

Regatta Attracts Large Group of Sailing and Pleasure Craft

Thousands Enjoy 3-Day July 4th Events

Williams, Rush, Smith McMurray, Richardson, Wickert Trophy Winners

The 1948 Annual Regatta has been written off as a very satisfactory undertaking on the part of the committees that have worked for the past month or more to make it a reality, so reports Lloyd G. McKay, Jr., Commodore of the local Tawas Bay Yacht Club.

The two day activity attracted the largest group of pleasure craft ever seen on Tawas Bay at one time. At noon of the second day, Sunday, the docking facilities at East Tawas were taxed to the point that it was necessary for the craft to moor three deep.

In connection with the regatta, every size of sailing craft was represented, from the Snipe class up, and on Sunday the Iris, a 12 meter owned in Bay City, came into the harbor. She is a 64 foot sailing yacht, formerly owned by the Fletchers of Alpena, and her mast is 96 feet above the water, and one sail on the boat, the main, represents over 600 pounds of material. She did not participate in the races, however, will be a very worthy contender in the Mackinaw race later in the month.

The United States Coast Guard ice breaker, The Mackinaw, was in the harbor for one day and one night, during which time Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schreck acted as hosts for the skipper and his executive officer. Through the courtesy of the Chief of our local Coast Guard Station, who stood by with his picket boat during the sailing races a large number of persons were transported out to the Mackinaw for a tour of inspection. The Mackinaw is the largest and most modern ice breaker in the world.

The weather was as fine as could be desired, except that with a little more wind, the spectators might have found the sailing races even more interesting. On both the third and fourth, the wind held in the southeasterly quarter, and while one of the heats was threatened with a southwest squall for which Saginaw Bay is noted, it blew out on the lake, causing no damage.

Octogenarian Takes First Airplane Ride

Mrs. Ben Ellsworth, 86 years of age had her first airplane ride at the Tawas City Airport recently, with Jack Thaxton of Detroit. Mrs. Ellsworth is the mother of Mrs. Orville Leslie, Sr., of Tawas City. "It's been the most enjoyable ride I've ever had, and I hope I will have the opportunity to have several more," Mrs. Ellsworth, according to Bill Roach, was as calm as any young student who had plenty of flying experience.

RESOLUTION BY THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

All dogs must be tied up or under the immediate control of the owner, during the months of July and August, 1948. All dogs at large will be picked up and destroyed.

Old Timers Show Their 'Stuff'

Some of the Old Time Players

"Remember when," were the words most heard Monday when the Old Timer's Day Celebration was held at the local athletic field.

Old time players again took their old positions, bringing back memories of tough games and old time days to the fans and players alike. Players were present from nearly all Tawas City teams down through the years. Len J. Patterson and Art Wuggazer represented the "Dutch Outlaws," and were the oldest old timers present. The Wolverine Stars was represented by Ab Mallon. Benny Boldt appeared in a uniform worn by Tawas City players, twenty five years ago.

of the Chamber of Commerce, and played ball against Tawas City with Mikado, years ago.

Other old timers taking part in the old timers game were: Hank Newman, Walt Moeller, Ab Mallon, Jack Forsten, Fred Swartz, Fred Bublitz, Bill Groff, Charles Moeller, Glenn Long, Grant Bessey, Bill Wendt, Bill Youngs, Hank Sherman, Vic Marzinski, Mart Musolf, John A. Brugger, Nate Barkman, Jake Steinhurst and Stewart Roach.

The second game found the young old timers opposed by the local city team. Ferry Brown, pitcher, who pitched for Tawas City in the '30's started on the mound for the old timers. He was relieved by "Mubb" Lixey when a line drive struck Ferry in the knee. Mubb, another favorite Tawas pitcher in the '30's pitched the next few innings and was followed to the mound by Lefty Quick, an outstanding hitter and bunter in days gone by. Ed Libka and Le Franks split the backstopping duties. The Old Timer Lineup was as follows: A. Quick, lf-p; G. Staudacher, ss; M. Lixey, 1b-p; Don Anderson, 2b; Benny Boldt, cf; Ed. Libka, c; W. Kasichke, 3b; J. Brugger, rf; Ferry Brown, p; Stewart Roach, C. Libka, R. Fox.

Several fine fielding plays were made by the old-timers, and the pitchers showed some of their old time stuff, with strikeouts and catching several members of the local team flat-footed off base. Several other old timers were on hand but didn't participate in the game because of the extreme heat.

Before the game a picnic was held in the Tawas City park with several old timers and families enjoying a picnic lunch and listening to old time and modern music by Weaver's sound-truck.

Don't Forget— School Meeting

Three trustees are to be elected at the annual school meeting of Tawas City and Tawas Township District No. 7, fractional, next Monday evening at the high school auditorium. Nearly every citizen of the district took part in the recent special election. This meeting is just as important and a continued interest in school affairs should be shown by attending. Begins at 8:00 o'clock.

In all districts of the county, unless otherwise taken care of, school meetings will be held next Monday. The county school commissioner urges all people to get out to these school meetings and to take an active part.

VFW to Present

"The Light Eternal"

Miss Elnora M. Premble arrived in town last Sunday to direct the religious drama "The Light Eternal," to be presented Thursday and Friday evening, July 16-17 at the Community Building, East Tawas. Miss Premble has been interested in little theatre work for a number of years and has had professional training in Kansas City, Missouri for this presentation. The play is being sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the benefit of improvements at the Bay Vue Club.

A cast of thirty-five local people will be assisted by a large chorus of voices in this presentation of a Biblical story with a modern day application.

"The Light Eternal" is a dramatization of important events leading up to and connected with the giving of the Ten Commandments. The beloved Joseph story is portrayed, the giving of the Ten Commandments, the Annunciation story and the famous Nativity scenes. These Biblical stories are told by a modern day grandfather to his two grandchildren.

One of the outstanding features of the presentation are the beautiful costumes which are authentic as of 4,000 years ago. Curtain time is 8:27 p. m.

Rehearsals are well under way and the cast of characters will appear in the next edition.

In a recent interview Miss Premble stated that everything pointed to an outstanding performance, and one of the finest ever staged in the Tawas area. Tickets are now on sale and may be secured from the members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars or the director.

A typical American boy and girl contest will be launched Friday of this week. Attractive jars and the pictures of the contestants will be posted in the business places of the area, and voting will commence Friday morning. The contest will continue throughout the week and all contestants will be introduced at the premier performance Thursday, July 15. Awards will be made to the boy and girl with the highest number of votes at the performance on Friday evening.

University of Michigan to Hold Class for School Secretaries-Clerks

The University of Michigan is holding a class for the benefit of School Secretaries and Clerks from July 6 to 10. Because the work in a school office differs greatly from General office work, it is believed that this Workshop Course will benefit all who attend.

Bleau-Luina Diaz

St. Michael Church, Pontiac, was the scene of the wedding of Alberta Loretta Bleau, R. N., daughter of Albert L. Bleau of Pontiac, formerly of Alabaster, and Ramon Rafael Luina Diaz of Fajardo, Puerto Rico. Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly performed the ceremony and offered the Nuptial High Mass in the presence of the immediate families and several friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white afternoon dress with a jewelry neckline and lace peplum, her hair dress was white carnations and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and ivy.

Frances M. Bleau was her sister's maid of honor and wore a street length dress of shell pink, her cascade bouquet was Rubrum lilies and ivy and wore a headdress of Rubrum lilies. John G. Bleau, brother of the bride was groomsmen and John S. Kerrigan was usher.

The bride's sister, Mrs. L. C. Johnson wore a black and white jersey afternoon dress with black accessories, her corsage was white gardenias.

Mrs. William Anthony of Chicago, sister of the groom, wore a grey afternoon dress and matching accessories, her corsage was also white gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of St. Frederick High School of Pontiac and St. Camillus School of Nursing, Borgess Hospital, Kalamazoo.

The groom is a graduate of Fajardo, Puerto Rico and the University of Puerto Rico and the University of Louisville, Kentucky, and is now a student of Medicine at Creighton University, Omaha, Nebraska.

After a two weeks honeymoon in northern Michigan and Canada the young couple will stay in Pontiac until September when they will go to Omaha to reside.

Anschuetz-Zimmerman

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Zimmerman were married Saturday, June 19th at the Emanuel Lutheran church in Tawas City. Rev. J. J. Roelke heard the couple exchange vows.

The bride is the former Ardath Anschuetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anschuetz of Tawas City. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Zimmerman of Saginaw.

Pink accessories and a corsage of gardenias and pink roses complemented the bride's light grey suit. Her only attendant, Miss Lee Rempert wore a pink suit with white accessories and a gardenia and rose corsage. Floyd L. Koan of Flushing assisted the groom.

Dinner for members of the immediate families was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. A honeymoon trip through the Smokey Mountains in Tennessee was enjoyed and the young couple have made their home in Saginaw.

Young Womens League To Stage Unusual Play

An unusual production will be staged by the Young Women's League on July 20 and 21 at the Community Building, East Tawas.

Miss June Lee Bentley, professional director of the Empire Producing Company of Kansas City, Missouri has arrived and will direct the play, "Fun for You." The YWL hopes to make this the most outstanding play ever to be produced in the Tawas area. The costumes, brilliant lighting effects, clever lines and dialogue, dances and music feature this outstanding production.

Anyone interested in taking part please come to the rehearsals which have started at Community Building. Girls between 13 to 15 years are wanted for the dancing chorus.

District Eagles Meet Here Sunday

Delegates representing five aeries in this district of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will meet Sunday at the home of the Tawas Bay Aerie for a district meeting, William Lee, president of the local aerie announced today.

The program for the event includes a business meeting and initiation of new members. District Director, S. Conley of Alpena will be principal speaker at the rally. Aeries at Alpena, Rogers City, Ludington and East Tawas will be represented at the meeting.

Mrs. C. J. Creaser Entertains Garden Club

Mrs. C. J. Creaser was hostess to the Garden Club at their meeting last week. The affair was a lovely Garden party held Monday evening.

The annual election of officers took place at this meeting and the following officers were elected for the year 1948-49.

President Mrs. C. J. Creaser
Vice President..... Mrs. Arthur Leitz
Secretary Mrs. Eleanor Cooke
Treasurer Mrs. Elsie McGregor

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Thurston of Jackson were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Turner.

AuGres Loses 9 to 3 in Fifteen Hit Slugfest

Locals Play Away At Twining This Sunday

Hale took over top rung in the Northern Division of the NEM League, by defeating Alabaster 4 to 1 on Sunday, and AuGres 5 to 1 on Monday. West Branch kept in second place, and only percentage points behind Hale, with a 3 to 2 win in ten innings over Whittemore.

With a display of torrid hitting power, the Tawas City Independents downed AuGres last Sunday 9 to 3. Paced by home runs by Peterson and Landon, Tawas City garnered 15 hits. Peterson led off the first inning with his homer, while Landon poled his in the fifth, with none aboard. Both cleared the right field fence.

Bill Mallon, veteran right hander, was on the mound for Tawas City, allowing only two hits in seven innings. In the eighth he was relieved by Herb Look, who finished the game, with AuGres scoring three runs on three hits and three errors. Peterson was forced to leave the game in the eighth with a bloody nose, with Neil Thornton relieving him catching the last two innings. This was Thornton's first appearance behind the plate in a regular game this year.

Everyone of the starting line-up got at least one hit, with Bill Groff getting three, two singles and a double; D. Landon, three, two singles and his home run, and Libka, batting cleanup, also got three hits, two doubles and a single.

This Sunday, July 11, Tawas City will play the powerful Twining team at Twining. Drive over Sunday and cheer your team to victory.

The classes will start next Monday. Beginners classes will be on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, and the intermediate group Tuesday and Thursday of each week. Classes will be from 10:00 to 11:00 p. m. Advanced swimming lessons can be arranged for with Mr. Walker. There will be no charge.

Red Cross awards will be given when cross is completed.

Womens Republican Club Dinner July 21

The Isoco County Women's Republican Club will hold a 6:30 o'clock dinner Wednesday, July 21, at the Hotel Holland.

The topic for discussion at the meeting will be "Registering for the Coming Election."

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Darlene Ann Katterman, who passed away one year ago, July 6. Many are the silent heartaches Only those who have lost can tell. Of the tears we've shed in silence. For the one we loved so well. You are not forgotten Darlene. Nor will you ever be. As long as life and memory last We will remember thee. Sleep on, Dear Darlene, and take thy rest.

We loved you dearly, but God loved you best. Sadly missed by her parents, brother and grandparents.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Weary 80th Congress Comes to End Of Trail in Welter of Legislation; Truman Finishes Political Road Show

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CONGRESS: Adjourned

Embattled and fatigued, the 80th congress nevertheless managed to spew forth a batch of important legislation with the relentlessness of a doughnut machine before it adjourned for the national political conventions.

In the waning hours before adjournment the dog-tired senators and representatives pushed through farm legislation and a peacetime draft, together with bills having to do with housing, displaced persons, the atomic energy commission, wages of federal employees and foreign aid appropriations.

Republican leaders made it apparent that although congress had adjourned its session the way was being left open for it to reconvene later this year.

Despite this, however, the 80th congress had run its formal course. And that it was a vital, exciting course and one that had produced some momentous legislation no one would gainsay. Partly responsible for this character of congress, of course, was the fact that President Truman had written a record number of vetoes.

Some of the high points of congress' record:

FOREIGN AID—Congress issued billions for the support of Greece and Turkey and for general foreign relief, capping that by underwriting the Marshall plan for world economic survival and revival and establishing the economic cooperation administration as a further investment in the future of 16 friendly European nations.

NATIONAL DEFENSE—Aware of the implications of the realistic foreign policy the U. S. had begun to follow, congress adopted a peacetime draft, demanded a "70-group" air force, appropriated funds to modernize the army and navy, enacted a law to unify the armed forces and created the atomic energy commission.

HIGH PRICES—Congress ignored President Truman's repeated and insistent demands for authority to control prices and wages and kept to the classic Republican conception of "laissez faire" with regard to business and industry. It reduced personal income taxes and reduced the domestic budget by two billion dollars.

LABOR—The Taft-Hartley law was enacted over President Truman's veto in an effort to curb union excesses and restore a better balance between labor and management. The minimum wage law, growing constantly less useful as prices and wages rose, was not revised.

DRAFTES: Back Again

With the peacetime draft a reality in the U. S. again for the first time since 1941 many thousands of young men (19 through 25) are face to face with the prospect of wearing G.I. clothing for 21 months.

Most of them were destined to go into the army, since the navy and air force are scheduled to receive an extremely small percentage of the draftees.

For those non-veterans who wanted to escape the draft there was at least one reasonable method of doing so—enlistment in the national guard or reserves before the President signed the bill. And national guard officers all over the country reported that they were receiving a most gratifying number of inquiries from prospective enlistees.

Meanwhile, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, army chief of staff, reported jovially that the army would try to take on as many as 10,000 draftees a month under the new act.

Selective service, he said, will "back our leadership in the world and will strengthen our foreign policy." That, certainly, was the hope of most Americans, notwithstanding the furious last-ditch efforts of isolationists in congress to block passage of the draft law.

The chief of staff revealed that at present there is only one domestic army division up to full strength. He said the draft and enlistments will bring the army up from 540,000 to 790,000.

Is there any immediate emergency that must be met by a prepared army force? Most authorities think not, and General Bradley himself soft-pedaled the idea.

Bongo Bongo

Evidence of a recurrence of cannibalism in French Equatorial Africa has prompted the French colonial administration to launch a vigorous effort to wipe out that evil among the natives.

The government is imposing hard labor penalties on offenders, using that punishment as a threat to break the hold of witch doctors who get free supplies of meat by promoting annual human-sacrifice rituals.

Eight Ball

With the all-crucial (for him) Democratic convention only days away, with the Republicans throwing political rocks at him, with southern Democrats blustering against him and his policies and with his own Democratic organization feeling very tepid about his prospects, President Truman could be forgiven indeed for feeling that "behind-the-eight ball" heaving.

RETURN: Truman

President Truman was back in the White House after journeying 9,505 political miles—one of them on a ski-lift at Sun Valley—to bring his story before U. S. voters.

That story was primarily his bitter characterization of the present congress as wallowing in defection.

As a U. S. President going before the people to seek re-nomination by his own party, he summed up his stand in a single, tough phrase made during his speech at Harrisburg, Pa. If the voters don't make a change in congress this November, he said in effect, they "can stew in their own juice."

Whether or not the spectacle of the President stumping the country in search of popular support is viewed as admirable or otherwise, it certainly must be regarded as a phenomenal pilgrimage in the annals of American politics.

At first flaunting a "non-political" banner, which he soon discarded, Mr. Truman traveled 8,534 miles on eight different railroads, 720 miles by automobile, 225 miles by air, 25 miles across Puget sound by yacht and one mile by ski-lift.

In that political hegira the President brought the public up to date on the background of what is probably the most bitter feud between a President and congress since the days of Andrew Johnson.

There is no doubt that the President, safely back at his desk in Washington, was feeling that he had accomplished pretty much what he had set out to do: The arousing of voter-interest in the issues at stake and the presentation of himself to the people in the role of a comradely but hard-hitting President who is the watchdog of their welfare.

PALESTINE: Mediation

Although the situation in Palestine—the truce between warring Arabs and Jews—has been overshadowed in the U. S. by the clamorous news from the Republican convention, Count Folke Bernadotte's negotiations were continuing—and so was the tension.

There were no indications, however, that the United Nations mediator was having any signal successes in bringing Israel and the Arab states together on terms.

As the truce went into its second week the U. S. assigned three destroyers in the Mediterranean to immediate duty with the Palestine mediator to help supervise the armistice.

The destroyers, American officials said, were not empowered to use force of any kind in patrol duties, nor would they be allowed to stop or board any ships.

Meanwhile, to inject a further atmosphere of law and order into Palestine the first United Nations "army" had been started on a shoe-string. Thirty permanent U. N. guards from Lake Success were flown east to help supervise the truce, along with 20 other volunteers selected from U. N. secretariat employees.

TARGETS: Fleet Test

Battleships New York and Nevada, survivors of the Bikini atom bomb test, were scheduled to be sunk this month as targets during Pacific fleet tests.

The two old battlewagons will be towed 50 miles south of Honolulu to play their final role with the navy they have served through two wars. They will be used to test weapons of the fleet in tactical maneuvers.

MEAT: Too Popular

With the exception of vegetarians and some carrot juice addicts, nearly everyone likes meat. And in the U. S. everyone eats a lot of it.

That is why all the Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sprats in America are deeply incensed whenever the meat supply falls off from the normally prodigious amounts available to the consumer.

A condition of that general description currently prevails in the U. S. and, according to R. J. Eggert of the American Meat institute, it will take at least a year following good crops in 1948 to bring about any substantial increase in the amounts of beefsteaks, pork chops and bacon on the table.

Biggest trouble, Eggert said, is that the ratio of the eaters to the edibles has grown too top heavy since the war.

Wartime drain of flocks and herds and last year's short corn crop are responsible for the currently declining animal population.

But there is no comparable decline in demand in sight. The meat industry forecasts a continuing steady demand for meat because: Incomes are near an all-time high; the real income (actual purchasing power) of the average consumer is one-fourth greater than in 1939; population has increased 15 million in the past decade; people are convinced of the nutritive value of meat.

SHIPMENTS: Restricted

Widespread agitation by politicians, newspapers and just plain people over shipment of crucial U. S. goods to Russia had paid off in what economists might term an unfavorable balance of trade with the Soviets.

During April, when the clamp-down on exports to Russia first took full effect, the United States received $12,594,841 more goods from the Soviet Union than it shipped.

Whether that imbalance will turn out to be strategically unfavorable to the U. S. if the controversy with Russia continues to expand is a question that the next few years probably will answer.

In its simplest form the situation is a paradox. It is an axiom in international relations that unrestricted trade among nations is one of the best guarantors of peace. Yet the restrictions on export trade to Russia last April were imposed to prevent shipment of potential war goods to the Soviets.

Significant is the fact that U. S. imports from Russia were higher in April than in any other month this year except March, indicating that there has been no immediate effort by Moscow to retaliate for the tightened U. S. controls.

One oddity, perhaps also significant, was Russia's shipment of $1,312,382 worth of manganese and chrome, both basic items in the manufacture of war materials.

Job Done

Sen. Arthur Capper (Rep., Kas.) is 33 years old and has represented Kansas in the senate for 30 years. Now he has announced that he will not run for re-election. He thinks it is time for him to step aside in favor of a younger man.

MAGINOT: Try Again?

France's Maginot line, that supposedly impenetrable, concrete-and-steel system of static defense that failed to stop the Nazis in 1940, is being touted now as a shield against possible Russian attacks.

Some French army engineers even go so far as to say that the United States would be wise to finance the reconditioning of the Maginot line as insurance against the Red army.

And at least one of France's top military leaders, Gen. Jean de Latre de Tassigny, is reported to believe that the line should be investigated with the idea that its immense underground forts might be transformed into atomic bomb shelters.

When the fortresses came into Allied hands near the close of the war it was discovered that the Nazis had removed much less of the armament and equipment than had been believed. Most of the guns, minus only the breech blocks, had been left in place.

Simple fact, however—and it is accepted by most U. S. military men—is that the Maginot line is badly outmoded by present swift and mobile methods of warfare, and further, that it was outmoded even before the start of World War II.

One Diplomat Knew Better: Scratch One Tyro Diplomat

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON.—Bask in the partially-deserted capital after one and before another political convention in these days when Washington's tiger heat drives those who are not too driven otherwise out to the mountains and beaches, I took a short ride with a friendly official who, like most of the press and radio, has to stick out a good share of the summer in the city.

We passed some of the last few fine old residences and a number of embassies and legations. Shutters were drawn, orange-red paint was smeared in a pattern I never have been able to understand on ironwork of high picket-fences and window bars. Some windows were boarded up.

"If it hadn't been for you," I remarked to my companion sitting beside me in what he alludes to as 'the taxpayer's limousine,' "I might not have been in Washington this summer. I might have been loafing at a mountain-lakeside or elsewhere . . ."

"How so?" he inquired. "Don't you recall," I asked, "that you were a newspaperman yourself once and, corollarily speaking, met a lot of interesting people? I was one of them. That meeting killed what I thought then was to be a brilliant diplomatic career."

The story begins right across the street from the office I now occupy on Eighteenth street, in a fine old brick house which I saw first in the year 1914. The carriage drive in front of it is blocked now by the curbing, probably because the traffic officials thought no automobile could safely make the turn which a "spanking pair" negotiated so easily three decades ago.

A sign on the lamp-post in front of the house says "no parking at any time." A brass plate over one of the windows, still barred with the gracefully-curving ironwork of another century says: "Columbus University." The plate it replaced used to say "Former Home of Secretary of State Lansing."

In 1914 it was some two hours after leaving that red brick house that I began "putting off"—(putting things off is a great art and one that has reached a high point of refinement in Washington. I always have practiced it.) If I hadn't put off then, I might have become a diplomat. As it was, all I got was deadlines the rest of my life.

It happened this way. I had just returned from an extended period in Europe where I had been going through the motions of acquiring an education. In the process I acquired the ambition to become a member of the foreign service of the state department. I planned to rise, by easy stages, on pure merit, of course, to the position of ambassador to the Court of St. James. Beyond that, as a cabinet officer says following a change in administration, I had no plans.

I did have four out of five necessary qualifications which I knew from experience on the Quai d'Orsay and elsewhere assured a successful diplomatic career. The four which I possessed were a top-hat, a tailcoat, striped pants and a pair of spats.

The fifth I was confident I could soon acquire easily since I had an excellent letter to the father-in-law of the secretary of state, who had been a secretary of state himself and an important pillar of Washington society. I was sure that under such auspices I could acquire that sine qua non—a wife rich enough to keep a diplomat in the style to which he is supposed to be accustomed.

I recall that afternoon very well. I rang the bell to that door—well it was a different door of course—there are four there now with brass handles worn shiny by ambitious Columbians—but at least the door which that afternoon was to be my portal to a brilliant career was right there in the same frame.

It opened, I handed the silk hat and ebony stick to the servant and in a few moments I was being warmly greeted by a gentleman wearing what Sam Blythe once called the most diplomatic whiskers in Washington, John Watson Foster.

I saw that my striped pants and tailcoat which had just enough of a continental cut to make a proper impression, as well as the bow-from-the-waist I had learned in Berlin, were doing their work and I made mental note of the less unattractive unattached females. So after tossing off a bon mot or two, I left, feeling that my career was virtually launched.

It was still fairly early, so I decided to drop in at the National Press club to which my old school-mate, David Lawrence, had given me a guest card. As the weather was fine, I decided I might as well walk and give Connecticut avenue a chance to admire my distinguished stripes and tails, although tailcoats and top-hats, per se, caused very little consternation in those days.

As I walked, I idly speculated on what course I would take if knee-breeches were insisted upon when I was presented at court. Meanwhile,

I observed the strolling young ladies who, though probably unable to support an ambassador, were nevertheless quite as attractive as any of the better-qualified ones at the reception.

I had just about decided not to make an issue of the knee-breeches thing—after all I had been on the stage for a short period in my career and a couple of pairs of long stockings underneath would do for my calves what nature hadn't—when I found myself at the club.

A tall, black-haired gentleman arose and gave me a dignified greeting. I had thought it best while I was considering my diplomatic career to accept a temporary position with the Associated Press—a position I received after some rather tall talk on the part of David Lawrence and a kindly letter from Superintendent Roberts of the Paris bureau for whom I had worked. The gentleman who greeted me at the club was one of the staff which I was to join, assigned to the state department. And he was the man I alluded to—the friendly official—in the early paragraphs of this column.

Right there, or shall we say in the course of an hour or two, there developed the beginning of a beautiful friendship and the beginning of the end of any illusions concerning a diplomatic career. I applied for membership in the club, never went to another "at home" in the fine old brick house on Eighteenth street.

From that time on it has been deadlines instead of receiving lines. Although I didn't realize it at the time I really wasn't properly equipped for a diplomatic career—my spats were black.

The diplomatic world has not been altogether neglected in the course of meeting deadlines, but when I entered that allegedly romantic demesne as I still do in the course of my job, it is by way of the back door, an entrance which, I have discovered, often provides a much more revealing view of the surroundings. Perhaps it isn't polite to refer to the chancery entrance that way, but it is certainly not the front door.

As it turned out, not many weeks after I had given up my dreams of becoming a Machiavelli or a Metetrnich, I found myself a caller at six or eight embassies a day—I was put on the diplomatic run because a war had broken out and it was quite as important for belligerents and nervous neutrals to provide news from their points of view as it was for us to collect it.

The butlers in most of the embassies before World War I would as soon admit a reporter as they would a rug-peddler or a scissors-grinder. It required considerable working over to bring them into line.

And what a change today! The amount of time, money and energy expended by foreign nations in getting information to the American radio, press and public is one of the major items on their Washington budgets!

Another Jawbone For Samson

An old-fashioned dentist thinks the Russians have Hitler's jaw. The dentist, Dr. Plaschke, says he read in a German dentistry magazine that his former assistant, now in Russian custody, had identified a jaw which the Russians were toying with as Hitler's.

Dr. Plaschke claims the assistant couldn't positively identify it, but he himself feels it must be Hitler's because the magazine ridicules the work as old-fashioned.

Plaschke says he did an old-fashioned job on Hitler when he made a bridge of 12 teeth in 1934. Plaschke also claims to have studied dentistry at the University of Philadelphia in 1908. Their methods have probably advanced since then, but Hitler was old-fashioned about some things.

All we can do is hope the bridge pained him. And remember that that jawbone, if it's authentic, slew more men than the one from a similar source that Samson used when he went after the Philistines.

The Palestine problem has so many ramifications of interests and counter-interests that, like an iceberg, only a fraction of its bulk is visible in the open discussion and debate.

Harsh Laxatives are NOT necessary for most people

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination.

No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C, supply valuable amounts of B₁ and P. They alkalize, aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days.

CHANGE OF LIFE?
Are you going through the functional 'middle age' period peculiar to women (38 to 52 yrs.)? Does this make you suffer from hot flashes, feel so nervous, listless, tired? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Compound also has what Doctors call a stomachic tonic effect!

Watch Your Kidneys!
Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and energy.
There should be no doubt that prompts treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nationwide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

HONORARY AWARDS FOR 1948

BATHERTOP, HORACE J.—Few men are more deserving of this signal recognition. Through the past year you at no time cut a box-top, worked on a prize slogan or dropped everything to try for a jackpot. Take a degree of Doctor of Extraordinary Willpower and help yourself to a glass of beer.

MOOSEJAW, BASIS, R.—It is a pleasure to see you in today's line of honorary degree takers. So far as we know, you are that outstanding example of manhood, an American who, having his old car to dispose of, let his neighbor have it at a low price instead of conniving with slick operators to get twice what it was worth. Take any degree that fits, and won't you stay for lunch with the faculty?

CARP, OSCAR W.—On numerous occasions you were observed standing in the doorway of a bus in the rush hour. Asked to step forward, you did so. A degree is not enough, Oscar. Name your wish and you shall have it.

WIGGLESWORTH, PRENTICE K.—The university crowns you a man among men and a citizen extraordinary. Although in a position by a little skullduggery and a mild twisting of conscience to get money from the government, you bothered to realize that Uncle Sam is being gypped right and left, that he is in a hole up to his neck and that he is too good a guy to swindle. You also openly expressed concern about the government's financial future, even dropping the funnies to analyze the situation. You get not only an honorary degree but strawberry ice cream with cherries.

CRUMMETT, THADDEUS R.—You are an American workman and union member. We have the positive proof that, instead of blindly following a wild-eyed leader when you were convinced he was wrong, you voted the other way at the special meeting. You were heard to make the statement on your feet and in a loud voice, "I could be right, too." Take a box of cigars as you go out and help yourself to the chicken sandwiches—all white meat.

TUPPER, HALLOWAY G.—We want you to take a degree printed on special gloss paper and also $1,000 in cash. Called before a committee of the United States congress in a time of national crisis to answer the simple question, "Are you a member of the Communist party?" you did so. You did not demand to read a long statement. Furthermore, you showed up without your lawyer. Get up there nearer the head of the line where you belong!

COOKSEY, HERALD K. H.—What are you doing away down here? We meant to honor you first. You shot a composer of radio jingles on sight. See us in the dean's office later. We're throwing a special party.

ENTERTAINMENT WITH STRINGS ATTACHED . . . For reasons of morale and entertainment, American soldiers in Japan are taking up archery. Some of them already are twanging six-foot bows like experts under the guidance of one of the world's leading archers, Toshisuke Nasu, whose school in Tokyo the army has taken over. To lend the authentic sporting touch the GI's line up for a picture clad in what the well-dressed Japanese archer is supposed to wear, and any resemblance to Robin Hood is strictly from hunger. The gent with his back turned is Nasu, the instructor.

THEIR FIRST FULL MEAL IN FIVE WEEKS . . . The philosophy of most soldiers is not to volunteer for anything and eat all you can. These men, however, broke both those cardinal rules when they volunteered to take part in a five week "survival ration" test conducted under life-ratiff ration conditions which allowed them only 900 calories a day. Here they are shown, gaunt and hungry looking, as they sat down to their first full meal at the conclusion of the experiment. One man's weight dropped from 183 to 154 pounds, another skidded from 158 to 133 and a third went from 140 to 113 pounds.

LOADING A FLYING ARK . . . Destined for farms in Italy, these cattle are being driven aboard a Seaboard and Western airlines DC-4 at La Guardia field, N. Y. They were flown to Italy to help replenish that country's livestock, dangerously depleted during the war. In this shipment were seven bulls, two heifers, 50 pigs, 16 white leghorn chickens and five dogs. The shipment, one of many such, was valued at $33,000.

WORKING FATHER . . . Mrs. Doris Bigger was first to congratulate her hubby, George, after he was named "Worker Father of the Year" by the Ford Motor company. George works in Ford plant at Edgewater, N. J., lives in Gloucester, N. J.

SHOPPING . . . She used to be Henrietta Boggs of Birmingham, Ala., but now she's Mrs. Jose Figueres, wife of the president of Costa Rica. In the U. S. on a shopping spree to outfit the presidential mansion in San Jose, Mrs. Figueres sighed: "Seven years ago when I went to visit my aunt and uncle in Costa Rica I didn't guess I'd one day be the wife of the president."

RAILROADER . . . William T. Farley, president of the Association of American Railroads, emphatically denied an assertion by Robert Young, chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad and stormy petrel of the industry, that those who run the railroads are withholding steel from their own roads because of their interests in other industries.

DIET . . . Doctors have combed their beards and brains over the strange case of this healthy looking girl, 19-year-old Yang Mei. She claims she hasn't eaten in nine years. Yang Mei was placed under medical observation in Chungking for 19 days and she still didn't eat.

HAIRCUT . . . Frank Gaix, who is taking lessons in the art of cutting hair at the Salvation Army family service bureau in the Bronx, N. Y., did his homework on his daughter Margaret, 8. But to her it's sheer torture.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS . . . by Lynn Chambers

Have a Porch Meal; Family Loves Them In Summer Weather

IT'S A TREAT to eat outdoors! Mom gets out of a hot kitchen, and the whole family can enjoy a meal even at the end of the day if they eat it in a cool breeze out on the porch, under the old tree or in the garden.

This is real outdoor eating and it can be almost picnic style. Plan it to be casual and everyone will have fun. Carry out all food, plates and utensils on a tray and save trips to the kitchen and then back again.

A bowl of flowers from the garden will make the occasion seem festive indeed.

Almost any kind of a meal will be easy to serve as long as you can fit it on a tray so everyone can help himself. Even a roast will work out well served in this way. Place your creamed, au gratin or browned potatoes in the center of a large platter.

IF THE DAY is a sweltering one and calls for a cool supper, why not try a really cool supper? A loaf of tomato aspic served with marinated shrimps makes a good main dish. Add cucumbers to this for eating and for garnish. Ice cream or lemon sherbet served with crisp delicious cookies will complete the meal.

If you're having cold meat and want to serve a hot dish, too, try macaroni and cheese; that time-honored potato casserole, au gratin style, or creamed potatoes, topped with cheese.

- Tomato Aspic with Shrimp (Serves 8)
- 2 tablespoons plain gelatin
 - 1/2 cup cold water
 - 1 1/2 cups hot water
 - 2 3-ounce cans all-tomato sauce
 - 2 teaspoons chopped chives or 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 - 1 (5-ounce) can shrimp, drained

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water and stir until dissolved. Add all-tomato sauce. Chill until the mixture is of the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Stir in chives or onion juice. Turn into a loaf pan and chill until firm. Unmold on greens and garnish with shrimp that have been marinated in French dressing.

IF THE WEATHER is on the warm side and you don't want to spend much time cooking, select a simpler meal. For example, have sliced tongue or other cold meat served with macaroni and cheese and complete the meal with sliced garden tomatoes and cucumbers and butterscotch chiffon pie made in the morning.

- Macaroni and Cheese (Serves 4)
- 1/4 pound macaroni
 - 3 tablespoons butter
 - 1/4 cup flour
 - 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 cups milk
 - 1 tablespoon onion, minced
 - 1 cup grated American cheese

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain. Make sauce by melting butter, adding flour which is blended with mustard and salt. Add milk and onion and cook until thickened. Add grated cheese and stir until melted. Combine sauce and macaroni and place in a greased casserole. Bake in a moderately hot (400 degree) oven until browned.

- Butterscotch Chiffon Pie
- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell
 - 1 tablespoon plain gelatin
 - 1/4 cup cold water
 - 3 eggs, separated
 - 1 cup brown sugar
 - 1 cup scalded milk
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup granulated sugar

LYNN SAYS: Use These Tips For Porch Suppers

Appetites are bound to be big when you're planning to eat out-of-doors. Plan generous servings of all your foods.

Toss many of your garden greens together if you want a lovely wooden bowl salad. Into this can go lettuce, cucumbers, spinach, cauliflower, radishes, green onions, celery and shredded carrots. Use a tangy French dressing.

Let gelatin stand in cold water five minutes. Beat egg yolks until thick, beat in brown sugar gradually, then add milk. Add butter and salt and cook in top of double boiler until mixture coats the spoon. Stir in gelatin. Cool. Beat egg whites stiff, add granulated sugar and fold into first mixture. Pour into baked pie shell and let chill until firm. Serve with whipped cream, if desired.

- Special Hamburger Patties (Serves 6-8)
- 1/2 cup milk
 - 1 cup soft bread crumbs
 - 1/2 cup grated onion
 - 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 2 pounds hamburger
 - 4 tablespoons flour
 - 6 slices bacon

Add seasonings, bread crumbs and milk to meat. Mix well and shape into patties, three-fourths inch thick. Dredge with flour. Wrap a slice of bacon around each patty and fasten with a toothpick. Broil patties until they are thoroughly cooked and nicely browned.

Cook one-half pound of broad noodles until tender; then season with butter, salt and pepper. While noodles cook, slice three large onions and fry them in drippings.

To serve, place noodles on a hot platter, top with hamburger patties and smother with the onions.

A DELICIOUS DESSERT that goes well with this is a pear pie. Bake it in a glass dish and bring it out to the porch to serve.

- *French Pear Pie (Makes 10-inch pie)
- Pastry:
- 1 1/4 cups flour
 - 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 6 tablespoons shortening
 - 3 to 4 tablespoons ice water

- Filling:
- 6 cups sliced pears
 - 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1/3 cup corn syrup
 - 1/3 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon ginger
 - 2 tablespoons flour

- Topping:
- 1/3 cup shortening
 - 1/2 cup brown sugar
 - 1 cup flour

To make pastry, sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives until it is the size of peas. Add water in small quantities, mixed with a fork until it just holds together. Pat into ball and chill. Roll dough out and line a glass pie plate, pressing dough into fluting.

To make filling, peel, core and slice pears; mix with lemon juice, corn syrup, sugar and flour. Place in unbaked pie shell.

To make topping, cream shortening and brown sugar. Mix in flour and top near mixture with this.

Bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven for about 45 minutes until pears are done.

Creamed potatoes will be more interesting if they have some chopped dried beef added to them. If you're not too hungry, this will take the place of meat.

A quick and easy way to prepare a ham slice is to bake in a sauce made of one cup of water, one-half cup brown sugar and a few slices of orange, stuck with cloves.

Those Welled Shoes

Welled shoes, which account for about one-third of all shoe production, derive their strength and sturdy appearance from the fact that cattlehide leather is used for insole, welt and outsole. Toplifts for women's shoes are made of the same type of leather as the soles of loggers' boots, consisting of tanned cattlehide specially treated to insure maximum durability.

How to Shoot Stars

When an astronomer is "shooting stars" with his telescope, he must "lead" his target just as an aerial gunner must "lead" a moving airplane. The astronomer must calculate the movement of the earth and slant the telescope slightly so that it can receive the light ray from the star.

Medicine from Lettuce

The milky juice of lettuce is used as an anodyne, sedative or narcotic by the medical profession.

Rye Shifts Westward

Greatest production of rye is in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Largest increases in rye acreage have been in the Dakotas, Nebraska and Oklahoma, with the greatest decreases in Michigan, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania. Thus, rye production appears to be shifting westward.

Love Still Conquers

Love triumphs despite war, famine, housing difficulties and economic hardship, according to Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The birth rate in Germany's British zone doubled in the first six months last year. Birth figures also went up in France, Italy, Japan and the British commonwealth.

Heat Units Used

Out of approximately 600,000 warm air furnaces sold last year, 61 per cent were coal-fired, 30 per cent, gas-fired, and nine per cent, oil-fired.

Order of Publication
Lucy M. Baxter, Plaintiff, vs.
Willie Stoutenburg, Albert Stout-enburg, Arthur Stone Goutz, Bertha Crosby, Josephine Goutz, Maggie Lawrence and Albert J. Parkhurst, their unknown heirs, lega-tees, devisees and assigns, Defendants.

At a session of said court held at the court house in the city of Tawas City, in said county on the 8th day of June, A. D. 1948.

Present: Honorable Herman
Dehnke, Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the bill of complaint in said cause and the affidavit of H. Read Smith attached thereto, from which it satisfactorily appears to the court that the defendants above named, or their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, are proper and necessary parties defendant in the above entitled cause and;

It further appearing that after diligent search and inquiry it can not be ascertained, and it is not known whether or not said defendants are living or dead, or where any of them may reside, if living, and, if dead, whether they have personal representatives or heirs living or where they or some of them may reside, and further that the present whereabouts of said defendants are unknown, and that the names of the persons who are included therein, without being named, but who are embraced therein under the title of unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, can not be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry.

On motion of H. Read Smith, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that said defendants and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cause their appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order, and in default thereof that said bill of complaint be taken as confessed by the said defendants, their unknown heirs, legatees, and assigns.

It is further ordered that within twenty days plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed and published and circulated in said county, such publication to be continued therein once in each week for six weeks in succession.

Herman Dehnke,
Circuit Judge

Countersigned:
Dorothy Buch,
Deputy Clerk of
Circuit Court.

Take notice, that this suit, in which the foregoing order was duly made, involves and is brought to

SHEER TRAVEL MAGIC

THIS is the Buick America's car buyers are buzzing about. This is the one with travel magic flowing all through it.

This is the ROADMASTER with Dynaflo Drive*—where Main Street's dense traffic, the inviting open road and the long, stretching hills are bossed with equal ease by a toe-touch.

Here you let your left foot idle comfortably wherever you wish—there's no clutch pedal to push, ever.

Here your mind's free completely of remembering when to shift—no gears ever shift anywhere in the car.

Here, you glide over ground and grades in swift and utter smoothness as constant and unbroken as Niagara's flow.

Here you sit in blissful ease while the power plant itself meets and masters the thousand and one situations that come up in travel.

Gentle grades, steep hills, long straightaways, stop streets—once your lever's set, you simply step on the gas—and take them all in liquid-smooth luxury!

Does all this sound fabulous? It is.

So fabulous that folks are signing up in droves for the '48 fashion plate with this new-wonder drive.

So to take command of this traveler-touched-with-magic, come see us quickly and get your order in.

We'll take it in sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.

What's Different About DYNAFLOW DRIVE*?

To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-boosting (in action) in starting and accelerating. The result action in starting and accelerating. The result car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.

CARNIVAL NIGHT

By MARY KEMPE CHEATHAM

ALL along Elm street to the old park grounds, the carnival was drawing people like a magnet. From where Ellie sat, on the top step in front of Mrs. Blodgett's boarding house, she could see them hurrying along in groups and couples, laughing and chatting, their merriment floating back to her on the early summer air. Cars whizzed by, carrying others, till it seemed the entire population of the little town was rushing in one direction. All that is, except Ellie—and possibly Mrs. Blodgett, who, now that the supper work was over, sat contentedly in the kitchen, resting her feet.

There was nothing in the world like carnival music, reflected Ellie, leaning her head wistfully against the porch rail. The nostalgic ripple of tunes, half sad, came to her on sudden bursts of breeze, cutting into her heart with the sharpness of pain. She closed her eyes to shut out the sight of the couples—always the couples, passing through the early dusk, smiling into each other's eyes, murmuring words of which only the tone need be heard.

Carnivals are for couples, she thought. No, for children, too; for families, even for old people, visiting their neighbors and winning lamps and blankets. But not for someone alone. Never for someone alone. You could walk through the crowded grounds under the blaze of lights, caught in the glare of melody, and become the loneliest person in all the world. She had been doing fine till the carnival came to Greyville. Why, she thought, oh, why, did the carnival have to come?

She opened her eyes, at a soft touch on her knee, and saw Patty Brown, a little neighbor girl, sitting on the step below her.

"Gee," sighed Patty, on a long, mournful breath. "Isn't it LONESOME?"

Ellie smiled. "For you, too?" she asked.

Patty nodded, hard, "Yes," she said soberly. "Everybody's gone to the carnival but us. I guess you and me, and Miz Blodgett and my Grandma, we're about the only ones in town that didn't go. Miz Blodgett, she never goes anywhere, anyway, and neither does Grandma since my Grandma died. My Grandma was swell! He always took me to carnivals." She shook her head in rapturous recollection.

"You live with your grandmother?" Ellie asked. She felt suddenly ashamed of how little she knew the neighbors. She had been boarding at Mrs. Blodgett's several months, since first she came to Greyville to work in its dress factory and to work even harder at the serious business of forgetting Bruce.

"Ever since I remember," answered Patty. "My Grandma loved carnivals like I do. Grandma was always scoldin' him about it, but he'd take me every night and we'd go on the rides and buy cotton candy. My," she breathed, "I sure miss Grandma."

Ellie studied the serious small face, framed by the smooth brown pigtail. Here too was someone adjusting to a loss, and she had not even taken the trouble to find it out. She had seen Patty often enough, running errands for Mrs. Blodgett and playing hopscotch or jacks on the wide front sidewalk, but she had been too absorbed in her own affairs to ask about the child. How selfish people are, thought Ellie.

"Patty," she asked humbly,

"would you like to go to the carnival with me?"

"Yipes!" uttered the little girl, almost toppling off the step backward, "Would I!"

"Be careful!" cried Ellie, thrusting an arm about the little shoulders. She laughed in spite of herself to see the change in the young face. There was nothing serious about it now. It was afire with the dazzle of carnival lights themselves.

"I'll go ask Grandma," shouted Patty, bounding across the lawn. "I'll be right back."

"Bring a wrap," called Ellie after the swinging pigtails. "It may be cool on the rides." She went inside for her own light coat and to go over her makeup at the dresser. Her face in the mirror was smooth and quiet, showing only in pallor the turmoil of the empty months. It was still quite a good face, the eyes a wide, deep blue, the hair a dusky cloud, brushed back from a widow's peak at the forehead. With lipstick and rouge and a deliberate turning up of the lips at the corners, it was even an animated face. By concentrating on Patty, Ellie found she could keep the lips curved upward. She would forget all other carnivals.

"Oh, my goodness," complimented Patty. "You look beautiful!"

Ellie laughed. She tucked the child's hand under her arm and they started for the park grounds. The groups were dwindling now. As Patty had said, most everybody was already there.

"It's funny you haven't got a boy friend," Patty mused. "Pretty as you are."

"I used to have one," Ellie obliged, out of a long silence. "His name was Bruce."

Patty considered gravely, but asked no more questions.

"Oh look!" thrilled Patty. "There it is. Please, please, let's go on everything!"

"Most everything," Ellie amended, "not the really rough rides. But the others."

She held tight the warm, squirming hand in her own, to fortify herself for the first glimpse of the sprawling tents. "You have to get over this, Ellie, my girl," she told herself, gulping down the lump in her throat. "Tonight's as good a time as any."

It was like all carnivals before, without the magic. No, she decided, looking at Patty's happy face, it is I who am without the magic.

The barkers called from their concessions, drawing the crowds with imperative cries. Girls passed, carrying feathered kewpies, spangled whips, bright birds and monkeys on sticks. There was a blend of hotdog and hamburger odors, coffee aroma, the roasting fragrance of peanuts and popcorn. Everywhere were people, eating ice-cream sandwiches, drinking pink lemonade from swanky glasses.

Patty, high on the merry-go-round, clung lovingly to her horse's bride and waved to Ellie every time she passed.

"That was fun," she beamed, finished at last, running to Ellie for new adventure. They joined hands and started over the grounds.

"Who's your girl friend, Sis?" asked a man's voice.

Instantly guarded and alert, Ellie turned to look. She gazed warily, straight into two gray eyes. So gray, she thought. I'll always be a push-over for gray eyes. He was not a dressed up young man, but he looked nice with his soft shirt open at the neck, showing his tanned MAKING his first technicolor in "Rope," James Stewart plays a role unlike the shy, bashful young men audiences have come to expect from him. Pedro Armendariz, said to be Latin America's foremost actor, has been signed by Walter Wanger for one of the male starring roles in "Tulsa," at Eagle Lion. Susan Hayward and Robert Preston will co-star. Armendariz, who has just completed three pictures for John Ford, won the Mexican Academy Award for his role opposite Dolores Del Rio in "The Pearl."

Young mothers who want to earn money might take a tip from Mary Lansing, heard regularly as "Julie Collins" on CBS' "The Guiding Light." Mary is a specialist on baby wails—learned by listening to her own children.

An impressive car is usually a young actress' first purchase when she signs a good contract in Hollywood, but Teresa Wright is different. In 1941 Samuel Goldwyn took her west for "The Little Foxes." She bought an inexpensive coupe. Since then she has risen to stardom, won an Academy Award and established herself as one of the screen's better actresses, now starring in "Enchanted." So she has bought a two-door car and given the seven-year-old one to her father.

David Niven says that used tea leaves, placed around the bushes, make roses "prettier than anything." He may be right, but most of us get better results with good fertilizer! Niven's departure from Hollywood is scheduled for July; he goes to England to make "The Scarlet Pimpernel." He is co-starring currently in "A Kiss in the Dark" with Jane Wyman.

Frank Buck's "Bring 'em Back Alive" is being re-released by RKO, 16 years after its original presentation. The locales of the safari organized to capture jungle beasts and record battles between them were Malaya and Sumatra.

Arthur Godfrey has given private flying such a boost on his radio shows that a member of a flying club to which he belongs gave him a special award—a check for $5, which enables Godfrey to pay his enrollment fees until 1950. Godfrey appreciated the idea behind the act—but he makes $200,000 every year, so hardly needed the money!

Vic Damone, in search of peace and quiet, he claims, bought a house in Brooklyn. But he invited 200 fans to a housewarming, they gave other fans the address and now the Damone home is as peaceful as Grand Central station.

A PRAYER FOR INNER STRENGTH

I KNOW somehow that time will heal this sorrow. This bitter grief, and that the years will bring forgetfulness and peace, that some tomorrow will hold no memory of my suffering. And I believe that there will be a blurring of the jagged edges of the wounds I bear, and in my heart again will be the stirring of laughter that has long been absent there.

I know all this, yet still cannot remember... I cannot see beyond this wall of tears... Yet as the falling ashes cool an ember, so will my heart find comfort through the years. I know—but God, dear God, my need is great! Give me the inner strength this day to wait.

FEDERAL AID HAS A PRICE

AN OLD ADAGE tells us we should not look a gift horse in the mouth. We apply that adage too literally when it comes to a so-called gift from the federal government.

As individuals we accept with that so-called "gift" regulations that deprive us of the privileges of free citizenship which have been our heritage.

The school teacher looks longingly to Washington for a salary increase and Washington is holding out an inducement for acceptance.

What has happened to the individual also has happened to the state and local government units. As an illustration: The state of California needed irrigation water for her inland valleys.

Who pays for these lavish "gifts" made by the federal government? The money that is supplied so generously comes from the pockets of American citizens.

Too much government leads to regimentation and a bureaucracy to operate that too much government. From a bureaucracy can come a totalitarian dictatorship.

Ford's Minimum Wage

Many of us can recall the wall that went up from industry, and especially the automotive industry, about a quarter of a century ago.

To wage earners it seemed like the arrival of the millennium; to industrial management it seemed like the forerunner of dire catastrophe.

For last year, 1947, General Motors paid to its 375,689 hourly rate plant employees an average of $57.86 for each six days totaling an average of 33.5 hours.

Improved technology, plus a 20 per cent increase in the price the public paid for cars, made such wages possible. It was not paid out of profits.

Some doctors are providing the arguments for socialized medicine.

The hardest job of the tax lawyer and the tax spender is to fool the taxpayer. Taxpayers are not smart enough to stick together.

Historians may, probably will, dig out an unbiased account of the place Harry Hopkins filled in the activities of the Roosevelt administration.

tee also gave a report on the financing of this project and your Chamber approved the building plans and also the financial arrangements whereby 14 of your members and directors agreed to sign the note to finance this building immediately. This loan is made through the cooperation of the Peoples State Bank and will be depreciated on a six-year plan. The building will be of log construction with an over-all size of 16x36 with one large picture window facing the bay, two pictures facing the highway, one on each side of the entrance which will be on the highway. Any member of your Chamber of Commerce or any person in the community that wishes to may look at the plans by contacting the Building Chairman, Harry Westrich. The purchase of materials and the construction of this building will be made locally at a wholesale purchase price. It is this kind of cooperation from the businessmen in our community that builds your Chamber of Commerce. Any comment or constructive criticism towards the erection of this building will be welcomed by the Building Committee. Your Board of Directors, the members and the Building Committee felt that rather than wait until there were sufficient funds to build this type of building it would be better to borrow the money and construct the building immediately. Your cooperation in aiding the progress of the construction of your Chamber of Commerce office will be greatly appreciated by your directors and the Building Committee.
