National Gypsum Employees Make Large Gift to Hospital

Adopt Payroll Deduction Program

$4952.00 Pledged First Two Days; Gifts May Reach $10,000.00

The dream of a hospital for the Tawas area came closer to realization this week when a representative of the hospital Board met the men of National Gypsum Co., as they finished their shift, explaining to them the cost items involved in the erection of a modern hospital as well as other items of specific interest to those who make the gifts.

The men were presented with a payroll deduction plan which had the sanction of plant management and the enthusiastic backing of the plant Union. They met on Company time.

As we go to press complete returns are not in but it is estimated that gifts to the fund from the men of National Gypsum Company may reach $10,000.

Using the above as a yardstick of giving and carrying the plan into every industry in Iosco County, whether it be a manufacturing plant or a retail store it should be possible to realize for the hospital from these sources $100,000. That would bring the fund within striking distance of the objective of $396,000.

The fairness of having employees have an opportunity to give is apparent. The hospital will serve everybody needing its services, and in recognition of that fact the working men responded in the American way.

We commend the plan of payroll deductions as a fair and equitable means of spreading the obligation on the citizenry entailed in a modern hospital. It is hoped that other groups in the area will follow the lead of National Gypsum Co., and by early spring ground may be broken for the hospital.

Former Rumanian Girl Tells of Tragedies in Homeland Under Reds

By Misha S. Krumm

A native of Rumania, Mrs. Krumm came to America shortly following World War II as the bride of William Krumm Jr., of this city. She attended the Academy Rousard and the French Institute. To become better acquainted with our language and way of life she earned the necessary credits and graduated from the Tawas City Public Schools, this year.

Not long ago, I received a letter from a Rumanian girl who had to escape to Austria because she worked for the American Mission in Bucarest. She tells me not to write home anymore because anyone who receives letters from the U. S. A., is suspected and considered an enemy toward the Communists and the Russians.

People thank God if in the morning they wake up in their houses. All the leaders of the other parties have been arrested. Every day someone suddenly disappears or is arrested for no reason. People are running away, leaving everything they own, just to escape the communist terror. Two of the Bucarest theatres have been transferred into jails for non-communists. Taxes are so high that only a few can pay them. Special concentration and working camps are made for the people who cannot pay the taxes. People have to choose becoming a communist or losing their job. American papers and books are interdicted, being considered as cheap and immoral.

Every theatre is obliged to put on a Russian show. Every newspaper is supposed to publish an article on the front page praising the Russian democracy and criticising American politics and the Marshall plan.

These are the tragic conditions of a beautiful and rich country, which in peace time was another America to me. Terror dominates now. No more laughter—just fear and tears—and people in churches praying to God and waiting for a miracle to liberate them.

I'll never forget the unhappiness brought by the "liberators of freedom"—the Russians. I still remember the day when they arrived in the little town where I was a refugee from the bombardments. What a tragedy happened to those people who received them so friendly with flowers and gifts.

All that was not enough! They had to give everything the Russians wanted, including their daughters, wives and mothers. Picked from the porch where I was standing with my mother, with a gun at my back I was to go with the ugly Russians to their camp. I'll never forget how my mother cried and begged for them to release me. They answered by pointing a machine gun at her. Near the camp, when suddenly six men surrounded the Russians and liberated me. Next I found my mother and myself hiding in a barn under the hay. Until the next morning from under the hay, scared to death, I could hear the terrified screaming, crying and shootings and men fighting. At noon when they left, the town was in a sad condition. The Russians have taken everything, leaving the people poor.

My mother managed to send me back to Bucarest on a transport wagon. I traveled five days sitting on my baggage with hardly any food. In Bucarest it was even worse. People were killed because they resisted when the Russians wanted to take their women, cars, watches, etc. Houses were requisitioned by the Reds and the civilians were to leave them at once with everything in them except a few clothes. Our cottage was requisitioned too, and transferred into a hospital. After they left, the house looked like a pig pen. All windows were broken, furniture transformed into wood for fires which were made in the middle of the rooms, mattresses and blankets were gone.

That is what they called a hospital! That is what the great Russian civilization, which those little countries in Europe must accept, with no discussion. Though I have passed through a great earthquake, revolution and bombardments, I can only say that meeting the Russians is the worse thing that could happen to anyone.

Alabaster Wins 1 to 0 at Prescott

White City Team Plays At Turner Sunday

In a thriller played at Prescott, Alabaster beat out Prescott 1 to 0 in the ninth inning. Both teams played good ball, the margin of difference being Alabaster's return to its old form and drive which forced four Prescott errors in the ninth, coupled with two Alabaster hits to provide the winning score.

Alabaster Wins Forfeit

Alabaster was awarded its protest of the Alabaster-Twining game, in which Twining won 9 to 1, at a directors meeting held last Thursday at Standish. The protest was over the eligibility of Bob Curriston, who had just returned from the Saginaw Bears of the Central League. This gives Alabaster another win, and they now have eight wins and three losses.

Joe Martin pitched all the way for Alabaster, allowing eight hits, striking out nine, and walking none. Eymmer and Apsey split the pitching chore for Prescott and allowed Alabaster six hits while striking out six and giving seven walks. Big sticker for Alabaster was Pat Erickson who collected three for five, while playing perfect ball at second base. Other Alabaster hitting was done by Vern Hill who banged out a double, and by Joe Roberts and Wayne Wickert, each with a single to his credit.

Next week, Alabaster again plays away from home, this time at Turner.

Look Establishes Insulation Business
The R. F. Look Insulating Co., has purchased a Capitol Rock Wool insulating truck and is equipped to insulate homes and business places.

Richard Look, manager, gives the following description of how rock wool is made: The transformation of rock into the silk-like fibres of Capitol Rock Wool is something almost magical to behold. As a first step in the manufacture of Rock Wool, weighed quantities of carefully blended rock are poured into a large cupola. The combination of burning coke and an air blast, generates an extremely high temperature within the cupola. As a result of this terrific heat, the rock mixture melts (2,500 to 3,000 degrees) and flows from an orifice in the front of the cupola down into a jet of high pressure steam. The molten material is instantly blown into long, flexible fibres of small diameter. These fibres float in the confined air of a receiving room, finally settling onto a continuously moving conveyor in the bottom of the room.

THE FICTION CORNER

Gardenias From Mrs. Garrity

By FRANK BROOKHOUSER

DARRELL MILLER, the high-powered scribbler and his frat, the lovely Marianna Lane, of the flickers, are readying a separate marital billing. . . careers don't mix 'tis said. . .

Mrs. Garrity read the item from Hal Boyd's gossip column in the Blade for the fourth time, staring at the paper which lay on the table in the supply room as she wrung out her mop. She always read Hal Boyd. His column kept her abreast of all the doings among the big people, people she saw sometimes in the hotel.

When she had first read the item on the subway coming to work, it had struck her with as much impact as if the two persons mentioned had been her own daughter and son-in-law and now she went about her work without spirit, missing the warm delight with ways said. Scrubbing the bathroom floor, Mrs. Garrity remembered all the dresses she had given her, the rich perfumes, books for the children, and never forgetting to ask about Mr. Garrity's health.

Of course, they couldn't have a house, not with her in Hollywood so much. But they had made the hotel rooms cozy and home-like. And when she was in the city, they had such good times.

It had never occurred to Mrs. Garrity to doubt the item in the column and she was not unduly surprised when she saw the suitcases in the bedroom. That was why Mrs. Miller had come back this time, then, to take the things of hers that were in the room.

There was a short note on the dresser.

"Please take the black dresses in the closet, Mrs. Garrity," it said.

Now wasn't that just like her, Mrs. Garrity thought, remembering me, even with all her sadness. And her heart must be so heavy today. No, it wasn't right. Even if they were apart a lot. It probably had been some foolish argument they would both get over in time. Hadn't she argued with Mr. Garrity? Yes, many times when they were younger. And it was nicer than ever when you made up.

The idea of gardenias came suddenly to Mrs. Garrity in the maze of memories that were flashing through her mind. There wasn't much time. Mrs. Miller was probably only out for lunch and would be back any minute.

Mrs. Garrity reached into her pocket, pulled out a small wad of bills. She counted them carefully. There were seven. Well, the grocer would just have to wait. She went down the service elevator and hurried to the flower shop on the corner.

"I want seven dollars' worth of gardenias," she told the florist.

He stared at her, bewildered. "Seven dollars worth," she repeated, looking at him sternly. He shrugged his shoulders and started to work. She walked rapidly back to the hotel with the large box.

In the rooms again, she hurried to the typewriter and fingered the keys idly, her rough, gnarled hands looking strange in this position. Now what should she say? It was very important what she said. It had to erase a lot of things, it had to say a lot of things.

She started to type with great care and deliberation. "BECAUSE THEY ARE BEAUTIFUL LIKE YOU . . ." Yes, that was all right. Maybe he would be able to put it better, him being a writer, but that is what he would mean. . . AND TO WISH YOU HAPPINESS WHEREVER YOU GO . . ." Yes, that was all right. She felt almost romantic, reading it to herself again. "WITH ALL MY LOVE . . ." She smiled as she typed his name.

Hurriedly, she filled two vases with water, put the gardenias in them, placing the note auspiciously beside one, and then she began to clean the rooms, working spiritedly, feeling much better now. She managed to finish her work before Mrs. Miller returned.

Reading Hal Boyd's column on the subway the next morning, she felt her heart quivering with intense happiness, felt a lilt there that she could hardly believe was possible for a woman of her age. Her eyes glazed with tears as she read the item for the fourth time:

"I want seven dollars' worth of gardenias," Mrs. Garrity told the florist. He stared at her bewildered. "Yes, seven . . ." she repeated.

which she always contemplated cleaning their rooms.

Such nice young people they were and, after all, she had known them since that first morning, Mr. Miller even longer. And they had always been so happy together. It didn't seem right. She lifted the bucket tiredly and started walking to the rooms which had been Mr. Miller's even before they married.

Everything in the bedroom was the same and the picture mingled with the implications of the item brought a sharp tug to her heart. His coat was lying over the chair. He must have worn the camel's hair this morning, she thought. Well, she supposed it was warm enough, although the wind was sharp, biting. The coat had been there like that the first morning. And she had put the bucket down, yes right here in the bathroom, course not, mom. If you need extra time, you take it and we'll be happy to pay you for the extra work."

Joy and good feeling and bright spirit had filled the room that morning. And gardenias, dozens of gardenias, in the pitcher on the dresser, in another pitcher on his little bookcase. Mrs. Miller had listened almost enchanted by the story, it seemed, as he explained the reasons for the gardenias.

"They have a special significance," he had said. "It seems that I was going into a flower shop and she was coming out and I was going to buy gardenias and she had already bought them. And we bumped and I knocked them out of her arms. And we had lunch. And we got married. And there's a gardenia for every day of the two months we were courting, Mrs. Garrity."

They had always been happy together. You could tell that by the way their faces brightened when they looked at each other, Mrs. Garrity thought. Mrs. Miller had just been starting out then but now she was a big star and Mrs. Garrity went to the neighborhood theater both nights when she was playing in a picture and told Mr. Garrity and her children how well she knew her and got autographs for them.

"And she's as sweet and kind as you could find," Mrs. Garrity al-

A luminous, clear Light that will not die, An emanation from the living Christ. His certain resurrection has sufficed To blot away all doubt and fear, and I Who love life so will find there are no bars To keep my soul from climbing the bright air, Drawn by that high impelling radiance there Beyond the stars.

"HAVE YOU ANY SUGGESTIONS for serving an entire meal when visiting relatives or friends who are vacationing drop in on you unexpectedly?" asks a friend of mine.

You know, this can create quite a problem because this is the season people are liable to be dropping in. Frequently it is mealtime before they leave and many women find themselves up against a problem of providing food for several more than they originally planned, and still making this attractive and good to eat.

The best solution to this is a well stocked pantry shelf. Have on this a number of canned meats, as well as fish and boned chicken or turkey. Keep it provided with several vegetables that are favorites.

Don't forget that spaghetti and baked beans in cans can be dressed up beautifully when you have to entertain on the spot. And then too there are prepared puddings and canned fruits. The latter can be turned into mouth-watering salad platters and the former into pies, tarts or tasty puddings.

Not much chicken is needed to make this delicious loaf when the meat is combined with bread crumbs and seasoning. Creamed green peas are a delightful accompaniment to the main dish.

YOU CAN USE the luncheon ham or canned ham for this dish, which is pretty as well as delicious:

- Grilled Ham and Asparagus (Serves 6)
- 6 slices toast
  - 6 slices boiled or canned ham
  - 1 1/2 cups milk
  - 3 tablespoons butter
  - 1 can asparagus
  - 1/4 pound grated American cheese
  - 3 tablespoons flour
  - 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt

Wrap two or three stalks of asparagus in each slice of ham and fasten with toothpick. Place on a broiler rack for five minutes. Melt butter, blend in flour, milk and seasonings. Cook until smooth and thick, then add cheese. Place grilled ham on toast. Cover with cheese sauce and garnish with tomato slices and parsley.

A GOOD DESSERT to serve with the above dish is simply made:

- Coconut Banana Snow (Serves 6)
- 3 bananas, cut in small pieces
  - 2 teaspoons lemon juice
  - 1/2 cup cream, whipped
  - 1 egg white, stiffly beaten
  - 1/2 cup powdered sugar
  - 1/2 can coconut
- Combine bananas, sugar and lemon juice. Chill. Force through sieve. Fold fruit into egg white, then mix in lightly the whipped cream and coconut. Top with additional cream, coconut and maraschino cherry if desired.

HERE ARE SOME quick things to do with a can of baked beans when you have unexpected guests walking in:

- Mix one can of baked beans with one-fourth cup chili sauce, one-fourth cup brown sugar and heat in a casserole.
- Mix one can of baked beans with two tablespoons chili sauce, two tablespoons each of chopped green pepper, minced onion and celery and heat through.
- Season one can of baked beans with three tablespoons catsup, two tablespoons brown sugar, and then fold in one can of sliced Vienna sausages.

Baked beans are excellent served as an accompaniment with cold meats, cole slaw or grilled sandwiches.

LYNN SAYS:

Here's How to Serve Leftover Eggs, Poultry

Cold mashed potatoes are delicious when the potato is mixed with egg yolk, butter, salt and pepper, and then deep fat fried.

Egg yolks may be mixed with milk and cheese for rarebit. This is served on hot toast after it has cooked until thickened.

Egg yolks may be beaten with whole eggs and used for scrambled eggs, egg nogs or custard.

HERE ARE TRICKS to use with canned spaghetti:

- Mix one can of spaghetti with one cup diced ham and heat.
- Parboil green peppers and fill with canned spaghetti, top with cheese and bake until peppers are heated and cheese melts.
- Smother heated spaghetti with broiled hamburgers wrapped in bacon.

- NOW HERE'S a trick to use with canned chicken to make a good supper or luncheon dish for unexpected guests:
- Chicken Loaf (Serves 6-8)
- 2 cups cooked or canned chopped chicken
  - 1/2 cup cooked chopped carrots
  - 1 1/4 cups soft bread crumbs
  - 2 tablespoons minced onion
  - 1 tablespoon minced parsley
  - 2 tablespoons minced celery
  - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
  - 3/4 cup milk
  - 2 eggs
  - Parsley for garnish

Mix together all ingredients and pack into a well greased, one quart, heat-resistant glass loaf pan. Bake in a moderate (325 degree) oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until firm and slightly browned. Turn chicken loaf onto platter, garnish with parsley and serve with creamed peas.

IF THE DAY is warm, you might like to prepare some substantial main dish salads to serve as the main course of the meal. Here are two which will appeal to men and women as well as the youngsters:

- *Hot Frankfurter Salad Bowl (Serves 4)
- 4 frankfurters
  - 4 cups thinly sliced raw potatoes
  - 2 1/2 tablespoons minced onion
  - 2 1/2 tablespoons minced parsley
  - 1/3 cup cooked leftover vegetables
  - 1/3 cup well-seasoned French dressing
  - 1/2 teaspoon celery seeds
  - Salt and pepper

Simmer frankfurters in boiling water for five minutes. Remove, cut into quarters lengthwise, then

A simple but effective dessert is prepared when packaged vanilla pudding is layered in tall parfait glasses with strawberry or raspberry preserves. Glasses are slanted after part of the pudding is placed in them to give a pretty effect.

crosswise into one-inch pieces. Cook potatoes in boiling salted water for about 10 minutes. Drain, toss lightly with frankfurters and remaining ingredients, adding salt and pepper to taste. Serve hot.

- Frankfurter-Macaroni Salad (Serves 4)
- 3/4 cup raw macaroni
  - 4 cups boiling water
  - 4 frankfurters
  - 1/4 cup French dressing
  - 2 tablespoons minced onion
  - 1/2 cup diced cucumber
  - 1 tablespoon slivered green pepper
  - 1 cup coarsely diced tomato
  - 1/4 cup salad dressing
  - 1/2 head lettuce shredded
- Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Five minutes before macaroni is done, add frankfurters. Then drain. Remove frankfurters and rinse macaroni. Place in a bowl with frankfurters, cut in halves, then lengthwise and crosswise, then add remaining ingredients. Chill before serving.

Egg yolks may be poached by themselves (without whites), then forced through a sieve and used as garnish for salads, canapes, spinach, creamed fish or thick cream soups.

Chicken may be minced fine and mixed with cream sauce, egg yolks and bread crumbs, then fried until crisply browned for a delicious main dish.

Any white sauce may be made more colorful and nourishing by beating in leftover egg yolks.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
Released by WNU Features.

By INEZ GERHARD
"SAMSON and Delilah" promises to be a super-DeMille spectacle. With Hedy Lamarr and Victor Mature in the leading roles, it will be done in technicolor, probably technicolor at its most vivid. An advance unit left recently for Algiers to make background and scenic shots. A 2,000 mile trip by car-van, we're told, will be made through remote desert regions. This will be DeMille's 69th film since 1913, his fourth lavish production with Biblical characters and setting.

With three unreleased pictures coming up, ("Deep Waters," "The Great Gatsby" and "The Street With No Name") and "Sitting Pretty" keeping him in the public eye, Ed Begley is free to give some time to radio. He will have a featured role in NBC's "The Big Story" on August 18. Known as a radio, stage and screen actor, television is the only new field open to him.

Ellen Corby was a script supervisor for several years before she turned actress and registered a hit in "I Remember Mama." Now Columbia has signed her for an important role in "The Dark Past," with William Holden and Nina Foch.

Arnold Moss finished an important role in "The Loves of Carmen" (Rita Hayworth - Glenn Ford), and headed for New York and hard work for several radio shows—writing, not acting. He plans two "Inner Sanctum" mysteries and a series of "Documentaries on Children," designed to help parents faced with the problem of adapting their children to current conditions.

Gene Autry's famous stallion, Champion, will wear a set of gold-plated horseshoes when Autry's rodeo opens in New York in September. They were a gift from his Oklahoma fan club.

Playing a lead in "Rusty Saves a Life," Stephen Dunne learned what it means to work with one of Hollywood's famous animals. Dunne was thrown into a lake with Flame, the movie dog. Struggling to shore when the scene was over, wet and cold, Dunne was pleased when he heard someone shout "Get a towel!" then shocked when he heard "A towel for the dog!"

Anne Burr of "Big Sister" now considers herself an expert on moving techniques. She moved herself from one city apartment to another, then went to the country the following week to transfer her mother from an old house to a new one. Came home to find her best friend baffled by moving problems, and took charge as a matter of course.

Anna Lee was back in her native England, all set to return to the stage, when John Ford cabled her to return to Hollywood for "Fort Apache." That was movie-dom's equivalent to an invitation to a command performance. She boarded a plane immediately, left on Thursday and arrived in Los Angeles in time to line up Monday with the rest of the cast.

After Bob Dyer, Australian comedian, told Art Linkletter's CBS "House Party" audience that his government would pay trans-Pacific fares for ex-GIs and their families who want to settle in Australia, responses within the first week went well into four figures, with every state in the country represented. And the letters are still pouring in.

ODDS AND ENDS—Teresa, the 200-pound mechanical turtle who made such a bit in "Tarzan and the Mermaids," has been given a prominent spot in "Tarzan and the Arrow of Death." . . . Leatrice Joy, silent screen star who ranked right at the top, returns to the screen for a leading role in Eagle-Lion's "Red Stallion in the Rockies" as a result of Producer Aubrey Schenck's seeing her in a little theater production of "Yes, My Darling Daughter." . . . Sarah Selby, "Mrs. Graves" of "Junior Miss," recently had a junior miss of her own — a 7 1/2-pound damsel named Holiday.

Salaries of Athletes

THEY were talking about the money a professional athlete could make, and how much most of these athletes were worth. In the first place, among eight or ten old-time writers, in the discussion it was generally voted that the ring business was the most lopsided. This means that a few were far overpaid and the others were far underpaid.

For example, Joe Louis has bowled over close to four million dollars for his 62 fights. Now four million dollars is quite a chunk more than any other contestant could collect from any other game.

Above that we'll say Babe Ruth picked up 350 thousand dollars for his last fight. That is about the pay that 10 of the highest-paid ballplayers would get for an entire season of 154 games.

But after all, the fight champion collects because he can draw. When two ball clubs meet there may be 50 ball players engaged. When fighters meet, only two in the main event get any real money, and one of these gets most of it. After all, a contestant is entitled to get his part of the swag which his drawing power can earn.

Babe Ruth was paid as high as $80,000 a year. He was actually worth more than double this amount to his team, the league and baseball in general. It would be hard to measure how much he actually earned. I've seen home teams drawing 1,500 a game jump to 33,000 when the Babe came along.

Few Get Rich

But, while Jack Dempsey, Louis and Gene Tunney have all collected huge amounts, and a few others have picked up important checks from the fight game, the vast majority get little except queer noises in their skulls. It's a tough game, if you make good. It's a thousand times tougher when you don't.

Commissioner Eddie Eagen tells me there are more boxers than one might think who are putting away from $50,000 to $60,000 a year. This is amazing when you figure the cut the manager and his helpers get.

The fight game is good only to the few. For the others it is largely a matter of scrambled brains. It is not a profession to be recommended too highly to the youth of the land.

Baseball and football are the two best average paying games, especially in the higher circuits. Oddly enough, more than a few young stars who dabble in both sports have to make certain drastic decisions.

Alvin Dark of the Braves was offered more to play football than he gets playing baseball. Dark picked baseball and the Braves.

Charley Trippi tried out both games, and this season the ex-Georgia star decided to give all his time to the Chicago Cardinals, leaving baseball flat. He found the combination too much to handle.

Chuck Conerly of Mississippi and Bobby Layne of Texas were two baseball stars. Both had bright baseball futures. Both picked football with the high guarantees now offered.

Years ago, Walter Hagen could have been a noted big league star—one of the greatest in the game. Hagen picked golf and then proceeded to roll up a million dollars in a few years—which the carefree Haig promptly spent.

Joe Gordon was an Oregon great at football before he switched entirely to baseball. Torgerson of the Braves was another football star who picked baseball for a money-maker. There are many others I could mention.

African Wood Used By U. S.

American woodworking industries are turning to a wood from the vast forests of the Belgian Congo known as "Korina" because they are unable to obtain high-quality timber at home.

One of the countries largest timber users already has begun large-scale importations of the wood that stacks up with American oak. The industry is importing about 6,500,000 feet of Korina a month.

The inability to obtain high-quality timber in the United States is blamed on two things—lack of a sound conservation scheme and rapid growth of the woodworking industries.

Sand Lake News

Mid-summer is a gala time at Sand Lake, most all cottages occupied and everybody has that relaxed feeling that comes with contentment.

Mrs. Dick Westover and son, Jerry, Mrs. John A. Mehlios and Mrs. Dorothy Whitney spent Saturday afternoon in Tawas.

Mrs. Herbert Schultz and children of Bay City are spending two weeks at their cottage.

The Faltys of Saginaw are building a lovely cottage on Fletcher St.

The sudden change in weather, from the sweltering heat to the chilly days that followed, kept many cottagers indoors, and put a quietus on swimming and boating.

The A. Spaffords are doing much toward beautifying the Snack Shack. It's a busy place these days, especially to the teen-age group.

Guests at the John A. Mehlios cottage during the week were: Mr. and Mrs. Reginald M. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin and granddaughter, Donna Weyman of Saginaw.

Stewart Haack of Saginaw is adding to the appearance of his cottage by the addition of a porch.

The Howards of Detroit have arrived at their cottage where they will spend the season.

Mrs. Matt Killewald has returned to Sand Lake from a three week stay in Mount Clemens.

We are glad to report that Ray Kendall is home again after a few days spent in Mercy Hospital at Bay City.

Emil Mathias spent the week-end here with Mrs. Mathias. They have a lovely cottage called "Melody Ranch."

We are glad to report that Frank Schubert is much better at this time.

Mrs. Peggy Benedict and children of Pontiac spent the week at Sand Lake.

Those spending the week-end at their cottages were: the Kinsels, Noggles, Grunows, Schmidts, and Clarks from Saginaw, the Mains, Wilsons, and Steiles from Flint.

Ray Ristow of Tawas City was a caller at John Mehlios cottage Sunday afternoon.

Try to think of your town without newspapers—even the small weekly. Where would you get the local news, the affairs of the community that some time or other so important to every family. The news about the local churches, lodges and the advertising of the local merchants. The big city dailies carry the world news, but they cannot carry the day to day happenings.

Farm Notes . . .

Farmers who want to make their potato crop a success this year should emphasize early and frequent applications of spray, advises Harold R. Clark, county agricultural agent. Potato raisers sometimes quit spraying too soon. If plants are large spraying should not be stopped even though it is difficult.

Tests at MSC have shown that spraying with DDT improves potato quality and increased production from 60 to 100 bushels per acre. First spraying should be done when plants are four to five inches high. If they have gone beyond this size and have not yet been sprayed, the spraying should be started immediately. Spraying every seven to 10 days is recommended.

Flea beetles and potato leaf hopper can be controlled by DDT. The hopper often causes severe damage after having teime as it leaves the hay field and migrates to the potato field after hay is cut.

DDT is most effective when mixed with Bordeaux mixture or a fixed copper solution.

The Bordeaux or fixed copper will control blight. DDT should be added last and the solution sprayed as heavily as 125 gallons to the acre. Complete coverage comes when the tractor is driven slowly.

For grains stored for feed or cereal products, a spray containing five percent or less of DDT in refined, deodorized kerosene or in water suspensions or emulsions should be used. It should be applied to the walls and woodwork at a rate of not more than one gallon of spray per 1,000 square feet. The spray should be thoroughly dry before grain is put in the bin.

If the grain is to be stored for seed purposes, a different treatment should be used. Dust of three-percent DDT in pyrophyllite, thoroughly mixed with the seed, applied at the rate of one-half ounce of dust to one bushel of seed, is the proper treatment. Three percent DDT in magnesium oxide, applied in the same manner, is also effective. These methods are not recommended for storage grains or cereal products to be used for food.

Under normal conditions, these precautions will take care of insects, eif abnormal infestations arise and fumigation becomes necessary, agent Clark's office should be consulted.

Early Pack Animal

The Eskimo dog is estimated to have been in service as a pack animal for 2,000 years. It is thought to have originated in Siberia.

Winter Accidents

Because of icy conditions, 53 per cent more people are killed in auto accidents during the winter than during the summer. This is why: A car going only 20 miles an hour requires approximately 169 feet to stop on an icy street, as against 21 feet on dry concrete.

Service wherever you go

In just two years we've built and sold more fine cars than any other new manufacturer in automobile history.

Why? Because America fell in love with the KAISER and the FRAZER on sight. Folks are streaming into Kaiser-Frazer showrooms and learning from present owners how dependable these two great cars are. They're learning — from people who drive them — how soundly they are built... how economical they are... how much enjoyment there is in owning one.

THESE ARE THE MOST-COPIED CARS IN AMERICA, road-proved by 250,000 owners in two billion miles of driving.

Because plenty of Americans insist on comfort, convenience, style and value, traditional leaders had to "move over" — as Kaiser-Frazer became the fourth largest manufacturer of motor cars in the world in two short years.

Why wait? Enjoy your new car this summer. You'll get fair treatment and highest trade-in allowance.

Most Michigan Hunters and Fishermen Buy Licenses at Home

Most Michigan hunters and fishermen buy their licenses at home, it appears from a conservation department compilation of hunting and fishing license sales in 1947 by counties. The sales directly reflect the local population density.

Wayne county leads all the resident lists, selling 112,260 fishing licenses, selling 112,260 fishing 41,527 deer hunting and 1,104 archery licenses. Next nearest counties are Kent, which sold 50,958 fishing licenses and Genesee, which sold 29,524 small game and 18,913 deer hunting tags. Oakland, Ingham, Bay and Saginaw counties were near the top of the list.

Nonresidents appear to make most of their license purchases at their hunting and fishing trip destinations. In license sales to nonresidents, Branch county led in fishing permits—16,598, Roscommon in small game tags—85, Iron in deer licenses—331, and Allegan in archer's permits—125 of them.

Your Chamber of Commerce

Your Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring its Third Annual Baseball Excursion to Detroit to see Detroit play New York on August 4th. This excursion was started two years ago by a small group of businessmen, your Chamber of Commerce, who thought it would be a nice gesture to honor the late Roxy Roach, who played baseball with the New York Highlanders the year of 1911. The first thought was for a group of 12 to 15 to take cars and drive to Detroit, taking Mr. Roach as the guest of honor. The idea caught on so well that the first year we had three Greyhound buses filled to capacity taking us to Detroit for the game between Detroit and New York and on the return trip stopped at Frankenmuth for a chicken dinner banquet in honor of the late Mr. Roach, presenting him with a shotgun as a token of appreciation from your Chamber of Commerce for his work in baseball.

The following year the demand became greater for a baseball trip to Detroit, so your Chamber of Commerce secured the services of the D. & M. Railway to take us to Detroit by train, calling the excursion the Northeastern Michigan Baseball Trip. Approximately 300 went last year, including 20 from Alpena, 14 from Harrisville, 63 from Bay City Kiwanis and the remainder from the Iosco County area.

Your Chamber of Commerce has made arrangements for this year's excursion by D. & M. Railway for a trip to accommodate 350 persons. As to date reservations from outside Iosco County for this trip have been in great demand. Therefore, your Chamber of Commerce urges anyone planning on going to secure their tickets immediately so that no one will be disappointed. We want to accommodate everyone possible in the Iosco County area, but cannot turn down requests from the outside areas.

Fighting Truman Gets Democratic Nomination, Calls Special Session; Barkley Selected as Running Mate

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Truman 'WE ACCEPT!' Barkley
In Fighting Mood Born in Log Cabin

THE PHILADELPHIA STORY Truman-Barkley

If the Democrats hadn't known before their convention that President Harry Truman was their man they found out on the steaming Wednesday when their political show slammed through to a smashing, triumphant finish.

Harry Truman told them so, after the enterprising liberal forces of the party had spent all that Wednesday in the 105 degree heat of convention hall proving it beyond all doubt.

It looked like the Democratic party might have been completely revitalized in 12 tense hours on that last day of the convention, ending a period during which the Democrats' morale and will to win slowly had been ossifying.

The revitalization came as a result of two potent factors which actually could be reduced to one—President Truman's influence.

In the first place, in adopting the strong, positive civil rights plank in the platform the party not only repudiated the idea and spirit of reaction but also dealt an extremely sharp and real slap to the hands of the southern wing which had tried, at times almost savagely, to produce a cleavage within the party.

That action, closely followed by the nomination of President Truman to run for re-election and the nomination of Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky by acclamation for the vice-presidential spot on the ticket added another solid timber to the structure that the liberal elements of the party were fighting so hard to build.

Those developments were, in themselves, a complete and victorious proof that the Democrats this year intended to bring themselves before the American public as a responsible, cohesive party that would be striving for nothing less than total victory in the November election.

But it remained for President Truman to give the whole affair a significance that could not be ignored.

Fighting Finish

It was a far cry from a love fest as the Democratic clans, feuding for many months, met in the City of Brotherly Love for their 30th national convention.

After three days of strife and bickering, the conclave came to a close as a fighting President Truman triumphantly accepted his party's nomination for the presidency and then rocked Democrats and Republicans alike with an instant summons to the 80th congress to return for a special session July 26.

The convention, perhaps the most bitterly divided since 1860 and 1924, ended with a political explosion detonated by the quiet man from Independence, Mo. The explosion startled even the regular members of his own party who had engineered the nomination of Mr. Truman to the presidency.

The Democrats pinned their November election hopes on a ticket of Harry S. Truman and Alben W. Barkley. It was the 64-year-old modest, low-voiced former senator from Missouri, who had succeeded to the office upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1945, for the presidency. And it was the 70-year-old, soft-speaking, compromising senator from Paducah, Ky., for the vice presidency.

The President's call for a special session provided a dramatic and startling climax to the 30th convention, which had been marked by bitter debate over ferocious family differences.

The party had been ripped by infighting between northern progressives and southern conservatives over the issue of equal civil rights for Negroes. One-half of the Alabama delegation—13 of the 26 votes—and the entire Mississippi delegation of 22 had stormed out of the convention amid boos, cheers and a great pushing and shoving. This was the high point of the widely-heralded southern revolt, although a rump convention was called to meet in Birmingham, Ala.

Discord Flares

Discord prevailed long before the 1,596 delegates from the 48 states and territories gathered in stifling, steaming Philadelphia for the quadrennial convention.

Dissident factions of the party rallied behind a concerted drive to draft Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the party's standard bearer. "Ike," however, removed himself from the race with his third and final insistence that he "would not accept the nomination."

The day after the Eisenhower boom collapsed, the New Deal efforts to oppose Mr. Truman with Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas also blew up. Douglas, whom the President had wanted for his running mate, flatly refused to be considered and also knocked himself out of the vice presidential running.

After Douglas declined to enter the presidential race, Senator Pepper of Florida announced his candidacy with the backing of the New Deal wing, but his bid was not considered very seriously.

Civil Rights

After seven days of wrangling, a platform pledging the Democratic party more specifically than ever before to work for basic constitutional civil rights was adopted after a floor fight which proved rather tame in view of the anticipated knock-down, drag-out battle.

The platform calls on congress to support guarantees of:

"The right of full and equal political participation"—meaning anti-poll tax legislation.

"The right to equal opportunity of employment"—another way of promising a fair employment practices act.

"The right of security of person"—meaning a federal anti-lynch law.

"The right of equal treatment in the service and defense of our nation"—meaning the end of segregation in the armed forces.

The long-heralded southern revolt, however, failed to develop into the Dixie-wide proportions predicted. Only Mississippi's 22 delegates and 13 of Alabama's 26 stalked out of the convention in protest against President Truman's nomination and adoption of the strong civil rights plank.

However, 263 remaining southern delegates registered that area's protest by voting for the presidential nomination of Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia. Size of the protest vote indicated the Democratic party still has a problem on its hands in the South.

NO LIMITS

American Cities Are Increasing in Size

Los Angeles, brunt of many jokes for its ever-expanding city limits, is not the only American city which is increasing in size.

In fact, American cities are getting bigger all the time, with 298 communities extending their boundaries in 1947 for a new all-time record, according to the International City Managers association.

The rush to keep up with urban expansion marked a 15 per cent increase over 1946, when 259 cities annexed new territory. Most cities seek to annex suburban land to solve their population problems.

"Cities want outlying territory to equalize local tax rates and to provide uniform public services," according to the association.

PERSHING: Taps Sounds

Gen. John J. (Blackjack) Pershing, who led American troops to victory in World War I, is dead at the age of 87.

The aged former chief of staff had been ill since February, 1938, when he was stricken at Tucson, Ariz., by a form of rheumatism which affected his heart muscles. He came close to dying at that time, but rallied with a display of fighting spirit which amazed his physicians. Since then he had lived at Walter Reed hospital in Washington, D. C.

Death was caused by a blood clot which reached his lung. At Pershing's bedside when death came were his son, Warren; his sister, Miss May Pershing, and his long-time physician, Maj. Gen. Shelley Marietta.

Long the idol of a grateful nation, Pershing held the rank of general of the armies, a title conferred on only four other American soldiers, Washington, Grant, Sherman, and Sheridan. He outranked such contemporary five-star generals as George C. Marshall, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Douglas MacArthur. Their title is general of the army.

Pershing won his greatest fame as commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary force in World War I. Appointed to that post in 1917, he took personal command of the American troops sent to France. He almost immediately became involved in a dispute with other Allied commanders who wanted to break up the American army and use it to reinforce the French and British armies wherever necessary. Pershing flatly refused to let his troops lose their identity.

Born Sept. 13, 1860, in the frontier town of Laclede, Mo., Pershing was graduated from West Point when he was 26. He became a second lieutenant in the sixth U. S. cavalry and launched a career in soldiering to which he devoted his entire life. He fought Indians in the American west, Spaniards in Cuba, Moro tribesmen in the Philippines, Mexican bandits under Pancho Villa on the U. S.-Mexican border and Germans in France.

Throughout World War II, Pershing received a full report twice a month from General Marshall, his aide of 1917. Although old and feeble, the general followed daily developments closely from his hospital room, paying particular attention to "my boys," who included Generals Marshall, Eisenhower, and George S. Patton Jr.

CROPS: Record Output

Barring a major crop disaster, the nation will harvest another bumper crop this year, with indications pointing to a general crop production which may surpass that of the outstanding year of 1942 and the record set in 1946.

Acres in crops is among the largest in recent years and yield prospects are good for most crops, agriculture department spokesmen said, on the basis of July 1 conditions.

An all-time record corn crop of 3,328,862,000 bushels was forecast although corn, the largest feed crop, still faces such hazards as a dry, hot August or an early frost. Previous record was 3,287,927,000 bushels in 1946.

The wheat crop prospect of 1,241,000 bushels represents a gain of 4 per cent from earlier forecasts. If that amount is harvested, it will rank as the second largest crop in history.

Rice will set a new acreage record and nearly equal last year's record output. Oats and barley will be well above average crops.

Bumper crop prospects are not expected to mean any immediate increase in meat supplies or any noticeable decrease in meat prices but the record harvest should mean larger meat supplies in the future.

Employment Gains

Continuing the postwar upward trend in civilian employment, 1.5 million more persons were employed in civilian occupations last April than in April, 1947, it is revealed in figures compiled by the National Industrial Conference board.

Accompanying this increased employment was a decline of more than 200,000 in unemployment over the year's period

Air Bubbles Deaden Underwater Noises

NEW YORK.—Streams of bubbles, rising something like those in a carbonated drink, are good ear-plugs against underwater noise.

They act like an insulating screen, deadening a large amount of the noise, Donald P. Loye and William Fred Arndt have reported in the Journal of the Acoustical Society of America.

The bubble screen, they said, proved effective at Pearl Harbor in insulating the entrance to a repair dock against much underwater noise coming from other parts of the harbor.

The repair dock was used as a test area to measure the amount of noise made by machinery and operation of the submarines. It was vital to quiet down the United States subs to make it harder for the Japanese to hear them. Underwater noises from the other ships in the harbor interfered with such tests.

Loye and Arndt, then with the United States navy underwater sound laboratory, said the air-bubble screen, unlike any kind of gate, didn't have to be opened or closed to allow a sub to enter or leave the dock.

The first system for the bubble-making used a pipe with small drilled holes, with compressed air pumped into the pipe. But this system itself was noisy.

The best arrangement, they said, was a pipe with many small holes, with the pipe covered with a loose-fitting leathered sock. This sock had a few rows of holes made by a sewing machine needle. Air coming through the tiny holes made little noise, and the bubble screen had a sound insulation effect of 24 decibels.

Defendant Drinks Only Two Bottles of Beer But—

OMAHA, NEB.—A young man charged with drunkenness shook his head in bewilderment before Judge Perry Wheeler in municipal court.

"Judge," he said, "I don't know what happened. It just hit me all of a sudden. I had two bottles of beer."

"Don't kid me," the judge scoffed. "Two bottles of beer wouldn't knock out anyone."

"These were half-gallon bottles, Judge," the defendant replied. The judge fined him $2.50.

Indian Manufacturer Fails To Spend Four Million in U. S.

NEW YORK.—K. N. Modi, wealthy Indian manufacturer, arrived in America with four million dollars in gold to spend in 30 days flat for industrial equipment.

He couldn't get what he wanted in England, so he came to America for action. He got it. And he spent at the rate of $46.29 a minute night and day.

But he had to admit failure. He is flying back to his home in Modinagar, India, with two million dollars unspent.

"However," he added brightly, "I'm going to spend the rest from India on American equipment as soon as I can close the deals."

Most of the money was spent on machinery for making margarine, textiles and caustic soda and equipment for a solvent extraction plant.

Modi smothered his disappointment over being unable to spend fast enough with admiration for efficient American business methods.

"And there were hundreds of letters from people wanting to help me spend my money," he said. "I kept two stenographers busy just answering letters. Every one I answered."

Texans Plan to Construct World's Tallest Building

HOUSTON, TEX.—Houston may be on its way to boasting the world's tallest building, taller by 101 feet than New York's Empire State building.

Plans are being considered by the United Building Supply Company, for erecting a 140-story structure, says Murel Goodell, general manager.

The out-scrapping skyscraper of them all would cost "in the neighborhood of 25 million dollars," Goodell said.

Floor space, Goodell said, would be about 1,500,000 square feet. The building would stand one foot taller than the unfinished Palace of the Soviets in Moscow.

Fire Fan, 8, Hurlled in Air By Water Stream From Hose

MEDFORD, MASS.—A small boy watching a fire at 17-19 Lawrence road was seriously hurt when a fire hose slipped off a hydrant and a powerful stream of water struck him in the chest, literally lifting him off his feet and hurling him under a parked car on the other side of the street.

Dana Whittemore, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Whittemore of 133 Ashcroft road, was at Lawrence Memorial hospital with a brain concussion and a possible skull fracture.

Washington Digest Alas, Poor Yorick, Capital Has Seen Its Last Theater

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON—As Washington hurries through summer, forced to commute to Philadelphia for its major distractions, it is faced with a painful prospect of less diversion next fall. This city which once boasted of almost a dozen legitimate theaters (when it had a much smaller population) is about to have the last one that lingered on alone turned into a movie house.

The old National theater, which opened in 1835, was burned and rebuilt four times, collapsed once, is now about to end its legitimate days on an issue which is giving the Democratic party equal concern—civil rights. The Actors' Equity, to which most actors belong, won't play here because Negroes are not permitted in the audience.

There is talk that the old Belasco theater, erected in 1895 on Madison place, facing Lafayette square, may be recon-ditioned and leased to a management which will lift the racial discrimination practice (the Belasco is currently government property and is used as a storehouse). If the Belasco is not re-opened, Washington will be theaterless.

Baukhage Washington's theatrical tradition began early. One of the first theaters here was the Washington theater at Eleventh and C streets. It opened in 1804 and its ads proclaiming the grand premiere added in small type: "No Segars are to be smoked during the performance."

When that edifice burned, a second Washington theater, seating 700 persons, was opened in 1821. It boasted numerous improvements and innovations, including stoves, reserved seats, improved acoustics, no liquor in the box lobbies and facilities for Negro playgoers. "Facilities" today wouldn't satisfy—accommodations would have to be on a basis of race equality.

Fourteen years after the new Washington theater had opened its doors the National theater appeared on the site of the present movie-house-to-be. It is located in the very center of what only recently has been called "downtown," on E street which meets Pennsylvania avenue just before it bumps into the treasury building, skirts its northern front and ambles past the White House.

Important clubs, hotels and restaurants are only a few blocks from the National today but when it was built, it was, like any other point in the young capital, well-nigh inaccessible in inclement weather. When it rained or snowed, Pennsylvania avenue became a mudhole. Residential areas, except those in Georgetown, weren't far from the center of town in the early 1840s, but because of the rough going (the wealthy didn't like to risk their fancy equipages out on bad nights), it cost as much as $10 to get from home to the show.

Now you can ride all the way from Capitol Hill to what was forest and farmland in 1835 for 30 cents.

The capital's greatest theatrical development began right after the Civil war and went on for three decades. By the time I attended my first show here in 1914, there was no dearth of dramatic entertainment and sometimes three original Broadway companies would be playing in different theaters at the same time. It was a good town for openings up until fairly recently.

There is one theater, now a museum, which is still a point of interest for tourists. Originally it was a Baptist church on Tenth street. In 1861 it was converted into what was called Christy's opera house. Later it became Ford's theater. In the upper stage box of this theater, President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated by the actor, John Wilkes Booth.

There was a saloon on the corner below the theater where Booth was said to have had his last drink before he crept into the theater, shot Lincoln and leaped to the stage, tripping on a piece of bunting and breaking his leg.

For many years, over the bar of that saloon, hung a crude picture of the assassination, and on the floor was a metal marker where the half-mad actor was supposed to have stood as he warmed his courage in preparation for his theatric crime.

Washington theatergoers were well acquainted with John Booth's acting but better still with that of his elder brother, Edwin, who had the greater talent. But they never saw Edwin Booth on a local stage again. He was so heart-broken over his brother's crime that he never again played in the capital.

A theatrical performance in Washington plays one role that it plays in no other American city. It becomes, on certain occasions, few or many according to the taste of the incumbent president, a ceremony of state. No matter how private a president wants to be when he sees a show, he can't help being a public personage on such occasions.

The secret service, responsible for his life, wouldn't think of letting him sit anywhere but in a box where he is separated from the crowd. This, on the other hand, makes him conspicuous. One guard outside the door to Lincoln's box in the Ford theater could have prevented the assassination.

The fact that there was no provision for protection by the government in the Temple of Music in Buffalo cost the nation its President William McKinley.

Since then, the chief executive has had a bodyguard whether he likes it or not, and a bodyguard can't hide its light under a bushel. Entrance and exit from a public building become a little bit of a pageant, no matter how they are effected.

Woodrow Wilson loved the theater. He liked vaudeville and was a frequent visitor at Keith's—now one of our big movie houses. Edmund Starling, head of the secret service under several presidents, often talked to me about how much Wilson loved the theater. Starling enjoyed it, I enjoyed it, and perhaps together, we exaggerated Wilson's affection for the footlights. But Starling used to say that Wilson got more recreation from that source than any other. In his book, "Starling of the White House," he says Wilson preferred musical comedy and vaudeville to serious drama. That was the general impression among the newspapermen, I know.

Both the Roosevelts, Theodore and Franklin, were great theatergoers. Neither of them was a blushing violet as far as receiving adulation of the crowds was concerned, but for a number of reasons, largely the hectic times of the late Roosevelt's regime, the former made his attendance anywhere more of a show. Although an assassin's bullet did lay low a man in Franklin Roosevelt's entourage—Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago when both were visiting Miami—Theodore Roosevelt was himself actually shot and badly wounded on one occasion. However, this was after he left the White House and while he was making a political speech in Milwaukee.

It was the movie which drove out the later Washington legitimate theaters, but this death blow to the present-day National theater arises out of the growing demand to end segregation—a demand which made itself felt after World War I and which increased in World War II. The frequent, well-publicized controversies over lifting of the segregation ban in Constitution hall, property of the Daughters of the American Revolution and one of the few available concert halls in the city, have spotlighted Washington's segregation habits—they aren't laws.

The manager of the National theater is not closing the theater for social reasons. He simply can't book shows if he continues race discrimination and he thinks that if he raises the ban, he can't sell tickets to enough white people to make it pay.

To southerners it probably seems absurd that such a question should arise, and northerners probably will be just as surprised for the opposite reason. Washington was once a southern city, now it is a mixture of North and South and typical of neither.

Embrace, Pity, Then Endure

Before his third party's convention in Philadelphia, Henry Wallace repeated several times the assertion that he was not a Communist, that he didn't want Communist support, in fact, that he wished they'd get out of his party. For this, as some observers pointed out, Wallace was mildly spanked by the Daily Worker, mouthpiece of Muskovite communism in America.

It seems to me that Wallace is following one of Alexander Pope's quatrains in reverse. Remember Pope said:

"Vice is a monster of so frightful mien
As to be hated needs but to be seen,
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

Having embraced the Reds, Wallace seems to be beginning to back up, through pity, and now is finding that he has to endure them, whether he likes them or not.

As PEGLER Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler
Released by WNU Features.

AS THOUGH it were news after so many years, we were told in a congressional dispatch recently that some of the Communist controlled unions of retail clerks had been driving customers out of big stores by ignoring and abusing them. This is old union practice, inherent in that clause of the Roosevelt unionism which purports to protect the virtuous toiler from capricious and spiteful dismissal by the boss. The impudence, indeed truculence, thus evoked is present in almost all the mass-union shops of the C. I. O. IT IS WELL KNOWN IN THE RESTAURANT TRADE AND THE PUBLIC IS BECOMING AWARE OF IT IN A DEFINITE FLIPPANCY IN THE ATTITUDE OF RAILROAD WORKERS ON THE PASSENGER TRAINS.

In Italy, the pugnacity of the railroad fellows, rising sometimes to a flat refusal to move trains unless army officers who were aboard got off, was a Communist trick which, more than any other affront, prepared the people for Mussolini.

Although such sabotage is old practice it is unheard of by many millions of American citizens, including practically all of those who joined up for the war and the whole batch of those who are now 25 years old or less. It includes also, of course, that enormous element of all classifications whose resistance to information never can be conquered.

THUS AN OLD CONDITION WHICH ALL AMERICANS SHOULD UNDERSTAND IS UNKNOWN TO A LARGE ELEMENT OF THE POPULATION.

Extortion Is Motive

There are two main motives for this kind of sabotage. The old, familiar native American motive is extortion and all unioners of the American Federation of Labor hold it to be a holy privilege derived from the robber barons and other ancient gods of their temple.

A swindler or master of tailboard pilfering of the horse-dray days risen to exalted power in an A. F. of L. union—Willie Bioff or Umbrella Mike Boyle, for example—was not expected to debase himself with dishonest protestations of any devotion to the cause of the common man.

The most reliable mouthpiece of these criminals, a Milwaukee ambulance-chaser named Joe Padway, became chief counsel of the A. F. of L. and of the teamsters, musicians and other enormous herds of cringing, sub-human nonentities. He was appropriately honored by Franklin D. Roosevelt with a mission to London during the war.

In passing it may be said that Padway and his chief client, Dan Tobin, the king-emperor of the teamsters, who was sent along with him, both were scared to death but were on a spot and had to go. When Tobin found himself back in the United States and not flapping around from cloud to cloud whanging discords out of a pawnshop harp he decided that Roosevelt, by his dirty trick, had made him a hero of the labor movement.

HIS Demeanor EVER SINCE HAS MADE SERGEANT YORK LOOK LIKE A RIVETER IN WICHITA.

Principle Is Same

The principle of the untouchability of the man on the job by the man who pays the wages is the base of the privilege of sabotage whether by common American extortioners or Muscovites pledged to destroy the United States.

The theory which Roosevelt followed was that the boss was the worker's enemy and would do him dirt for fun if for no better reason. This was imparted to his department of labor, his labor relations board, loaded as it was with forthright and more or less covert Communists, and his various war labor agencies. They never forgot it.

The fact was that the union bosses of both the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. were real enemies of labor and were the most brutal, rapacious and defiant oppressors in the history of this republic. ROOSEVELT'S AFFECTION FOR THE SO-CALLED COMMON MAN WAS, AS HE WAS HONEST ENOUGH TO REVEAL, STRICTLY RHETORICAL AND POLITICAL.

The Communist motive is to demoralize organization in a department store or factory, impoverish management and thus necessitate dismissals which then became a grievance for a strike and further disorders, preferably violent.

The discipline of the unions, imposed on millions of American citizens by Roosevelt, was foreseen and calculated. The guilt of William Green, John L. Lewis, Phil Murray, Frances Perkins, and Roosevelt himself is unmitigated.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Why Don't Bachelors Marry?

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"My present man not only dodges any serious talk of matrimony, but he openly exults in his skill in maintaining his independence."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

ONE of the worst menaces to the happiness of women is the contented bachelor. He infuriates them and they don't seem to know what to do about him.

His age range is from about 30 to anywhere in the 60s. He is prosperous, pleased with himself and just a little simple. He thinks the women who entertain him, cook the food he likes and brighten into sympathy when he talks, the women who light cozy little fires for him and set chummy little supper tables for him are just as pleased with the situation as he is.

On my desk is a letter from Mary Innes of Boston, 38 years old, a successful business woman, widowed and the mother of a grown daughter just entering college.

"I'm good-looking, well-dressed, healthy, affectionate," says Mary's most amusing letter. "I like life, I like men. And what do I get? Bachelors with mothers or sisters clinging to them, who have to telephone home whenever they miss a meal there. Or widowers who never will forget dear Helen. But how they love the meals I manage to cook in my two-room-and-kitchenette apartment, how they praise the coziness of my fireside! After a hard office day I might like a downtown meal, lights and music, a movie or show. Not Mister Widower! He wants to settle into the big chair, relax and talk about himself."

Knows Bachelors Well.

"In my seven years of widowhood," the letter goes on, "I've come to know them as an absolute type. They bring occasional boxes of candy or perhaps a book. They regard this as great thoughtfulness. 'Get your candy? Like that book?' they chuckle complacently."

"The one I'm working on now," says Mary, apparently taking another deep breath, "is an awfully nice fellow of 44. I'd marry him tomorrow and make a comfortable home for him. But why should he marry, when he can have just as much of my companionship as he likes, enjoy home-cooked meals, confide to me all his plans and be sure of a good listener whenever he wants to talk?"

"He has two daughters, both married. I have one who lives in a distant city. There is no question of further children. So all he has to do is go on this way indefinitely, with a minimum of expense, no responsibility, no domestic quarrels or problems."

"What makes me bitter," the letter ends, "is that this man, like many of them, makes it a habit to dine out with other independent women, perhaps four or five times a week. Perhaps they all have equal hopes of marriage in the future. If so, we're a pitiful lot. We have no money to take expensive vacations or join exclusive clubs and when, by chance, we do meet a fine man, he evades us in this way. My present man not only dodges any serious talk of matrimony, but he openly exults in his skill in maintaining his independence. Is there any way to handle this situation a little more fairly?"

Poor Mary, living in the third largest city of the eastern coast and watching thousands of eligible

... this time he had a ring.

BACHELOR TROUBLE

Is an eligible bachelor justified in accepting the hospitality, comfort and coziness of an unmarried woman's home without assuming some serious measure of obligation for her thoughtful graciousness? Are most bachelors so naive that they presume that a woman cooks for them, entertains them, listens attentively to them and praises them because of the inherent satisfaction she receives from each individual act? Don't men understand that companionship alone means nothing to a woman?

These are some of the questions posed to Miss Norris by Mary, a disappointed widow who is thoroughly baffled by the illogical logic which she claims most bachelors use.

Mary informs Miss Norris that her current heart interest is a widower of 44. He wines and dines with other women four or five times each week and crows about his ability to avoid entering a marriage. How, Mary asks, can this situation be handled more fairly?

Miss Norris answers Mary by citing a parallel situation in which another woman was involved. She solved her problem by simply giving notice to her emotionless suitor that she could see him no longer. It wasn't long before he was knocking at the door—with a ring in his hand.

men stream by her, without a single real bite! But after all, she has had her day. She did have 12 happy years with a devoted husband and she has a child whose better fortunes in the matrimonial market she can watch.

Men Are Hard to Catch.

For the hard truth is that men, after the early 30s become harder and harder to catch. They may be bold as lions in taking business chances, in tennis, poker and baseball games, in hunting or exploring. But they grow increasingly timid and shy about getting married. The deep unknown seas of wedlock terrify them.

The young passions of the late teens and early twenties are behind them. Those years of enthusiasms over the girl, the new home, the nursery and the better job are long past. Marriage, to be sure, does offer certain attractions, but they are more than offset by its dangers and uncertainties.

If a woman has independent means and always can be perfumed and free, with an aproned maid serving dinner and a European trip in prospect, then a man may well begin to desire what he suspects he can't reach.

One woman I know solved it and has been the happy possessor of a new mate for many years. She was 36 when she said to one of these honey-sipping social bees, "I'm not going to see you again, John. I mean it. Don't telephone and don't come. I like you too much. I've got to—I've got to get over it."

Sympathetic, shocked, he consented. He went away. But just 19 days later he called. And this time he had a ring.

SAVANNAH, GA.—What if your child were charming at breakfast, offered to do a chore and paid you a compliment before leaving for school?

Those were the assignments for pupils of Mrs. Martha M. Mavromat, teacher of civics here.

One startled mother gave her son castor oil because she thought he was coming down with a fever.

"I didn't realize he was going places with citizenship," she explained.

Keep powdered sugar in tightly covered glass or tin containers to prevent lumping.

You really should cook potatoes and other root vegetables in their jackets. Valuable vitamins and minerals are near to the skin.

Slice leftover potatoes, pour over them some white sauce and grated cheese, then heat in the oven for one-half hour.

Vary bread pudding by garnishing with chopped nuts, marshmallow sauce, shredded coconut, or maraschino cherry sauce.

Little children love sweet animal milk toast. Toast bread, cut it into animal shapes with a cookie cutter, spread lightly with jelly or jam and pour hot milk over the top.

When only a few drops of lemon juice are needed, puncture fruit with a fork or sharp-pointed knife. Squeeze gently. This prevents wasting the whole lemon.

To remove bits of ground meat easily from the food chopper, follow up the meat with a small amount of stale bread. The bread-crumbs will carry away any meat which remains in the chopper.

To preserve the new appearance of your refrigerator, remember that defrosting alone is not enough. Clean it thoroughly, inside and out, with soap and water every time it is defrosted.

Oranges at room temperature, or slightly warmer, will give more juice than chilled fruits.

CROP OF GOLD FLOWS AGAIN . . . Once again the nation harvests a bumper wheat crop, providing food for a hungry world. This scene at Kansas City shows thousands of wheat-filled railroad cars jamming the yards. Grain elevators, too, are being packed to capacity with the golden grain. In the background is the 10 million bushel Santa Fe elevator. The current wheat crop is expected to approximate 1,241,751,000 bushels, exceeding the previous government estimate by 4 per cent. If that amount is actually harvested, it will represent the second largest crop in history. Acreage in other crops also is among the largest in history and yield prospects remain good throughout the country.

END OF A SAGA . . . The veteran battlewagon, the USS New York, whose 34-year naval career spanned two world wars and two atomic tests, slipped to her final berth two miles beneath the surface of the Pacific after weapon tests. After eight and one-half hours of pounding by ships and aircraft of the Pacific fleet, the gallant ship exposes her vulnerable underhull for the first time in her long career. Insert shows the veteran ship battered and smoking from the first two hours of aerial bombardment. Sinking of the ship brought an abrupt end to the weapon tests, which originally had been scheduled to extend for two days.

SPECTACULAR WATERFRONT FIRE . . . Miles of hose line snake along the streets of Baltimore's waterfront and streams of water provide a fountain-like effect as 30 pieces of apparatus and fireboats battle spectacular fire which raged through the six-story building of the William G. Scarlett company. Loss is estimated at nearly a million dollars.

LIKE KNIGHTS OF OLD . . . Jeeps and armored cars of the 14th U.S. constabulary squadron pass in review at Grafenwohr, Germany, with their antennas waving like lances of the knights in King Arthur's day. The ceremony commemorated the return of the 16th infantry regiment. Meanwhile, the western Allies continued ferrying food into beleaguered Berlin in an effort to crack Russia's "starvation siege" of the city where four-power control has brought a series of "cold war" incidents.
