Summer Trails Council Plans Summer Program

In keeping with National Camp Week, March 21-27, the Summer Trails Council has announced plans for four one week periods to operate at Newaygo on Crooked Lake, Clars County between July 17 and August 14, as well as a trip to New Mexico for older Scouts. Facilities at Camp Neyati will be increased by adding one Troop Campsite under canvas to accommodate 96 Scouts per week for four periods.

Camp planning material has been placed in the hands of Leaders and Sponsoring institutions of all Troops in the Council. These consist of "Camp Planning Forms," preliminary and final, to be used in a study of the available leadership and camping needs of the Troop. The Camping program will emphasize Troop Camping and Sponsoring institutions are being encouraged to provide leadership for their own Troops in camp, either the Scoutmaster or some other qualified adult. The camp will maintain a central staff to assist Troop leaders in the program which will center in the Troop rather than on an entire mass camping basis as formerly. Sponsors are also encouraged to set up their own financial arrangement, dealing with the Council as a unit rather than individual boys. The Council fee will be $12.50 per week with no charge for adults who serve as Troop leaders in camp. Some provisional leadership will be available for Troops or small groups unable to provide their own.

The Camp will again be directed by Ken W. Taylor, Assistant Executive, with several other members of last year's staff returning for the coming season. Dr. B. F. Miller, of Hollywood, California, former Scout Leader in Flint, will arrive in Michigan in May and serve on the Neyati Staff. There are still openings for staff men and those interested should see or write Ken Taylor at 128½ Rodd Street, Midland, Michigan, or George F. Landane, 920 N. Water Street, Bay City, Michigan.

The program will include Rifery, Archery, Swimming, Canoeing, Boating, Camp-craft, Scout Advancement. Special training in outdoor cookery on a Patrol basis, will be given this year with view to increase in Troop Camping the coming years.

Out of Camp jaunts are included with the new Council Campsite at Bear Lake in Kalkaska County as one destination.

The expedition to New Mexico will arrive at Philmont Scout Ranch on August 14 for a 13 day stay, including mountain climbing, horseback trip to gold mines and Indian caves, fishing and an extended sky-line mountain hike using pack burros. Dr. Miller and three other adults will accompany this party which will have the supervision of the Philmont Staff. The Ranch consists of 127,000 acres of mountains, rivers, historic spots and includes a complete cattle ranch in full operation. The party from the Summer Trails Council is limited to 27 people, including leaders. Scouts must be 15 years or older to participate. Fourteen reservations for Scouts and three for Leaders are already in.

Iosco G. O. P. Commends Governor Sigler

Convention Held At Court House Last Friday Evening

"This convention goes on record as commending and supporting Governor Sigler and the State Administration in their policies" states the resolution adopted by Iosco County Republicans at the convention held at the courthouse last Friday evening.

Delegates named for the state convention are: Herbert Hertzler, Gordon Welome, Gertrude Kunze and James Mielock. The alternates are John Mielock, Arthur Goulett, Walter Kasischek and Deuell Pearsall.

The text of the resolutions adopted are as follows:

"This convention goes on record as commending and supporting Gov. Sigler and the State Administration on their policies of developing and carrying through a definite program of accomplishment along those lines about which the people have been talking for years and about which nothing much has been done. "That although Sen. Vandenburg insists that he is not a candidate for president; and since there is a definite prospect that no other candidate will be able to secure a majority at the National Convention; that we be actively interested in the prospect of his selection in the event of a deadlock.

"That the party be not over confident from an assurance of a Republican victory. That the Republican party should find no consolation in the decay of the Democratic party. It is for the Republican party to assert the constructive leadership which will justify the full confidence of the American people.

"That each Iosco County Republican make herself or himself a special committee to encourage those who do not customarily vote, to see the urgent wisdom of getting out and vigorously supporting the party at the coming election."

E. L. Deacon, Herbert Hertzler and Russell Rollin were the committee on resolutions.

Aw, It's Raining

TELEVISION WEATHER

It is now possible to get weather reports by television. What fun to sit in front of the screen and watch what the elements are doing play by play!

"Tune in," we said to the wife the other day, "and see if you can get a couple of pre-April showers."

"Who are they playing today?" she asked absent-mindedly.

"It's the weather I'm after," we explained. "It might be very interesting."

"Are you kidding?" she asked. "Not at all. The U. S. weather bureau is broadcasting by television the complete weather formations, showing the cold and warm fronts, the dry and wet areas and everything."

"I don't think I would care for it greatly," said the missus. "There must be other things more exciting."

"What could be more exciting?" we demanded. "Picture the warm front all lined up waiting for the cold front to kick off . . . the opening whistle! . . . the clash of weather front against weather front! . . . sunshine out to heat rain! . . . the light southerly breezes taking on the heavy nor-easter!"

"Who's sponsoring today's weather, Ford, General Motors or somebody's beer?" asked the good wife.

"It hasn't a sponsor yet," we explained.

"It will get one if it is bad enough," she sighed.

"Tune in and get it, will ya?" we pleaded.

"Not unless I can win some of those valuable prizes through it," she said flatly.

It was useless to argue, so we tuned in without her. It started off fast enough. A low pressure area from the South came swooping across the screen at a great clip. A high pressure area, off late, came tearing out of the north-east corner full of pep and swinging in all directions. Presently a snow front leaped into the fight but something went wrong with our television set and on the screen we beheld a lightweight boxer, two hockey teams and something that looked half tenor and half hot wave. All we could make of it was that tomorrow's weather would be somewhat cooler, with westerly rabbit punches, considerable rough ice work followed by heavy rains and light opera.

We are through with television weather until it perfects a suitable jingle.

VANISHING AMERICANISMS

"Hurry! My oil tank is down to 300 gallons."

"Coal is okay but its too much trouble."

"Phew! This house is suffocating."

Who Wants To Be Cheap?

The break in commodity and stock prices, in forcing down prices generally, is going to be hard for the long-soaked public to take. Getting accustomed to being handed change from a ten-dollar bill is going to require a lot of stamina.

And what a strain it is going to be on us all when we find a salesman and saleslady acting as if the customer rated a little higher than insect life!

Can Mr. and Mrs. Public be permitted to buy things at sharply reduced rates all of a sudden, or does good judgment require that they get the blessing gradually, by a tapering off system? How will a housewife act when she can get a quart of milk, a custard pie or a frosted layer cake for less than a day's pay?

Hornswoggled, gypped, blitzed, gouged and run ragged for some five years, are we going to be fit to take it standing up when we can buy a $2,500 house for less than ten grand; when an auto can be had at the list price by merely phoning the agent; when a school-boy will shovel the snow off our walk for less than $2 an hour and when we find a little courtesy on the phone when we call up to give somebody some of our precious business?

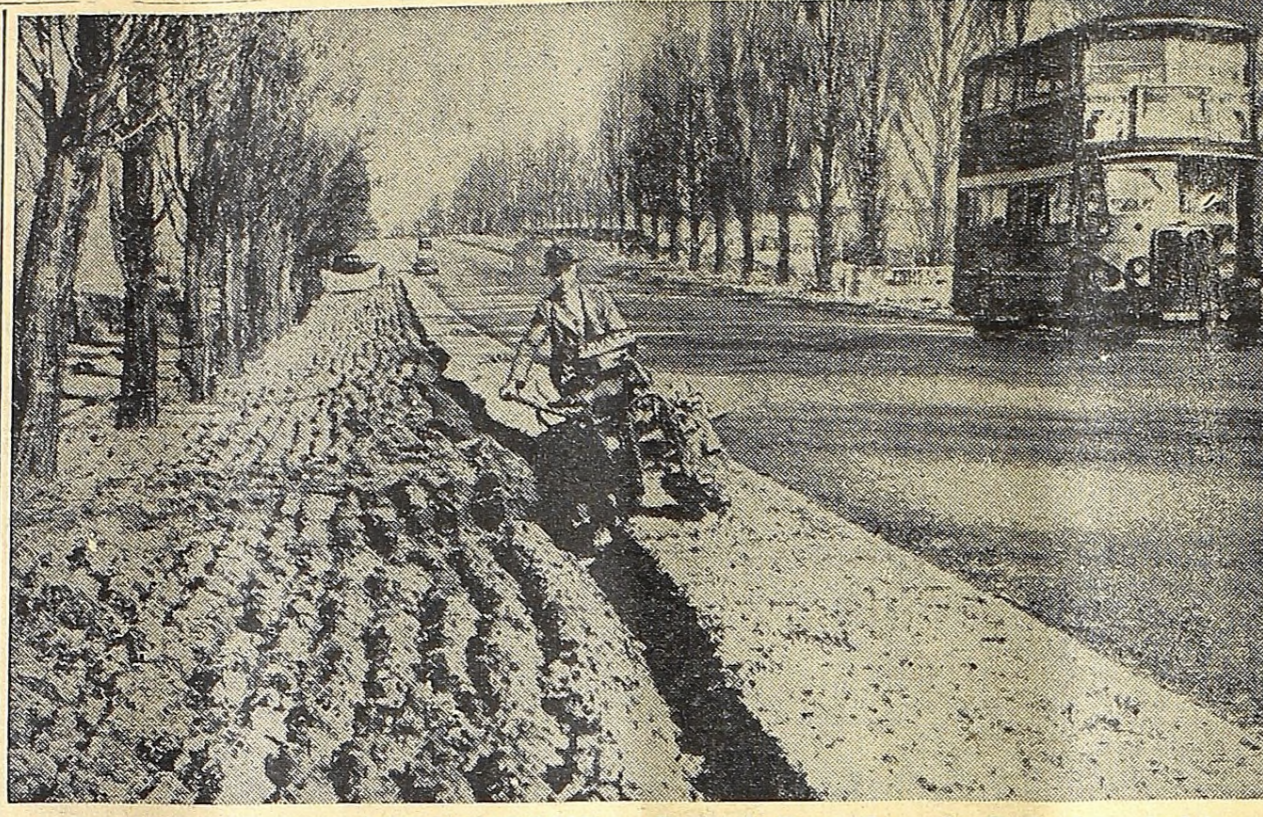

We think not. After you have been going through a concrete mixer for years, life outside of it seems unreal and unsatisfactory.

"Joe Davis Making Bust of Eisenhower."—Headline.

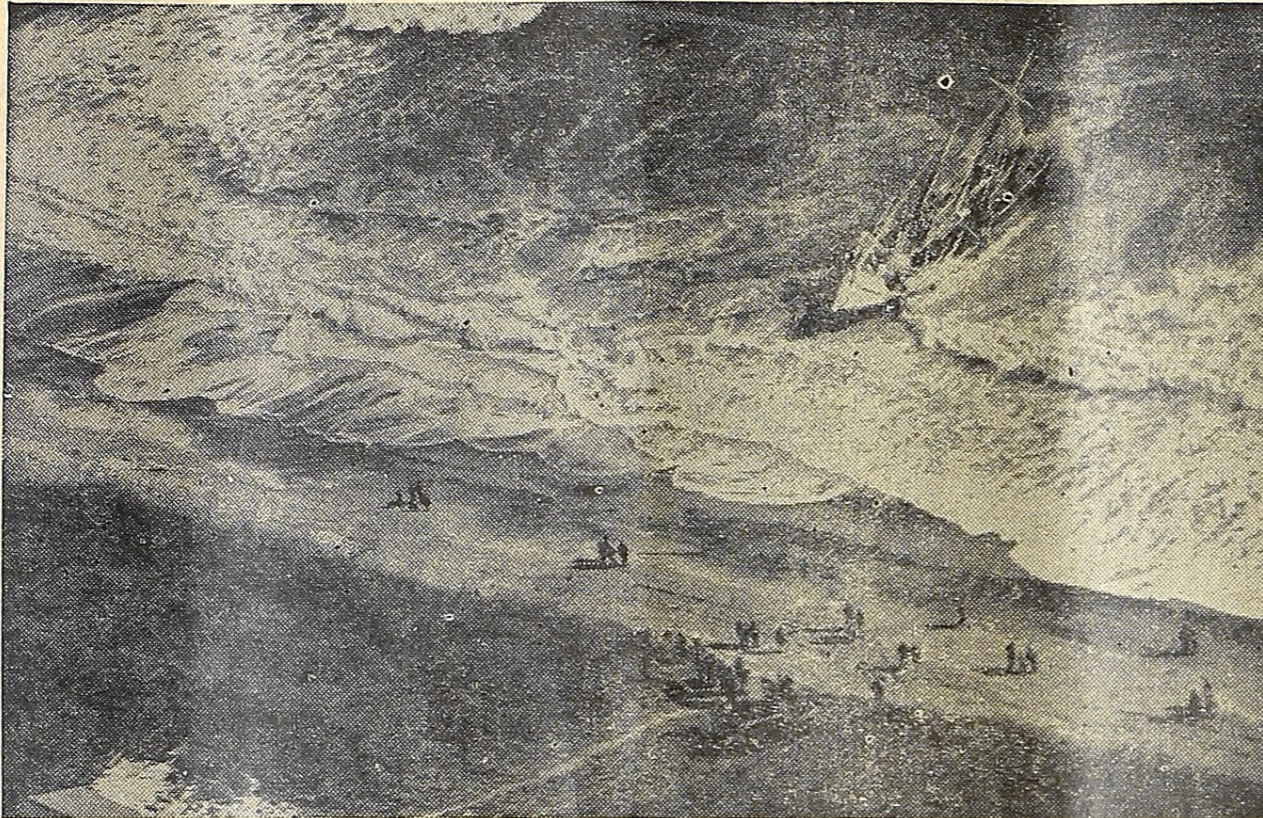

Careful, Joe. Hitler tried it.

Somebody asked Elmer Twitchell at a dog show why the bloodhound looked so depressed and he replied, "A fellow just told him that he looked almost human."

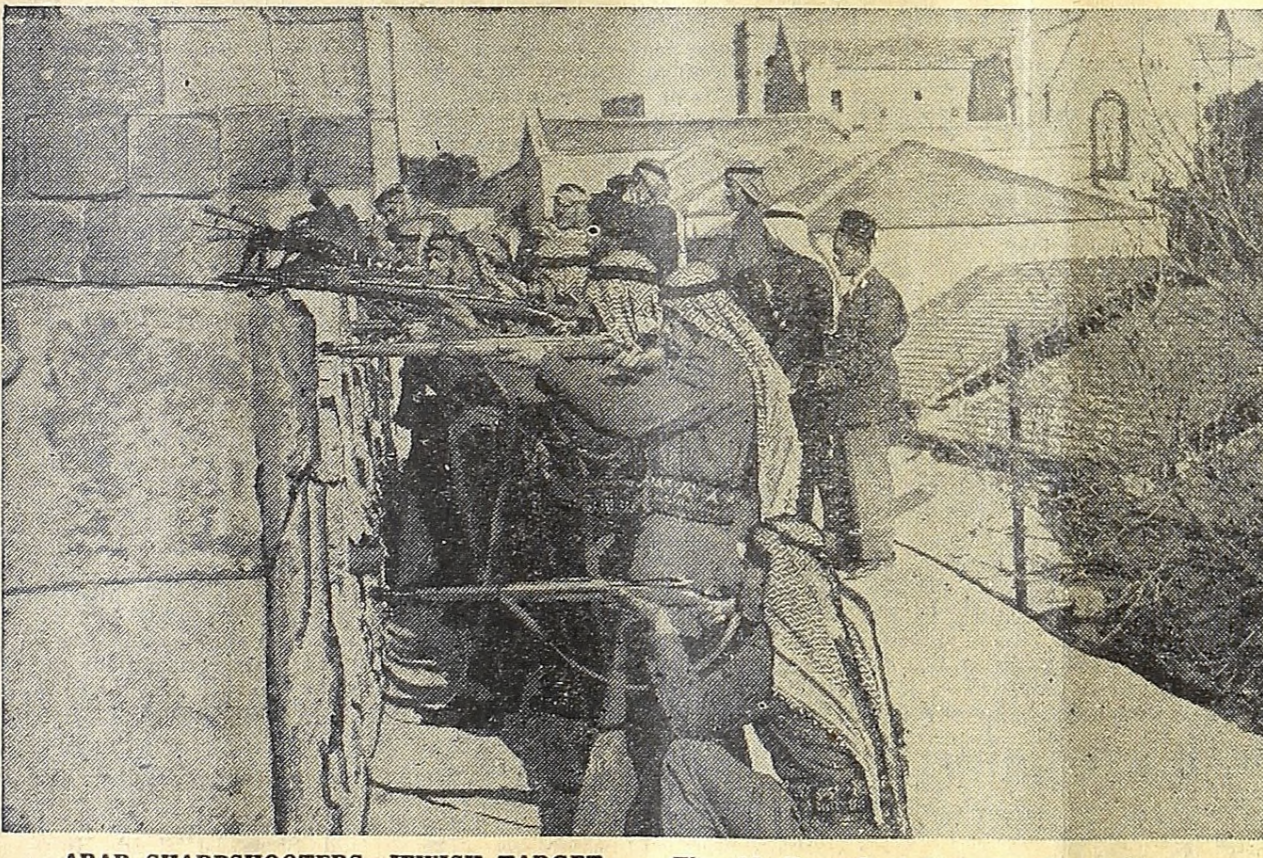

Columbia has jacked up the tuition fees and room rates. Well, any show costs more starring "Ike" Eisenhower.

RAISING FOOD BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD . . . Economically on the rocks, England has had to turn to last ditch measures to produce enough food for her people. At Middlesex some of the ditches are being used to grow vegetables. And if the Middlesex experiment works, those nice margins of emerald lawn that flank many of England's sylvan roads may be sacrificed. Here, a man is using a small tractor plow to cultivate a stretch of grassland for the planting of barley. The section runs for about a mile and totals eight acres. Other roadside areas will become potato fields.

VIOLENT DEATH OF A TALL SHIP . . . The mysterious and compelling sense of tragedy that seizes the imagination when a ship is destroyed violently in a storm goes with every shipwreck, no matter how small. This New Bedford, Mass., fishing schooner, Cape Ann, is shown stranded on Nauset Beach, being hammered by surf, directly in front of the coast guard station near Chatham, Mass. A breeches buoy was rigged over 100 yards of raging surf to rescue five members of the grounded scallop dragger. Four men remained aboard but escaped when incoming tides drove the craft on the beach.

ARAB SHARPSHOOTERS—JEWISH TARGET . . . The old city wall of Jerusalem has fallen upon evil days. These Arabs are using it as a sniping post from which riflemen shoot towards the Jemin Moshe quarter, inhabited almost exclusively by Jews. Rioting and civil strife have grown in violence in Palestine during the past few weeks, despite the fact that the British army issued a stern ultimatum that warfare in Jerusalem must cease and warned that British troops and heavy weapons would be used against battlers, whether they be Arabs or Jews.

TOMMY ATKINS SAYS GOODBYE TO INDIA . . . Hundreds of hands reached out to pat the "boys" as they took their departure from India, last of the British troops to be on the soil of the great sub-continent which recently was granted its independence. Honor guards from crack Indian units and the royal Indian navy saluted the last unit, the first battalion, Somerset light infantry, as the men boarded ship for the voyage home. Shown above are the king's and regimental colors being dipped as a tribute to India, now free of British rule and left to her own resources.

Woman's World

Accessory Guide Is Valuable In Planning Spring Wardrobe

By Erta Haley

MANY women tell they don't know just how to select their accessories for a costume; others say they are not familiar enough with the trend to look for something fresh and new.

For this reason, I've compiled a picture of accessories for spring. When you need something, check the list and you'll easily find what's best to seek.

You'll find that this year, fashion needs the finishing touch and nothing completes the ensemble more than feminine effects at the wrist, throat, soft shoulder and slim waistline.

If your budget is limited because you spent heavily last fall and winter to achieve the new look, you will do well to make your basic dresses new again by buying proper accessories.

It's a four star year for collars, cuffs, capelets and cummerbunds, worn separately or teamed together with each other and with blouses, dummies, plastrons, fichus and jabots. And please don't forget the lingerie and eyelet petticoat ruffles that peep out of hemlines. Everything is headed toward the ensemble look in fashions, and scarfs score highly, too.

Why not dress up a black or navy dress with a soft flattering capelet?

Faille Favorite

Rayon faille rates high with teen-agers because it's young, crisp and perky. This rayon faille dress has all the new features—full skirt, gathered back and a wide bertha collar that is reminiscent of grandmother's best frock. The fabric is made of Avisco rayon yarn.

With so many from which to choose, select only those flattering to the face as well as the dress. Keep them neatly laundered or cleaned to get the full and beautiful effect.

Cummerbunds Help Whittle Waistline

For the whittled waist effect which is so popular, choose cummerbunds shown wrapped in scarf effects. If they're bright and you have a slender waist, wrap a pair around the waist and tie in a bow.

You also may have a cummerbund and then match it with a collar and cuff set.

Plastrons, fichus and jabots are excellent for cover-up jobs, creating a look of newness and fashion. With so many prints scheduled for the coming season, you'll find that a soft printed rayon plastron completely transforms the front of a dress, giving it a high collar effect and new hip emphasis.

The fichu, an ultra feminine effect, Paris inspired, as are many of the new neckwear designs shown, goes formal in pleated white organ-die.

Neckwear and Scarfs Are Handy, Interesting

Neckwear, which is so popular for adding a new look, has many interesting features. Many items have tuck-ins so that you don't have to sew them, or they may have snaps for adding and subtracting features. Blouses come with several different collars, or a change of jabots, matching cuffs and an extra long tie so that many different effects can be achieved.

Scarfs are seen in many new tantalizing colors and exciting prints. They come in long lengths as well as squares. Wrap them around the waist, make bustle backs, side bows, hip drapery, shoulder flattery, neckline variations, front plastrons, halter blouses, peplums or anything else.

Shoes for Spring Completely Different

According to St. Louis stylists, a virtual revolution for shoe wardrobes is predicted. The "new look" is traveling down and shoes will be as different as dresses.

If you are wondering what you should wear in the Easter parade, look over these features when you choose footwear.

Shoes will be predominantly dainty, elegant and feminine. Long, slender lines, graceful heels, intricate but dignified ornamentation are the important features.

Since the hemline has dropped, attention naturally is focused forward. Stylists are sweeping footwear up, often around the ankle as if to meet the dress itself. Shoes must have the new, long, graceful effect.

Closed toes and heels are better than open ones. Choose a simple unadorned pump if you're in doubt, and you will be correctly attired.

Toelines no longer are stubby, they're rather more slender and tapering. If your ankles are slender, wear the strap effects, but steer away from them if you lack the trimness. If you need to slenderize, match the shoes with dress and hosiery to carry out the needed elongation.

Dramatic Metal

Silver with its lovely moonlight whiteness is one of the really dramatic metals in the world. It is used at present to set off the beauty of colored stones, precious or simulated stones. You will be seeing it in necklaces, chokers, bracelets, earrings and pins.

Collar and cuff sets are springlike . . .

One recently seen was of bright plaid with a pointed little collar as well as a gayly printed chintz long capelet with high rolled collar, self bow and streamers.

Collars and Cuffs Are Flattering

It's an old trick to dress up a dark basic dress with spanking white collars and cuffs. Indeed, why not have several sets so you can change the dress several times a week?

There are many flattering sets on the market, but, of course, you always can sew them yourself. Patterns are easy to make, but they should fit the neckline of the dress.

This year collars and cuffs are especially stunning, showing themselves in small high white pique effects with various colored ribbons. There are frilly sheers with Schiffli eyelet embroidery and new fabrics such as the wonderful-for-laundering everglaze chintz.

And so are boleros.

You also may see checked sets or lovely pastel pleated ones, striped with black ribbon.

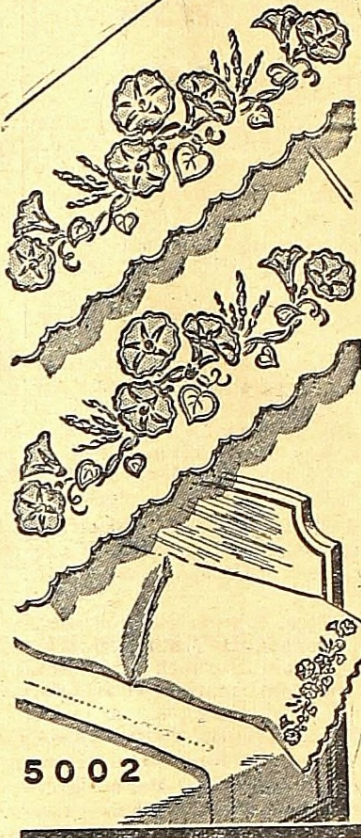

Be Smart!

How will you have your bolero—cutaway, much decorated with the newly important corselet belt? The answer depends entirely upon what's most flattering to the individual figure. At any rate, the lines on small jackets are as varied as they are interesting and all are so youthful and pretty!

Gift Pillowcases

Now that you can more easily obtain pillowcase tubing and pillowcases you'll want to add handsome embroidered cases to your Christmas gift list. The delicately shaded flowers in this "Morning Glory" design are embroidered in soft lavenders, purples and greens. Use outline or satin stitch.

Due to an unusually large demand and current conditions, slightly more time is required in filling orders for a few of the most popular patterns.

Harsh Laxatives are NOT necessary for most people

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing in arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination.

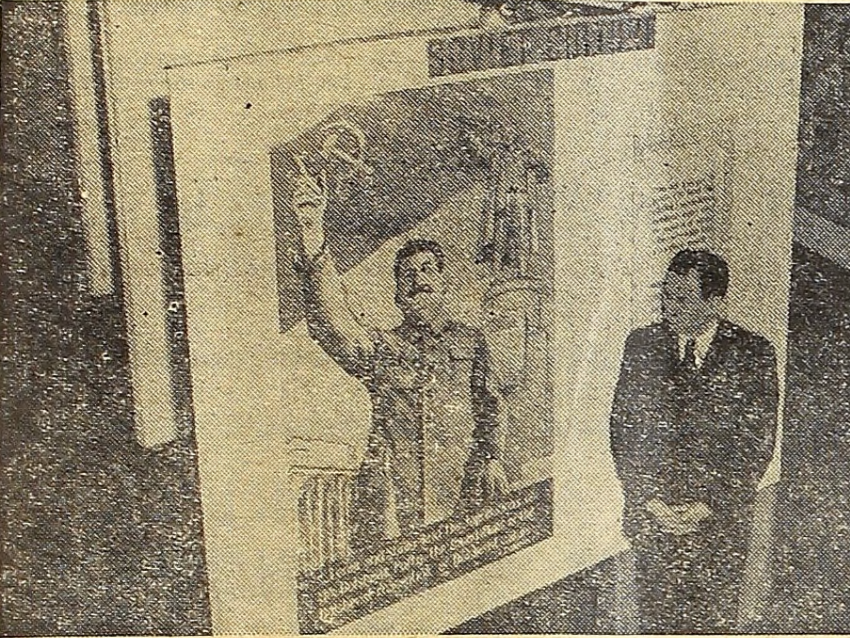

No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C; supply valuable amounts of B₁ and P. They alkalize; aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days. USE CALIFORNIA SUNKIST LEMONS

Gay Easter Menu Heralds Approach Of Spring Season

A table setting perfectly expressive of Easter and all the tradition that goes with it can easily be done the day before. The bowl or basket in which you place the eggs may be decorated with shredded crepe paper in pastel colors.

Easter really heralds spring and we like to make the day as gay and lovely as possible. That means bringing out your delicate china, pastel china, and sweeping the menu with a touch of spring, both in choice of foods and colors.

Many people like ham for Easter and it's a real economy to have it because you can make so many interesting left-overs, have sliced ham for snacks and sandwiches, and still have a lovely meat for the table the first time you serve it.

Start off with chilled orange juice but add excitement to it by placing a small scoop of raspberry (or mint or lime) sherbet on top. The dessert I've chosen is light but pretty and is balanced for the menu.

Your centerpiece can be made of traditional Easter eggs nestling in a basket or bowl. You'll find a package of inexpensive dyes with a handy egg dipper, a special pencil and decals of popular comic characters to help you decorate more successfully.

If you use the decorated eggs for place cards, set it on stiff paper.

Of course many people like to spend Easter evening eating the eggs with salt and bread and butter sandwiches, but if you have any left, use them for egg salad, creamed eggs or eggs a la king.

The ham is easy to prepare and always popular. For small groups, buy half a ham, but decorate it, too. You may buy the ready-to-eat type or the cook-before-eating. Whichever one you select, however, keep it refrigerated. The ready-to-eat variety is baked, but only enough to heat it through. Give it 10 minutes to the pound.

Here's how to prepare the other type:

Place ham fat side up in an open roasting pan. Do not cover and do not add water. Bake in a moderately slow (325 degree) oven allowing 22 to 25 minutes per pound for cooking a before-eating ham.

How to Glaze.

Half an hour before the ham is done, cover with glaze and finish baking at the same low temperature. If ham is to be scored, do it at this time. Brush ham with 1/2 cup of honey, molasses or apricot jam. Baste frequently during rest of cooking time.

If you do not want to garnish the ham, simply fill peach halves with bright colored jelly and place around ham before serving.

Escalloped Broccoli.

(Serves 6)
2 pounds broccoli
1/2 cups thin cream sauce
1/2 cup grated American cheese

Cook broccoli in boiling, salted water for 15 minutes.

Place layers of broccoli and cream sauce with a little cheese in casserole until all is used. Sprinkle cheese on top and heat through in moderate oven (about 15 minutes).

If you are particularly fond of asparagus, serve that in place of the broccoli. It's excellent just buttered; or, if you wish a sauce, here's a good way to do it.

LYNN SAYS: Ways for Serving Vegetables Are Many

Green lima beans may be creamed for variety, or served with crumbled bits of crisp bacon.

Cream sauce and asparagus with a few mushroom caps are delicious, too. Try a bit of nutmeg for seasoning.

Of course, you can combine lima beans with other vegetables. Try them with scallions, tomatoes, string beans or corn.

LYNN CHAMBERS' EASTER DINNER

 - *Baked Ham
 - Sweet Potato Casserole
 - Escalloped Broccoli
 - Cloverleaf Rolls
 - Molded Carrot Salad
 - *Pineapple Torte

Asparagus, Lemon Sauce.

(Serves 8)
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup flour
2 cups milk
2 egg yolks, beaten
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 pounds asparagus, cooked

Make white sauce with butter, flour and milk. Add egg yolks, lemon juice and seasoning. Arrange hot asparagus in serving dish and pour lemon sauce over it.

The molded carrot salad is easily prepared the day before. To serve six, simply shred carrots fine, using two cups, and add to lemon or orange flavored gelatin. You may add grapefruit wedges or green pepper or celery, if so desired.

The torte is a light dessert which is so splendid for this time of year. This, too, may be made the day before as it requires thorough chilling.

*Pineapple Torte. (Serves 6 to 8)

Crust:
24 graham crackers
1/2 cup butter
2 tablespoons sugar

Filling:
3 cups milk
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons cornstarch
3 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup crushed pineapple
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
6 tablespoons sugar

To make crust, crush finely the graham crackers and mix with butter and sugar. Press 2/3 of the crumbs against the sides and bottom of a well-buttered tin.

To make filling, bring milk to the scalding point in double boiler. Blend thoroughly the sugar, salt and cornstarch. Beat in egg yolks, add hot milk gradually. Return to double boiler and stir until thick. Cool.

Add vanilla and pour into crumbled tin. Put drained pineapple on top of custard. Beat egg whites stiff, add gradually the six tablespoons of sugar, spread on pineapple, sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven. Chill overnight, before removing from pan.

Let your ham reflect the holiday spirit by garnishing it with flowers, the petals of which are made with candied or fresh orange peel, the stems of candied citron and the centers of maraschino cherries.

Here's a good use for leftover ham the following day:

Baked Ham C. serole.

(Serves 6)
2 cups ground, baked ham
1 cup cooked peas
3 eggs
2 tablespoons green pepper, minced
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons horseradish
1/2 cup grated American cheese
Paprika

Place ham in greased eight-inch square pan. Top with peas. Beat together eggs, green pepper, milk and horseradish. Pour over peas. Top with cheese. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 40 minutes. Let set in warm place for 10 to 15 minutes. Cut into six inch squares. Serve with tomato sauce, if desired.

Released by WNU Features.

Beets do very well with a dusting of ground cloves or a bit of horseradish.

You can do all sorts of things with corn. Make fritters or pudding out of it if you want to dress it up a bit.

Mustard sauce goes well on string beans, and mushrooms are a nice addition to either plain or creamed string beans.

Broccoli is delicious when seasoned with some parmesan cheese, but you also may serve it with cream sauce or hollandaise sauce.

N. Y. Court Decision Holds

Test-Tube Baby Legitimate
NEW YORK. — A supreme court justice ruled that a child born as the result of artificial insemination is legitimate.

The ruling was made by Justice Henry Clay Greenberg in deciding that the estranged husband of Mrs. Julie Strnad, 31, had a right to visit her daughter, four-year-old Antoinette, who she said was a product of artificial insemination.

Mrs. Strnad claimed that her husband, Antoine, 42, was sterile since birth, an allegation he denied. She sought to prevent him from seeing the child on the ground Antoinette was not the offspring of her ex-mate. She had won a separation decree and principal custody of the child last October.

Farm Mechanization Boosts

Production to Record Level
OMAHA, NEB. — Americans are harvesting 20 million more acres today than they did in 1940, although there are three million fewer people doing it, and on 200,000 fewer farms.

Fast-growing mechanization of farms is largely responsible for this feat, Joseph A. Hoban, merchandise manager of B. F. Goodrich company, told members of Midwest Implement Dealers association. He cited the fact that the nation's tractor "population" had doubled, from one million to two million, just since 1940.

Praising "the way America's farmers and other food producers had come through to ease tragic conditions in many lands," Hoban cited the following estimates on the nation's 1947 exports of foodstuffs: 392 million bushels of wheat, five times the amount exported in 1939; 88 million bushels of corn, compared to 32 million in 1939, and 328 million pounds of meat products, against 193 million in 1939.

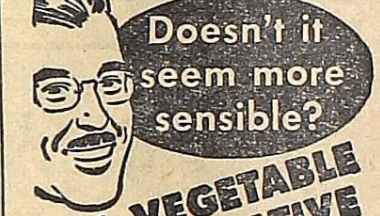

The farm market offered "the biggest sales opportunity" for industry in 1947, Hoban said, adding that "there is no question that this market is going forward at as great or even greater pace in 1948."

Hoban said that all tractors now made are rubber-tired, and that changing all a farm's rolling stock from steel to rubber tires produced an average saving of 24 working days and 675 gallons of gasoline per year, for each 150 acres worked.

Whittemore School Notes

St. Patrick's Party
The Sophomore class, with the able assistance of their sponsor, Mrs. Ida Dorsey, were hosts at a St. Patrick's party Friday night. A big crowd of enthusiastic guests assembled in the study hall which had been appropriately decorated with green shamrocks and Irish pipes.
A variety of games were enjoyed, after which the group gathered in one of the grade rooms to witness a mock wedding at which Delores King and Rosemary Kelley were the principals and Miss Warren, Elva Hinkley and Geraldine Bellen were in the wedding party. Mrs. Dorsey took the part of the weeping mother most effectively.

A very unusual style show was put on by the Sophomore boys who modeled every type of garment from formal to housecoats and the title "Miss Sophomore" was awarded to Douglas Dodder as the sweater girl with Allan Hockersmith's pink formal running close second.
Music for dancing was furnished by Mrs. Howard Collins.
Refreshments of hot chocolate and cookies was served.
Mr. Roberts Returns
After an illness of nearly two weeks, caused by serious throat infection, Coach Roberts was back in school Friday.

Senior Play Try-Outs
Thursday afternoon, the Seniors held tryouts in Mrs. Berry's office for parts in the clever comedy "He Couldn't Marry Five," which they plan to produce April 23. The selected cast now have their playbooks and first rehearsal will be held next.
Seniors Have Party
The group went to East Tawas where they saw the movie, "How Green Was My Valley," and then bowled. Later they went to the home of Jack Stoner in National City where refreshments were served.
Howard Cole and Mrs. Vivian Smith chaperoned the party.
Seniors Have Speaker
Mr. Cochrane, a representative of the Bay City Business College, talked to members of the Senior Class Thursday. After a general discussion of aptitudes and opportunities for the various types of work they wished to follow, he had a special discussion with those wishing to take a business course.

First Athletic Banquet Held
The study hall of the high school was hardly recognizable Tuesday night when gaily decorated with red and grey streamers and basketballs, it was the scene of the first athletic banquet.
This was served by the home economics department and was a delicious credit to the culinary accomplishments of the girls and the fine direction of their teacher, Miss Warren.

The tables, each decorated with a centerpiece of red and white flowers, were placed in the form of a "W" and place card menus of grey were ornamented with red cardinals from whom the teams took their names.
A delicious meal of baked ham, mashed potatoes, corn, pineapple and cabbage salad, hot cloverleaf rolls, pie a-la-mode and coffee was served to 60 people. Those who assisted in serving were: Ada Perry, Elva Hinkley, Florence Barr, Jeanette Bellville and Delores King.
Neil Revord was toastmaster and following the dinner an excellent program was given. Two vocal solos were sung by Ann Lynch, piano solos were played by Rosmarie Collins and a trio, composed of Viola Ferris, Virginia Ddder and JoAnn Goupil, sang. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Uhlman, Principal of the Pinconning High School, who gave a most interesting and inspiring talk on the place of athletics in the high school curriculum. Mr. Uhlman spoke very decidedly on the fact that good scholarship and athletics go together and the player with good mentality is the athlete who is smart enough to be valuable to his team.

In the absence of Coach Roberts, Supt. VanFetta awarded the letters to the boy's teams and Miss Warren gave the letters to the members of her team and to the cheer leaders. She also spoke a word of appreciation to the girls who had come out so faithfully to practice and predicted letters for them after next season.
The banquet ended with the school song, and an hour's dancing was enjoyed.

The FICTION Corner

IMPROMPTU

By FLORENCE BAUGH

I JOINED the crowd gathered on the bridge watching the crew dragging the lake above the dam.

"Who are they searching for this time?" I asked as I pushed closer to the rail.

"Young Doc Warren," several answered at once.

I had never seen young William Warren, but I knew about him—the whole town knew about him. He had joined the army with our National Guard. The boys were still singing his praises. He had been through a lot at the front and had won the complete devotion of his men by his untiring efforts and unceasing good humor. He had returned to his father's clinic almost immediately upon his return to the States. I had heard little about him in recent months.

"What about the woman they were dragging for yesterday?" I asked.

"They found her earlier this morning. Plain case of suicide. But when the boats were coming in to the dock over there by those willows they found a man's hat. It had his name inside—William Warren."

"And about the same time," another put in, "the police find this car on the bridge, out of gas and nobody around." He pointed to a green sedan that several officers were shaking down. "They find a driver's license on the steering post in the name of young Doc Warren. They figure something has happened to the Doc, so while they radio headquarters for a check the boats lower the grab hooks and start working again."

I edged my way over near a couple patrolmen who had arrived from headquarters. Calls to Doc Warren's home, his office, the two hospitals, all brought the same response: he wasn't there.

His wife had told the officers that he had left home early, before she and the children were up. He had come home late after an emergency operation, seemed unable to relax, and had spent a restless night. She had awakened while he was dressing and asked if he had a call. He explained that he was just going out to clear the cobwebs from his mind. He had kissed her goodby. She had thought no more about it until the police called.

I moved back to the rail to watch the boats as they trolled slowly toward us, the grappling hooks searching the lake bottom in the lane between them. The water was plenty choppy, a cold raw wind had been blowing out of the north since yesterday. Nothing about the scene seemed urgent. The boats moved slowly. The crowd just stood and watched, coat collars turned up against the wind.

A young boy had crawled under my arms to press himself against the rail, excited by his first-hand experience with tragedy. "They got somethin'," he shouted, and the crowd came to life. All turned toward the men in the boats, watching with a strange fascination, waiting to see what was being dragged out.

Someone said, "That's him!" when the men pulled the thing loose from the hooks. "They put him in a gunny sack!"

We saw the men in one of the boats peering into the sack. Then one of them, looking up at us, pulled out and held up a decoy some hunter had lost. There was a murmur of relief, of restrained amusement, and the crowd settled back again into their coat collars.

Someone commented, "This jumping off bridges is getting to be an epidemic."

Another one questioned, "How do you know he jumped? Maybe he was pushed."

Another said, seriously, "That's right. My boy knew him. He wasn't a coward. If he's in that lake he was murdered."

A siren wailed and the crowd fell back to make room for another patrol car which drew up alongside the green sedan. "There's Old Doc Warren," someone in the crowd said as an elderly man stepped out of the car.

I worked my way toward the cars. I could hear Old Doc Warren talking. "Yes, this is his car. He has been working too hard, but what doctor hasn't these days? So far as I know he has no enemies, but I don't believe my son would commit suicide!"

There was another stir of excitement. I threaded my way back to the rail to see if this time they had really found him.

The boys in the boats were having difficulty hauling in the lines, but when the catch broke water we could see it was just a log.

As they dropped it back the shrill whistle of the interurban reminded me that I was already late for work. I reluctantly pulled myself away and headed toward town.

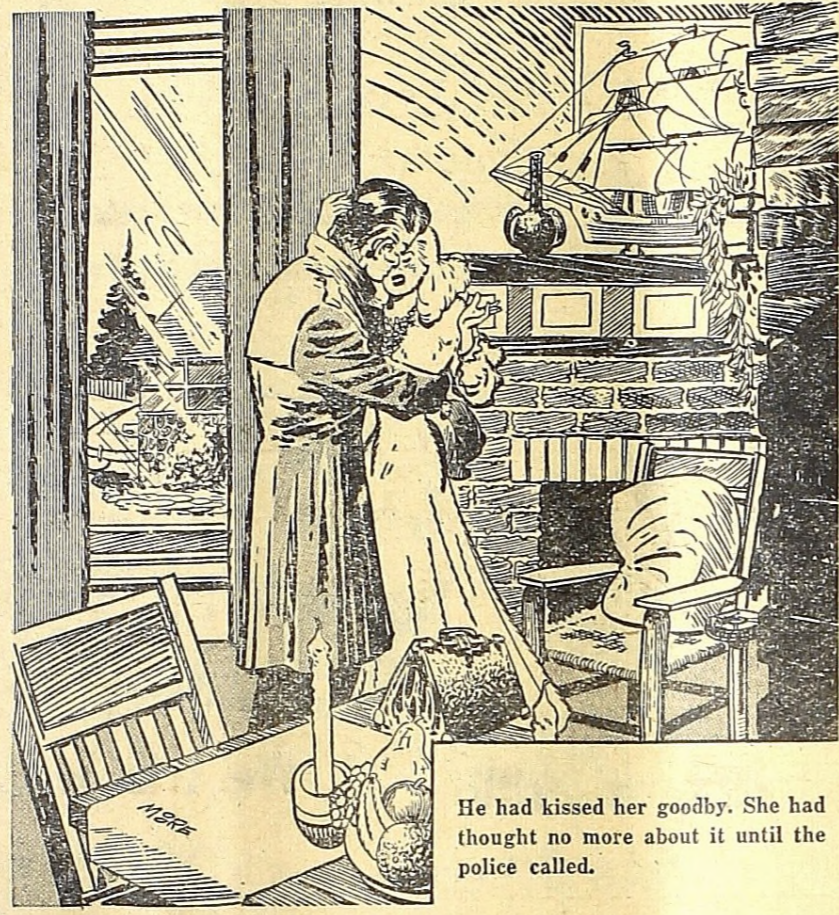

Down the road I stopped at Phil's Phil-Er-Up. I like Phil and I could save the city gasoline tax.

"Where's the boss?" I asked the young attendant who dashed out to wait on me, "up at the lake watching them drag for the body?"

"Gosh, no!" exclaimed the boy as he fumbled with the hose. "Has he been having a time! His wife had a baby this morning, a week before she was expecting it!"

Just then Phil came out of the living quarters in the back with another young man. Phil was beaming like the traditional proud father as he pulled his hat down firmly. The other man didn't seem excited.

I heard Phil say, "Hey, Doc, you forgot your hat." He turned to go back. But the other man laughed. "You were too excited to notice that I didn't have one when I walked in here for gas. The wind blew it off as I stepped out of my car on the bridge."

He had kissed her goodby. She had thought no more about it until the police called.

Pittsburgh Council to Abandon Stephen Foster Memorial Home

Once again Pittsburgh is embroiled in a controversy over Stephen C. Foster, one of its most famous sons, as the result of a decision by the city council to abandon the Stephen Foster Memorial Home.

Rather than spend $10,000 to rehabilitate the memorial home, the city is giving up the 14-room mansion which some biographers term the "authentic site" of Foster's birth. The once stately place has become dilapidated, with plaster falling, porches collapsing and romping school children peppering its windows with stones.

Three direct descendants of the noted composer may be left homeless as a result of the abandonment. The three, a grandson, granddaughter and great-granddaughter, have lived in the building for more than 30 years. The granddaughter, Mrs. Jessie Rose, 72, has been acting as caretaker for the city.

In its decision not to repair the building, the city council declared that the rambling brick homestead had "ceased to have any value as a memorial." The council therefore is deeding the property back to heirs of James H. Park, wealthy steelmaster who bought it in 1914 and gave it to the city with the stipulation that it be maintained as a museum containing a collection of Stephen Foster mementoes.

Park, an admirer of Foster's music, made the purchase because he "thought it a shame" there was no memorial to the great writer of "My Old Kentucky Home" and other ageless American songs.

Music-lovers of the city later raised $500,000 to build an elaborate Gothic memorial to Foster on University of Pittsburgh campus. This memorial contains the largest collection of Foster's manuscripts and other belongings. It now is the mecca for thousands of visitors who formerly called at the Stephen Foster Memorial home.

Another controversy over Foster raged in 1934 when Henry Ford bought what was claimed to be Foster's "real birthplace" and moved it to his outdoor museum in Dearborn, Mich. William McNair, Pittsburgh's mayor at the time, claimed the millionaire car manufacturer bought "the wrong house." Mrs. Evelyn Foster Morneweck of Detroit, a niece and biographer of Foster, said the composer was born in a white frame cottage which was torn down and replaced in 1865 with the brick mansion which became the Stephen Foster Memorial home. Foster died in 1863.

Playing Child Termed Human Caution Sign

- A playing child should be a Human Caution sign to motorists, officials emphasize in connection with a nationwide plea for highway safety.
- One of every three children who die is killed in a traffic accident, according to the 1947 edition of Accident Facts, a publication devoted to safety promotion. One-third of the accidental deaths of children 5 to 14 years of age are the result of motor vehicle accidents.
- Motorists are cautioned to observe the following rules:
1. Always "Watch Out for Kids."
 2. Keep clear of bicycles—right or wrong—as they are defenseless against a motor vehicle.
 3. Be on the lookout for children darting out between parked cars. Reduce speed and increase watchfulness in school zones and residential areas.
 4. Always remember that children have not reached the age of discretion and judgment—drivers must think for them.
 5. Children play in driveways and around parked vehicles—always make sure children are out of the way before starting a parked vehicle.
 6. Driver—it might be your child!

LUCILLE WALL'S voice is so distinctive that the thousands of people who hear her every day on "Portia Faces Life" did not need the announcement that she was ill to tell them that someone was substituting for her. Miss Wall fell in her New York apartment, injuring her head and suffering a severe concussion. She was rushed to a hospital and Anne Seymour took over during her absence. Miss Seymour is also a radio veteran; she is best known for her lead performance in "Mary Marlin" and "Women of America."

In casting a scene for Dorothy Lamour's "Let's Fall in Love" at Columbia, which shows newspapermen and photographers interviewing her, Director Douglas Sirk and Producer Irving Starr ignored one of Hollywood's oldest traditions. They insisted that the actors playing newspapermen be neat and—easier distinguished—something like younger members of the state department—not drunk, sloppy, nor wearing their hats on the backs of their heads. "Hasn't anyone in Hollywood ever seen a real, live newspaperman? Neither sloppy nor over-nut?"

Edward G. Robinson is top villain in Warner Bros. "Key Largo," in private life he is a quiet spoken gentleman who likes good music and collects good pictures. He has announced that he is contemplating opening a revolutionary night club. "It would feature a symphony orchestra and would have no bar, no drinks, no dance floor, no cigarette girls," he says. And maybe no customers!

With a new arrival scheduled to join the family in June, Joan Bennett's household is torn by discussion over names. If it's a boy, daughter Diana wants to call him Roger; daughter Melinda picked Bartley; daughter Stephanie is holding out for Louis, with Louis Jordan in mind. Four-year-old Stephanie has a fine, flourishing crush on Jordan.

Columbia plans to film Gene Autry's life; the picture will get under way within the next few months, at an estimated cost of TWO MILLION DOLLARS. Which means that his career in "B" pictures made him famous enough to have his life screened as an "A."

Incidentally, Gene's secretary, Louise Heising, now wears his alarm-equipped wrist watch. It went off recently before the CBS mikes, and 6,000 letters poured in asking how it happened the alarm bell came into the middle of Gene's song.

ODDS AND ENDS... Doris Day has been notified that she has a fan club in Sitka, Alaska, and the fans wonder if she can't drop in to visit them some time... Jimmy Stewart acquired that limping gait he uses in "Rope" by removing the heel from one shoe and tacking it on the other one... That very timid hotel clerk in "April Showers" was played by Pete Kooye, a Congressional Medal of Honor man... Phyllis Calvert, British beauty who co-stars with Melvyn Douglas in "My Own True Love," learned to make old-fashioned American flapjacks while working in the picture... Claire Trevor plays a blowsy blonde in "Key Largo."

If ever you get a chance to be a contestant on Sammy Kaye's "So You Want to Lead a Band" program, take his advice, which results from experience with more than 50,000 amateur baton wielders. Sammy has learned that the audience, which selects the winner by applause, turns thumbs down on the smart aleck, no matter how competent, while the modest aspirant wins.

Ed (Archie) Gardner of "Duffy's Tavern" is the only radio comedian represented in the current movie stars exhibit at the Los Angeles Hall of Art. His painting of a circus horse is surrounded by pictures by Ella Raines, June Haver, Linda Darnell, Jeanne Crain, Marguerite Chapman, Jane Powell, Hoagy Carmichael, Reginald Gardiner, and other stars' work.

During a County Fair broadcast, blonde and beautiful Pat McCann, production assistant, was leading an unsuspecting contestant to the microphone (contestant to be hit in the face with a pie) when a young voice in the audience cried "Look, there's teacher!" It was Miss McCann teaches school in New York, does her stint on "County Fair" and works as a model.

Sam Wanamaker, who clicked on Broadway in the 1946-47 season with Ingrid Bergman in "Joan of Lorraine," makes his film debut in "My Girl Tisa." He plays the role of a brash loud in the Big Stick era of Teddy Roosevelt.

Raymond Massey has purchased a home in Beverly Hills to solve his housing difficulties while making pictures for Warner Bros.—and maintains a home in New York to solve housing difficulties while appearing in the Broadway theater.

It wasn't too easy—but Wanda Hendrix and Andrea King had to learn to walk swayback for their roles in Paramount's "Abigail, Dear Heart." The story is set in 1906, when because of the way they dressed, woman walked that way.

Recent improvement in synthetic rubber makes the product non-staining. Bandit Is Just a 'Crumb';

Waitress Proves Her Point

DETROIT. — Mrs. Imogene Corretta, 38, waitress in a local restaurant, brushed off a would-be bandit as she might have flicked a bread crumb off the counter, holdup squad officers said.

A man strode into the restaurant, right hand threateningly in his overcoat pocket in the approved manner. He announced boldly, "This is a stickup."

Mrs. Corretta pretended not to hear him.

"Open the cash register," the desperado blustered.

Mrs. Corretta ignored him.

The "bandit" reached across the counter and started to open the till himself.

Mrs. Corretta calmly rapped him across the back of his hand with the dull edge of a large butcher knife and the toughie yelped and fled.

British May Trim House

Of Lords by 600 Peers

LONDON. — Conservative party sources said about 600 British peers would lose their hereditary seats in the House of Lords under reform proposals considered by Conservative leaders as counter to the Labor government's plan to curb the upper chamber's powers.

A committee of Conservative peers is considering a proposal to limit membership to about 300 lords with outstanding public service records.

Slash Burning Benefits

Slash burning is a method of minimizing fire danger on cut-over areas by disposing of the accumulation of tree tops, limbs, windfalls, dead underbrush and other debris, which is on the ground after logging. The burning must be done in small units and is safest when the slash is damp from recent rains or snowfalls. Slash burning is unnecessary in many forest regions.

Searching for New Plants

Plant explorers of the U. S. department of agriculture are searching the world for new plants and breeding stock to improve crops already in use in this country. Most of U. S. crops originate from plants brought from abroad. Importation of crops has been taking place since colonial times, but plant scientists say that not half of the world's plants which might grow in the U. S. have been tried here.
