Dewey Casts Eye Toward Presidency

New York Governor Stands High in Public Estimation

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON .- Last week we looked at some of the contenders for the Republican presidential nomination. This week it is the New York governor's turn.

More than one person who has tried to talk about or write about Thomas Edmund Dewey has complained of the difficulty of this task. There doesn't seem to be any one place to begin or end. Several simple declarative sentences can be written about the ambitious governor of the State of New York.

For instance, he is ambitious.

Everybody admits that, his friends approvingly, making it a York-seemed to indicate that there sort of copy-book virtue; and Dewey has taken the copy-book to heart, not merely in regard to ambition, in general, but in attempting to justify a specific ambition, one we all heard some time or other in our youth: "every American boy has a chance to be president." Dewey has taken that seriously.

His enemies look upon Dewey's ambition as Brutus looked upon Caesar's.

I'm afraid that wasn't as simple or declarative a sentence as I intended. Let's try this again: Thomas Dewey is not a hail - fellow well-met. (I doubt if anybody will deny that.)

Thomas Dewey once was chosen as one of Amer-ica's 25 best dressed men. I think anybody who has seen him will say that was a justifiable choice.

Baukhage Thomas Dewey is a small man-in stature. (The jokesters have done the best they can with that joke but it's worn by now.) Standing in a small group with Dewey you aren't particularly conscious of his height-or lack of it. When he looks at you he can look hard enough to make you feel that you are almost seeing eye to eye, literally, I mean - not necessarily figuratively.

Tom Dewey is a hard worker; he is 45 and, like Taft, was a good student. When it comes to generalities - Dewey is more difficult to describe.

There is one thing, however, that emerges clearly when one examines Dewey's career. It follows a very definite curve which he undoubtedly plotted a long time ago and which will take the boy from Owosso, Mich., all the way into the White House if he is permitted to follow

Frequently he has had to pause in his upward course but he always manages to start over again where he left off, and continue in the same direction. He lost his first bids for the gubernatorial and presidential nomimight be some concerted effort in the future on the part of the serious contenders. And, of course, there are always the favorite sons whose supporters always hope against hope to get together in a "stop Dewey" effort.

One thing about Dewey, how-ever, is that he appears to be able to build as he goes. That is, up to the present, he has gained in ve-locity without having to reach too far back for his prestige.

Dewey's opponents point to what they call a "blank" rec-ord as governor. The Democrats say that about all he did was to cash in on a number of progressive steps taken by his predecessors clear back to Al Smith. While it is true that he has increased his political stature, moving steadily and steadfastly toward his goal the White House - he has at the same time been accused by his opponents of leaning over backwards to avoid doing or saying anything that might prove an obstacle toward that goal.

This thought was put into concrete form in a recent resolution passed by the New York state Industrial Union council (the official CIO body which represents all the CIO unions of New York) at Saratoga Springs in September, which read: "We accuse Governor Dewey of permitting his personal ambition to take precedence over the best interests of the people of New York."

I don't mean to imply by this that Dewey counts too heavily on the CIO vote. Although he has created a considerable aura of progressivism about himself, some of his backers are very conservative and financially-powerful individuals.

There is one characteristic revealed in Dewey's career which may be forgotten as his record as an executive eclipses his achievement

DREW PEARSON Farm Leader Spurs Food Drive

ALBERT S. GOSS, master of the National Grange, the nation's A biggest farm organization, is a mild-appearing, bespectacled, little man you might mistake for a professor on leave from an Ivy league college.

However, Goss does some unprofessorial slugging on issues that interest him, and although he represents the farmer he also strongly believes in feeding Europe. Calling on President Truman, Goss urged drastic steps to deal with the food crisis.

'This is an emergency, comparable to a wartime emergency," the farm leader told the President. "So we all must pitch in, tighten our belts and treat it as such.

'Until it is over, everybody-business, labor and the farmers-will have to be satisfied with a smaller margin of profit. I am sure you will find the farmers only too willing to do their part."

The grange leader showed Mr. Truman a colored slide of a picture of one week's food rations in the American occupation zone in Germany, taken when Goss was in Frankfort during a European tour last spring. It was enough to cover a good-sized dinner plate, plus a small loaf of bread-a full week's supply for one person.

"That's typical of the countries now asking us for help," explained Goss. "Let me remind you that this picture was taken last spring. The people over there will get even less next spring unless we do something.

Americans Resent Regimentation

THE democratic way is the voluntary way. There is no question about that premise. The American people resent being regimented in peacetime or forced to do anything. During the war they had boys and hus-bands and friends in a fighting war and they stood for some regimentation in the interests of the common good.

But one cannot help but wish that in such an emergency as the present food crisis, when the cooperation of every American is needed to back up the foreign policy of the nation which is waging a war for peace, the President of the United States had some of the wartime powers of which he was stripped by repeal of the war powers act.

A case in point is the sullen reluctance of grain exchange gamblers to post higher margins on future speculations when asked to do so by the President in order to take some of the pressure off higher prices.

nation in 1938 and 1940, respectively, but he tried again for the governorship in 1942, and was carried into office on a landslide that ended 20 years of Democratic control. That carried him along to the next milestone and he became automatic contender for the presidency in 1944. The revolt against the New Deal which put the Republicans back into power in New York wasn't strong enough to overcome the Roosevelt popularity so Dewey had to mark time until the next time-which is now.

However, there is no use leapfrogging the nomination, which is the issue at the moment. There is the usual controversy over the results of Dewey's western trip, which ended in August, but his managers, with confident optimism, announced on his return that his first-ballot strength at the convention would register at least 400 out of the 547 votes needed to nominate him.

Taft Might Hinder

Dewey's Possibilities

However, the results of the more recent Taft journey might mean a double setback for Dewey if what is claimed is correct; namely, that Taft not only strengthened himself but strengthened Republican prospects, generally.

The reason for this is that the men who pull the strings in the Republican party have no great affection for Dewey. If they thought they were due for an easy victory they would be likely to push him aside regardless of his vote-getting ability. In other words, while the insiders want a man who can get the popular vote, they would rather have somebody whom they are entirely sure is their man, even if he isn't as popular - so long as he has edge enough to pull through.

While no formidable "stop Dewey" movement is evident - the fact that Taft tossed Warren of California a whole bowl of roses, took occasion to at least mention Stassenand found no occasion to notice the HAT'S a nice deal that Henry Morgan, radio satirist, made with Screen Plays, Inc. They are producing "So This Is New York" for Enter-prise Studios, and starring Henry-the deal is that he will receive $100,000 and a percentage of the profits for his screen debut. Well, after seeing him on the stage last summer in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," and hearing him, on the air, I think he's worth it, especially if they give him his head. Virginia Grey plays his wife in this dramatization of Ring Lardner's "The Big Town"; she was excellent in the stage production of "Dream Girl."

flocked to see this RKO picture. But -it's the small-town newspaper editors who will know if "Magic Town" is good.

Jack Carson's home in San Fernanda Valley is nearing completion, with a swimming pool, bath house and steam room completed. But why a steam room? Carson's schedule calls for frequent sprints between "April Showers" at Warner Bros. and the "Village Store" at NBC-it seems unlikely that he's going to need any help in keeping his weight down!

Very few British juvenile players have been elevated to stardom-Freddie Bartholomew, Roddy Mc-Dowall, Elizabeth Taylor; not Dowall, many. But if you've seen "Great Expectations" you must have noticed Anthony Wager, who played "Pip," the boy. Edward Small tested him for the role of the boy in "Cagliostro," cabled his London office to sign the boy; now he's headed for Rome, where the picture is being produced. Orson Welles plays the man whom Wager plays as a boy.

AT LAST-A TWO HEADED CALF . . . Marvin Koch and his daughters, Anna and Mary, are shown with the two-headed calf which was born on his farm near Easton, Pa. It is eating well and drinks about five quarts of milk a day, using both of its mouths at different times. The animal has only two ears and a single skull, but it is generously equipped with four eyes, two mouths and two noses.

Shirley Temple defied superstition by removing her wedding ring before each scene of "That Hagen Girl" at Warners'. "Nothing's going to happen to my marriage," she declared, and explained that two hours after her wedding she took the ring from her finger, "just to prove that I had no sympathy with superstitious nonsense."

Frank Papp, NBC producer-director, has returned from a threemonths' tour of Europe for World Church service. He made wire and tape recordings of interviews for a radio series to be produced by the Joint Religious Radio committee and broadcast over 500 stations. A 13-program series, composed of his interviews, will be distributed by the Joint Religious Radio committee.

Bob Hope has a nickname for each of the gang supporting him on his Tuesday night broadcasts. Vera Vague is "Our Gay Gal." And if you hear Bob break up in the middle of a script, it's usually "Our Gay Gal" who made him do it.

Take this for what it's worth-a prediction that two major show changes are expected before next option time; on one, a singer probably will bow out, leaving his show to a comis; on another, the whole program will change networks. *

Mel Torme goes off the air at the end of this month, we hear, unless something happens. . . . Jon Hall and Frances Langford celebrated their ninth wedding anniversary as they always have - at home and alone. . . Janis Carter never smokes in private life, but she has yet to appear in a picture that doesn't require her to do it.

ANYTHING FOR A THRILL . . . Some people will do a lot for publicity. Take this guy, for instance. He probably has a wife and three sweet children waiting for him at home. Chances are his ulcers don't bother him too much. He has a good job. He has, in short, everything to live for, but still he goes skinning around on this vicious looking rock. (It's part of Big Slide mountain in the New York Adirondacks.) Worst of it is, he doesn't even get his name in the papers.

IDENTICAL TWINS, IDENTICAL RECORDS . . . John (left) and Louie Buchholz, identical twins of Defiance, Ohio, ended the senior softball league season in their town with identical batting averages of .385. They were at bat 78 times each, scored 27 runs apiece and got 30 hits each. Louie is catcher and John plays outfield for one of the local teams. With their records, they could qualify to play with Brooklyn.

MR. HOLLAND . . . Mr. Holland himself, Dirk Kloorsterman, 72, sailed to the U.S. to visit his son in Kalamazoo, Mich., whom he had not seen for 29 years. He is a veteran farmer from Walcheren island, Holland.

E pion Farmer H. L. McKinley find costs go down when they use Firestone Champion Ground Grips.

Tests show that Firestone Champion Ground Grips clean up to 100% more effectively, pull up to 62% more, last up to 91% longer, and roll smoother over highways.

The reasons are simple. The curved bars cut deeply into the soil. Mud falls easily and cleanly from the tapered openings between the bars. Because the traction bars are connected, they're stronger, they have more tread rubber to push into the ground and pull. This extra tread rubber also lengthens tire life . . . makes tires roll smoother.

Although judged best by leading farmers everywhere, Firestone Champion Ground Grips cost no more than ordinary tractor tires. Specify the "Champion" when you order your new tractor, or when you buy replacements for your tires. See your nearest Firestone Dealer or Store today.

The McKinleys keep their soil highly fertile by a five-year rotation and the application of 170 tons of fertilizer annually. An extensive steer and hog feeding program turns corn and roughages into cash, and builds additional fertility in the soil. The farm is highly mechanized. All eight tractors roll on Firestone Tires.

We cordially invite every farm owner to ask us for a free demonstration of the famous Universal "Jeep" on his own land. We want you to see for yourself how this versatile vehicle, with both 2- and 4-wheel drive, performs on every kind of farm job-tractor work in the field, hauling and towing around the farm and on the highway, operating equipment with its power take-off. See for yourself how easily the "Jeep" handles-how much more comfortable it is for the driver.

Here's Post-war Power for Pre-war Buicks

A brand-new 1947 Fireball engine puts today's Sparkling Zip into your 1937-1942 Buick

> IF you've been itching to get the thrill of a power-packed 1947 Buick engine under your treadle toe, here's the quick and happy solution.

It's a factory-fresh Fireball engine right off the 1947 production line. It's exactly the same mighty package of power that goes into the flashing new Buicks. You can get it now to repower any Buick built in the last ten years.

How can we do it-when new cars are so hard to get? Here's the answer:

While shortages of bodies and other parts slow up completed cars, Buick engine production has forged ahead. So engines are available now-ready to go into your car and step it up with today's up-to-the-minute power performance.

And it's as simple as this: We take out the old engine-put this new one in its place - and your car's young again, rarin' to go, with a new lease on life and headed for thousands and thousands of miles of smooth, spirited service.

It doesn't take long-far less time than a thorough overhaul - and often at less cost. Convenient payments can be arranged, if you like.

It's the next best thing to getting a new Buick-and a good investment because it makes your car worth so much more.

Certainly well worth while looking into, isn't it? Come in and let's talk it over.

Oil That Lubricates

The ability of an oil to lubricate has little relation to its viscosity, but is rather determined by the chemical structure and composition. If the clearance between moving parts is close and a heavy oil is used. the friction may be great enough to heat the oil and thereby make it thinner; but its lubricating properties are still just as good as before.

UCY AMES could always tell LUCY AMES could drove in by when her husband drove in by the children's uproarious welcome. They were crowding down to the garage now-Bill Junior, Calvin, Cynthia, Paula and Roger, aged 8. Lucy heard their shrill, excited cries and, after a minute, Bill's hearty, roaring laugh. She smiled a little, faintly, as she went to the window and drew the curtain aside.

Why, she wondered, did children always adore their fathers? Perhaps it was because fathers were not home all day, telling them to do this, not to do that. Or because they were something of a novelty, who came home from week trips, with intriguing gifts. Her smile faded as she let the curtain drop.

This father, Lucy reflected with a sigh, was a strange mixture of bluff, good nature, generosity and egotism. Bill was a king in his own home - a fat, rollicking monarch whose reign had never been disputed. And there, Lucy decided, was the trouble.

The children humored him. They purposely indulged his desire to win at whatever games they played, because they seemed to instinctively know how much it meant to him. They fed his vanity, took a delight in keeping his laughter quick and ready. Lucy's face shadowed. She wondered why such a trivial matter as Bill's winning children's games should annoy her. But it did- it had from the first-that day last Summer when she had seen Calvin deliberately throw a handicap tennis match so his father could win. "Dinner ready?"

They streamed in, Bill in the van, the children following. He caught Lucy by the elbows, and raised her for a kiss.

At the table there was a great clatter of crockery, voices. Bill tell-ing about his trip, the children like trained stooges giving him leading questions. Bill Junior, looked down the table at his father.

"How about the family ping-pong and evened the score. Why, Lucy tournament finals, dad? Play them off tonight?"

Lucy saw her husband's nod. "Sure, any time-but we'd better make it tomorrow. I've got a report to write after dinner." He added, amused: "Think you can beat me?" "I've been practicing all week at the 'Y'," young Bill told him. In the dark, long after the others were asleep, Lucy thought about the family tournament. For a long time Bill Junior had wanted a bicycle to cover the rounds he made after school in search of magazine subscriptions. Dreamily, Lucy decided that if he won the tournment-if he beat his father-she would get it for

to have him defeated? It was silly, And yet-

They assembled in the playroom the next night. Calvin made a log fire and Cynthia arranged the chairs. Paula was umpire and, cross-legged, graced the top of the radio table. Her expression was serious as if with the heavy responsibility of her role. Lucy, her arm about Roger, who had been allowed to stay up an extra hour for the momentous struggle, sat on the corner

Later, Lucy went from room to room making sure windows were not open too wide, that blankets were over small, hunched shoulders, doors properly closed. The dark lay thick in the room Bill Junior shared with Calvin. She heard someone move when she went in on quiet feet. "That you, mother?"

She sat down on the edge of the bed. Her son's hand slipped into hers.

"A good game, Bill." She squeezed his fingers before she released them. "Well played. I'm sorry you didn't win. He drew a deep, long breath. "So'm I. Pop's tough. Got to be awful good to take him."

"I suppose so." Her voice was low, flat. "Goodnight, dear.' After she quietly closed the door and her footsteps dwindled down the hall, Bill Junior raised himself on one arm. "Awake, Stinky?"

Lucy wondered why young Bill failed to press his advantage-and then glanced at her husband's grimly set face.

JUST KEEP BUSY

When he started in business for himself, in a field which was over-crowded and harsh, a friend of mine ran into high stone walls of discour-agement. Often he was ready to quit. Why keep on trying? he would ask himself. There didn't seem to be much ahead but failure.

"I would go home night after night perfectly willing to call it quits with life," he told me. "Three situations is your particular problem, the column today is designed to help. The woman who works around the house has a definite luncheon problem, mainly because she needs to balance her diet as well as keep up her energy for household tasks.

Calories are a problem to her whether she is trying to maintain, gain or lose weight. Economy, too, in these days of rising prices, is a problem because she doesn't always care to eat leftovers from the night before, at least, just as leftovers, heated and set on a plate.

For these reasons, I think the answer to the luncheon at home is to have eggs made in one of several interesting ways. And, if just eggs alone aren't appealing enough, use them with vegetables or other foods to make them appetizing.

Eggs are a rich protein food, low in calories, high in nourishment. They can be filling, and they can be tempting provided you experiment with novel ways of serving. First on the list are two interest-times I wondered if it wouldn't be better to end it all.'

His wife advised him to see the family physician, and the physician recommended a psychiatrist. The examination lasted three days, but I can give you the gist of his recom-mendation in three words: "Just keep busy."

The psychiatrist's explanation ran like this: "The end of life is not thought. It is action. We are made for action. That we may move and act we have a marvelous system of muscles, nerves, senses; all de-signed for action, for doing something.

"The mind responds gleefully to the active life, and happiness consists, in the end, of action, action, action. "Happiness depends upon what you do, not upon what you have, not upon what you think-but upon what you do."

I have observed many times that the most interesting personalities are not those of the lounge lizards or the do-nothings. They are the personalities which have been stamped definitely in the forge of action.

The minute this friend of mine began taking the advice literally, he began developing a happy outlook on life, began making good in his business.

I am glad to report that today he is in a thriving way, completely happy and well adjusted to his world. He has made good-because he kept busy. My friend added some facets to

A cripple in the block didn't get out much. He'd take him for a ride. He'd make kites for the kids who lived near by. He'd go on errands for his wife. Anything of action and Pimiento Olive Salad.

(Serves 4) 4 eggs, hard cooked 1/4 cup chopped ripe olives

1/4 cup pimiento, chopped 1/4 cup chopped celery 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

1/2 teaspoon salt Mayonnaise, as desired

Mix chopped olives, pimiento, celery and green pepper. Place in crisp cups of lettuce and serve with eggs, sliced on top. Use with mayonnaise.

Bean and Egg Salad. (Serves 6) 1 can of red kidney beans 4 sweet pickles, chopped 3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced 1/2 cup chopped celery 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion

1 teaspoon salt 3/4 tablespoon mayonnaise Rinse, drain and chill the kidney beans. Add remaining ingredients, mixing thorough-

4 pound cheese, cut into sticks French dressing

LYNN SAYS:

When Using Eggs, Remember These Facts.

Egg whites will beat better when they are warm. Let stand at room temperature for a while if you want them to beat until light and fluffy for meringues or cakes. Scrambled eggs take on new glamour when they are served with cheese added to eggs while cooking; or, if you prefer, chili sauce-4 tablespoons to 6 eggs; or, chopped leftover meat.

Hard-cooked eggs cut in wedges add a satisfying note to salads as well as other easy-to-make luncheon dishes. Don't ignore their value as garnish and nourishment for they are a rich protein source.

> Chinese Poached Eggs. (Serves 6)

- 1 cup rice 2 tablespoons butter Salt and pepper 2 tablespoons flour 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon grated onion 1 tablespoon chopped celery 6 ergs, poached

Cool rice in boiling, salted water. Drain and blanch. Prepare white sauce by melting butter, blending in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk, grated onion and celery. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Arrange hot rice on platter, place eggs on top and cover with sauce. Garnish with paprika and celery.

Shirred Eggs.

Grease individual baking dishes. Break into this an egg and bake in a moderately low (325° to 350°F.) oven for 12 to 18 minutes depending upon firmness desired. Serve from baking dish. Top with bread crumbs or cheese before baking, if desired. Or, layer the dish with chopped chicken, sausages, bacon as well as cooked or mashed vegetables before breaking in eggs, as desired. Released by WNU Features

Eggs are a highly perishable food and deteriorate rapidly at room temperature. They should be refrigerated to keep fresh.

The shell color of eggs varies with the breed of the chicken, but has nothing to do with the flavor, nutritive value or the cooking of the egg itself.

Use leftover egg yolks by simmering them in salted water for 10 minutes and then grating them for garnish on green vegetables, salads or creamed dishes.

• Rub in Ben-Gay around throat and nose, keeping away from eyes. Gently warming Ben-Gay brings fast relief from miseries of head colds. Insist on genuine Ben-Gay, the original Baume Analgésique. Place a rubber jar ring or towel under a chopping bowl when chopping food in it. This will steady the bowl and allow easier handling.

When making bread pudding, use leftover jelly rolls or sweet rolls instead of kread. You'll be pleased to learn that the pudding requires less sugar this way and is tastier.

A convention of the National As-sociation of Broadcasters ("Ten drops of this in your mother's cup and she will trouble us no further !" in session at Atlantic City ("Foch Where did you put the body?") has been stormily going over the whole matter of crime features ("When he crosses the threshold of the library, McGurk, let him have it in the back!") and some improvement is certain. ("We leave Millicent and Fred bound hand and foot, kiddies, in the swamp under the old railroad bridge, with Deadeye and Scarface rushing up with sawed off shotguns. Don't miss tomorrow's installment of 'Murder on the School Bus' tomorrow afternoon at this same hour!")

The NBC network ("As the girl steps around the edge of this cliff, steps around the edge of this cliff, shove her off, get me!") and Niles Trammel, its president, ("Bang! Bang! He's got me, Lucy, my gal!")—Oh, shucks, we can't write this column and listen to the radio, too. Switch it off, please. Thanks.

Steel in Jap Swords

The quality of some Japanese swords is illustrated by an incident that occurred during the fighting in Shanghai in 1932. Armed with a particularly fine specimen, an incensed Jap officer slashed off the barrel and water jacket of a Chinese machine gun with a single stroke.

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infec-tion—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life driving and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pairs, swelling-feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are some-times burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess boly waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recom-mended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!
