Turner Man Victim in Auto Accident

Killed Instantly Sunday Near Whitestone Point

Bernard Petri of Turner was instantly killed Sunday when his car crashed into a truck on U. S 23 between Tawas City and AuGres. Petri was 25 years old and an auto mechanic.

Petri was returning home from East Tawas, when his car traveling southwest struck the left front side of a stake truck, driven by Kenneth F. Bier, of Detroit. Neither Bier nor his companion, Sebastian Maceri, also of Detroit, owner of the truck was injured in the collision. Bier and Maceri were heading north for a load of Christmas trees.

The top of Petri's car was torn off as it struck the steel-trimmed platform of the truck. Petri suffered a crushed skull and other injuries and died instantly in the crash. His body was pinned in the wreckage until a tow car equipped with a crane could be summoned from Tawas City.

Driver of the truck, Bier, told State Troopers Charles Milick and George Burnette, of the East Tawas State Police post that he saw lights of a car approaching around a curve near Whitestone Point and the car appeared to be traveling at a high rate of speed and swerving on the highway. Before being struck by the approaching car, Bier told the officers he pulled his truck off the highway on the right shoulder of the roadway. Pavement was dry along that section of the highway at the time of the accident, officers reported.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the AuGres Methodist church. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Petri, a brother and three sisters.

The Old Philosopher Says:

By Gavin Maxwell

Mayor Curley Pardoned
As a Thanksgiving gift the President of the United States pardoned Mayor Curley of Boston after he had served five months of his sentence for using the mails to defraud. He had been tried before a United States district court and found guilty and was sentenced to serve from six months to a year and a half in a Federal Penitentiary.

We resent statements by foreign governments that our democracy is corrupt yet what must they think when the head of the government pardons a man whom the courts found guilty of fraud!

It is about time that we forget party lines and elect to office statesmen rather than politicians—men who view their actions in terms of their good to the country rather than how many votes will be garnered by a particular line of action.

Another recent action of the Chief Executive that shows him first, last and always a politician is the whitewashing of those involved in the Kansas City vote-fraud.

Chicago had its Al Capone and Missouri had its Pendergast. Pendergast was the sponsor of the present occupant of the White House who moves true to his training in pardoning crooks of the same type these underworld organizations develop.

It is well to "look at the record," as Al Smith so wisely said instead of listening to a speech delivered in a pious voice, written by some paid ghost.

If democracy is to live and we want it to live (some of us have risked our necks in order to preserve democracy as a way of life) we must demystify the searchlight on men in public eye and see if they are the spawn of the underworld or are the men of the stature of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, McKinley, Wilson? We could do with a man of such stature right now—at least one who won't listen to Henry Wallace read a speech that advocates an entirely different policy than Jimmy Byrnes is trying to get accepted by the United Nations and not know that the one point of view contradicts flatly the other.

When told of his error the President fumes Wallace, but after the harm is done.

Is this the best leadership the country can produce? All we need is an awakened Public and little men such as we now have in the White House can go back to selling neckties and hosiery.

Editor's Note—Apparently Gavin is sore!

Tawas City High Win Two Games

Play at Harrisville Tonight (Friday)

Coach Mark Deffibaugh's eagres won their second and third victories over the past couple of weeks when they defeated Whittemore 81 to 15 and won over Hale 54 to 23.

Friday evening's game with Hale marked the Elk's third win of the year with only one black mark on their record, being defeated by AuGres two weeks ago. The team didn't meet too much opposition in either game because of their opponents inexperience, but they did run into some strong team spirit in these two teams which should prove a great benefactor for them in games to come.

Don Geingich, slippery center of the Elks led the way for his team, meshing 36 points in both games, 19 points in the Whittemore game, and 17 in the Hale game. Big Bob Steinhurst was next on the list of point makers with 28. Revard tallied eight points for the Whittemore aggregation, while Johnson dropped in seven tallies for Hale. The fact that all but one member of this year's squad is six foot tall should mean quite an advantage over other teams in this area.

Not to be outdone by their "bigger brother," which is true in two instances on this year's reserve team, they beat Whittemore 50 to 16 and dropped Hale 21 to 13. The reserves, in their usual rough and tumble type of playing, knocked off the "Halesites" in the fourth quarter, after trailing by one point up to that point. Marv Geingich led his team with 19 points for the two games, 10 in the Whittemore game and nine in the Hale fracas. Wally Erickson led in the Whittemore game with 12 points.

Whittemore game—
Reserves: Hill, Phillips, Lansky, six points. Bronson, McGuire, four points. Myles two points. Nichols led Whittemore with eight tallies.

Hale game—
Reserves: M. Geingich nine, Del Myles six, Hill four, McGuire two. Wilson sank five points for Hale.

The team will journey to Harrisville Friday and will play at East Tawas on Tuesday evening.

Plainfield Pioneer Dies Last Sunday

Funeral for William Reilly Held at Hale Tuesday Afternoon

William Reilly, pioneer Plainfield township resident, died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jess Shellenbarger at Londo Lake. Advanced age was the cause of death. He had been in poor health for some time.

Mr. Reilly was born March 29, 1818, in Monreal, Canada. He was married in 1844 at Tawas City to Miss Sarah Rowena Strong. He had resided at Londo Lake for the past 56 years. Mrs. Reilly preceded him in death in 1910.

Christmas Seal Sales $117.55

"Although the returns from the 1947 tuberculosis Christmas Seals to date represent generous contributions on the part of many Michigan citizens, they are still far from enough to do the job that needs to be done," said Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in an interview today. Mr. Werle reported that returns in Iosco County totaled $117.55 as of December 3.

"The Patient Services program of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and State Vocational Rehabilitation, whereby tuberculosis patients in sanatoriums are given an opportunity for job guidance in sanatorium activities, social service and vocational training is especially in need of funds for 1948," declared Werle. "This program is being offered in limited form at the present time," he explained, "and is in effect in 14 of the state's 18 tax-supported sanatoriums. Every tuberculosis patient in every sanatorium should have the facilities offered by this important adjustment and re-orientation program."

"Tuberculosis Christmas seal money and tax dollar, through concentrated effort, have blocked most of this TB increase in Michigan," he asserted, "and whether or not we will be able to give the measures of protection in 1948 depends on the amount of money raised in this year's sale of TB seals." "Join now in the fight against tuberculosis," he concluded, "return your contribution for the seals if you have not already done so."

Emergency Housing Aid Urged

BIG, burly Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin has suddenly got religion. He has revised his ideas on housing. While most congressional committees were diagnosing Europe's needs, one group, dominated by McCarthy, stayed at home to delve into America's No. 1 problem—the housing shortage. Their findings will jolt some of the arch-conservatives who were in a hurry to turn wartime economy back to private enterprise.

Without mincing words the joint committee on housing will report to congress that the housing problem has proved too big for private enterprise alone.

- Basic causes for the housing shortage, the committee found, are:
1. The population jumped 13 million during the war, and while the population increased, war priorities kept homebuilding almost at a standstill.
 2. The real estate trade is not building for the rental market—where the most critical need exists—but in order to sell. Yet the average renter has more money to spend, and is bidding for more space.
 3. Construction costs are high, caused by shortages of materials and skilled labor. The chief bottlenecks are cast-iron soil pipe, nails and lumber.

Farm Blocs Wait at Trough

THE Marshall plan for stop-gap aid to Europe, which seems certain of passage in some form in the special session, calls for peak production of almost all agricultural crops. So the farm commodity blocs are mobilizing; as a matter of fact, they began work before the special session convened, to get a finger in the pie. There's a lot of money to be spent of this interim aid to Europe and, despite the fact that the administration is definitely opposed to earmarking any funds for special items in the legislation itself, the pressure groups are at the trough waiting.

For instance, the cotton boys want promises of enough money for possibly a million and a half bales of this year's crop and, if tobacco can be classified as essential aid, the tobacco boys want to be in on the take. Big pressure is on to include canned goods in the aid program. There are the big wheat growers, like the Montana man who is holding 600,000 bushels for a higher price. Soybean, peanut and cotton seed oils and many other specific blocs are trying to get airtight promises for big money for their groups.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

It Depends on Who Says It

IN THE general public discussion of Communists in the movie industry, someone made the mistake of proposing the repeal of one of the laws of nature. This patriot recalled movies in which the American banker had been portrayed as a bleak and bloodless rascal who celebrated Christmas by turning the widow and her little brood out into the snow. This was held to be a wicked slander on a noble school of Americans, intended to undermine confidence in the holy edifice of liberty.

Actually, this is just a familiar working of the fatal attraction of the plug hat for the snowball. The same theme, written and acted by men and women of respectable motives, has been applauded for generations.

Horatio Alger was no seditionist but, in Jed the Poor-House Boy and many repetitions of the same artless tale, he made the banker so downright mean that you were likely to lay down the book and hiss.

We take some things from some people without a blink. When others say them, we get red-necked. And it isn't so much the things themselves that we resent as the nasty way some people say them. If a fellow American remarks that we certainly did give the Indians an awful deal, we shrug and wish it were not so. But if a captured Nazi on trial before Americans should say that we set Hitler the example of conquest, repudiation of treaties and genocide—the new gullah for extermination of a race—we want to hang him for impudence and are glad of a more plausible excuse.

WRIGHT PATTERSON

Union Tactics Slow Housing

A G.I. or any other worthy citizen is entitled to the opportunity of buying a home for his family. The vast majority cannot pay $10,000 and up for a house which could have been bought in prewar days for some $3,000. If he attempts to pay today's price he knows he will lose; will not be able to pay out. A very considerable part of that difference in price is occasioned by the feather-bedding, the slowdowns and the petty jurisdictional rules of the building trades unions. The people generally are awakening to the fact that the selfish attitude of union labor is causing thousands of families to live in inadequate housing.

Tariffs Have Their Ups and Downs

Geneva Trade Agreements To Affect World Commerce

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Recently there have been rumblings from congress reminiscent of the old Smoot-Hawley days. It was the warning from Senator Milliken (Rep., Colo.) and Representative Knutsen (Rep., Minn.) that the reciprocal trade agreements act would have a lot of strings attached to it when it comes up for renewal next year.

If that means that tariffs are raised again, history will be repeating itself.

As the amusing illustration in this column reveals, the gentlemen have been busy building up and tearing down the tariff wall ever since 1913. What will the next section of the wall—built after 1940—look like?

Baukhage

The reciprocal trade agreements drawn up at the recent Geneva conference which resulted in a number of slashes in important duties and inspired the Knutsen and Milliken statements brought forth an even louder blast from the American Tariff League.

At the present writing, however, there does not appear to be anywhere near the strength of sentiment in favor of building up the tariff wall that there was when the Smoot-Hawley act raised it to an all-time high (47 per cent) in 1930.

From the time of the Civil war the tariff wall had grown almost every time congress acted.

Then came Woodrow Wilson who demanded that the country be set free from conditions he thought "made monopoly not only possible, but easy and natural." The Underwood law which brought the import duties down from 37 per cent to 27 per cent, was his answer. Under Harding they went up about 35 per cent, reaching an all-time high under Hoover.

It has been an exciting contest. Although Cordell Hull as secretary of state managed, with Roosevelt prestige, to pull them down again, they were still 1 per cent higher than the Fordney-McCumber act raised them under Harding. Under the agreements negotiated by Secretary Hull, our exports increased, but foreign competition for various reasons did not take advantage of the situation to any great extent. There was no avalanche of "cheap foreign goods" to contend with.

The Democrats in the pre-Wilson era always were banging away on this issue and there were many colorful debates. The low tariff advocates had to resort to all sorts of means to get a hearing because they were backed by no special interests. Their "client" was the vague and anonymous American consumer.

The high-tariff pleaders were able to present their cases armed with the best legal talent available, whole libraries of statistics and a thorough knowledge of the particular industries they represented. And they had another great advantage in the number and geographically diverse industries fighting for protection for their particular product.

Enough special interests needed enough help from other special interests so that log rolling was easy—there was usually a majority for everybody's gismo. That is why the only practical way trade agreements can be reached at all is to have them negotiated like any other international agreement, through the state department, which has no regional strings to tie it down.

Right now the consumer is being heard from in no uncertain terms, and any argument for lower prices wins a hearing.

That is evidenced by the speed with which congress tackled the anti-inflation suggestions presented both by the President in his message of November 17 calling for a 10-point program and those offered by Senator Flanders of Vermont and other Republicans.

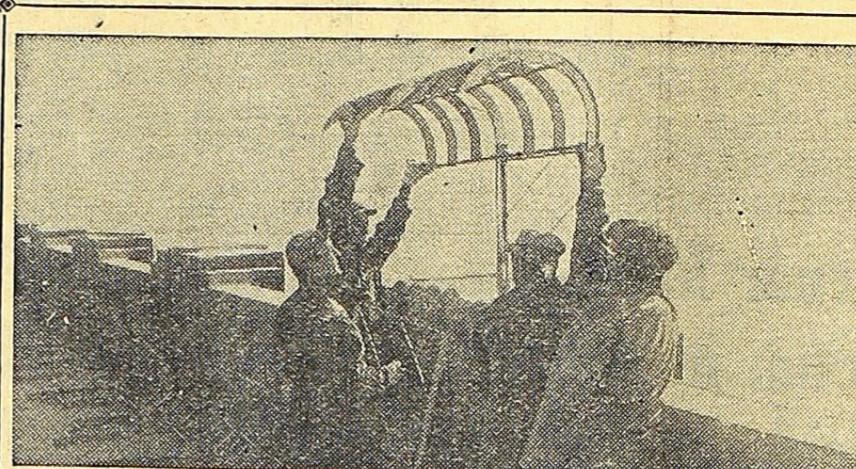

Despite considerable influential opposition, the Democrats took for granted that at least four out of the President's ten points had a good chance to be adopted. In fact one, authority to ration certain foods, already had been suggested—by a Republican—Senator Flanders.

None of these points involves tariff cuts, however, and those cuts already made under the Geneva agreement are still largely academic because most foreign countries aren't in a position now to produce for export to any great extent.

Next session we can expect them to be debated.

So far there have been almost as many complaints from supporters of the reciprocal trade agreements act as from its opponents. Its most enthusiastic backers charged that it had not been pushed hard enough, that the state department had not used all of the power which it had for fear of arousing the animosity which would cause its repeal.

At present, those favoring a freer flow of trade are in a better position to urge their cause because it is evident that we cannot continue to give

Laborites Keep Power; Ask Oil, Coal Ration

LABOR TEST: Clean Slate

In Great Britain the Labor party had been worried over the outcome of the by-election in the southern town of Gravesend.

Richard Acland, a rich baronet, was carrying the Labor party's banner against Frank Taylor, an ex-furnace stoker, the Conservative candidate. A seat in parliament was not the only thing at stake. The election was of major importance as a test of strength between the two parties.

It was a hard fought battle, and Acland, the Laborite, was elected to Parliament by a majority of 1,675 votes—a clear cut defeat for the Conservatives. The British people, the Labor party announced, retained their confidence in their government.

Nevertheless, the 1,675-vote margin of victory was considerably smaller than the 7,056-vote Labor party margin that had been piled up in the same district in 1945. Labor was still in the driver's seat, but clearly had lost something of its original strength. However, the party had kept its slate clean; it had not lost a single by-election since it first was swept into power.

Perhaps one reason for the Labor party's continued popularity was that, despite all else, it was doing a good job of distributing equally what food and other goods were available in Britain. The food rations of the poorer people were approximately the same as those of the rich, and that fact continued to carry a lot of weight with the mass of voters.

OIL RATION: Anti-Inflation

When President Truman, in his celebrated "10 points against inflation" address to congress, asked for limited authority to impose ration and price controls on basic commodities, it was taken for granted that they were food commodities alone.

First indication that this might not be a correct interpretation of Mr. Truman's proposal came when the department of interior asked congress for power to fix price controls and rationing on coal and oil as part of the anti-inflation program.

Oscar L. Chapman, undersecretary of the interior, told the house banking and currency committee that grave shortages and price advances were threatened in the two basic fuels.

There was no way of telling, he said, whether such controls actually would have to be imposed, but he insisted that the government should have authority to do so, just in case.

It is not probable that congress will give the government power to control oil and coal, but the incident serves to reflect the current point of view of the administration that a return to wartime rationing and price controls is the quickest and most effective way to buck inflation.

President Truman disclosed the policy first in his speech at the opening of the special session of congress. The interior department's request for control of coal and oil probably was a planned follow-up.

POSTMASTER: Hannegan Out

Robert E. Hannegan has eased himself out of the public political eye.

Little more than a month after he had quit his job as Democratic national chairman—because of ill health—he turned in his resignation as postmaster general.

To replace Hannegan as head of the nation's post office, President Truman named 62-year-old Jesse M. Donaldson, first assistant postmaster general, who has had 42 years in the postal service. It was the first time a president ever had dipped into the ranks of postal "career men" to fill the top job in the department.

Donaldson is one of the men who came up the hard way. His career with the service began with his appointment as a city letter carrier in Shelbyville, Ill., in 1908.

Hannegan, meanwhile, had no intentions of going into retirement. He has purchased a substantial interest in the St. Louis Cardinals.

WORKIN' ON THE RAILROAD

Car Shortage Passes Peak

About the only good thing that can be said concerning the railroad freight car shortage is that the worst is probably over, but the present inadequacy will hang on for a long time.

Despite investigations, programs and promises for several years, there are actually about 41,000 fewer freight cars now than there were at the end of the war.

Attempts to place the blame for the situation seem to be futile. American railroads have had 100,000 cars on order for some time. Car builders have declared that steel was not available. A program formulated in February of this year called for an output of 7,000 new cars monthly by June and 10,000 by September.

The quota was not met; and, although the steel industry says that it has supplied the necessary steel, car builders contend that the shortage still has not been completely cured.

There was one sign, however, that might indicate a turning of the tide. In September the railroads reported 7,182 new installations, which was 668 more cars than were retired during that month. Small as it was, it was the first net gain in 25 months.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the office of defense transportation, said he is proceeding under a White House directive to obtain a rate of 15,000 cars monthly by July, 1948, almost double the present output. He said he had commitments from the Iron and Steel institute for a 22 per cent increase in steel allotments for new car production.

The car shortage has slowed down the country's economy. At the peak of loadings in October the average daily shortage was 39,430 cars. Currently it is about 33,000.

Despite these shortages, the railroads are handling more carloads of revenue freight than they have since August, 1930, when the number of available cars was 500,000 greater than now.

THE FLOWER SHOW 'FIX'

The "fix" has turned up in the strangest of events, a flower show. In London the other day book-makers, driven out of sports, took bets on flower show entries and "doped" a chrysanthemum exhibit.

The exhibitor was one of the top chrysanthemum men of England and had a flower that was the public choice, so to speak. The crooks crept into his hothouse in the night and poisoned the blooms that were to go to the post. It just goes to show what a dishonest world we are living in.

Elmer Twitchell, the well known horticulturist, came out today with a warning that the flower "fix" is not limited to the British isles. "I had a tea rose entered in an American flower show," he declared. "On past performances, it couldn't miss first money. It wilted as soon as the gate was sprung. The dopers had been at work."

"Then there was the case of the hopped up petunia," Twitchell went on. "It was known as the Regal Queen Petunia, and never had been defeated. It was such a standout that all but two other petunia owners scratched their entries. The price was knocked down to two to five and, when the bugle blew, Regal Queen was found too droopy to compete!"

Elmer insists that he knows of one case where at a big flower show in this country, an entire garden exhibit was given a mickey finn. At 11 p. m. on the night before the judgments, the garden was in perfect shape and an easy winner. At 8 the next morning not a crocus could lift its head and the gladioli were out on their feet.

The price of Scotch and Canadian whiskey will be cut 30 cents a bottle under the new tariff changes. "You may be sure this whole saving will be passed on to the public," said H. T. Lourie, vice president of the National Association of Beverage Importers. —News Item.

He is a man who will rebuild the world even if he has to kill off the NEXT to the last survivor.

A tree all dressed up with Christmas decorations was the main feature of a party given the sick child when physicians said they feared Peggy would be blind by Christmas. 'Real Santa Claus' Answers Final Call Thousands of children will miss their "real Santa Claus" this year. During the past 12 years he has handled four and a half million of their letters and packages. He cannot be with them this year. He has answered his Master's call.

Last April, death claimed Oscar L. Phillips, postmaster of Santa Claus, Ind. He was very real to the children of America. He answered their letters and saw that their requests were complied with. He had the local American Legion as his helpers.

But the children of America will not be neglected this year. Walter Van Winkle, a friendly man who worked with Santa Phillips, has taken over as "acting chief Santa Claus of Santa Claus, Ind." Santa Van Winkle and his many helpers started work in October, working 20 hours a day, day after day, in order that good little boys and girls would be happy, even though their Santa of former years has been promoted to a more important duty.

Silent Night!
Holy Night!

More than a hundred years ago, Father Josef Mohr, pastor of the little Church of Arnsdorf in Austria, was returning home late the night before Christmas Eve. He loitered for a moment on a hill overlooking his home village.

It was a beautiful starlit night, and he was impressed with the exquisite stillness that covered the scene below him. His peaceful reflections brought to mind the silent holy night when Christ was born in Bethlehem. Inspired, he wrote "Silent Night—Holy Night." Impressed with the beauty of the poem, his friend, Franz Gruber, put it to music and on Christmas Eve, while Franz played, Father Mohr sang "Silent Night" to his congregation.

From that night on, the beautiful strains of "Silent Night" have filled the air throughout the world at Christmastide.

In some southern communities firecrackers and other fireworks are used at Christmas time. Firecrackers had their origin in the Orient, probably in China. Hale News

Mrs. William Kulling is home after a three weeks visit in Detroit. Elaine Bowers and Donna Slosser, Bay City, spent the week-end at their homes here.

Roy Sabin had the misfortune of having a bone fractured in his foot. A horse slipped and fell on his foot, causing the injury.

Mr. and Mrs. McCellan moved to the Joe Barnes home north of Hale.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinks, Mrs. Andy Fike and Carol went to Detroit Tuesday night.

Miss Velma Dillenteck went to Bay City Sunday and returned on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Johnson went to St. Louis, Mo., recently. Mr. Johnson returned home after a short visit, but Mrs. Johnson remained for a few days' visit. Little Marilyn came home with her and will stay with her grandmother for a few weeks.

Mrs. Irene Shellenbarger and Mrs. Flora Slosser entertained at a Stanley Brush bundle party Tuesday evening at the Dorcas rooms. About ten o'clock the lights went out but Mrs. Johnson found some candles and they had a candlelight party. Lots of fun was created by the bundle costumes with prizes going to Mrs. Robert Buck, Mrs. Edith Nunn and Mrs. Slosser.

Mr. and Mrs. Elinor Keith, Louisville, Kentucky, came to attend the funeral Tuesday of Mrs. Keith's father, William Reilly.

The William Sellers sale was well attended Saturday. A farewell party was given for Mr. and Mrs. Sellers at the Reno town hall on Monday night. They expect to leave soon for Arizona, where they are going on account of Mr. Seller's poor health. We join in wishing them a safe journey, and their many friends regret their having to leave.

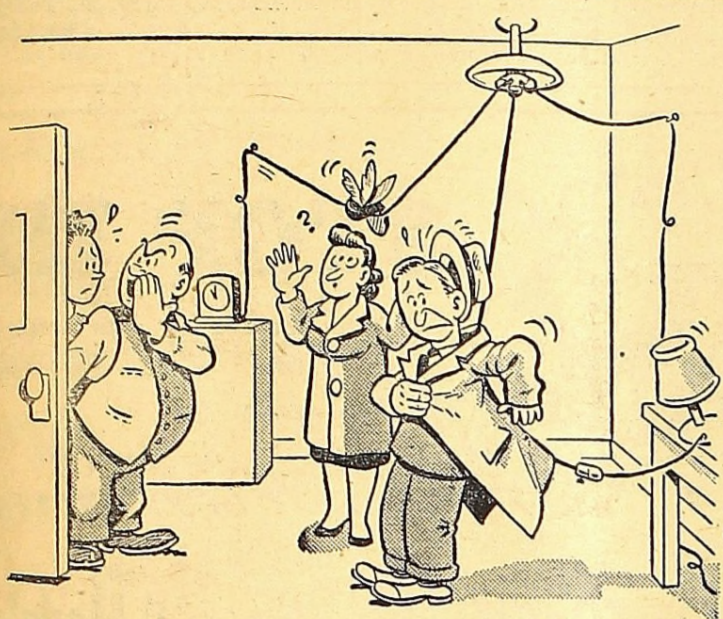

Mr. and Mrs. Glenwood Streeter, Dorothy, Mrs. Emil Wagner and Mrs. Lillie Humphrey spent Tuesday in Bay City.

Mr. and Mrs. Duell Pearsall gave a dinner on Wednesday night honoring Ross Shellenbarger and his bride to be.

Mrs. Stanley Bielby gave a shower Saturday night at the North hall for Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Scofield. They received many useful and pretty gifts.

A horse falling on the ice Saturday night in front of Glenwood Streeter's home caused a lot of commotion at that end of town. About four hours later the animal had to be shot.

Mrs. Joe Peters has taken a room at Gardner's for the winter.

Alms Giving Custom A Christmas Charity

Giving alms at Christmas originated in the belief that the Christ came sometimes to the door disguised as a beggar during the holiday season, and it was feared that he might be turned away unrecognized. There is an old legend that tells of the Christ child going from door to door on Christmas Eve in search of those who were kind, and deserving. His test was to plead for aid and often he was turned away from the door. This story led to alms giving on Christmas Eve and it was rare that a beggar was refused.

You demand It

The Nation must have It

What is IT?

"adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation"

FROM THE OFFICIAL REPORT of the Interstate Commerce Commission on awarding a temporary freight rate increase of 10%, we quote:

"The law requires us to give due consideration, among other factors, to the need of revenue sufficient to enable the carriers under honest, economic, and efficient management to provide adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation..."

A moment's thought should convince any fair-minded person that keeping the American railroads healthy is to everybody's advantage.

Every family, every businessman, even the Nation itself is in danger when this vital artery of American life is weakened.

And that threat is real, and it is now. For with increases in the cost of railroad operation piling up one atop another, how can the railroads' multimillion dollar program for desperately needed new equipment be continued? How can improvements in roadbeds, yards, stations, rolling stock, which took a merciless beating in the war years of peak traffic, be carried through?

They can't... UNLESS—

Unless the railroads are granted freight rates adequate to meet the wage and materials cost increases, and at the same time keep hundreds of American industries busy with new machinery and equipment orders.

Government requires that the railroads maintain a high standard of efficiency because You demand it, Industry depends on it, and the Nation must have it.

We are asking a permanent freight rate increase of the absolute minimum to meet our need—which is in every sense your need.

Our request should be granted.

Right up in the FOUR-FRONT

SCATTERED across this nation are some of the cagiest automobile buyers the world ever saw.

They cut their eyeteeth on a steering wheel, so to speak—they know car values from A to Izzard—and you have to be plenty good to step ahead of your price class in the volume of your sales to them.

That's why it's startling—sometimes even to us—to see the double-barreled story of public preference that's written in the sales records and registration figures:

ITEM: Only three cars outsell Buick—and all of these are in the so-called "low-price field."

ITEM: In some localities—and quite often in polls that ask "Which car will you buy next?"—Buick ranks not fourth, but third, actually ahead of one of the lowest-priced three.

Naturally, the smart buyer will ask "How come?"

Well, the most standout style of the season, the style that's the clearest forecast of wonderful things to be, undoubtedly has much to do with it.

But that isn't all. The dollar is still a pretty important measuring stick.

So we don't think Buick could be where it is if it didn't offer a bigger dollar's worth—bigger in size and substance, in lift and life, in soft ride and easy handling, bigger in the all-round happiness you'll get out of your buy.

Which suggests, of course:

Why go against the solid judgment of your fellow men? Why not see your Buick dealer now—with or without a car to trade—and place the order that will put you where you belong, right up in the four-front?

Army-trained men get more out of college says E. R. Silvers, Dean of Men, Rutgers University

This long-experienced educator advises young men to take advantage of the training opportunities in the Army and Air Force before entering college. Here's what his new book, Son of Tomorrow, says:

Recent high school graduates are handicapped

"The tempo of scholastic life has quickened and most of our recent high school graduates find the pace too fast for them... They become followers, with little opportunity of developing the qualities of leadership which a college should give."

Army experience enables student to go ahead faster

"The average seventeen and eighteen-year-old now planning to attend college would get much more out of college and contribute much more to it, if he first gave himself a chance to broaden his experience by going into service for at least eighteen months."

Kohlrabi is a curious vegetable. It is an above-ground turnip with leaves that sprout out like the scales of a fish. This time it's Hudson the car they said was years away!

This is your day! Set the time; see the car you've been told was years away!

A style-setting beauty, with a sparkling and massive front grille. A car that is only five feet high, and with the lowest center of gravity you've ever known, but with a new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame that gives you more inside head room than any other car built today.

A car with the roomiest seats ever built into any American-made automobile.

A car you step down into when entering, not up on — yet a car that maintains road clearance! A car that cradles you not only between axles, but ahead of the rear wheels.

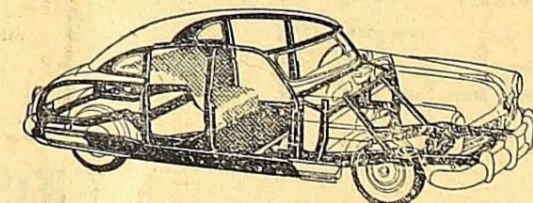

All of this is made possible by a basic new development in motor car design—Hudson's

Monobilt body-and-frame, shown in phantom view and described to the right.

The Hudson dealers listed here are ready with information about Hudson's all-new Super-Six engine — the most powerful six built today — and Hudson's masterful Super-Eight. They will tell you about Hudson's exclusive Drive-Master — no clutch pushing, no gear shifting in forward speeds.

See Hudson's gorgeously upholstered interiors, with chrome handles and hardware recessed into side panels, out of the way. Examine all of Hudson's new beauty, comfort and convenience features, including a new type of low-pressure, Super-Cushion tire that mounts on a new, wide safety rim. See how Hudson's wide, curved windshield and rear window give added vision all around.

Get a good look at this new kind of car — a type of automobile no one else in the world is prepared to build today! It's something to see — the nearest Hudson dealer will show it to you now!

A CAR YOU RIDE IN . . . NOT ON!

Hudson is the only motor car that completely encircles you, even outside the rear wheels, with a rigid box-steel foundation frame. You ride within this new construction, instead of on top of it as in other cars. And every unit of Hudson's new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame is welded into one solid structure that provides unusual rigidity and stability.

THE FICTION CORNER
LOVE TAKES A HAND
 By ROBERT McBLAIR

SAVAGELY, old Adam Courtney twisted his cigar-yellowed moustache. From the parlor sofa, the muffled sobs of Diana, his shapely and lovely young daughter, expressed an unshakable defiance. He glared at her with all the anger a deep love would permit.

"I AM going to marry Jim Bailey," she chanted monotonously. "I don't care if he HASN'T got the money he ought to have to start in business. I don't care if he HAS only three thousand instead of six." The slender legs kicked hysterically. A slipper flew across the room. "I LOVE him, doggone him! I LOVE him!"

Grimly, Adam Courtney went for his hat and his heavy cane. Grimly he left the house. He knew where to find Jim Bailey. Barred from calling on Diana, he would be waiting at the club—the big social and athletic club—for her to join him for the dance tonight.

In the old days on the West Coast, he thought angrily, a matter such as this might have been settled with a 45. Now business and money and convention had overtaken him—after his marriage, late in life. Diana was all he had, since the young wife he adored had died in childhood. Ever since that day, his only child had been his only interest, taking the place of her mother before her. Never before this had she defied him, turned from his love to the love of someone else. As things stood tonight, however, he had lost her—unless somehow he could hold her back.

Surely this called for desperate measures. As he stalked into the club, he spied the ruddy, muscular young object of his quest. In the black and white of dinner clothes, Jim Bailey sat watching a game in the busy card room. Jim rose, and the table fell silent, as the grim old man came up.

"Jim Bailey," Adam Courtney thundered, "are you man enough to take a gamble?"

Jim Bailey simply stared. "I understand you have three thousand in the savings bank," old Courtney said. "I'll put up two dollars to every one of yours. Give you two to one on every bet. Six thousand to three thousand, table stakes. If you lose—you will agree to leave my daughter alone."

"And what if I win?" asked Jim Bailey.

"Win?" Adam Courtney's bony face paled. "Win—you marry her, sir, of course."

Jim Bailey hesitated, and the whole room stopped breathing. Everybody understood the struggle that had been going on between him and Diana, on the one hand, and Diana's father on the other. Under ordinary circumstances, no one would expect him to agree to risk losing his money and his hope of future happiness on the turn of a card. But suddenly it had dawned on everybody that this situation was not ordinary.

Only two weeks before, the old man had camed a newspaper editor who had intimated that Adam Courtney, in the old days on the Coast, had been a professional gambler. No one believed a word of the accusation. But now, to refuse publicly to play would tell the world who believed what the editor had written, and were afraid of being rooked.

Jim Bailey wet his lips. "Do you want to play with chips, sir, or cash?—but even money!"

Would Jim Bailey put up his whole

looked at his cards. Without hesitation, he pushed an equal amount forward.

Then each drew cards. Jim Bailey held up three cards and drew two. Adam Courtney asked for but one. The old man looked at the card. Quickly he pushed forward his whole remaining pile.

The spectators glanced at one another. Some thought they had glimpsed the two hands. To start with, as they afterward explained, Jim Bailey had held three aces, Adam Courtney three kings. On the draw it seemed that Jim, with three aces pat, had caught two queens. Thus he had the highest possible full-house on this deal. But the old man had caught another king, and held four—the winning hand.

Would Jim Bailey put up his whole

The money in Jim's hand told her the rest. She ran to her father. The grim old man ignored her.

"Cash!" said Adam Courtney grimly.

Next evening, each bearing his stake of three thousand dollars, they took their seats in the card room.

"Draw poker," announced Adam Courtney, tearing open the pack. "Table stakes. And," he leaned across the table and looked Jim Bailey in the eye, "a gentleman's agreement!"

"Okay," Jim Bailey said. "Will you cut, sir?"

Open gambling was not permitted in the club. But what employee would dare stop this? Like wildfire the news spread. Members hurried in just in time to see the old man lose five hundred dollars on a full house, against Jim Bailey's four tens.

At first, luck seemed to favor Jim Bailey. But presently the calm, grim old man began to win.

Then the old man lost three large bets. The stacks of money stood about even again—each three thousand dollars.

Jim Bailey dealt. Adam Courtney looked at his cards. He counted out five hundred dollars. Jim Bailey pile and call the old man's bet? If he did, the game was over. He would lose his money, and Diana, too.

Jim Bailey's hand shook as he rifled his remaining pile. Since the old man hardly had held four-of-a-kind to start with, and had drawn but one card, the odds were forty to one against his now having four-of-a-kind or better. Suddenly, his face no longer ruddy, Jim Bailey pushed his whole pile forward.

"I call, sir," he said. He spread out his hand. "I've got a full-house—aces over queens."

Then occurred one of those disturbing interruptions which explain the new screens at the card room door. There was a cry and a commotion, and Diana, Adam Courtney's daughter, appeared in the doorway, staring in at the players.

She was dressed to go to the dance. Her hair was arranged in the style of twenty years ago. In a white satin dress which had belonged to her mother, she looked (as an elderly member said) the spitting image of Adam Courtney's dead wife.

Old Adam Courtney glanced up, stared, as at a ghost. Heaven only knows what memory—perhaps of his and his wife's glowing early happiness—passed through his mind. He drew a deep, slow breath. His cane dropped and clattered. His white head disappeared beneath the table as he retrieved the cane from the floor.

This distraction lasted but a moment. Then Adam Courtney sat up and faced Jim Bailey. Leaning awkwardly forward, his left hand heavy on the table, the old man turned his own cards up, one by one.

THE KING OF DIAMONDS. "One!" the crowd breathed. THE KING OF HEARTS. "Two!" the crowd whispered. THE KING OF CLUBS. "Three!" the crowd murmured. Then he turned—THE QUEEN OF DIAMONDS.

It was his last card. Not only had he failed to catch the king of spades on the draw, apparently he had drawn but one card, when he should have drawn two. He held only four cards, a worthless hand.

The grim old man had lost! Jim Bailey had won, not only the old man's three thousand, but his daughter.

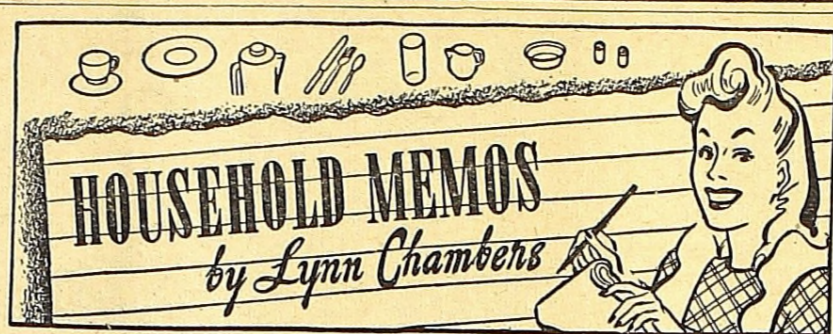

Jim Bailey gathered in all the money. He stood up, holding it in his hand. Everyone watched Adam Courtney's daughter as Jim Bailey crossed to where she stood framed in the doorway.

She touched Jim's arm—and hesitated. Of course she had been told what was up. The money in Jim's hand told her the rest. She ran to her father. The grim old man ignored her. She put her arm around him and kissed him full on the yellow stain in his white moustache. He still ignored her. She turned and ran back to Jim.

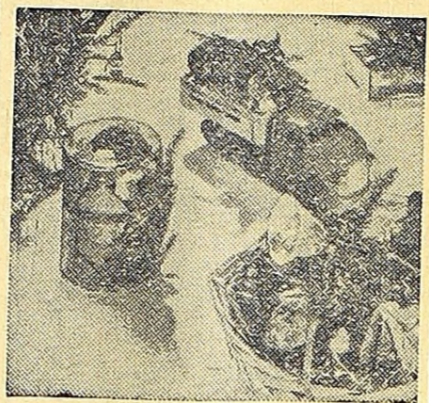

Hand in hand, the two young people left the club. Their motor roared away, seemingly with a triumphant note that spoke of money enough for a business, and for marriage, and independence.

Old Adam Courtney sat staring at his bony left hand flat on the table. For a moment his shoulders seemed to sag. Then he straightened, and tilted a quizzical, twinkling look up at the circle of staring faces.

"I knew what she was wishing," he said. "I'm an old fool, I expect." He lifted his left hand. There beneath it, face up on the table, lay the missing king of spades.

Make Extra Gifts By Baking Goodies In Home Kitchens

Cookies make a wonderful holiday gift! Wrapped as glamorously as these, they'll solve many a last-minute gift dilemma. Set a box under the tree as an extra gift, or take a box of them to your neighbor.

These are extra-wonderful days in the kitchen, for there's a hustle and bustle of activity, warmth and cheer, mysterious smells of something good and the swish of gay and cheery wrapping paper and ribbons.

Yes, we're getting ready for Christmas. But it's not just the holiday feast we're preparing for, since kitchens also may be put to work to make those wonderful home-made presents every home-maker appreciates so much.

Of particular interest are cookies and candies. You'll want to make some of your own for the holidays, so why not whip together an extra batch and give some to neighbors and friends? There's no better way of expressing warmth and cheer than something made by deft hands and a heart-load of good wishes.

Here's a taste-tempting cookie you'll want to include in your cookie collection:

Henrecies. (Makes 2½ dozen 2-inch cookies)

- ½ cup butter or substitute
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups cake flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 cup ground nut meats
- ½ cup whole bran

Blend butter and sugar; add beaten egg yolks and flavoring. Sift flour, baking powder; add nut meats. Combine with first mixture. Chill. Form dough into egg-shaped balls. Roll in whole bran which has been crushed slightly. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot (400 degree) oven for 10 minutes. Note: Whole bran may be added to the cookie dough instead of rolling cookies in whole bran.

Chocolate Drops. (Makes 2½ dozen 2-inch cookies)

- ¾ cup butter or substitute
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1½ squares chocolate
- 3 tablespoons water
- ¼ cup sour milk
- 1 cup whole bran
- 1 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup chopped nut meats

Cream butter and sugar, add egg, melted chocolate and water. Beat well, then add sour milk and whole bran. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and salt and add to first mixture with the nut meats. Drop from teaspoon onto a greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven for 15 minutes.

Date Favorites.

- ¾ cup butter or substitute
- 1½ cups sugar
- ½ teaspoon soda
- 2 tablespoons water

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A hammer and screw-driver will find many uses in the kitchen. Keep these tools in a drawer along with the usual kitchen implements.

Try waxing painted surfaces where finger marks usually appear. The waxed surfaces can be cleaned quickly and easily without damage to paint.

To protect blankets from soil bind the tops with light weight washable material about 16 inches wide.

When curtains are removed from stretchers, iron the edges. This gives a more finished appearance.

Be careful of sauerkraut juice. It's one of the strongest natural food acids, and will stain many surfaces. Very difficult are these stains to remove too.

When using a hammer, it should be held far back in order to produce the greatest striking power and improve the accuracy of the blow. A short grip is the wrong method.

Throwing the Lifeline

A NUMBER of years ago a Buffalo acquaintance and his family went for an evening's short cruise in their motor boat on the Niagara river. In the center of the deep and wide stream, where it flows out of Lake Erie, the acquaintance cut out the motor and permitted the boat to drift with the current, that the family might enjoy the quiet of the summer evening. None of them realized how far they had drifted until they noticed the absence of all other craft. They had passed the safety point. The increasing roar of the falls was ominous. Quickly they turned to the motor, but it would not start. Then began a frightened cry for help, with no other boat near enough for the occupants to hear. A man on the American shore heard the frantic appeal. His motor boat was moored at the edge of the stream. With it he went to the rescue and passed the stricken family a line. They were towed ashore, suffering nothing worse than a bad fright.

In November of 1936 I used that incident in presenting to one of the nation's leading industrialists an idea of a lifeline for the nation. I was convinced then that we were drifting toward the danger of state socialism. Unless rescued we would end with a catastrophe; our economic system would be lost; we would be a regimented people, living under a bureaucracy administered by a totalitarian government.

'LET SOMEONE ELSE DO IT' That industrialist fully agreed with my statement of the conditions that then existed. He agreed with what the end would be if we continued to drift. He agreed that the line I was suggesting would pull the threatened craft to a safe landing, but he preferred that some one, other than himself, raise the call for assistance. He named others he asked me to see.

I saw each of those named, one after another. Each agreed, as had the first one, but none would undertake to organize and operate the idea. Their reason was fear of retaliation should it be known to an influential minority in the government at Washington that they had any part in opposing the purposes of that minority to supplant our free enterprise system with a centrally controlled state socialism.

The boat continued to drift until the rapids was just ahead. Then those same men who feared to do a rescue job when it could have been done an easy way came to the rescue of free enterprise. It is a harder job now than it would have been 7 to 10 years ago, but I am hopeful they will get a line to that drifting craft, and pull it safely to shore. I believe they will succeed.

In a recent letter from one of them he said: "How easy and simple the job might have been could we have forgotten our fears when you showed us a way. But our fears were real, and there were very definite reasons for them."

Today we fear communism, but another name for state socialism. Those proposing it, some of them the same people as those proposing state socialism 10 years ago, work as insidiously as did those who frightened American business men, and so prevented their attempting a patriotic service to the nation. And that in the United States of America!

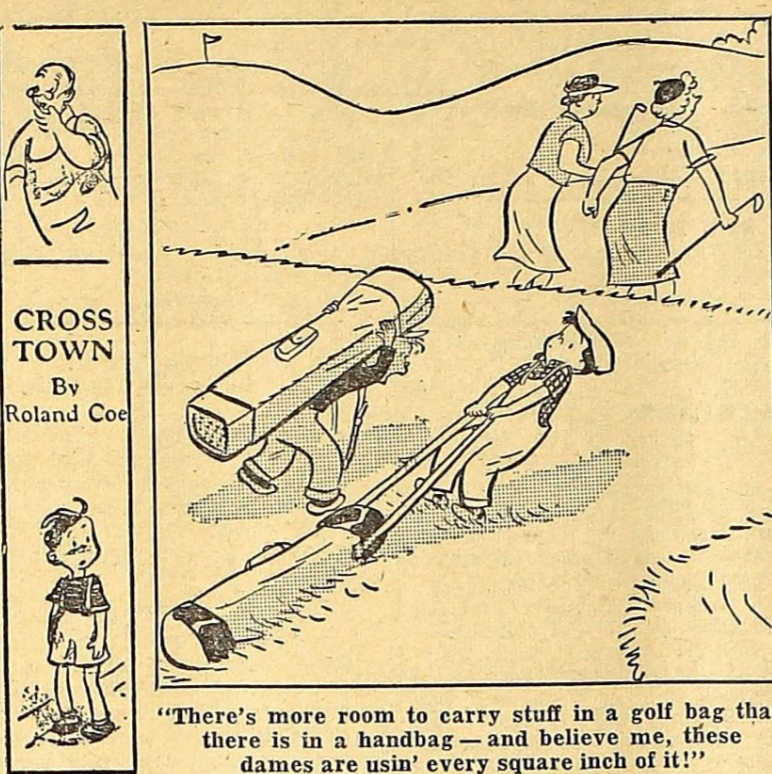

Overpriced Homes

A G.I. or any other worthy citizen is entitled to the opportunity of a home for his family. The vast majority cannot pay $10,000 and up for a house which could have been bought in prewar days for some $3,000. If he attempts to pay today's price he knows he will lose; will not be able to pay out. A very considerable part of that difference in price is occasioned by the feather-bedding, the slowdowns and the petty jurisdictional rules of the building trades unions. The people generally are awakening to the fact that the selfish attitude of union labor is causing thousands of families to live in tents, in sheds or whatever inadequate housing they can find. Millions of Americans are paying for this selfish attitude of labor, to say nothing of the exorbitant wages labor demands and receives. Labor leaders should be big enough and wise enough to see the danger being done to the cause of organized labor, and do something to remedy the present situation. If they do not, public demand will force legislation.

Labor's limitation on production will bring its own penalty, which all of us will pay.

Argentina reports a willingness to provide large quantities of wheat for Europe at a price of $5 per bushel, provided the $5 is paid in American dollars. European currency will not be accepted at any exchange rate.

Dumbness on the part of the individual makes for danger to the public.

Some Helpful Ideas For Homemade Rugs

MAKE YOUR OWN RUGS

LOOKING for a hobby this winter? Why not take up rug-making. It's one of the most rewarding things you can do and without costly equipment or material! And best of all, you don't need to have great artistic talent. Anyone — even beginners — can make a lovely rug at home.

There are many types to choose from. Hooked, braided, knitted, crocheted, tufted, woven. All of them can add an individual note to your home.

Send for our booklet No. 94 which describes in detail the methods for each type of rug. How to make a loom yourself, sample patterns and otherwise helpful suggestions.

Materials needn't cost you anything more than a quick trip to the rag bag. Old sacking, coarse linen, strips cut from discarded clothing, blankets and sheets plus dye for the colors you choose are all you need.

Send 25 cents in coin for "New Ideas For Handmade Rugs" to Weekly Newspaper Service, 243 West 17th Street, New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address with zone, booklet title and No. 94.

Watch Your Kidneys!

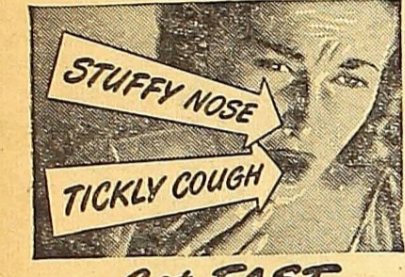

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!
