Elks Win and Lose in Two Close Games

Win at Harrisville 36 to 35; Lose to Indians 27 to 26

Only one field goal stood between the Tawas City Elks and victory or defeat this week when they squeaked out a win from Harrisville last Friday night 36 to 35, and they were dropped by an arrow from the East Tawas Indians 27 to 26 Tuesday. Harrisville made a final bid for a tie in their game, when after the final bell had rung, one of their players had two foul shots. With the pressure all on him to make the first basket, but with everyone standing on their feet, he missed the last one, and it spelled defeat. In Tuesday's game, the Elks had several free throws in the final stanza and made the most of them, sinking 12 out of 19 free throws, which is a pretty good average for one game.

The Indians' defense kept the Elks out of firing range pretty well and they didn't make a field goal in either the first or second quarter. Nash, speedy Indian forward, collected 12 points, on five field goals and two foul shots, while Westcott, Steinhurst and Gingerich each hit the hoop for seven points.

Westcott led in the Harrisville game with 12 points, followed closely behind with 11 points was Steinhurst. Dehnke garnered 14 points for Harrisville.

The Reserves lost both of their games this week, trailing Harrisville 20 to 16 and East Tawas 36 to 34.

Marv Gingerich led his team with nine points in the Harrisville game while Hill collected 14 points in the East Tawas game. Madock sunk 16 points for East Tawas.

The girls' squad lost to the East Tawas girls 48 to 30. The East Tawas girls collected 33 points while holding the Tawas City girls to 18 in the first half and they held that to them at their new address.

How Was the 1947 Deer Hunting?

34 Game Observers Give the Answers

Three questions were asked of 34 key game observers in Alcona, Crawford, Iosco, Ogemaw, Oscoda and Roscommon counties, regarding the 1947 deer hunting season, November 15 to 30. The questions were;

1. How was the buck kill this year compared with last year? Of the 34 who reported, none said it was greater; five thought it was the same and 27 believed it was less than last year.
2. How was the hunting pressure this year compared to last year? The answers were divided as follows: Greater, eight; the same, 13; less, 17.
3. How were violations this year compared to last year? The replies were: More, 5; the same, 12; less, 17.

Many more hunters were asked the same questions, with similar results, but the above mentioned 34 were given forms to fill out and return. The names of these district key observers in this district are kept on file in the Mio office of the Game Division, Department of Conservation, for such contacts from time to time on various kinds of game birds and animals. The fine cooperation of these observers in answering the questionnaires sent them is greatly appreciated by the Mio office, as well as the main office of the Game Division in Lansing.

These reports, also the deer and small game hunter's and trapper's license report cards, are very helpful to the Conservation Department in its game management program and problems.

The Old Philosopher Says:

By Gavin Maxwell

At the Close of Day
Last week an annual letter from an old friend, now approaching eighty, arrived. Within the last twelve months death claimed his wife and he suffered a broken leg which confines him to a wheel chair. Housekeeper for this octogenarian is a loved niece who works during the day, returning home at even-tide to be his comforter.

He writes about how his day is spent. "I cannot navigate the streets in my wheelchair so my days are spent by myself at home. After breakfast I spend an hour with the family bible and in prayer. For me that is a very happy hour. I read in the Book of great stories of friendship and I'm thrilled at the thought that throughout the years the star of friendship has survived. I read of Paul and his letters to those in far off lands he visited before his imprisonment, exhorting them to be true to Christian ideals and I catch something of his courage and faith; I read the Psalms and am carried away by the longing of the human spirit they express; I read from the prophets and Isaiah and see in them the promise of a fairer future; finally I go back and re-read the story of the birth, life, death and final resurrection triumph of the Prince of Peace."

"This hour," writes my aging friend, "sets the stage for my day." Having an hour with God's book and having a daily intimate talk with the God I worship tempers the lonely hours and gives them benediction."

The sentimentality of an old man? No, the point of view of one who has found the key to happiness the contact with the infinite.

As we crowd our churches at the Yuletide season may we make it more than formal worship; may we see more clearly the pattern life's author would have us see and follow more closely in His steps, who knew no guile.

Let us banish from our lives selfishness, jealousy of the success of others, unkindness, intolerance and substitute for them a kindly spirit which spreads the spirit of brotherhood among those we meet, being our part to make our world truly one where "Man to man the world o'er shall brothers be for a' that."

Iosco County Has $700,000 Dairy Business

Produces Nearly 21 Million Pounds of Milk Last Year

Harold R. Clark, County Agricultural Agent

Dairying in Iosco County is big business. According to the 1945 census, Iosco county farmers are milking 4,713 cows which produce nearly 21 million pounds of milk valued at over seven hundred thousand dollars. Any firm with a business of that size if under one roof or in cooperation would be very much concerned about the cost and profitability of that business. They would set up a thorough system of accounting and would know whether the business was sound from the information received from their accounts they would explore ways and means of increasing the efficiency of their projects. They would have complete records to show that their business was keeping them.

The farmer has an important business and his survival will depend upon the efficiency of his management and the profitability of each enterprise. Most dairy farmers receive 50% or more of their gross income from their dairy cows. Does such a business warrant accounting? The profits from the dairy cows will depend upon the average efficiency of the entire herd, of not one cow, or even a few cows. In every herd, there are cows that do not pay a satisfactory return above feed cost. The progressive dairyman wants to eliminate the unprofitable cows so he joins a Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

A Dairy Herd Improvement Association is a cooperative organization of about twenty-six local dairy farmers who employ a supervisor, or tester. The tester calls at each farm once every month. He weighs the milk night and morning and takes a sample of each milking. He tests the sample and estimates the amount of milk and fat each cow produces for the month. He determines the value of the milk and the cost of the feed and shows the profit or loss, of each cow and herd. He then enters this information in the farmers herd record book. The tester also posts the breeding dates, disposal and other information. He ear tags all animals so that the dairyman has positive identification of every animal in his herd. He also makes feeding recommendations.

When this information is continually kept over a period of months or years the dairyman has valuable data on which he can determine his better cows. The wise dairyman sells his poor cows and keeps the heifer calves from his best cows. He will find that herd improvement comes when he tests, culls and uses a good breeding program.

The Board of Directors of the Iosco County D. H. I. A. are: Ralph Bohl, President; Charles Timreck, Jr., Vice President; Charles Kobs, Jr., Secretary-Treasurer; Waldo Curry and Lyle Long Directors. Allen Kohn is the tester.

Iosco DHIA Report

Universal Training Due for Big Play

Backers Say UMT Needed To Bolster Foreign Policy

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

(This is the first of two articles on the drive for universal military training which is to be launched soon and what is back of that drive. The first article deals with the potential effect of military training on our foreign policy, the next with the program itself.)

WASHINGTON.—As the foreign ministers' conference plodded along in London, American delegate Marshall probably frequently found himself reaching for one document to support his cause, that wasn't there. If it had been he would have had concrete proof to place before the world that America is not engaging in the well-known game of bluff.

That is why, shortly after the second session of the 80th congress opens in January, you will see and hear a lot more about universal military training than you ever did before. The President, as requested by the American Legion, is expected to proclaim a UMT week, (January 6 through 12), and although there will be no active propaganda on the part of the government departments because the administration, especially the war department, is going to lean over backwards to avoid the charge of trying to influence congress, they will do whatever they can within their prescribed limits.

But there will be a concerted pro-UMT drive from many private organizations. The American Legion is concentrating on that one issue and its command-er, James F. O'Neil, has publicly stated he is going to give his whole time to it.

Baukhage

The VFW and other veterans' organizations will fall in line. More important perhaps, will be the active participation of the powerful national security committee headed by former Justice of the Supreme Court Owen J. Roberts. This committee, formed about two months ago, is an offshoot of an earlier citizens' committee headed by Justice Roberts which unsuccessfully urged passage of a universal military training bill through the last session of congress. Like the earlier group, the purpose of this national security committee, composed of veterans' groups like the Legion and VFW as well as the national chamber of commerce, Rotary clubs and the League of Women Voters, is to coordinate efforts to get universal training enacted into law.

The interesting thing about the renewed drive for military training, as the men who have negotiated American foreign policy interpret it, is that UMT's military function is secondary. Let me explain it this way:

Granted that the Kremlin policy is a long-range plan of active aggression whose most immediate goal is to get control over as many nations or as much disputed territory as possible, and absorption of control over Germany as its chief goal.

Granted that communism in Europe at this writing is on the defensive and will be even more so if the European recovery plan succeeds. Meanwhile, the Russians will take every step short of war.

Granted that Russia does not wish to fight a war at present. Russia knows we know that. But Russia knows that we not only do not want war, she also knows WE COULD NOT FIGHT ONE, not only because we have only a handful of troops on the continent (a force greatly outnumbered by the Red army) but because we are woefully unprepared.

Therefore, the Russians know they can go much further in their "cold war" than they otherwise could. They can play their obstructionist game in the foreign ministers' conference and in the United Nations, carry on active propaganda against us along the periphery of their satellites and even ACTIVELY AID armed forces within non-satellite border states as they are doing in Greece.

The Russians feel they can take this course because they believe that the American people themselves will not back any threat to their (Soviet) aggression, nor, they think, will America support any step to strengthen the military machine of the United States.

That is the reason the hand of our policy makers would be greatly strengthened if universal military training were established here because it would show that America is really backing its diplomats.

Of course, the argument that a strong military organization prevents war because it reduces the chance of attack is an old one. But under the peculiar international situation which exists today, it is probably more nearly true than ever before in history.

Whether or not a bill authorizing universal military training is passed at the coming session depends on

CRACKSHOT CHRISTMAS GREETING . . . Ernie and Dot Lind, Western-Winchester exhibition shooters, took about two and a half minutes to punch out this Christmas greeting card. They needed 220 bull's-eyes for their "Merry Christmas."

NEWS REVIEW

Inflation Worry Grows; CIO Seeks Pay Raises

INFLATION

What's to Be Done?

Administration pressure to force the adoption of President Truman's proposed anti-inflation panacea involving wage and price controls was increasing steadily.

Latest in a procession of cabinet members testifying before congressional committees in favor of price controls was Clinton P. Anderson, secretary of agriculture.

He bluntly warned the house banking and currency committee that unless rising meat costs are halted price controls on that commodity would be necessary by early spring. Describing meat and grain as foodstuffs in which early shortages can be foreseen, Anderson pointed out the likelihood that early 1948 would see fantastically high prices of meat.

There was a profusion of thinking on the inflation problem which so far had done little except to promote widespread disagreement and uncertainty among the people.

The administration, congress as a body and private citizens remained at odds concerning what should be done. Robert S. Nathan, former government economist, called for an immediate 20 to 25 per cent rollback in prices and predicted a "bust" next year if the situation remains uncontrolled.

Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder issued a direct challenge to congress to come up with some workable idea of its own to combat rising costs of living.

Earl Bunting, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, epitomized the attitude of private business and industry in general by calling for greater production per man per day, reduced taxes and a curb on exports.

What it amounted to was this: You either were in favor of price and wage controls or against them. You pay your money and you take your choice; but in any event, with inflation a predominant condition of the economy, you pay your money.

WAGE DRIVE: Third Round

Since there apparently is no way of eliminating inflation in the foreseeable future, the CIO decided, the best thing American labor can do is to string along with it.

That was the philosophy behind CIO President Philip Murray's announcement that the labor organization would seek general wage increases for its six million workers in basic industries.

It presaged a new series of labor difficulties which probably will reach a crucial peak next March and April. More than that, it was the development most feared by economists frantically trying to combat inflation—official launching of the third general round of wage demands since the war.

Murray, seeking to justify the decision, claimed that since the war workers had suffered a net loss of 18 per cent in the purchasing power of their weekly earnings despite wage increases.

He added, in a tone of disillusionment, that the CIO's move for another pay raise grew out of his and other CIO leaders' moral certainty that congress would do nothing to halt inflation and its continuing and dangerous impact on the American worker. He hoped, he said, that "it won't be necessary to have strikes."

The decision was not entirely unexpected. Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwellenbach had seen it in the cards earlier when he predicted such a development and warned that pressure for general wage increases was mounting with rising prices.

Meanwhile, congress, dissatisfied with President Truman's 10-point anti-inflation program, continued working on cost-of-living problems with two cabinet officers under orders to draft specific bills to fight inflation.

Schwellenbach

LEAGUE: For Politics

Ever since the Taft-Hartley act outlawed the spending of labor union funds for political purposes, the unions have been busy setting up special agencies through which they can apply political pressure in 1948.

Most recent such political league has been organized by the International Association of Machinists (IAM); it is called the machinists' non-partisan political league, and will "aid working people exercise their right to vote more effectively," according to Harvey W. Brown, IAM president.

In 1948 it will "concentrate on replacing the pro-employer Taft-Hartley congress with one composed of those who will consider the interests of all groups in our country rather than the narrow interests of a single group."

Other leagues of similar political bent are the CIO political action committee, the AFL labor's educational and political league, the railroad unions' railway labor's political league and the communication workers' group.

WARFARE: Plastic Tanks

Tanks, as we know them, may be for the memory only in a few more years if the prediction of Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin is sound.

In the event of another war tanks made largely of plastic and light enough to be flown from one front to another will play a decisive role, the military expert said in a copyrighted article in the Armored Cavalry Journal.

Gavin, who commanded the parachute assault troops in the Normandy invasion, said the heavy tank of World War II is so outdated it "belongs in the Smithsonian institution."

"Either we develop the means that will enable us to fly everything we need for combat or another nation will," he asserted. "If another does—well, we've had it."

BIRTH OF A NATION . . . When the U. N. general assembly voted approval of the plan to partition Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish states, it was the signal for Jews all over the world to celebrate the achievement of a long-sought goal. At the base of the Statue of Liberty (left) soil which was brought to this country from Palestine in 1917 was mixed with free American soil. U. N. delegates (upper right) who supported the partition plan congratulated each other on their victory, and in New York Rabbi Abraham Shisgal (lower right) voiced a prayer of thanks and hope for peace in the new Jewish state of Judea.

ENIWETOK—ATOMIC BASE . . . When U. S. navy dive-bombers operated over the bleak, Jap-held Pacific atoll of Eniwetok (above) no one in the world was aware of the destiny in store for that little isle. It was impossible to know that Eniwetok one day would be made the world's most important "proving ground" for atomic energy experiments. Construction of facilities and installations for the purpose of developing and testing atomic weapons is now under way on Eniwetok. The army, navy and air forces are working together on the project.

STASSEN DEWEY
They favor UMT

cally the Roberts national security committee at length when it was formed. There are many other prominent supporters.

Senator Taft is definitely opposed to universal military training, which he groups with other "controls" which are objectionable to him.

Opposition may be considered strong from the extreme right and the extreme left. It is hardly likely that Representative Vito Marcantonio, who has the support of Communists in New York, would vote for UMT.

Outside of congress, the church organizations and a large army of mothers are opposed. The only way their view can be changed, UMT supporters say, is to convince them that our boys will be safer trained than untrained, that in every war we have had to have a trained citizen army in the end. Twice while we waited to train it, thousands died, and some went into service without proper preparation.

TURN FOR THE BETTER

Teacher Crisis Eases in U.S.

"The present school year marks the beginning of a turn for the better in education in the United States."

That high note of optimism was sounded in a progress report issued by the citizens' federal committee on education through the U. S. office of education, which asserted that a five-year downward trend in education has been reversed.

Titled "Citizens Look at Education," the report is the first pamphlet issued by the 27-member group formed in April, 1946, to carry the teacher crisis to the country.

"There is abundant evidence that the ominous deterioration of our educational system has been arrested. The drift of teachers to other fields has been slowed. The public has become aroused to the dangers threatening our schools," was the committee's conclusion.

At the same time, however, the report warned that upward progress must continue, and that to consider the educational crisis as a thing of the past would be premature.

Among the accomplishments listed for the past year were:

1. The largest teachers' salary in-creases which ever have been granted in a 12-month period — an average increase of about $300 or about 13 per cent.
2. An increase in maximum salary scales in many centers, regarded as highly significant in making the profession economically attractive as a lifetime career.

3. A number of states have liberalized retirement allowances and sick-leave provisions and reduced the teaching load.

But the committee did not minimize the fact that there were problems still to be solved. For one thing, the rise in cost of living has more than eaten up the advance in teachers' salaries, and workers in many fields still earn more, on the average, than teachers.

Another obstacle to be overcome is the immense need for teachers, caused in part by the increased birth rate, which will exist for at least 6 to 10 years.

HEROES . . . Mickey and Sparky, the cat and dog, respectively, were decorated by the S.P.C.A. for saving 28 persons from possible death by gas in a Brooklyn apartment house.

MAYOR OF BOSTON—AGAIN . . . Five months after he was sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Danbury, Vt., on a charge of using the mails to defraud, James Michael Curley, 73, mayor of Boston, was pardoned by President Truman and returned to his job as Boston's top city official. Here, City Clerk John B. Hynes (right), who had served as mayor during Curley's absence, brings the returnee up to date on city affairs.

Teamsters' Revolt Brews

A PALACE revolution is smoldering in the Teamsters' union of the A. F. of L., one of the great, autocratic kingdoms of the union movement. There are almost a million subjects. There is a treasury of 17 million dollars, cash.

Strange as it may seem, Dave Beck, the most pushful aspirant for the throne of Dan Tobin, the old king, may invoke the Taft-Hartley law to promote his revolutionary ambitions, although he has damned this act as slavery law. If Beck's political plan should succeed smoothly, then a number of less prominent rival household princes and barons of outlying provinces certainly will take advantage of the Taft-Hartley act. They will invoke its protection to secede from the big international union without reprisals.

My use of the royal metaphor is not an exaggeration. This union is, in the most practical effect, a monarchy, and Tobin is the king. He has been president for 41 years. Emperor Franz Josef and Queen Victoria ruled longer, but not many monarchs in history have matched Tobin's tenure.

He is so precious, and in the kingly manner he acknowledges his preciosity, that during his reign the constitution was amended with a special section couched in the language of royal courts, providing unlimited expense allowances for himself and his queen, and an unlimited retinue of secretaries and servants.

Solving the Football Riddle

"The college football season is on its last legs if not finished," said Elmer Twitchell, "and I never saw one fade out with fewer regrets. The old game has been so riddled with changes that the average spectator got hopelessly behind years ago. And this season trying to keep track of all the changes made in any one team in one period left him limp and befuddled."

Elmer was pretty disgusted. "I am not asking too much," he concluded. "It would just be nice if a cash customer knew once in a while who was playing and could care much."

CAN YOU REMEMBER—

Away back when the analyst's interpretation of a presidential speech was no harder to understand than the speech?

Back when you could give away a gold piece for Christmas?

And way back when all you had to do after winning a war was to get yourself back on your feet?

A Texas penitentiary held a rodeo for inmates and a man serving 99 years gave a wild horse a tough fight. What could he lose?

DREW PEARSON

Presidents Deplore Fanfare

FEW people realize the problem a president of the United States faces when he goes to church. Most presidents have been God-fearing men, accustomed to regular church attendance. However, there is usually so much publicity about their worship that the chief executive feels uncomfortable in the House of the Lord.

One reason President Truman attends the First Baptist church, about half a mile from the White House, is that there is no fanfare. The minister makes no special note of the President's presence. Whenever possible, Mr. Truman walks to church accompanied by only one secret service man.

The late President Roosevelt always complained that when he went to church, he had no privacy. This was partly because special ramps had to be constructed at the church entrance, and there was always the painful spectacle of the President being forced to move to his seat on uncomfortable braces while the congregation stared.

Mr. Roosevelt used to enjoy taking some of his less religious associates to church—one of them being Winston Churchill. Just after Pearl Harbor, Churchill flew to Washington to confer with Mr. Roosevelt, and the President insisted on Churchill's accompanying him to Christmas services. Churchill looked most uncomfortable. Finally he felt compelled to make some comment.

"Nice church," he remarked, looking at the ceiling.

Key Figures in Aid Program

TWO men loom up in the house of representatives as important factors in both the stop-gap aid legislation and the long-range Marshall plan for European recovery. One is Congressman Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts, considered an expert on foreign affairs, and the other is Congressman John Taber of New York, chairman of the house appropriations committee.

No matter what sort of aid congress votes for Europe it remains for Taber's appropriations committee to start the ball rolling for the actual money. He's the man who didn't see any lack of food in Europe during his sojourn there this summer.

On the other hand, Congressman Herter saw plenty. Herter is playing the role of Vandenberg in the lower house. Although Congressman Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey is chairman of the house foreign affairs committee and Herter is only a vice chairman of a house select committee on foreign aid, Herter is the leading authority and author of the bill likely to be finally passed.

Herter, who is from Boston, was born in Paris. His career since Harvard has followed diplomacy closely as an attache in American embassies in Berlin and Brussels and service with the American peace commission and secretary of the European relief council. He believes the house should play a more important role in foreign affairs and his bill advocates nearly all features of the Marshall plan carefully supervised by congress.

Desire for Easy Jobs Spreads

FORTY-ONE percent of those interviewed by Dr. Gallup's interrogators—representing a cross section of the nation—expressed a desire to work for the government in preference to having a job in private enterprise. That result is discouraging, but not surprising. For more than a decade we, as a people, have encouraged the desire for easy jobs; for shovels with seats attached to the handles. We have encouraged that false idea of receiving something for nothing; the idea the government will provide for the improvident. Forty-one per cent have learned the lesson we have so assiduously been teaching.

Trend Toward Religious Christmas Indicated

People are placing greater emphasis this year on the religious significance of Christmas. This is indicated by the popularity of Christmas cards featuring whimsical angels, snow-covered landscapes about village churches, the traditional Bethlehem scenes and similar religious themes.

Many of this year's greetings recall the first Christmas with passages from the scriptures and famous prayers, illustrated by colorful Nativity scenes and reproductions of famous Madonnas. Present-day religious practices are emphasized by congregations streaming to church on Christmas morning, families praying and choir boys singing "Noel."

I cannot think or reason,
I only know He came.
With hands and feet of healing
And wild heart all aflame.

With eyes that dimmed and softened
At all the things He saw,
And in His pillared singing
I read the marching Law.

I only know He loves me,
Enfolds and understands—
And oh, His heart that holds me,
And oh, His certain hands.

The Man, the Christ, the Soldier,
Who from His cross of pain
Cried to the dying comrade,
"Lad, we shall meet again."
—By Willard Wattles.

English Schoolboys Originated Cards

The basic idea for today's expressive Christmas greetings traces back to an old English custom. More than 250 years ago, English school children demonstrated their penmanship by drawing elaborate "Christmas Pieces" using large sheets of special paper with engraved borders picturing the year's important events.

Character of Santa Claus Leads Others

No other Christmas symbol has a greater hold on the youth of the world than the character of Santa Claus. He probably originated in Holland and was imported to America by the early Dutch settlers. While his character has been changed in different countries and regions he remains in spirit the same Santa that came from Holland.

Our Favorite Trees For Christmas

FIR and spruce are the predominating favorites among Christmas trees. Balsam fir always has been an American favorite. The story goes that the Lord sent three messengers—Faith, Hope and Love—to find a tree as high as Faith, as eternal as Hope, and as widespread as Love, and which bore the Sign of the Cross on every bough. They brought back the balsam fir. Three varieties of spruce, blue, white or Norway, also are big sellers in the tree markets.

If your tree is neither fir nor spruce, you may have some variety of pine or cedar. Almost any evergreen makes a Christmas tree, the species being dictated largely by where you live. In Colorado folks use the lodgepole pine because the fir grows too high up in the mountains to be cut and shipped easily. Tennessee uses white cedar, and in California you may even get a redwood.

Burning of Greens Is Ancient Festivity

The Burning of the Greens has formed a central part of Twelfth Night festivities in England since the Middle Ages. Large fires were held to purify the fields and to assure bountiful crops. Everyone in the district gathered together to sing the Wassail Song and to drink from the Wassail Cup.

The ceremony was revived in America in 1930, when George M. Haushalter held a Burning of the Greens at Rochester, N. Y., and since has become an annual event there as well as in other communities. Discarded Christmas trees and wreaths were held for the New Year's celebration, then collected and burned at a gala community bonfire. It has been accepted as the end of the New Year's celebrations.

Object to Christmas

To the Jehovah's Witnesses, a Christmas tree in one's home "signifies that one is willing to worship the evil descending all the way from Nimrod."
The Witnesses also believe that Christmas should not be celebrated because it is an admixture of a Christian idea and a pagan setting. The older Witnesses still observe Christmas because the founder nowhere spoke against it.

This Home-Mixed Cough Syrup Is Most Effective

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This gives you a full pint of wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving because it gives you about four times as much for your money. Never spoils. Tastes fine. This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough relief. Swiftly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for quick and pleasing results.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Since bladder irritation is so prevalent and Foley Pills so potent, Foley Pills must benefit you within 24 hours or DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK. Make 24-hour test. Get Foley Pills from drug list. Firestone CHAMPION GROUND GRIPS

Because They
OUT CLEAN OUT PULL OUT LAST

ANY OTHER TRACTOR TIRE

CHAMPION FARMER BUERMAN uses Firestone Champion Ground Grips on his tractors, because he knows they clean up to 100% more effectively, pull up to 62% more, last up to 91% longer, and roll smoother over highways.

This superiority is based on patent rights which permit only Firestone to build tractor tires with connected curved traction bars. Curved bars are stronger . . . like a curved roof. They're braced . . . like a corner fence post. They cut into the soil with the cleaving, cleaning action of a plowshare. The tapered openings between the bars throw out mud and trash. Connected bars don't bend, wobble and wear like the bars on broken center tires. And because the bars are connected, the tire rolls along in smooth, continuous contact with the highway.

Be sure to specify Firestone Champion Ground Grips when you order your new tractor . . . or when you buy replacement tires for your present equipment. They'll pull more . . . last longer . . . and they'll cost no more than ordinary tires.

FIFTY TONS OF CHERRIES! That is the average annual harvest of Champion Farmer Morris Buerman, Sodas, New York. His apple trees annually bear 12,000 bushels, and his peach trees, 1200 bushels. As "The Voice of Cherry Growers" on a series of radio broadcasts, Champion Farmer Buerman contributed much to increase the market demand for cherries, and to encourage growers to improve production methods and produce better quality fruit. The National Cherry Growers Association is an outgrowth of his local association in which he has been extremely active. As a leader in production, as well as in marketing methods, Champion Farmer Buerman naturally prefers Firestone Tires for his equipment.

Legends of Holly

Many beliefs are connected with the Christmas holly:

Legends relate that the crown of thorns was plaited from the holly, the white berries turning red like drops of blood after the crucifixion.

It is said that whoever brings the holly into the house first, either husband or wife, is the one who will rule in the ensuing year.

For many years the superstition persisted that holly was hateful to witches. It was placed on doors and windows to keep out evil spirits.

Reduce Christmas Hazards With Care

To avoid tragic Christmas accidents in the home, the Fire Protection institute issues these precautionary tips:

—Use a flame-proof compound to spray wreaths and other pine decorations.

—Use materials marked flame-proof for tree trimmings and home decorations if they are obtainable.

—Inspect Christmas tree lights, and repair frayed wires or loose sockets.

—Never leave Christmas lights burning unless someone is around.

—Never unwrap gifts near an open fire or flickering flame. Dispose of paper and other inflammable wrappings immediately.

I heard the bells on Christmas Day
Their old, familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet
The words repeat
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

And thought how, as the day had come,
The belfries of all Christendom
Had rolled along
The unbroken song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

Till, ringing, singing on its way,
The world revolved from night to day,
A voice, a chime,
A chant sublime
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

Then from each black, accursed mouth
The cannon thundered in the South,
And with the sound
The carols drowned
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

It was as if an earthquake rent
The hearth-stones of a continent,
And made forlorn
The households born
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

And in despair I bowed my head;
"There is no peace on earth," I said,
"For hate is strong,
And mocks the song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!"

Then pealed the bells more loud and deep:
"God is not dead,
nor doth he sleep!
The wrong shall fall,
The right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men!"

Real Christmas Joy—1947

The days of cold winter's blast are here again, nature casts aside its robe of many beautiful colors and man now resorts to warm rooms and is concerned about keeping the rooms warm. How to keep warm and protect one's self is our concern and more so of those in European countries.

Faith which works by love cannot give words only. It cannot say: "Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled."

To poor suffering humanity troubled especially because of sin which sticks on the backs of everyone there was born at Bethlehem (house of bread) Ephrath (fruitful) our Savior and Redeemer. He is the Savior of each and everyone that has lived, is living and will live till the end of time.

All that is connected with the Savior's birth is of the humblest character, and the very scenery of His birth place is linked with memories of poverty and toil.

But although the things there all point to humbleness, they are nevertheless, very dear to our hearts. For there an event took place that takes first place in the annals of history. In brief and sublime words "Luke, the beloved physician," who himself was a Gentile, was glad and ready to pen these Spirit-breathed words of the heavenly messenger who related to the shepherds the birth of Christ the Lord. "Fear not; for behold, I (God's messenger) bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."

"Fear not." The words are intended not only for the shepherds but for all people, for you and me. Fear not sin in the sense that it will overpower you; fear not the many cares in very day life; fear not the last dreadful foe, which every one dreads; fear not the sore distress throughout the world. The Prince of Peace, our representative and substitute has proved Himself stronger than all our spiritual enemies and gained for us the victory.

Receive, then, with the empty hand of faith the hand of the dear heavenly Father, offering to you in the saving Gospel the choicest of all gifts—a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

"O, dearest Jesus, holy child,
Make Thine a bed soft undefiled,
Within my heart, that it may be
A quiet chamber kept for Thee."
—Rev. G. Schmelzer, Hale, Mich.

Whittemore School Notes
Burligh P-TA

Tuesday evening marked the regular meeting of the Burligh Township P-T. A., which, due to the breaking of the light lines which left the whole town in utter darkness for several hours, was conducted by candle light.

After the regular business meeting conducted by Mrs. Elton Smith a more or less impromptu program was given in place of the film the committee expected to show.

Group singing of Christmas carols was enjoyed. Miss Warren accompanied at the piano. Several of the members read holiday customs of other lands. Mrs. Collins read the Christmas message of the National President of P-T. A.

Billy Dyer, a third grader, played for the "penny march," proceeds of which go into a fund for a large coffee maker. Piano solos were played by Mrs. Madaline Collins and Mrs. Florence Perry gave the reading, "Jes 'Fore Christmas," by Eugene Field.

Mrs. Mike Fortune came to the rescue of the refreshment committee and made the coffee on her gas stove and delicious refreshments were served and an enjoyable social time followed. The P-T. A. has a record of 71 paid memberships.

Home Ec. Candy Sale
The Home Ec. girls held a candy sale this week and the profits went to the basketball suit fund.

Tuberculosis Film Shown
Two fine films from the State Tuberculosis Association were shown to the students this week. They were "State Sanitoriums in Michigan" and "The Case of Lucy X," which showed in detail the detection, examination, treatment and cure of an average case. The picture was both interesting and instructive and gave the students an idea of what their state is doing in its fight against the disease.

Students Attend Game
A bus load of team members and students went to Rose City Friday night. Both first and second boys' teams played and the girls had their first game of the season.

Coach Roberts and Miss Warren, girl's coach, chaperoned the group.

Teachers Plan Party
Miss Betty Warren and Mrs. Ida Dorsey are on a committee planning a teacher's party at which the husbands and wives of the faculty will be entertained. Dinner will be served in the Home Ec. room at seven o'clock, gifts will be exchanged and a program has been planned.

High School Christmas Program
A committee from each of the high school classes has been chosen to arrange for a program to be held Tuesday afternoon. Each class will contribute something to the entertainment, after which gifts will be distributed.

Christmas Has Its Humor Now

One of the most charming Yuletide chucklers concerns the pig-tailed youngster who found a pin-cushion among her other gifts on Christmas morning. The little girl then placed this note near the fireplace: "Dear Santa: Thank you very much for your presents. And I always wanted a pin-cushion, although not very much."

Another classic of the season is the one about the woman who stopped to chat with a friend after the Yuletide services, leaving her purse in her pew. When she returned for her purse, she discovered it was gone. However, she quickly found it in the possession of the clergyman.

"I thought I had better hold it," he explained. "There are some in the congregation who don't believe in Santa Claus, but they might consider this purse an answer to their prayers."

A 10-year-old boy, making his first visit at Sunday school during the pre-Christmas season, was held spell-bound by the teacher's recital of Biblical stories about the Holy Day and the spiritual meaning of Christmas. Later he was asked to fill out the school's standard questionnaire for new pupils. One of the queries was: "Who will always know where you are?"

The little boy answered it by writing simply: "God."

Invariably revived at the Yuletide season is the yarn about the Scotsman who slipped and fell while carrying a bottle of Christmas spirits. On rising he felt something wet running down his leg. He said to himself: "I hope it's blood."

Almost overcome with joy on Christmas Day when she received two gifts she had most ardently desired—a wrist-watch and a bottle of perfume—little Margaret chattered about the new possessions all day long, wearying her mother of the subject. Guests were expected for dinner and her mother gently admonished Margaret in advance, saying, "Now, dear, everybody knows about your presents and everybody is happy for you. But now we mustn't go on talking about them all the time."

The little girl held her peace at the table throughout the greater part of the meal. A lull occurred in the conversation and, unable to restrain herself, Margaret burst forth, "If anyone hears anything or smells anything, it's me!"

A department store Santa Claus listened to a long recital of requests by a tot, assuring her he would do his best to meet her requirements. Before she left, Santa handed her a bright red apple. "What do you want Santa to do now?" her mother asked.

The moppet promptly snapped: "Peel it!"

Make Plywood Strong

Because the grain of each ply is at right angles to the one above and below, plywood does not shrink or swell like ordinary boards. Lightweight walls made of plywood glued to framework are many times stronger, by government tests, than conventional heavy walls. There are two types of fir plywood. One is exterior, waterproof, type used for boats, siding of buildings and homes and other outdoor uses. The other is for interior walls, cabinets and various inside applications.

NO OTHER WAY
By WILLIAM COLE

JUDY kept her eyes on the Jersey shore line all the while she was talking.

"I . . . I don't know what to do," she said. "He asked me, if I could, to let him know tonight."

She had tried to tell Ted about Lloyd Richards earlier that evening—first, when they were having dinner in the cafeteria—but each time she had made the mistake of looking at him. And then they were in the narrow park by the river, and she couldn't put it off any more.

"He . . . he says we could be married tomorrow," she went on. "He's staying in town another day."

And there it was! She sat back and pressed her hands in her lap. She didn't want Ted to see how they were trembling.

But Ted wasn't watching. His arms were hooked over the back of the bench and he was staring out on the Hudson. His short-cut hair and dark, brooding face stood out sharply against the cluster of lights from the Palisades. She reached out to touch him—to clear that face, even for a moment—then she fought back the impulse. . . . "Oh, I'm going to kill him!" she thought wildly. "If he just sits there and takes it like that!"

"I think you should do it," Ted said.

Judy went limp. She dug her nails into her flesh and felt nothing. "I . . . I promised I'd call him," she said weakly. "He'll be waiting."

Imagine? Making a crack like that! She'd fix him good!

"Why shouldn't you?" Ted said again. "This Richards can give you the things you should have." He straightened his leg and his heel tore a rut in the dirt path. "What can I give you?"

Nothing, Ted. Nothing at all, you big lug. Only everything a girl . . .

"What could I give you?" Ted went on. "You'd have some life with me. Dinners in cafeterias. Evenings in parks. On our honeymoon, for variety we'd go to a museum. You'd have some sweet life!"

It sounded sweet enough to Judy, but she didn't say so much. This was the beginning of a familiar routine. There was nothing that could be done until it ran itself out.

"A lawyer!" Ted said. He addressed the single star that hung dimly above. "Twenty-five thousand lawyers in New York weren't enough. I had to starve, too."

It didn't do any good to tell him that things were bad all over, that they would pick up; that, after all, he was only out of law school a short time. It didn't do any good, when he was like this, to tell him anything. He glared at the people sitting on the benches around them as though they were directly responsible.

"Let me tell you," he said, "you've got to be somebody to starve to death in this town. Do you think they'll let anyone starve? No! You've got to have a college diploma and a law certificate and an office to hang them up in, and then, okay, you can go ahead and starve."

The woman on the next bench was eyeing Ted nervously. Judy stood up. "Let's walk a bit," she suggested.

She slipped an arm through his and walked lightly beside him, a slim girl in a simple dark dress. Her brown eyes were troubled, as Ted hurried her along. He couldn't stay depressed long—not when she was with him. When they were together, he was soon the real Ted. And that couldn't help but make a success. That was why it was important that they . . .

Ted freed his arm and tried to drop it around her. Judy stepped aside. Ted looked surprised and drew her into the shadow of a tree.

"Hiya, Judy!" He was smiling at her now.

" . . . it's getting late," she said. "I have to call Lloyd."

"Lloyd? Who's Lloyd?" She looked at him furiously.

"We've only been talking about him for the last . . ."

"Gosh, honey!" Ted ran his hands back over her hair. "You're so swell."

"Ted, now pl. . .!" Judy wrenched her mouth to one side and then he was. They had been over and over it countless times without getting any place. . . . Yes, Ted said, he knew all about it. Two could live as cheaply as one, sure. And Judy could keep her job. Sure. Okay, he said, he didn't think she could support him in the manner in which he had become accustomed. And so, until the time he could handle that end of it decently himself. . . .

Judy knew it was useless, but still she persisted. She had used the same phrases so often, she knew them by heart. . . . "Don't you see, darling, we'd at least have each other. . . . Those other things aren't important. . . . We'd at least. . . ."

"Let's not discuss it," Ted said. "We'll just have to wait."

"Why should we wait?" She clenched her hands angrily. "We don't know how long it'll be. I want to settle it—right now!"

He turned back to her slowly. "I see. Before you speak to your friend, Mr. Richards?"

She had forgotten about that, but now she met his gaze fully. "Yes, before I speak to him."

"It's always good to have a guy in reserve, isn't it?" Ted said.

She gulped in some air. All right, my boy! O. K.! She waved at him airily. "So nice to have known you," she said, and walked away.

"What was so nice about it?" Ted called after her.

Oh, it was pretty nice, Theodore, don't kid yourself. But Judy didn't glance back. She crossed the drive and went on down the street.

Back in the park there, she knew, he was miserable. And that made her miserable, too. But they couldn't go on like that indefinitely. There was no other way.

Besides, it wouldn't last long. She knew his moods perfectly. Let's see now. She looked at her watch. Two minutes for despair, then the next two for thought . . . and then, in about two or three more. . . .

She slowed down. She wasn't so sure now. They'd fought before and sometimes hadn't made up for days. But then he didn't have much to worry about. He could just let it slide. He could let everything slide. This time. . . .

She was near panic when she reached the corner—and then she heard heavy footsteps behind her. She caught a glimpse of Ted as she rounded the building. And his wild, frightened face was enough. The only thing that troubled her now was where they would live—uptown or out in the suburbs.

As for her conscience, that didn't trouble her at all. Consciences, sometimes, were pretty much of a bore. And as for Lloyd Richards—well, she wouldn't even have to call him. Lloyd knew her answer. She had given it to him that afternoon.

closed it quickly. When he let go of her she hung on to his lapels. Ted spoke through her hair. "You were saying something about some guy named Lloyd?"

JUDY waited until she could feel solid ground again beneath her. "Don't joke about it, Ted, please. The man wants to marry me."

"He does?" Ted shook his head in wonder. "You don't say so?" This was more like it. This was Ted, Judy sighed. If she could only keep him like that.

"I don't suppose I want to marry you?" Ted said. "I suppose my intentions aren't honorable?"

He was still smiling, but it was very much on the surface. "I suppose, if there weren't a darn good reason, we wouldn't have married long ago?"

Two years, to be exact. Two years that could have been among the happiest in their lives.

"Tell me," Judy said. She tried to keep her tone light. "Just for the record. What was that wonderful reason again?"

Ted turned away, wearily. "Let's skip that for once," he said. She was as tired of the subject as

Make It a Merry Yuletide Feast!

Holiday Banquets

The big feast is almost at hand and the cupboards are undoubtedly even now groaning under the load of goodies. The kitchen has been the scene of many a cooking adventure during the past few weeks, but there's still lots to be done before Christmas dinner graces the table.

Usually, we overeat during the holidays, so now it would be a good plan to decide on a sensible menu. Yes, make it a feast, but select and prepare foods that are not too rich. One way to do this is to take it easy on the foods we should save—eggs, sugar, flour and fats.

Plan salads that are light; vegetables that do not take heavy rich sauces, and serve smaller portions of dessert. The family is pretty well filled by the time they get to the last course.

Start off with tangy juices that are colorful, in place of rich soups, and conserve on the trimmings.

There are many types of Christmas dinners that are favorites, so today I'm giving you several menu suggestions. Select that one that will appeal to your family's tastes as well as to the budget.

A roast of beef dinner is in the English tradition, and some of you may like that best of all. To others there's nothing like plump, tender deep pink ham oozing juices through its crust of brown sugar and cloves; still others prefer a roast shoulder of pork, because roast suckling pig in former times was a Yuletide favorite.

Then, of course, there's roast turkey, without which some would not feel it is really Christmas. Whatever your choice, here are suggestions among which you're certain to find some real help.

CHRISTMAS DINNER I.
Hot Spiced Cider
Roast Turkey, Mushroom Stuffing
Fluffy Mashed Potatoes
Giblet Gravy
Turnips in Thin Cream
Red and Green Salad
Mincemeat Tarts
Hard Sauce Garnish

How to do: Stuff the bird the day before and place immediately in refrigerator to chill. Cook giblets and chop and place in a bowl, ready when you make the gravy. For the stuffing, make a regular bread dressing, and to it add from 1 to 2 pounds of fresh mushrooms, sliced and sauteed in bacon drippings. The tarts may be made the day ahead also; simply line individual pie tins with good pastry, place in prepared mincemeat and bake. For the hard sauce garnish, use one recipe of hard sauce and spread flat on an oblong tin. Chill until firm and then cut out Christmas trees or stars with cookie cutter. Place garnish on tarts just before serving.

Spiced cider is made simply by heating the beverage, and adding to it a few slices of lemon or lemon rind curls and a small cheesecloth bag in which stick cinnamon and cloves have been placed. Serve in cups.

CHRISTMAS DINNER II.
Tomato Juice
Baked Ham with Orange-Cranberry Garnish or Roast Pork Shoulder with Cinnamon Apples
Mashed Potato Nests with Tiny Green Lima Beans
Red and Green Pear Salad
Tiny Corn Muffins - Currant Jelly
Frozen Eggnog Ice Cream

How to do: To make garnish for ham, scoop out orange halves and scallop edges with a pair of shears. Fill with whole cranberry sauce. If you are making cinnamon apples, cook 1 cup of cinnamon candies with 2 cups of water, 1 cup sugar and a few drops of red coloring. Cook small peeled (but not cored) apples in syrup until a deep pink. Drain and chill.

Potato nests may be made by fluting mashed potatoes into nests. Place on cookies sheet and run under broiler flame. Lift onto platter with pancake turner, then fill with tiny, cooked and seasoned green lima beans.

For each serving of salad, use two small pear halves. In one cavity place a scoop of green jelly, in the other, a scoop of red jelly. Serve on bed of crisp greens with mayonnaise.

Eggnog Ice Cream (Serves 6)
2 yolks rich milk
Yolks of 6 eggs
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ cups heavy cream
2 teaspoons vanilla

Heat milk and pour slowly over the beaten egg yolks, stirring constantly. Add sugar and cook in top of double boiler until thickened; add salt. Strain, cool and beat until smooth. Fold in cream which has been whipped and freeze until firm. When partially frozen, beat again and add vanilla or any desired flavoring. Serve in sherbet glasses, sprinkled with rolled macaroon crumbs and candied cherries.

*Hot Vegetable Juice.
Heat canned vegetable juice (or combine tomato juice with liquid from cooked vegetables). Serve in cups with slices of lemon in which you have stuck a few cloves.

*Cranberry-Star Pineapple Salad.
Arrange slices of well-chilled pineapple on a bed of lettuce. In the hole of the pineapple place a spoonful of mayonnaise. Top this with a star made from jellied cranberry sauce. Flute cream cheese or mayonnaise from pastry tube on top of star and then sprinkle with a few chopped nuts. Serve with additional mayonnaise, if desired.

LYNN SAYS:
Here Are Hints for Christmas Dinners

When you're carving turkey at the table, it's always wise to have an extra dinner plate at the side of the carver. He can use it for setting bones and other pieces, or as a help in carving wings or thighs.

Roast pork will be more Christmasy if you bake it with an apple, prune or sage dressing. It's a time-saver to make the day before and keep well chilled.

A pineapple garnish may be used for baked ham or roast pork. Place some grapes—the Tokay type—into slightly beaten egg white and then dip in powdered sugar. Do this by small clusters and then set them in the center of the pineapple ring.

When Your Back Hurts

And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

Inexhaustible Mineral
Magnesium, which is mined from the ocean, is one of the few minerals that is inexhaustible.

Oil Put to Work
This country's annual oil output can do the work of 4½ billion men toiling eight hours a day, six days a week. That is to say, it provides the equivalent of 32 able-bodied servants for each person in the United States.

Aided by Invaders
The Navajo Indians were possibly the only tribe to grow richer and more numerous under an invader.

Soles to Support Muscles
The leather soles on shoes provide firm support for the 18 separate muscles found in the sole of the foot alone, grouped in four distinct muscle layers.

Christmas Once Is Christmas Still
The silent skies are full of speech
For who hath ears to hear;
The winds are whispering each to each,
The moon is calling to the beach,
And stars their sacred wisdom teach
Of Faith, and Love, and Fear.

But once the sky its silence broke
And song o'erflowed the earth,
The midnight air with glory shook,
And Angels mortal language spoke
When God our human nature took
In Christ the Saviour's birth.

And Christmas once is Christmas still;
The gates through which He came,
And forest wild and murmuring rill,
And fruitful field and breezy hill,
And all that else the wide world fill
Are vocal with His Name.

Shall we not listen while they sing
This latest Christmas morn,
And music hear in everything,
And faithful lives in tribute bring
To the great song which greets the King
Who comes when Christ is born?
—Phillips Brooks

Serbian Christmas Falls in January

The Serbian Christmas is rich in its symbolism of Our Lord's birth in Bethlehem. It is celebrated on January 7 in accordance with Julian calendar, established in 46 B. C. and used when Christ was born. The head of the family brings a small Christmas tree into the house and burns part of it. The sparks signify how the shepherds came into the manger to see the Christ child and warm themselves. In Europe, the Serbs place the unburned part of the tree in the barn or stable to signify fruitfulness. In another custom, the father leads the family into the house, and they scatter straw over the floor to signify the warmth of the stable.

Combs from Shoes
In the 1880s, old shoes were gathered in the United States, cut into small pieces and for several days soaked in chloro-sulphuric liquid. When dried, pieces of leather were hard. After washing in water and drying again, the leather strips were ground into powder and mixed with glue. This material was used in making combs, buttons and knife handles.

Marriages on Increase
With an estimated 2,175,000 marriages in the United States last year, a new record was reached. This is over one-half million more marriages than in 1945.
