Elks Win League Basketball Trophy

Defeat Indians In Thrill Packed Game

Play Northern Michigan School of Commerce At Gymnasium Tonight

In a thrill packed game Tuesday night at the Oscoda Auditorium the Tawas City Elks won the Huron Shore league trophy by beating the East Tawas Indians for top honors 32 to 30.

The two teams were matched up again for the third time this season as both had identical league records of seven wins and one loss and were tied up for first place honors. Both teams had beaten each other once previously during the season.

With the pressure of the excitement mounting by the minute before gametime, the players and their coaches on both teams knew that this was to be the game of games and that the old spark of rivalry between the Tawas was had been ignited again and that anything could happen in this all important game. In the estimation of many fans, there has never been a more sportsman like contest between these two teams, by the players on the court or by the fans in the stands. Both teams played excellent championship type of basketball and no one person could be singled out as the star performer of the contest as both teams had fine teamwork, which is the most important thing in basketball.

In the first quarter the game took on the aspects of a nip and tuck battle when the Elks squeezed out a 9 to 6 lead only to have it slip from their fingers in the second half when the Indians dropped 11 points through the hoop to their 7. In the third quarter both teams made the same number of points with eight apiece and the Elks still trailed by one point, 22 to 21. In the final stanza the Elks came back with 11 points while the Indians made eight. With three minutes remaining in the game the Elks played a little game of "Keep Away" by passing it around out in front of the red line and the Indians were unable to get the ball away from them. In every respect this was a smart thing to do, but it was just like holding a lighted stick of dynamite in your hand and trying to snuff it out with your fingers, a fast basket on a bad pass could have turned the tables the other way.

The refereeing was handled by Ray Templin of Sterling and Joe Martin of Standish, two of the best officials in Northeastern Michigan and they proved it Tuesday as neither team could complain about the officiating.

Last Friday night the Elks won from the Sterling Hawks 53 to 35 at the local gym. The Elks took a 13 to 7 lead in the first quarter and they didn't relinquish it the rest of the game. They made nine more in the second stanza while holding the Sterling five to six points. In the third quarter they made seven more and kept the Sterling aggregation down to five points on some fine defensive work. In the final stanza the Elks racked up 24 points while the Hawk's weren't too far behind with 17.

Steinhurst and Gingerich led the team in point producing with 15 apiece. Don Westcott was next in line with 14.

One Second from Eternity

The reprint of the article reproduced below appeared in the December 23, 1947, issue of the Omaha World-Herald and within a few hours attracted nationwide attention through press and radio. A few days later it developed that the letter was written by Chester E. Beltz of Council Bluffs, Iowa, a Union Pacific engine service employe with a perfect accident record. He is the father of two children and is a second generation employe as his father, William Beltz, is likewise employed in Union Pacific engine service. Young Beltz's letter is an example of the safety-mindedness of Union Pacific employes.

Celebrate 75th Anniversary of Church

East Tawas Methodists Observe Event With Fine Program

The Methodist Church of East Tawas celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of the church dedication last Sunday evening. The church was beautifully lighted with candles and lanterns and lamps and the congregation joined in singing several of the old hymns that were known by memory. "Life's Railway to Heaven," "Sweet By and By," "In the Garden," and other hymns were enjoyed. Miss Beth Blake accompanying at the organ.

At about 7:15 the aisles were covered with white carpet and the Golden Wedding party approached the altar. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Swales were attended by their daughter and son-in-law through this ceremony when they again assumed the marriage vows read to them by the Rev. L. Wayne Smith. They greeted their guests immediately following in the church parlors.

The reception room looked like an old fashioned parlor with an old reed organ and a spinning wheel in the center surrounded by other pieces of old furniture along with pictures and books of another day. Some of the lamps were a beautiful change from the brilliance of modern electric lighting.

Miss Amanda Hamilton gave some personal reflections covering her years in the Methodist Church dating back to 1884 in the East Tawas Church. Her sense of humor and the breadth of her spirit were a tribute to a mind that has been made rich through the passing of the years. Mrs. Sadie Harrington, Mrs. Ella Wood and others also shared in this part of the celebration.

Refreshments of the Golden Wedding cake and coffee closed the evening. The cake was a large six-tiered cake covered with gold, made through the courtesy and interest of the East Tawas Bakery. Among the refreshing events of the evening was the receipt of a beautiful floral offering from Grace Lutheran Church with their congratulations.

Rev. Smith reports a letter from a grandson of J. P. Merchant, the minister assigned to this territory in 1861.

Episcopal Radio Program Sunday

During 1947 American Churches gave over five million dollars in cash, and more than fifteen million pounds of miscellaneous supplies to help the hungry, sick, naked peoples of war-wrecked countries in Europe and Asia. During 1947 the Episcopal Church raised a million dollars in cash, and gathered tons of supplies.

In view of needs that increase rather decrease, the Episcopal Church throughout the country is trying to secure another million dollars for 1948... most of it in one day! Launching the effort the Presiding Bishop of the Church, the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, will speak directly to congregations gathered in their parish churches on Sunday, February 29. The services that morning will begin and continue as usual, up to exactly 11:32 1/2 A. M., when Bishop Sherrill's voice will be heard in thousands of churches from coast to coast, through an unprecedented combination of network and independent radio stations, a combination so vast that it will reach the smallest and remotest mission as well as the great city church. Literally there is no part of the whole United States that will not be reached by Bishop Sherrill's statement about bitter need as he himself has seen it in Europe and the part of Christians everywhere in relieving the needs of flow Christians overseas... and the bringing of new hope to people who have lost even the sense of human dignity.

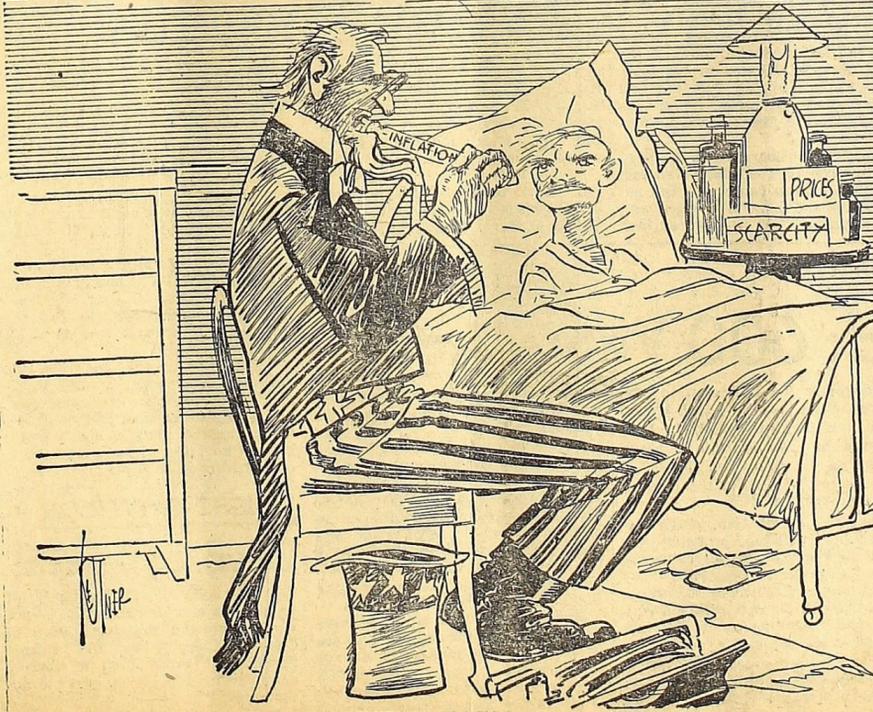

Here in East Tawas, Christ Episcopal Church is cooperating fully in the Episcopal relief campaign. The Rev. Harry Rudy Ziegler supplied the information that the information that the radio equipment has been set up by Evans' Furniture Store, and that everything will be in order so that at the specified instant, the Presiding Bishop will be heard by a congregation which is expected to tax the seating capacity of the church.

Ladies' Literary Club

The Ladies' Literary Club will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. A. Carlson in charge of the program. Miss Eren Learman, Friend of the Court of Bay County, will be guest speaker. Election of officers also will be held. The hostesses will be Mrs. J. S. Harrington and Mrs. James Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Humberger have returned from a three weeks trip to Mexico and the Rio Grande Valley.

Temperature Still Going Up

Martin Is Likely GOP Dark Horse

Contest Between Taft, Dewey Decisive in Republican Race

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

As this is written, the crystal ball gazers say that the 5' 8" black-moustached governor of the Empire State is going to be the next President of the United States. Some people will question this, and three, six or more months from now, even my private crystal-gazers may revise their predictions.

But the Dewey following is confident, even in the face of the latest Roper poll, which shows that Harold Stassen is the only Republican (now that Eisenhower is out) who could win four out of the six major geographical regions of the country from Mr. Truman! The poll says Stassen leads everywhere but in the solid South.

Suppose the solid South should split from the Democratic party, as they indicated they might in order to rebuke the President for his so-called "anti-southern" civil rights message which recommended anti-lynch, anti-poll-tax, fair practices legislation, which is labeled "pro-Negro" by many southern critics? Well, suppose that, and as of the date of this own family and is kept alive with close personal contacts in the armed services. I simply say this to the voter:

You may have a tremendous respect for a man's military record, but that doesn't mean you'd call him in if your child had appendicitis. Politics is just as much of a profession as medicine or the law.

We need a trained leader in this particular kind of leading. Maybe we will get one. Maybe we won't.

Speaker Joe Martin Universally Popular

Stassen has certain qualities of leadership with which he seems to have impressed the people interviewed by the Roper pollers. But unless Stassen could "sweep the primaries"—I'm frankly quoting my chief crystal-gazer—he hasn't a chance at this writing. There doesn't seem to be a chance of his sweeping the primaries, and anyhow there aren't many states which have adopted this device, which it was thought could beat the "smoke-filled room."

Now, the man who is going to be nominated is the man who wins in the Taft-Dewey contest (always, as of NOW). That doesn't mean it will be Taft or Dewey. But it does mean that it will be the man who, although he hasn't enough votes on this preliminary, can pick up enough independent votes in later contests to see him through. At the present writing, it looks as if there were enough of those "changeable" votes to nominate Dewey.

If it's neither Dewey nor Stassen, the wise guys in Washington say it will be none other than Speaker Joe Martin, who never insulted anybody and has more friends in and out of Washington than a winner in a crap game when everyone else is broke. Without ever pulling any rough stuff, Joe Martin has put more people under willing obligation to him than any man I know in congress.

For example—when the Taft-Hartley fight was at its hottest, a certain Republican congressman came to Joe and said: "I'm sorry, Joe, I've got to bolt. My constituency doesn't want this bill." Joe didn't argue. He simply said: "Don't worry. I understand your situation perfectly. We'll get the votes anyhow. Forget it."

Some years ago, a magazine took a secret poll of the Washington correspondents to determine the most "useful" man in congress. He was to be judged by his "integrity, intelligence, industry and influence." Joe got the highest vote of anyone in either house or senate.

Not long ago there was one of those big parties here, periodically thrown by various visiting firemen. It was a regular stampee, but some way I managed to back Joe Martin into a corner with my two Washington-wise assistants. Joe is a bachelor, and these two women are not lacking in either brains or pulchritude. They'd both met the speaker before, more or less professionally, anyhow rather formally. This wasn't formal. Neither of them is a born-and-bred Republican. Like me, and all other Washingtonians, they are voteless and more or less neutral between the parties. Both of them fell for Joe Martin hard. And it wasn't because it is Leap Year and Joe is a bachelor. They are both happily married (the only kind of assistants my wife and I hire).

At any rate, Joe Martin is a good dark horse to watch.

MARGARINE STRATEGY . . . Rep. Edward A. Mitchell (Rep., Ind.) acted as host at a capitol luncheon for congressmen and members of women's leagues who favor repeal of the present taxes on oleomargarine. Donning a chef's bulging cap, Mitchell demonstrated the process housewives must go through to color their margarine at home.

NEWS REVIEW

Peril Seen for Tax Cut; Soil Control Row Due

Following the first blush of joy over the spirit of deflation which seemed to have been evoked by the commodity market price slump, U. S. citizens began to realize that complications might set in. Most significant hidden gimmick behind the market skid appeared to be the development that the price decline might, in the words of Sen. Scott Lucas (Dem., Ill.), "eliminate all possibility" of income tax reductions this year.

And that apparently was the cautious but considered opinion of the entire tax-writing senate finance committee, of which Lucas is a member. Sen. Owen Brewster (Rep., Me.), also a finance committee member, expressed a concurring view, pointing out that any appreciable general price decline "certainly would have to be taken into consideration" by Republicans in their tax-cutting plans.

Another member of the group, Sen. Harry Byrd (Dem., Va.) said that if a decline of market prices develops into a business recession, it probably would have "a considerable effect" on tax reduction.

"I certainly am not going to vote for any bill that would put the treasury in a deficit position," said Byrd. While the senators' statements reflected a good deal of pussyfooting and at least a temporary surge of indecision with regard to tax reduction in the light of the market slump, it was obvious that they were thoroughly concerned with this turn of events.

Theory which set their tax-cutting plans awry is that a continued slump of commodity market prices would bring down the national income and tax receipts, thus rendering any major tax reduction perilous.

SOIL CONTROL: State or Federal?

One of the springtime battles now shaping up in congress will concern the issue of whether the national farm erosion program should be federally or state controlled.

Fireworks are scheduled to begin in March when the house agriculture committee opens hearings on a bill sponsored by Rep. Harry D. Cooley (Dem., N. C.) which would turn over the soil conservation program, operated by the agriculture department since 1935, to state land grant colleges.

Along with the transfer of authority would go about 10,500 department agents who administer the program in about 2,000 districts. That will provide a point of strong controversy, as will the measure's provision for federal grants to help states foot their soil-saving bills.

Pushing the switch from federal to state control most strongly is the national farm bureau, one of the most powerful lobbies in Washington, on the grounds that the soil conservation program would accomplish more under state authority.

The federal program has not been as effective as it should be so far, the farm bureau contends. But opponents of the transfer counter with the argument that the states lack

AID BURDEN: Taft's Plank

Sen. Robert Taft, Ohio's G.O.P. aspirant to the White House, started off another campaign jog around the West by offering a thoroughly Republican message calculated to appeal to a large portion of the western voters.

The United States cannot allow its foreign aid program to jeopardize freedom at home, he said in Chicago, his first stopping place.

"We should not be actuated by purely altruistic desire to improve the condition of a lot of other people who have failed for centuries to do the job themselves.

"We want peace and prosperity throughout the world to eliminate a threat to our own freedom, but it is certainly not worth while to adopt a foreign policy so burdensome on our own people that it will destroy at home the very freedom we are trying to protect."

There was expressed a major plank in Taft's campaign platform: Careful control of the foreign aid program in the pre-eminent light of how it may affect this nation's domestic economy.

Also, it was consistent with his activities in congress where he has been making that theory felt with regard to approval of the Marshall plan.

U. N. PLUM: To Europe

Decision on where the United Nations will hold its 1948 assembly meeting will mean that some European city will get a healthy, 50-million-dollar plum tossed in its lap. Because the choice of a site for the coming meeting probably will involve that much money there is a considerable ferment of anxiety in the cities of Paris, Brussels, Geneva or the Hague, principal contenders for the honor.

Trygve Lie, U. N. secretary-general, just back from a tour of European cities, has made a factual report without actually recommending any one spot. He did, however, narrow the field down to those four cities.

The 57 member nations of the general assembly decided at last fall's session to hold the 1948 parley in Europe, possibly to get away from the scene of their erstwhile rather futile efforts.

experience to handle the project satisfactorily.

Currently operating under an annual budget of 39 million dollars, federal soil conservation service has 10,500 persons working with farmers, helping prepare conservation plans which the farmers may accept or reject.

So far it has prepared conservation plans for 476,128 farms covering 131,855,608 of the country's one billion acres of farm land.

mentioned in the Bible can be considered "true plague" and traced through history to 1320 B. C. It is believed to have started in lower Egypt, and in a few centuries "spread to the ends of the inhabitable world."

The black rat of Asia, which carries bubonic plague, probably was introduced into Europe by returning crusaders in the 12th century. They would have multiplied sufficiently to be noticed in Europe within a century, and history books say they appeared at that time.

It wasn't until around 1900 that it was definitely established that the black rat harbors the disease. The rat is bitten by a flea; the flea then bites a man and transmits the plague to him. In one form the disease even may be communicated between humans. According to the U. S. health service, plague among rodents exists in many places in the world today, including a great part of this country. Outbreaks have occurred among human beings on the west coast, and rodent plague has been reported as far inland as Kansas. However, officials do not fear any outbreak of the Black Death in the United States.

Medical scientists recently have discovered that the sulfa drugs are valuable in treatment and believe that the new drug, streptomycin, may prove so also. New and more powerful flea and rat killers, including DDT and the poison R-1080, are proving extremely effective.

Town Bucks Black Market

THE hardy little town of International Falls, Minn.—coldest city in the U. S.—would rather buck 40-below temperatures than buy fuel oil on the black market. Hearing of the town's anti-inflation fortitude, President Truman, himself, promised to send an emergency cargo to the rescue—at regular prices.

International Falls almost straddles the Canadian border. A recent cold spell pushed the mercury out the bottom of the thermometer. Simultaneously, certain unscrupulous oil dealers brought in fresh supplies and jacked up their prices.

Rather than pay black market rates, many citizens closed their homes and doubled up with relatives and neighbors. One angry group threatened to overturn an incoming truck, and the nervous dealer started arming his trucks.

Other citizens wrote to their congressman, young ex-paratrooper John Blatnik, who in turn went to see the President. Mr. Truman promised immediate action.

NOTE—The oil industry willingly sent 10 tank cars to another Minnesota town, St. Cloud, which had less need than shivering International Falls. The reason: St. Cloud is in the district of powerful ways and means chairman Harold Knutsen, who writes the taxes.

The Law Bows to Politics

THE department of justice is more sinister now than it has been at any other time in the life of the existing American people because it has no code but politics.

Cong. Fred A. Hartley of New Jersey, co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor emancipation law, remarked, with elfin delicacy, that he thought the department had been exceedingly lax in its preparation of the case against Jimmy Pettrillo in Chicago. This was only one defeat in many which Hartley might view with deep suspicion.

The department is adept at losing cases in which political proteges of the Democratic party might be caught guilty. Its record of defeats is long, consistent and disgraceful.

Murderous, thieving unioneers who will become historic in the national gallery of rogues have walked out of court free in every important case, although the department of justice had proof of guilt that should have left no shadow of a doubt.

Prosecutions have been thrown; dangerous immigrants have been eased through the naturalization process; tax cases have been settled on percentages, and paroles and pardons have been arranged in a haphazard way.

Caution to Snowstorms

Within three years science will be able to bust up or detour snow and rainstorms from hitting big cities, Dr. Irving Langmuir of General Electric says. It will be possible to switch them to lightly populated areas. But, brother, what a howl will go up from the small town when it finds itself buried in a snowstorm transferred from a big burg!

Dr. Langmuir says that experiments with dry ice pellets in producing artificial rain and snow have had behind them the idea of fighting storms, and that science is fairly close to discovering how to switch a storm from one spot to another.

We don't think the little community will take it lying down. Every village will have to perfect its own switcher-backer corps to rush into the skies and smack the storm right back where it came from.

Personally we do not wish Dr. Langmuir too much luck, and we warn the company that it is on the way to a boycott by all children, with a secondary boycott by lovers of "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" and Currier and Ives prints.

This could result in a regular hockey game of the skies with snowstorms being swatted all over the heavens. It might require official referees and scorers to determine what kind of winter we had been through.

The kids are more or less disgusted with the grownups now. They really will get tough the day a right smart snowstorm is known to be headed for their own backyard and a lot of scientists pop into the air and see that it is transferred to Wappingers Falls or Moose Hollow.

'Directors' Fail to Plan

THE government of the United States is the biggest business in the United States. It costs more to operate, employs more people, provides more services and gives more for less money to every family in the nation than any other business.

If the board of United States Steel or General Motors would fix the cost of steel or lop off $1,000 from the price of an automobile without first finding out what it costs to make steel or to build a car, the stockholders would be the first to declare the directors were crazy and demand a new board.

Congress is the board of directors of the U. S. government. And without first finding out how much it's going to cost to run the government this year, the house has passed a tax reduction bill lopping off $6,500,000,000 in taxes, which is equivalent to cutting the price of the car. But do the stockholders declare the board is crazy?

The law says that congress "shall" first determine an overall cost of government by not later than February 15. When they do that, then they shall trim the services of government to fit the cloth or the cost.

If any other board of directors didn't set up a long-range policy of doing business they wouldn't last long with the stockholders but in the biggest business in the world the board of directors plans nothing ahead except from year to year.

Good-By---With No Regrets

IT IS doubtful if England, of which country he still is a citizen, would welcome the deportation of Charles Chaplin by the United States. For more than a quarter-century Chaplin has enjoyed the advantages this nation provides. He came to America from London, where he had picked up a precarious living from the small change patrons of London pubs and music halls had contributed for his clownish acts. In America he has won fame and fortune. Now, because he is peevish, he threatens to leave. If there is any way in which we Americans can speed his departure, we should like to know so it may be applied. He is welcome to return to the London pubs or to Russia.

Step-Saving Shelf Is Simple to Build

WHY spend valuable time hunting for kitchen equipment? This easy to build shelf will surprise you with its capacity . . . it holds almost every needed gadget.

A full size pattern is now available that really takes the mystery out of building this shelf. You don't have to be handy with tools or need any special ones to build it. Merely purchase the boards pattern specifies at your local lumber yard. Then trace the pattern on the wood. Saw out each piece. Fasten each piece together in position shown on the pattern. It's as easy as that and a lot of fun too. No special tools are needed . . . and you don't have to know anything about woodcrafting to turn out a really good looking job. Women who make their own dresses say these woodworking patterns are much easier to use than dress patterns.

Working with wood provides complete relaxation. It also offers an economical solution to your furniture and household equipment problems. By "making it yourself" you'll save at least half of what a similar article would cost if purchased ready made. Some 2500 Kitchen Shelf Pattern No. 5 to East-Bild Pattern Co., Dept. ## Plague Struck 600 Years Ago

It was 600 years ago, in 1348, that the Black Death swept ravenously through Europe, killing about 25,000,000 persons, to take its place as one of the greatest calamities of all time.

Historians estimated that by the end of the century the Black Death—bubonic plague—had killed one-fourth of Europe's entire population. In China another 13,000,000 died in an outbreak of the disease at about the same time.

Even to this day the seeds of bubonic plague are scattered throughout the world. Since 1896 it is estimated that more than 12,000,000 persons have died of it in India.

Authorities don't know where or when the plague first began, but some say that epidemic disease

mentioned in the Bible can be considered "true plague" and traced through history to 1320 B. C. It is believed to have started in lower Egypt, and in a few centuries "spread to the ends of the inhabitable world."

I have spoken of the Eisenhower family at some length before in this column. I do not claim to be more than an acquaintance. But, as I said, when General Eisenhower's statement came over the wire, I was firmly convinced that there wasn't any equivocation in it. And I am glad that the press and their friends heard Eisenhower answer the questions as he did, giving back steel for steel on every throw.

There was a big sigh of relief, of course, when the Republican and Democratic leaders knew Eisenhower was out. I felt the same way, but for a different reason. My reason for being glad that Eisenhower isn't going to be President—as he would have been on any ticket if he had run—is the same reason he put forth. I have tremendous respect for him, personally, professionally. I am not a professional soldier, but my experience as a wartime soldier is reinforced by an indirect impression of military thought which goes back for many generations in my

Sweepstakes Hospital Idea

An American metropolis has voted to ask the state to give the green light to a lottery to raise a million dollars for new hospitals. Well, the general letting down of bars against gambling in this country won't result in any upbuilding of character, but since everybody is taking a chance on something, it is hard to frown on the idea of hospitals benefiting. All we hope is that no city dedicates one new institution as the Straight, Place and Show hospital or adds a Daily Double wing.

We can't help wondering how a sensitive patient in a hospital built through gambling will feel at times. Will he feel a little uncertain whether the nurse has been scratched when she is a little late showing up?

Will he want the morning line on doctors, in order to get the weights? And will it do him any good to see a notation, after a medico had bungled a bit, "Will do better next time out?"

Will there not always hang over the Sweepstakes hospitals the mood of the race track, the lottery and the pinball machine? Isn't it possible that in some insidious way the time may come when a diagnosis will be made through a slot machine?

We are all for anything that will build modern hospitals and improve the old ones, but we don't want to feel that the medical staff is handicapping patients.

There is thought to be a better than fair chance that the state will permit the development of hospitals through gambling, and should the lottery take the form of a sweepstakes we look for the following chart notations:

- Night Nurse . . . In and out.
- Interne . . . Needs schooling.
- Thermometer . . . Reliable sort.
- Staff Doc . . . Good at times.
- Cashier's office . . . Strictly money type.

- Diagnosis . . . Good when right.

- Breakfast Tray . . . Shows little.
- Menu . . . Unreliable sort.
- The Pill . . . May be sleeper.
- Pajama Pants . . . Moving up.
- Orange Juice . . . Weak sort.
- Soft Diet . . . Pass this one.
- Hospital Steak . . . Away long time.
- Square Meal . . . Later perhaps.
- Day Nurse . . . Shows flashes.
- Boiled Egg . . . Needs long rest.
- Tender Sympathy . . . Scratched.
- Solicitude . . . Now and then.

Letter for Special Delivery

Mrs. John Kieran, Riverdale, N. Y.

Dear Margaret: You and Jonathan will be going on the air soon, I predict, in a husband and wife program and I don't see how you can miss. But I tuned in on you and "The Brain" on a couple of programs and I want to warn you about something. You have to be firm. Do not waver on this point or you are lost. Jonathan is unconsciously a platform-hogger from away back and not too inclined to fly in company when he can fly solo.

The appeal of a Mr. and Mrs. Kieran radio program will be, to no small extent, to get a load of you, as the wife of a famous man. But that man of yours has no inferiority complex and you will have to battle your way to the mike with a rugged determination.

You have to heed this advice, Margaret. Take a firm stand now, before it is too late. He is no man to give an entertainment partner an even break. Use violence if necessary. But don't weaken. Hold out for at least 50 per cent of the microphone and don't settle for 49.

You may have to carry a little stick with a nail in it. Jab him the minute he monopolizes the mike. The big novelty will be you. And you're good. Don't agree to any program that can be called, "The John Kieran Sawing a Partner In Half Hour."

Yours with all good wishes,
ELMER.

Vending Machine Business Zooms

Guest Just at Mealtime? A Novel Slot Device Will Feed Him.

NEW YORK.—Within four years the coin machine industry will soar to an annual volume of two billion dollars, in the opinion of Robert Z. Greene, president of National Automatic Merchandising association.

With the aid of vending machines, he said, employed women will be able to do their laundry during the lunch hour and housewives can pick up emergency groceries without leaving their apartment building.

Other details included in Greene's predictions: By 1952 there will be 2,300,000 coin-operated merchandising machines throughout the United States.

Daily sales of 10 cents a machine for penny and service devices, $1 for candy, $2.50 for carbonated beverages and $4 for cigarettes will account for a combined volume of $1,500,000,000.

Additional sales from devices such as vendors of stamps, coffee, milk, ice cream, sandwiches, insurance, and groceries "will bring the total sales from automatic merchandising to well over two billion dollars before 1952."

Groceries in Apartments. Greene foresaw automatic merchandising in the grocery field as ultimately reaching an annual volume of 100 million dollars through installation of machines in apartment buildings.

"Most of these sales," he said, "would be plus sales that otherwise would not be made. Now if a housewife finds herself out of beans or rice when preparing dinner, she isn't apt to make a special trip to the grocery, but will do without it."

"Most items sold through vending machines are impulse sales that otherwise would be lost forever," and the proper location of the machine can give that impulse a profitable outlet.

Automatic merchandising some day will "bring to retail distribution the same advantages the machine age has brought to manufacturing and agriculture," Greene continued.

Forms Store Front. He said a machine now on the drawing board will be able to form part of the store front at night, thus achieving late-hour operation and customer convenience without high costs.

"In England (prior to the war) there were over 200,000 cigarette machines that were rolled out in front of stores after the closing hour of tobacco shops.

"And today in Holland, Denmark, and Switzerland, where the food shortage is not as extreme, a variety of merchandise is sold in this manner," he said.

Turning back to the U. S., Greene concluded, "The war taught employers the value of vending machines in keeping employees on the job and increasing their efficiency."

"Even coin-operated washing machines are now used in some large plants to cut down absenteeism. Women employees can now bring their wash with them on Monday and do it during their lunch hour instead of staying home."

Bandit Is Just a 'Crumb'; Waitress Proves Her Point

DETROIT.—Mrs. Imogene Corretta, 38, waitress in a local restaurant, brushed off a would-be bandit as she might have flicked a bread crumb off the counter, holdup squad officers said.

A man strode into the restaurant, right hand threateningly in his overcoat pocket in the approved manner. He announced boldly, "This is a stickup."

Mrs. Corretta pretended not to hear him.

"Open the cash register," the desperado blustered. Mrs. Corretta ignored him.

The "bandit" reached across the counter and started to open the till himself.

Mrs. Corretta calmly rapped him across the back of his hand with the dull edge of a large butcher knife and the toughie yelped and fled.

Easter Seal Sale

Starts February 28

The 15th Annual Easter Seal Sale in Michigan will be held from February 28 to March 28 it was officially announced today by Emmet Richards of Alpena, President of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Organized 27 years ago, and incorporated under the laws of Michigan, the Michigan Society has since that time promoted a continuous program leading to physical care, special education, vocational guidance and training, social and economic adjustment for all types of physically handicapped persons in Michigan regardless of the cause of crippling.

The need for generous support is very great today. Many urgent and need services must be maintained such as:

The continuance of 30 Rheumatic Fever diagnostic and control centers throughout the state. These are financed in whole or in part by the Society.

Rheumatic Fever kills 5 times more children each year between the ages of 5 and 19 than does infantile paralysis, measles, whooping cough, diphtheria, and meningitis combined. 90% of heart defects in childhood is caused by Rheumatic Fever.

The maintaining of the Society's state-wide program of Occupational Therapy and Craft service to the homebound cripple, over 500 of whom are now being serviced.

The further development of highly specialized services for the Cerebral Palsied, whose members rank high in the most severe crippling conditions. During the past year the Society has conducted and financed seven Cerebral Palsy Public Clinics and eight more are scheduled for 1948.

Tracing the history of the Michigan Society, Mr. Richards states: "The challenge of 27 years ago that gave birth and impetus to our Society has not diminished—and the challenge before us today and for the future should stir us all to renewed and increased effort. For us the greater challenge is to provide the means whereby no physically handicapped person in Michigan shall be denied the privilege accorded more favored fellows. A great task—and a greater challenge—and we pledge ourselves to meet it."

The many friends throughout Michigan, made up primarily of volunteers, are urged to marshal their forces for the greatest effort ever be aimed to carry forward a more complete and enlarged program for the handicapped throughout Michigan.

The very generous people of Michigan who have so ably supported the cause in the past are urged this year to give their full measure of help throughout their generous purchase of Easter seals.

Minerals of Pakistan

Although Pakistan has some oil and considerable coal, the major share by far of these industrial raw materials is found on the Hindu side of India. There are extensive supplies of coal, iron and manganese, essential to heavy industry, in the Jamshepur region, as well as scattered about in central and other areas of the far-flung Hindu territory. India's famous sheet mica, vital in radio and aircraft engines, comes largely from the Hindu sections of Bihar and Madras. During the war strategic minerals were discovered in the north-central states of the new Dominion of India.

Illness In Faculty

Mrs. Ruth Oates was confined to her home in Tawas City with flu two days last week. Mrs. Jennie Valley was out of school Thursday and Friday because of illness. Mrs. Kate Rowley of Tawas substituted for her.

Friday, Howard Cole was unable to meet his classes because of flu.

Word has been received from Mrs. Alfrietta King that she expects to be back in Whittemore by March 1. Parties Celebrate Valentine's Day.

Most of the grades observed Valentine's Day with appropriately decorated boxes, and heart shaped decorations. A valentine exchange was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The seventh grade with their sponsor, Miss Warren enjoyed a class party in the Home Ec room, and the boys actively assisted in the preparations for the festivities by freezing three gallons of ice cream.

The table was decorated with large pink frosted cookies on paper doilies which Henry Ott brought for each of the boys and girls, and a large cake baked by Miss Warren. In addition to these refreshments, pop and popcorn were served.

The freshmen with their sponsor, Mrs. Oates, met in room 8. They had a prettily decorated box for their valentines and enjoyed dixie cups, cookies, and candy bars.

The eighth graders enjoyed an impromptu party in room 6. In Mr. Cole's absence, Mrs. Perry met with them. After the many valentines were passed out, games were played and dixie cups and cookies were served.

Senior Class Attends Funeral

The members of the senior class went to Twining Friday afternoon to attend the funeral of the mother of their classmate, Lois Derr, to whom they extend their most sincere sympathy.

Friday the 13th Proves Enjoyable at Long Lake

This day is to some people uneventful, but not so to citizens of Long Lake. On this February 13th a bounteous supper was served at the 60 Lakes Tourist Association club house to 59 members of the organization. The meal was served country style, and it was easy to see that ration tickets are a thing of the past, with the delicious food on platters stacked high and wide, and prepared by the ladies of the club.

After the big feast several hours were spent visiting, playing cards and dancing. The spirit of the whole evening rang out with good fellowship and good cheer. At the time of departing, many voices were heard saying, that was a very enjoyable party, and let us have another one real soon.

Mud-Fly Fishing Rules

Mud-fly fishing is a new tactic recommended for use in dead water holes where trout simply refuse to rise to the angler's lures. Take a coachman fly and clip the wings. Then pack mud into a ball about 1/2 inch in diameter. Drop the mud-packed fly on the smooth water. As it settles to the bottom, with the water disintegrating the mud into little spiraling swirls, the trout should smash it for curiosity alone.

Here's Brand-New Power for your Buick

OUR men do a master job of keeping Buicks right up to Buick high standards. They can get everything out of them that there is to get.

But maybe you'd like the thrill of a brand-new engine in your car.

If so, we're ready to do that job too—ready to put a straight-from-the-factory engine in any Buick built since 1937.

You get an entirely new engine. It has a new carburetor and air cleaner. It has a new distributor with both vacuum and centrifugal spark control. It has new wiring and spark plugs—even a new smooth clutch that eases every start and makes driving fun.

On top of all that, this engine brings you the latest Buick features you read about—features like precision cylinder boring and Flex-Fit oil rings, Stratoflow cooling and all the rest.

We have these engines for you right now because Buick engine production is running ahead of complete car output.

So, in less time than a good overhaul would take—and frequently at less cost—you can have a car with everything a brand-new Buick engine can give you, and a car worth much more when you're ready to turn it in.

Good deal, isn't it? Worth looking into? Drop around and let us give you all the facts and figures.

Garlic for Health

Aurelius Cornelius Celsus more than a century before the birth of Christ, prescribed onions as the best remedy for "the fever." Mohammed claimed that garlic took the place of a common poison antidote for the stings or bites of venomous animals. In modern times, the inhabitants of French Guiana use the herb for the same purpose.

Home Ec. Girls Attend Cosmetic Party
The Home Ec Girls and their mothers were invited to a cosmetic party in the Home Ec room Thursday evening when Mrs. Marjorie Gillette of Standish gave a most interesting demonstration of the "House of Stuart" products.
After an explanation about the ingredients and manufacture of these cosmetics, Mrs. Gillette provided each girl with a protective head band, a paper neck scarf, and individual samples of the proper shade of powder, rouge and lip stick for her particular need. Previous to this she had typed each girl's skin.
Delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served at the close of the demonstration.

THE FICTION CORNER

THE RUG

By VIRGINIA SULLIVAN TOMLINSON

I KNEW the Farraday family before it happened. I knew them first when I was nine and Ellen Farraday was eight and in my class at school.

There were two other Farraday children: Skippy, the baby, who was five, and Dora, seventeen, just entering business school. Dora was engaged to marry Danny Wright, who ran the service-station in town. Mr. Farraday was branch manager of our local bank. "Such a nice, quiet man," people said. "If only that wife of his were not such a fool."

I didn't think Mrs. Farraday was a fool. I liked her. The sprawling old Farraday house, with its sagging porch, was always in need of repair, the shabby living-room would be cluttered and dishes unwashed, but Mrs. Farraday was never too busy to plan games for rainy afternoons or picnics in summer in their rickety old car. She was little and quick and dark, with rather kittenish ways; always thinking up something new and "exciting"—like the dress she designed for Dora that won the prize in the Easter parade.

There was nothing I loved more than going over to the Farraday house whenever I had the chance. Saturday mornings they always had pancakes; Sundays they had sausages and Boston baked beans and applesauce in a blue glass dish. And they had laughter. A great deal of laughter—except when Aunt Abbey came to call.

Aunt Abbey was Mr. Farraday's aunt, a very rich, very unpleasant old lady who lived in an imposing granite house at the end of town. It was no secret that she disapproved bitterly of the entire Farraday family. Why she visited them nobody knew, unless it was because, of all her relatives, they refused to be impressed by her money or upset by her caustic tongue. They merely accepted her, all but Mrs. Farraday, who seemed to like having Aunt Abbey around. Curiously enough, it was Mrs. Farraday herself that Aunt Abbey most bitterly disapproved.

"My nephew's wife isn't fooling me," she'd say. "Always pretending to be so gay. What's she got to be happy about, I'd like to know? If my nephew had married a sensible woman, he'd have amounted to something by now."

"I declare," my mother said, "it gives me the creeps, the way that old lady looks at Mrs. Farraday. I believe she really hates her."

"She hates them, all," my father said, "because they've got what she never had. The Farradays have contentment. All Aunt Abbey has is money, and when she's gone they'll have that, too."

Only they didn't. Because when Aunt Abbey died the year Ellen Farraday was nine, she left them no money at all. Her entire estate went to charity, with one exception. She left Mrs. Farraday a rug. It was an Oriental rug, exceptionally large and lovely; golden in color, satiny to the touch, starred with dusty pink flowers.

"It's a shame," people said, "when those children need money so. But of course they can sell the rug. It's valuable and Orientals are in vogue." Then a dealer offered Mrs. Farraday $25,000 for her rug.

The town rejoiced for the Farradays. This meant college for the children and money to fix up the old house. But, to the amazement of everyone, Mrs. Farraday stubbornly refused to sell. She had always admired that rug, she said. She'd been as surprised as anyone when Aunt Abbey had left it to her. She had always thought Aunt Abbey disliked her; all those unkind remarks she used to make. But now she was grateful for the rug and meant to keep it.

Since the narrow living room at the Farradays was too small for the rug, Mr. Farraday was persuaded to sell the home and rent a house with larger rooms. Their old stuff looked pretty shabby against the rug, so with the money from the sale of the home they bought new furniture. And after awhile, because of the friends they acquired in the new surroundings, the Farradays bought a new car, too.

I saw less of Ellen now, except at school. Gradually my visits to the Elks' picnic that year. Everyone took Skippy's little body out of the water that night. My mother sat with Mrs. Farraday when they brought him home. Dora Farraday didn't come home at all. She sent a telegram. It arrived just as they were bringing Skippy's body into the house. Dora had left Skippy alone by the lake to elope to New York with her new beau.

Ellen continued at school; she had always been very quiet. And after awhile, Mrs. Farraday went about the town again, holding her head very high, smiling her fixed, gay smile. Only Mr. Farraday seemed changed. He aged visibly that year. Nobody was surprised when the cold he caught "just before Christmas" was turned into pneumonia. The doctors said that he just hadn't the will to live.

Dora came home when her father died. Mrs. Farraday sent her money. Dora's husband had left her and Dora had been working in New York, clerking in a store. People thought that perhaps she'd stay home now, since her mother needed her, but nobody really expected she would. Danny Wright was married now, to one of Dora's former classmates, a plain little girl with adoring eyes. They came to Mr. Farraday's funeral, sitting closely together in the church. The week after the funeral Dora went back to her job in New York, and the day after she left Mrs. Farraday came to see my father about selling her rug to pay her bills.

She'd taken Skippy to the picnic, hadn't she? She should not have gone off with that beau of hers, leaving the child alone by the lake.

My father did his best; but this was a depression year—and nobody had money now for Oriental rugs. The five thousand dollars he finally got from a dealer barely paid for Mr. Farraday's funeral and for Mrs. Farraday's debts. Mrs. Farraday got a job at the hotel. Her salary included room and board, so that Ellen could live with her, too. It was storming hard the day they moved down there. We left them alone and drove home through the snow-covered town, passing the old Farraday house on the way. Nobody lived in it now. Tears crowded behind my lids as we drove slowly by.

"They were happy in that house," my father said. "A great pity they ever moved out of it. If Aunt Abbey knew what she was doing when she made that will, then she must be laughing now in her grave."

"My mother spoke suddenly. 'That's it!' she exclaimed. 'She did know what she was doing. And I'm surprised that I never thought of it before.'"

"What do you mean?" My father stared at her. Her voice had sounded strange.

"She knew exactly what she was doing!" my mother said. "And wherever she is—she probably is laughing Aunt Abbey knew that Mrs. Farraday would never be able to resist living up to that rug!"

Cities Grant Pay Increases

To Help Meet Rising Costs

Scores of cities are granting pay raises to municipal employees to help them meet increased living costs. In Cleveland the mayor agreed to grant pay raises to municipal employees which will cost the city $2,100,000 this year. Fire and police personnel received a $240 a year increase, plus six new holidays to be added to annual workdays.

White collar employees of Cleveland will get a $180 annual raise if they make less than $3,000 a year. Their increase will be 6.5 per cent if they make more than $3,000 annually.

Pittsburgh councilmen earmarked $1,200,000 for municipal pay raises. Biggest pay boosts went to employees receiving $2,000 a year or less.

Chicago's record city budget for 1943 includes pay increases of 8.5 per cent for municipal employees earning less than $5,000 a year, plus raises averaging $300 a year for higher paid employees.

In Omaha, all city employees have been given a flat $15 per month wage boost. The increase will affect approximately 1,260 workers.

New York City boosted the salaries of 42 top city officials. The action added $86,000 to this year's payroll.

Have Baked Ham for a Social Supper.

(See recipes below.)

Feeding Fifty

If your club or church is planning a community social dinner for a get-together or for the purpose of making money, you'll appreciate these tested recipes. The recipes are bound to be tempting to most people, which is an important consideration for dinners of this type.

You'll need to do careful planning for both purchasing and preparing, or perhaps you can have a committee work out the donations so there will be more of a return on the dinner. Have your group choose an able leader to insure a successful dinner. She should be thoroughly familiar with all the procedures of the menu, and should be able to divide and assign the work properly, as well as to iron out all sorts of details that come up.

Tableware should be checked in advance so there will be enough to go around. The same goes for kitchen equipment.

Men as well as women will like the menu for this community supper as it is appetizing and well balanced.

the ham is done, remove from oven, lift off remaining skin and score fat surface. Mix brown sugar and mustard, add enough vinegar to make a paste. Spread paste over fat surface and stud with cloves. Return to oven and bake in a slow (325 degree) oven for about 45 minutes to glaze the surface.

Here are some other glazes which may be used. The amounts are sufficient to cover the surface of one ham:

ORANGE GLAZE: Mix one cup brown sugar, juice and grated rind of one orange and spread over fat surface. Garnish with orange slices when serving.

HONEY OR MOLASSES GLAZE: Use one cup honey or molasses and spread over ham; stud with cloves. Finish baking.

(Serves 50)

3 cups sugar
3 pints syrup from pineapple and water
12 egg yolks
2 ounces (½ cup) plain gelatin
3 No. 2½ cans crushed pineapple
4 pounds (2 quarts) sieved cottage cheese

¼ cup lemon juice
12 egg whites
1 teaspoon salt
1 quart heavy cream for whipping
2 quarts graham cracker crumbs or zwieback
1 pound butter, melted

Combine two cups sugar and two cups syrup with slightly beaten egg yolks. Cook over hot water until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly. Soften gelatin in remaining syrup for five minutes. Add to hot mixture and stir until dissolved. Chill until the mixture starts to congeal; add pineapple, cottage cheese, lemon rind and juice. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, salt and whipped cream. Chill for several hours until firm.

LYNN SAYS: Food Tips Add Interest to Menu

When you serve whitefish or halibut, you'll find that cranberry sauce or jelly adds just the right note of tartness as well as color to the fish.

Rice or noodle ring makes a nice platter when filled with leftover ham or chicken creamed with peas and pimiento.

A nice easy dessert consists of tapioca mixed with crushed pineapple, served with soft boiled custard.

Serve fish on a bed of watercress if you want it to look truly effective. The greens, of course, should be eaten.

If the family doesn't take kindly to liver, parboil it, chop and mix with egg, bread crumbs, chili sauce and seasonings. Make into patties and wrap in bacon. Bake in tomato sauce.

Spring Freshet

Grace Noll Crowell

I LIKE the look of snow when it is melting And sending its clear rivulets toward the sea;

I like the sweep of dry grasses bending Beneath those bright feet, suddenly set free.

I have seen small green leaves under water That snow had hidden through the winter hours,

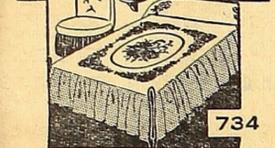

Fresher and greener and sweeter than the leafing That springs to life after the April showers:

A little clover leaf washed clean by waiting, Eager for life again at the hint of spring! I reach my fingers into the icy water To touch that tender, tremulous, wistful thing.

Knowing a kinship with it, deep and abiding, I, too, have waited until the winter passed, And I lift my head after a strange chastisement

To the bright air again, the sun at last!

By INEZ GERHARD
MOTION Picture fans whose memories go way, way back are going to take especial interest in one of the most dramatic scenes in the RKO-released "Joan of Arc." The faces of some of the judges in the trial sequence will be so familiar to them that they may concentrate on trying to place the men instead of on watching Ingrid Bergman's performance. To save them the trouble — those well-remembered faces belong to James Kirkwood, Herbert Rawlinson, Matt More, Stewart Holmes and Alan Napier.

While overseas during the war Bob Hope was fascinated by the act of a USO trouper, Billy Romano, who inflated and kneaded toy balloons into animal shapes. Meeting him recently in Hollywood, Bob asked him to a party, had him perform; guests went away and talked, and a prominent game manufacturer made a deal with him. Who says Hollywood gossip does no good!

Raymond Burr was driving to the studio to be killed in a duel with Errol Flynn, in "The Adventures of Don Juan." His car was sideswiped by a truck, on a steep road; it was caught and somewhat crushed by a telephone pole, which saved it from hurtling down an embankment. Having been saved from sudden, real death, Burr kept his date with an imitation.

Sports fans will love RKO's "Sports Coverage," a short subject showing how sports news is rushed to the public. Joe Williams, the sports columnist, is featured, covering his beat. The film includes Red Barber and Clem McCarthy (who, with Andre Baruch, are the narrators) and other sports writers and photographers, also Willie Turnesa, Gus Lesnevich and Mel Ott.

M-G-M's "The Search" is the first feature picture to be photographed in the American zone of occupied Germany; most of the exteriors were filmed in and around Nuremberg, Munich, Wurzburg and Frankfurt. A large cast, mainly non-professional, supports Montgomery Clift, Aline MacMahon, Wendell Corey and Jarmila Novotna, leading star of the Metropolitan Opera company.

The U. S. department of immigration is negotiating with United States Pictures and Warner Bros. for 50 16 mm. prints of "My Girl Tisa," for use in Americanism classes prior to examinations for citizenship. Lilli Palmer and Sam Wanamaker star.

"Make Believe Ballroom" will reach the screen, via Columbia Pictures, as an entertainment cavalcade, with six top name bands and six headline vocalists. Bob Fine, Danny Kaye's brother-in-law, is writing the screenplay.

Every Sunday night Fanny Brice gives a dinner party, and secretly records her guests' conversations; she edits the recording, using her "Baby Snooks" voice for the narration, then invites her guests to come and hear the recordings.

Cathy Lewis and Marie Wilson, co-stars of "My Friend Irma," both include the "new look" in their wardrobes, but at show time they work in dresses with the old one. They say it's superstition—but admit the old one's more becoming!

The Hollywood Brown Derby is taking down caricatures of some of the celebrities whose likenesses have adorned its walls and putting up newer stars—Cathy and Ellie Lewis among them.

ODDS AND ENDS—Top winner, the "Dr. Christian" award gets $2, and a three-month contract with M-G-M. Ben Cago, announcer for the "Danny Thomas Show," is commuting between Hollywood and Chicago, where his wife, Esther Williams, is making personal appearances. Hoagy Carmichael's front door bell plays "Star-dust" on chimes; ring at the back door and you hear "Georgia on My Mind." The state department has selected Bea Wain and Andre Baruch to record a series of programs on American life; "Mr. and Mrs. Music" will transcribe their impressions in seven languages.

When washing windows during the winter put a small quantity of ammonia or vinegar into the water. This helps to keep the water from freezing on the glass.
When laundering lace collars, sew the collars on white muslin. This will help keep them in shape.
Excessive use of oil or thinners will reduce the covering power of any paint.
For a larger and fluffier omelet, add hot instead of cold water when beating the egg yolks.
Keep acid foods, such as tomatoes, lemons and vinegar off the porcelain enamel of a range or refrigerator. They cause stains that won't come off.
Thread a dozen needles with different colored threads and put them in a pin cushion hung from the wall. It is then an easy matter to repair a garment promptly instead of placing it in the ever-growing mending bundle.

Oil Well Drilling

To date more than 1,130,000 gas and oil wells have been drilled in the United States. Approximately 420,000 of these wells still are producing. This year the industry is planning to drill 30,000 new wells to an aggregate depth of more than 100 million feet.

They Still Grow Up

Almost 500 years before Columbus, Vikings were voyaging to America to harvest the forests, yet woodlands still cover more than 630 million acres. With the spread of modern forest management methods that increase regrowth, forests can continue to supply the country's needs forever. The American tree farm movement—the growing of trees as a farm crop—has been extended to nearly 14 million acres of privately owned woodlands. With improved forest management and adequate protection from fires, tree farming is expected to provide America with perpetual forests.

to death Sunday evening near nine o'clock when you drove your car across directly in front of a speeding passenger train. It was so close that I, in the cab, could see the young girl (your sweetheart, I presume) throw her hands up in front of her face and cringe up against you in stark horror.

"If I were that young girl I'd pull away from you fast. You don't have good sense, son. You probably say you love her. I wonder. Those we love we try to protect. But not you.

"Wouldn't that have been a nice Christmas present to hand your mother—a broken and battered body. And how do you think that we in the cab of that engine would feel. We are human beings, too. We have young ones waiting home for us to return. We, too, could have been killed.

"You and your girl were one second from eternity, son.

"I hope you read this and know it means you, and that your girl, will, too. Next time you go driving around, stop and look. We don't want to hit you but we are helpless, as we cannot swerve from our given rail.

"If I were you son, and you, too, I'd thank God for that split second He granted you Sunday evening.

"I said a prayer for all when I realized you were going across. Perhaps that's what saved us all.

"Now think it over, both of you. And I'll bet you are both still shivering in your shoes.

"And please for God's sake, don't try it again.

Always Drive Carefully

Fine Yesterday — Finer Today!

For years, Pontiac has led its field in many of the basic aspects of motor car character. It has been outstanding in appearance—with its distinctive Silver Streak styling and beautiful bodies by Fisher. It has been consistently praised for its performance—based on smooth, powerful six and eight cylinder engines. It has a record for long life and dependability unsurpassed in the automotive industry.

And now, in the 1948 Pontiac, comes revealing proof of Pontiac's continuing leadership. Not only is the new Pontiac far more beautiful and luxurious—but it offers, as optional equipment on all models, the famous GM Hydra-Matic Drive! This mechanical masterpiece, which eliminates the clutch pedal and makes shifting entirely automatic, is one of the greatest contributions to driving ease and safety in the history of the motor car. And Pontiac is the world's lowest-priced car to make it available to the motoring public.

There are fifteen Pontiac models—each more beautiful and more luxurious than ever—and each an outstanding value. You are cordially invited to see and inspect them today.
