THE INNOCENT ATOM

SALESMANSHIP IS DEAD

Speakers at a national convention of salesmanship executives declared that the sellers' market is over and that salesmanship, now MOSCOW: at its lowest ebb, must devise new techniques. Salesmanship, in the eyes of the customer, has become not only dead but mummified. In the period of shortages and wide salesman has ceased to function, except in the manner of a deep- a conference. freeze unit.

It has become an exploit similar to a polar dash to approach the fellow who was supposed to be interested in selling something.

The customer's greatest need in contacting a salesman has been proper defrosting equipment.

It has been years since we saw a clerk or salesman in many fields smile, register interest or show half of 1 per cent politeness toward the buyer. We have frequently had our lower extremities frozen on the trip from the store or agency entrance to the salesman's desk. _#_

The old-fashioned American salesman who used to spring to his feet when a customer appeared, extend the glad hand, show a keen desire to be of service and cultivate good will or bust has largely disappeared.

We can remember away back when, even if the staff had no stock on hand, it never greeted a customer with that "less than the dust beneath my chariot wheels" manner, and when every salesman, or clerk realized that there was no percentage in making a customer feel that a visit to a salesroom or store was like a trip through the icepack.

Too many salesmen today don't even bother to show routine civility. They have developed complete indifference to a high art. They give you the old "This is all so unnecessary and annoying" look if you ask more than two questions of 10 words each. They give you the definite feeling that you are indulging in a futile dialogue in an Eskimo igloo.

The other day we went to an auto salesroom back home and found even the head of the company giving an over-all demonstration of how to freeze the prospective buyer in three simple lessons. He was on the floor supposedly assisting, and at the moment talking listlessly with a prospect. We, drew near and awaited our turn. The gent walked off to a far corner nut as much as an Excuse me I'll be with you in a moment."

Up to this time we had assumed that at least the boss knew the fundamental rules of holding customer good will.

TRANSFER OF DUROCHER

It was obvious that Mel Ott couldn't stand up against Leo Durocher: He was using catchers for catchers.

Many good gags have followed the Du-rocher incident but we liked Walker Cooper's "All catchers out for infield practice, boys!" when his team got the

How to score the Durocher play puzzles us, but we would be inclined to say that he slid from first in Brooklyn to second in New York but was called out by Rickey for failing to touch Brooklyn bridge.

"Supreme Court Justice Murray Hearn, president of the Brooklyn council for social planning, said the outbreak of juvenile crime constitutes an emergency in which it is essential to enlist the help of every citizen."— News item.

What! No dismissal of the situation with a denunciation of the parents and schools?

Fashion experts say that skimpiness in bathing suits has gone the limit and that a "new look" costume soon will appear, which may include a return to the bloomers, blouse and stockings milady used to wear at the beach. This will aggravate traffic. Think of the crowds that would be drawn to the beaches by the sight of women with clothes on.

Charges of communistic control of store unions in New York are growing by the hour. We now hear that to all queries how to reach a department, the information clerk says, "Just keeping bearing to the left all the way."

And Ima Dodo insists she went to the hardware department for a hammer and was told she couldn't have one unless she took a sickle.

Moscow Talks Provide Peace Hope; Congress Eyes Inflation, Housing; Red Spy Scare Startles Country

-By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer-

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Conference

Practically all that anyone knew during the initial stages of the Moscow conference between Josef Stalcustomer demand the average in and the ambassadors of three western nations was that there was

The opacity of a thick censorship ban overlaid any details of what was happening.
Nevertheless, the impression was that the talks fathered by the desperation inherent in the Berlin crisis, might be the first step in easing off the strain between Russia and the western powers. Some information that slipped through the secrecy wall indicated that both sides might be willing to make some concessions in order to further negotiations between Russia and the U.S., Great Britain and France.

The talks with Stalin and Molotov were reported to have produced at least one new suggestion-that prior to another Big Four conference there should be a meeting of the U. S., Russian, British and French deputy foreign ministers.

Such a conference would, theoretically, be accompanied by a gradual relaxation of the restrictions which the Soviets have clamped on the western areas of Berlin and which brought the East-West relations to their present boiling point.

Although it might be the height of optimism, Communist Russia being what it is, there was some faint hope that such a piecemeal lifting of the Berlin blockade might bring about a provisional meeting of minds on the subject of German currency and other irritating is-

At the worst, such a discussion at least would tend to act as a brake against a drift to war and provide a breathing space for talks with Moscow on more basic controver-

There was, however, still another interpretation of the discussions between Stalin and the three western ambassadors: Russia, having carried its Berlin blockade virtually to the ultimate point short of war. might be thinking that it had brought the western powers to a position where they would have to accede to Soviet demands if they wished to avoid conflict.

CONGRESS:

Unwilling

Probably the only accomplishment of the special summer session of congress called by President Truman was to provide both parties with a bigger and better supply of political ammunition for the elec- finally gave it up because of lack tion campaign.

Democrats would be able to say that the GOP congress simply sat back on its haunches and did nothing about the pressing problems of inflation, housing and other nation-

Republicans could counter with the assertion that, within the bounds of their political beliefs and judgment of what is best for the nation, they did all they could under the circumstances. To that they probably would add the stock argument that the whole thing is the fault of the 16-year Democratic regime and that the ultimate solution must lie in the election of a Republican administration this No-

One result of the special session that might be classed as favorable was that it served to sharpen the rough edges of the wide cleavage between the two parties over domestic problems and give the voters a more clear-cut, definitive idea of what they will be deciding on November 2.

Despite President Truman's laborious diatribes against congress and his repeated warnings that controls alone will curb the now dangerous inflation, in the final analysis it remained foolish to believe that the GOP congress ever would take the action he recommended. Republicans simply do not approve of that method of handling the nation's economy.

Republican congressmen agreed only to string along with legislation serving to reimpose consumer credit controls, with some limitation on bank credits, and to speed action on a watered-down housing program which does little except ease credit terms for home builders.

The anti-poll tax measure, blocked for a week by a droning filibuster by southern Democrats, finally withered and blew away in dust.

TAXATION: 125 Billion

By the end of this year individual taxpayers in the U.S. will have paid nearly 125 billion dollars in direct personal taxes, according to a survey entitled "Domestic Consumer Markets" prepared by the National Industrial Conference board.

Last year, the report says, Americans paid more in personal taxes erable portion of the remaining than they spent for new homes, crop, however, was in various

'Then There Was...

Whittaker Chambers, a senior editor of Time magazine and an admitted former member of the Communist party, got a load off his chest when he told the house un-American activities committee the names of a few more higher echelon government officials who had participated in the notorious Washington spy ring of a decade ago. His testimony included the names of Alger Hiss, former state department official; Nathan Witt, former attorney for NLRB, and Lee Pressman, former CIO general counsel.

ESPIONAGE:

Dragon Seed

The dragon seeds of international espionage sown during the war suddenly had begun to bloom with a vengeance and the nation's capital seemed to be overgrown with spies and rumors of spies.

First stone was cast by Miss Elizabeth Bentley, self-confessed courier for Soviet agents, who revealed that much of her information had come from sources in official government positions.

She showed no hesitancy in naming names, among which were those of Nathan G. Silvermaster, board of economic warfare and war assets administration official; William W. Remington, former commerce department official, and Alger Hiss, former state department official active in the establishment of the United Nations.

There was no visible proof that any of the persons she implicated ever had furnished information to the Soviet espionage ring, although some had Communistic backgrounds. As a matter of fact, the FBI reported that it had spent more than three million dollars in an investigation of the same matter months prior to the current excitement. The G-men of documentary proof.

But congressional investigations were under way in both the senate and house. Testimony included the usual flamboyant accusations and recriminations but failed to produce any concrete evidence.

Rep. Karl Mundt (Rep., S. D.), chairman of the house un-American activities committee, added to the national impact of the affair by asserting that there is "good reason to believe a Communist spy ring is operating in Washington right now.'

His committee was investigating, he said, although the public hearings so far had dealt only with the testimony that a Red espionage system was at work in the U.S. during the

COTTON:

Mechanized

Last of the great American farm commodities to remain essentially a man-mule crop, cotton finally is becoming mechanized, thus eliminating the necessity of maintaining vast armies of laborers to meet the two peak labor periods of the crop cycle.

Mechanization is one of the major steps in the effort of cotton people from Virginia to California to achieve lower production costs. To the 121/2 million people in 18 states who derive all or a substantial part of their income from cotton it is of paramount importance that they keep their crop competitive cost-wise.

The answer lies, to a great extent, in mechanization. Thinning and weeding equipment and harvesting machines are revamping the farm picture in the South.

The mechanical cotton picker is capable of performing the work of 40 to 50 human pickers, varying with weather conditions, land surface, and other factors.

Typical result of mechanization was the experience of a Mississippi farmer who used a flame cultivator to control weeds at a cost of 50 cents an acre at the same time human choppers were costing $5. Of course, complete mechanization of cotton will not materialize overnight. National Cotton council, representing the entire industry, reports that in 1947 less than 3 per cent of the crop could be classed as entirely mechanized. A considcars, furniture and medical care. stages of mechanization.

RELIGION

World Council

"To justify the ways of God to man" was John Milton's expressed purpose for writing his monolithic epic poem of the Reformation, "Paradise Lost."

Academically Milton succeeded in providing that justification for his own and an unknowable number of future generations of Christians. But since the 16th century days of Milton human society has turned an increasingly cold cheek to the spiritual values preached by every great Christian since Paul.

Particularly since the outset of the 20th century man's attention has been claimed more and more by the dramatic power of materialism which has been brought into full play as a result of this technological economy with its assembly lines, power politics and repetitive wars.

Thus, the problem now is not so much how to justify God's ways to man as it is how to justify man's society in the eyes of God. And if, as many churchmen believe, no such justification is possible, then how to work a reasonable and beneficial change in the society which men have wrought.

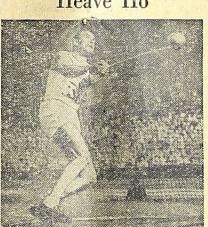

It is that problem which the World Council of Churches, composed of 148 Protestant and Orthodox churches from 40 nations, will endeavor to meet squarely at its first world assembly in Amsterdam August 22 to September 4.

Four hundred and fifty church leaders - laymen and clergymen alike - are determined, among other things, "to assess the strengths and weaknesses of present-day Christendom" and "to define a basis of common principle upon which Christians can cooperate for world order."

Under the conference theme, "Man's Disorder and God's Dethe delegates will attack such questions as: How to infuse more spirituality into our mechaniized society without advocating the destruction of all mechanization? What action can the church take among its members to aid in establishment of world order and what is the church's answer to the amoral power politics of the present day?

If these are tough questions, the World Council of Churches is likely to prove itself spiritually tough and realistic enough to go a long way toward providing some of the ans-

HOLY LAND:

Optimism

Although the July 18 truce in Palestine put at least a temporary end to the military bloodshed between Jews and Arabs, the struggle for rights and power continues behind the diplomatic scenes in the Near East.

However, there is some reason to believe now that many of the troubles in the troubled spot may be smoothed out when Count Folke Bernadotte, U. N. mediator, proposes his next peace plan in Sep-

One of the reasons for such optimism is the attitude of King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, most powerful of the Arab league states.

Abdullah has asked for full and careful consideration of any future proposal for permanent peace in Palestine.

And, he said, his "Arab nation does not exclude any possible compromise that secures justice and prevents unnecessary bloodshed.

"We would like that the efforts of Count Bernadotte in the refugee problem be successful, and afterwards that any new proposals which he will make should not be rejected outright, but be fully discussed before they are put in final form."

That Old Oil

Oil is being consumed in the U. S. today at a rate exceeding the total world consumption of only 10 years ago, according to an article in a recent issue of "Business Comment," bulletin of the Northern Trust company in Chicago.

Demand for all oils in the first quarter of 1948 averaged 6.3 million barrels daily, an increase of 7 per cent over the corresponding period of 1947.

Washington Digest

Czech Refugee Confirms Crack in Iron Curtain

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Is the Union of Soviet Socialist Republic. cracking? That's an idea which is being toyed with by some wishful thinkers in Washington while others consider it one of the most dangerous playthings that ever got into the hands of unwary

In any case, the theory is worth examining. It appears to have been encouraged by some members of the little group of highly intelligent but also highly prejudiced people who form a constantly growing segment of Washington society—the political refugees from the countries on the Soviet borders. One can, however, trust this group for certain basic facts.

Recently, I learned one of these ? facts which may surprise you. Of us have been led to assume that at least the governments and the controlling Communist minorities which support them have been able to produce a degree of mutual affection which action we wondered. What about the frontiers between these countries and Russia?

satisfies the Kremlin. After Tito's

The answer came from an anti-Communist, recently arrived from Czechoslovakia-one of the many persons who are seeping out of that and other satellite countries every day. He was asked in my presence if the frontier between his country and Russia was open, in the sense that travel was permitted under the same conditions that obtain between normally friendly nations.

The Czech laughed. He said: 'The border between my country and Russia is no tighter than a dam would have to be to keep a drop of water from getting through.'

I have heard the Russian frontiers of other satellite nations similarly My informant also outlined other significant conditions in Czechoslovakia, first reminding us of three important facts: 1. Czechoslovakia is the most industrialized of all the satellites.

2. It is also the most democratic in the realistic sense we view democracy. In other words, the country is thoroughly indoctrinated with the kind of democratic methods we know. This is due in part, of course to the fact that so many of the men responsible for formation of the Czech republic spent many years in the United States and were made thoroughly familiar with American me It is also due to the fact that they had a long period of practical experience in putting these methods into effect in their own country. 3. The Czechs had a very high standard of living compared to the other satellites. These factors, taken together, made the Czechs particularly vulnerable to a Communist coup. When it came, because of their democratic training and high standard of living, the Czechs were particularly unhappy as an aftermath of Communist methods and Russian domination. In other words, the Czechs had more to lose than any of the other countries within the

Greater Problems

Are in Prospect

Czechoslovakia is not yet thoroughly communized. There is still a certain amount of open criticism. There have been no wholesale purges. Undoubtedly, these will come, but when they do—and herein those who believe that the Soviet position is weakening are encouraged-the prospects are that the harder the Russians crack down, the greater problem Czechoslovakia will present to her Kremlin overseers.

Before the coup that ended in the death of Masaryk took place, it was estimated that perhaps 20 per cent of the people had been indoctrinated with communism. Another 10 per cent were sympathetic, chiefly from a theoretical point of view. My Czech informant declares that it can be reliably estimated that the taste of practical communism which the people have had now has reduced that communist score to 15 per cent.

He also confirmed the recent statements about the army-though he gave no figures-made by Gen. Antonin Hasal who escaped to the American zone of Germany in the middle of July. Hasal said that 70 per cent of the enlisted men and non-commissioned officers in the Czech army was anti-Communist. My informant put it this way:

"The air force, many of whose members fought with the R. A. F., is almost entirely pro-Western. If the Reds hadn't drained the tanks of all the planes before the coup, not likely to get down at the heel.

most of them would have flown away." Many did anyway and Czech planes are turning up continually in Western controlled areas of Europe. This occurs in civil aviation too because many of the pilots are former members of the air corps. But if the Red government cannot trust the air corps, it has even less confidence in the Czech armored force. It has been necessary to immobilize it.

But the greatest friction caused by partial communiza-tion is felt in the nation's economy. Everyone suffers, at least indirectly, because of this, but it can be seen most clearly among workers. Recent figures, which were made available to the public, indicate that there is a sharp falling-off in the man-hour productiveness. This could be attributed either to conscious sabotage or to a feeling of indifference and resentment caused by reduced pay and restrictions on the union labor movement.

Before the Russians moved in, 75 to 80 per cent of Czechoslovakia's foreign trade was with non-Communist countries. This has been considerably reduced under pressure from Russia, but even now some 60 to 70 per cent of her exports go to Western Europe.

Virtually the entire output of the great Skoda arms factory goes to Russia. The output is largely heavy artillery. Production of small arms for Russia also has been stepped up greatly.

Chance of Revolt

Termed Small

Objective observers admit that there is small chance of an open revolt. That isn't the Czech method. They are great underground workers, but they haven't the enthusiasm for blood-letting that people like the Yugoslavs have. If, however, the Soviets became involved in war, undoubtedly the Czechs would join heartily with those they consider their liberators.

Those persons who predict a crack in the iron curtain base part of their argument on an attitude among Czech leaders which is said to parallel that of Tito's supporters in Yugoslavia. That is this question of nationalism. There have been recent reports from Europe that Czech Premier Gottwald, who always has been considered Moscow's right-hand-man in Czechoslovakia, is about to fall from Soviet grace for the same reason Tito fell.

Gottwald is a lifelong Communist who was won over to the Marxian philosophy before he had an opportunity to see it put into effect in his own country. He was an apt and willing student in Moscow, but he apparently cherished the illusion that his own country could accept the communist form of government and still maintain its identity and its independence. The utter domination by Russia has become not only distasteful to Gottwald but also to at least two other members of his cabinet, including the minister of justice.

Gottwald is not the leader that Tito is and he probably can be brushed aside. But the viewpoint he has come to represent is pointed out as one of the weaknesses of the Russian system.

There is one other fact which cannot be hidden from the eyes of any careful observer with some military knowledge of Czechoslovakia. That is that the military preparations in the country which the Russians have carried out are almost 100 per cent defensive. Apparently, the Russian fear of invasion from the West is greater than their desire or ability to prepare for offensive warfare.

As proof of this, my informant told me that although one of the scarcest consumer products in Czechoslovakia is paper, two of the biggest mills manufacturing it were limiting their output to blackout paper only. These are some of the reasons back of the theory which the people who believe in the old military axiom that you mustn't underestimate the enemy say is dangerous.

Britain's labor government of Attlee and Bevin declared the dockers' strike a national emergency, the first such proclamation since 1926 when Bevin himself was a strike leader. Proves how you can make the shoe fit, even when it's on the other foot.

High Costs Hit All

This reporter believes that the most rabid Republican or the most partisan Democrat will admit that the high cost of living is hurting the American people and is the most dom-inant domestic issue in this cam-

There is no family, rich or poor, that is not feeling the impact of the unreasonable or unconscionable prices the people must pay for whatever they buy, necessities or luxuries. There is no denying the fact that millions in the lower income brackets are exhausting their savings and cashing in their war bonds to pay for the daily cost of

There also is the undeniable fact that insofar as the American people are concerned the time has gone by for recriminations, for "who done it" investigations or for casting about for who is to blame for the inflationary spiral in which the people are enmeshed.

The unescapable conclusion is that those most vitally affected either by action or inaction of the special session of the Rath congress are the large masses of the people in the home towns, on the farms, in the factories and offices and particularly those with fixed incomes.

The President of the United States nas charged that the American people "cannot risk the danger or suffer the hardship of another eight months of doing nothing about high prices." It appears that the only answer to that charge can come from the people at the polls next November.

The Republican leadership in congress has charged, along with Governor Dewey and his campaign manager, that the President's excuse for this special session of congress was "solely a political maneuver in the campaign for his own reelection." The only realistic answer to that also must come from the people at the polls next Novem-

Whether or not the President's program would indeed lower the living costs, of course, is a debatable question but it at least is a positive program of action. Apparently the Republican leadership has decided that inaction is the

Changing Senate Rule

Just for the sake of the record and to correct a widespread belief in a fallacy, any rule of the senate may be changed by a simple maority vote. The Republicans have a majority in the senate.

So the Republicans could by a simple majority vote of their membership change the two-thirds rule to establish a cloture and limit debate.

Thus, instead of using it as a strategic move to prevent action on anything, had the GOP wished to pass the civil rights program they could have killed off a filibuster at any time they wished. This reporter verified this fact with the parliamentarian of the senate.

In most groceries nowadays you buy oranges, bananas or other commodities by the pound instead of by the dozen or by the bushel. So a campaign is under way, sponsored by the American Feed Manufacturers association of Chicago, to change grain buying and selling methods from a bushel basis to a hundred-weight basis.

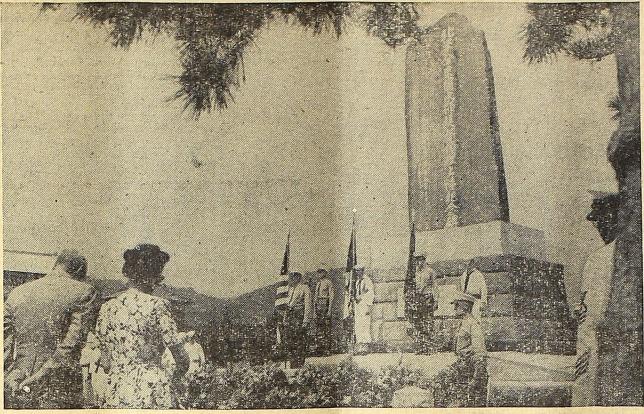

Different Story

Charles P. Howard, a Negro publisher of Des Moines, Iowa, and keynoter of the Wallace third party convention at Philadelphia, for the first time experiencing "human dignity," spent that time in castigating the President of the United States, Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York and other leaders of both political parties.

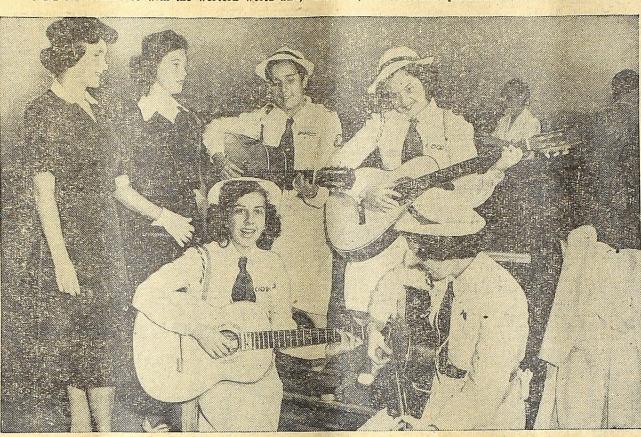

While most of these charges were false, Howard should remember that although he branded his own country as a land of terror and near slavery and Russia as a land of freedom, had he been a Russian speaking in Russia instead of an American speaking in an American city, he would have been shot or by this time well into Siberia as a slave in the salt mines.

Same Game, Other Rules

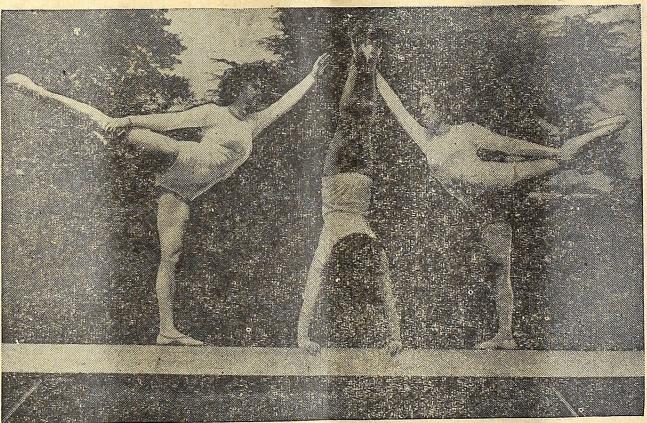

Foreign diplomats were amazed at the stony hostility with which the President was greeted when he made his personal appearance to deliver his message to the special session. These foreigners cannot understand the American way of play ing politics. In any other country failure of the Truman program be-fore congress would have meant the fall of the government. But despite political mud-slinging, there is no politics in the danger of war.

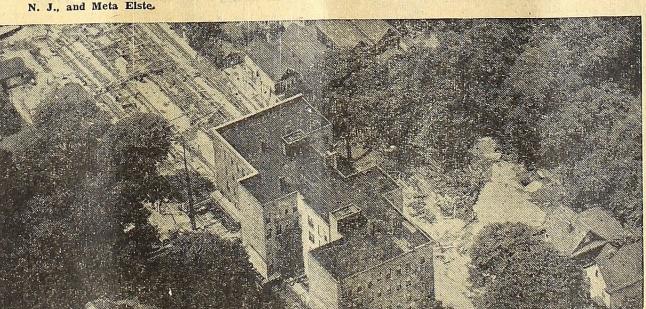

WHERE PERRY LANDED IN 1853 . . . Things are going so well in Japan that the United States is paying official homage to the spot where Commodore Perry landed 95 years ago. A mass celebration was held at Kurihama, site of the historic landing in 1853. The ceremonies in which high ranking U. S. and allied officers participated were held to commemorate the date of Perry's entry into Japan. Part of the story is inscribed in Japanese on the monument. It was a truly momentous landing, opening Japan as it did for commerce with the western world and, of course, for other less pleasant events.

JUST A GIRL SCOUT SERENADE . . . Arriving from Brazil to attend the world conference of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts at Cooperstown, N. Y., August 13-23, four Brazilian Girl Scouts twang out a South American serenade on their guitars for the benefit of a reception committee of United States Girl Scouts who greeted them at LaGuardia field. The good neighbors are: (kneeling) Teresa Machado and Vera Fernandes, (standing) Dea Fernandes and Haydee Fernandes. Standing at the left are two of the American scouts: Susan Brady of Woodside troop 4146 and Grace Haas of Springfield Gardens troop 4392.

GLAMOROUS SIDE OF THE OLYMPICS . . . With American athletes running, jumping, pole vaulting and swimming away with almost every gold medal in sight in the 1948 Olympic games, press photographers were kept so busy recording these events that they hardly had time to take pictures of some of the finer elements of the big sports show. Well, hardly. One of them ran across some of the U. S. girl gymnasts having a practice session and he let his aesthetic sense run away with him. This picture was the result. Cavorting on the fence rail are (left to right) Anita Simonis of New York, Helen Schifano of Newark, FIVE-STORY APARTMENT HOUSE ON THE MOVE . . . Life in these United States is getting so crowded, it seems, that before anything new can be built something old has to be moved or torn down. This three-wing, five-story apartment house, complete with full quota of tenants, is shown as it was moved on Van Wyck boulevard in New York to make way for the new highway to Idlewild international airport. Photo shows the arrangement of blocks and rollers on which the big building of brick and masonry was moved. Tenants, meantime, went about their business as usual. Flexible waterlines and emergency power cables kept regular services up to par.

WITH "Juvenile Jury" re-turning to its regular Sunday afternoon stint on Mutual, emcee Jack Barry is gearing himself for the psychological switch from its summer replacement, "Life Begins at Eighty," to the youngsters' amusing performance. Their newest member, 4-year-old Johnny Mc-Bride, charmed audiences last season by his obliviousness to the fact that he was on the air. If he felt like sleeping, he closed his eyes. He spoke up only when he had something to say. At one point he startled Barry by redirecting a question to him. He is probably the most uninhibited young man on the air.

Jeff Donnell was having a fine vacation in Maine, after playing a leading role in a summer stock theater, when she was summoned back to Hollywood to appear in RKO's "Interference" opposite Victor Mature. Jeff, cast as the wife of a gridiron hero, will be in good company - Lucille Ball, Lizabeth Scott, Sonny Tufts and Lloyd Nolan work with her.

Back in the 1920's, Walter Catlett played an important role in "Sally" during its 4-year run on the New York stage. Marilyn Miller starred. Now, Catlett has been signed for the musical based on her

A new version of "The Better Half" will return to the Mutual network August 19, with several new comedy routines added. "Tiny" Ruffner will be master of ceremonies and "The Three Jesters" will provide a musical background.

Brian Foy goes in for good casting rather than big names in his pictures, which is one reason Scott Brady got a wonderful break in "Canon City." Hal Wallis spotted Scott soon after he arrived in Hollywood, told him he could make good in pictures and to do something about it. Scott spent ten months working hard in a little theater company learning to act. Good looking, fine company, very modest about his own achievements, he needs only a few more good roles to land at the top in Hollywood.

Producer Edward Small has arranged to film "Lorna Doone" England so that he can take advantage of the huge castles in Exmoor, the locale of the classic novel laid in 17th century England. He will do it in technicolor.

Ingrid Bergman has always wanted to see the places where Joan of Arc lived, fought and died, so now that she is in Europe making a film she is taking advantage of all free time to visit those historic scenes.

Jean Heather was a sophomore at the University of Washington when a Paramount talent scout saw her. The result was a part in "Going My Way" and a long-term contract. She worked up to top roles, then decided to go back to college. She's back in Hollywood now with a degree. Eagle-Lion promptly came up with a leading role for her in "Red Stallion in the Rockies."

Jack Berch, who sings for millions of NBC listeners each weekday morning, has taken another step in his drive to promote the Golden Rule. He has formed a "Good Neighbor club." Admission is gained by submitting a clipping firom a local newspaper in which a good deed or act of kindness is described. Jack reads the most unusual ones on the air.

ODDS AND ENDS—Billie Burke will bave one of her usual featherbrained roles in Metro's technicolor musical, "The Bark-leys of Broadway,"... Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire head the cast.... Lurene Tuttle has established berself so firmly as "Effie Perrine," secretary of "Sam Spade," that she had to be written out of the script while on vacation. . . . William Snyder, "Truth or Consequences" contestant who is out to put Hollywood on the map in ten weeks by getting 1,000,000 people to sign his petition, has been collecting signatures at the rate of from 5,000 to 10,000 a day since June 9.

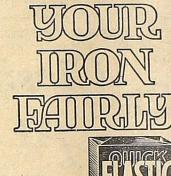

QUESTION: Please tell me how to remove old paint from "white limed oak" finish on a dining set. ANSWER: Soften the old paint with paint remover, then take it off with a hand scraper and steel wool. Carefully avoid scratching or gouging the wood. Follow by cleaning off every trace of remover with benzine or turpentine. If the color of the wood is what you wish, you can refinish with quick-drying varnish or in some other way.

QUESTION: What can I do in the way of refinishing a brass bed? ANSWER: If you wish to paint the bed, go all over the metal with sandpaper to roughen it slightly, wipe it with turpentine and then apply one or two coats of enamel undercoater. Finish with a coat of enamel.

QUESTION: We have to put a new floor down in our basement. Which is better, plank or concrete? ANSWER: Do not use boards because they will rot in time. Have a good waterproof, concrete floor laid by a mason contractor.

QUESTION: What can I use to wash my furniture?

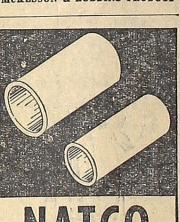

ANSWER: Clear turpentine is often used to clean the woodwork of furniture followed by polishing with a coat of paste wax applied thinly and well rubbed, when dry.

Most of the cure claimants are probably sincere in their intentions. Usually many and volumimous testimonals are presented to indicate that wonderful results have been obtained through the use of the particular remedies involved. Almost invariable the claims are not accompanied by proof such as would be required by research workers. In other words, animals are treated and apparent recoveries occur, but there is no evidnce to indicate that similarly affected animals which were not treated have been observed. Also proof of the complete recovery aside from casual physical observation is nearly always lacking. Years ago claims were received indicating that there were cures for bovine tuberculosis. No such cures have yet been demonstrated.

More recently claims have been advanced regarding curing of Bang's disease and mastitus. The testimonials are glowing and numerous. But when definite proof, such as laboratory test results, is requested, such proof is not available. Some of the remedies used for Bang's disease have been proved to be nothing more than corn starch or brown sugar and bran. Research workers at Michigan State College stand willing to give so called cures a fair trial and to render unbiased reports pertaining to the results. For such trials there must be an opportunity to know something about the nature of the claimed remedy and a chance to check results against control animals. So when Exten-

We are planning an official dedication of your Chamber of Commerce office pending the possibility of having Harvey Campbell of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce as the principal dedication speaker.

A general meeting has been planned for the latter part of September. This meeting will be primarily a pep meeting for the coming Winter Sports program. The date and place of this meeting will be announced by the Committee in the near future. Everyone is urged to attend this meeting as we are planning on having the Winter Sports movie that was filmed during our last Winter Sports season by the Capital Film Company through the expense of the Winter Sports Council, We have a big Winter Sports Season coming before this winter. Lawn Furniture Can Be Made at Very Low Cost

MAKE your porch, terrace or lawn an outdoor living room... turn your backyard into a picnic ground. You'll be agreeably surprised to see what fun dining out can be. Food takes on an added zest when flavored with the thrill of a picnic.

You can build wonderful pieces of lawn furniture at very low cost.

The set illustrated above was built from patterns. These patterns take all the mystery out of woodworking. Each shows the full size, shape and length for cutting each part. Wherever two parts are fastened together, the exact location is indicated on the pattern. Step by step directions explain every part of construction in easy to understand language.

Making a home is traditionally American. The strength of the country rests on the people who have built a home for themselves and their families. Building lawn furniture or any other home equipment is not difficult. You can do it if you try. Each pattern is designed so that no special tools or skill are required. Build this lawn set for immediate use.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Love Is a Panacea for Boredom

Bell Syndicate .- WNU Features.

"Pam is always interested, always laughing, always happy and I can't help being bored, wondering whether it's all worth while..."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THAT does it matter what else you have or know or do," demands Marigold Wilson disconsolately, "if you haven't a good disposition? What gives one woman a good disposition anyway and gives another a horrible one like mine? I'm better looking than my sister, Pam; my husband makes more money than hers; my two children are pretty well grown, her four are still very small. Yet Pam is always interested, always laughing, always happy and I can't help being bored, wondering whether it's all worth while, fighting a dreadful sense of being left out of things, missing things.

"Pam looks at me as if she couldn't understand a word I say, when I try to express the way I feel. Yet thousands of other women experience the same feeling of futility, of frustration, of failure. In a word, to my sister life is one continual adventure and to me, it's one continual flop."

Well, of course, we all know that mood as a mood. But when it becomes chronic, it is dangerous. It is unfair to the children of the family, destructive to the wife and mother who indulges it and supremely cruel to the man who is tugging along at a dull job and vaguely aware that whatever he does, Marigold isn't going to be happy. Consequently, the atmosphere of home is one of gloom and Several times, during the many years when I have been writing these articles, I have been acof undue optimism. Only this week I received an angry letter from a young woman in a Pennsylvania suburb, who said among other things:

"I wish you would get tired of telling us all that we can be successful, we can be rich and famous. All we have to do, according to you, is put $10 in the bank every week and serve our men appetizing dinners made of cuts of beef neck and turnips. Don't you know that 99 women out of a 100 never are rich, famous or successful? You make other women bitter when you talk that way."

Many Are Unsatisfied.

Well, it never would occur to me to make these statements, as quoted here, so Minnie Forster is misquoting. But I know what she means. She means that a great many lives, like that of Marigold in the opening questions, are defeated and unsatisfied and that it is nothing short of maddening to be told by older and more for-tunate women that their failure is not unavoidable.

What I have said repeatedly and what I say again now is that there is no life that may not be dignified, useful and fulfilled. And when you meet these conditions, you cannot escape happiness.

All success is not what it seems. Sometimes it is the bitterest sort of dead sea fruit. All wealth is subject now to so many taxes and obligations, so many irresistible appeals for charity and general help, as not to be wealth any longer in the ... start an amusing story ...

BAD DISPOSITION

Why is it, queries Marigold Wilson, that some people are overflowing with cheerfulness, gaiety and good humor while others live a life of dreadful boredom, wondering about the futility of everything. Some women regard life as a big, happy adventure; others tolerate it as a necessary, dull routine.

Miss Norris explains that anyone whose life is dignified and useful cannot help reaping his share of happiness.

of delicious pride, it holds two of restlessness, envy, doubt, humiliation. Anyone who has had the slightest taste of fame knows that. Hollywood is more filled with disappointed lives than any other place I know, except perhaps the ranks of the forgotten writers and Broadway actors. Some have had an exciting day, some will have it after a while, some never will. Thousands feed hungrily upon longremembered triumphs-the wonderful part in a 1922 play; the story Munseys printed in 1918; the drama that got a $1,000 prize after World War I. Of course, any woman's life has its glorious moments. But, believe me, they can be as intense over Dad's unexpected raise, the splendid new baby, Harry's school record or finding just the ideal summer camp as over a Hollywood or Broadway success. Love Is the Secret.

For Marigold and Minnie, too, the secret and the cure are the same. Put love into your life, deep love of children, home, husband, garden, books, the blind children at the asylum, the tennis courts at the club.

Yes, but suppose you don't feel love? Well, if you don't, it's your own choice. Dig deep enough into your job and the love will come. Even if it isn't easy, make yourself put love into things and it will come back, pressed down and running over.

Put flowers on the dinner table and start an amusing story or a game when the family is gathered there. Try a dozen mild little affectionate gestures toward Tom. He's tired tonight? "How about the Wilson affair at the office? Let's sit out on the step after dinner, Tom, there'll be a moon. Isn't this nice and restful, just by ourselves."

Take up a language, Russian or Spanish, and amuse the family with new words. Or move from that city flat to the country and whitewash fences, watch the personalities of chickens, grow a profitable crop of potatoes or sell the extra milk.

Write down 10 things that you are going to do; 10 ridiculous and unrelated things: Change my hairdo; buy a camera; get a kitten; move furniture around in your room; turn the storeroom into a game club and fill it with dominoes, checkers, puzzles, pencils, pads; study home nursing; learn to upholster; sell candy to the women's exchange.

Years ago merchants from the South seas used to come back with all sorts of mixed treasures. Make your life that sort of a voyage. How to start? Why by remembering these words. "Seek and ye shall find." "Ask and ye shall receive." 'Knock and it shall be opened un-

To Avoid Sweltering Over Stove at Dinner

If you aren't the latter, then do something about it now. Plan several menus for each week that have most of the food pre-

THE following incidents, covering more than a half century of time, illustrate a problem for which a solution must be found if we are to continue to enjoy progress which results in a happy, prosperous peo-

Cylinder presses were fed by women. Their pay was $3.50 a week subject to deductions for failure to put a prescribed minimum number of sheets through a press. There was no printing trades union in the city. Such were conditions, 61 years ago, that provided nourishment on which organized labor grew and thrived. Labor was a commodity.

1897— A Chicago newspaper syndicate, where I was an editor, employed union stereotypers. A union committee called on the management asking for more pay and a reduction in working hours from 48 to 44 per week. To that committee the company manager said: "Because I eat beefsteak each day you fellows think you should have beefsteak. You should, and must, be satisfied with stews." Management insisted a making a marked distinction between management and worker. The worker was selling his time, as a commodity, at the best price he could get.

1912—A national convention union stereotypers and electrotypers, held at Atlanta, Ga., demanded increased wages and a working week of 40 hours. I asked the president of that union organization if they realized they were putting the price of their prod-uct so high that it would not be possible for industry to use it.

"What we want," replied that president, "is not so much more pay and less work, but some-thing we do not know how to understandingly express. We want a recognized place in industry; a partnership in the business of production; not to be considered as merely a commodity."

Management would not then, or does it now, consider the possibility of recognizing such a demand.

On my return from Europe during the final months of World War I, a Chicago employer called to ask about conditions and especially industrial labor in England. I explained the attitude of English labor and its demands. "Labor should be given nothing," he said. "Labor has no brains. If I should turn my business over to my employees in six months there would be nothing left."

"Possibly true," I replied, "but if tomorrow you had no labor to man your plants and should get none, it would take six minutes, not six months, for your business to die." Management could not see a light nor the handwriting on the wall. Labor was but a commodity to be purchased at the lowest possible cost.

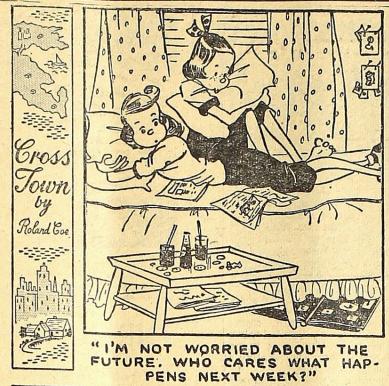

1937—In a conversation in Minneapolis with the president of a large national industry I was expressing concern over the increasing sentiment for socialism and communism, and the need for American business to present an understandable defense for the good of the nation.

"What management must do," said that executive, "is to think of the workers it employs as human beings who are entitled to recognition as human beings. This morning I passed a cheery good morning and a smile to the janitor of our offices, and it pleased him."

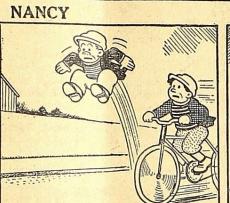

That statement marked a beginning of labor's recognition as something more than a commodity, but the time, if it ever existed, that cheery greetings and smiles would satisfy the demands of labor for recognition has passed.

It is the job of capital and management, and especially management, working collectively, to find a solution to the problem. Capital recognizes management as a partner in industry, merchandising and transportation. Two other partners are knocking at the door. One is labor and the other is consumers. Labor is not willing to continue as a commodity.

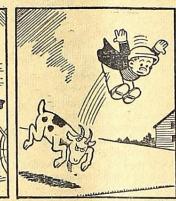

A FEW YEARS AGO, when income taxes were a comparatively small item, congress in a magnanimous gesture, voted all government employees, including themselves, into the tax paying lists. When income taxes grew into a staggering sum congressmen wanted as much "take home pay" as they previously had enjoyed. To get it, representatives and senators raised their salaries. Like the congressmen, workers demand the same "take home pay," but many must live on fixed incomes.

Bib Apron

A pretty, practical bib apron that is so simple to make,-just five pattern pieces. It stays in place nicely with the buttoned back. Use colorful scraps to fashion the flower appliques. A nice shower gift, or bazaar item.

Pattern No. 1751 comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40, 42 and 44. Size 16, 2% yards of 32 or 35-inch.

Try making dish towels out of worn-out bedsheets. Run an embroidered hem around the edges of the pieces of sheet.

When the corner edges of a linoleum floor covering comes loose, cement it down and keep a heavy weight on it for 15 or 20 hours. Scientific tests have shown that four times a year is an adequate number of times to turn an innerspring mattress. Baking soda will clean the glass door on the oven when it starts to get black. Mineral oil makes a good lubricant for egg beaters and will not ruin food if it drops into it. Dropping a few dried prunes into the jar in which you keep brown sugar is a good idea. The prunes keep the sugar from turning hard. With chromium - plated copper pans, there's no need to beware of bare spots. You will have to keep after them diligently with steel wool and scouring powder every time the vessel is used, though, because the bare spots will stain easily.

Onions are probably the most dangerous vegetable to slice thin because they have a way of slipping out of the knife's way and leaving your fingers there to take the rap. Avoid this by setting the onion on a flat metal grater while you slice it. The grater won't allow the onion to slip out from under at the crucial moment.

Seek Big Noise To Scare Fish

The United States fish and wildlife service wants to find a noise which will scare young salmon away from the huge spillways and turbines that have been built in the Columbia river.

For years salmon have used the river as they come from the seas to seek fresh water for egg-laying. The old-timers among salmon have sense enough to use the fish ladders and elevators. But young fish, born above the dam, try to come down the hard way, through spillways and turbines. Thousands are killed. If a noise can be discovered which will scare the young salmon in the right direction, a lot of fish lives will be saved.
