RAILROADS:

No Strike

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough was not a man to stand idly by and watch society disintegrate, as he termed it, so he issued an injunction forbidding a national rail strike.

The injunction was a permanent one replacing the temporary "no strike" order he issued last May after the government had seized the railroads in the face of an impending strike by the three operating brotherhoods.

Justifying his action, Goldsborough said that if he had not issued the order "the whole economic and political system of the nation would be upset."

Although rail unions had protested that a permanent injunction was un-necessary, Goldsborough said they could not be permitted "to adopt a certain amount of reluctance on a process which will disintegrate so-ciety itself." That held true, he pointed out, regardless of whatever merits the union's case might hold.

"Our political influence throughout the world would be done away with, we'd become a laughing stock. To permit a strike of this kind is something society should not be forced to tolerate."

But as the stalemate dragged on the disputants apparently lost some of their zest for the contest. Finally a series of conferences, arranged by John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, resulted in a more or less amicable settlement: The unions agreed to accept a wage increase of 151/2 cents an hour, plus some changes in operating rules.

Chortled President Truman as he called the labor and management representatives into his office: "You did this on your own hook and I feel very good about. it. I congratulate years.

That prognostication was made in a "law of growth of nations," published by the Foundation for the Study of Cycles. This law indicates further that after the period of dictators will come a static or "frozen" civilization.

This "frozen" civilization probably will be a happy one, but it is, nevertheless, doomed to deteriorate. The end is foreseen when younger peoples, eager for the loot of the world, rise to give the coup de grace to the emasculated western powers.

Who these younger peoples are is not revealed. They may be a fresh group of barbarians or nearbarbarians who will come sweeping down from the north or up from the south.

On the contrary, there has been an almost steady anti-military prop-aganda from all sorts of sources, all the way from the paid agents of the Kremlin to the innocent idealists or the doting mothers who think that if fighting must be indulged in, it certainly should be done by some other mother's boy. The polls show these propagandists are in the minority, but they are a loud minority.

Personally, if I were advising a teen-ager I never would recommend close order drill or tossing together a batch of fir-ing data which would produce almost as many shorts as overs, as the one most terrifically scrumptious method of whiling away a couple of years.

On the other hand, I have had more adulterated pleasure in doing quite a number of things in which were not included learning the multiplication table, cutting the lawn, making a trial balance, working a paper route, translating the chapter which begins "Caesar trans Rhenum pons fecit," or even carving the Thanksgiving turkey the first time "her" relatives came for dinner.

As I say, I can imagine several things many people would rather do than these mentioned, including military service, but having done them, most people are better for it. I admit that for one of a delicate nervous disposition, unable to adjust his personality to groups, carving a turkey for the first time before in-laws might be the worst thing imaginable. It might be the one particular thing that the particular trauma affecting that particular individual couldn't stand. Extreme psychosis might result-

Build It From A Pattern

By: Donald R. Brann There's nothing like having an old fashioned picnic in your own backyard. Especially so when you have this sturdy table all set up ready to seat the entire family. Its construction permits leaving it out the year round.

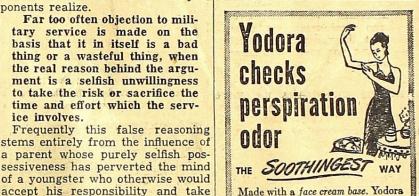

Building the table or other pieces of lawn furniture provides an economical solution to your household equipment problems. In many cases two articles can be made for less than one costs ready made. Besides saving money, woodworking pro-vides hours of complete relaxation. Once you've experienced the deep down satisfaction of seeing lumber turn into a useful picnic table or Insofar as this reporter is concerned, our opinion is that the farm cooperatives are whistling in the dark if they are satisfied with the farm cooperative plank. As a matter of fact, the farm cooperative plank in this 1948 platform is IDEN-TICAL with the 1944 GOP convention platform which read "support of the principles of bona-fide farmer-owned and farmer-operated co-operatives." And further, the 1944 plank on small business provided 'it must be aided by changes in taxation . . . and enforcement of laws against monopoly and unfair competition," side of the iron curtain, German political leaders were expressing their opposition to the western powers' plans for a West German federal government.

In Berlin, power cuts were ordered in the three western sectors of the city to save the dwindling coal stocks. The action was taken despite the fact that coal shipments had begun to arrive by air.

Key to the situation, perhaps, was the Communist proposal for a new constitution. The Soviet-sponsored German People's Congress of eastern Germany announced that the document would be official. In a statement the group said that 'Germany is an indivisible republic made up of states and that executive power stems from the people." FARM BILL:

To the accompaniment of his now customary blast at the 80th congress President Truman signed into law a farm bill that extends present price support policies for 15 against monopoly or "unfair competition" for small business.

If the co-ops will remember, Rep. Walter Ploeser (Rep., Mo.) conducted hearings all over the country with the express purpose of ending the tax exemption of co-ops declaring they were socialistic or communistic.

And it was only the herculean efforts of some of the friends of agriculture in congress that headed off a new tax bill when Rep. Harold Knutson (Rep., Minn.), chairman of the house ways and means committee, started to hold hearings for this purpose, namely ending of co-op tax exemption.

The one thing upon which coop leaders are pinning their hopes is that both Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, GOP presidential nominee, and Gov. Earl Warren of California, vice presidential nominee, are on record as favoring retention of the taxexempt feature. So, also, is President Harry Truman.

To use a favorite expression of Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, the long range farm program adopted by the 80th congress is a "delusion and a snare." The senate passed a pretty fair bill. The house balked and passed a stand-by bill which merely extended present price sup-ports to January, 1950. Then the conference committee took the senate bill and the house bill, made present price supports applicable until Dec. 31, 1949, and the senate bill is presumed to go into effect then. What will happen though is that a new bill will be written before that time.

Over 800 Bills

Bills passed by the 80th congress likely will total more than 800 and in addition about 390 private bills were passed. Out of 61 vetoes by President Truman, six were overridden. But on the major issues the 80th congress fell by the wayside on such important bills as agriculture, housing, oleomargarine, na-tional health, federal aid to educational health, federal aid to educa-tion, a national road program, uni-versal military training and many others. others.

months and establishes a long-range. flexible support program to begin January 1, 1950.

Signing the bill, the President said: "I wish to make it plain once again that legislation for price supports is only part of the action this congress should have taken to meet the problems of American agriculture.'

Thus, he was not criticizing the farm price support bill in itself but rather giving another re-run to the familiar theme whereby he has been castigating congress for doing a little when a lot more was

Congress, he said, failed to enact legislation to strengthen the soil conservation program; it did not provide the necessary funds for marketing research; it did not act on the international wheat agreement. It failed, he specified, to "the serious problems of meet rural housing, health and education.'

"In the field of agriculture, as in so many others, most of the business of the 80th congress was left unfinished," Mr. Truman observed. Under the extension bill farm prices generally will be supported at their present levels. However, the support price for cotton will drop from 92½ to 90 per cent of parity.

The idea behind parity farm prices is to insure the farmer the same buying power, compared with the rest of the community, that he had during a favorable crop period. Usually the standard interval upon which parity prices are based are the five years from 1909 to 1914. Five other basic crops will continue to be supported at 90 per cent of parity. They are wheat, corn, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

Spending Money

As the economic cooperation administration closed its Marshall plan books on the first three months of its operation it reported that recovery shipments worth $762,747,140 were approved for Europe and China during that period.

That total is about 58 per cent ance would be used eventually.

ently is determined either to force the western democracies out of Berlin or bludgeon them into an agreement whereby the Soviets would be in virtual control of the city.

REPUBLICAN: Changes, If

Although the presidency of the United States still is far from a reality for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican nominee nevertheless is giving considerable thought to some of the problems that will face him if he does get elected to the office.

If, for instance, he is to make good his promise to sweep out "16 years of Democratic cobwebs" from the federal government, these are some of the tasks he will be expected to perform: Replace hundreds of officials in Washington and all over the nation with men of his choice who will put his policies into effect. Establish with congress a coordinated program of policies for all federal departments, both foreign and domestic. Streamline government functions and eliminate duplications in the present structure of alphabetical agencies and bureaus.

It will be a gigantic task. Policies that a Republican president would have to establish would range through the current conduct of foreign affairs; domestic spending of taxpayers' money; federal relations with private business, labor and industry; housing, veterans, agri-culture and social improvements.

Then there will be the matter of choosing a cabinet that will be geographically representative of the entire nation.

lle. I grant all this freely. There are men so unable to meet the simple challenge of the crowd, for instance, even those only mildly afflicted with agoraphobia, that they never could stand a simple formation like paycall. I have known the type in civilian life so sensitive to the presence of others that although he had been drinking peacefully for hours and accepting the hospitality of say two or three acquaintances, when an additional member appeared (just when it was our subject's turn to buy a round) he would jump through a plate glass window, four stories to the street below.

Someway, he lacked the group instinct. I admit that type probably wouldn't get on in the army-long. However, I claim these are exceptions.

The majority of the problems which the youth of our land is going to have to face soon are not too tough. And they are good exercise -like parading in full kit.

In the Old Army

The army psychologists have been working double time ever since they discovered that it took more than guts and gunpowder to win wars, and that the winning was easier on something besides hardtack and whiskey.

In World War II, besides the best food an army ever ate, better medical attendance than the average civilian can get, and a lot more superlatives, the armed forces went in for yards and yards of colored ribbon. It did no harm, even if the British did say the Yanks got a new service stripe every time they saw a battle in a newsreel. And it helped morale.

And now something new has been added. A whole new system of chevrons in two colors have been devised for combat and non-combat non-commissioned officers. Combat leaders-squad sergeants and platoon sergeants, for exampleget an inch-wide tab of green in the middle of each shoulder loop.

Despite all this, I can't help thinkng of the verse that came out of a war where the prevailing color was olive drab-with the drab predominating. It goes like this: Oh the general with his shiny stars, leadin' the parade, the colonel and the adjutant a-sportin' all the braid, the major and the skipper-none of 'em look so fine as a newly minted corporal a-comin' down the line!"

Before the Democratic political convention, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower couldn't sit down to write a letter without reading in his newspaper the next day that that letter had been translated into an acceptance on his part to run against Truman for the presidential nomination.

TELEVISION COMMERCIALS

It strikes this department that the TV (television to you) commercial is tough on the great unseen and unpitied audience. It gives you not only the salestalk but close-ups of the product. It throws the book, bottle, tin can, carton, container and crate at you.

Take your radio straight and you get a talk on shortening, but take it by video and you get television views of the bread, cake and pies, project, full view and sliced. You see the hair tonic in the photogenic bothe; the cigarette comes bouncing into the living room alive and dropping the ashes.

To hear about a cake of scap is one thing; to have to watch it as it takes form is another. Cereals, stogies and salad oils are not so hard when heard, but there is a question about them as a movie screen double feature.

There was this to be said about the eld-fashioned radio: You could imagine the announcer was easy on the eyes. It was easier to close your ears than your eyes. If we went to the movies and the big scene was held up by a few special shots of a can of lard, a nutbar factory or a close-up of a chocolate layer cake, view from all angles, we would squawk.

Himer Twitchell is especially hostile. "I object to my home being made a showroom for the assorted products of American industry," he declares. "Why should my dea be converted into a commercial exposition hall and my parlor made a sales manager's delight?

"TV is young and a seventh wonder. Its sheer wizardry is appealing. I appreciate being able to get pictures via the airways with a mere twisting of the dials, but I call for a little toning down of the illustrated commercials. When the liver pill, the frankfurter, the gasoline and the tooth paste were heard and not seen, it pleased me better.

"Nothing exasperates me more than to struggle with the dials to bring in a ball game clearly and get a lovely movie of a carton of soap flakes. When I want to see a prize fight I want a picture of the puglilists, not the Lever brothers. This emphasis on commercials by video comes at a time when the radio industry claims to have come out for shorter commercials. What goes?"

Mrs. Twitchell tells us that Elmer is a wreck over television anyhow. (He lives in the suburbs where he has to have an outside aerial of such size it makes his bungalow look like a naval station, she says. And Elmer insists that planes mistake his house for a beacon.)

MEANS TO YOU

How the New Hudson, America's most streamlined car with the low silhouette, brings you roominess and comfort never before obtainable in an automobile.

You've seen them flashing by in all their sparkling color - those trim, gorgeous New Hudsons with the low, streamlined silhouette.

But have you really examined one of these amazing cars? They are the big news in the automobile world today!

Hudson, always known for great forward steps in the development of the automobile, and for efficient use of motive power, is again 'way out ahead with a motor car that hits a new high in efficient use of space-that makes a greater percentage of its total space actually available for your use and comfort.

When you take a close look, you'll find that Hudson, through the use of a new, exclusive "step-down" zone, reclaims so much usually wasted space that this sensationally efficient car gives you more useful interior room than you've ever before experienced in an automobile.

This new kind of motor car has a sturdy foundation structure surrounding the passenger compartment, which permits the floor to be recessed down within the base frame so that you step down when entering. This makes space between frame members, which is usually wasted, available for use inside the car.

Seats can thus be lowered to harmonize with the new, lower top, and by stepping down into Hudson, which is only five feet from ground to top, you get more head room than in any other mass-produced car built today!

And how about seating room? Hudson's new design reclaims space formerly taken up by wheel housings and protruding fenders. This is accomplished by placing rear seats ahead of the rear wheels, in a zone unrestricted by wheel housings. As a result, rear seats are 15 inches wider in this car that is only little more than four inches wider over-all. Both rear and front seats extend the full width of the body, giving Hudson the roomiest seats in any American-made car! Hudson's use of the "step-down" zone and unique seating arrangements are illustrated in the sketches that follow:

OTHER CARS—Passengers ride on top of a frame, as shown above, and (in the rear seat) between rear wheel housings, which occupy space that should be a part of seating room. Riding on top of a frame means that essential head room must be reduced if the roof is lowered for streamlining.

NEW HUDSON-You ride cradled down within Hud New HUDSON— I ou ride cradied down within Hud-son's base frame, as shown above, and also ahead of the rear wheels. Seats can therefore extend full width of the car. Due to the use of the "step-down" zone, roof is lowered for streamlining, yet ample head room is provided.

The New Hudson even reclaims the unused space in doors by providing gorgeously tailored, recessed compartments where interior door handles, window cranks, ash receivers, and generous arm rests are placed out of the way to allow increased elbow room for passengers.

This development of Hudson's exclusive, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame* with its "step-down" zone required years of engineering work, the perfection of new production techniques and millions of dollars in highly specialized new plant investment. This may be why Hudson, and Hudson alone, offers this important advance today!

"Stepping down" is so important to motor-car beauty, riding qualities and safety-as well as roominess and comfort -that the nearest Hudson dealer has a

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Can Your Soups and Relishes Now

'VE told you it makes no differit. It really doesn't."

Dusk dimmed the coral gold of Harriet Marne's hair, dimmed the blue of her dress, and blurred the outlines of the light dotted buildings rising above the flat roofs upon which she and Ralph Pell stood. It filled with deep shadow the narrow slot of the alley between them, and the noise of the city was a screen about them, isolating them from the rest of the world.

"That's what you think now, but you'd get straight in your thinking in a few weeks, or months, or years. Then it would make a lot of difference." Across the alley, Ralph Pell leaned bronzed arms on the low brick parapet of the other building and shook his head in slow deliberation. Pink neon glow spilling into the alley from the street eight floors down glinted on his brown eyes and made odd shadows in his curly brown hair. It changed to an impossible color the tan of his knitted sport shirt. "After that, it would always be there between us. Or rather, it wouldn't be there."

He laughed harshly and reached down to feel, through brown trouser fabric, the device which substituted for the flesh and bone he had left on a field in Normandy when gunfire from the ground met parachutes drifting silently in the darkness. He would never forget that.

"Ne, Ralph." Harriet's small fist struck the stained brick of the low parapet bordering her own flat roof, as if to drive understanding across the dark drop of the alley between them. "It would never make any difference to me. To me, you would always be-" She groped momentarily for a word that would not sting.

"Normal?" His voice was flat and bitter.

"Please, Ralph." Her voice rose a little.

"Sorry, but I'd never be that, even with two real legs." He laughed shortly. "Service medico says I'm part of a mind, as well as part of a man. Let's don't kid ourselves. Too much is riding on it. It would always be there between us like-well, like this alley is between us now. I'd have as much chance getting over it as I would getting over this alley." He glanced down at the eight-story drop, the sliver of pave-ment below. "Imagine me doing that. Be your age. Get wise to some facts. The best thing for both of us to do is to forget we ever-Ah!" He made a savage gesture He made a savage gesture. "Let's talk about something else." Harriet said that quickly, almost desperately. "Let's talk about you peeping at me on my roof here this summer. Let's talk about you waiting downstairs to introduce yourself as the peeper. Let's talk about the places we have been together, the things we have done. Let's talk about our meeting up here with the alley between us in the evening. Let's talk about-" Her voice stopped for a moment on an odd, sharp gasp.

Let's talk about the ape!" he finished quickly, harshly. "Well, I like that." Harriet laughed. She moved away from the parapet, small and shapely in the night against the neoned sky. "I'm cold. I'll have to get a wrap. Don't go away. I'll be back in a minute."

She ran. Ralph Pell watched her cross the flat roof of the other building to the small shedlike structure that housed over the parapet top and dropped
