Many Here to Enjoy Annual Perch Festival

Committee Chairman Thanks People for Fine Cooperation

The 1948 Tawas Perch Festival was a success. Several thousand people from many sections of Michigan enjoyed the entertainment and perch fishing during the three day event.

Hugo Keiser, Jr., chairman of the general committee, said today that his committee wished to thank the members of the several subcommittees, the businessmen and people of the two Tawas for their excellent work and fine co-operation, especially those who prepared floats for the parade from the Tawas and other towns, and the many excellent high school bands which participated in the parade. The bands were from Alpena, Harrisville, Oscoda, Hale, Standish, East Tawas and Tawas City.

The parade Saturday morning was especially noteworthy. About one and one-half miles long, it was one of the best ever staged in the Tawas. The business and industry of the community was very well represented with fine floats. In addition to these the Oscoda-AuSable Chamber of Commerce, the Isoco Archery Club, the AuGres Union Festival and Isoco Sportsmen's Club took part in the parade with excellently prepared floats.

The "Perch Festival Mystery Queen," proved to be Rudy Gingerich of the Eagles Minstrels in costume and burned cork, and "her" crowning provided entertainment at the Perch Festival dance held Saturday evening at the Tawas City Gymnasium.

Wilfred G. Bonniwell of Ann Arbor was crowned perch king. John Monarch acted as master of ceremonies. Several hundred people enjoyed the dance and crowning ceremonies. Additional entertainment included a war dance by Chief Blue Cloud and drawing for a door prize, which was won by Mrs. Albert Malton.

One of the popular places along Lake Street was the barbecue in the Tawas City park. About $200.00 was realized from the barbecue which will be turned over to the Tawas Hospital Fund. The committee in charge wishes to thank everyone for the food and aid in making the barbecue a success.

The first place winners in the perch fishing contests held Saturday and Sunday were: Ed. Higgins of Wyandotte, Otto Kasichke of Tawas City, Paul Byers of East Tawas, A. J. McDougald of Willow Run, and W. N. Miller of West Branch.

In the juvenile division, Susan Hess of East Tawas, Julia Switzer of Dearborn and Kenny Bublitz of Tawas City were winners.

NEM Baseball League Opens May 9

The Northeastern Michigan League season will get underway next Sunday, May 9, with Tawas City playing at Twining. The following Sunday, May 16, will mark opening day for the Tawas fans with Omer furnishing the opposition at the Tawas City Athletic Field. Other May 9 games are: Whittemore at Alabaster; Hale at AuGres; Prescott at West Branch, and Turner at Omer.

Tawas City first half schedule is as follows:

May 9—Tawas City at Twining.
May 16—Omer at Tawas City.
May 23—Hale at Tawas City.
May 30—Tawas City at Whittemore.

June 6—Prescott at Tawas City.
June 13—Tawas City at Turner.
June 20—West Branch at Tawas City.

June 27—Tawas City at Alabaster.
July 4—AuGres at Tawas City.

Man. Gackstetter has been putting the team through the paces, the past two weeks, with three Sunday workouts and several week-day stints.

Last Sunday's lengthy work-out, found team members running, batting, and taking part in outfield and infield drills. After the work-out a practice game was played, with prospects trying out in different positions. Both teams looked good, with two snappy infield combinations making four double plays, and several players showed mid-season form in hitting. The pitchers all had a whirl at the mound, and proved tough when they wanted to be. The four-man pitching staff included: Bob Rollin, Dale Landon, Reg. Bublitz and Pete Peterson. Backstop duties were divided between H. Bublitz, O. Herriman and Peterson.

With the season opener only ten days off, Manager Gackstetter has called for a raise in tempo of the practices, with practice scheduled for every night and another long practice set for Sunday, Tonight (Friday) practice will begin at 6:15 p. m. and Sunday practice will begin promptly at 2:30 p. m.

Fair Board Elects Board of Directors

The Isoco County Agricultural Fair Association held their annual meeting Thursday, April 22, 1948 at the Plainfield Township Hall. Four members for three years were elected. Harold Black of Whittemore was elected to succeed himself. The three new members are George Prescott, III and Mrs. Henry Shatz of Tawas City and Harold R. Clark of East Tawas.

In the several resolutions presented the group recommended that the annual meeting be held on the first Tuesday of December of each year, that the dates of the fair be established on the three last days of the week of Labor Day and it was further recommended that an attempt to hold the 1948 fair on those days be made.

The board of directors are to hold a meeting for the election of officers, Thursday April 29, 1948 at the Plainfield Township Hall.

Tawas Continues In Win Column

Defeat Hale and East Tawas Teams

The Tawas City High School baseball team continued in the winning column, this week, when they defeated Hale 7 to 3 Friday afternoon, and then defeated East Tawas Tuesday at the local diamond, 6 to 2. The team now has a record of three wins and one loss.

With Don Youngs, stocky right-hander, who usually catches for the team on the mound Friday afternoon. The Tawas City team crossed the plate seven times on seven hits. In the third inning, while Bruce Myles was following a pop foul along the first base line he tangled up with Westcott, first baseman, and was forced to leave the game with a cut lip. Youngs then went behind the plate and Herb Look, regular pitcher, went to the mound and shut out his Hale opponents without a hit. Smyczynski and Look led in the hitting department with two apiece. Don Youngs socked out a double, while McDonald, Westcott and Hughes each cracked out singles. Morrison and Johnson connected for singles for Hale.

In the game Tuesday afternoon the Tawas City team defeated East Tawas 6 to 2. Look, Tawas City pitcher held the East Tawas nine to four hits, while the East Tawas "Tate & Tate, Inc." combination was almost effective holding Tawas City to five hits.

Next Tuesday afternoon the Tawas City team will entertain Harrisville at the local field. The Harrisville nine defeated the Tawas lads earlier in the season. Come out and see a fast young team perform. They have their new uniforms this year and present a very good appearance on the diamond.

County Cancer Fund Campaign Lags

Returns to date show that our quota for this fund is behind last year. Every one knows the seriousness of this dread disease. Your liberal giving is needed to do our part to combat it.

If you have not already sent your donation the Committee urges that you give now as liberally as possible.

Donations may be mailed to Mrs. C. L. McLean or Mrs. Arthur Evans. They will be credited to your area.

20th Century Club

Forty members and guests enjoyed the last meeting for the club year last Friday evening at the Baptist church. Colored movies taken on a trip to California last year, was presented by Miss Margaret Murphy of Flint. Miss Murphy is a former Tawas City resident and this is the second time she has shown movies for the pleasure of the Twentieth Century Club. Her first pictures were of a trip to Mexico.

A beautifully hand embroidered table cloth from Roumania covered the refreshment table.

The picnic has been postponed to a later date.

Military Rites For Three Isoco Servicemen

Austin Rahl, Friday;
Charles Brown, Tuesday;
Albert Dorcey, Sunday

Three of Isoco county's soldiers who had died overseas in the service of their country have been brought home for burial during the past week. Sgt. Austin Rahl, son of the late Otto Rahl, was buried Friday at Turner. Services for Charles N. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown were held here Tuesday afternoon. Rites for Pfc. Albert Dorcey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dorcey of Whittemore will be held Sunday.

Services for Staff Sgt. Lloyd Austin Rahl, of Turner, who died January 19, 1945 in France, were held Friday afternoon at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ida Rahl, of Turner.

The Rev. Roland Brooks officiated and burial was in Cedar Valley cemetery under auspices of the Standish and AuGres V. F. W. posts.

Funeral services for Paratrooper Charles N. Brown were held Tuesday afternoon from the Moffatt Funeral Home, Rev. J. M. Cavanaugh officiated. Military rites were given under the auspices of Isoco Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Charles N. Brown was born at Alabaster. After attending the Alabaster schools he graduated from Tawas City High school. Immediately following his graduation he entered the service. He trained as a paratrooper at Fort Benning, Georgia, and at Fort Meade. He was killed in action in Normandy on July 4, 1944.

He is survived by his parents, a brother, Ernest, and a sister, Mildred.

The body of Pfc. Albert Dorcey, of Whittemore, who was killed July 25, 1944, on Guam will arrive this Friday morning in Twining for reburial.

Pfc. Dorcey was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dorcey, of Whittemore.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Whittemore Methodist church with the Rev. Roland Brooks officiating.

The Isoco V. F. W. post will be in charge of graveside services in the Saints cemetery at Whittemore.

Alabaster, 47 Champs Begin Workouts

Warm weather has brought out for their initial practices the North-eastern Michigan Baseball League 1947 Champions from Alabaster. Manager Harold Rollin has his boys beginning work-outs for a repeat performance this year and early reports have them coming along in fine shape.

At least three of last year's regulars will be missing from the line-up this year, namely Hube Benson, catcher, Peterson, who switched to Tawas City, and Johnny Martin, who was the League's best pitcher last year. Johnny has been working out this spring with the Saginaw Bears of the newly organized Class A Central League, and according to latest word, has been optioned to the Clarksdale, Mississippi Class C Club on 24 hour recall notice. Our best wishes for success go with him.

A lot of hard work will be needed to put together another winning combination to match last year's unbeaten record. New men coming along so far are Paul Byers, who pitched for AuGres last year, Wayne Wickert, catcher, who is attending Michigan State College, Elmer Erickson, Jr., Pat Erickson and Gordon Tate. Among the members from last year's team working out are Joe Martin, John Erickson, Pete Rescoe, Joe Roberts, Harold DeLosh and Vern Hill.

A practice game will be played Sunday, May 2 with Pine River coming to Alabaster.

Young Womens League Elects Officers

The Young Women's League met in the Literary Club Rooms on April 26th, at 8:00 p. m. to hold election of officers:

President—Mrs. Sophia Barkman.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Effie Mallon.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Marion Newcomb.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Della Mae Dixon.
Treasurer—Miss Margaret Smith.
Sponsors—Mrs. Gertrude Kunze, Mrs. Lyle Mooney, Mrs. Harvey Watson.

A very fine report on the Federation meeting in Grand Rapids was given by Mrs. Marion Bontekoe. Plans were completed for the Minstrel show to be put on at the Oscoda High School Auditorium for the benefit of the Hospital Fund. In return for which the Young Women's League will sponsor the three act play for a Hot Lunch Program in the Oscoda School, and our part of the proceeds will be used for the Hospital fund.

This play entitled "Oh, Father," will be on May 7th at the East Tawas Community House.

THE GARBLE SISTERS

"Isn't it awful about discovering them Russian submarines loading up with war supplies at American ports?"

"Yeah. Imagine four of 'em taking surplus coal from us right at a time when John L. Lewis is partitioning the mines. Why doesn't the U. N. do something about that man?"

"It called him to Lake Success but he refused to go until he got good and ready. All U.N. can do about Lewis anyhow is to name another commission to observe him and see if he violates the Potsdam-Taft law."

"Then what can they do if he does?"

"They have to fight him with guided missiles."

"What do you think about universal service?"

"I never ate at that hotel, but the service in all them places can be pretty bad these days."

"I mean the plan to draft boys for the army and navy again."

"That's all election talk."

"I can't sleep nights worrying over another world war. Are you scared?"

"Not so long as America has the atom bomb, Ted Williams, Eisenhower and Johnny Mize, television, Barnuch and ERP."

"Erp who?"

"I forget his last name."

"Did you read where the Roosevelt boys came out for Eisenhower for president with Halsey for vice-president and Tony McAuliffe for secretary of state on a Nuts-to-you ticket?"

"Anybody can win this year except General MacWallace or that fellow Austin Warren."

"Either way it comes out meat and eggs will go higher, I guess."

"Yeah. There's no stopping the inflation shortage especially if we lose them western orbits and China, too."

"Wanted: Stenographer, thoroughly experienced; must have size 4B foot. 345 Hudson"—N. Y. Times.

They're making those typewriters more complicated every day.

Vanishing Americanisms

"Anybody can afford an auto these days."

"Let's give Junior a nickel, he'll be tickled silly."

"It's my turn to set 'em up."

Speaking of that supreme court decision that a law on the books since 1884 to protect the kids against crime magazines is unconstitutional, we know a youngster who silenced the old man pretty promptly. "How can you and I be sure what's bad for me, popper?" he demanded. "It took the court 64 years to find out."

The finest movie performance of the year, or any other within ye ed's recollection, and one that seems sure to get the next Oscar is that of a nine-year-old Czechoslovakian boy, Ivan Jandl, in a new movie written around the tragedy of children among the displaced persons of the world. The kid never appeared on a stage or in pictures before. He was discovered singing with a group of children in Prague. Most child actors are a strain on the nerves, but here, at last, is a kid who seems not to be acting at all, and in whose tragic eyes and restrained actions there is seen one of the most tragic situations of modern times.

Aw, you just wanna drag us into one of those quiz programs, Hank!

A British auto now is offered on the American market for $21,250. As soon as the British think the automobile has passed the experimental stage they may reduce prices a bit.

Mal Braverman thinks that what Mr. Truman needs more than a good running mate is a good running start.

A New York advertising firm gave up a tobacco account worth 15 million dollars a year. Mere cigarette money!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Revolt Interrupts Bogota Parley; Miners Get Pension, End Walkout; GOP Aspirants in Primaries Fight

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspapers Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

REVOLT: Bogota

It was a peaceful early afternoon in Bogota, Colombia, and the inter-American conference was droning along in customary style in the capitol building on the Plaza Bolivar.

Then, with the firing of four assassin's bullets into the body of Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, popular leader of Colombia's Liberal party, one of the worst revolts Latin American has seen exploded into violence.

During the first afternoon Bogota descended into a state of complete anarchy. Mobs prowled the streets, burning and looting. Scores were killed. The residence of President Ospina Perez was attacked and windows were broken before army troops drove away the crowd.

Above the confused clamor of the throng could be heard shouts of "Down with the government, down with the Conservatives."

Three days later, as the riots simmered to a halt, 300 persons were dead, many others injured. Downtown Bogota was a welter of destruction. Colombia had broken relations with Soviet Russia, and the inter-American conference had almost cracked up, with delegates uncertain as to whether they could continue.

On the face of it, the revolt was a sudden eruption of violent sentiment of Liberal party followers against the Conservative government in power. Immediate result was the formation of a new coalition cabinet, equally composed of Liberals and Conservatives.

Big question was how much Communists had to do with the Bogota riots.

U.S. Secretary of State George Marshall, who with other Americans in Bogota got through the riots unscathed, claimed the revolt was Communist.

"The occurrence goes beyond Colombia. It is of the same definite patterns as the occurrences which provoked strikes in France and Italy."

And the Colombian government, in severing relations with Russia, declared that a "Communist insurrection" had touched off the mob fury.

Finally, it was announced from Bogota that the inter-American conference would resume "so that Communism could not triumph over Colombia and the rest of the nations of the hemisphere."

SETTLEMENT: Coal Strike

John L. Lewis wasn't exactly in the position of a man who had asked friends out to dinner and then found he couldn't pay the check, but he was verging on some such situation.

Half a million soft coal miners started to straggle back to work after a 28-day strike when Lewis informed them that the fight for $100-a-month pensions had been won, but Lewis himself had to appear before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough to answer a contempt of court charge.

Lewis was cited for contempt by Goldsborough, his 1947 nemesis, on the grounds that he ignored an April 3 court order to call off the strike.

Apart from the contempt of court citation, settlement of the coal strike was distinguished mainly by a slightly marvelous amalgam of political action and expedient compromise.

Beginning of the end came when Speaker of the House Joseph Martin (Rep., Mass.) moved into the dispute by persuading Lewis and Ezra Van Horn, a mine operator, to meet with him in his office. Martin then suggested that Sen. Styles Bridges (Rep., N.H.) be named the third member of the board which administers the miners' welfare and retirement fund. (Lewis and Van Horn are the other two members.)

At a subsequent meeting of the three, Bridges proposed a plan that would give $100-a-month pensions to 62-year-old miners with 20 years of service who retired after May 28, 1946, the date on which the miners' welfare fund was set up. Bridges' plan was accepted and the strike called off.

Actually, Lewis, in approving the New Hampshire senator's proposal, had descended several notches from his original demands.

Politically, the most fascinating aspect of the affair was how Joe Martin managed to take the play away from the administration in arranging for a settlement.

EDUCATION:

Nearly half of the 5,245,000 World War II veterans who entered special education and training programs under the G.I. bill of rights have abandoned their courses, Veterans' administration says.

More than 400,000 completed their work, however—382,000 of them under the G.I. bill and the rest under the rehabilitation program for disabled veterans. Many of those that quit plan to return later, it was indicated.

On Wisconsin

In his South St. Paul home Stassen grined with the comfortable cheer of a cat who had just swiped all the cream in Wisconsin as he sat with his wife and received reports stating that he had run off with 19 of the 27 delegates in that state's primary election.

PRIMARIES: Wisconsin

Wisconsin's presidential primary election to choose delegates to the Republican national convention in Philadelphia on June 21 was regarded, as usual, as a straw in the wind; but this year the political breeze was a shifting one.

For Harold Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota, a hard, thorough campaign waged by himself and his volunteer supporters up and down the state paid off nobly when Wisconsin voters granted him a total of 19 of the state's 27 delegates to the GOP convention.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur took the remaining eight to run a poor second, despite a flamboyant publicity drive carried out by his backers (notably the Hearst newspapers) which was built around the theory that he is "the only man equipped to deal with Russia."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York drew a complete blank in Wisconsin, where he had been the Republican favorite in 1940 and again in 1944.

As a result of the Wisconsin election, Stassen was catapulted into public consciousness as a leading contender for the Republican nomination. It was certain that his top-heavy victory there would be reflected in the other primaries to follow, and that he had gained considerable stature in the Midwest.

It was difficult to tell which of the two losers—Dewey or MacArthur—had been hit harder by his defeat. Dewey, who received no delegates, might seem to be in a position similar to that of Wendell Wilkie in 1944 when he withdrew from the GOP race after losing ignominiously in the Wisconsin primary. But the New York governor previously had beaten Stassen in the New Hampshire primary, and, also, he had the full state of New York delegates pledged to him.

It was on MacArthur, who had claimed Wisconsin as his home state, that the axe of public disfavor appeared to have fallen with greatest force.

More To Come

From Wisconsin the election year wind swung to the plains of Nebraska where seven leading contenders in the Republican presidential race fought it out in a free-for-all match, with Stassen again emerging as the big winner.

After Nebraska the battlefield shifted to Pennsylvania and Massachusetts on April 27. A total of 108 delegates to the GOP convention was at stake.

On May 4 Harold Stassen was to carry the fight to Sen. Howard Taft's home arena, the state of Ohio. It was no secret that Taft was worried over which way his fellow Ohioans might go, and a good showing by Stassen would hamper materially Taft's White House ambitions.

In his second pitched battle with Governor Dewey (New Hampshire was the first) Stassen was slated to invade Oregon for that state's GOP primary on May 21. While results of the Oregon primary were not expected to be conclusive, they would serve to provide a first sampling of West coast opinion.

Final state presidential primary on the Republican side occurs in California on June 1.

Gasoline from Coal

Gasoline made from coal, even when it comes into general use, probably will cost more than petroleum gasoline, but at least motorists won't have to worry about shortages, a research scientist, Dr. R. W. Krebs of Baton Rouge, La., has predicted. He estimated that coal gasoline will cost from 10 to 15 cents more a gallon than gasoline currently in use, but he added that the supply will be enough to last 1,000 years.

TREATY: Finns-Russ

Russia had what it wanted from Finland—a buffer state to the north west.

The two nations signed a 10-year treaty of mutual assistance which binds Finland to fight within its own borders in the event either country is attacked.

Finland and Russia, stated the pact, would battle side by side to repel aggression by Germany "or another state allied with" Germany. The treaty circumspectly failed to mention any other state by name.

Despite the fact that Finland's delegation virtually had been commanded to appear at Moscow to sign a treaty with Russia, Premier Josef Stalin beamed expansively after the agreement had been concluded, hailing it as a "treaty between equals."

And he said: "I would like to see us pass from a long period of mutual distrust during which we twice fought against each other, to a new period in our relations—to a period of mutual trust."

Actually, the Finns got a better deal from Russia than they might have hoped for. Their nation had not been forced into a tight, arbitrary military accord with the Soviets, nor had Finland lost its sovereignty although it was brought firmly into the bloc of states along Russia's exposed western flank.

ATOM BOMB: No Secret

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal put a name and a definitive edge, after a fashion, to all the rest-les postwar fears Americans have been experiencing.

He did it by announcing to the house armed services committee that Russia knows how to make the atomic bomb. More specifically, the Russians possess the knowledge of how to put the bomb together but so far do not have the industrial capacity to capitalize on that knowledge.

Russia does not yet have an atom bomb, but the days of U. S. monopoly of A-bomb production are numbered, Forrestal said. He told the congressional committee that he got his information from Dr. Vannevar Bush, chairman of the U.S. research and development board.

During the course of his testimony regarding a two-year draft of men 19 through 25, the defense secretary answered queries with:

"I said they do not have the atom bomb. I did not say they do not have the secret of the atom bomb."

"I am informed by Dr. Bush that the scientific knowledge and technical procedure involved in the manufacture of the atom bomb are known to Russia."

Thus, U.S.-Russian relations on the atomic level had developed to the point where there was only one unknown quantity: How soon would the Soviets acquire the industrial capacity to produce atom bombs?

Secretary Forrestal admitted he didn't know.

Italian Style

U.S. Ambassador to Italy James Clement Dunn (right) peers benevolently at an Italian worker in Taranto as he tastes grain that was among the foodstuffs delivered aboard the 500th relief ship to bring food to Italy.

CONTROLS: Cold Shoulder

The jeering specter of price, wage and ration controls was invoked again by President Truman's council of economic advisers which called for nationwide "discipline" to prevent inflation under the impact of the new defense program.

In its report covering the first three months of 1948 the council denounced the tax cut law as "inflationary" and recommended new taxes if the planned defense spending is not offset by reduced government costs in other areas.

Republican-dominated congress received rather happily the council's call for reduced government spending, but maintained a glum silence on the subject of selective price, wage and ration controls.

Congressmen indicated that they want to study possible inflationary effects of the preparedness program and foreign aid spending under the Marshall plan before they give any serious consideration to resurrecting economic controls.

Although the council admitted that foreign spending coupled with a big defense outlay "will not swamp our economy nor require us to pass from free enterprise to regimentation," it added that "some rather systematic and vigorous discipline must be exercised."

TOO MANY HIDDEN TAXES

IN THE 1936 presidential election I campaign the Republicans organized what the Democrats facetiously termed, "the Republican brain trust," in retaliation for the fun poked at the New Deal brain trusters who backed the Roosevelt candidacy. That Republican brain trust consisted of a group of university professors, each of whom was a specialist in some line.

When in Washington I was asked to interview some of the eminent economists to ascertain if they would talk the language of the man on the street. One of those to whom I was presented was an outstanding economist on the faculty of an eastern university and an expert on the subject of taxes.

When I met him he began a long dissertation on the theory of taxation. He talked to me as he probably would have talked to his class in economics. When, after a few minutes I succeeded in breaking in, I said to him:

"Doctor I am not interested in the theory of taxation, but I do want to know how much of the price you paid for the shirt you are wearing was represented by government tax."

He chuckled a bit, and replied: "Yes, I can tell you that, and it is a practical question."

That little incident represents what the American people are asking for today. They want to know what taxes they are paying. They want their tax bills laid face up on the table. They are not satisfied with knowing only a part of the total bill, with other parts reaching into their pockets and extracting a dime for this and a quarter for that, each time the taxpayer turns around. They want all taxes out in the open, so they will know how much of each dollar they get is taken as taxes.

The people no longer are fooled by hidden taxes as our tax-voting bodies wish to think they are, but the people are insisting on knowing the total cost of government to each individual.

If there is to be a tax on the shirt we wear let us know exactly the amount of that tax. We do not want a multiplicity of taxes, added one on top of another so we cannot know the total. We want all the bad news in one item. There should be no multiplicity of taxes; no tax on tax applied by each through whose hands the shirt passes—from the raw material of which the fabric is made, down to the retailer from whom we buy it. Somewhere along that line there can be one tax, and that one tax can be a known amount to the one who makes a purchase. Possibly the solution would be a manufacturer's sales tax.

When congress attempts a general overhauling of our entire tax structure it should get away from so-called hidden taxes.

If congress will work as hard at the job of establishing such a tax system as it has worked to cover up taxes and fool the people who must pay them, the method can be found. When it is found, the people will more easily determine how much government they want. As it is now, no individual can know how much he pays or who pays.

Masaryk, the Patriot

Over the centuries, history has given us a list of great patriotic heroes. To that list I should like to see added the name of Thomas Masaryk, father and first president of that free Czechoslovakia which the Russian Bear so ruthlessly despoiled. During the days of World War I, I knew Thomas Masaryk. He spent considerable time in Chicago as the guest of a Czech-born, but Americanized, banker, who was then treasurer of the Chicago Press club. That banker was a daily luncheon patron of the club's dining room, and Thomas Masaryk occasionally joined him there. As president of the club I, too, ate lunch there every day, and it was an appreciated privilege to sit at that same table.

It was there I realized the intensity of the patriotism, that love of country and its people, that burned within Thomas Masaryk. He deserves a place in the list of the world's great patriots. To me the act of self-destruction on the part of the son of such a father was one of patriotic fervor, that it might aid in keeping alive the spirit of freedom among the Czechoslovakian people. It was not the act of a frustrated coward. Those two graves, side by side, will be a shrine at which the lamp of freedom will be kept lighted.

A live newspaper is an important factor in the progress of a community.

A fellow traveler university professor, allowed to run loose, is a menace to our free institutions.

The union shop provision of the Taft-Hartley law assures all a job in the vocation of his choice. Although a worker must join the union after a period of time, the law prevents a labor monopoly in any industry.

Muff (a Dog) Has Her Ideas About the Nobility of Man

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON—There is nothing particularly strange about a dog guarding a batch of milk cans like the one in the accompanying photograph. You wouldn't be too surprised to be told that the dog knew who should collect the cans and who shouldn't; to hear about other dogs who go to the store with a shopping list, bring back groceries and even steaks in the basket they carry; and you know all about the wonderful "Seeing-Eye" dogs which not only guard their masters from harm, but often appear to sense danger's approach.

But the other day I had an experience with a dog which you probably won't believe.

I was sitting at twilight on my porch after a long day and a comforting meal. I was digesting my dinner while Muff, my wire-haired fox, was removing the last vestiges of her share of it from her beard. She was lolling in front of me on the flat topped porchpost, her favorite resting place. She finished her toilet, flopped her chin on one paw facing me and winked—or so it seemed in the fading light. A robin was sounding the last sleepy cadences of his vesper song from the recesses of an ancient maple.

I looked at Muff. She looked back and smiled beneath her whiskers—or so I guessed she might be doing.

"If I had the patience," I said half-aloud, "I could teach you to talk."

"Oh, no you couldn't!" I could almost swear Muff had responded. She certainly had opened her mouth. I let my imagination run on. "Oh, yes I could," I replied, pretending she could understand me. "You've got the brains. How do you know that when I take my briefcase, I'll be back in the evening and when I take my suitcase, I won't be back for several days? You DO know, because you show it very plainly: briefcase, a couple of wags and a woof; suitcase, body-wiggles, plaintive arfs, up-jumping and hand-licks."

I went on cataloguing the obvious indications of Muff's intelligence, which far surpasses that of many loquacious human acquaintances. As I talked on, Muff rolled over carefully (there was just room for it on her perch) and yawned. Not because she was bored, as I was to learn later, but because praise of this type always embarrasses her. She will wag herself waggles at a "good dog!" for some stupid, fetch-and-carry trick that even a Boston terrier could learn, but when one praises her intellectual achievements, it always embarrasses her and she tries to hide it.

"Well," I insisted, "it's true you are intelligent enough to talk."

Then I was puzzled. Distinctly, though in a breathy voice which sounded the way a dog does before he has quite decided to bark, I heard an answer: "It isn't that I am not intelligent enough. And it isn't that dogs will never talk, but I'm afraid I shall never learn."

I'm dreaming, I said to myself, but no. There was Muff, there was the outline of the maple, dim now as the darkness gathered. There was I.

I shut my eyes. I'll handle this rationally, I said. Just let things happen. I relaxed and was less surprised to hear the soft, breathy voice continue: "It isn't that there's anything wrong with my speech center in the third, left convolution of my cortex—but, I want to repeat, that dogs never can learn to talk. . . ."

"Gently I opened my eyes. Muff was sitting up now, her head cocked to one side, her mouth, or at least her jaw, moving a little, because even in the crepuscule I could see her beard wagging gently as she went on:

"Because, as you may know, we canines, and I believe this applies to other animals as well, have far clearer race-memories than human beings. You sometimes mistakenly refer to these memories as intuition. That is nonsense. Given a set of circumstances, any half-witted pooch or over-bred show-pup, immediately knows what to do.

"We canines picked man as a friend and were probably one of the great factors in his domestication, largely because we found him more malleable than any of the other fauna. And I think we have done a good job. We have not been harsh masters. We may be over-sentimental at times, but you with YOUR maudlin sentiment, you frequently interpret sound, practical loyalty, motivated by a high moral sense, as a slavish devotion.

"But I'm digressing (the voice went on)—what I would like to bring to your attention is this business of race memories. You men have some, too, and you have something else—traditions. They don't go back as far, but they are part and parcel of the same thing. Only many of your traditions lead you into trouble. In the last few months, while you thought I was asleep, I've heard you and your high-brow friends use phrases like, 'always been wars'; peace never has been maintained except by 'balance of power'; men are 'fighting animals' and so on ad nauseam—(pardon the Latin but a Roman senator belonged to one of my ancestors.) Now I, with my race memories—can recall more of them which have worn thin and been discarded than your species (which I doubt will have a very extended destiny) ever will have.

"Just an example. With little effort, I can recall some of the silly shibboleths which made trouble for some of my ancestors. It was back in the stone age, just about the same time when we canines decided Man had reached the point where he was ready for adoption and training in civilization.

"At that period in pre-history we had advanced to the point where we hunted in packs instead of singly. Our policy was still kill and let be killed although some of us had discovered its fallacy. We also had a long list of so-called hereditary enemies, and next to the apes, Man led them all.

"I don't know how many centuries it took to revise that list, and accept Man as a friend. A pretty stupid and cruel friend, to be sure, but one who could be trained. There was one saying, I believe, which was very popular, but which the more enlightened canines knew was nothing but an old females' tale. It went: 'Don't trust a man any farther than you can smell him.' You would realize the force of that if you knew how far you used to smell.

"There was another saying: 'The only good man is a dead one, and even then you'd better let the jackals taste him first.' I could go on endlessly. It took an awful lot of work to explode those myths. Almost as long as it did to get some of the cruelty out of Man. We've gone a long way in that direction, as you know. In another 10 or 15 centuries I wouldn't be surprised if we got you to treat each other as well as most of you treat us. Your wars! Ugh! That shouldn't—and wouldn't—happen to a dog!"

At this point I sat up. Muff always had been faithful, obedient, and I thought not only my true friend, but also my respectful and humble servant. And this was going too far! Why this was impertinent. My own dog, talking like that!

I must have spoken out loud, for I heard something that sounded like a laugh.

"Now don't try to bust your leash," I heard her remark. "After all, if you think I'm your dog, okay. Somehow I feel that you're my man. So let's let it go at that and we'll both be happy.

"I didn't mean to run on like this and I didn't mean to get dogmatic. I just wanted to say that I know my limitations. I can't talk. But if it's in the canine cards, my descendants will. It took several thousand years to kill the race memories which would have dictated that I take a nip out of your calf instead of licking your hand. And, there's hope for you, too. Maybe progress is just around the corner—"

There was a sudden whoosh, a flash of gray in the night, followed by a parabola of fur as Muff left the post in one leap after the neighbor's cat which by now was snickering at her from the maple branch. Muff came back. She gave me a hand-dog look and remarked through her whiskers. "That is one race-memory that I can't eliminate." "And by the way," she added, "Don't mention this conversation. Nobody will believe you if you do."

UNVEILING OF F.D.R. STATUE IN LONDON... Some of the distinguished guests stand in front of the 10-foot statue of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt after the unveiling ceremony in London's Grosvenor square. British people subscribed more than $160,000 to honor the wartime President of the United States. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Prime Minister Clement Attlee and King George and the royal family were present for the occasion.

SULPHUR DUSTING BY AIR... This Bell 47-D utility helicopter is dusting a citrus grove near Houston, Tex., with sulphur. Until recently, dusting with sulphur had been considered highly dangerous. Now, however, aircraft of this model are permitted to do so, thus paving the way for expansion of helicopter dusting to Southwest states where sulphur is widely used to fight insects and disease.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL... Philadelphia, Pa., instituted a clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign come spring this year, and the first thing anybody knew there were crowds of people outside scrubbing the streets and sidewalks. Fired by the vision of a clean and shining city (maybe in anticipation of the forthcoming Republican and Democratic national conventions there) Quaker City residents shouldered brooms and buckets and went to work on the Philadelphia beauty treatment.

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO CHOP SUEY?... Introduced at Lake Success, N.Y., to the traditional American dish of bread soaked to the saturation point in meat gravy, Florence Wu registers complete and wide-open approval, while Charles and Roger Langston, British twins, look with some suspicion upon her ladylike use of a fork. The children's parents are United Nations personnel.

COLD WAR FARES... Max Vogel, a New York cab driver, is distributing to the people who ride in his taxi 5,000 allegiance buttons which read, 'I pledge allegiance to my flag—Fight Communism.'

FAMILY MAN... Primo Carnera, satchel-footed former heavyweight boxing champion, is engaged by his happy family with whom he was reunited for the first time in two years when he flew to the U.S. from Italy. Da Preem is now a big-time wrestler.

REAPPEARANCE... Apparently considered harmless by the Communists, President Edvard Benes of Czechoslovakia was permitted to make his first speech since the Red coup in that nation. He presented a renewed charter to Charles university at Prague.

EDUCATION... Now that her leg is in a splint after she was hit by a truck, nine-month-old Pochie listens gravely while little Janet Harlow of Pittsburgh, Pa., reads a pointed lesson on first-aid.

BAMBINO... Outfitted with a rambling nose a la Babe Ruth and a New York Yankee uniform, William Bendix is ready to portray the Sultan of Swat in the forthcoming motion picture, 'The Babe Ruth Story.'

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

It's Easy to Make Strawberry Shortcake
(See recipes below)

Strawberry Time

For those of you who like strawberries, the season is too short! But we aim to do our best by them this season, so let's have them several times each week as long as we can. Perfect strawberries are just plain good served au naturel. And if you like them sweeter, dip each in a mound of powdered sugar, before tasting its deliciousness. Some like them for breakfast with a sprinkling of sugar and a quaint pitcher of thick country cream.

Strawberries in shortcake make a dream of a desert. Some prefer old fashioned biscuit type of shortcake, split and covered with sweetened crushed berries and cream. Others prefer a more cake-like type of accompaniment to the berries.

*Strawberry Shortcake (Serves 6)

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 5 tablespoons shortening
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 teaspoons grated orange peel
- 1 tablespoon soft butter
- 1 quart strawberries, sliced and sugared

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together; cut shortening into mixture with two knives or pastry blender until mixture is the consistency of corn meal.

Combine egg and milk; add to dry ingredients, mixing quickly to form a soft dough.

Drop the dough by spoonfuls into a well greased two quart heat resistant glass utility dish. Sprinkle each biscuit with grated orange peel. Bake in a hot (450 degree) oven for 12 minutes. Split hot biscuits and spread with soft butter. Place the sweetened strawberries between and on top of each biscuit. Serve a pitcher of cream with the shortcake if desired.

Fresh Strawberry Pie

- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell
- 1 quart strawberries
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch or flour
- Sweetened whipped cream

Crush half the berries and bring to boiling point. Stir in sugar combined with flour or cornstarch and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and well cooked. Spread other half of berries (whole) in baked pie shell. Pour hot cooked filling over top, cool, top with sweetened whipped cream and serve. Meringue may be used instead of whipped cream and pie browned in a moderate (350 degree) oven.

Special Strawberry Shortcake

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose enriched flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 4 tablespoons shortening
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/4 teaspoon lemon extract

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Cut in shortening. Beat one whole egg and one egg yolk, reserving one white for the tops. Add orange juice and flavoring to beaten eggs, then add to dry ingredients. Stir only enough to make dough hold together. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead a half minute. Roll out 1/2 inch thick. Cut. Brush tops with

These Cookery Tips Give Desired Results

If ham is to be stored for any length of time, rub outside thoroughly with fat so that mold will not form on the lean part.

Place bacon in a cold pan and use a low flame for cooking. Pour off excess fat as it cooks.

For cutting meat or fish for salads, use a scissors instead of a knife. Marinate in French dressing before mixing to give flavor.

white of egg and sprinkle with sugar. Bake on ungreased baking sheet for 12 minutes in 425 degree preheated oven. Split hot shortcakes, butter and fill with sliced sweetened berries. Replace top and pour berries over top. Serve with cream if desired.

Strawberry Meringue Pie

- 1 pint fresh strawberries
- 3 egg whites
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/3 cup sugar
- Few drops vanilla
- Honey
- Baked pie crust

Beat egg whites with salt until stiff. Beat in sugar and flavor with few drops of vanilla. Drain berries carefully; sweeten with honey and fold into meringue. Turn into pie crust and brown in moderate (350 degree) oven about 30 minutes. Serve as soon as cool. (Other fresh, carefully drained fruits may be used.)

Standish Pudding (Makes 1 quart)

- 1 quart strawberries
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup water
- Lemon juice
- 1/2 pint whipping cream
- 1/4 cup powdered sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2/3 cup rolled dried macaroons

Pick over strawberries, sprinkle with sugar and let stand for two hours. Mash, squeeze through a double thickness of cheesecloth and add water and lemon juice to taste. Turn mixture into a one quart brick mold or place in freezing tray. Beat cream until stiff and add powdered sugar, vanilla and rolled macaroons. Pour over fruit mixture to overflow mold. Cover with buttered paper and freeze in a mixture of ice and salt, or let freeze in refrigerator compartment.

Raspberry or Strawberry Whip (Serves 4)

- 1 1/4 cup berries
- 1 cup powdered sugar
- 1 egg white

Beat ingredients together with wire whip or electric whip until stiff enough to hold shape. Serve over pieces of sponge or angel cake or pile lightly in a dish, chill, surround with lady fingers and serve with soft custard sauce.

Luncheon Dish De Luxe

Scrambled eggs with shrimp make a delicious and satisfying luncheon dish. To prepare, saute one chopped green onion and one slice mushroom in two tablespoons margarine or butter. Cook over a low heat three or four minutes. Add one-half cup shrimp which has been broken into small pieces, and one canned tomato. Again cook over a low heat one or two minutes. Add four eggs which have been beaten with two tablespoons cream, salt and pepper. Stir slowly over a low heat until of desired doneness. Serve on toast or crisp wafers. Sprinkle with grated spicy cheese.

Here's a filling combination, made of all vegetables: Corn pudding, creamed string beans with almonds, French fried carrots and radishes.

Do you like mushrooms? Bake them in cream, then serve along with turnip souffle, buttered string beans and sliced tomatoes.

Serve cottage cheese with assorted fruits or assorted raw vegetables like sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, with olives at the side.

Fruit pies will be better flavored if you add a dash of honey to them.

Employment and Marketing

Full employment does not automatically provide a good market for everything U. S. farms may produce. For example, with substantially full employment in 1923, wheat prices were abnormally low because of foreign surplus production. In 1926 there was substantially full employment and a domestic surplus of cotton. In 1929, despite substantially full employment, the country was struggling to get rid of the large 1926 wheat crop. Present day agricultural programs are designed to deal with such problems, according to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Foster Education

First important federal measure to aid higher education was the Morrill land grant act of 1862. The act gave each state 30,000 acres of land for each of its members of Congress to be used to endow and support a college of agricultural and mechanical arts.

Boys Town, Nebraska

Boys Town was founded by Monsignor Edward J. Flanagan in a modest house in midtown Omaha in 1917. Later it was moved to the abandoned German civic center in that city. It was moved to the present location in 1920 and was incorporated as Boys Town in 1935.

Haunts of Walleyes

Walleyed pike haunt the deep, long eddies in a stream and also may be found in pools below ripples and falls. In many streams, however, walleye fishing is not good until the crisp days of autumn.

American Wild Grapes

The American concord and Catawba grapes are offspring of the wild grapes which the Vikings found about a thousand years ago in what is now the New England states.

Combine Harvesting

Combines are used to harvest 80 per cent of the wheat, 40 per cent of the oats, 65 per cent of the barley and 50 per cent of the rye in the United States.

Mars Not Borrowed

Mars was one of the few original Roman gods. Most of them were borrowed from other nations and peoples.

Milk from a Tree

The milk tree in Brazil yields milk similar to a cow's and the milk will stand for two months without souring.

Horse cars were operated on the Callowhill street line in Philadelphia until January 15, 1897.

Power on the Farm

Approximately three million tractors are doing the work on American farms today. Shortly before the war there were about one and one-half million tractors on farms in the United States. In 1930, about one million farmers used tractor power. Economists of the U. S. department of agriculture say that tractors are going to replace horses and mules at an accelerated rate.

Wheat Breeding Pays

Thirty years of wheat breeding by experiment stations of the hard red spring wheat area and the department of agriculture have resulted in developing a succession of improved varieties, each producing higher yields. In North Dakota, during the last five years, the increase through use of these varieties is estimated from experiment station yield studies at 192 million bushels worth 240 million dollars, or 48 million dollars per year.

Watch the Dorsal

In landing a walleyed pike be careful of the sharp spear in the dorsal fin. The fish can inflict deep and painful wounds with this weapon, so hold it down while removing the hook. In this position it is harmless.

Apples Long Appreciated

Apparently mankind appreciated the worth of the apple long before science had a chance to delve into its virtues. History tells us that Alexander the Great had a standing rule that apples must be served with each meal.

TIMELY TOPICS

by Harold R. Clark
County Agricultural Agent

I am sure it pays to feed grain to good producing cows, in spite of the high cost of feed. Liberal feeding of hay and silage balanced with some concentrates, abundant pasture and feeding grain during the six to eight week dry period, builds up a good reserve which will pay off in the next lactation. It is costly to maintain the fertility of our soil and so it is mighty important that we preserve our barnyard manures. Large quantities of plant food are lost by evaporation and drainage when manure is piled in the barnyard and hauled out only once a year. Three tons of alfalfa, bromegrass hay contains as much digestible nutrients as 65 bushels of shelled corn. Save the hides, save the cow, produce more meat and milk by controlling the grub. Rotenone powder applied twice, three or four weeks apart will do a good job. Fertilize seedlings liberally. 300 to 400 pounds per acre will pay good dividends. You will have purchased a better bargain if you grow to replacement heifer well. She needs grain until she is at least one year old. And it usually pays to feed some grain until she calves. You will experience lower cost of milk production by growing them out well and having them calve at two years of age. Help control the corn borer. Plow under all corn stubble and stalks. You will get better oat yields by plowing than by discing, experiments show.

Are you sure you will have good enough pasture this summer? If not, you should plan now for emergency pasture. Your oats, barley, wheat or rye may be worth more for pasture than for grain. Sudan grass, sows at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds per acre and may save the day. Sometimes by top dressing the pasture field with 300 to 400 pounds of commercial fertilizer will boost the yield enough to carry you over! Remember it is just as important to feed liberally in the summer as in the winter.—Have you planned a constructive program for your boys and girls for this summer? Why not have them join a summer 4-H Club? If there is no club in your neighborhood, Alfred Hakola or I will help organize one. Call on us.

Combs from Shoes

In the 1880s, old shoes were gathered in the United States, cut into small pieces and for several days soaked in chloro-sulphuric liquid. When dried, pieces of leather were hard. After washing in water and drying again, the leather strips were ground into powder and mixed with glue. This material was used in making combs, buttons and knife handles.

IN CHANCERY

Harry Rollin, Plaintiff, vs. The Re-che-gah Club, Robert W. Crawford, The Alp Corporation and the unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, Defendants.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

At a session of said court held at the court house in the city of Tawas City in said county on the 23rd day of March, A. D. 1948.

Present: HON. Herman Dehnke, Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the Bill of Complaint in said cause and the affidavit of H. Read Smith, attached thereto, from which it satisfactorily appears to the court that the defendants above named, or their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, are proper and necessary parties defendant in the above entitled cause and...

It further appearing that after diligent search and inquiry it can not be ascertained, and it is not known whether or not said defendants are living or dead, or where any of them may reside if living, and, if dead, whether they have personal representatives or heirs or where they or some of them may reside, and further that the present whereabouts of said defendants are unknown, and that the names of the persons who are included therein without being named, but who are embraced therein under the title of unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, can not be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry;

On motion of H. Read Smith, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that said defendants and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cause their appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order, and in default thereof that said Bill of Complaint be taken as confessed by the said defendants, their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns.

It is further ordered that within twenty days plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed and published and circulated in said county, such publication to be continued therein once in each week for six weeks in succession.

Herman Dehnke, Circuit Judge.

Countersigned: R. H. McKenzie, Clerk of Circuit Court.

Take notice that this suit, in which the foregoing order was duly made, involves and is brought to quiet title to the following described piece or parcel of land situate and being in the Township of Wilber, County of Iosco, State of Michigan, described as follows; to wit:

"South half of the Southeast Quarter of Section Thirty (30) Township twenty-three (23) North, Range Seven (7) East."

H. Read Smith, Attorney for Plaintiff. Business Address: Tawas City, Michigan.

4-H Club Sunday May 2

The National 4-H Club Sunday is Rogation Sunday, May 2. Many churches throughout the county will pay special tribute to 4-H club boys and girls and their leaders in their services. May boys and girls will tend in a body at their respective churches and assist in the service. The religious side of the 4-H club program is especially emphasized on this Sunday and it points out the importance of a divine faith in a well rounded personality.

Hale News

The April P-TA was held Wednesday evening, April 21 at the school house. Dr. Milton gave a talk on cancer. This was open house night at the shop where the parents could view the handicraft work of their children. Some of the pupils have done some very nice work as shown by the fine looking furniture on exhibit. Lunch was served in the Home Ec Room. This is the last meeting of this school year.

Donna Slosser of Hale, and Melvin Koepke of Tawas City were united in marriage at the Immanuel Lutheran church at Tawas City on April 25. A reception was held at eight o'clock at the Koepke home and the couple received many nice gifts. They will reside in Bay City where Melvin has employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Londo of Bay City, and son Bud, come to attend the wedding of Mrs. Londo's niece, Donna Slosser, on Sunday.

The parents of the Senior Class gave a supper for the class and their teachers at the Community building, Friday, April 23. A hard time dance was given by the Seniors later in the evening and a nice crowd attended. Danny Thayer, Bill Woolever and Chet Wilson provided music for the occasion and Reginald Caton did the calling for the square dances. The "Cake Walk" gave the opportunity for some lucky folks to win cakes. Prizes were given for some of the costumes.

Mrs. Jerry Wyatt and children returned Saturday from several days visit in Detroit.

Miss Wahnetta Caverl and Walter Buck were united in marriage, Saturday, April 24th at Hale. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sheldon and family, Mrs. Glenn Farley and family of Crosswell, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Heckman, of Whittemore were some of the out-of-town relatives who attended the wedding.

Elzie Ewing has been quite ill and has been taken to the West Branch Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gruber are the proud parents of a baby son born last Saturday. The little fellow has been named Dawayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Healy and son and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gronski of Essexville were callers on relatives here last Sunday.

The Grange committee for the Father and son banquet which they intend to sponsor next month, met at the Glenwood Streeter home Tuesday evening to make plans for the event.

Garlic for Health

Aurelius Cornelius Celsus more than a century before the birth of Christ, prescribed onions as the best remedy for "the fever." Mohammed claimed that garlic took the place of a common poison antidote for the stings or bites of venomous animals. In modern times, the inhabitants of French Guiana use the herb for the same purpose.

A number from here attended the show at Prescott Saturday evening.

Bob and Elwood Ruckle and Gerald St. James were at Twining Friday evening.

Mrs. Merlin McLean is visiting with her mother at Detroit this week.

Mrs. Eva St. James and son were at West Branch for medical treatment Friday.

A. B. Schneider, who has been visiting with relatives in the southern part of the state and Canada for the past three weeks returned home Saturday.

Fred Haselhuhn was in Detroit on business last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bamburgher of Sherman, spent Monday at the home of her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Farrell took their son to the doctor at West Branch for treatment Saturday.

Victor St. James and family are driving a new Plymouth car that they purchased from Archie Graham at Whittemore.

Orville Beller, Martin and Joe Haala were at Munger Sunday.

Clifford St. James was at Standish on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor St. James and family accompanied by A. B. Schneider and Fred Haselhuhn visited at Rose City with relatives Wednesday, and also did a little fishing.

A number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Pat Corrigan one night last week, the occasion being his birthday. Pat was greatly surprised as he thought no one would expect he had a birthday, but he soon found out different. The boys all brought all kinds of eats and refreshments, and after the party was about over, he felt like one of the youngest present, although it was his 78th birthday. They all wished him many more happy birthdays.

Father's Oddities

In Ecuador, the expectant mother is put out of her house, while the father is coddled, honored and doted until he recovers from the shock of becoming a pappy. In the Sudan in Africa, after at least five children, the wife may return to her parents leaving the children as the property of the father. In the Philippines and in Japan, during the birth of a child, the father must take to his bed and simulate labor.

Watch Humidity
Several gallons of water a day can and should be evaporated in the typical house or apartment. Extremely dry air is bad for any furniture.

Marriages on Increase
With an estimated 2,175,000 marriages in the United States last year, a new record was reached. This is over one-half million more marriages than in 1945.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

It's almost gardening time. To keep your fingernails clean while working in the soil scratch them over a cake of soap so that the soap will get under your nails. This will keep the soil out and the soap can be easily washed out.

Men will appreciate this one. Turn the sweat band of a hat down. Insert a strip of cellophane around the crown. This will prevent the appearance of an unsightly stain on the outside of the hat.

For the child who is ill. Tie a small cord to each bed post and fasten clothes-pins to the line. Get well cards, dolls etc., may be hung on the line for the amusement of the young patient.

If you need sour cream, and haven't got it, you can make a good imitation by beating a teaspoonful of vinegar with a cup of evaporated milk.

Do not pour cold water into hot metal pans. The sudden change of temperature may warp the metal.

Just tack curtain rod on the inside of a closet door and hang your shoes on it by their heels.

A RIDE IN THE DARK

By LOUISE BERGSTROM

THE headlights of the blue coupe flashed on in the driveway. Joyce, who had been watching from an upstairs window, reached hurriedly for the coat lying on her bed. As she slipped into it she made a last quick survey of the room to see that she had not forgotten anything. By the door her neatly packed suitcase stood ready, and even now the room had that deserted, impersonal atmosphere a room acquires when its occupant goes away.

Her heightened emotions threw an unnatural clarity over the familiar scene. Little things she had not noticed for weeks sprang suddenly into focus. A silly little horn hanging on the dresser was a reminder of a dance Terry had taken her to while they were still in college. He had kissed her that night for the first time. The photograph stuck in the edge of the mirror: Terry with a horrible grimace pretending to clutch her throat as she knelt in supplication in the sand. That had been taken the day the gang drove out to Three Tree Point for a picnic.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again!"

She shivered and drew her coat closer around her shoulders. For tonight was the end of her girlhood, the end of the careless, silly years. After tonight nothing would ever be quite the same again. Better, perhaps. Oh, yes—far, far better! But not the same, ever again.

She caught her breath in a sudden panic, and for one horrible, despairing moment she thought, "I don't want to go through with it! I'm afraid!"

Then with a laughing sigh at her absurdity, she shook the mood from her and hurried out of the room without looking back.

Safely in the car with her suitcase tucked under her feet, she relaxed comfortably against the shoulder of the young man behind the steering wheel.

"Look, Terry, there's a new moon tonight. Is that a good omen, do you suppose?"

"I hope so, darling." He looked tenderly down at the delicate oval of her face, childish mop of brown curls and the small hands folded carefully in her lap.

"Oh, Joyce," he exclaimed abruptly, "don't you think we should have told your mother after all? Are you sure that you want to do it this way?"

"Hush, Terry." She patted his knee. "Let's not go into that again. It's too late, anyway. You know Mother, she thinks I'm still a baby! She wanted us to wait at least another year."

"She might be right at that," Terry replied uncertainly. "Maybe you are too young."

"Nonsense!" She shook her curls emphatically. "A girl knows when she's ready. Wasn't it lucky Mother decided to go to California when she did? Everything worked out beautifully. Now she needn't know a thing about it until it's all over."

"Darling," her voice grew pensive. "Why do you suppose it is that middle-aged people can't seem to remember what it's like to be young and in love? Don't they remember the beauty and the relentless urgency? Don't they know that there has to come a time when you've got to have it all and even everything is not enough?" Her voice faltered, and in the silence between them the words were like dark wings beating.

Terry reached down and took her hand in a hard grip.

"Joyce, dearest!" he whispered. They were silent then, and the moon-bathed landscape sped past as his foot pressed hard on the gas pedal. It was early spring, and the cool night air blowing in through the car window had the restless, exciting smell of new growth.

At last they were out of the country, coming into the suburbs of a town, where street lights dimmed the moon and houses stood in dark huddled rows.

Terry slowed the car, then suddenly pulled up to the curb and turned to the girl beside him. His arms went around her and his head bent down to hers.

"I love you, Joyce," he said against her soft hair. "Are you afraid of tonight?"

She thought fleetingly of the moment in her room when she said goodbye to her girlhood, but that moment was passed, swept away by the tide of new emotions.

"As long as you love me, Terry," she replied simply, "I'm not afraid of tonight or afterwards." It was quite true; she felt strong now, and confident, ready for anything the future might hold.

He kissed her gently and the car moved forward again, slowly now as though the future had become too precious for any risk. A brightly lighted building loomed before them, and Terry stopped again at the foot of a flight of stone steps. He picked up her suitcase and stepped out of the car, then turned to take her arm.

Joyce looked up eagerly at the words cut over the entrance to the building:

"LAKEWOOD MATERNITY HOSPITAL."

She smiled at her husband gravely, reassuringly, and together they started up the steps toward the welcoming lights.

"How young we were!" she thought wistfully. "How terribly, carelessly young! And we'll never be young like that again."

LET'S TALK ABOUT YOU

By CHARLES B. ROTH

The Secret of Good Habits

Because you have been warned so many times against breaking habits, you may have jumped to the conclusion that all habits are bad. But they aren't. I think the number of good habits is greater than the number of bad habits.

You may be astonished when I tell you that being more effective and successful in your life is largely a matter of habit. What I mean is that clever and successful people have formed helpful habits of thinking and doing, while neurotic and unsuccessful people have the wrong kind of habits. That is the chief difference between them.

Look at a habit in this way and you will see what I mean. What is habit except doing—or thinking—the same thing often enough until doing or thinking it becomes automatic, and you do every customary act in the same way. Such action is called "habitual action." When you think the same thoughts often enough until they have become thoughts that come and go without your bidding, really without your control, you are doing habitual or habituated thinking.

Now, the secret of winning the right kind of personality and place in life is simply to determine a pattern of thoughts that you want to have, and then to think those thoughts and keep on thinking them long enough until thinking them becomes a habit.

Let's say that at the present time you are willy-nilly about everything you do. You can't make up your mind. You waver. You postpone. You can't make decisions.

Those things are a sign of faulty thought habits.

Decide that for one week you will act decisively, even if wrongly, in little things. During that week act, live, carry yourself like a person of resolute habits.

Maybe one week's experiment isn't going to be long enough to overthrow the faulty thought habits of a lifetime, but it will help. It will be long enough to put you on the road to right thinking and to right habits.

Dig deeply enough into the way the person you admire the most lives, and you probably will find that he is controlled by a series of habits—right habits. The sum total of those habits is what gives him his personality, his attractiveness. The sum total of good habits in your life will do just as much for you.

New Army Technique Aids Plane Survivors

GOOSE BAY, LABRADOR. — A new technique for rescuing survivors of plane crashes in the frozen Labrador wastelands by pin-pointing dog-sled teams by parachute has been developed by the air transport command.

The newly developed operation "dogsled" will save precious hours for plane crash survivors exposed to the bitter cold and possibly suffering from injuries received when their craft plunged earthward.

Conceived by Sgt. George E. Abbott, Norfolk, Va., the unusual rescue operation is especially valuable because some areas of the woody terrain in Labrador are so dense that helicopters cannot land.

Huskies, sleds and para-doctors jump from C-47's via the silk chute route and gather together at a focal point where the dog teams are assembled. Then the unit proceeds to the scene of the crash where it administers first aid, evacuates the seriously wounded and provides food.

The entire procedure lasts only a few minutes, contrasting sharply with the hours and days that it has taken overland rescue teams to reach some crash scenes in the past.

Twins Are Identical, Even to Toothaches

Six-year-old Janice and Jeanette Washburn of Mattapoisett, Mass., are identical twins—painfully identical.

When they reported to the school dentist, Dr. George M. Teasdale, with toothaches in corresponding molars, Dr. Teasdale insisted he never before had heard of such a coincidence.

To their mother, however, it was an old story. The twins lost the same corresponding first baby teeth on the same day. Similar circumstances also surrounded the loss of their second teeth.

BOUQUETS to "Juvenile Jury" (MBS, Sunday afternoons) for making a valuable contribution to international understanding. Last January a little English girl was flown to this country with her mother for a two weeks' stay; this month a French child joins the jury panel. Jack Barry, creator and emcee of the show, will tap as many countries as possible to make the program international. But no child could be more enchanting than five-year-old Elizabeth Watson. Although she has just started school, she has quite a vocabulary, is articulate and has a sense of humor—important "Juvenile Jury" requirements.

Six persons went to Europe with the Vox Poppers, Parks Johnson and Warren Hull. Mrs. Johnson was among them, but this time she didn't have to shop for the gifts given to interviewees. Huge parcels of food were taken along.

Sandra ("Mitzi") Gould, welcomed back to the cast of NBC's "A Date With Judy," revealed during rehearsal that she had played her shortest movie role in the interim. The part consisted of one line—"Who's Madame Muntz?"

Rosemary de Camp of the air's "Dr. Christian" show has been signed to play the part of Marilyn Miller's mother in "Silver Lining," Warner Brothers' picture of the dancer's life. This will be Rosemary's first film since the birth of her third daughter last December. June Haver has the starring role, which so many young actresses wanted.

Inspired by the success of "To the Ends of the Earth," Columbia announced recently that it will follow up with "C. I. D. Agent," a similarly styled semi-documentary film dealing with activities of the U. S. criminal investigation department, which probes criminal activities within the armed forces. It will be a top budget production.

Ralph Staub, producer of "Screen Snapshots," has completed "A Day at C.B.S." Among the stars seen are Gene Autry, Harry James, Dinah Shore, Lum and Abner, Jean Hersholt, Arthur Lake and Penny Singleton, and Bob Crosby.

The 50 members of Bob Hope's troupe say if they stay with him long enough he's bound to land them in their home town. Hope does seem bent on covering every town, large or small, in the country. But he's sure he never will play the home town of one of Les Brown's trumpet players, who was born at a "whistle stop" in North Dakota that is now off the map.

If this rumor is true it certainly establishes a precedent. The rumor—that Ida Lupino has written an original screen play with Joan Crawford in mind for the starring role, and that Miss Crawford, soon to begin work in "Miss O'Brien," is reading the script with a favorable eye. First time on record one star has written a story for another.

Odds and Ends . . . ABC's "Stop the Music" planned to use Edgar Bergen's theme song as a "mystery tune," but suddenly realized they'd be plugging a competitive show playing the same time slot . . . Bruce Bennett claims that his 10-month-old son, Christopher, has been walking alone for three weeks . . . The New York police department has assigned two officers to every performance of "Harvey" since James Stewart returned to the title role of the play . . . Leif Erickson ("Sorry, Wrong Number") photographed a number of the great events of World War II in the Pacific as a navy chief photographer's mate.

Dorothy Lamour will wear a sarong, but not her old one, in "Let's Fall in Love." The new garment will be spangled with diamond and gold sequins, 40,000 in all, and it's to have "the new look," which is old by now.

Ray Montgomery, promising young actor, can hardly wait for fame and stardom. His reason is unusual. "I can sign two autographs at once," explains the ambidextrous chap. "One with each hand."

Famous St. Bernards Seek Rescue Work

Modern means of travel have rendered the famous St. Bernard Hospice in Switzerland almost unnecessary. It is to be closed after nearly 1,000 years of service. The monks and dogs will live in the Rhone Valley from now on.

Its head, Prior Lucien Galloud, has explained that the hospice is not to be abandoned completely. Four dogs will stay for rescue work. Some time ago several dogs were sent to Tibet to establish in the mountains a branch of the Great St. Bernard Hospice. The kennels for the famous dogs are located at Martigny.

Harsh Laxatives are NOT necessary for most people

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination.

No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you! Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C; supply valuable amounts of B₁ and P. They alkalize; aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days. USE CALIFORNIA SUNKIST LEMONS

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

A General Quiz

THE QUESTIONS

- Do all deer shed their horns every year?
- Why aren't the keys on the typewriter listed alphabetically?
- Does garlic have food value?
- Are there more golfers or bowlers in this country?
- Why are tons of colored comic sheets shipped to trading posts in the jungles of Africa?

THE ANSWERS

- Yes. Male deer lose their horns in the spring of the year, but sometimes they shed them at another time.
- The originator of the typewriter keyboard tried to arrange the letters in a manner that would make for the greatest ease of operation. He was a printer and placed them as in a printer's type case.
- Just a trace of Vitamin C.
- Three million golfers; fifteen million bowlers.
- Natives won't buy things wrapped in other paper.
