A Perch Festival will be held here April 23, 24 and 25, according to an announcement made at the Tawas Chamber of Commerce dinner held Tuesday evening at the Barnes Hotel in this city. Hugo Keiser, Jr., is general chairman of the festival committee.

Notwithstanding the severe snow storm Tuesday evening, more than 80 Chamber of Commerce members enjoyed the dinner Tuesday evening and were in attendance at the meeting which followed. George Myles president, opened the meeting and gave a short resume of the work accomplished during its first year as a two-city organization. He then called on the chairmen of the various committees which had served during the year for more detailed reports. There have been rumors that the Chamber of Commerce did not accomplish anything during the past year, but the reports revealed some very substantial accomplishments.

The organization had a membership of 167 during the past year, and the dues collected amounted to $4,033.00.

An office is maintained with a full time paid stenographer at work. Thousands of letters, pamphlets and other literature, and inquiries are answered during the year.

Court to Decide Roadside Tree Ownership

Road Commission Points Out Stand In Controversy

All trees along the County highways and within the right of way limits are under the jurisdiction of the County Road Commission. Trees that are not in the way of construction or maintenance are generally left for ornamental purposes. If it becomes necessary to cut them they are trimmed and cut into convenient lengths and piled on the adjoining property. The timber and wood then belong to the adjoining property owner.

The property owner can not legally cut or molest any tree within the right of way limits of the highway without permission from the Road Commission (on State Trunk Lines the State Highway Department has authority).

New Leaders Take Over In Bowling Tournament

Class B, Gladwin Heating with a 2894 series, was the only team to carry through the second weeks bowling in the Fifth Annual Tawas City Bowling Tournament.

V. Forcier and Harry Toms took over the Class B doubles, with a 1210 series, while Hutson now leads Class B Singles with 622 and George Tuttle second with 614. G. Hutson also led in All Events with 1543.

Silver Valley with a 2870 series took over the Class A team event, followed by Mueller Concrete with 2824 and Bronson Garage with 2801. The Libkuman-Kederman combination of Elkton paced the field in the Class A doubles, with a 1294 count, while E. Asmus of the Silver Valley team took over the first place position in Class A Singles with 688.

Class A "All-Events" found H. Ruthig pacing the field with 1707.

With the tournament half over, some good scores have been posted by both local and out state teams, and will prove some stiff scores for the bowlers to shoot at in the final two weeks of the tourney.

Bowling fans were on hand last Saturday evening for Walter E. Fetting's Silver Valley team when it rolled the 10 o'clock shift in the tourney. E. Asmus with a 665 actual series gave the fans a thrill, in pacing his team to take the lead in the team event. Mr. Fetting sponsors eleven teams in Detroit, all under the Silver team monicker, and has done a lot toward the promotion of Silver Valley Winter Sports in the Detroit area.

Entry blanks are now available for a Mixed Doubles Handicap Tournament that will be held at the Tawas City Recreation in April. Blanks can be obtained at the Tawas City Registration or from Meta Westcott, Tournament Manager.

Kiwanis Club to Sponsor 4-H Potato Project

Agricultural Agent Speaks at Tuesday Luncheon Meeting

The Tawas Kiwanis Club will sponsor a 4-H Club potato project this year was revealed at Tuesday's luncheon meeting at the Barnes Hotel. Harold Clark, county agricultural agent and active in Isosco county's 4-H club work was the principal speaker at this meeting. Other speakers were District 4-H Club Leader, Alfred Hakola, and Ruth Webb and Ernest Nash, club workers.

Agricultural Agent Clark told of the origin of the 4-H Club idea and how important it had become in the education and training of the boys and girls of our entire nation. The organization has more than 1,750,600 members in the United States.

He emphasized the need of club leaders, and the good which men and women can contribute to the training of these boys and girls by taking an active part in such leadership. Isosco county has a number of very active club workers and its clubs have been a credit to the community for many years. These benefits of club work could go to a greater number of boys and girls if the number of adult leaders could be increased.

District Leader Hakola gave a resume of the club activities in the county and outlined the program of a potato project which the Kiwanis club is sponsoring.

Ruth Webb of Hale has had six years in sewing projects, two years canning, one year food preparation and has been twice delegate to the Gaylord 4-H Club camp.

Ernest Nash has had five years in club projects. Both of these young people have accomplished much by club work.

Lose to Bay City Business College Team

Final Game of 1947-48 Basketball Season

In the final game of the 1947-48 basketball season the Tawas City Elks lost to a strong Bay City Business College quintet Friday night 46 to 35.

After an impressive first quarter in which the Elks led the Bay City squad 11 to 8, the Tawas lads bogged down on their defense and the Bay City team ran through them to pile up a substantial lead. The Bay City team scored 20 points in the second quarter which was enough for them to coast through the rest of the game. They came back in the third quarter to make 11 more points but the Elks weren't too far behind with 7. In the final quarter the Bay City squad managed to lead the Elks in scoring by one point, 9 to 8.

Don Westcott set the pace in scoring with 14 points while big Bob Steinhurst followed up with 10. Gingerich, Look and Myles played their usual good game and Myles was up in the scoring end with seven points. Blecher, elusive center on the Business College team collected 20 points.

The Reserves won their game from a big Business College team 29 to 22. The Bay City team, who were a lot taller and more experienced, were held at bay by a small reserve squad through most of the game. The College team went out in front in the third quarter by five points, but the "Little Elks" came right back in the final stanza to score 12 more while holding Bay City to two lone points. Hill was tops in scoring with eight points. Erickson and McGuire each sunk six, while Gingerich dropped in four and Del Myles made three.

The Girls' squad also won their last game of the year 22 to 11. The Tawas girls outscored their opponents in two quarters while in the other frames they had identical scores. In the first quarter the Tawas lassies sank six points while holding the Bay City girls to two. They were five points ahead at the halfway, when they made nine points while keeping the Bay City girls satisfied with eight. In the third period each team sunk three points and (Continued No. 4, Back Page)

Sears Silent on Commodity Trend

Myth of Current Price Dip: 'Truman Planned It That Way'

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—It is still open season for economists, financial experts and market wizards. It took about a week after the first drop on the commodity market to send them into their holes. Up to that time, you could get a prognostication anywhere from the Chicago stockyards to Broad and Wall streets or Pennsylvania avenue and 15th street.

But along about the sixth day of the dip, anybody who would tell you whether we were facing a permanent nose-dive or just weathering the flutter of a few yards of ticker tape was as rare as a vote against taxation (that issue, itself, had changed after the sixth dip).

The reason no expert would talk was that all of them had been making wrong predictions ever since Coolidge's permanent plateau of prosperity of pre-depression days or Hoover's corner around which prosperity was always ducking.

Baukhage

The most silent man in Washington was Secretary of the Treasury Snyder. He knew that too many people remembered what he and others had said two years ago last fall. Snyder, at that time reconversion director, had predicted that by the spring of the next year (1946) eight million people would be unemployed. In fact, so many others believed that that Henry Wallace, already dreaming of a home with white pillars on Pennsylvania avenue, decided to make "Sixty Million Jobs" a come-hither plank in his platform. He wrote a book with that title and it became a best seller. His book set a goal of 56,500,000 to 57,500,000 civilians employed by 1950.

But somebody must have stolen the idea or else they wanted to play a mean trick on Wallace—and on Snyder—anyhow there were 57,149,000 persons employed in this country as of January, 1948—two years early, and 10 months before presidential campaign time.

Likewise, in October of 1946, several astute Washington inside-stuff letter writers were saying privately to their thousands of clients, and the AFL monthly survey was saying in public print, that by early 1947 prices would come down. One could say on January of 1947, with considerable accuracy, that there was a general agreement on recession beginning soon and followed by more a little later.

Other writers predicted it a little later, and some, by summer, were insisting that deflation already was here.

But what happened? In the very year of that doleful prophecy, prices started on the upshoot that took them into their all-time high.

Many other similar bad guesses might be mentioned, all of which contributed toward making the prophets reticent, and so when the slide came in February of this year, nobody would even whisper "fox" for fear that not even a kit would appear. They knew that nobody would believe them after all the without-the-wolf-wolfing that had been going on.

In any case, this dip, drop, depression or delusion, whichever it turns out to be by the time these lines reach print, or later, will have its garland of myths and legends entwined about it.

The best myth, of course, is that Mr. Truman "planned it that way."

The blueprint is simple enough if you are good at reading a blueprint between the lines. Prices were getting too high. At worst, they might bring on a real depression before election; at best, they would bring a series of strikes and work stoppages which might seriously hamper the Marshall plan on the one hand, and add to the discontent of the voters on the other. It would be like any operation, not dangerous from the surgeon's point of view. Just a little amputation of credit, at least so said doctors who work on the body economic, which would let enough blood out of some businesses to cause a little unemployment. Enough to scare off strikes and make businessmen a little more cautious about expansion.

There was some evidence that this may really have been intended because the President did ask in his November 17 message to congress for credit controls and increased bank reserves. However, when congress said "humph" to that along with the President's other recommendations, he turned around and demoted the man who is said to have written the deflation prescription from the chairmanship of the federal reserve board (Marriner Eccles), and put in a man supposed to have more sympathy with an opposite course.

However we mustn't spoil a good story by facts. There are other points which can be introduced to give a touch of verisimilitude to an otherwise not-too-convincing narrative. The south-sayers say that several methods were pursued, some of them successfully. For example, the President slam-banged at what he called the "gamblers" in commodities who were driving up food prices by speculating in grain and other futures.

That did open a Pandora's box, and some of the plagues released alighted on the very roof of the White House. But it also threw a scare into the marketeers and the markets.

Then came the day of a White House press and radio conference when the President made a remark—credited at the time by some of his friends as an unhappy slip—when he said that if the cost of living was not controlled, there would be a crash. That got headlines, frightened a lot of little fellows who pulled out their chips and, combining with other evil Jinns released from the economists' Jinn bottles, did the trick.

There are many others of these tales which will grow, such as the creating of sun-spots by the administration's atomic-energy experts. But one is enough for the moment. Anyhow "it was planned that way!"

Taft-Hartley Issue Losing Its Potency

There has been a lot of noise over the Taft-Hartley act lately, and on the surface it looks as if the law might become an issue in the presidential campaign. If that should happen, it certainly would help the prestige of Senator Taft. But the old-timers say it can't happen.

As you know, last autumn, right after the act went into effect, a lot of people felt its provisions would decide the votes in the bye-elections. But those elections came and went, and it was hard to adduce any statistics to prove that T-H had figured very much, if at all.

Later on, animosity against the law died down. But now both the CIO and AFL have announced their preliminary plans for campaigning against the men who voted for it; Taft has used it in his campaign speeches in Midwest centers where labor is strong; Philip Murray was indicted under its provisions, and both Murray, representing the CIO, and the International Typographers' union have charged it is unconstitutional. But the issue still fails to command any real dramatic interest.

This is another proof of how a controversial issue that calls forth bitter debate and stirs up nationwide interest at the moment, can fade into the background as time passes, and by election day have little or no effect on votes.

It is much like a fire that makes Page 1 because it breaks out just as an edition of an afternoon paper is going to press. It may get a banner on Page 1 if the news is light, but by the next edition, it may have shrunk to a single head on an inside page. Recency expands the importance of all events. You may recount excitedly at dinner how you almost got hit by a truck on the way to work. But by tomorrow night, you'll be telling with much more gusto about a fish you caught last summer.

The City of Washington always quails before a real snowstorm like a pup with the hose turned on it.

FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE . . . Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt presents the national achievement award, one of America's highest honors, to the Dowager Marchioness of Reading, England, for her "distinguished services to her country which have been an inspiration to the women of other countries."

NEWS REVIEW

Aid for China Asked; Senate OKs Budget Cut

Although it was obvious that his heart wasn't in it, President Truman presented congress with a request for 570 million dollars to be sent to China as a prop for the founding economy of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

White House and state department sources admitted that the request was something less than a half-measure and claimed that the President had acted under pressure from the Republican congress which has insisted that the U. S. must support Chiang against the Communist revolution in connection with the European recovery plan.

At best the 570 million dollars is a token gesture—just a chip in relation to the vast amount of timber that would be needed to restore the rotting derelict of Chiang's government.

Theory behind this latest extension of aid, which will be used to finance Chinese imports of cereals, petroleum, coal, fertilizer and so forth, is that the money will enable Chiang's government to free other resources for purchase of arms and ammunition to continue the fight against the Communist guerrillas.

But that is more of an idle hope than a valid theory, because the government forces, despite their American arms and equipment, are being bested consistently by the Communists.

BUDGET CUT: Indiffirent

With little discussion and a good deal of outright indifference, the senate adopted a resolution to cut President Truman's fiscal 1949 budget by 2.5 billion dollars.

How much significance the senate resolution would have in the final analysis was questionable, in view of prevailing uncertainties which might affect both sides of the ledger.

The 2.5-billion-dollar reduction would leave an estimated 10 billion dollars for tax cuts and debt reduction. Republicans, therefore, were feeling increasingly confident that an income tax slash of up to 5 billion dollars could be enacted.

Brevity of the senate discussion and its lack of appoleptic oratory was in direct contrast to last year's strident contest over the budget committee's recommendation of a 6-billion-dollar cut in the 1948 budget.

Democrats made no effort to block the proposed spending slash which had been recommended by the house-senate budget committee. It still requires house adoption.

Biggest bug in the senate's budget recommendation was the fact that it probably embodied a number of inaccurate estimates. Republican sponsors of the measure admitted that accurate estimates of budget needs were impossible at the time.

Sen. Styles Bridges (Rep., N. H.), chairman of the budget committee, compared the estimates with "a pre-game guess at the final score." But Sen. Alben Barkley (Dem., Ky.) called the procedure "a step in the dark."

IRELAND: New Premier

Even to members of the Eire assembly who had helped defeat him it was strange to see Eamon De Valera, premier of Ireland for 16 years, sitting quietly on the opposite side of the house as leader of the opposition.

In his place as premier was John A. Costello, former attorney general, whom the assembly had voted into office after a new six-party coalition had taken control of the legislative group as a result of the previous elections.

Costello, in a dignified speech to the assembly, explained his sudden emergence as premier of Ireland:

"I consented to this nomination at the request of a number of parties who felt that the interest of the country required that there should be an inter-party government and that the premier of that government should occupy a position in political life detached from the controversial bitterness of the past."

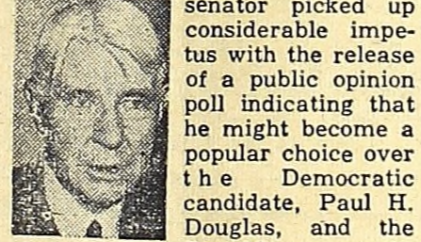

The "inter-party government" whose choice Costello was is compounded of six political parties of apparently divergent ideals: Republican, United Ireland, Labor, National Labor, Independent and Farmers.

Just how long a government made up of so many diverse components would last was the subject of much speculation in Ireland. In their present cooperative mood the parties of the coalition may carry on for a year or two, but few were prepared to give the government a much longer span of life.

CAT FEET: First a Dream

Like the fog that "comes on little cat feet," Carl Sandburg, honored and honorable free-verse poet and voluminous biographer of Lincoln, was creeping into the senatorial race in Illinois.

A hitherto almost imperceptible drive supporting Sandburg as a possible candidate for senator picked up considerable impetus with the release of a public opinion poll indicating that he might become a popular choice over the Democratic candidate, Paul H. Douglas, and the Republican candidate, Sen. C. Wayland Brooks.

SANDBURG

As far as the question of how a poet can turn into a politician is concerned, those favoring him say he is a "good man," he understands the common people and is educated and well-informed about the country's needs. The opposition claims he is politically inexperienced and, since he is a writer, is an impractical dreamer and an idealist.

But Sandburg, the poet, once wrote:

"The republic is a dream.
Nothing happens unless first a dream."

New GPO Business Venture

WE WONDER how proponents of individual free enterprise will feel about the government printing office going into the chain book store business. For that's exactly what GPO wants to do—open up regional book stores in various sections of the country to speed up delivery of some 30,000,000 copies of the 70,000 different books and pamphlets which it has printed and has on hand.

Last year GPO was rated the world's largest publisher and turned over to the U. S. treasury more than three million dollars it obtained from the sale of about 37,000,000 books and pamphlets.

Most of these books are sold by mail from a nickel up to possibly a dollar a copy and consequently much of the revenue was in small coins. Thousands of the small coins attached by glue or tape to letters had to be washed in gasoline to remove the stickiness.

Best seller, according to GPO, was a 15 cent booklet, "Infant Care," put out by the U. S. children's bureau. More than four million copies have been sold, many to physicians.

One costly item—$50 for 37 volumes of the actual record of the trial of the major war criminals at Nuernberg—is another good seller and right now in demand is the state department's $1 volume of "Nazi-Soviet Relations." It contains captured documents from the German foreign office files from 1939-41.

Special Delivery Letter

Mr. Henry Wallace,
Dear Hen:

In a press interview you said to newsmen, "You'll be amazed at the final outcome of this campaign. You have no idea how many people are afraid to express their views these days. For example I am constantly surprised by the number of people who see me in elevators and say they will vote for me."

Well, Henry, maybe you have the elevator vote sewed up. I do not blame you for clutching at it, as a lot of voters ride in elevators. You are the first candidate for the presidency to appreciate the support of elevator passengers. The rest haven't appreciated what a lift (that's a joke, son) elevator voters can give a man.

You have caught them napping, Henry. The elevator vote is significant, local or express. There is also the escalator or moving stairway vote, Hank, which you should not overlook. A lot of your supporters are escalator types; they like to sit down while going upstairs. This is a growing trend in America and a man who could promise escalators for all would be a shoo-in.

In the meantime, Henry, check the people who are for you going up in elevators, subtract those who are for you going down and multiply by those who walk up. This will give you as good a line on the outcome as any deductions you are making now.

Yours truly
Elmer.

Judge Can Wield Power

THERE is always a delicate question how far a judge should go in running a trial. If he thinks the U. S. attorney is throwing down the case, deliberately sticking his chin out or neglecting the government's interests, he has the power to butt in and ask questions. He can call him into his chambers and warn him. He can practically take over and make sure that none of the jurors is under obligation to anybody.

But does it ever happen? The U. S. attorney in charge may be doing his best, but the fumble and fix can take place in the preparation of the case or the drawing of the jury. Or he might be an earnest third-rater stuck up against the trickiest criminal lawyers in the country.

The department of justice persecuted a whole covey of citizens during the war for thinking disloyal thoughts. The case dissolved after months of disgraceful nonsense. It will be historic, for people were dragged clear across the country and forced to exist in poverty to be present at an outrageous farce poked up by a lot of Roosevelt's idolators merely because some of the defendants said they admired Hitler or hated Roosevelt.

Yet a hundred thousand Communists have flaunted their attachment to a power which is held to be a mortal enemy of our government. Not one of them ever has been indicted for sedition or treason and hundreds of them got jobs in the Roosevelt government.

Signs of the Times

Wanna buy a snake? Besides the night club varieties, animal dealers are stuck with dozens of 'em. . . . If you don't think times are tough, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, the zillionaire, is wearing his seven-year-old polo coat!

Wanna House Cheap? A public relations firm offered a castle in England to anyone in the U. S. who would claim it. The offer didn't get one inquiry!

Litree tea talkers hear Marion Hargrove refused to revise his new novel—the reason the Literary guild turned it down and MGM won't film it. The movie deal was based on its being a guild selection. The author's decision, they add, probably will cost him $25,000.

Anti-Truman Feeling Grows

ANTI-TRUMAN resentment among the Democrats now is so deep that some actually are talking about trying to dump him.

What Mr. Truman has succeeded in doing is alienating both wings of the party—the southern Democrats and the northern liberals. This was something that Roosevelt, despite the kicking around he gave to some leaders, was careful never to do.

But now Mr. Truman has rubbed northern liberals the wrong way by ousting such Roosevelt appointees as Marriner Eccles, James Landis and John Fahey. Simultaneously he has made southern leaders boil over with indignation at his civil-rights message.

In fact, the only people Mr. Truman has pleased are the Republicans. Result of all this is that some Democratic leaders are even talking among themselves about finding a new candidate. Admittedly they don't think the chance is great; for it's almost impossible to block the renomination of a sitting president.

However, some of them have been quietly discussing a boom for Justice William O. Douglas, while others talk about a draft-Eisenhower move for the Democratic ticket. After all, the first and only political speech Ike ever made was at a Jackson Day dinner at the age of 18.

Much Talk, No Action

THERE has been too much talk and not enough action in regard to national economies on the part of congress. Individual Republicans are loud in their demands for less spending but collectively they continue to vote for things we could do without. Individuals condemn the maintenance of an army of useless bureaucrats. Collectively they vote the money to continue to pay their salaries. It is time congress, as a body, provides the economies individual members insist must be made. It would be good politics to make good on promises. That is good advice for politicians at all times, especially in an election year.

TUNE IN TOMORROW

Soap Operas Benefit Society

Relax, ladies. Don't feel guilty about listening to the great and grievous trials of "John's Other Schmoie" every day at 11:15 a. m., brought to you through the courtesy of Philbottom's Ossified Sheep Dip.

The news is now out that soap operas, as presented interminably on the radio, actually might do you some downright good.

An anthropologist, Prof. W. Lloyd Warner, and a psychologist, Dr. William E. Henry, tuned in on a daytime radio serial over a long period and arrived at the ponderous solution that soap operas are "of considerable value to our society."

Broadcasting system, based their report on a detailed analysis of the serialized drama, "Big Sister."

Women being the chief listeners, it is they who derive the greatest benefits from these daytime dirges by having their egos bolstered and their spirits strengthened by hearing stories of fictional women going through problems and experiences that parallel their own, the scientists pointed out.

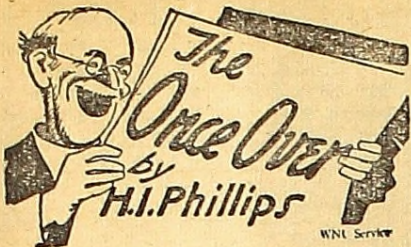

"The basic and primary theme is that good and noble women who are wives and mothers are invincible within their own arena of life, the American family," said the report.

"Men, who are superordinate elsewhere, are subordinate and dependent (in the story) on the wisdom of the wife. This primary theme always triumphs over the second theme which runs counter to it—that family ties can be broken and a woman's security threatened chiefly by the loss of the husband to other women, and, quite secondarily and obliquely, by death."

Moreover, the social scientists said, the program, among other things, provides its women listeners with "moral beliefs, values and techniques for solving emotional and interpersonal problems—and makes them feel they are learning while they listen."

In brief, the report added up to a clear-cut spiritual and moral victory of the soap opera over its hardened and blasé critics.

THOUGHTS ON SKI FANATICS

This is the biggest skiing season America has ever had. You can't look out of any window above the Mason-Dixon line without seeing a flock of "schussboomers" zooming in various positions of complete instability.

A ski enthusiast is a fellow who is happiest when he has both feet off the ground and is wearing the facial expression of a parachutist who suddenly realizes he jumped without his chute.

He is a guy who doesn't mind where he is so long as he is not upside down.

More and more gals are taking it up. A female ski jumper is a girl who thinks the laws of gravity were written by Benny Goodman in collaboration with Olsen and Johnson. She is a snowbunny who doesn't care where she goes, provided her destination is vague and her arrival abrupt and embarrassing.

Put a damsel on a ski slide and you are witnessing a demonstration in bizarre behavior hitherto reserved for escapes via the icy roof by inmates of the Home for Wayward Girls, all making their getaway in the belief a couple of bed-sheets made an ideal pair of shoes.

She goes where she listeth and she landeth where it hurteth.

Once upon a time you could go to the snow-hills of this country and find only ski jumpers who knew how to do it. Today every slope constitutes a convention site for a bevy of beginners, all of whom do not know where their next fracture is coming from.

They confuse the take-off from a snowy peak as the same as a leap from a boarding-house attic. Everything is a jake with them if they come down the same season, with no navigable parts missing.

As long as a ski artist had to climb back up the hill there was no mass participation. But for the last few years the ski slides have had mechanical towropes to haul them back, and now everybody can play, whether for fun, fresh air, suicide or to settle a bet.

Pass the buttered rum and put another log on the fire. We have tied a pine plank to each foot and are about to find out if we are man or jetplane.

SILVER LINING
The snow is high, the ice is thick;
There is no heat for me to cook;
But, ah, the mailman came today
And brought a spring seeds book.

Lines on the Winter of '48

In forty-seven-forty-eight
The winter never did abate;
It went from bad to extra raw—
There never was the slightest thaw.

The icicles of early fall
Had not decreased by March at all;
December's frost on window pane
Each morning showed a one-yard gain.

By keyhole in the kitchen door
The snow came in six feet and more;
Storm-windows gave up everywhere—
They couldn't take the frigid air!

Hot water bottles by the pack
Just froze upon the feet and back;
A wooden blanket charged with heat
Felt like a strip of frozen sheet.

The radiator and its tubes
Gave out with nothing but ice cubes;
The furnace gave no trace of heat.
We used the thing for freezing meat!

DOG CHAMPS

This is the dog show season and we await the following awards:

MINERVA'S ACE III: — Shows splendid disposition, despite all the substitutes fed her for meat.

ALLIGAZAMMUS DUDE: — Has never bitten the butcher, although conscious of fact the tightwad hasn't thrown in a few beef scraps in two years.

KING WHIFFENPOOF'S BABE II: — Still likes human beings after having lived in Manhattan apartment all life, with two brief trips outdoors each day.

VANISHING AMERICANISMS:

"We haven't much money, but we have a nice warm home."
"Rap on the radiator, I'm cold."

A legislator proposes a law to arrest autoists for driving too slowly. This being the screwball age that it unquestionably is, we suggest a statute providing a life sentence for the driver who makes a street crossing carefully, and the chair for the fellow who has never run over anybody in his life.

OLD MAN RIVER STRIKES AGAIN . . . Heavy rains and thawing snows once more have brought Midwest rivers to the flood stage. Rivers in six states swept over their banks, inundating thousands of acres of farm lands and forcing the evacuation of an estimated 6,000 persons. In Shelbyville, Tenn., 150 families were made homeless when the Duck river spilled over into low portions of the town. Another small community (inset) was left entirely dependent upon the meager stock of supplies on hand as rising flood waters severed all highway access to other towns.

ON GUARD IN THE HOLY LAND . . . This heroically designed scene shows a group of Haganah youths on guard with their dogs at a defense post inside one of the Jewish settlements in the Negev, desert area in southern Palestine. They are compelled to keep constant watch to guard against Arab attacks and to keep Arabs from attacking outlying farms or sabotaging the reservoirs which are all-important, both to farming and to life itself in the great dry area. The intolerable condition in Palestine has been pointed up by the recommendation of the United Nations Palestine commission that the U. N. send a military force to Palestine to enforce the partition.

WELL, LOOK — GRAIN FROM RUSSIA . . . British dock workers plunge their hands lovingly into grain which arrived at London's central granary aboard Russian liberty ship Baku. It was first shipment of grain from the USSR to England under an exchange agreement whereby Russia will get heavy machinery from Britain. The pact was made to increase British exports.

JUST ONE 'S', THAT IS . . . Sen. James O. Eastland (Dem., Miss.) and his secretary, Mrs. Jean Allen, point with pride to a reproduction of the misspelled Mississippi commemorative three-cent stamp. The forthcoming stamp, marking the 150th anniversary of Mississippi's admission as a territory, spells it "Mississippi," as it appears on the state's official territorial seal.

MAROONED . . . Buffeted by a screaming gale, this frail looking helicopter dropped food supplies to three keepers of the light off Wolf Rock, England, after they had been marooned 26 days.

TWO-MEDAL GIRL . . . Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, Vancouver, Wash., housewife, holds two medals she won in skiing events at winter Olympics in Switzerland. One is gold medal for first place in the women's special slalom event.

Veterans' SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Subsistence Payments Increased

In response to the demand of public opinion, President Truman has signed the bill providing for an increase in subsistence payments to student-veterans going to school under the G.I. bill. The bill increases subsistence allowances for single veterans from $65 to $75 and for married veterans from $90 to $105 and for veterans with more than one dependent to $120. It is estimated that the increase will cost approximately 300 million dollars. The law goes into effect April 1, so increase in subsistence payments will come with May checks.

Also, as this is written, house and senate conference committees are thrashing out an agreement on increasing the ceiling for on-the-job training payments from the government. At present the ceiling is $175 for single veterans and $200 for married veterans.

The house bill fixes the ceiling at $250 for single veterans, $325 for veterans with one dependent and $350 for veterans with more than one dependent, while the senate version fixes $200 for single veterans and $250 for married veterans. The compromise will be somewhere between the two sets of figures.

Questions and Answers

Q. I am a World War II veteran and have been out of the army since September 22, 1946. I went to the TB hospital and had X-rays taken and they showed I had TB in one lung, but not bad. The doctor said if I would not work hard and take care of myself it wouldn't be any trouble to me. I am one of the boys that has to work. Now what do I do?—G. D., Hatfield, Ark.

A. The question is whether your illness is bothering you, since you do not say in your letter. If it is and you are unable to work because of it, suggest that you contact your nearest office of Veterans' administration and ask for an examination and a physical disability rating. There is a regional office at Little Rock and a sub-regional office at Texarkana. The veterans' counselor will advise you what to do.

Q. I am an ex-serviceman and would like some information. During the winter of 1944 I was in combat with the 302nd FA, Bn., Battery A, 76th division. During the battle of the Ardennes or sometime during the winter I had two toes freeze. I never had much trouble with them except that I lost the nail on one toe. Now these two toes get sore and the one with no nail drains most of the time with inflammation. I would like to know if I could claim any benefits from that and how I would go about it.—B. K. C., Waxahachie, Tex.

A. You should immediately file a claim both for treatment and a disability rating at your nearest VA Office, which is at Love field in Dallas. If this shows up on your service record you will have no trouble identifying it as a service-connected disability. If it does not show on your service record they may ask you some questions as proof of service connection. We do not think you will have any trouble, however.

Q. Our son has applied for treatment at a veterans' hospital but since he mailed his application there has been illness in his family and it would work a hardship on his wife and little ones if he would leave them and go to a hospital. Our question is, does he forfeit his privilege of going to the hospital if he does not immediately accept hospitalization?—Mrs. O. J. H., Sedalia, Mo.

A. Veterans' administration says if hospitalization is requested for a period of observation, it must be accepted promptly unless hardship would result. In your case, it would appear that hardship would result and this could be explained to VA officials without prejudice to his case.

Q. May a veteran who is dissatisfied with the decision of the vocational rehabilitation and education division appeal his case to a higher authority?—R. G. H., Buffalo, N. Y.

A. The veteran has the same rights to appeal his case as to any other benefits under Veterans' administration.

Q. How may a veteran reinstate lapsed term national service life insurance? Are there any penalty fees for such reinstatement?—R. C. S., Chicago, Ill.

A. Such lapsed insurance may be reinstated merely by filling out a simple form and paying two monthly premiums. Ordinarily no physical examination is required if a veteran certifies that his health is as good as it was when the insurance lapsed. No penalty or fee of any kind is paid by a veteran who reinstates his term life insurance after it has lapsed.

Mud-Fly Fishing Rules

Mud-fly fishing is a new tactic recommended for use in deep water holes where trout simply refuse to rise to the angler's lures. Take a coachman fly and clip the wings. Then pack mud into a ball about it. Drop the mud-packed fly on the smooth water. As it settles to the bottom, with the water disintegrating the mud into little spiraling swirls, the trout should smash it for curiosity alone.

A WOMAN'S PLACE

By JOHN T. CAVANAUGH

"SO, SALUSTRI is back," Managing Editor Pepper Drislane exclaimed as he clicked down the receiver. Excitedly, Police Chief Lawton had just shouted into the telephone, "This guy is looking for blood—don't take any unnecessary risks."

In the editorial room of the Hartford Herald, Drislane sat with his head in his hands and mournfully looked over his city staff—two old men and seven girls. "Thirty years in newspapers and this has to happen to me—a chance to make headline history and here I am saddled with a bunch of sob sisters."

The Salustri case had been spectacular from the start. The self-styled big shot of the numbers racket had challenged repeatedly: "There ain't nobody going to pin a rap on me. This gazabo's got protection all the way to the state house and back and don't forget it."

But Jerry Cowan, erstwhile reporterial star of the Herald, and Managing Editor Drislane chose to forget it to the tune of pinning a 20-year federal sentence on the numbers king. Then the slipp; while waiting for the train that would carry him to prison, Salustri outwitted the guards, slugged the marshal and was on his way.

With the news of his escape, Jerry and Drislane knew Salustri would be back. The Herald's constant and merciless headlines had galled the gangster, bored right into his pride. "Sure, he'll be back," the reporter told his editor, "and when he does, he'll head for our office first."

That was two years ago. Now Jerry was on assignment in the Pacific. Meanwhile, the managing editor waited. Of course, he was jumpy; who wouldn't be when each corner might turn into a hail of hot lead? And now the chief of police had passed the word that Salustri had been spotted in Bayside, just 11 miles this side of Hartford.

The managing editor was dismayed, fingering the last cigarette in his squashed pack when Publisher Jim Geldhorn came into the room. Drislane blinked his eyes and dropped the cigarette—doggone, if it wasn't another girl. Attractive and well built, but still another girl.

Geldhorn hustled the young woman over to an empty desk and hurriedly left. "On a newspaper a girl reporter isn't worth the powder it takes to camouflage her nose," Drislane had exploded when the publisher unobtrusively attempted to install the last girl on the city staff.

"All I hear these days is I've got an appointment with the hairdresser, the dressmaker, the butcher, the baker—!" These girls have an appointment with everyone but me and their work," he ranted. "Is this a newspaper office or a sorority house?"

"Chief," said thin-pated, fiftyish Mike Bales, the paper's only bachelor, coming up to the managing editor's desk. "I'm going to hop down to Nick's for a shave." Generally Mike shaved every second day and today was a first.

"Darn," muttered Drislane, "we're off again and it'll take another three weeks to see who is really queen bee of this hive."

The managing editor's head was poked under his desk in search of his lost cigarette when a pair of shapely legs approached.

"Mr. Drislane," he heard a feminine voice say, "I'd like to be assigned to the Salustri case."

Abruptly, a hush fell over the Herald editorial room and light expectant reporterial heads poised over their typewriters as the managing editor took several seconds to come up from under his desk.

In the face of the gathering editorial clouds, the new girl bravely continued with her request and began to fumble with a gold locket which was looped around her neck. "The picture I have from Jerry—" she offered but got no further.

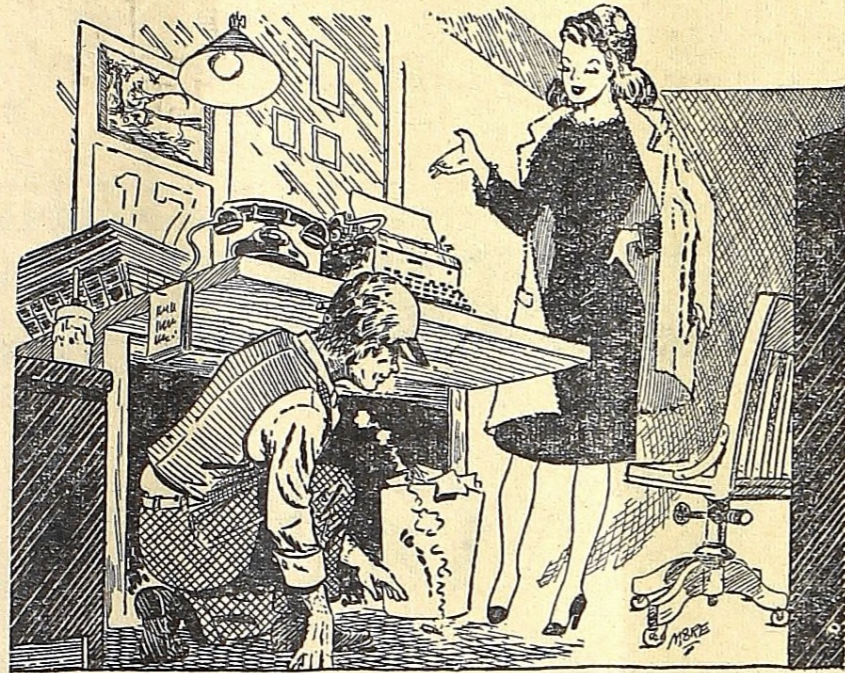

The thunder broke loose and Drislane hissed, his face purple, "On a newspaper, a woman"—he didn't finish but resignedly collapsed in his chair.

With effort he continued feebly, "Miss Whatever-your-name-is, go get a manicure—get a cup of coffee escape from the United States Marshal's office in 1943, was recognized by the reporter as she walked through the barber shop to the beauty salon at the rear of the building. Miss Hewes, upon seeing Salustri, continued through the shop and left by a rear exit and soon returned with a squad of police officers.

"The reporter said that she had identified the gangster through his picture which she had carried in a gold locket given to her by her fiance, Jerry Cowan, formerly police reporter on The Herald and now on assignment in the South Pacific.

"Having threatened the life of my fiance, Salustri was a potential —get anything. But for right now, just get."

As the girl hastily traced Mike Bales' rapidly retreating footsteps, Drislane sighed, "Even Jerry Cowan away out in the Pacific is getting balmy. On top of all this, imagine his wanting to saddle me with his fiancee, some up-country jane who probably doesn't know a dateline from a clothesline." Gleelessly, he pictured himself setting up ambush for the next time the publisher came in with another girl.

After an hour of planting imaginary booby traps all over the newspaper plant, the managing editor had mentally destroyed the publisher and all the girls on the staff a dozen times over. Just when he was halfway through his masterpiece of stuffing Geldhorn and the girls through the news press to be delivered as supplements to the 5 o'clock edition, Mike Bales with a face full of lather tore into the room.

"Chief, Chief," the reporter panted, "they just got him."

"Just got who — when — where?" Drislane roared.

"Salustri, at the barber shop," said Mike, furiously shoving a piece of copy paper into his typewriter. "I'll have the story written for the last edition in a jiffy."

DOWNSTAIRS the presses were silent and waiting as the managing editor's pencil poised over the reporter's scoop.

"Nat Salustri, former numbers czar who escaped local police two years ago, today was captured in Nick's barber and beauty shop on Main Street through the efforts of Miss Loretta Hewes, a member of The Herald's editorial staff," the story read.

"The gangster, who has hidden from the police since his spectacular threat to my coming marriage, so I carried his picture, knowing that I would run into him some day," Miss Hewes said. "Now that he is captured, I know that I can plan to marry Jerry as soon as he returns."

Speechless, the managing editor scanned the copy. Then, poised his pencil, he added to the message: "In the meantime, I will continue working at The Herald as police reporter."

TOWBOAT PILOT

By Elston J. Melton

(Canton Printers . . . $4)

Here at last is an intelligently written book for adolescent boys, one of the best of its kind since the immortal Mark Twain penned that perennial favorite, "Tom Sawyer."

Tom Briggs is essentially a good boy, but because he takes precious time away from his daily chores to swim with his chum, Johnny Sanders, and because he dreams constantly of the day when he might be a towboat pilot on the mighty Gasconade river, he is considered lazy and shiftless by his cruel stepfather and many of the town citizens.

You'll share Tom's frustration when, after he works hard to buy himself a small boat so that he can fish to support his family, his stepfather sells the boat and pockets the money. You'll share his horror when his hunting rifle goes off accidentally in the post office and he is accused by Mr. Pugh, the postmaster, of having deliberately attempted to kill him.

Despite his many handicaps, Tom proves through sheer perseverance and courage that he is capable of being a towboat captain. The story carries him from the age of 12 when he is in the dream stage, through the age of 21, when he makes his first cruise as a pilot. But long before the realization of his ambition, he earns the respect of his neighbors when he clears Mr. Pugh of a possible murder charge of which only Tom knows he is innocent, thus proving that he holds no malice in his heart for the postmaster who would have sent Tom to a juvenile home when he, too, was wrongly accused of a crime.

The book is a joy for those loving the great outdoors. Mr. Melton, a prominent Missouri newspaper man, knows his subject well and handles it beautifully with the result that there emerges a book full of tears and joy, tenderness and adventure.

New Uranium Discoveries Show Wide Distribution

The world is expanding its known sources of uranium, vital mineral of the Atomic Age.

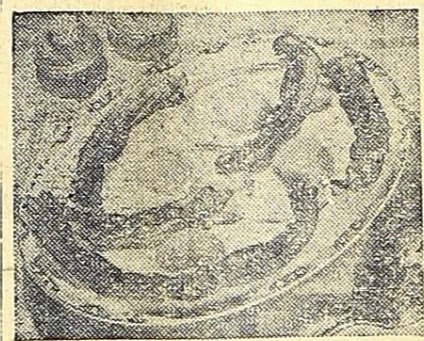

Both newly independent Burma and the Union of South Africa have announced the discovery of extensive uranium deposits, National Geographic society notes. These latest finds are further evidence that the atomic-energy ore is much more widely distributed around the globe than popularly believed.

Prospecting for uranium lodes is much simpler than searching for gold. The uranium can be detected easily by a scientific "divining rod." Radioactive by nature, the mineral literally broadcasts its whereabouts in the ground. Forty years ago Hans Geiger, a German scientist, invented the instrument which hunts out the hidden ore.

Healthful Breakfast Will Appeal to Family If Menus Are Varied

All those in favor of bacon and eggs have the right idea for there's no denying the importance of a substantial breakfast. In addition to bacon and eggs, the pattern should include fruit or fruit juice, toast, butter and a beverage.

You can't expect a first-class health rating if you skip breakfast frequently. And you can't do your best work, be you business man, farmer, housewife, career girl or school child, if mid-morning hunger pains bother you.

The remedy? A well-rounded breakfast that gives you foods essential for health.

You say you can't eat breakfast? Nonsense. Of course, if you're one of those skip-breakfast people, it may take you a little time to get used to eating it, but little by little you can do it and really like it. It's worth it, if you feel better and can work better, isn't it?

Afraid of gaining weight, you say? No, not if breakfast includes a citrus fruit, soft boiled or poached egg, dry toast and coffee or tea without cream or sugar. You won't have nearly as hard a time resisting the snacks which put on weight if you're fortified with a nicely balanced breakfast.

We have variety in lunches and dinners, why not plan to have it in breakfasts? It will make them ever so much more interesting.

Prepare eggs in several different styles, scrambled, poached, soft boiled, coddled, fried, baked or creamed. Have interesting breads and spreads.

Don't forget that meats add variety, too. Try sliced or fried ham as well as bacon, sausage, Canadian bacon or dried beef.

Then, too, you can find interesting variations for pancakes and waffles. Why not this:

2 tablespoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup melted shortening
¼ cup bran

Beat eggs and sugar until light and fluffy. Add milk and mix well. Sift flour with baking powder and salt; add to first mixture, stirring until flour disappears. Add shortening. Fold in bran. Bake on a hot griddle, turning only once.

You'll find that Dutch pancakes will do a nice filling job during breakfast, as well as contributing the valuable protein of eggs for this meal.

Dutch Pancakes.
(Serves 4)

4 eggs
½ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons soft butter
Confectioners' sugar
Jam

Beat eggs thoroughly. Sift flour and salt together and add to eggs alternately with milk to make a smooth batter. Spread butter over bottom and sides of cold frying pan. Pour in batter and place in a hot (400 degree) oven. Bake 20 to 25 minutes, reducing heat gradually to moderate (350 degrees) during the baking. Pancakes should puff up at the sides.

LYNN SAYS: Remember These Facts About Yeast Breads

Rising time on bread or rolls usually follows this pattern: Dough made with one cake of yeast and two cups of liquid will take three hours to rise. Each subsequent rising takes less time.

Rising may be hastened by using more yeast. However, not more than two cakes of yeast should be used in the average recipe for fear of giving too much yeast flavor.

If the dough has not risen enough, place in a moderate rather than a hot oven to bake.

and be crisp and brown. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and spread with jam. Roll like an omelet and serve immediately from a hot platter.

Eggs and Pork Sausage.
(Serves 6)
½ pound bulk pork sausage
3 cups dry cubed bread
6 eggs, beaten
6 tablespoons milk
½ cup grated cheese

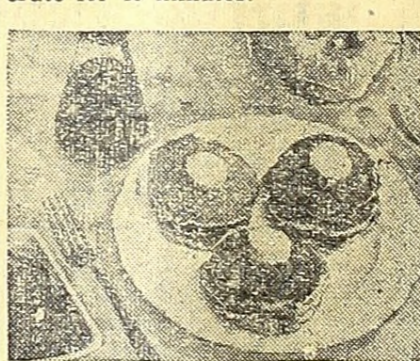

Saute sausage in skillet until well browned. Pour off most of the fat, then add bread cubes and brown. Combine eggs, milk and cheese and add to sausage mixture. Cook like scrambled eggs. Serve at once.

Shirred Eggs and Sausages.
(Serves 6)
6 link sausages
1 cup catsup
6 eggs

Cut sausages into one-inch pieces and brown lightly. Place in a shallow baking dish and cover with catsup. Break eggs over catsup and bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 15 minutes.

Sour Cream Coffee Rolls.
2 cups milk
1 cup sour cream
¾ cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
4 beaten eggs
2 cakes yeast
¼ cup warm water
13 cups flour

Scald milk and cream. Add shortening, salt and sugar, then cool. Add the eggs and the yeast which has been softened in lukewarm water. Add the flour to make a stiff dough. Blend well. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Cover the bottom of large muffin tins with ½-inch thick pieces of dough. Cover with filling and place another piece of dough on top. This may be baked as a coffee loaf in the same manner, covering the bottom of a loaf tin with dough, putting on the filling and covering with another piece of dough. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake rolls in a hot oven 25 minutes. For bread, use a hot oven for 10 minutes, then reduce to moderate for 40 minutes.

Hardly anyone can resist piping hot pancakes with butter and syrup for breakfast. For those with substantial appetites and large caloric needs, serve pancakes often. Or, use them to add variety to the breakfast pattern.

Filling.
1 cup cooked, chopped prunes
½ cup sugar
½ cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup raisins

Mix together thoroughly. The sour cream coffee dough will make three loaves of bread and several dozen rolls.

Banana Sour Cream Bread.
(Makes 1 large loaf)
¾ cup thick sour cream
½ cup brown sugar
1½ cups mashed banana
1 cup bran
1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda

Blend the first four ingredients. Add, sifted together, the dry ingredients. Place in a greased loaf pan and let stand 20 minutes. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for about one hour. Make this the day before, and toast for breakfast. It's delicious.

Sugar is yeast food and it also gives flavor to bread. Too large amounts retard the yeast growth.

Soft crusts can be achieved by brushing with melted fat just before baking.

Dry yeast keeps longer than fresh yeast but it must be kept in a cool dry place.

Faith

by Grace Noll Crowell

FAITH takes on the look of silver things:
A shimmering path at night across the sea,
The points of stars, the silver tips of wings,
The white, still luminosity
Of gabled rooftops when the moon shines down
The streets of any town.

Faith is a silvered brightness in the soul.
A shaft set there to point the way to heaven,
And carved upon it is a lettered scroll,
Its words miraculously given
To guide the traveler on his shining way
Upon the road today.

God help me keep my faith, illumined by tears,
And uncorroded by the rust of years.

This Home-Mixed Cough Syrup Is Most Effective

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This gives you a full pint of wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving because it gives you about four times as much for your money. Never spoils. Tastes fine.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough relief. Swiftly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for quick and pleasing results.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Pinex Is Dependable!

don't use Harsh Laxatives

Keep regular this healthful way—

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination.

No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C, supply valuable amounts of B1 and P. They alkalize, aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

JUNE LOCKHART, who became the toast of New York over night after the opening of the Broadway hit, "For Love or Money," plans to leave the play when it goes on tour May 30. Eagle-Lion Films have her under contract, and want her to come back to Hollywood to discuss her next picture; she is currently featured in their "T-Men," in a leading role opposite Dennis O'Keefe. Returning to California will be no hardship for June, as it would be for most girls if they had to leave a successful play. She will be able to indulge in the sport she enjoys more than anything else—water skiing at Lake Arrowhead, where her parents have a house.

It will be a perfect vacation for Red Skelton next summer if his plans go through. He wants to tour with Ringling Brothers or Clyde Beatty's circus, and make a 16 mm. film of what goes on behind the scenes. Red, who has finished his starring stint in Columbia's "The Fuller Brush Man," was born to the circus; his father was a clown with Hagenbeck and Wallace.

Motion picture rights to "The Heiress," one of the season's most successful plays, have been sold to Paramount—the price, $250,000. Olivia de Havilland will star, in the role played on the stage by Wendy Hiller.

A radio man in Hollywood tried to sign up Howard Duff for a program that tries to give aspiring young actors a radio break—and then learned that Duff has been starring in "The Adventures of Sam Spade" the last 18 months!

Ezra Stone, busy directing one Broadway show, has received offers to stage two more this season. A good many actors would feel that his "Henry Aldrich" role was work enough. House Jameson ("Mr. Aldrich") stepped into a different character in the new film, "The Naked City"—emerges on the screen as a Park avenue doctor who resorts to shady practices.

Edgar Kennedy, one of the few original Keystone Kops still active in films, passed his 500th milestone when he finished RKO's "Almost a Millionaire." It also marked the start of his 37th year in motion pictures.

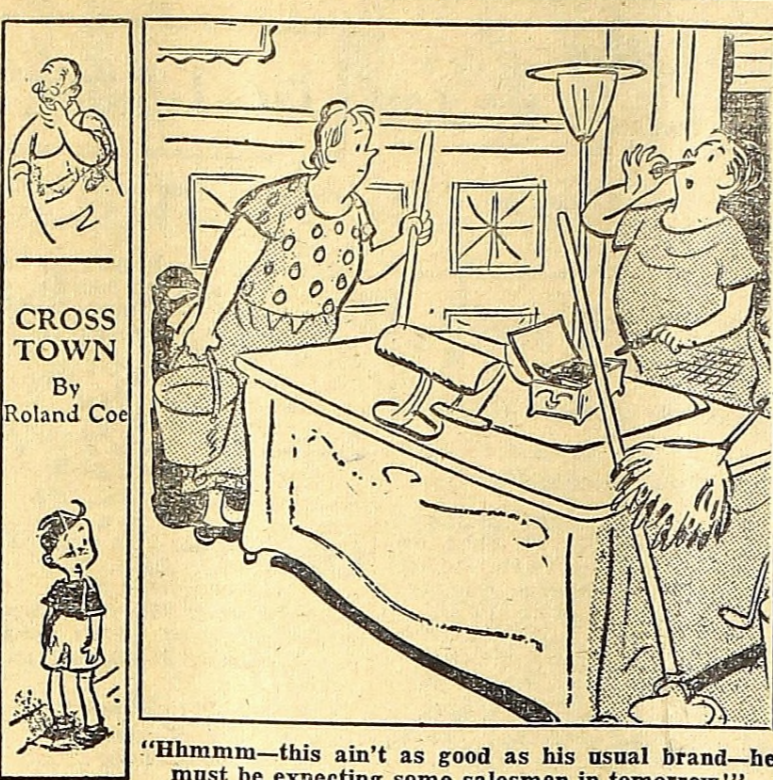

Fred Clark, who started in 20th Century-Fox's "The Chair for Martin Rome" as a ruthless, grim detective, is winding up in the same picture as a comedian. Director Robert Diomed discovered Clark's talent for comedy, and the part played by the actor, on loan from Michael Curtiz Productions, has been revised and built up to include comedy bits.

Parks Johnson and Warren Hull will make a flying trip from Alaska to San Juan, Porto Rico, to join the Atlantic Fleet on Caribbean maneuvers for a Vox Pop broadcast March 10, over ABC. Only about 5,000 miles!

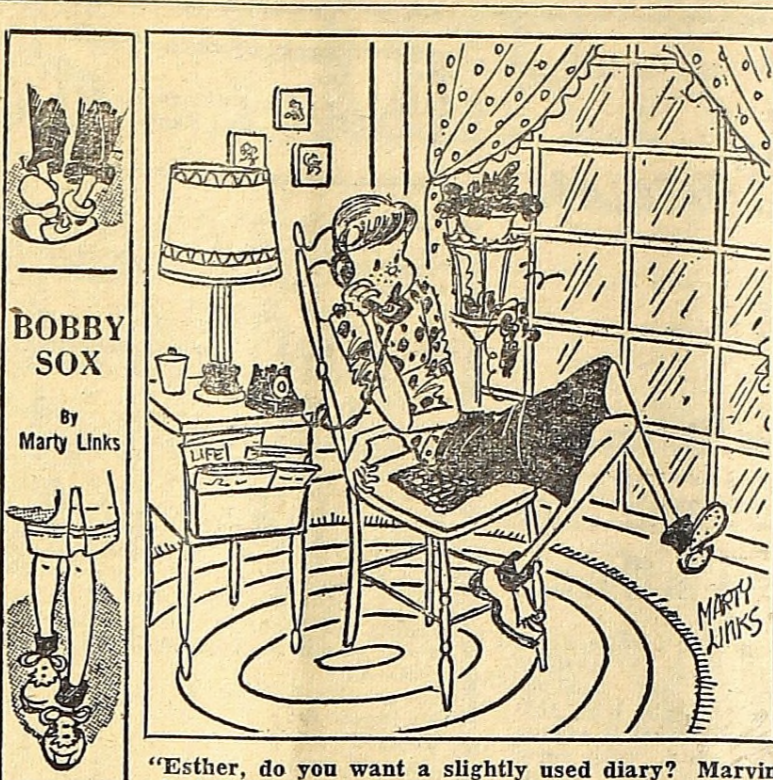

Danny Thomas' all-girl band on his new radio show has become an "almost" all-girl band. Seems the girls got tired of being women without men, so now the band features girls in the string and bass fiddle sections only.

Dwight Weist, newsreel commentator, radio actor, announcer and master of ceremonies, leaves the "heard but not seen" group soon. Due to be released soon is a Pathe newsreel showing Dwight, as master of ceremonies on "We, the People," interviewing the Smith sisters, the singing sextette, aged 74 to 84, who made a recent appearance on the popular CBS program.

ODDS AND ENDS— Jack Benny's sponsor has cut out the free cigarettes for the studio audiences. . . Glenn Ford and William Holden began work on Columbia's "The Man From Colorado" without make-up, got such heavy tans after a few days in the open that they had to lighten their complexions with grease paint. . . Producer Irving Cummings' gift to John Sturges' baby was the set of solid gold safety pins given him by Ethel Barrymore in 1918 for Irving Cummings Jr.—Sturges is director of Cummings' "The Sign of the Ram" . . . Edgar Bergen plans a summer vacation in Sweden.

Michigan Bell is a public servant. Our job is to give everyone the kind of telephone service he wants—when and where he wants it.

And while Michigan Bell's telephone plant is big, it is not big enough. Because of shortages of facilities there still are persons waiting for telephones. And we still can't provide all the types of services our present customers desire. Nor can we always serve everyone the way we would like.

That means we must continue to expand the telephone system as rapidly as additional switchboards, cable, buildings and equipment become available. We are adding new telephones, improving service and growing bigger every day.

And we must grow bigger still to provide more and better service for everybody, everywhere.

This easement may have been purchased or it may have been obtained by gift or usage and gives to the Road Commission certain rights and privileges for the purpose of building and maintaining, also beautifying the road in the interests of the traveling public.

Recently some very beautiful trees along the Plank road on the right of way were cut by the adjoining property owner. This property owner had asked permission to cut these trees a few years ago. Permission was refused. A few weeks ago he decided to cut them any way. Papers were served on him to appear in Justice court. More recently an injunction was served to prevent further cutting of these trees and the case will now be tried in Circuit Court in order to more effectively obtain proper legal decision in the matter. This suit will be pushed to a decision just as rapidly as it can be handled through the regular channels for such legal proceedings.
