happy. I was only sorry she couldn't come along. It was just for men, you know.

I left my car in front of the house and walked down to the Clifton Hotel so I could go over my speech just one last time. When I got there I said hello to everybody—even Longyear, president of the bank. I'd never spoken to him before. I felt pretty important.

THEY put me on the platform next to Charlie Simmons, who is quite a wit around these parts. He has one of those ventriloquist dummies and also does card tricks. He told me a few jokes and I laughed although I didn't listen. I took a taste of the soup but after that I couldn't eat a thing. The speech kept pounding in my head.

After the ice cream Mister Clawson rapped for order and made a flowery speech about the town council. Then the head of the council said a lot of nice things about the mill and how much good it had done the town. More speeches followed. Each time the toastmaster got ready to call on the next speaker I shook all over thinking it might be me. It seemed that everybody in town was making a speech. My mouth got dry.

Then Simmons got up and did his dummy act and some card tricks. He went over to the piano and sang some songs. People called for more. They all laughed and sang with him. I looked at my watch. It was eleven o'clock.

I managed to get my head clear and quickly thought over the first few paragraphs of my speech. They were saving me for the last. A sort of surprise, I thought. Then Mister Clawson got up and his voice sounded far off. He said some of the boys wanted to play poker and others wanted to sit around and chat. It was too late for more speeches. After hearing Simmons any more talk would be tame. It was a wonderful evening and everybody had enjoyed it thoroughly. They all stood up and sang Auld Lang Syne. The dinner was over.

You can't blame me for not being able to think clearly after that. I was so disappointed I got kind of numb. I sneaked out through the back door and went home. Martha ran down to the front gate and grabbed me around the neck. She cried, "How did it go?"

I said, "They didn't call on me." I shouldn't have told her the truth. It was a dreadful blunder.

Painting Cellar Floor

Rubber base paints frequently are used for painting cement floors and basements, because they are resistant to alkali which would adversely affect some other types of paint. Before applying rubber base paints to a cement floor, any old paint should be removed with paint remover, all residue from the paint remover washed off with turpentine or mineral spirits, and the floor thoroughly dried out. A further precaution before painting cement cellar floors, either new or old, is to etch them with muriatic acid solution in the proportion of about one pint of acid to one gallon of water. If the acid solution is used the floor should be well rinsed to remove traces of the acid and then thoroughly dried before painting. Two coats of the rubber base paint then can be applied, being careful that the first coat is dry before the second coat is applied.

Pastry Makes a Delightful Dessert (See recipes below.)

Pastry Tricks

Now that cooler weather has come, we can all indulge in a few of the richer desserts that've been avoiding during hot, sweltering weather. Since it's cooler you won't mind using the oven if baking the pie is required, and you won't mind taking the extra time for their preparation.

There was a time when we thought of pie as something with a crust made of shortening, flour and water, but now there are many new crumb crusts from which to choose—and sometimes these are even better with certain types of fillings.

If you want a real taste delight, experiment with new crusts, novel fillings, and gather yourself a new and delicious collection of pastries from which to choose desserts. We all grow tired of eating the same things day in, day out, and there's so much new in the way of foods, it's just not a smart homemaker who doesn't find different touches to add to her menus.

Since fall is on the way, you'll be using pumpkin quite often. Here are two excellent variations of the old fashioned pumpkin pie, both of which are guaranteed to make a hit with the family.

1 1/4 cups pumpkin
1 cup evaporated milk (scalded)
3 tablespoons orange juice

Make a smooth paste of the spices and water. Add with the sugar, salt, and beaten eggs to the pumpkin. Stir to blend thoroughly, then add hot milk. Add orange juice and pour immediately into an unbaked pie shell. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) 15 minutes, then reduce to a slow oven (300 degrees) and bake until filling is just set.

Combine egg yolks, 1/2 cup sugar, pumpkin, milk, and spices. Cook in double boiler until thick. Soak gelatin in water 5 minutes, add to pumpkin mixture. Mix and cool. When thick add remaining sugar and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour in pie shell and serve with whipped cream.

Crust

1 1/2 cups gingersnap or graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup butter (scant)
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar

Simple Foods Are Easy To Dress Up

To steam means cooking in steam or in boiling water.

To parboil means to cook food partially in one way. Potatoes may be boiled and then to finish cooking by baking, for example.

Seasoned and cooked macaroni may be mixed with slivers of leftover frankfurters and mixed together with a cream sauce and served as a luncheon dish.

WHETHER you're planning a charity bazaar or a party of your own, you can always count on a fortune-telling booth to keep the crowd entertained.

Our Weekly Newspaper Service booklet No. 65 explains fortune-telling by six fascinating methods. Send 25 cents (coin) for "Let Me Tell Your Fortune" to Weekly Newspaper Service, 243 West 17th St., New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address, booklet title and No. 65.

Household Hints

When ironing, remember that double thicknesses such as hems, collars and cuffs should be ironed first on the wrong side, then on the right.

Leave about an inch of top on carrots when preparing them for grating. This serves as a button on which to hold while grating the carrots and prevents fingers from getting too close to the grater.

Instead of sewing snaps on very fine material, sew them to a piece of silk tape and whip the tape along the hem where the snaps are needed. Prevents snaps from cutting through when garment is ironed.

To remove smoke from a room quickly, dip a towel in vinegar and hot water (equal parts) wring out, and whirl it gently over the head about the room.

When hanging clothes to dry hang large items first because smaller ones can be fitted into remaining spaces easily.

When you wash your ironing-board cover, put it back on the board while still damp and fasten securely. When dry, the cover will fit smoothly. This same idea can be applied to slip-covers.

A box of ordinary correspondence cards makes an excellent file for your recipes.

Soldier Paralyzed, Not a Town's Heart

Disabled Veteran Finds Dream House Comes True.

PATERSON, N. J.—His dream house came true for ex-G.I. Johnny Chiefa, disabled veteran of the North African campaign.

It took two years and the combined efforts of townspeople, veterans' and civic organizations and the New Jersey and Paterson building and construction trades.

But now Johnny has an $18,000 five-room brick veneer home, with a two-car garage for himself and his bride free of charge.

The project of building Johnny's dream house started while Johnny was in the Bronx, N. Y., Veterans' hospital being treated for shrapnel wounds which left him paralyzed from the hips down.

The word got around about the G.I., without any family, who was drawing plans for a house he hoped to own some day.

Johnny, 30, was born here, so his hometown got in on the show and joined the promoters who were trying to make the G.I.'s dream come true.

When members of the New Jersey and Paterson Building and Construction Trades council (AFL) decided to donate labor free, Johnny's house began to take shape.

A year ago, Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, drove the first nail into the construction frames for ex-Sgt. Johnny's house.

At special ceremonies, Sal Maso, president of the Construction Trades council, handed Johnny the key to his home, which is partly furnished by gifts from local merchants.

Johnny, who joined the army in 1937, was wounded in April, 1943, in North Africa.

Last June 6, he married the sister of a G.I. buddy, Helen Lezott of Chester, Pa.

Eleven-Pound Germ Bomb Could End United States

NEW YORK.—A biologist disclosed that 11 pounds of diphtheria toxin could wipe out the entire population of the United States.

Furthermore, such a germ bomb might even run second in deadliness to the toxin of botulism, another killer, should another war break out and develop into a bacteriological struggle among men.

The scientist, Dr. Kenneth V. Thimann, professor of plant physiology at Harvard university, said an enemy probably also would attempt to use weed killers, such as 2,4-D to kill off his enemy's food crops.

A third threat, he said, is the possibility that disease might be spread among farm animals. One of the most fatal diseases in cattle is called "Rinderpest," he recalled.

United States Sailors Nab A Gunman in Australia

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA.—Two naval shore patrolmen from the cruiser Atlanta seized and disarmed an Australian gunman after he had fired a half-dozen shots and wounded two persons.

The American sailors—Storekeeper W. S. Riordan of Florida and Radarman A. E. Saunders—were on duty near the Flinders street railway station when the bullets began flying.

John Gilligan, 46, of Melbourne, fell with bullet wounds in his back shoulder and arm. Edward Ellis, 25, who came here recently from Liverpool to make his home, was hit in the leg.

One of the Americans hit the gunman on the head with a club. The other batted the gun out of his hand. They both sat on him until police arrived.

"My, my," said one of the Yanks, "just like Chicago."

Dog Survives as Tormentor Dies in Swirling Flood

DAYTON, OHIO.—Apparently as a prank, Lenville Atkins, 31, threw a stray dog into swirling flood waters below a dam.

As he stood watching the animal frantically trying to swim to safety, Atkins suffered remorse and jumped into the water to save the dog. But he lost his strength in the churning stream and cried for help.

James Taylor, one of three companions, dived in to rescue Atkins. Atkins sank from sight, and the two other men—Calvin Duncan and Thomas Terry—had to pull out Taylor.

The dog swam ashore, several hundred feet downstream, and returned to watch the search for Atkins.

But the man had drowned.

Bolling Eggs
When you plan to boll eggs which have been kept cold, they should be removed from the refrigerator at least half an hour before cooking to take the chill off the eggs. Very cold eggs are more likely to crack when placed in hot water than eggs at room temperature.

Remove Fresh Stain
The fresher the stain, the easier it is to remove. How to remove it depends upon the type of stain, the color and kind of fabric, and washability of the garment. Here are some suggestions: For egg and meat juice stains—scrape excess food off with a dull knife, then soak stain in cold water. Wash in warm suds. Hot water will set the stain if not first treated with cold water.

MARINE CORPS CHANGE RE-ENLISTMENT POLICY

U. S. Marine Corps Headquarters announced today a change of policy whereby former non-commissioned officers of the Marine Corps re-enlisting within a prescribed time may retain their non-commissioned officer status.

Now, former Master Sergeants who reenlist in the Marine Corps within one year after discharge from active duty may be appointed to the rank of Technical Sergeant. Ex-Technical Sergeants who reenlist within 90 days after discharge may be reappointed to the same rank. If reenlistment is contracted within one year they will be appointed to the rank of Staff Sergeant; within two years to the rank of Sergeant.

A new policy was effected for the benefit of those ex-Marines who desire to reenlist but under the old regulations could not return to the Marine Corps as a non-commissioned officer.

For further information stop in at the Marine Corps recruiting office, basement of Post Office, Saginaw, Michigan.

Odoriferous Chemicals

Most unpleasantly odoriferous compounds known are those containing sulfur, scientists say. New uses have been found for one particularly malodorous group of these compounds known as mercaptans, which include the chief constituents found in the defense secretion of the skunk. Some of the mercaptans are mixed with gases in minute amounts to serve as a warning agent if a leak develops in a pipe line or container while others are valuable in the manufacture of organic chemicals having a variety of industrial possibilities.
