One hundred, return type, post cards have been mailed out to ex-members of Tawas City teams. A basket picnic is also planned for Monday, July 5th, previous to the ball game, in the city park. All the old-time players, loyal fans, and this year's team are urged to attend the picnic and make it a success. It will be held before the game, between 11:30 a. m. and 1:00 p. m.

N. E. M. Grass Day Monday, June 28th

Northeastern Michigan Grass Day, to be held in Alcona County, Monday, June 28, at the Springport Dairy farm located 1 1/2 miles south of Harrisville on U. S. 23. Otto Klein and sons have operated this farm for many years.

This "Grass Day" is one of twelve scattered throughout Michigan, these all day programs will show farmers the latest production, seeding, harvesting, and hay handling equipment and utilization methods.

The Michigan State College Extension Service is sponsoring this event and the machinery companies are assisting with the equipment for the demonstrations. There will be over fifty different units of the latest types of forage harvesting machinery on display in addition to the latest types of tractors and motors used to operate this equipment.

The equipment to be displayed and used in the demonstrations will be field balers of all types, field choppers, hay crushers, or hay makers, windrowers for dry and green hay, hay rakes, mowers, crop blowers, long hay and straw blower, power unloading wagons, bale loaders, model of new mow driers, commercial and local buck-rakes, and grass seeding equipment.

One could easily say this will be the greatest demonstration and display of forage harvesting equipment gathered together in one place in the past quarter of a century. Over $100,000 worth of equipment will be on display.

Farmers in Arenac, Ogemaw, Isoco, Alcona, Oscoda, Alpena, Montmorency, Presque Isle, and Cheboygan counties are invited to attend. County extension agents, Farmers Home Administration and Soil Conservation Service agency representatives, your local implement dealers and others are assisting to make this event a success.

This grass day program has been set up to show the important advantages of grass and farming with special emphasis on increasing farm income, crop yields, and doing the job easier.

Extension Specialists from the Michigan State College and implement company dealers' representatives will be on hand to assist with the program. More about this program later.

Twining Defeats Alabaster

Playing at Twining last Sunday, Alabaster went down in defeat 9 to 1. Although they collected five hits, Curriston pitching for Twining kept them scattered so that Alabaster was able to collect only one run. It was a close hard fought game until the unlucky seventh inning, when on the strength of two walks, one batter hit with pitched ball, an error, and several timely hits, Twining was able to gather in seven runs before they could be stopped.

This Sunday, Tawas City comes to Alabaster in a game that promises to be one of the best of the season. Alabaster will be fighting to regain the position lost by way of the West Branch and Twining defeats, and Tawas City has two memorable losses from last year to regain.

Lansky-Hughes

Miss Jean Margaret Lansky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lansky of Tawas City became the bride of Lyle Hughes last Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the St. Joseph rectory with Rev. Robert Neumann officiating. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, also of Tawas City.

The bride wore a white suit with white accessories. Her flowers were gardenias and red rose buds. Her only attendant, Mrs. Audrey Staudacher, wore a grey suit with white accessories and her flowers were gardenias and yellow rose buds. Wayne Hughes assisted his brother.

A reception was held at Gifford's Inn, from three to five o'clock. The tables were lovely with yellow daisies and candles and a four tier bridal cake.

The young couple are both graduates of Tawas City High School and the groom will resume his studies at Michigan State College in September. For the summer they will live in Port Huron.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mrs. George Lewis of Rives Junction, Mrs. S. W. Petree, Mrs. L. J. Auld, Mrs. Jack Johnson, Miss Willa Mae Hebdidge of Detroit, Carvel Eyrre, and Rib Manly of Michigan State College, and Mr. and Mrs. John Pierson of Pinconning.

Dean-Ross

A wedding of interest to many residents here was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, June 12th, in the formal garden at Botsford Inn, Farmington. Helen DeEtte Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Dean of Detroit, and Otto Oscar Ross, son of the Reverend and Mrs. Ernest Ross of Tawas City, exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony, which was performed by the groom's father.

The bride walked down the garden path on the arm of her father, in a gown of white French marquisette trimmed with rose point lace. Her veil of silk illusion was fingertip length. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotii.

Marbeth Dean was her sister's only attendant. She wore a dress of pale aqua organdy and her cascade bouquet was of coral gladioli and white daisies.

Mr. Ross asked his brother, Harold to be best man, and the ushers were Charles Bromm, Robert Wardrop and Walter Joelitz, Jr.

The bride's mother was gowned in an afternoon dress of aquamarine crepe, with accessories of honey beige and wore orchids.

The groom's mother chose a dress of dusty rose crepe, with hat of a matching shade. A corsage of orchids completed her costume.

A reception followed the ceremony and was attended by many close friends and relatives of both families.

The young couple will attend summer classes at Central Michigan College and plan to make their home in Cass City, Michigan this fall.

Tawas City in Tie for League First Place

Local Team Plays At Alabaster This Sunday

Tawas City jumped into a tie for first place last Sunday, with West Branch, by defeating the league leaders, 7 to 4, before a large crowd at the local athletic field. This victory for Tawas City, puts the league leadership into a three way tie, with West Branch, Tawas City and Hale, all tied up with five wins and one loss.

In the sixth, they bunched three hits, and an error to send two more runs across the platter. West Branch's last run came in the seventh on a single by Reminder, who scored from first on Smith's double.

That ended the run scoring for West Branch, with Mallon striking out two in the eighth inning and the third out a ground out, pitcher to first. In the ninth, Oliver grounded out, second to first, Reminder singled, Smith flied to left and Walters fouled out to first.

Tawas City took the lead in the first inning, when Libka walked, Landon grounded out, Libka taking second, Katterman singled, scoring Libka. Tawas City's big inning came in the second, when Bill Mallon reached first on an error, Thornton, Libka, Landon, Katterman, M. Another tough game faces the locals this Sunday, June 27, when they play Alabaster at Alabaster. Lets all go down and help root your team on to victory. Game time: 2:30 p. m.

Friday afternoon (today) the locals will play at Mikado in an exhibition game as one of the features of the Homecoming Celebration over the week-end.

AN OPEN LETTER

Messrs. Stalin and Wallace Gents:

The letter-and-statement-exchanging season is on and everybody is trying to get into the act.

Well, I have been going over once more those statements and letters of you two boys and I don't know if I ever read two statements which could mean so much to a baffled world if they could be taken as the real McCoy or a reasonable facsimile thereof.

I have yet to find a fellow who is not for everything you both say you stand for. Every item you list as representing something you favor has been favored by nine out of 10 men ever since V-J Day. If anybody else but you, Joe, and you, Henry, wrote letters announcing a favorable stand on those same points they would not get in any paper in the world on account of they are old stuff.

In your letter, Henry and in your answering statement, Joe, you both came out for:

1. Co-operative efforts for peace.
2. Reduced armies.
3. Non-interference with the sovereignty of another state.
4. Swifter peace with Germany.
5. An end to obstructionist tactics.
6. Non-interference with the domestic affairs of any state.

Who is the fellow who has been against these, Joe? Tell me who has been blocking, frustrating, sabotaging and monkey-wrenching whenever a conference on these aims opened up? Who has been walking out on and busting up meetings? Who was that guy who took over Czechoslovakia? (It didn't look to me like Harry Truman or Georgie Marshall.) Who has been crashing into little countries right and left and telling them were they get off? (The Messrs. Dulles, Hull, Harriman?) What is the name of that fellow who has been hurling the 200-pound veto? (It didn't sound like "Byrnes.")

And that "century of peace" idea, Henry, what about that? If you had to point out somebody who maybe wasn't red hot for a century of peace would you point to Uncle Sam? Don't you know very well that there isn't an American leader who wouldn't settle for a half century? So how come two fellows named Josef Stalin and Henry Wallace put each other out in front as the only men warm for such a great benefit to the human race?

Joe, you say "I do not know whether the United States government approves of Mr. Wallace's program as a basis for an agreement between the United States and Russia." Please, will you stop acting. The United States government has been approving of the program ever since the war ended, except for that matter of the atom bomb, and only you two boys see eye to eye on finagling Uncle Sam out of that one.

Well, anyhow the pen is mightier than the sword and it feels better, too. So keep on writing, as it can't do much harm.

Yours hopefully,
Elmer Twitchell.

PUBLIC ENVY NO. 1
A look of triumph lights his eyes
And by his knowledge I am floored;
For he got underneath those sheets . . .
And had a look at that new Ford!

Vanishing Americanisms

"Arabs armed with scimitars."

"They had a little nest egg in the bank for emergencies."

"Take all the time you need to pay."

"My time is your time."

A gang caught cracking a safe had gone directly to the job from a ball game. They were the fellows who had kept yelling, "Steal, ya bum, steal!"

Babe Ruth will go to Yale during commencement and present to it the original manuscript of his life story. This will amount to socking one over the old Yale fence.

We liked this recent observation by Arthur Krock: "In case of a deadlock the convention may come in a smoke-filled room. There is nothing wrong about it: How, except by conference, can a decision be reached? And it is not yet a cardinal sin to use tobacco."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Truman's 'Non-Political' Tour in West Breaks Precedents, Also Hits Snags; Senate Fights to Recover Aid Slash

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

ODDS ON SECURITY . . . Seeking to end what he termed a "desperate gamble" with the nation's security, Sen. Chan Gurney (Rep., S. D.) (left) opened senate debate on the measure to draft youths aged 19 through 25. Chairman of the senate armed services committee, Gurney here is discussing the draft bill with Senators Leverett Saltonstall (Rep., Mass.) and Richard B. Russell (Dem., Ga.).

NON-POLITICAL:

Truman's Tour

President Truman's "non-political" swing through the West could be described as non-political only in the sense that Mr. Truman, as a candidate for Democratic renomination, had jettisoned many of the rules of standard party politics.

It was a lone wolf fight he was waging—going over the heads of party leaders to talk directly to the people. And most of what he had to say to the people concerned the Republican congress and what he termed its inaction.

In Chicago, speaking before the Swedish Pioneer Centennial association, he hammered out a platform upon which he can be expected to base his chances for renomination.

Specifically, he lashed out at the idea that communism can be legislated out of existence.

From Chicago the President, with his entourage, headed for the heart of the farm belt, Omaha, Neb., and it was there that he was set sharply back on his heels.

He continued his lambasting of the Republican congress—this time concentrating on GOP farm policies—in a speech at the Al-Sar-Ben coliseum in Omaha. Fantastically, in the coliseum which has a capacity of 10,000, fewer than 2,000 persons were present to hear Mr. Truman talk.

This phenomenon was variously interpreted. Some said the President's box office appeal had wilted. Others claimed the Nebraska Democratic machine had done a miserably inadequate job in promoting his appearance.

Probably closer to the truth was the plain fact that the "non-political" label of the presidential trip had backfired seriously. He made a political speech and had expected to get a crowd of friendly Democrats to fill the hall for the occasion.

But the White House previously had told the Democratic organization in Omaha to lay off the political hoopla, and the organization acted in compliance with those instructions. Payoff came when nobody else showed up to fill the aching void which the Democrats created by staying away.

It was an unpleasant blow for the campaigning Mr. Truman and one that might produce grave political repercussions.

But the President was resilient. And in a more or less happy frame of mind he left Omaha on his train and rode away into the setting sun in search of happier hunting grounds.

AID SLASH: 'Less Recovery'?

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg was fighting mad at what the house of representatives had done to his political baby, the world recovery program, by slashing nearly a million dollars from the appropriations for the Europe-Asia aid bill.

On the Republican foreign policy leader from Michigan rested the administration's hope of reclaiming the appropriations cut in senate action on the measure.

Certainly, Vandenberg has a more than usual affinity for global aid program since it was he who labored to steer the Marshall plan to congressional approval last April. What the house had done was to approve a total foreign aid expen-

Biggest Eye

Scientists and astronomers are tugging at the leash in anticipation of the secrets of the universe which the newly dedicated 200-inch telescope atop Mount Palomar, Calif., will reveal to them.

The telescope's enormous mirror—almost 17 feet across—will permit penetration twice as far into space as has previously been possible and may solve the ancient problem about life on Mars.

diture of $5,980,710,228 to be spread out over a period of 15 months. The administration had asked $6,533,710,228 as the minimum fund needed for a 12-month period.

Secretary of State George Marshall, fighting hard against the cut, had asserted that the smaller appropriation would mean putting Europe on a relief dole, rather than helping it to its feet.

But Rep. John Taber (Rep., N. Y.), chairman of the house appropriations committee, went right ahead and swung the ax. He said the funds his committee proposed were all that could be spent with any degree of prudence.

Paul G. Hoffman, head of the European recovery program, said he "certainly hoped" congress would restore the cuts.

ERP was hardest hit in the fund cut. Whereas congress previously had authorized up to 4.245 billion dollars in 12 months for that 16-nation recovery project, the appropriations bill as passed by the house knocked that figure down to 4 billion dollars for 15 months.

Other reductions: Assistance to Greece and Turkey was cut from 275 million to 200 million dollars and aid to China cut from 463 million to 400 million.

DRAFT: Debatable

In the waning days before adjournment of congress the senate had buckled down to the task of producing action on a limited revival of the military draft.

The house was waiting only for the senate to dispose of the question before its members waded into the tricky currents of a similar measure.

Legislators in both houses were treading gingerly about on the issue, throbbed with the knowledge that this is an election year and furthermore there are any number of American parents ready to offer material objections at the ballot box if their boys are called up for military service.

In the face of all this the senate, nevertheless, was trying to do some kind of a job. Its measure provided for the drafting of men 19 through 25 in sufficient numbers to bring the armed services up to their authorized strength. The bill would permit 18-year-olds to volunteer for a year's training, thus disposing of a universal military training act for the present.

Among the side issues that arose during the senate debate was the old bugaboo of civil rights. After an abortive two-hour filibuster by southern Democrats, the senate voted 37 to 35 to outlaw the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections so far as members of the armed forces are concerned.

Actually, it was a minor issue, inasmuch as most of the seven southern poll tax states still have in effect wartime suspensions of the tax for members of the armed services.

Under the senate measure the draft would be authorized for five years, but the program is left flexible enough so congress each year could raise or lower both the regular and reserve forces to meet shifting world conditions.

Drafted men, after completing two years of service, would have to serve in the reserve for five years or, as a matter of choice, volunteer for an additional year in the regular services or two years in the national guard.

LATEST: In Bombers

Army air force is developing another new long range jet bomber which will use propellers driven by jet turbines. It is called the XB-52.

The experimental plane represents another effort by designers to overcome the high fuel consumption and resulting limited range of jet bombers but still retain the jet's high speed. Jet-driven propellers may provide a partial answer.

MINE TALKS:

More Snags

As usual John L. Lewis was mining the channels of possible agreement in the latest series of contract discussions between him and representatives of the soft coal mine operators.

The explosive the UMW chief planted this time was a demand that the operators first guarantee welfare aid for distressed miners before they can expect his union to sign a new contract.

Thus, the "Lewis situation" in the United States was being brought to the fore again.

Already the possessor of enough government injunctions to paper the den of his Springfield, Ill., home, Lewis received another one before he would consent to bargain with the association because the 14 member groups were being represented at the contract talks by just one man.

U. S. District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough issued the latest injunction ordering Lewis to bargain with the Southern Coal Producers association. The mine chief previously had refused to bargain with the association because the 14 member groups were being represented at the contract talks by just one man.

However, Lewis bowed to the injunction and agreed to talk. In the course of this talk one of the first things he did was to call the mine operators "fat cats" and then wave an arrogant club at them with these words:

"We assume that you would deplore any impairment of your abnormal income after July 1. Such an assumption would seem to be a logical predicate for the making of a new wage agreement before that date."

Briefly, it looked as though Lewis was determined to strike again. Deprived of one snag, he immediately grasped another. As a result the first round of contract talks was fruitless.

Transition

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in the manner of all old warriors, probably will remain a soldier at heart till the end of his days, despite the fact that he has discarded his military trappings for the cap and gown of an educator. Ike has settled down as president of Columbia university, and that's the only kind of president he wants to be, he says.

GERMANY:

New Plan

Pivotal point of a healthy and prosperous Europe, Germany long has been under scrutiny by the Allied powers who have been searching for a way to return it to the world family of nations without starting another squabble.

Zonal partition of Germany perhaps has been the biggest hindrance to the formulation of such a plan, and Russia consistently has objected to re-establishing an autonomous German government.

Now, however, a new plan was afoot. The U. S. and five other friendly powers—Britain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands—revealed a scheme for self-government in western Germany.

At the same time notice was served on Russia that occupation troops will remain there "until the peace of Europe is secured."

The plan calls for international control of the Ruhr and for steps toward convening a German constituent assembly in the three western zones "to prepare a constitution for approval of the participating states."

That was the skeleton of a program which might put Germany back on its feet.

Reaction in the U. S. was favorable. The state department hailed it as a major step toward recovery in Europe, and it also was regarded as a body blow to Russia in the cold war.

But, although the plan asserted with some vehemence that "Germany must not again be permitted to become an aggressive power," there was some worry as to whether France would approve it.

Does the decision to go ahead with the political rehabilitation of western Germany to the exclusion of Russia's eastern zone mean that the defeated nation is finally and irrevocably split?

U. S. officials don't think so. The theory is that although it was Russia itself which forced the western powers to act without Russia, the new program does not preclude the participation of the rest of Germany in the new self-governing federation if and when the people of the Soviet zone want in.

Reciprocal Trade Is Vital To Well-Being of the World

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON.—Despite the spirited battle over extension of the reciprocal trade agreement authority, nothing which even its best friends could hope to do about it would be definitive, for every-one knew from the start that final action must be postponed until next year.

Reciprocal trade agreements have been a definite part of our foreign trade policy for 14 years. If they were of any value in the past, they are of even more value now. But with an election a little more than four months off and congress trying to break a log jam of legislation, lengthy debate on the subject was impossible.

Putting it backwards, the reciprocal trade agreement policy is this: If a country is prevented by a high tariff wall from selling to us, it can't get the dollars to buy from us. Or, if the country has borrowed money from us, it can't get the dollars to pay us back. That's what happened after World War I, and the breakdown in foreign trade was one of the great factors in bringing on depression.

But that isn't the only thing that tariff walls do. They tend to force isolationism, extreme nationalism on a country and behind the tariff walls, as ex-Secretary of State Cordell Hull used to say so often, grow the roots of war.

Secretary of State Marshall stated that the Gearhart bill would destroy the substance of the reciprocal trade theory, a theory which is not only the cornerstone of our general foreign trade policy, but the principle which we have insisted must be followed by nations participating in the European recovery program.

The secretary said that "only the shadow of the original act would be preserved in the substitute bill proposed by Representative Gearhart, while its substance would be destroyed." And he added: "I think our national interests would be better preserved to permit the trade agreements act to expire than to permit H.R. 6556 to be enacted."

He pointed out that any serious weakening of the trade agreements act at this critical period in world affairs would "almost certainly be regarded by other countries not only as a surrender of our leadership in the international economic field, but as a repudiation of much that has been accomplished under our leadership in that field."

Presumably he meant this: When we agreed to the European recovery plan (E.C.A.), one of the things we emphasized, demanded in fact, was that the countries receiving our aid would have to break down tariff barriers against each other and the rest of the world. We knew there couldn't be economic recovery if there was not a free flow of world trade.

Even before the E.C.A. was ever thought of—since 1934, as a matter of fact—by vigorously pursuing the reciprocal idea, by concluding reciprocal trade treaties with so many countries (we have them all but six or seven of the Marshall plan participants) we have encouraged the world to reduce tariff walls.

Thus it would hardly seem consistent suddenly to reverse ourselves and go back to the old days of high tariff economic isolationism.

The measure as the house presented it had another drawback in the eyes of Secretary Marshall and supporters of his point of view. The bill would force the President either to accept the recommendations of the federal tariff commission on adjustments above or below a certain bracket or submit them to a congressional veto. That sounds reasonable in theory, but what it does is to smash absolutely the whole basis for reciprocal trade negotiation.

A nasty little joker in the measure stating that tariff commission recommendations must be made on the principle of protecting the special interests concerned revealed the intent of its framers. That provision would destroy the purpose of negotiation by removing trade agreements from the field of the "general good" and narrowing them down to a question of whether the particular industry is to be protected from competition. Thus, not only would international relations and conditions have to be ignored entirely, but broad national interests as well.

Secretary Marshall used strong words in criticizing this clause when he said: "The bill, in effect, makes pure protection the sole criterion for tariff action."

Very few groups outside of the big industries which want to keep down foreign competition oppose the reciprocal trade program. The great majority of the chambers of commerce are for it. Earl Shreve, national president of the chamber of commerce, has said that any

"restrictions on or crippling of the trade agreements program would have very undesirable repercussions. Discontinuance or impairment would destroy consistency in United States policy and would undermine world confidence."

Former Republican presidential candidate Alfred E. Landon came out in favor of the three-year extension of the trade agreements act as urged by the administration. He said that failure to extend the act would be contrary to the Republican policy plank of 1944.

Frequent public opinion polls have shown that the majority of the people favor trade treaties. In fact, persons who know what trade treaties are vote better than eight to one to retain them.

I'm no economic expert, but all I have ever read or heard about the old high protective tariff debates, the experience under the Smoot-Hawley bill, the post-World War I debt repudiation and depression would seem to indicate that the high tariff idea should and would be dead as a dodo.

If not, it means we spin the wheel backward to the grand old days of high tariffs which killed foreign trade, made it impossible for foreign countries to sell us goods and spend their money here, or to pay back the money they owed us—simply to protect certain private interests.

This Convention Is Different

As the Republicans swing into action with the greatest hope they have had for electing a president since the fifth birthday of this year's first voters, there are a number of striking contrasts to be noted between this convention in Philadelphia and former GOP conclaves.

One big contrast is in the size of the audience which actually will behold the speakers as they step forward onto the rostrum. In 1940, some 10,000 people not actually in the hall witnessed the convention.

Two television cameras mirrored the scenes to a fairly select audience, some of it composed of persons fortunate enough to share the hospitality of the Railroad club in the same building as the hall. There one could escape the sound and fury, the glare of the lights, the heat and aridity, and could snack and sip in a comfortable chair.

This year in Philadelphia, the estimated television audience will be counted in the millions, for networks will carry the scene to viewers from Massachusetts to California. Instead of two lonely cameras, there will be the pooled equipment and programming of the various nets.

But there is a greater contrast in the Republican political situation than in the delegates' physical surroundings between today and 1940.

No one who witnessed the Willie stampede can forget. It was just about as unorthodox a procedure as history records, for the candidate was chosen, not in the hall, nor in a smoke-filled room either, but out in the sticks. If this is to be a "wireless" convention, the 1940 affair was a convention "by wire."

A group of high-pressure amateurs, who were no amateurs when it came to organized action, was putting pressure on the "big men" in every community, and the "big men" were getting to bosses or to the delegates direct by telegram and telephone. The Willie amateurs "stole" the show from the professionals, and the professionals swore it never would happen again. It isn't happening this year.

Another highly interesting contrast between conventions—this time between 1948 and 1944—is the hectic atmosphere of today as opposed to the comparative calm then. There was a "Dewey-has-it-in-the-bag" feeling back in Chicago four years ago which took the zip out of the Chicago air. Also the war overshadowed the conclave then. The National Republican (the party newspaper) started off its lead article on June 26, 1944: "With the invasion news commanding the attention of the entire convention . . ."

Another contrast between '44 and '48 is in the attitude toward foreign policy. Then it was the most delicate question which faced the platform committee. Today Senator Vandenberg has foreign policy wrapped up in a neat package signed with his name and sealed with his signet ring. That issue is no worry at all.

Heidelberg, Spared by War, Draws Crowds of Tourists

G. I.s who surged eastward with General Patch's 7th army in the spring of 1945 will no trouble recalling Heidelberg. It was the one sizable German city undamaged by bombing.

Seat of Germany's oldest university (1386), Heidelberg was spared by RAF and AAF even as England's Oxford and Cambridge escaped the luftwaffe's fury, notes National Geographic society.

Tourists flocking to Heidelberg in peacetime admire the crumbling medieval castle on the fir-clad bluff behind the town. Built to grandeur in the 12th and 13th centuries, its return to dust was hastened by men of Louis XIV and by lightning. Heidelberg's World War II ruins, however, consist of a lone bridge demolished by retreating Germans.

This is the same Heidelberg that ranks as a gay and friendly place with thousands of Americans who never have been east of Jones beach, Long Island. To them, Heidelberg is where the tenuous and democratic Student Prince of operetta fame took seminars in fencing, stein-singing and love-making.

A city of 80,000 in 1939, Heidelberg has become much more crowded since the war's end, due to the influx of uprooted thousands from Germany's east. Heidelberg university, glorified by Mark Twain and Longfellow, lies at the city's heart. Landmarks among its buildings are the library of 900,000 volumes and the student prison.

The Great Game

PHILADELPHIA.—If sheer noise and enthusiasm are any criterion, if size of delegations and visitors is a yardstick, if bands and speeches and parades and demonstrations are a measuring rod—then this 24th quadrennial Republican national convention in historic Philadelphia convention hall tops them all. For this is the great game of American politics as it is played and played for keeps.

Back of all the noise and fun, however there is serious business, for there are many who will swear that the man who emerges as the nominee of this convention will be the next President of the United States.

Monday morning at the opening session, as Carroll Reece of Kentucky, national chairman of the Republican party, called the convention to order for its temporary organization, there was a huge shout from the galleries and the delegates on the floor, and as the chairman presented the keynote, Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois, the temporary chairman, another tumultuous outburst greeted this favorite son of the Sucker state.

Tuesday morning was spent in organization of the convention, the seating of the various delegations on report of the credentials committee and the report of the platform committee. Tuesday evening the permanent chairman of the convention, Speaker Joe Martin, took over and made his address.

On Wednesday the roll call of states for the nomination for the presidency started.

For more than a week prior to official convening of the convention the huge resolutions committee composed of two delegates from each state has been busy writing the platform upon which the nominees will base their plea before the American people.

Senator Taft made a preconvention statement declaring that every plank should be specific so that the Democratic convention, when it comes along next month, must also be specific, particularly with relation to civil rights.

Plenty of Issues

Southern delegates to this convention were just as vociferous against making these civil rights planks an issue as their counterparts in the Democratic convention likely will be.

There also was a battle royal on the foreign relations and the tariff plank as between the backers of Senator Taft and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. Senator Vandenberg regards the reciprocal trade agreements as a part of our foreign relations program and believes that the entire Marshall plan or European recovery program is based upon the elimination of trade barriers such as the reciprocal trade agreements.

Senator Taft, while he did not go so far as hamstringing entirely the reciprocal trade law, wants it curtailed to a one-year extension with some congressional strings tied to it.

Prior to the vice-presidential nomination there was considerable talk throughout the convention hall about Governor Warren of California and even Governor Green of Illinois. Both Senators Lodge and Saltonstall of Massachusetts; Democratic Senator Byrd of Virginia, who voted more Republican than Democratic in the senate; Senator Baldwin of Connecticut; Congressman Halleck of Indiana and others were put forth as likely candidates for the vice-presidency.

Outstanding Problem

One factor which bothered the platform committee considerably was what to do about the long list of issues which the 80th congress neglected to pass before recessing for the convention. Social security, housing, agriculture, national health, federal aid to education, a new minimum wage law and other issues are included in the list. Should the convention depend on congress to go back to Washington and clean up its program before election or should they regard the issues as closed insofar as this congress is concerned.

That these subjects will be campaign issues is positive since President Truman has needed congress on them in special messages and dwelt at length on their neglect in his swing across the country.

Money Matter

Down in Washington the other day Paul Hoffman, boss of the huge ECA who has billions to spend for European recovery, and John Taber of New York, chairman of the house appropriations committee who deals in billions in appropriations, lunched together in the house restaurant. Both reached into their pockets to pay the check. It didn't make any difference about who out-fumbled whom, for neither had enough money to pay the tab.

EMPTY SADDLES IN THE OLD CORRAL . . . This may be one of the historical pictures of the year. It is a view of the Ak-Sar-Ben coliseum in Omaha, Neb., at the time that President Truman was delivering a major speech there during his "non-political" swing about the West. Fewer than 2,000 of the 10,000 seats were taken, and Mr. Truman could take consolation only from the fact that his voice had better resonance than usual in the vast reaches of the thinly populated hall. One interpretation of this phenomenon is that the "non-political" label on the President's tour backfired badly. He made a frankly political speech in Omaha, but the city's Democratic organization previously had been instructed to soft-pedal his appearance as a campaigner. Difficulty arose when neither Democrats nor anyone else showed up.

LOOK AT THAT COMET GO . . . This is for the benefit of those persons who weren't able to get up early enough to watch this brilliant comet flash across the skies over North America. Just recently discovered, it is known as Honda's comet after its discoverer, a Japanese astronomer. Its tail is estimated as more than eight times the diameter of the moon and millions of miles long. The interstellar display was photographed by Dr. J. J. Nassau, director of Warner and Swasey observatory at Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland. It was visible to the naked eye, also. This is believed to be the first photograph of the new comet.

USED AS GHQ BY PALESTINE MEDIATOR . . . This twin-engine DC-3 Douglas transport plane, pictured here at an airport near Amsterdam, Holland, is said to be the safest "office" in Palestine. And with all the ground shooting going on in the Holy Land, it probably is. Displaying a red cross and flanked by "Nation Unies" and "United Nations" on both fuselage and wings, the plane is being used both as an office and for flying purposes by Count Bernadotte, U. S. mediator in the furious Palestine dispute.

STRICTLY A FAMILY AFFAIR . . . Families the size of this one don't happen along every day. Actually, they have become more or less of a rarity since civilized men and women embraced monogamy as the proper marital institution. But take the case of Mrs. Edith Hunter, 63, of Leeds, England, shown here at right. She is extending her felicitations to her 53rd grandchild, Margaret, after the baby was christened at Leeds. Twenty-five of Mrs. Hunter's children and grandchildren lined up across the sidewalk to witness the little tableau. They range in age from 36 to 3 years, and they owe it all to their grandmother.

As PEGLER Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler
Released by WNU Features

THE best answer that the New York Herald Tribune has been able to offer to observations on its party line and the dominant personalities in the strange new household of this fine old Church of England paper, has been an essay by John Crosby, who does the radio column. I would not go as far as to say that the party line of the H-T is also the party line of the Daily Worker. There are some points at which a professional Muscovite ideologue could make out a charge of first-degree heresy and there are whole stretches in which I can detect no positive H-T line at all.

I find Crosby, of the radio column of the H-T, at loss for answers to revelations of embarrassing facts regarding his paper.

He speaks of me as an aging journalist, as aren't we all, and far from resenting this impudence I take this opportunity to observe that Mrs. Helen Rogers Reid, who now runs the H-T, or thinks she runs it, looks prettier than ever since her hair turned white and her age turned 60. I hope I have her vigor at her age. Even so, I find in the reference to the stately march of time, no answer to points of allegation by me about the H-T.

What I said was that Joseph Herzberg, the city editor, in his official capacity appeared on a radio program as the guest of William S. Gailmor, a thief, a renegade of journalism and of the clergy of his faith and a preacher of the Communist line in the United States.

The certified text of this broadcast confirmed the fact that Herzberg either was, or falsely conveyed an impression that he was, an old friend of Gailmor, calling him "Bill and being called "Joe."

On this point, Crosby would have it that I am out of date because it is customary, in the radio business, for the performers to use the familiar "Bill" and "Joe" form, even though they be strangers.

He says that Bing Crosby calls Jimmy Durante "Schnozzola," but I have to fault him there because Bing Crosby and Jimmy Durante are not strangers as he would have us believe that Herzberg and Gailmor are.

Long experience in the analysis of Communist documents and editorials prompts the observation that Crosby denies nothing. He doesn't dare to say that Gailmor and his city editor were strangers who had just shaken hands. I might nail him on that. But he tosses out the idea. That seems to be the character of the Herald Tribune now.

I went further and pointed out that although the H-T had given Gailmor praiseful publicity as a leading worker in the political campaign of Henry Wallace, it had not once mentioned the evil facts of his career. I find that the defense offered by Crosby entirely avoids that important issue.

I do note on the positive side, however, an attitude in Crosby which is important to the people who read so much about New York, Hollywood and Washington and especially about the night life.

He says that Pegler spends much of his time in Arizona, as though, in the ancient flippantry of George M. Cohan, "When you're away from old Broadway, you're only camping out."

The last one who made a similar criticism was a Washington cosmic journalist who thought I should be spending more time in the capital.

We have people in Arizona. We have people in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and Tennessee, states which I have just canvassed. And I would say that, as Americans, they are much better people per capita than the people of New York. Fewer of them squalled for American high-school boys to go over and slaughter Germans. THEY LET NEW YORK DO THE SQUALLING.

But when the fighting came off, fewer of them, proportionately, got away with ruptured eardrums, as that heroic celebrity of Crosby's radio, Frank Sinatra, did; or got away with that certain "mental attitude" which was noted in the case of another great New Yorker, Danny Kaye.

Reporters who stick to New York become narrowly provincial. Even the country boys among them forget that there are people beyond the Alleghenies and that not more than one in 100,000 Americans ever was inside a night club. They use the phone to speak to Washington or Hollywood but they don't know that the same phones connect with Jackson, Miss., and El Paso. Actually, they reflect a very low intelligence on the character and life of the people of the United States.

Handbook for Fish-Bait Dealers in Michigan
 A handbook for fish-bait dealers in lake states, a product of the joint efforts of fisheries research men of Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service, presents detailed directions for all phases of the business, from building minnow ponds covering several acres to raising earthworms in a box in the basement or crickets in a garbage can in the garage.

The over-increasing popularity of sport fishing has put such heavy demands on bait dealers that local wild supplies often have been inadequate, and some dealers have turned from collecting to growing their own. Pioneer work in raising bait minnows in ponds has been done in recent years at Michigan conservation department fish hatcheries.

While directions for wholesale propagation of minnows may interest only dealers, the individual angler may be interested in the facts about raising and keeping earthworms, crayfish and crickets, and the collecting of leeches, hellgrammites, caddis fly larvae, corn borers, catalpa worms, white grubs, goldenrod gall worms and wood borers.

Printed by the U. S. government printing office, the 116 page bait dealer's handbook is entitled "Propagation of Minnows and Other Bait Species." Copies are obtainable from the conservation department in Lansing at 35 cents each.

Conservation Department Spring Planting Season Closes

As the conservation department's first season of plantings on private farms to improve game food and cover conditions came to a close, the spring program totals stood at 275,000 pines, 96,000 food-bearing shrubs, 2,400 pounds of seed, mostly sweet clover and lespedeza, six tons of fertilizer, 878 rods of woven wire, 4,045 rods of barbed wire and 1,550 posts.

The seedling pines and shrubs went into fencerows and odd farm corners, gullies, and steep slopes to make attractive to pheasants and rabbits parts of the farms little used for anything before. The game habitat improvements were made on 279 farms, 83 of them planned by sportsmen.

Game men are planning now the plantings to be made on farms in the fall planting season, as the program is becoming an established feature of wildlife restoration work.

Michigan's new record for pheasant egg distribution was set this season with delivery of 87,000 eggs to sportsmen's clubs, farmers, and 4-H clubs for hatching, rearing and release in likely looking pheasant country.

Rare All-Black Deer Seen Near Grayling

An all black deer—more rare in Michigan by far than even the pure albinos—was seen ten miles east of Grayling on the south downriver by Byron Nichols, who reported the unusual sight to district game manager Otto Failing. Nichols, a Detroit, has a cabin on the main stream of the AuSable, below McMaster's bridge, has hunted this region for years and knows his deer.

Solid black deer have been reported before in Michigan, but their occurrence is difficult to confirm. Failing is welcoming reports from other vacationers in the vicinity who may see this rare specimen.

Huge Outlays Planned
In County for Repairs

An estimated $436,000 will be spent in repairing and modernizing non-farm homes in Iosco county during 1948, according to a report just released by the Tile Council of America.

That sum will be expended largely upon painting, repairs to heating equipment, new roofs and plumbing the report disclosed. "Greater availability of building materials will make possible a record amount of home improvement throughout the nation this year."

declared Malcolm Schweiker, chairman of the Council's residential construction committee. About 50 of every 100 homes in Michigan will be painted, either inside or not, during 1948 and eleven will have heating equipment overhauled or replaced, according to the report. Nine will be re-roofed and eight will have plumbing repaired, bathrooms tiled or showers installed, the report revealed. "To meet demands for materials for both new homes and home repairs, production has been stepped up in practically every type of material," said Mr. Schweiker. Throughout the nation, $2,600,000,000 and $3,300,000,000 will be spent this year on home repair, according to the Tile Council report. This is believed, the largest amount ever expended for such work.

Tree Growth

Pines do not grow as fast as Cottonwood or Chinese elm, but if given good care make fairly rapid growth once they are well established. With good care pines will average a foot or more growth in height per year. It is not uncommon for pines to grow to a height of 10 or 12 feet in ten years or to a height of 20 feet or more in 20 years. The pines are hardy and will last a long time.

WHY "Stepping Down" IS SO IMPORTANT TO YOU

Hudson amazes motor-car world by using vital "step-down" zone—not available in any other car—to bring you riding qualities and safety beyond anything known before!

Word's going 'round—and fast, too—that Hudson gives you a "sweet," smooth, safe ride that is a new high in motor-car performance!

Perhaps you've heard pleased and proud Hudson owners talking about this exciting new experience, but here's something you may have missed hearing:

The key to this amazing new ride lies in that area just under the floor of the average car, which in the New Hudson becomes the "step-down" zone—as illustrated in the sketches at the right.

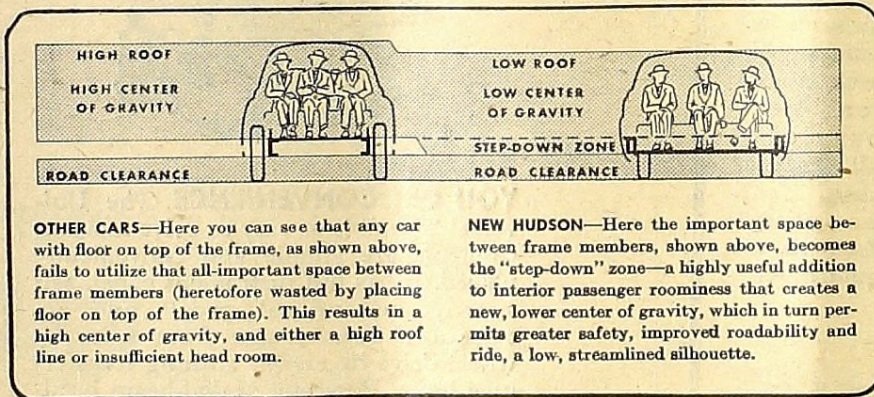

This "step-down" zone is all-important, because experience has shown that the lower to the ground a car can be built, the better it will handle, the more stability it will have, the safer it will be, and thus the more enjoyable and comfortable will be your ride.

Hudson, and Hudson alone, has accomplished a near miracle of low-built streamlining and smooth, safe, comfortable riding with a new type of base frame which surrounds the passenger compartment, and thus permits the floor to be lowered down within it. Recessing the floor creates the "step-down" zone and a center of gravity that is the lowest in any American stock car—yet road clearance is ample! That's why Hudson has a hug-the-road way of going, even in cross-winds, and on every conceivable kind of highway. When you see how this car takes even the sharpest curves, it will spoil you for any other type of automobile! You sense this delightful conformity to the road the minute you begin your ride; and this stability, plus the protection of riding encircled by a sturdy box-section steel frame, gives you a grand feeling of safe well-being. Sitting in this car is as downright satisfying as stretching out in your favorite easy chair. You ride on seats that are lowered and cradled ahead of the rear wheels and, even with its low silhouette, this breathtakingly beautiful motor car gives you more head room than any other mass-produced car built today! Hudson's use of the vital "step-down" zone in its exclusive, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame is a development that required years of engineering work, the perfection of new production techniques, and millions of dollars in highly specialized new plant investment. Perhaps this explains why Hudson alone offers this new design principle today. The nearest Hudson dealer has a booklet—yours for the asking—which explains how "stepping down" brings you advantages beyond anything known before! Hudson Motor Car Co., Detroit 14.

THE NEW LOOK

By WILLIAM CUTHBERT

JOE KAUFMAN stood in front of the mirror. Two years in the penitentiary hadn't taken the plumpness from his body nor the color from his cheeks. The tint of silver about his temples was becoming, and the change from drab, loose fitting prison gray to tailor-made banker's gray gave him confidence. "I've got that new look, Pinky," he said to the man who had been his cellmate during his first year of confinement.

"Don't get any new ideas, Joe," Pinky said as he sat on the edge of the bed, "you better do like I'm doing; go straight!"

"Hogwash," Joe laughed. "The cops have me figured as a counterfeiter, but I'm giving up that angle. They'll never suspect me of being a stickup man."

Pinky stood up. He was tall like Joe, but thin. "If you won't take the job I've got for you, Joe, then this is good-by."

Joe was thoughtful for a minute, then he said, "So you don't know who is putting out that new batch of counterfeits, eh?"

"I thought you said you were giving up counterfeiting," Pinky snapped.

"I am," Joe assured him. "I guess it's just professional jealousy to hear that someone else is putting out stuff that is almost perfect."

"All I know is that you've got to use a magnifying glass to find the flaws," Pinky told him.

"Let's see," Joe mused. "Batson is still up the river, Jaeger and Sims are in South America, Pete and Wilson have dropped out of sight and nobody knows where they've vanished to, and Barody stopped a bullet when the cops raided his plant. It just can't be any of the old gang. Somebody new must have moved in."

Pinky shook his head and said, "You'll learn that you can't win on the wrong side of the fence, but I'm afraid it will be too late. Good-by, Joe."

Joe dismissed his former cellmate with a wave of his hand. Plans already were forming in his mind for the first holdup.

News had drifted into the prison that Lee Stanley was going places, and fast. Lee had been only a petty racketeer a few years back, and Joe never had liked him, but apparently Lee had found a way to become big-time. He was the new owner of the Roxy night club, and Joe knew it for a swanky place. Joe snapped his fingers. He knew the layout of the Roxy. It would be easy to get to Lee's office, and it would give him satisfaction to get hold of some of Lee's profits.

He went to the closet and found the hidden wall hole he had made before his arrest. The revolver and a box of cartridges were still there. They were about the only things the police hadn't found.

With a handkerchief and a piece of wire, Joe cleaned the barrel, then loaded the chamber in case he should have to use it.

Then he turned to the window and looked outside. Sergeant Cain was on the corner leaning against a telegraph pole. Joe was annoyed, but not disheartened. The cops always put a man on you after you did a stretch up the river. And this was the same copper who had caught him with a pocketful of counterfeit bills two years before.

It would be several hours before he would be able to go to the Roxy, so Joe decided to play with the detective before losing him.

When Joe stepped out onto the pavement, he saw Sergeant Cain straighten up. He walked to a restaurant, and took his time ordering and eating, noticing that the sergeant was keeping a hungry eye on him outside the window.

Joe then spent a couple of hours in a cheap movie, and was aware that Sergeant Cain was sitting only a few rows behind him.

Then he decided it was time to give the detective the slip.

He was followed from the theater, but kept his eyes open as he walked along the street. Suddenly he saw what he was waiting for, a cruising taxicab.

With a quick movement he was inside the cab and snapping orders to the driver.

With a quick movement he was inside the cab and snapping orders to the driver.

The taxi leaped forward, and Joe looked out of the rear window in time to see Sergeant Cain waving to a taxicab that was traveling in the opposite direction. Joe's taxi turned half a dozen corners before he was definitely satisfied that he had lost Sergeant Cain. Then he had the driver take him to within a half block of the Roxy.

Joe worked his way cautiously to the back of the night club. He smiled when he saw the fire escape. It was the kind that needed weight to carry the bottom section down to the ground.

Joe climbed a rafter and reached out and grabbed the side rail. As he rode the section to the ground, the rusty iron's screech filled the night, and Joe stood still for a full minute, waiting to learn if anyone inside had heard the sound.

He decided finally that the other noises out in the street had drowned out the sound. He went up the steps until he reached a window which opened into a corridor. He forced the window without too much trouble and climbed inside.

Music was playing out on the dance floor and the sound of laughing voices penetrated the walls, but nothing stirred in the corridor.

Joe tied a handkerchief over his mouth and nose, and pulled his hat down over his eyes. He glanced around to refresh his memory, and smiled. Apparently this was to be one of his lucky nights. He saw the light through the glass in the door of the room he sought, and shoved the door open.

Startled, Lee Stanley looked up from behind a desk at the gun which Joe held in a steady hand. There was a stack of crisp, new twenty dollar bills on top of the desk.

Disguising his voice, Joe said, "Be a good guy and don't act up, or you'll get hurt," as he moved cat-like toward the desk. But he knew Lee was going to get hurt.

Working with precision, Joe's left hand scooped up the money, and his right hand brought the gun barrel down across Lee Stanley's head.

He jammed the twenties into his pockets and tiptoed to the door. With a quick glance he saw that no one had entered the corridor, then he ran to the window.

There was no way of knowing how much money he had in his pockets, but he felt sure that it was enough for him to leave the city and have a free and easy life for a few months.

A half hour later, as Joe stepped into his room, he was chuckling to himself. He visioned Sergeant Cain hurrying about the city trying to pick up his trail.

He switched on the lights, then froze. Sergeant Cain was leaning against the wall, toying with his Colt police positive.

"What—what do you want?" Joe stammered.

"The way you gave me the slip," Sergeant Cain said, "I figured you were anxious to contact that new counterfeiting gang. Also figured the best place to pick you up was right here."

Joe relaxed and sat on the bed. He said, "I'm through with counterfeiting." At the same time he eased the gun from his hip pocket and deftly pushed it under the pillow.

"How about if I see what you have in your pockets?" Sergeant Cain asked.

Joe stood up and smiled. He had nothing to fear. The detective had no way of knowing where the money came from, and he felt sure that Lee Stanley wouldn't report the holdup to the police. He didn't know how Lee had become big-time, but he was sure his method wasn't honest, and he wouldn't want the law poking into his business.

Sergeant Cain found the twenty dollar bills and stepped back a safe distance from Joe. He took a small magnifying glass from his pocket and examined a twenty.

Instead of giving the bills back to Joe, he stuffed them into his own pockets and said, "You sure work fast, Joe. Loaded with counterfeit money already. Come on, you're going to headquarters."

"Counterfeits!" Joe gasped. Thoughts began to race through his mind. So that was how Lee Stanley had become big-time! He was using a printing press—and if Joe told the police where he got the money, his life wouldn't be worth a dime.

Sergeant Cain snapped a pair of handcuffs on his wrists. Joe looked at his tailored clothes and realized he was about to lose that new look.

As he started to walk toward the door, he wondered if Pinky would keep that job open for him, for a couple of years?

Entertain Simply but Attractively (See recipes below)

Summer Parties

ARE YOU PLANNING to do more than your share of entertaining during the warm weather? You'll want to tuck these tips into a safe place to help make the refreshment problem easy. For here are party desserts, sandwiches, cooling thirst-quenchers and cookies that are sure-fire hits with whatever crowd you plan to serve.

Make parties easy on yourself, by working in advance, and thus keeping yourself cool and collected at least a half an hour before guests arrive.

FOR BRIDAL or baby showers, or for simple commencement party serving, a plate of sandwiches and an ice cream beverage are perfect foods. You'll like these:

Chocolate Mix (Makes 1 Pint)

2 1/2 ounces unsweetened chocolate

1/2 cup water

3/4 cup sugar

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Place chocolate and water in saucepan and cook until thick. Use low heat and stir frequently. Add sugar and salt, bringing mixture to a boil. Let cool, then fold in whipped cream. Store in covered jar in refrigerator. For a cold beverage, use one to two tablespoons of the mix to a glass of milk, beating with rotary beater. Top with vanilla ice cream and sprinkle chocolate shavings or gratings on top of ice cream. One pint of the mix is enough for about 32 servings.

If you are entertaining elegantly for a shower or commencement party, make sandwich filling (chicken, tuna fish or crabmeat and shrimp) and serve in cream puffs instead of between bread. Everyone will like this clever and different touch.

Cream Puffs (Makes 1 dozen large or 4 dozen small puffs)

1/2 cup shortening

1/8 teaspoon salt

1 cup boiling water

1 cup sifted flour

4 eggs, unbeaten

Add shortening and salt to boiling water and heat to boiling. Reduce heat, add flour all at once and stir vigorously until mixture forms a ball around the spoon, leaving the pan clean.

Remove from heat. Add one egg at a time, beating five minutes after each addition. Continue beating until mixture is thick and shiny and breaks from the spoon.

Shape on an ungreased cookie sheet, using one teaspoon or one tablespoon, depending upon the size desired. (The smaller size is preferable if you are using the puffs for sandwiches.) Bake in a very hot (450 degree) oven for 20 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees) and bake 15 to 20 minutes longer. Cool. Split and fill.

COOKIES AND BEVERAGE make a delightful but even simpler type of refreshment:

Butterscotch Bars

3/4 cup sifted flour

1/2 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/3 cup shortening

1/2 cup brown sugar

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

1/4 cup milk

3/4 cup oatmeal

1/4 cup nuts

Plan to have all ingredients in the refrigerator a minimum of two hours before making the salad. A good way is to wash fruit, vegetables and lettuce when you buy or bring them in from the garden. Then they will be ready for use at any time.

The bowl and plates on which a salad is served should be well chilled to increase palatability.

Salad dressing is tossed into a salad just before serving so the ingredients will remain crisp.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add shortening, sugar, vanilla and half the milk. Beat until smooth. Fold in remaining ingredients. Spread into an eight-inch square pan, greased, and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Cut into bars while warm. Cool and dust with powdered sugar.

A CHOCOLATE DESSERT with a cool or iced beverage makes a perfect choice for refreshment.

Chocolate Angel Pie (Serves 6-8)

2 egg whites

1/8 teaspoon salt

1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar

1/2 cup granulated sugar

1/2 cup finely chopped nuts

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

1/4 pound sweet chocolate

3 tablespoons water

1 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup cream, whipped

Beat egg whites until foamy; add salt and cream of tartar and continue beating until the mixture will stand in soft peaks.

Add sugar gradually and continue beating until the mixture is very stiff. Fold in nuts and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Turn into a lightly greased pie pan and make a nest-like shell, building sides to one-half inch above the edge of the pan. Bake in a slow (300 degree) oven 50 to 55 minutes. Cool.

Place chocolate and water in a saucepan over low heat. Stir until the chocolate is melted. Cool until thickened. Then add one teaspoon vanilla and fold into whipped cream. Turn into meringue shell. Chill two hours before serving.

*Chocolate Icebox Cake (Serves 8)

1 teaspoon minute gelatine

2 tablespoons sugar

Dash of salt

1/3 cup water

1/4 or 1/2 pound sweet chocolate

2 egg yolks, slightly beaten

1 teaspoon vanilla

2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

1/2 cup cream, whipped

1 1/2 dozen (36 split) ladyfingers

Combine gelatine, sugar, salt in top of double boiler. Add water and chocolate. Place over low heat and cook until chocolate is melted and the gelatin dissolved, stirring constantly, about three to five minutes. Remove from heat and add egg yolks gradually beating until well blended.

Place over boiling water and cook two minutes, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Cool. Fold into egg whites. Chill. Then fold in whipped cream and nuts.

Line bottom and sides of a one quart mold with waxed paper. Arrange ladyfingers on bottom and sides of mold. Pour in half of the chocolate mixture. Cover with ladyfingers. Then add remaining chocolate mixture and top with ladyfingers. Chill 8 to 12 hours in refrigerator. Unmold. Garnish with additional whipped cream.

LYNN SAYS:

Are You Putting Salads Over With Success?

Most people will eat salads when they are properly prepared. Check over these tips to improve your salad making.

Some fish, fruit and vegetables are marinated, that is soaked in dressing, before mixing with other ingredients and serving to increase their tang and flavor. When marinating is called for in a recipe, let them marinate for an hour or so.

Handy Pocket Gadget

The task of bank clerks should be lightened with a new machine, just patented, which will sort and count paper money. Bills are fed into the machine, emerge on shelves in $1, $2, $5, $10 or $20 compartments. Values are transferred to totalizers.

Youth Wins Patents

A Utah youth of 16 was discouraged trying to color a glossy photograph. He devoted all his spare time for two years to research. Now he has been granted three patents for photo-coloring chemicals, according to National Patent Council. His color solution is said to obtain exceptionally good results.

Cause of Deafness

Daytime noise on the average busy street of an American city is loud enough to make the normal person one-fourth to one-third deaf, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica. There is no dependable evidence, however, that life or work in noisy places decreases the acuteness of hearing except during the first few minutes after the noise stops.

Something New Added

Detroit inventor has added something to gasoline to improve its performance over that of the now familiar leaded fuels. Patent has been issued for the formula which adds trimethyl phosphate or trimethyl phosphite, said to check "leading" of the combustion chamber and to prevent "autoignition" without reducing the anti-knock qualities of the tetraethyl lead addition.

Benefits of Atom

Among the problems under study in the University of Chicago's institute of metals is why metals that are pliable in their pure state become brittle when strengthening alloys are introduced. The answer to that "why" could change the appearance and structure of virtually all vehicles, from plows to airplanes. The institute of metals is part of the university's new 12 million dollar program in atomic research.

Danish Greenland

Denmark's great colony of Greenland, the world's largest island, with an area of 840,000 square miles, is 60 times the size of the mother country. Its population consists of only 22,000 Greenlanders, scattered in small settlements, chiefly along the west coast, where 45,000 square miles are ice-free. About 1,200 inhabit the east coast. The interior of Greenland affords no means of human subsistence. Inland ice, miles in thickness, covers the bulk of the island.

Better American Health

Medical research has lengthened life and reduced disease immeasurably. Since the 20th century opened, infant mortality has been reduced from 100 to 37 per 1,000 births. In the same period, the average life of man has increased about 17 years.

Profitable Barley States

Barley is grown in greatest volume in the area generally comprising North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Nearly all barley-growing states have shown acreage gains, with the greatest actual increase in Nebraska, where there has been a large-scale shift from oats.

Ancient Radiant Heat

Wealthy Romans living in England centuries ago built their homes with dual walls with air space between them. Walls and floors were made of masonry material and an open fire was built in the basement. Smoke and heating air rose in the space between the walls. Thus, first floor and walls were heated, introducing the first system of radiant heating.

United States Mints

During 1946 the United States mints made more than 500 million coins for the governments of Colombia, Cuba, Ecuador, Ethiopia, the Netherlands Indies, Philippines, Saudi Arabia and Venezuela, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica. In addition, the U. S. mints coined more than 87 million dollars worth of change for the United States—including 1,505,445,000 pennies.

Vow of Passion Play

The Oberammergau Passion play is presented once every 10 years to fulfill a vow made by the inhabitants of the village in 1633. According to Encyclopaedia Britannica, Oberammergau was stricken with the scourge of the Black Death in that year. To express their gratitude when the plague ended, the villagers vowed to enact the passion and death of Christ every 10 years, and the first performance was given in 1634.

Star Dust
STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

JEAN ARTHUR has a way of stamping a role as her own so definitely that it is impossible to imagine anyone else playing it as well. Returning to the screen in "A Foreign Affair," she has taken on an assignment that many actors es would shun. She plays a dowdy, too earnest woman who loses her head completely when a handsome man makes love to her. True, the young man is John Lund, who is much like Clark Gable in Gable's younger days. Marlene Dietrich completes the trio. Most of the picture was shot in Berlin, and while it is a comedy, there are serious undertones.

Errol Flynn is turning sportscaster when he fills in for Bill Stern on the "Sports Newsreel" July 23 while Stern is in London for the Olympics. Stern may relate his sports stories at the Palladium, for $4,500 weekly.

Anne Burr, menace on "Big Sister," did three unsuccessful auditions in an attempt to break into radio. So she turned to Broadway, and appeared in five plays. The last, "The Hasty Heart," took John Lund and Richard Basehart to Hollywood and gave Anne a leading role—without an audition. Because of her deep voice she draws many "menace" roles.

Lowell Thomas, veteran CBS newscaster, is investigating the possibilities of short-wave broadcasting from Palestine if he goes there this summer to do a series of on-the-spot broadcasts, but nothing is settled yet.

Nine-year-old Luana Patten, featured in Walt Disney's "Melody Time" and "So Dear to My Heart," will mingle with real-life characters in her next picture, a Universal comedy with Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray.

Jane Wyman has sold her first oil painting. She was inspired by the beauty of the California coast when she went on location for "Johnny Belinda." The price was $4.50. The frame cost Jane $4.

Jerry Wayne, a singing star a few years ago, is singing his way back to the top. You heard him on "The Ed Wynn Show," "The Hit Parade" and "The Jerry Wayne Show;" now he is acting as manager of ceremonies and singing five times a week on CBS. It is a variety show, with a vocal or instrumental guest star each evening.

Barbara Bel Geddes, who did so little in "I Remember Mama," will have a real chance to display her undeniable talent as an actress in RKO's "Bed of Roses." She will play a youthful, captivating woman who uses her charm ruthlessly—what actress wouldn't jump at that role! She went to Hollywood after making a hit on Broadway, and should be a big star there.

Odds and Ends . . . Three well-known names star NBC's summer list—Morton Downey, Jane Pickens and Jack Pearl . . . And two daytime serials have returned to the air—"Hilltop House" and "We Love and Learn." The latter permanently replaces "Katie's Daughters" . . . Wanda Hendrix, one of Hollywood's tiniest actresses, eats five meals a day, under doctor's orders; meals were served every two hours on the set of "Now and Forever" . . . Ninety-one of Hollywood's most beautiful girls were screened at Warners for 48 roles as bathing girls in "The Girl from Jones Beach." Those who have seen the place won't recognize it!

In Earl Wrightson, "The Family Hour" has a male star for the first time, perhaps because he can do both popular and classical songs authentically. He was a regular member of the cast from May, 1945, to September, 1946, and has sung in opera, concert, a Broadway musical and television. Since he was in his teens he has paid for music lessons by holding a full-time job. The first was in a Baltimore bank, where he met his wife; they were in adjoining "cages."

CHANGE of LIFE?

Are you going through the functional 'middle age' period peculiar to women (35 to 52 yrs.)? Does this make you suffer from hot flashes, feel so nervous, highstrung, tired? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Compound also has what doctors call a stomachic tonic effect!

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well 24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot filter in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling. Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Manufacturing Fir Plywood

Fir plywood is manufactured only from prime logs of giant, old growth, Douglas firs usually from three to eight feet in diameter. The cross-grain construction of plywood makes it splitproof so nails may be driven near the edge without danger of splitting. Called "not presses," giant machines set the waterproof glues of exterior plywood in about five minutes. The resultant bond is stronger than the wood itself.

YOUR CHAMBER of COMMERCE

The Chamber of Commerce membership drive has been in progress for the last two months with a deadline late set as of June 1, 1948. To date we have received 73 memberships out of a possible 335 with a total amount in cash of $1,697.50. The question arises—Do you want a Chamber of Commerce?

The Chamber of Commerce, as has been pointed out at recent meetings with outside speakers, cannot function without money. The money you send in to your Chamber is not dues but an investment in your community. Therefore, if you want a Chamber of Commerce in your community, let's everyone come forward with their dues. If you do not want a Chamber of Commerce, below is a list of 10 ways to kill it.

1. Don't come to the meetings.
2. If you do come, come late.
3. If the weather doesn't suit you, don't think of coming.
4. If you attend a meeting, find fault with the work of the officers and other members.
5. Never accept an office, as it is easier to criticize than to do things.
6. Nevertheless, feel hurt if you are not appointed on the committee; but if you are, do not attend committee meetings.
7. If asked by the chairman to give your opinion on some matter, have nothing to say. After the meeting tell everyone how things ought to have been done.
8. Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary, but when members roll up their sleeves and willingly, unselfishly use their ability to help matters along, say that the Chamber is run by a clique.
9. Hold back your dues as long as possible—or, don't pay at all.
10. Don't bother about getting new members. Let someone else do it.
