"This Time For Keeps" Mackinac Island Movie Locale

Michigan's own Mackinac Island will provide background for many of the scenes of "This Time For Keeps," which will play for three days at the Family Theatre, East Tawas, January 18-19-20.

But there's more to the technical color motion picture than Mackinac Island scene for some of Hollywood's most popular actors and actresses are in the cast. For instance, there's Esther Williams, Jimmy Durante, Johnnie Johnston, and for music lovers there's Metropolitan Opera star, Lauritz Melchior and bandman Xavier Cugat.

The Grand Hotel, landmark of the days when Grover Cleveland was in the White House, makes its movie debut in the musical romance. The rambling hostelry's winter sleep was disturbed by a 30-man task unit. Wading through deep snowdrifts, studio cameramen filmed the impressive General Grant portico, rambling frame wings and tower atop the building.

It's at Mackinac Island that Miss Williams appears in a series of water ballets—and it's there that many of the romantic scenes are filmed. Durante appears in the role of an aquatic star's self-appointed guardian ever on the alert to keep the "wolves" away.

Monarchs Suffer Two Defeats

Play at Twining This Friday Night

With only five men available last week-end for independent basketball, the Tawas City Monarchs suffered two losses, one at the hands of Harrisville 56 to 24, and the other to Hale 41 to 21. In both games the Tawas boys held their own for the first half, but in the second half, the fresh manpower of the opponents proved too much and the Tawas team fell apart. In Saturday night's contest against Harrisville, the Monarchs had in uniform: W. Thornton, J. Rollin, D. Bertsch, B. Galliker and Schroeder. On Sunday the team "fielded" D. Landon, W. Thornton, J. Rollin, D. Bertsch and N. Thornton.

This Friday (tonight) the Monarchs will journey to Twining for a return game. In the last encounter a 10-man Tawas team came out on top 69 to 29.

In the following weeks the local fans will find the Monarchs playing at home with games with Sportsmen's Bar, Alpena, Saturday, January 31; West Branch, Sunday, February 8, and Alpena St. Bernards on Friday, February 13. Games will also be arranged for the next two weeks here, one with Harrisville and the other with Hale. Highway Study Reveals Poor Bridges in Iosco

The recent highway study report on the needs of highway and bridges in Michigan, shows Iosco county bridges in very poor condition.

The survey lists 18 structures varying in span from 18 to 60 feet, that are unsafe for present day traffic and loading standards. Most of these were built in the "Horse and Buggy Days," when the heavy equipment and tremendous loads, that are so common today, were not even anticipated. Some were built without adequate footings, others with concrete of very poor quality. Some of the small bridges, of 16 to 18 feet span, have little or no steel in the floor; and some are a hazard to traffic because of the too narrow roadway. In fact, the failure of the bridge across Cold Creek on the Hemlock Road last summer, revealed that that structure was not properly designed to carry much of anything. It is almost a miracle that it stood up as long as it did.

The study also reveals that more than $200,000 will be required to bring these 20 to 60 foot spans up to present day standards. Also that in addition to the 20 to 60 foot span structures, there are scores of culverts under 20 feet in span that are in just as bad shape as the larger ones.

A similar condition exists in most all counties of Northern Michigan. Roads and bridge improvement has not kept pace with traffic demands because of inadequate funds. Where the money will come from is the number one road problem today. At present all road revenue in most all counties, including Iosco, comes from the gas aid weight tax.

Strange as it may seem, there are many people in this county who believe they pay a property tax for county road maintenance. This source of revenue for local roads was practically eliminated in the early thirties after the passage of the Horton and Hoebek-McNitt acts. The 15 mill amendment did much to make permanent this trend toward motor vehicle and gas taxes as the only source of revenue for all roads.

The Highway Study has established definitely the needs for road and bridge improvement and what the cost will be. It is now up to the people to instruct the Legislature what to do.

Tawas High Makes Clean Sweep

Defeat Oscoda's Three Teams Friday Night

The Tawas City High School basketball teams made it a clean sweep over Oscoda last Friday when the Varsity won from Oscoda's Varsity 50 to 32. The Reserve squad taking the Oscoda Reserves 24 to 12. The Girls' squad edging out the Oscoda Girls 26 to 17.

The Elks really looked sharp as they played heads-up ball all the way through the game and their passwork was really clicking. They jumped to a 13 to 7 lead in the very first quarter and held it the rest of the game as Oscoda's squad couldn't get under motion. Don Westcott, who was recently converted from a guard to forward again led the way for the Elks, with 18 points, while Geringich followed him with 12 tallies and Bruce Myles garnering eight. May Defiaubach used his entire squad in the fracas and in the last few minutes of the game the subs made the score 50 on two "long toms" by Doug MacDonald and a basket by Bob Brown.

Reserves Win Over Oscoda 24 to 12

The Reserves didn't have too tough a time winning their game as they meshed 14 points in the first half and holding down the Oscoda boys without a field goal and only four points via the free throw line. Wally Erickson led his squad with nine points, while Geringich sunk four and Hill, Herriman, Lansky, Craick, each sunk a field goal and Myles a foul shot.

Tawas City Girls Win 26 to 17 from Oscoda

The Tawas City Girls won from Oscoda 26 to 17 after breaking a 3-3 deadlock in the first quarter. The local team held a slim 17 to 13 lead in the third quarter, but in the final stanza they collected nine more points while holding the Oscoda Girls to four. Westcott led her team with 19 points, while Montgomery followed up with eight; Simms, 5 and Fisher 1.

"Time and Chance," Tale of a Credo

Artist-Writer Builds Self Philosophy 'for to Admire'

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Every once in a while, I devote this column to a book. Not a review, but just my feelings about the book and its author.

I couldn't help writing about "Time and Chance" by artist Cyrus LeRoy Baldrige. Not merely because the book interested me, or because it is a most attractive piece of autobiography, or because the drawings are a book in themselves, or because other reviewers liked it—but because I happened to share some of the experiences it describes and because I lived, as he did (and you) did, through the times and chances which Baldrige interprets in terms of his own.

Also I want to write a review because of what these experiences, the fruits of the varied environments which the artist-author describes, did to form a career, a character, a philosophy, which is "for to see and to admire."

In Roy's own words, it is the story, partly done in pictures, of "how a well-meaning, but provincial farm boy got an international point of view."

He summarizes his own thoughts on this attractive 400-page volume in a note to me, this way: "Grandfather (was a) share-cropper and vet. "At seven (Roy) was driving a horse on mother's wagon through Arkansas, selling cooking pots.

"Worked way through college with Baukhage."

(Roy did the working, I, subsidized, loafed considerably.)

"Peace conference (Paris, 1919) with Baukhage, and sold on Wilson's idealism. Still sold on idealism, the term now altered with the times.

"Worked enough to save money enough to see Far East, Near East, Africa, Indian." (And how he worked!)

Then he concludes: "All men the same, discounting the apparent differences caused by varying backgrounds and time and chance."

To reach that conclusion, Roy made an "essays" beginning with the "cooking pots" into domains of which Homer never dreamed. He had an artist's eye trained from the age of 12 when he was tolerated in a Chicago art school with young artists who were later to achieve national reputations. Such men as John T. McCutcheon, cartoonist; Webster, creator of the "Timid Soul," and many others. Goudy, the great type designer, who died last year, was Roy's teacher, along with the school's director, Frank Holme, who became a second father to the wide-eyed child. At that school, Roy learned his most important lesson—self criticism.

His mother re-married, and Roy became bellhop and baggage-smasher in his stepfather's small-town commercial hotel; finally he went to college on a scholarship which, when he arrived, he found wasn't there. Utterly alone, without the social prestige of a college fraternity, he achieved campus success; became what was considered a "prominent student."

He grew to realize the emptiness of "college honors" but, unlike Vincent Sheehan who was to follow him, Roy learned to admire the university which he had "collegially" exploited. At our 20th reunion, he interpreted the word "university" in its obsolete but new meaning: "the whole . . . all things . . . the universe . . . a body of persons . . . the body of the people."

I shared those campus years with Roy, but I missed most of their significance and experience, for I was carefully sheltered (after a few freshman heartbreaks) behind the protective coloring of Greek letters. But I managed to know Roy and learn a little from his experiences. He is a man who inspires high loyalties.

There was a post-college period when we lost each other. He was commercial-artist and living in the University of Chicago settlement, where he taught art to little toughs from the stockyard district, developed a social conscience, became a national guard cavalryman (because he dreamed of "going west" and being another Frederick Remington), got his first peep into the world of culture and fell in love with a charming and "modern" mentor out of a world until then strange to him.

One day shortly after World War I broke out, I received a long distance telephone call. It was Roy, he was going overseas. Wouldn't I join him? I had just completed a tour of European wandering much more conventional than Roy's was to be. I also had a job. So I, the congenial bourgeoisie, rejected the idea.

Later I learned that he had had two incentives I lacked: A broken heart and a sketchbook, as spurs. Unbelievably, without credentials, he wormed his way through beleaguered Belgium to the German front, where he learned to hate war. He came back to fight out a career in New York.

I'm not going to write any more of Roy's story for it is his story told far better than I could hope to recount it. I can only say that when World War I came to America he had his part in it, a fraction of which I again was lucky enough to share with him. He was a cartoonist on the Stars and Stripes, after experiences on every front with the French. I joined him in Paris after the armistice. Walking down Rue de la Paix one day with Roy I was mulling reminiscences of riding beside my battery of 155s. Suddenly he grabbed me by the arm. "Buck," he said, "that's poetry. Let's write a book. I'll illustrate it."

Of course, it wasn't poetry but it was verse the G.I.s of our day understood and the illustrations were art, if art is life — and death — as Roy had seen it.

We came back and went our separate ways. He now had a partner, Caroline Singer, a perfect complement. She was a California newspaper woman. They built a home, leaving it periodically to travel the Seven Seas — China, Japan, Europe again, India, Africa, criss-crossing out their books in perfect collaboration.

But Roy's book is his own story, a perfect American saga. As American as the wind that blows the Midwest corn fields; as foreign as the sounds and smells of Peking, Yokohama, the click of sabots in a tiny French village, varied as its ribbon-breasted diplomats, kings, Senegambian belles and Teheran beauties. But it's more than that. It's the story of the making of a human philosophy old as the Mongolian mountains which are a part of its background, new as today.

"Left and right," writes Baldrige, "are not two evils, they are the same evil; and safety without the solidarity of class-conscious groups, screaming slogans, or party orders to lean upon, liberals must be staunch enough to walk a lonely road."

I know that Roy would like to have me conclude this review — if you want to call it that — with the following quotation which gave him his title, the biblical quotation: "The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favor to men of skill; but time and chance happeneth to them all."

I would not dare to doubt the words of the Preacher (Ecclesiastes IX:11) — but I know that here was a man who grasped time by the forelock, was able to hog-tie and saddle it, and one who took his chances if not without fear, at least without faltering.

When Tovarich gets the idea his rubles are going to be worthless, he acts just like a wage-slave in a benighted capitalistic country.

PUSHBUTTON BILL-OF-FARE

Meatball Due To Be Electrified

The pushbutton may never replace the meatball, but with the rapid ascendancy of electric vending machines it is promising to exert a profound influence on the destiny of that spherical aggregation of ground beef, as well as on many another item in the American diet.

Even now plans have been drawn and preparations are being made by C-Eight laboratories in Newark, N. J., to open a retail store in Los Angeles where customers will be able to make a variety of purchases—from food and beverages to dry goods—simply by stepping up to an electrical vending machine, inserting the prescribed amount of money in the slot and pushing a few buttons.

This unique establishment, scheduled to open its doors in April, will be operated in Los Angeles on an experimental basis. If customers indicate that they are pleased with this brave new twist in merchandising, similar electric vending machine stores can be expected to spring up in other parts of the country.

Presupposing that such a trend is established, persons living in small or rural communities can look forward to seeing these robot sales clerks in their local stores around 1950.

The experimental store in Los Angeles will feature machines quivering with electrical impulses and ready to dispense at a touch such varied merchandise as bottled coffee, mouthwash, peanuts, fruit juices, bread, canned goods, eggs, blouses, stockings, neckties and other ready-to-wear goods.

GIFT FOR CHEESE LOVERS . . . Curious shoppers watch Tony Scuttilo cut in half the huge 1,500-pound Wisconsin-made provolone cheese which went on sale as a special holiday item in a Greenwich Village market in New York. Helen Rippla is the impatient shopper seated on the cheese.

NEWS REVIEW

Wallace Enters Race; Romanian King Leaves

Henry Wallace was deluding no one, not even himself, about his chances of being elected President of the United States in 1948 on a third party ticket when, with zealous idealism, he announced that he would be an independent candidate.

His entry into the contest, as he announced on a nation-wide broadcast from Chicago, was based upon his revulsion against "the bi-partisan reactionary war policy which is dividing the world into two armed camps."

Both Republicans and Democrats, he indicated, can be filed in the same political pigeon-hole because both stand for the bi-partisan policies which are leading the nation to war and depression.

"That menace can be met and overcome only by a new political alignment in America which requires a new political party," averred the former vice president.

Whether or not it could be met by a third party — a "peace party" — founded on the assumption that the U. S. must adopt a softer, more co-operative attitude toward Russia and at the same time reject universal military training and preparedness in general was a question that probably even history would not answer.

Domestic political significance of Wallace's emergence as a third party candidate may be summed up briefly: Republicans like it, Democrats don't.

If Wallace can get on the ballots in one or more of the pivotal states — New York, Ohio, California, Pennsylvania or Illinois — he may be able to split off enough of the Democratic vote to swing the election to the Republican nominee.

Always the eminent liberal, Wallace is angling for all or a portion of the left-wing Democratic vote; and if he makes his inherent devotion to Rooseveltian ideals stick, he may be able to corral a considerable section of those on the left side.

One thing was certain. Wallace would have the hearty, although somewhat onerous, support of the Communists, no matter how much he might avow his own anti-Communist principles. He would have to go through the campaign with the Reds and fellow-travelers hanging to his coat-tails.

REPUBLIC: Michael Quits

Communist-controlled eastern Europe cast off its last tie with a happier past when King Michael I of Romania made public his abdication from the throne.

His announcement had not yet fully registered on Romania's bewildered populace when the Communist government promptly proclaimed the nation a "popular democratic republic."

Thus, with the 26-year-old monarch's abdication, ended a dynasty established in 1866, the last mon-

London Braces

England is full of suspense but it isn't the kind that keeps a man's trousers up.

British braces (suspenders), made under a government order limiting the elastic to three inches at the back, have been the cause of a number of London breeches falling down and finally drove Historian Arthur Bryant to reporting his plight in a letter to the London Times.

In the past year, he said, he bought four pairs of braces. "After each occasion," lamented Bryant, "the braces have broken irretrievably within three months."

The Times, in a helpful mood, deplored the situation in an editorial: "The Four Freedoms are a hollow mockery if our braces are going to be bursting all the time. No nation can be expected to hold up its head if it also is required to hold up its trousers."

archy in the Soviet sphere of influence in eastern Europe and the last throne held by the House of Hohenzollern.

Michael, as some romanticists would have had it, might have renounced his throne purely for the love of Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma and Denmark, but the Communist establishment of a "republic" and immediate reorganization of the government came too swiftly, too efficiently, to lend much credence to that theory.

As the king himself pointed out in his abdication proclamation, he was resigning the throne because a monarchy no longer coincided with the "great political, economic and social changes" in Romania.

Nor was it logical for the Communists, grim advocates of their "international dictatorship of the proletariat," to be countenancing and cooperating with a hereditary monarchy. And Michael had acted as a sort of brake on some Communist actions in Romania.

NEW HIGH: Farm Prices

U. S. farmers continued to set new records in price levels, both for the produce they sell and the goods they in turn buy.

It was reported by the department of agriculture that the general level of farm prices rose 5 per cent between mid-November and mid-December to a record high of 301 per cent of the 1909-14 average.

Previous all-time high was 289 per cent, set last October.

At the same time, prices paid by farmers for items for living and farm production also reached a new record. On December 15 the index of prices paid was 245 per cent above the 1909-14 average.

The farm price level in mid-December, the department said, was 14 per cent higher than January, 1947, and the index of prices paid 16 per cent higher.

Between mid-November and mid-December, average prices for virtually every group of farm commodities except fruit showed measurable increases.

Russia Is Losing 'Cold War'

THE Russians can be very frank at times, and oh, so secret at others times. I caught one in a frank mood the other day, however, and he surprised me by confessing that Russia had just about lost the "cold war."

The diplomat, who was of high rank, probably let his hair down because he was talking to another ambassador. I think he was telling the truth. At any rate, he listed three basic errors made by Moscow. They were:

- 1. The belief that the U. S. would face wide unemployment and economic collapse soon after the war. The politburo expected this would enable them to point to the United States and tell European nations: "You see what a sham American capitalism is."
2. Moscow's mistaken belief that the Frenchmen and Italians who flocked to Communist banners after V-E Day were real Communists.
3. The anti-American campaign that was staged by Molotov and Vishinsky.

This diplomat reported that Stalin and his associates still believe the United States is on the verge of collapse. The Soviet embassy in Washington hasn't been able to convince them otherwise.

The politburo also still thinks that American collapse would prevent wholesale aid to western Europe under the Marshall plan, and that American unemployment soon will make American manufacturers plead with Russia for large orders from the Soviet union to keep U. S. factories going.

Co-op Tax Issue Dropped

WHETHER or not Cong. Walter Ploeser (Rep., Mo.) intends to give up his fight against co-ops remains to be seen. It will be remembered that Congressman Ploeser sought to brand farm co-ops as "un-American" and to tax patronage refunds.

It may be that his latest move to help members of the tax equity league, principal backers of the battle against co-ops, indicates that he has given up hope and that he is starting on another tack. At any rate, he is credited with sponsoring a phase of the next GOP tax bill which would exempt the first $25,000 of corporate income from taxation. This ideal, if adopted, would give thousands of small businesses a tax-free status.

Chairman Harold Knutson of the house ways and means committee has completed hearings on the question of taxing farm co-ops but has not considered the question in executive session. These hearings were taken over by Knutson's committee when the GOP high command took the subject matter out of the hands of Representative Ploeser's small business committee, which had stirred angry cries from farmers from coast to coast.

There is every indication that nothing will come out of the hearings this year. As a matter of fact, a regular hornet's nest was stirred up and churches, lodges and hundreds of organizations owning tax-free commercial properties have moved into the picture protesting against any tinkering with that section of the internal revenue code at this time.

Weary Walking in Washington

THE distance from the far corners of both the old and new house office buildings to the house of representatives in the capitol is about a half mile. There is no transportation except by taxi, which is futile for several reasons. Even the nearest offices are more than a quarter of a mile away. The representatives and their office help almost always walk. Their errands are frequent. A member may have to walk three round trips a day, either overlaid through the park, or by tunnel.

The senate office building also is connected with the capitol by tunnel. For some obscure reason, while the senators have a set of electric trolleys like old-time Broadway summer dinkeys, there are no vehicles in the subway to the representatives' offices.

It would cost little and it would save time and energy, but still there is no trolley-line. Even factory scooters would be fine, but, nevertheless, the representatives and their help walk.

Most of the representatives are distinctly younger and more active than most senators, but I have thought, while wearily plodding the monotonous route, that it would be in the public interest that they take their exercise on their own time and use their energy on their work.

TVA Conceals True Costs

A SOCIALISTIC acquaintance keeps persistently demanding government ownership and operation of industry. He insists it would provide a more equitable division of production, with lower prices for consumers, and points to Tennessee Valley authority as an illustration to support his statements. He refuses to consider the fact that TVA is financed with government money, on which it pays no interest charges, but the American people do pay that interest; it pays but a small amount, if any, taxes, while privately owned utilities pay a large proportion of the local, state and federal taxes, and what TVA does not pay the people must pay. Of course, I have not made my friend believe this point.

When Your Back Hurts - And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smacking and burning in another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today!

CANADA LIFTS ATOMIC CURTAIN . . . Canada's national research council's 20-million-dollar atomic energy plant at Chalk River, Ont., where security is enforced by armed guards, is opening new vistas in the realm of physical, chemical and biological research. Production of radioactive isotopes is closely allied with important ventures into tracer chemistry and biology, as found in agricultural research already in progress. Experiments are being conducted by mixing phosphorous isotopes with fertilizer and taking tests as plant life develops in order to trace the course of the radioactive material through the plant.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK . . . New York City, which takes most untoward events in its metropolitan stride, nevertheless was forced to its knees when the heaviest snowfall since the blizzard of 1888 smothered the big town. The 25.8 inches of snow that fell in 16 hours crippled all surface transportation lines and caused an unprecedented rush on the subways. Thousands of office workers were marooned in their homes, which fact possibly pleased some of them considerably.

ANOTHER KIND OF SYMBOL . . . Although the Yule season is over for another year, the memory of one particular Christmas tree lingers in Washington. Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (Rep., Mich.) and Helen Boyer are shown as they finished decorating the congressman's "international Christmas tree" outside his office. Sign on the tree reads, "Nothing for the home folks. They've sent it all abroad." Hoffman said the "international tree" with no presents under it is his answer to the Marshall plan.

AT HOME IN A TENT . . . Just as a reminder that the housing shortage is not a dead issue, here is a family that has been living in a tent for more than a month this winter. Evicted from their former home in Bainbridge, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Flowers and their children set up housekeeping in a big army tent. With wintry winds whistling through the flaps, the Flowers use a ton of coal a week in their heater and cook stove to keep warm.

EXTRA INNINGS . . . Connie Mack, baseball's grand old man, boss of the Philadelphia Athletics, blows out the candles on his cake as he celebrates his 85th birthday anniversary. He aspires to make his team a pennant contender in 1948.

BOUQUET . . . Everybody relax, Margaret Truman's concert tour is over. The end came as she caught a bouquet of flowers after finishing a final concert at Constitution hall in Washington. Among the audience of 4,000 was her father, Harry S.

Dentists and Income Tax

A dentists' convention was recently told that dentists suffer from these occupational hazards: flat feet, ulcers, backaches and income tax worries. It is a relief to find there is something that, in the opinion of a dentist, really hurts.

And when they admit in convention that the income tax is a chief occupational hazard they are applying a new significance to that old dental office query, "How does the bite feel?"

We knew something was worrying our molar expert. He hasn't seemed his old self.

"Well, how are you, Mr. Wigeon?" he asked us on our 500th visit.

"The name is Boffle," we corrected, "and always has been, man and boy."

"Print plainly. . . Give street, city and state address," he went on. "See paragraph IV."

We got into the chair. "What seems to be the trouble?" he asked.

"It's this one," we explained, pointing.

"Ah! It's in parenthesis," he exclaimed. "This is difficult. I'll need my strong glasses."

He came back with a ledger, two billfolds and some papers.

"Is this ache for the current year 1947?" he mumbled.

The question seemed rambling.

"This is a separate ache, not a joint ache, I assume," he went on. "Makes a big difference if any part of it is your wife's. . . . And remember, you are only allowed six cavities for each child."

We were now somewhat alarmed, but he had his knee in our lap and was exploring away with a forceps, two blue pencils, a blotter and four large ink erasers.

"Looks like a fiduciary," he mumbled. "Or a loss by depreciation. . . . Am I hurting you? . . . If not see Paragraph X, Section VI. . . . Stop struggling, will ya?"

The White House Pooch

The White House has a dog. It's a cocker spaniel sent to the President and Mrs. Truman for Christmas. No longer may it be said of the trials and tribulations that come to White House occupants "This shouldn't happen to a dog."

But being the First Dog of the Land can't be so soft. If the President rolls on the floor with him, the republicans will call him juvenile.

If Mrs. Truman asks the butcher for a little extra meat for the pup, it may mean a scandal. It could even put the pooch on the witness stand before a congressional subcommittee.

And look at all the strange people a White House dog has to get used to! How many of them can unbend, shake off their dignity and act as if they loved dogs. Suppose the pooch bit a Russian envoy? War!

What chance has a dog for much attention around the White House? Certainly not much from the cabinet, which is always in a state of flux. Clint Anderson can't show enough interest in a pup to feed it something in times like these. W. Averell Harriman can't be expected to shake off inflation cares long enough to toss a rubber ball around for the animal.

And what freedom does a dog have in the White House? How can he shake off the worry that the bed he jumps all over may be Abraham Lincoln's? Suppose the chair leg he chews up is in the Blue room?

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

A little work, a little fun,
A struggle somewhat unabating. . . .
A little praise, a little urn—
But, oh the sting! — no Hooper rating!

To this department the annual chicken show in Madison Square Garden, New York, is a top big city believe-it-or-not. One can imagine Harry Balogh's voice ringing out "In this corner that peerless exponent of the art of egg laying, "Kid" Minorca. . . . Her opponent, that idol of the back country "Kayo" Buff Cochin. . . . And may the better cluck emerge triumphantly."

A grand movie for the whole family: "The Bishop's Wife."

Painting Icons

Several centuries ago in Russia, many artists, when painting icons of sacred personages, employed a strange method in order to give complete individuality to each figure. They would first paint the skeleton, then add the body organs, then the skin and, lastly the cloths.

The school and debaters deeply appreciate the time and effort given to this activity and by the debate coach, Howard Cole, and plan that this season's work shall be the beginning of debating for the high school.

Nine members of the debating team are eligible to wear the Michigan High School Forensic Association Key. They are Ada Louise Perry and Marian Provoast, who have each represented Whittemore three times, Rosemary Kelley, Lois Derr and Virginia Dodder, twice and Ida Bentley, Arlene Dorcey, Charlotte Lehman and Eunice White, once.

Basketball Game Won by 2nd Team—A bus load of basketball players and cheer leaders went to West Branch last Tuesday night when Coach Robart's Cardinals met the St. Joseph teams at the high school gymnasium.

Although the first team lost a hard fought game by the score of 20 to 35 the second team of Whittemore won over their opponents.

A feature of the evening was the game played by the eighth grade teams, and Whittemore's outlook for material for next year is most encouraging.

Grade School Children Given Treat—Forty-eight grade school children selected by their teachers were taken on a trip to Saginaw last Sunday to see the Shrine Circus.

They wen in the new bus driven by Frank Gordon and joined a caravan of eight other buses which they met at M-23. The circus, the first many had ever attended, was excellent and the question which defies solution is: which of the acts was best, the trained seals, wire walkers juggler, elephants, clowns, horses—or what have you? After the performance, the children were taken to the Masonic Temple where they were served a delicious meal of hot soup, sandwiches chocolate milk, ice cream and cake, and then put on their buses for the return trip.

The caravan was escorted by a State Police car and supervised by the East Tawas Kiwanis Club members.

The Whittemore group arrived back at the school about nine-thirty with a tired but happy crowd of children who will long treasure the memories of the eventful day. The group was in charge of Mr. Howard Cole and Mrs. Florence E. Perry.

Examination Week—First semester examinations will be given on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. There will be no school Friday, the 16th.

She had a telephone to call the doctor . . . because telephone service is shared

Thousands of folks who now have telephones would still be without—if service weren't being shared the "party-line" way.

By connecting more than one telephone to a line, available cable and central office equipment can bring the protection of a telephone to many more families sooner.

That's why, in most communities, only party-line telephones are being installed in private homes—why individual-line service is not yet available to most party-line subscribers who would like a line of their own. Telephone factories are making record progress on new switchboards, cables and other equipment needed to catch up with the demand for telephones. And we're working as fast as we can to speed the day when everyone can have the kind of service he wants.

In the meantime, we think most folks will agree that the thing to do is to let available telephone facilities serve as many as possible—which means sharing the "party-line" way.

New power for your BUICK!

Today's Power, Today's Performance, Today's Zip - for Buicks up to Ten Years Old!

MAYBE this sounds too good to be true. But it's a fact! Even if your Buick dates back as far as 1937, you can have a handful of factory-fresh Fireball power—a sleek new power plant that's the same as the engines going into the latest Buick cars.

Yes, it's all new, with the latest Buick engine features you read about—like precision cylinder boring, Oil-Miser rings, Stratoflow cooling and so on.

You can get a new engine like this because engine production is not held back by the shortage of sheet steel which limits complete-car production.

So we're able to put one of these honey into your car and make it young again—give it new power and performance that will get you set for thousands and thousands more carefree miles.

How much does it cost? Not nearly what you'd expect—often less than a comprehensive overhaul. And it's a mighty good investment because it makes your car worth so much more when it comes time to turn it in.

Nice proposition, isn't it? Surely worth talking over. Won't you come in and let us give you all the details?

THE LEOPARD'S SPOTS

By WILLIAM C. FORD

THE bank examiners were coming Monday. And Blake needed five thousand dollars.

He checked over some of his personal papers again as he sat in the President's office of his bank. No use! Nothing he could realize on right now. Good enough later, but not good to him before Monday.

His buzzer rang, and he put the papers away hastily. It was Carter, his cashier.

"Mr. Steinberg is here, Mr. Blake," said Carter on the extension phone. "He wants to renew his note again. He says it would break him to pay it now but he'll be on his feet in two months. I told him I'd have to speak with you."

Carter had been with him long, but he didn't take much responsibility.

"Let him renew it," said Blake. And he hung up.

He ran the pencil down his private papers again. No use. "Got to do something," he told himself.

He picked up his hat and hurried out.

On the street in front of the Lawyers' building he met Carter's daughter. A slender girl, she was, with fine hair, and skin, and a flush on each cheek that heightened as she came toward him.

"You're looking fine, Doris," he greeted her.

"Good morning, Mr. Blake. Oh, I'm feeling first rate, thank you," she said.

He looked at her. "Not overdoing, are you? What'd that doctor tell you this time?"

The girl set her mouth into a smile. "Oh, he was all right," she said. "Always has that silly notion about my going away for a while. But I told him I couldn't leave father. He says I'm doing fine."

Blake tapped her shoulder. "Cheer up, Doris. We'll fix it," he said. "Take it easy, as he told you."

Blake waved goodbye and swung into the doorway of the Lawyers' Building where his foster son Ernest practiced law.

Blake had brought up Ernest and educated him and started him out. Now Ernest was building a reputation as a two-fisted, hard-fighting jury lawyer.

"Hello, Governor," said Ernest. "What can I do for you?"

"Plenty," said Blake. "Plenty today. You know that five thousand dollar fund I set up for you when you were 21? Well, I want it for a little while — need some money in a hurry."

Ernest stopped on his way to the swivel chair behind his desk.

"That five thousand!" he exclaimed. "Why governor — you gave me that outright! I've made my plans on that — I — What do you want it for?"

"Does that make any difference?"

"Well — it might — the way I'm fixed."

"All right then, if I must say it. It isn't everywhere I could go. I happen to need it in a hurry — The bank examiners are coming Monday."

"The bank examiners," said Ernest softly, and Blake saw the lines harden round his mouth.

"What I mean, Ernest — I'm not in a position to tell you the details. I tell you I need it — that ought to be enough."

Ernest straightened. "Of course. But right is right. I've got my principles, Governor, and I've got a right to know if you've done something illegal."

Blake's eyes narrowed as he watched him.

"O. K. Ernie," said he. He rose. "Wait a minute, Governor," said Ernest. "Try to see it my way. I'm trying to do what's right. I can't go against my principles. You wouldn't want me to do that. I've noticed things lately, Governor — and I've felt for a long time I ought to talk to you about them."

Blake sat down. "Go ahead!" said he.

Ernest put the tips of his fingers together.

"Well, first, you're too easy going, Governor. You're not hard boiled enough for a banker. This being in a hole now proves it. Your borrowers know you'll always help them. You've got to get hard boiled."

Blake took a deep breath, and got up.

"All right, Ernest," said he. "Be hard boiled! That's that. The leopard ought to change his spots. Much obliged."

He started for the door.

"Hold on! There are a couple more things, while we're on. It's Ernest held up a hand.

"All right, Ernest," Blake told him. "Let's have them."

"That daughter of Carter's — I saw you from the window when you met her just now. And you're old enough to be her father. She's crazy about you. Everybody knows it."

Blake smiled.

"Well, Ernie," he said. "I feel a bit flattered. Of course it's only a passing notion, if it's there at all; she'll get over it mighty quick. But she's a fine young woman, Ernest. Keeps house for her father now and has taken great care of him since her mother died."

"She's too good to him," Ernest snapped. "Better if she tried to get him to work out of his rut and make something of himself."

Blake got up.

"Don't be so righteous, Ernest," he said from the doorway.

He walked back to the bank. It

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Mostly Vegetables

What's the best way to save on meat? Serve smaller amounts and round the meal out with several vegetables.

When you come to consult figures on meat consumption you will realize that a great many of us actually overdo the eating on meat and take it easy on the vegetables.

Now that the former is high in price and will be a more scarce, if reports are true, plan to include more vegetables in your meals.

Here are some very satisfying main dishes which you will be wise to use. There's enough meat to satisfy the hungry and those with a taste for it, but there are also dishes which are budget-wise.

*Vegetable Pie. 3 tablespoons butter 5 tablespoons flour 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon celery salt 1/2 teaspoon paprika 3 cups milk 16 small white onions 1 cup cooked peas 1 cup cooked string beans or lima beans 3 cups cooked carrots 2 cups chopped leftover roast or meat loaf

Melt butter, add flour and stir until well blended. Add seasonings and then milk, stirring constantly until smooth and thick. Bring to a boil and cook for 2 minutes. Add vegetables and meat. Pour into a large baking dish; cover with the following:

*Peanut Butter Crust. 1 1/2 cups flour 3 tablespoons baking powder 1 teaspoon salt 4 tablespoons peanut butter 1/2 cup milk 4 strips raw bacon fat Sift together dry ingredients; add peanut butter and mix in thoroughly with a fork. Add milk to make soft dough. Turn out on floured board; toss lightly until the outside looks smooth. Roll out to fit baking dish. Cut slits for steam to escape; place on top of baking dish. Cut bacon in very small pieces over top and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) about 20 minutes until bacon is crisp and brown.

Here is an interesting, well seasoned dish which is both filling and satisfying in addition to being an excellent way in which to stretch a pound of meat:

Talerni. (Serves 6) 1 green pepper 1 pound hamburger 2 tablespoons oil 1 small can tomatoes 1 small onion 1 clove garlic 1/2 pound dry noodles 1 can corn kernels 1 can ripe olives 1/2 cup olive liquid 1/2 cup Longhorn cheese

Fry cut-up pepper and hamburger in oil. When browned, add tomatoes

LYNN SAYS: Take Proper Care Of Your Equipment Don't overload your refrigerator and keep it defrosted in cold as well as hot weather. An excess of ice will cut down on the cold you actually have in the refrigerator.

Your sewing machine should be oiled after each day's sewing, or after 8 to 10 hours of stitching.

The most practical way in which to defrost quickly is to have the current turned off; empty the ice trays and fill with warm water.

and remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil, then turn down heat and cook from 45 to 60 minutes.

Vegetable Loaf. (Serves 6) 1/2 cup cooked peas 1/2 cup cooked string beans 1/2 cup chopped carrots 1 1/2 cups milk 1 egg 1 cup soft bread crumbs 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1/2 teaspoon paprika

Press peas through a sieve, cut beans into small pieces, and combine all vegetables. Add milk, slightly beaten egg, crumbs and seasonings. Turn into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven until firm. Serve with 2 1/2 cups medium white sauce to which has been added 4 tablespoons of deviled ham. Blend thoroughly.

There are innumerable ways in which that good protein food, cheese, can stretch vegetables while substituting for meat. Here are several taste-tempting ideas.

Macaroni-Stuffed Peppers. (Serves 6) 6 green peppers 1 cup cooked elbow macaroni 1/2 cup grated American cheese 1 cup cooked tomatoes 1 cup soft bread crumbs 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce 1/2 teaspoon salt Dash of pepper

Cut a slice off the top of each pepper and cook in boiling salted water for 5 minutes. Drain and remove seeds. Mix remaining ingredients, saving 1/2 of cheese for top. Fill peppers with mixture, stand upright in pan and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes.

Broccoli With Cheese. (Serves 6) 1 onion, minced 6 tablespoons butter 4 tablespoons flour 2 cups milk 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 egg yolk 1 cup grated parmesan cheese 2 1/2 pounds cooked broccoli 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs

Cook onion in 4 tablespoons of butter until tender, stir in flour and add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Add seasoning, egg yolk and cheese. Pour half of sauce into baking dish, arrange broccoli on top of sauce and cover with remaining sauce. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and dot with remaining butter. Bake in a hot (400 degree) oven about 20 minutes.

AID TO SPREADS A little citrus juice mixed into many sandwich spreads not only improves the flavor but also thins the mixture for easier spreading. Try a dash of orange juice in cheese spreads, ham or peanut butter.

Vacuum cleaners should be emptied after every use. Remove threads and lint which have gathered in brush by clipping with shears and pulling them out. Keep the cord from becoming twisted.

Star Dust STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD
DORIS DAY'S story sounds like Cinderella's — in one year, 1947, she signed a motion picture contract with Michael Curtiz productions, closed a deal to appear with Sinatra on the Hit Parade, and signed a nice record-making pact. But she had worked toward those successes for six years. A broken leg had kept her in a cast for 14 months; she figured that her career as a dancer was ended, and became a singer. But she says her jiggst moment was the one when Curtiz asked her to test for the lead in his Technicolor musical, "Romance in High C." "Forever and Always," her second musical, will be followed by "The '49ers."

Thomas Gomez, whose performance as Robert Montgomery's Mexican friend in "Ride the Pink Horse" has been boosted for "supporting" Oscar recognition, has been added to the impressive cast of "Key Largo," which so far includes Humphrey Bogart, Edward G. Robinson, Lauren Bacall, Lionel Barrymore, Claire Trevor and Dan Seymour. John Huston adapted the Maxwell Anderson play.

Florence Marly, European screen star now making her first American picture, "Sealed Verdict," at Paramount, is going to be a dreadful disappointment to autograph seekers. She has starred in French, Czech and Spanish films, and now of course, in English. But though she can speak it, she can't write it. So there will be no comments with her autograph.

Merle Oberon and Lucien Ballard, her husband, are looking for a script laid in the region of Lake Tanganyika; they like the African scenery. Meanwhile E. Claude Mills has formed a company to produce "Tanga Neeka," in conjunction with the Gatti-Hallcrafters expedition. The Hallcrafters company will work closely with the crew, and will broadcast eight hours daily by short wave radio to amateur operators all over the world, from the picture location. United Artists will release "Tanga Neeka."

LeRoy Prinz, the husky little man who creates and stages all those terschorean spectacles for Warner Bros. pictures, doesn't fit the popular conception of a dancing master. He was shot down 14 times while flying with the Lafayette Escadrille.

Welfare worker Carmen Holliday was hired to take care of Loretta Young's movie daughter on the set during the filming of "The Bishop's Wife." Her Hollywood career began on a movie set, taking care of Loretta Young, aged five.

Dorothy Malone received her most important role so far in Warner Bros.' "One Sunday Afternoon," the musical version of the old play. Dennis Morgan and Janis Paige costar, and Raoul Walsh will direct.

The Perry Como Fan club is now an international institution. Has branches in England, Canada, Australia and Scotland. Each branch is publishing its own newspaper, which contains news and photos of Como.

Percy Faith, who resigned as conductor of the Contented program after eight years, following the announcement that it was shifting to the west coast, has signed an exclusive four-year contract with the sponsors of his CBS Sunday show.

Richard Wallace rounds out his 20th year as a Hollywood director with RKO's "Tycoon," starring Laraine Day and John Wayne. He began in the nickelodeon days; served as cutter for Mack Sennett, then directed "McFadden's Flats."

ODDS AND ENDS—The pretty little girl who appears with Dennis Morgan in the "Kerry Fair" number of "My Wild Irish Rose" is his daughter Kirsten, aged 9. . . . Danny Kaye flies to London late this month for a four-week engagement at the Palladium; since English fans can't see "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," "The Kid From Brooklyn" is his latest appearance there. . . . CBS may pop up with a Shirley Booth program before Spring. Shirley will not play a "Miss Dully" role, but something different. . . . "Point Sublime" with Cliff Arquette and Mel Blanc, goes coast-to-coast on ABC February 2nd.

WE, YOUR LOCAL CHEVROLET DEALER—and every other Chevrolet dealer in America—are both proud and happy to make the following report to buyers and prospective buyers of Chevrolet products:

Again in 1947, Chevrolet built and sold more cars and more trucks than any other maker in the industry, just as Chevrolet has built and sold more cars and more trucks than any other maker for the total seventeen-year period, dating from January, 1931 to January, 1948—the modern period of motor car history.

Naturally, we as well as the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors are deeply grateful for America's outspoken preference for Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks; and we are determined to do everything in our power to continue to deserve this preference in the future as in the past.

We want to thank each and every person in this community for his friendship and goodwill for this organization. We solicit and appreciate your patronage. We are doing our level best to prove that, by filling orders for new Chevrolets just as promptly as we can—even under today's trying conditions—and we are deeply and devoutly appreciative of the patience and understanding of all our customers who are awaiting deliveries of new Chevrolets.

Needless to say, you buy wisely when you buy the product of the world's largest producers of cars and trucks, for that is the way to maximum dollar value! Rest assured that we'll fill your order for a new Chevrolet just as soon as it is humanly possible to do so. Meanwhile, please let us help to keep your present car or truck in good running condition by bringing it to us for skilled service, now and at regular intervals.
