Win First Game From Omer 9 to 3

Play Hale at Local Athletic Field This Sunday Afternoon

On a muddy field last Sunday, Tawas City jumped off to a good start in the NEM League race with a 9 to 3 win over Omer.

When umpire Walt Lasky called "Play ball," Mayor John LeClair, took the mound and Sheriff John Moran took over the catching duties. Mayor LeClair got the season underway with the first pitch officially opening the season.

Bill Mallon and Bob Rollin were on the mound for the locals, each allowing two hits. Bill started, with Bob taking over hill duties in the sixth. Omer got to Mallon for singles in the third and fourth, but were unable to score, with Mallon striking out the side in the fifth. Rollin had clear sailing until the ninth, when wildness caused him to hit two batsmen and three hits set up three runs for Omer.

Tawas City took a one run lead in the first, when Landon walked, went to second on sacrifice by Katterman, to third on Peterson's grounder to first, and scored on an error on the catcher. The big inning came in the fourth when Tawas City pushed five runs across the plate on two hits, two walks, one hit batsman and three errors. The locals piled on two more runs in the sixth on one hit, a walk and an error. Tawas City added their final run in the seventh on a single by Rollin, and two errors.

Omer was unable to solve the slants of Mallon and Rollin, and was a shut-out battle until the (Continued No. 3, Back Page)

Oldest Dwelling at Hale Torn Down

The oldest dwelling house in the village of Hale was torn down this week to make way for a new business.

When the railroad was built through Hale in 1886 C. H. Prescott and sons of Tawas City built a store, a little south of and across the tracks from where the D. & M. depot was later located, and Charles W. Storey was installed as storekeeper and postmaster.

Mr. Storey was a single man and soon tired of life in the wilderness, and in a short time, U. F. Dean, his wife and two children came from Pennsylvania to take his place, and the house consisting of a living room, dining room, parlor, bedroom and kitchen on the ground floor and six bedrooms upstairs was built for his use, but in 1892 the store was closed and the Dean family moved to Cheboygan.

Shortly after that the Rev. J. B. Nunn and family used the building as a parsonage, until his own house was built and his son, William Nunn, remodeled the store building and lived there until he moved to the farm where he now resides.

463 to 216 Against School Annexation

At Wednesday's school election, 463 Tawas City people assumed a responsibility which many of us have shirked for years. That responsibility is the taking of an active interest in school problems and co-operation in solving them.

The vote on annexation was 216 yes; 463 no. Every person who voted Wednesday is in favor of good schools. All were outspoken in pointing out the necessity of a better school buildings and a better chance for our young people to get an education. Some good should come out of such a stirring up of interest in school affairs. Now that the election is over we should not put school problems on the shelf and forget all about them tomorrow. Nor should a few of us get into a little group and decide on what is needed and label every idea different as no good.

Attendance is necessary at annual school meetings, not just for the purpose of hearing a dry formal financial report and the election of a trustee to receive our kicks, but also to hear, discuss and get a better understanding of school problems and policy. Public meetings of the whole Tawas area to discuss new buildings, school finances and educational problems would undoubtedly bring out a plan acceptable to a majority of all people concerned.

A BOUQUET TO PUBLISHERS

NEWSPAPER publishers and editors of America and Canada had a session in New York and we think the annual convention rates greater attention from the public than it gets.

Few conventions anywhere in the land bring together a group more deeply dedicated to a job of paramount importance—the operation of a free press. To the point, if you ask us, the publishers and editors of this country assay more horse sense, devotion to duty and determination to serve their country than any group assembling under one tent.

Conventions to boost everything from bubble gum to portable skyscrapers are old stuff. But the newspapermen bring something of vastly greater importance, the distribution of a world's news, the perpetuation of the greatest free press on earth.

In them we see the guys who hold a mirror to life on every continent and in every village; the men who assure that for a few pennies a medium of education, information and entertainment is at our doors every day in the year. In them New York greets the men who tell us that John Peter's boy is going to marry the Higgins girls, that the married men defeated the single men at the Elks picnic and that tomorrow's weather will be fair and warmer.

In and around the corridors of New York hotels are the miracle men who see that a military step in Berlin, a revolt in South America, an episode in China and an incident at Main and Broad streets reaches us in detail. Now the metropolis gets a close-up of the fellows who make it so easy for every family in the country to know what to do about warped shingles, how to fight Jap beetles, where the circus will play, who won the prize fight, when the Eagles barbecue is going to be held this year, and what's doing in the line of births, deaths, christenings, wedding, wars, peace sessions and nightclub disorders.

Statesmen, industrial wizards, engineering tycoons, super salesmen meet here every day. Such conventions are comparatively a dime a dozen. But the newspaper is close to the heart of every man, woman and child. It is as routine as the milkman, as necessary as the prompt flashing on of the street lights.

We take publishers pretty much for granted. We like to throw dead cats at them now and then; it's habit to squawk about your failing. What would a newspaper mean to a guy who didn't feel that he could pick it to pieces? But we know what our newspapers mean to us and to free government. We know a free press was never more important than today.

And we doff our chapeau, offer them a spare aspirin tablet, sympathize with them in their task of getting out a modern newspaper that will please everybody and hope they'll enjoy their stay. What is more, we, for once, won't call your attention to typographical errors, the mistake on yesterday's weather or the wrong initial in some bridegroom's name. More power to you, publishers and editors of the U.S.A.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

House Group Approves Measure To Draft Men into Armed Forces; Hope for Palestine Agreement Ebbs

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

DRAFT BILL: On the Way

Yielding to the pressure of the times, congress was putting its hand gingerly to the business of passing a selective service act which would give the nation's armed forces a total manpower of slightly more than two million in two years.

The house armed services committee had approved the measure, after hearing Defense Secretary James Forrester term it an "excellent" one, and passed it on to the floor of the house for debate.

Thus, for the first time since before the war, congress was facing squarely the momentous issue of a national draft. That this was happening during the hair-trigger days of an election year only served to underline the apparent urgency of the matter.

As approved by the armed services committee, the bill would:

1. Raise total authorized manpower of the armed forces to 2,005,882—army 837,000, air force 502,000, navy and marine corps 666,882.
2. Require registration of men from 18 through 30, with those from 19 through 25 liable for two years' service.
3. Exempt most veterans from further service, but those under 31 would have to register.
4. Allow seizure of industrial plants by the government if they refused to give top priorities to armament orders.

As it stood, the draft plan was conceded to have a good chance of passage at this session of congress. But complications were being threatened by the senate armed services committee which seemed inclined to combine a universal military training measure with the draft bill.

The committee was waiting for Army Secretary Kenneth Royall to recommend details of a bill to call 161,000 18-year-olds for a year's training. They would be taken in addition to men procured through the draft.

As a combination, that didn't look so good to many Republicans. Rep. Walter G. Andrews (Rep., N. Y.), chairman of the house armed services committee, called the idea "utterly foolish, inconceivable and not called for."

OLEO TAX: Fight Ahead

One of the most pressing problems members of congress have had to decide this year is whether their political bread is spread with butter or oleomargarine.

It is further complicated by the fact that they might, in choosing one or the other, be letting the gravy get away from them.

For good or ill, however, the house of representatives made its decision. It passed by a vote of 260 to 106 a bill to repeal all federal oleomargarine taxes which have been on the books for 62 years.

Those taxes are itemized as follows: 10 cents a pound on colored oleo, 1/4 cent a pound on uncolored, $600 a year on manufacturers, $480 on wholesalers of colored oleo, $200 on wholesalers of the uncolored product, $48 on retailers of colored oleo and $6 on retailers of uncolored.

Even if the federal taxes were repealed, it still would be against the law to sell colored oleo in 20 states.

Nevertheless, the house had rid itself of the matter and now it was up to the senate, where a battle royal was in prospect.

Reason the oleo tax issue has a stiff fight ahead in the senate is that senators are elected by voters of entire states, rather than by voters of districts within the states as are most representatives.

The result, in this case, is a split in the sentiment of constituents of many senators.

For example, big northern states such as Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Ohio, are composed of consumer cities and producer farms. The country districts include dairy farmers and soy bean growers. Consumers in cities want repeal of the taxes, and so do the soy bean men whose product is used in manufacture of oleo. The dairy farmers, naturally, want the tax to remain.

The dairy interests are strong. Their supporters in congress have been able to retain the oleo tax by the simple process of shelving any repeal bills in committee. It happened to the current bill in the house agricultural committee, but a petition circulated among house members forced the bill on to the floor where it was approved.

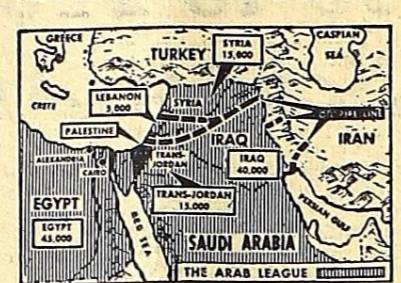

GOLD BRICKS HIGHER

Inflation Hits Swindler, Victims

Inflation has hit the swindler and his victims, just like everybody else in the postwar world.

Cost of being rooked by various popular frauds and rackets has gone up in proportion to the rise in the swindlers' living costs, a report by the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company reveals.

Clouds in the East

Amateur and professional military experts now are weighing the pros and cons of "war" in the Holy Land. Palestine is completely encircled by Arab states except for its Mediterranean coastline. Numerals indicate estimated fighting strength of the various Arab states. Jewish forces in Palestine are said to number about 75,000.

JERUSALEM: Confused

Time was running out in Palestine, and with it the hope for averting a Jewish-Arab civil war for possession of Jerusalem.

In the waning days before Great Britain removed her troops from the Holy Land upon expiration of the British mandate on May 15, Palestine had become a savagely confused, moribund state.

Bitterly, the United Nations trusteeship council virtually abandoned its efforts to devise an effective plan to safeguard Jerusalem from ravishment by the warring factions. Delegates could not hit upon a scheme that could be enforced.

Nor was any Arab-Jewish agreement in sight which might result in a truce necessary to give any U. N. plan a chance. Like a little boy watching his father trying to get his kite out of a tree, the council looked hopefully to Jerusalem where the Red Cross was doing its best to bring a halt to the fighting.

As far as the threatened invasion of Palestine by neighboring Arab states was concerned, no one seemed able to sum up the situation accurately.

Jews were insisting, in the face of denials, that Syrian and Lebanese armies had invaded northern Palestine, and the British were reported to have rushed troops back into the country to deal with what they called a "seriously deteriorated" situation.

Still an unknown factor in the rapidly climaxing events was wild old King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan. Commander of the finest army in Arabia, the spike-helmeted Arab Legion, he had been talking big about invading Palestine from the East. He had been talking, too, about making himself king of Palestine. His ambition is a Middle East amalgam of states that would be in the nature of a greater Syria.

Experts were not discounting the role Abdullah and his power-politicking could play in the drama. In the end he could turn out to be the catalytic agent that might bring the unregenerate events in Palestine to a reasonable, if not a happy, conclusion.

COVENANTS: Just Paper

In a decision which may produce more extensive reaction than any designed civil rights legislative program, the U. S. supreme court handed down a decision that, in effect, outlaws so-called restrictive covenants which bar racial or religious minorities from buying or occupying property in many areas throughout the country.

Declaring the decision, Chief Justice Fred Vinson held that enforcement of restrictive covenants by state or federal courts was a violation of the 14th amendment.

That amendment, adopted in 1868, reads in part: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States . . . nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

The supreme court's decision did not declare that restrictive covenants, as such, are violations of the constitution; but by ruling that it is unconstitutional for the courts to enforce the covenants it reduced them, legally, to mere scraps of paper.

For the most part, covenants are agreements entered upon by real estate promoters and buyers of land or homes. Purchasers agree not to sell their land or homes to persons barred by the covenant, terms of the agreement running from an average of 25 or 50 years to "perpetuity."

Glimmer, Glimmer

Science's long search to discover how the firefly is able to light up has been advanced another step as a result of new experiments.

Dr. Robert D. McElroy, John Hopkins university biologist, reported to the National Academy of Sciences that the lightning bug derives its power of self-luminosity from the same chemical energy that humans use in moving the muscles of their bodies.

? Current Events ?

Anyone who can answer all five of the following questions may consider himself an expert. It doesn't make any difference what kind of expert. It's enough just to be one without going into boring detail about it.

1. Trans-Jordan is playing a key role in the Palestine situation. How long has it been an independent state?
2. State department is considering some form of military lend-lease for the five nations which signed the Brussels pact. When did lend-lease begin and when was it terminated?
3. Do you know about how many of America's 542,000 troops now are serving outside the U. S.: (a) 358,000; (b) 258,000; (c) 153,000; (d) 58,000?
4. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is seeking Republican presidential nomination. There have been seven Ohio - born Presidents. Name them.

BIG PLANES: Russian

Russia put some big four-engined planes into the air over Moscow for the annual Soviet May Day parade and managed thereby to instill a modicum of uneasiness in the hearts of U. S. military experts.

At last reports they were awaiting more detailed reports of the planes from U. S. observers in order to gain, if possible, a new insight into Soviet airborne army equipment.

It is likely, the experts thought, that at least some of the planes were the Soviet TU-70, an aircraft bearing close resemblance to the American B-29. Assumption has been that the Russians copied many of the features of the five B-29s known to have been forced down in Soviet-controlled areas during the war.

Reported to be a hybrid transport-bomber, the TU-70 has a passenger capacity of 72. This probably could be increased substantially, however, if the plane were used strictly as a troop carrier.

THE BREAK: Colombia

Not quite a month after the abortive revolution in April swept the capital city of Bogota into turmoil and caused damage throughout the republic, the government of Colombia formally severed diplomatic relations with Russia.

That the break was a direct result of the revolt, reportedly Communist-led and inspired, no one bothered to deny.

Officially, however, no mention was made of the uprising. Foreign Minister Eduardo Angel's note to the Russian charge d'affaires said simply that Colombia considered that there were no ties which warranted a continuation of diplomatic and consular relations between the two countries.

In concordance with the diplomatic action the Colombian government began to redepoly its troops and reorganize administrative machinery to strengthen its hold and prevent further outbreaks by Communists.

Object Lesson

Just to prove that the old green-back ain't what it used to be, Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas (Dem., Calif.) purchased $17.36 worth of groceries and toted the slim load onto the house floor to show her colleagues how prices have inflated since OPA controls expired in 1946. Mrs. Douglas has introduced a price control resolution in the house.

Science's long search to discover how the firefly is able to light up has been advanced another step as a result of new experiments.

Dr. Robert D. McElroy, John Hopkins university biologist, reported to the National Academy of Sciences that the lightning bug derives its power of self-luminosity from the same chemical energy that humans use in moving the muscles of their bodies.

Former Dishwasher Buys Town of 3,000

LANGELOTH, PA. — This once-bustling community of 3,000 was rescued from a "ghost town" fate by "Gus the Greek" Barbush, who as an immigrant boy got his start by washing dishes 36 years ago.

Gus saved Langeloth by the simple process of buying it—the whole town—for a reported half-million dollars.

The town's troubles began when the American Zinc and Chemical company decided to close its local zinc plant. The major industry here, it provided 800 jobs and a $9,000-a-day payroll.

Things looked pretty gloomy until Gus surveyed the scene. Gus lives in nearby Burgettstown.

Gus thought he might put Langeloth on its feet. He went to the Burgettstown bank, which showed its faith in him by advancing a $200,000 loan—largest it ever advanced to an individual.

Gus's main objective is to induce a new industry to move into the empty plant. Then he wants to improve the town by laying out a baseball diamond, fixing the park, etc.

"My plan is run a good town," he said.

Gus admits he got a kick out of buying the town.

"It could only happen in this country," he smiled.

Charley, a Check Forger, Turns Out to Be a Woman

SAN FRANCISCO.—San Francisco police, who for weeks sought Charles H. Large on a $250 worthless check charge, found him—and got the surprise of their life.

Large turned out not to be a "he" but a "she"—a female ex-convict.

Police inspectors, acting on a tip, arrested Large and took him to the rest room to "frisk him." It was then that "he" confessed that "she" was Miss Billie Larue.

She told police: "I always wanted to be a man. When I'm not in prison, I always go as one."

Study of Pigeons Shows Birds Have Numerous Superstitions

BLOOMINGTON, IND.—The superstition that makes a card player get up and walk around the table to "change his luck," can be produced experimentally in pigeons.

"Superstitious" birds were developed here by Dr. B. F. Skinner, psychologist at Indiana university. These birds go through all sorts of strange rituals even more elaborate than that of a baseball pitcher. One goes running wildly around his cage—always in the same direction.

Another pokes his head into one of the upper corners of the cage. Another acts as if he were trying to toss something with his head. Two birds swing their heads and bodies in a sort of pendulum motion.

It was fairly easy, Dr. Skinner found, to teach the pigeons to trace their luck to such absurd gestures.

All he had to do was to rig up a clock to give food to the birds at regular intervals, entirely regardless of what the bird is doing at the moment. The bird, who is ravenously hungry, tends to repeat rapidly whatever he was doing when the food arrived.

Russian Composers Charge Hollywood Stole Their Music

MOSCOW.—Four of Russia's best known composers are accusing a Hollywood film firm of pirating their compositions to use in the movie, "The Iron Curtain."

They are Dmitri Shostakovich, Serge Prokofieff, Aram Khatchaturian and Nicholai Miaskovsky. The Soviet newspaper Izvestia published their charges.

"None of us has ever given or could give permission for utilization of our music in 'The Iron Curtain,'" the letter said.

In Hollywood, 20th Century-Fox studio officials issued this statement:

"We have used the music of these four composers in our picture, 'The Iron Curtain,' which deals with the Communist spy activities in North America, because it is stirring dramatic and therefore appropriate to the theme . . ."

These composers all were criticized by the Communist party central committee recently for formalism in their music.

Hitch-Hikers Find Thumbing More Expensive Than Fare

MEMPHIS, TENN.—Thinking of going on a hitch-hiking trip? Don't do it, says Donald Trachte.

The 17-year-old St. Louis youth had the same idea. He and two pals figured they'd hitch-hike to Florida. But they ended up walking the 319 miles to Memphis—with suitcases.

It took eight days—and cost more for food than train or bus fare would have. Police stopped them twice for questioning, Trachte said—but no rides.

Now the two pals have flown back home. And Trachte is going by bus. Motorists, Trachte said, just don't seem to like hikers any more.

Voluntary Help Can Save Europe's Dying Children

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON—What to do until the doctor comes.

Pretty important to know that. Pretty important to be willing and able to do it. There are 230 million children in this world today who need first aid. The European recovery plan (E.C.A.) will help a lot of these children who have the stamina to outlive the ugly interim period when, dirty, almost naked, they must roam the countryside or live in cellars and hovels, hungry and starving.

But the E.C.A. is a huge undertaking, and like all great bodies, it moves slowly. Anyway, its chief purpose is to provide the means to restore normal conditions to the stricken areas of Europe. It is largely indirect aid, not gauged to individual cases.

Meanwhile thousands upon thousands of these children will die. Some will be saved by individual help—your help. To make that help effective the many humanitarian organizations which seek to save as many young lives as possible have been merged into one great Crusade for Children. Local groups are organizing in the cities. In the rural districts, the Farm Grange, Farm Bureau federation, Farmers' Union, Council for Farm Cooperatives, U.S. department of agriculture and other groups are furthering the movement.

To anyone who has seen this tortured young generation, the effect is as staggering as the sight of a battlefield. To a young soldier, there is no shock like the sight of your first dead comrade. That still form, wearing the same uniform you wear, lying crushed against the earth. To me, the shock of the sight of European children moving with the shadow of a living death upon them was a terrible thing too.

I can remember getting off a train in what once had been one of the great railway stations of Europe—rubble ground into black mud, the ghastly smell of those buried deep under the foundations of ruined homes and shelters. Military police, hardened to the sights around them, walked back and forth. In the sinister shadows of the ruins the ghostly movement of little wraiths slipping in and out of sight, bent on any mission, no matter how fair or foul, that would win some chocolate, a piece of K-ration, a cigarette that might be traded for some bit of food.

No matter what the sins of the fathers, they could not be great enough to justify the punishment inflicted on these children. There is only one way their bodies and their souls can be saved. That is through the groups which are supported by individual donations, until economic life is restored to a degree of normalcy when society can be rebuilt, broken homes mended and the institutions which can care for the homeless put into operation as a part of a healthy community existence.

Government aid, like E.C.A., cannot establish direct contact with the individual. It is a matter of arrangements drawn up between nations. It means dollar credits which make it possible for the receiving nations to buy supplies.

Some of this money, of course, goes into food. But it takes time for the machinery to get into operation, and even after it is in operation, it is inadequate to satisfy the needs of the whole people. Much of the assistance goes into material things such as the reconstruction of factories, replacement and modernization of tools, machinery and agricultural supplies.

Frequently, supplies of such simple things as rakes and shovels are

It provides direct citizen-to-citizen aid which is administered carefully with experienced personnel on the scene— personnel which cuts red tape and is free from many of the rules, regulations and restrictions, which a government necessarily must employ. As a matter of fact, when the European recovery plan was first drawn up, it was contemplated that voluntary private aid would supplement it.

As an example of the type of thing Crusade for Children is designed to further: In Europe at present, there are some 50,000 distributing points, such as schools, child clinics and hospitals serviced by the International Children's Emergency Fund of the United Nations.

At schools and child centers, particularly through dried milk, ICEF makes a supplementary contribution to the noon meal, which costs the fund about three and a half cents per child. The entire meal costs only seven cents per child. One hundred dollars provides 7,500 hungry, undernourished children one glass of milk each at every meal. But because of limited funds, ICEF is feeding only four million of Europe's 30 million hungry children.

Here are some of the sickening facts, carefully collected and checked by United Nations authorities:

Infant mortality in Europe and Asia has jumped from 40 deaths per 1,000 live births to as high as 330 deaths per 1,000—compared with the United States rate of 38.3 per 1,000.

Tuberculosis has doubled in many areas, especially among children. Lack of food has vastly increased such diseases as rickets, scurvy and pellagra.

Physical examinations in one zone (of Europe) showed that boys 14 years of age are three inches shorter than boys of the same age four years ago. This is the direct result of malnutrition.

In some areas half the physicians were killed; teachers, nurses and those trained in child care are lacking.

I have sat in the office of a German physician—one room left livable in a bombed house, windows boarded up to replace the smashed glass, operating room, consultation office, bedroom, living room, all together with an endless line of patients with nothing to pay for the doctor's services which would buy anything for the doctor. That doctor told me that because of the hopeless fate of children, abortions were the rule rather than the exception, with sickness and death as the result.

Not the government, but private, voluntary agencies can alleviate these conditions. One may feel that Europe has brought much of its anguish upon itself, but it is not the children who are to blame.

As Secretary of State Marshall said: "Voluntary aid supplements the general relief which only governments can provide. It affords the things and services, including spiritual comfort, needed by the weakest of the war victims . . ."

Secretary of State Marshall has warned South American countries that there will be no Marshall Plan for them. It appears that they either must go out and obtain private financing or work up a good Communist threat to share in Uncle Sam's largesse.

A modern president spends more effort trying to get what he wants into the papers and on the air than in finding out what's there already.

This tiny child, long in need of medical aid, is now in a hospital supported by the U.N. International Children's Emergency Fund. Funds are being raised through the Crusade for Children of American Overseas Aid-United Nations Appeal for Children.

so short that farms can't be worked until they are furnished. Later they will be manufactured. But that means machinery for the factories comes first.

Crusade for Children is a well-organized private effort which has the backing and cooperation of the United Nations, and the sponsorship and approval of the government from the President down.

COME TO THE FAIR... At a White House ceremony, President Truman received a scroll invitation to the Chicago railroad fair from C.A. Miller, 'conductor' of the Chicago and North Western railway's replica of the famed Pioneer locomotive, and Miss Norma Sykes, typical passenger of those by-gone days. The original Pioneer, first train to run west from Chicago 100 years ago, will star in the Railroad Fair scheduled for Chicago's lake front starting July 20.

MEDITERRANEAN DUNKING... Dateline on this picture just reads 'Somewhere in the Mediterranean,' which could mean in the vicinity of Greece or Italy. At any rate, choppy seas made the rescue of three navy fliers a hazardous venture when, on maneuvers from the aircraft carrier USS Valley Forge, their torpedo-bomber crash-landed in the water. They are shown attempting to board the destroyer USS William C. Lawe which put out a small boat for them.

THEN THEY JOINED HANDS... On May 28 the U.S. government will issue this commemorative 'Four Chaplains' stamp. This is the story behind it: The troopship S.S. Dorchester was torpedoed and sunk in the North Atlantic in February, 1943. On board were four chaplains of three faiths: Protestant ministers George L. Fox and Clark V. Poling, Father John P. Washington and Rabbi Alexander G. Goode. When the ship was hit each of the four gave his lifebelt to nearby men without them. Then they joined hands and prayed to the one God they all served for the safety of the men struggling to leave the ship. The four chaplains died together. Statements of the survivors of the sinking include these words: 'This is the picture engraved on our minds and hearts as the S.S. Dorchester disappeared beneath the waves.'

Kathleen Norris Says:

Return of the Prodigal Husband
Bell Syndicate—WNU Features

"I can say truly that I don't even like the man who is my husband. Ollie says he will make me love him again if I give him a chance."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

A DETROIT woman sends me her very puzzling problem to solve this week. Like most of our troubles, so much depends upon her character, at which I can only guess, and so much upon the nature and disposition of her family, that it is hard to be definite. But at any rate, Anne has been assured, in a personal letter, of my sympathy and my prayers.

Anne's husband practically deserted her, some 15 years ago, when her son was 11, and her girls 8 and 7. He walked out, leaving a note to say that he was tired of the whole thing, and would send her money from time to time. That first time he was gone seven months.

Anne took boarders, cooking meals for 12 in a hot kitchen with three children under her feet. She sewed for her friends' children and afterward for a wider circle, making good money after a while. But that came only after years of struggle. When Ollie came back it was to borrow money for a Texas venture. He disappeared after a few weeks and did not come home again for a year.

This erratic coming and going, borrowing and disappearing, went on until about seven years ago, when Ollie disappeared completely. Anne got her boy through college, a daughter through nursing school and saw all three married. Then she sold the rambling old house, put a substantial nest-egg in the bank and was casting about as so many superfluous women must, for some sort of modest anchorage, when Ollie turned up again.

Ollie Is Repentant

This was six months ago. Ollie is now 52, Anne 49. Ollie is gray, quiet, repentant and anxious to start all over. His children, with the inconsistent and unjust enthusiasm of the young, always have rather idealized their father. He always has been affectionate with them when at home, taken them out to amusements and on one occasion gave all three bicycles, which generosity apparently has counted more with them than all their mother's years of sacrifice and devotion.

A piece of property recently left Ollie by an uncle consists of a small, two-family cottage, in one half of which he has comfortably established himself. And, maddeningly enough to Anne, he has begun to renew old associations, so that she always is meeting friends who are delighted that Ollie is back and hope to see them sometime.

"I am not resentful or revengeful," writes Anne, "but I positively will not entertain any thought of renewing our old relationship. Ollie may be as sorry as he likes, but that doesn't wipe out the terrible past, when I lay awake night after night worrying over ways and means to complete the children's education and maintain their support. I have told my daughters and my son this, but they continue to plead and hint at their satisfaction if their father and I were reunited.

"Ollie seems to have changed. But it makes me absolutely sick to think of recommencing the whole business over again, having him ask for help in the old way, having him step out when he has involved me in the old difficulties.

"My youngest daughter has just married a musician, well placed here at a religious institution now,

"Ollie disappeared . . ."

FORGIVENESS

What should a woman do who is approached by an errant, repentant husband for forgiveness after he has shirked his family obligations for the greater part of his life?

Anne, who has raised her three children through hard work, sacrifices and back-breaking, menial jobs while her irresponsible husband frittered away his time elsewhere, poses this question to Miss Norris.

At interminable intervals her husband, Ollie, would make an appearance in the family but only to borrow money. Now at the age of 52 Ollie has reappeared on the scene once more, but this time he is anxious to start all over.

Miss Norris encourages Anne to give her husband the benefit of the doubt and accept him into her household. If he fails to adhere to his promises she always can depart and live by herself, stealing a page from Ollie's book.

but perhaps some day he will travel or move elsewhere. With my older girl, her husband's mother, an old friend of mine, makes her home. I could not possibly live with my son's wife, who is a nervous, high-strung girl with whom her own people avoid intimate contact. Vinnie, my younger daughter, points out that my only choice, therefore, is to find small quarters for myself or join her father.

"Our old clergyman is deeply impressed with Ollie's latest role and has called twice to ask me pleasantly if I am not considering a reconciliation. When he left yesterday he said at parting, 'After all, I blessed your marriage and your vow 'until death do us part.'"

"Will you please tell me," the letter concludes, "what you think I ought to do? I can say truly that I don't even like the man who is my husband. Ollie says he will make me love him again if I will give him a chance. My son lunches with his father almost every day; both daughters laugh and sigh over his delinquencies, but they love him, too. I'm all turned about, please advise me."

Before I say a word of advice, Anne, I want to say that I do most heartily concede that this is a wretched situation and that you have been treated abominably. Even your children aren't showing appreciation of what your burden has been.

But you've had a pretty good time, raising three children, finding your feet financially, succeeding in your work. As lives go, that was a good life. Now, if I were you, I'd try to live with Ollie. I don't have to tell you to stand firm on the money point. Don't advance him one cent. Let the children do that. If they will, it may open their eyes a little.

This change means companionship, someone to think about, plan with, another voice and step in the house. Maintain your own room and your own privacy, of course. If the experiment fails, then go away for a year, travel, do a little deserting on your own account. Then come back and take up your life where it is now. It's not a perfect solution, but what is? Good luck and my prayers are with you.

As Pegler Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler
Released by WNU Features

A WITNESS testified in recent proceedings of the Truman administration against a certain unioneer held for deportation as an alien Communist that he had acted as a spy against traitorous agents of the Muscovite enemy. He then was asked whether he knew it was a violation of the Wagner act to pry into the secret and, more often than not, nefarious business of unions. His answer is beside the point of this essay, which is that, licit or illicit, such espionage is a public service whatever any law may say. Such conduct often is—and in this case it was—laudable on patriotic grounds. ANY LAW AGAINST IT IS AGAINST THE PUBLIC INTEREST, AND CONTEMPTIBLE.

Here we have a peculiar group of secret societies, all of them private organizations acknowledging no public responsibility. They claim the protection of the national government for their confidential affairs, even though they be criminal affairs or conspiracies against the primary purpose of our constitution. They are not public bodies and very often membership is compulsory rather than voluntary and selective.

Purpose of this special protection for unions was to strengthen the hand of the criminal and traitor for evil services to be given to Roosevelt's party through professional rioters and subtler terrorists, grafters and nondescript rogues. The pretext was that the unions were weak—and virtuous—whereas the employers were mighty predatory corporations which hold plant sneaks in their innocent councils to betray their intentions, their financial figures and their confidential disputes.

Actually, in most cases, the union was the ruthless giant and the employer a worried and financially weak victim. His workers hated and feared the union but were compelled to join, or he was forced to fire them and hire new people from the union hall.

I would recommend that the present aggression of the Truman government against Communists in the unions be viewed with suspicion. President Truman and Tom Clark, his attorney general, knew all about the Communist strength and influence in the unions long before this election year. Their onslaught against the dirty Bolos and, I may say also, the sudden anti-bolshevik alarm of the mercenary radio disciples of the late Roosevelt are reminiscent of Roosevelt's own stratagem in the election year of 1940 when he sent Earl Browder to prison and ordered his wife deported.

But in 1942, when we had joined Russia in her brave struggle against the vile aggressor, Roosevelt welcomed Communists back to the government, particularly to the state department.

Browder was released from prison after a short trick, done de luxe in Atlanta. His Muscovite wife was led up to Canada by the hand, turned around and brought back as a quota immigrant, eligible for citizenship and forever safe from deportation.

Mr. Truman is not above any perfidy of Roosevelt's, and his current demonstration against Communists must be regarded as a clumsy ruse to get elected, or, at any rate, nominated.

Robert F. Wagner, who never quite outgrew his spiritual heritage of regimentation and Germandom, may not know exactly what his law does say.

It will be plain that the real reason for the brawling opposition of the union gangsters to the Taft-Hartley law is not that it clamps any chains on the wrists of the toiler, but, on the contrary, that it strikes off the shackles put there by Wagner. The members still are forbidden to speak out against their rules even though the Taft-Hartley law would appear to release them from the bondage of fear. If you were a waitress with a child parked in a nursery by day, would you take a chance on your freedom of speech and express your grievances to a reporter except under a solemn promise of secrecy and protection?

Notwithstanding the Bill of Rights, there stands Section 3 of Article X4 of the by-laws of a typical union of the American Federation of Labor: "Any member convicted of divulging any secrets or business of this local to outsiders shall be fined, suspended or expelled at the discretion of this union."

Most unions have identical or similar penalties, but hundreds of courageous men and women, dragged into unions by Roosevelt and Wagner, have taken their chances, with the final result that the whole vicious racket has been brought into appropriate disrepute and hundreds of Communists have been denounced.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Let Foods Complement Each Other
(See Recipes Below)

Balancing Meals
ONE OF THE QUESTIONS most frequently asked by homemakers is, "How can I plan balanced meals?" Fundamentals of balancing meals are really simple. Take your dinner, for example. Use a serving of potatoes or another starchy food to go with the meat course; add to this one or two vegetables that go nicely with your chosen meat cut. If you have not had a salad for lunch, this may be added to the dinner menu. If you have a heavy meal, use a fruit dessert; if the meal is light and the fruit requirement of the day has been satisfied, serve cake, pastry or cookies.

That is the dinner plan. However, it also is well to bear other points in mind, so that the meal will be pleasing.

First, select foods that have contrasting color, for these will make meals more interesting. We eat with our eyes first and a picture pretty plate certainly will whet the appetite.

Second, serve foods that have contrasting texture. You don't serve boiled potatoes, whitefish and cauliflower at a meal because they all have much the same texture. How much more interesting to serve asparagus with the broiled fish, with crisply fried potatoes.

Third, do have variety. Families have favorite dishes but they won't keep favored rating if they are served several times each week.

DOES YOUR FAMILY enjoy pork chops? Did you know that they could be served with a tomato sauce to add tang to their delicate flavor? Or perhaps you'd like to stuff them with a celery-bread combination, omit potatoes and serve creamed turnips. You always can put your vegetables in the salad and balance the meal that way. Doesn't this meal sound tempting and colorful?

Stuffed Pork Chops Creamed Diced Turnips Asparagus Salad Orange Muffins Prune-Banana Whip
Here are the recipes for the main dishes in the menu, and you may be certain there won't be any leftovers:

Stuffed Pork Chops
Have the butcher cut a pocket in each of six thick pork chops. Make the dressing as follows: Use 1 cup of bread crumbs and mix with 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1/2 teaspoon thyme and 1/2 cup celery, cut up and sautéed in 3 tablespoons of fat. Moisten with 1 egg. Fill pork chops. Brown the chops in hot fat, season with a sprinkling of salt and pepper, then cover and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for one hour.

The turnips are diced and cooked until tender in boiling salted water. Fresh cooked or canned, drained asparagus, well chilled, may be used for the salad. Use a tart dressing. Use your favorite plain muffin recipe to which grated orange rind has been added.

Here's the luscious dessert recipe:
Banana-Prune Whip (Serves 6)
1/4 cup prune puree
1/3 cup sugar
1 cup thinly sliced bananas
2 egg whites stiffly beaten
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Mix together prune pulp and sugar and cook until the latter is dissolved.

LYNN SAYS:
Plan Colorful Meals With These Hints
A broiled ham slice or ham loaf goes well with buttered rice, sweet potato croquettes, stuffed baked potatoes or broiled potato slices.

Pork roast, either the loin or the shoulder cut, may be prepared with potatoes in one of the following ways: Mashed, browned, buttered scalloped or baked. Baked squash also may be served in place of the potatoes.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By INEZ GERHARD
In "LETTER From an Unknown Woman," Joan Fontaine has the type of role most actresses yearn to play. As a young girl she falls in love with a man who returns her love but soon forgets her. Later in life they meet and fall in love again. Sister Olivia de Havilland won an Oscar in "To Each His Own" in a somewhat similar part. This picture does not give Miss Fontaine much scope for her talents, but it does give her an opportunity to wear beautiful clothes and play opposite the new French sensation, Louis Jourdan. Warning—there's a sad ending, she dies, he will soon.

Marjorie Hughes, vocalist on Frankie Carle's new radio show, "Carle Comes Calling," has to be a stand-out as a singer, because she is Frankie's daughter. Too many people would be eager to say that's the reason she got the job if she didn't prove at every performance that she's deserving of it. Just as many are cheering her return to the air after a serious illness.

Something new in cinema fights! Robert Ryan's battle with Michael Harvey in RKO's "Berlin Express" takes place in the interior of a beer vat. Director Jacques Tourneur had it shot by three cameras, so there would be no re-takes.

Arthur Patrick Lake, five-year-old son of Arthur (Dagwood) Lake of the Sunday CBS "Blondie" show, has been placed under contract to his father's film producing company and will have a part in Lake's next film, "White Devils."

Robert Shaw's chorus of 30 professional voices will take over for Bergen and McCarthy this summer. Although Shaw is only 31, he has conducted everything from ballads to Brahms and is one of the foremost choral conductors in the country.

Harold Peary, "The Great Gildersleeve," had to cancel his scheduled personal appearance tour of the country. So many of the principals of the cast had summer commitments that he couldn't assemble the right group.

Priscilla Lane, youngest of the three Lane sisters of movie fame, returns to the screen after a year and a half to play the feminine lead in RKO's "Bodyguard," opposite Lawrence Tierney. She retired in 1944 when she married, but returned briefly to play the lead in "Fun on a Weekend" in 1946 when her son was five months old. "Bodyguard" is directed by Richard Fleischer.

Ed Byron, producer, director and co-author of "Mr. District Attorney" and "Adventure with Christopher Wells," still is amazing the radio world by his dramatization of events that make headlines either simultaneously or a few days later. Byron credits his scope to his knowledge of crimes and the ways of criminals. He has kept a file of newspaper crime stories for 10 years.

Odds and Ends . . . Jimmie Durante will not have the same sponsor next season, according to the latest report . . . Mark Warnow's return to "Sound-Off" is very indefinite, because of ill health . . . Arnold Moss ("Road of Life" and "Young Dr. Malone") is called the "educated actor" by his colleagues. He has a B. A. in Latin and Greek, M. A. in Old French, Ph. D. in "The Art of Acting" . . . That palomino you'll see ridden through a ballroom in "The Great Gatsby" is a veteran of "California," "The Virginian" and "Incendiary Blonde" . . . Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts' will be absent from the air from June 21 to August 23.

NBC interviewed 3,074 persons in 1947; 190 passed these auditions, 26 were heard on the air. Robert Adams, talent auditioner of NBC, says experience is essential; amateurs almost never make the grade. And Elaine Rost, "Inza" on "The Adventures of Frank Merriwell," says the best way to get dramatic experience is singing with a band. She did it for 18 months, studying acting meanwhile, then came to New York and landed on "Just Plain Bill."

Safe Santa Fe Trail
Danger from Indians was not great along the Santa Fe trail the first 25 years after Capt. William Becknell opened it to American trade. The caravans were well organized and not easy to surprise, and few of the Indians at that time had good rifles. Some of the traders were married to women of the tribes along the trail and so were on friendly terms with the Redskins. It was not until the Mexican war that any great difficulty with Indians occurred in American territory along the Santa Fe trail.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: I have a dark soft wood floor that I don't know what to do with. It is single flooring. If I were to lay linoleum squares, would the floor have to be smooth before cementing them down?
ANSWER: Linoleum must be laid on a smooth surface. If your floor is rough and uneven, it should be sanded smooth. The alternative would be to cover the flooring with plywood, which gives a good surface for covering with linoleum.

QUESTION: What about painting a house with the spraying method?
ANSWER: If well done by a professional the job should be entirely satisfactory provided, of course, he uses top quality paint, the surfaces are warm and dry, and the weather is warm and dry.

YOUNGSTERS WHO would like to make good money a few years from now, and not work too hard, should start throwing baseballs at various targets.

The N.P. (slang for National Pastime) is running out of pitchers. The N.P. needs more than double its present allotment of right or left arms that can get the ball over the plate with enough stuff to baffie the batter now and then. Last year, for example, the Dodgers were good enough to win a pennant with a pitching staff composed of three or four-inning hurlers. They usually needed four or five pitchers to finish out one game. Yet they won a pennant.

The American league had only eight or 10 pitchers who were able to finish games. Both leagues were shy of arms that could locate a plate or go the distance.

Old-time pitchers such as Ed Walsh, Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson, Pete Alexander and Cy Young could individually out-pitch the greater part of an entire modern staff.

Bob Feller could and can handle his share of work. So can Hal Newhouser, Ewell Blackwell and Warren Spahn. Few pitchers today can work 250 innings in a season. Johnson, Walsh and other old-timers were pitching more than 400 innings a year. Any pitcher who can't work 250 innings shouldn't be listed as a starting pitcher. He is certainly no part of a regular. Yet, few pitchers now getting relieved around the fourth inning could think of working 200 innings without an attack of palsy.

Hurlers Pitch Less Today

Feller-Newhouser - Blackwell - Dickson-Munger - Marchildon - there wasn't a pitcher in the American league last season who worked 300 innings. Feller and Newhouser were the closest.

There wasn't a pitcher in the National league who worked 300 innings. Spahn, Blackwell and Branca were the closest - up around 280. Today, someone you'd rate as an average good pitcher works in less than 200 innings - say 180. The decline in pitching - old fashioned pitching - has been startling. This means in games pitched - in games finished - in innings pitched - in bases on balls - in games won (from 30 to 41 a season).

Walsh worked in 67 games one season - winning 40 and saving 12 others. Today the pitcher who can go nine innings without being removed is a local hero.

This is why we advise all kids to start throwing. You won't have to be too good. The pitchers we rate as real pitchers this season are Blackwell, Feller, Newhouser, Spahn, Dickson, Brecheen and possibly Munger, Trout, Houtteman and one or two from Connie Mack's Athletic group; very likely Brissie; he may be the best.

A Championship Score

The finest championship golf score of the year to date was Claude Harmon's 279 at the Augusta National's Masters show. It was better than Ben Hogan's 275 at Riviera, where the next open will be played.

There have been endless discussions of what a championship score should be, but Harmon has slipped in the best answer to date. The Augusta National was keyed to its toughest test in every way. Riviera wasn't, with its rough cut, its baked-out fairways and its soft greens.

I doubt very much that 283 will be broken at Riviera in the National Open. And Harmon happens to be a golfer who is quite capable of winning a U. S. Open or the P.G.A.

Arcaro's Comeback

A year ago there was pretty fair evidence that Eddie Arcaro was slipping. The slender Italian from Kentucky was still riding fairly well, but he was no centaur. He was booted around New York tracks whether he won or lost. It came to the point where it didn't matter to him whether they booted or cheered.

This was the situation when Arcaro headed for Santa Anita last December. But on this occasion his health was better. He was in better condition. And suddenly a new ambition was born.

"It will be different out here this time," he said. "It will be a lot different." Eddie began winning. He began outriding Longden, Reeves and the rest of the outfit. When he saw he couldn't win he was no longer content to pull up and let other horses place and show. Now he was riding them out. All the way. He also was taking narrow openings, riding recklessly at times. He was the old Arcaro of winning years.

Then he came back East again. He began winning on opening day at Jamaica. He has been winning ever since.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be a better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling. Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.
