THE AMERICAN SMILE

Something has got to be done about the American smile. It has gone far enough. We hereby come out for federal smile control, and quick. Any party promising it gets our support. _____

Desperadoes who kill unarmed people in cold blood appear in the newspapers smiling; kidnapers of little children grin at the reader from ear to ear; young women arrested on one charge or another pretty themselves up and register happiness and delight from the police wagon.

The other day two bankers, a father and son, whose bank had been ruined by the thefts of $62,000 which was used to bet on horse races, appeared in the papers walking right into the cameras with the smiles you would have expected only on men who had just made a hole in one or hit the jackpot in a radio contest.

_____ They were not sickly grinsthere was nothing of the forced smile about 'em-they were the Form No. 1 smile worn by movie heroes, candidates for public office, beauty contest winners and winning baseball pitchers!

The elder banker, 72, had started crop, the second largest wheat crop and built up a big bank. The son and substantial increases over last with him was one of the top officers. Their bank was gone and their private fortunes swept away, they said. Another son was in the duction read like a statistical fanhoosegow for looting the institution.

Are they hypnotists?

Do their cries of "Come on, now, a nice big smile-and walk right into the camera!" mesmerize people? Or, as has been suggested, do their lawyers (who always manage to smile, too) instruct clients to smile, on the theory that anything remotely resembling a serious expression these cockeyed days suggests complicity or outright

_*__ It seems to us that any lawyer reasoning this way is strictly southpaw. On the other hand we would think that they would instruct clients in a firm voice, "Lissen, whatever you do for the photographers, don't act as if you had just made a double play at the Elks clambake!' _*__

YOUTH MONTH: Awareness

If the day should ever dawn when every family in the nation becomes fully aware that all juvenile delinquency has its beginning in the home, then U. S. society will have reached its Elysian fields.

Once families become endowed with this awareness they will tend to bring pressure to bear to eliminate the secondary factors that contribute to delinquency in young people: School failure, church failure, bad housing and the inevitable shift in ethical values from one generation to the next which are sometimes confusing and frightening to immature minds.

To that end, and because a healthy store of young minds and bodies is the best overall insurance any nation can have, September has been proclaimed Youth Month.

The Theater Owners of America, who feel they have a big stake in the welfare of U.S. youth, have undertaken to organize the principal media of information-newspapers, magazines, radio and motion pictures-to publicize the month.

Aside from the publicity to be accorded the problem of juvenile delinquency, which is the immediate purpose of Youth Month, the observance is more deeply significant in that it provides some evidence that Americans are becoming actively conscious that at least a partial remedy must be found.

Springboard for Youth Month and any other concerted group action that might obtain is a probing and thoughtful report on juvenile delinquency by the National Conference on Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency, Washington, D. C.

A digest of this report, or series of panel reports, covering basic causes and possible solutions of the problem, is well worth a few hours' study on the part of every parent who is aware of his inevitable fallibilities as a guide and leader of his

with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in the Kremlin, general relations between the East and West were sliding to new depths of mutual recrimination.

This state of affairs was not eased any by unsubstantiated reports that the Moscow talks had degenerated into a deadlock and that no progress was being made.

For the most part, however, the animosity was being spread through raucous propaganda by British newspapers, with the publications sponsored by the Russians and the western powers waging a pitched battle of words.

The British-licensed paper Telegraaf reported that the Soviets were getting ready to move great numbers of new troops into Germany and that Russia was pressing toward "sole rule over all of Berlin." Soviet propaganda instruments, meantime, renewed their overall attacks on the West, demanding that the Berlin city council be ousted and that the whole city be made

Washington Digest Ghost of Latvia Recalls Memories of Better Days

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON-At the end of one of those few pleasant summer days which Washington gives us, I was walking homeward from a mission in a part of town which I hadn't visited recently. I found myself in a neighborhood which seemed to produce a slightly nostalgic feeling.

The street took a quick up-turn and, for a short block, was quite steep. Most of the houses were new but there was one with a colored glass window such as graced many a home that I visited as a child. Such windows were usually on the staircase landing, at the turn, and when the sun shone through them it tossed a handful of jewels on the carpet. I always wanted to pick them up. That, I thought as I walked along, is nostalgic-childhood memories.

But I was wrong. Soon I realized that the memory which the stained glass window evoked was much more recent. But it did stir ghosts, the ghost of a man and the ghost of a nation, for there is no reason why dead nations, which really never quite died, must not live on in some form. And Washington is not without such disembodied sovereignites. I had seen the man whose memory the multicolored window had stirred for the first time when he was descending a stairway with just such a window behind him. He was Alfred Bilmanis and he died in July of this year. He was the minister of the republic of Latvia which had "died" eight years ago but according to the state department was and is of such corporeal quality that, along with its sister republics of Lithuania and Estonia, it still possesses diplomatic representatives who are recognized on equal terms with those of living nations.

It was in August of 1940 that the Red army marched into the Baltic states and they became by force majeure, territorially a part of the U.S.S.R.

But the three little democracies were prepared politically, if not diplomatically. A month or so earlier, by due process of parliamentary law, a decree was promulgated which made the Latvian minister to London chief of the Latvian state if the Russians took over her territory. Today Charles Zarena, minister to Britain, remains the head of the diplomatic corps of the republic of Latvia.

Bilmanis continued to serve his ghost-government in the United States after the Russian seizure. Up to then he had helped to keep the bonds firm between us and his little country whose people reached the shores of the Baltic back in the early days of European history, along with the only two other remaining groups which are at least linguistically, if not ethically, related to the Latts: the Finns and is being turned into the coffers of the Kremlin. I can well imagine what happened to the 4-H organizations when the Reds stepped inthey are about as closely akin to the Communist youth as the boy scouts were to the Hitler jugend. But if we are to believe all we hear, Latvia is resisting communization. Only this week I received a copy of the Baltic Review, printed in Sweden. Here is one paragraph: "With the coming scholastic year war games will be introduced as an obligatory subject in the schools of all the constituent Soviet republics, writes 'Cina,' the organ of the Communist party in Latvia. The paper goes on to say that the international situation demands that children be taught the art of war as early as possible. Military discipline should be instilled in them even before they come to school. Their toys should be model tanks and planes and so-called children's 'mechanos' or building boxes should consist of parts whereof these objects can be constructed. The author relates about his trip to Russia to study Soviet education and military training and remarks that in this respect the Baltic republics are very backward as yet. Pupils of seven and eight in the schools of Moscow had displayed quite surprising knowledge as regards military matters. Ten year olds had been experts with the rifles and girls had been as competent as boys. Even tiny tots four and five had known the rudiments of military drill. How useful this proficiency may be in a guerilla war, exclaims the author.'

What is going to happen to the next generation in the U. S. S. R. itself and in the countries dominated by her? Listen to this further extract from the Baltic Review:

Bumper Crops Due This Year, May Crack High Cost Living;

CROP REPORT: Momentous

be incriminating himself.

There was momentous news from the nation's farms: In the cards for 1948 was a record-setting corn year in oats, barley and rye. Government estimates, as of August 1, of this year's grain protasy of the promised land.

Bureau of agriculture economics

An approximate 1,284,323,000

ing this year. Other crop estimates were: Oats, 1,470,444,000 bushels; barley, 313,139,000 bushels, and rye, 26,664,000 bushels.

Trouble grew out of the fact that, although the huge crops are welcome this year, they may set the scene for huge postwar surpluses, mostly of corn and wheat.

Officials contend that there simply aren't enough animals left on the nation's farms to take care of the kind of production being achieved this year, particularly the corn outturn.

Immediate result of this sudden condition of oversupply probably will be the government's starting to support corn prices as soon as the crop starts moving. Other grain supports are likely to be evoked later.

Grain exports will be pushed, of course, but the export market is almost certain to fall off in a year or so because other nations also are intensifying their farm production with considerable success.

happy moments you've long since forgotten? For fun in the sun or a pleasant place to spent a quiet period of relaxation under the stars, we recommend this modernized version of an old fashioned lawn swing. It's a hit with grownups as well as children. There's room for four in the form fitting seats.

The lawn swing is easy to build. No special tools or skill are required. The full size pattern offered below provides all the information needed to buy the materials, cut and assemble the swing. All materials specified are stock size and are now readily available at most lum-ber yards.

ber yards. It's as easy as that. The pattern pro-vides a full size, printed paper outline of each component part of the swing. Trace each piece on the lumber specified, saw and assemble. Wherever two pieces are joined, their exact location is shown on the pattern. All bolt and screw holes are also shown. You'll have fun building this swing and lots more fun using it.

Liberal or Conservative?

T IS REGRETTABLE that we cannot have a clearly defined choice between a liberal or conservative form of government when we vote in November.

The leaders of the three presidential tickets in the national field acclaim their party and their candidates as liberals. How do these parties interpret liberalism? Do the Dewey-Warren or the Truman-Barkley combinations promise us the same thing as the Wallace third party? If so, what accounts for the Wallace split?

AS I SEE IT the difference between conservatism and liberalism is the difference between shifting for ourselves as individuals, or expecting the federal government to plan and shift for us. Liberalism to me means support of the citizen by the government at least in specialized instances

IF MY INTERPRETATION is right, and I do not insist that it is, liberalism means more and more centralization of government; more and more taxes to meet the cost of liberalization; more and more of a bureaucracy to operate the everincreasing number of liberal institutions. Liberalizing is nationalizing, and nationalization is social-Why not call it socialism to ism. start with? Why not admit that if it wins it marks the beginning of the end of our American free enterprise?

IT IS OUR MONEY which the advocates of liberalism would spend in providing us with presumably free medical and hospital care; with better homes; with increased salaries to the school teachers; with electricity; with farm subsidies or a guaranteed price for farm products; with irrigation for our farms and water, telephones and countless other things for our homes. Paying for it all and paying the army of employees who man the many bureaus, means taxes, taxes and more taxes.

THE ANNUAL SPENDING of the federal government now is nearing 50 billion dollars. That is approximately one-fourth-25 cents out of each dollar we earn. It is not only 25 cents out of the rich man's dollar, it is 25 cents out of each dollar any one of us earns. It is paid to support what some call liberalism of which each political party wishes to be known as a sponsor.

PERSONALLY I would like to vote for those whose purpose is the

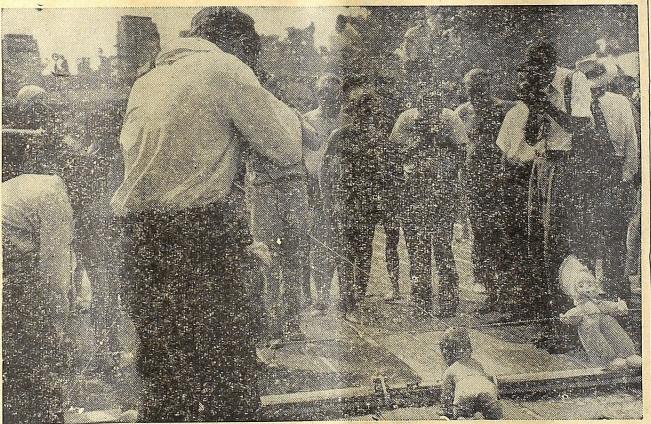

JUST ANOTHER POLK COUNTY ELECTION . . . Tennessee's primary election not only resulted in the disintegration of the political dynasty of Boss Ed Crump of Memphis but also touched off considerable violence and bloodshed in volatile Polk county in the southeastern part of the state. Continuing disorder in the area, scene of a similar political eruption in the August, 1946, elections, forced Gov. Jim McCord to call out national guard units to preserve some semblance of peace. Picture shows a contingent of troops marching past the Polk county courthouse in Benton to take up their positions.

FLIGHT THAT FAILED TEMPORARILY . . . Mel Patton, U. S. anchor man, is shown as he whisked past the finish line in the much disputed (hence, famous) 400 meter relay race in the London Olympics. Although Patton finished yards ahead of the British runner who came in second, field judges disqualified the United States relay team for illegal passing of the baton outside the 20-yard zone and declared the British team the winner. Armed with righteous wrath, American officials entered a vociferous protest of the ruling, contending that the baton was passed from Lorenzo Wright to Barney Ewell in a completely legal manner. A subsequent showing of slow motion pictures of the race verified the U. S. stand and the judges altered their decision, declaring the American team was the winner of the race.

er character. Incidentally, the Distinguished Service Cross he wears in that picture was loaned to him by Audie Murphy, World War II's most decorated soldier, who makes his screen debut in a featured role in "Beyond Glory."

Speculation concerning James Mason's first film in this country ended when Enterprise studios snared him for the movie version of "Wild Calendar," co-starring Barbara Bel Geddes and Robert Ryan. Mason studied a number of scripts before deciding on this one, in which he will have a sympathetic role, that of the other man in the inevitable triangle.

There's one advantage in driving a bus exclusively for musicians: You get music lessons free. So says the lad who is chauffeur for the Vaughn Monroe orchestra (CBS Mondays). He claims he has picked up hints on how to play the piano and the trumpet from Monroe's boys; now he wants to take singing lessons from the boss!

Just about the time his new fall radio series for a new sponsor gets started, Jimmy Durante also will be seen on the screen in an M-G-M film entitled "This Time for Keeps." That title might apply to his spon-sor, as the cigarette company which formerly had him under contract gave him up to another sponsor, but now has signed him up again.

QUESTION: I have bronze screens that have been discolored because someone rubbed yellow soap all over them. This has made them green. I have tried to clean them by washing them and also used kerosene, but this has not helped. I would appreciate any suggestions.

ANSWER: I believe wiping the screens with a cloth dampened with ammonia would take off the green discoloration. Be careful of ammonia fumes. If this fails, try a good metal polish. An alternative would be to wash with ordinary vinegar, in which has been dissolved as much salt as will be taken up; then rinse well with clear water. The solution can be made into a paste by the addition of flour.

QUESTION: My chimney has leaked for years. Numerous re-pairmen could not find the leak. I also had a waterproof coating applied. The leak is over the fireplace. Can you advise me?

ANSWER: There may be breaks in the mortar joints, especially at the joint over the fireplace. Or the bricks themselves may be old and porous. Defective flashings at the roof line might be another cause. Try to get a good chimney mason to visit the house on a rainy day and find out just where the trouble lies. He may advise putting on a chimney cap, for rain may come down the chimney. Perhaps a tuck-pointing job may be needed, and also a coating of cement base paint containing a waterproofer.

Married Women Earning More

For the first time in history married women outnumber single women with paying jobs, according to Paul C. Glick of the U. S. bureau of census.

Since 1940, Glick says, there has been a 50 per cent increase in the working wives labor force. Today, the husband is the sole provider in only three fifths of the husband and wife household.

"Five sixths of the married women working have either no dependent children in the home or children of school age only," Glick explains. Glick believes this means the advance of the standards of family living.

preservation of private enterprise. To me that is conservatism. To applaud private enterprise and then to undermine it by putting the government in business as a competitor, regardless of what the line may be, is unfair to that system which has given us the highest living standard the world has ever known. A conservative party would confine its legislation to those subjects which the Constitution designates as provinces of the federal government. It would not appropriate vast sums for doing those things which are provinces of the states. I want my home state to pay its own way and not attempt to pilfer from the federal treasury.

I SHOULD LIKE to vote for a party, and I believe it would be considered conservative, that would play no favorites; that would provide legislation along national lines, for the benefit of all the people, and not for some minority at the expense of a majority.

WE CANNOT JUDGE from the platforms, for they are much alike in their promises, and are largely meaningless. We cannot judge from the utterances of party spokesmen for they talk not to interpret, but for the purpose of attracting votes.

SO IT IS that on November 2 we will guess which party will come nearest to representing what we want; which party will be most liberal, and which one less. If we are seeking that "something for nothing" at the end of the rainbow we will want the most liberal. If we prefer the smaller tax bill that comes with reduced appropriations and a radical reduction in the army of bureaucrats, we will try to "guess" at which of the three is the most conserva-

IN THE END it can be only a guess. There is nothing to give us definite assurance. Personally I prefer the least New Dealism, and have about decided on my "guess." I may be wrong. I do not know, and there is nothing I can point to as a definite assurance that the success of my "guess" will insure the result for which I am hoping. I know others who are seeking exactly the same result, but are not "guessing" the same way that I propose. That proves how confusing it all is. It was bad enough then we had but two choices.

CRAWLING AFTER FLEETING FAME . . . It wouldn't be quite correct to say that things like this can't happen anywhere except in the United States. They can; it's just that they don't. Anyway, this is the climactic finish of the 10th annual baby crawling race at Palisades Park, N. J., as recorded by a battery of movie and still cameras. The kid who made the best time for the course, which was something less than a furlong, was Donald Samuel, 14 months, of Bloomfield. N. J.

DESERT SYMBOLISM, NOT A PIPE DREAM . . . Seasoned old travelers say that things start to look queer out on the desert if you stay long enough, but few things could look more strange than this photograph which makes a string of camels appear as though they are plodding along the top of a pipeline. However, it's just a matter of perspective. Also, it is slightly symbolic-the old camel caravan being replaced by modern technology and stuff like that. The big tube is the 30-inch pipeline now under construction in the desert wasteland of Saudi Arabia. When completed it will carry between 300,000 and 450,000

The new March of Time deals with the "career girls"; tells how these young working women get their start, what sort of jobs they hold, how they manage their finances and their social lives, their attitude toward marriage.

The tale is that a talented little pig was signed for a comedy role opposite Bette Davis and Robert Montgomery in "June Bride." But Director Bretaigne Windust of the New York Theater guild noticed that the pig's tail didn't curl. Fearing audiences would think it a dog disguised as a pig, he had the make-up department take over, tape the pig's tail to a curly wire.

Since making his screen debut in "The Big Punch," Gordon McCrae, young radio singer, has signed to continue his air show, tripled his production of recordings, bought a new car and a new house, joined the Lakeside Golf club, got a star-ring role in "Look for the Silver Lining." He says as a radio singer he collected only travel sores and a bank account.

Jay Seymour, official photographer for more than half a dozen quiz shows, stands by to snap the winners, then rushes to his studio to work all night, developing and printing pictures for newspapers, magazines and wire services. He'll never forget the week when contestants hit the jackpots on "Break the Bank," "Hit the Jackpot," "What's My Name?" and "The Bob Hawk Show."

ODDS AND ENDS-We may see two Cesare Borgias on the screen-John Lund in "A Mask for Lucretia" and Orson Welles in "Prince of Foxes," made in Italy. I'll take Lund. ... "The Lassie Show" has been renewed for 52 weeks on NBC, and three new film scripts are being prepared for the most popular animal in moviedom since Rin Tin Tin. . . When Randy Scott and Ella Raines made "The Walking Hills" for Columbia they spent 11 days in the sand dunes of Death Valley, with windstorms up to 80 miles an hour and temperatures which sometimes varied 60 degrees in a single day.

Our Policy on PADNINAC Deliveries and Prices

Despite the fact that Pontiac has built over a halfmillion cars since the resumption of production after the war, demand still exceeds supply. In the face of this production record, those who place orders now will still experience some delay in delivery. If you are among the many people who feel that Pontiac represents an outstanding value-and wish to order a Pontiac for future delivery-you will be interested in the following policy on retail distribution which we, as Pontiac dealers, will observe:

WE WANT YOUR ORDER And the sooner you place it, the sooner you will get delivery. So if you want a Pontiac, order it now.

WE WILL ESTIMATE DELIVERY DATE

Due to conditions beyond our control, we cannot give you an exact date of delivery. But based on anticipated future shipments from the factory, we will, when you place your order, give you an honest estimate of when you may expect your car. Such estimates will be reviewed any time on request.

ORDERS FILLED BY PRIORITY

A definite proportion of the cars we receive from the factory is set aside for preferential delivery to users whose work is in the public welfare and to others with certain occupational requirements. Otherwise, all orders will be filled on the basis of the time when they are received.

YOU PAY FACTORY-SUGGESTED PRICE

Due to changing economic conditions, we cannot, when you place your order, tell you exactly how much the car will cost when delivered in the future.

YOU SPECIFY ACCESSORIES

While most of our customers order their cars equipped with accessories, we do not force accessories as a condition of sale. You specify what accessories you want when ordering your car, and these are the ones (and the only ones) it will carry when delivered. Some items may be lacking due to current shortages; but none will be added.

REGARDING TRADE-INS

Naturally, if you have a car to trade, we would like to have it in order to take care of our regular used car customers. Our appraisals are fair, based ler and children will remain here for the next two weeks. The Mains arrived at the cot-tage Tuesday for a few days vacation.

For Amateurs Only ARE YOUR CHILDREN shy and awkward in the kitchen or can they don an apron and turn in a creditable performance as a cook? Mothers who give their children the run of the kitchen occasionally deserve a bouquet of orchids because they are helping to turn out well balanced, healthy 0 children. And it does mother good, too, if son or daughter occasionally can whip up a batch of good cookies or cake, or prepare a tasty salad.

There are days when youngsters just simply are bored with their usual pursuits and then they tend to wander around the house without anything to do. Perhaps it's too stormy to play outside or maybe all their friends are on vacation. This is the psychological moment to suggest they try their hand at being an amateur chef.

Give them a few pointers beforehand if they need it so food will not be wasted, and help only if it's requested once they start their culinary adventure so you won't spoil it by being the "extra cook in the broth." Have it understood, too, that the kitchen is to be cleaned after they finish.

I'VE OFTEN SAID that anyone who can read, can cook. But here are simple recipes that involve no complicated procedures. Let the children try these recipes so especially designed for them that they

Bachelor Professor Searches for Answers To Marriage Problems CHICAGO .- A little, white-haired man with a slow, steady smile and a needle-point memory has the answers to a problem which began when Eve insisted Adam share the forbidden fruit. The man is Dr. Ernest Burgess, University of Chicago sociologist, expert on marriage and family relations. The kindly professor has no wife.

For seven years he has worked to untangle the kinks in more than 500 marriages, discovering what made them happy combinations or washouts.

The study convinced Dr. Burgess that "stability is the thing that counts in a happy marriage.'

But, still curious, the professor began a new study. His current resewing itself, and much can be search will tabulate the lives and sentiments of 700 couples.

Already the energetic researcher has learned that couples who let time heal insight blinded by impetuous love are happier than couples who fall in love at first sight and elope at second.

Advising a two-year engagement period as a sure bet, Dr. Burgess said his study proved that:

"Couples who solve personal adustments before the ceremony have less to fret about after the knot is tied.

From his subject couples he found that chemical engineers have the most highly developed stability and adjustability. The study proved a chemical engineer offered the best chance of success in marriage. He listed as a second choice a minister, then a college professor, an athletic coach, a student, high school teacher, accountant or office worker.

On the other side, Professor Burgess lists a laborer as a dangerous risk. Just a little better are traveling salesmen. Moving up the ladder toward the happy unions are me-chanics, carpenters, plumbers, musicians, barbers or railroad workers,

Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 10 to 15 minutes. Released by WNU Features.

Most dishes are easy to wash after they have been soaked. Have a pan of suds ready so that dishes, cups, measuring spoons and other utensils can be placed in the water to soak as soon as you finish using them.

Paper toweling should be used to wipe greasy pots and pans be-fore washing so that grease does not accumulate in the drain pipe. Never let silverware which has egg on it stand without rinsing. Egg tarnishes silverware.

Department of Labor Cites Advantages of Older Workers

WASHINGTON .- A survey by the department of labor indicates that men and women workers in the 45-or-older age group offer "distinct advantages" to employers over younger workers.

The survey, made public by the department's bureau of labor statistics, is a six month study of the work records of about 18,000 workers of all ages, including 1,300 women. The summary, according to the BLS, showed that: "Not only may the worker in the 45-and-over age group offer more highly developed skills, more mature judgment and more settled work habits as against the stamina and agility of youth, but he is frequently less likely to be absent and is less prone to injury than the younger worker."

The survey showed that the younger worker has an advantage younger worker has an auvaliage over the older one in this respect, however: Although the younger worker is injured more often, the older worker, when hurt, takes longer to recover.

Workers not yet 20 had the highest absentee rate-an average 5.8 days out of 100 work days. The absentee rate for the 45-year age group was 3.4 out of 100.

Englishman Walks Across the River Thames in 17 Minutes

LONDON .- Joe Simms walked across the River Thames-in the water. That is, he walked in the water, not on it. Simms, a 51-year-old railway checker at Southampton docks, was demonstrating what he claims to be a new method of progressing through water developed after 18 years of research. Simms entered the river wearing a pair of bathing trunks and an old tweed cap. With his arms folded and his hands on his shoulders he took 17 minutes to cross the river using "slow cycle action." Two or three times he waved to crowds on a bridge and once took off his cap.

Newspapermen who followed him in a boat said he seemed to be erect the whole time.

Arriving on the other side he said, "That is something the Yanks can't do."

Sharp cutting shears, either with plain or pinked edges, are essential. You also may like to have a small pair of nicely sharpened scissors for cutting notches. Have plenty of pins, threaded needles, chalk, tape measure and ruler at hand. measure and ruler at hand. Unless you have a large table which can be padded, it's best to use the floor. A surface that allows plenty of room, as well as one from which pieces of pattern and materi-al won't slip off, is essential to good cutting. Never try to cut fabric that is wrinkled or torn at an angle. Some materials will need pressing to smooth them before cutting is done. If the uncut edge is not smooth, are best cut on a rough surface such as the floor so they won't slip. If you are using a table, lay a sheet or other piece of material on it so that the materials do not slip as you cut.

Take care to fold the material on the straight of the goods or along the lengthwise threads if you want the garment to hang properly. If you do not check this little matter of the fold, you are apt to have a crooked dress.

The fold is particularly important when you cut sleeves, for if the pattern is not placed on the grain of the fabric, the sleeve always will twist no matter how much you try to remedy the fault in sewing.

Follow the Guide In Cutting Patterns

A guide usually is given with a pattern which you purchase. It's wise to study this and lay the fabric with the pieces as directed because, as you study, you will see there's always a reason, and a good one, for doing it a certain way.

The pieces should be pinned before you cut. Insert the pins from the top, without slipping your hand underneath the fabric. Wherever the pieces are curved, use a lot of pins so there is no chance of slipping.

A good seam allowance is made in most patterns, but it's a good idea to allow more of a seam if you are using material that ravels easily. It's especially important to make an extra seam allowance on the underarm seams of such material.

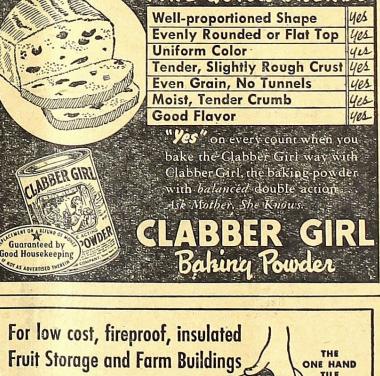

Cut with a long steady motion, sliding the scissors along in a gliding motion so that the cut will not be uneven or ragged. The thick blade of the shears is placed above the material and the pointed one underneath. Use the middle of the blades for cutting as this will give the smoothest edge.

If the pattern advises the sleeves to be cut double, this means that they are reversed. As you remove the pins from the pieces, fold one sleeve one way, and the other in another way.

Here's Your CHECK CHART for FINE QUICK BREADS

golf on an off day or through a tournament is the worst you get in any game. Did you ever get 'the yips?' The 'yips' are nerves that blow up in your wrists when you are playing chip shots or putting. The nerves simply explode and you can do nothing about it. You can ask Walter Hagen or Bobby Jones, two great putters.

"I recall a $10,000 tournament I played in. I had a good lead through the first three rounds. Then I got the 'yips.' I three-putted eight greens. I missed seven putts from two to three feet out. I figured each knocked down six times by Dempsey or Louis. I would rather have been run over by Bronko Nagurski. I took more punishment in the last round than any fighter ever took in a ring.

Nerves Prevent Sleep

"Bobby Jones won 13 national titles. But I'd like to bet no one ever took more nerve punishment. It took him seven years to win his first championship. He couldn't sleep at night or keep food on his stomach on numerous occasions. Jock Hutchison couldn't eat or sleep through an open. Neither could I. I don't think Hagen ever bothered too much about anything.'

I recall one occasion in an amateur golf championship, one of the entries was an all-star college tackle—around 220 pounds. He was a good golfer and he lasted through Wednesday. But he collapsed on Thursday and just missed the hospital. His nervous system blew up. He was in a bad way. He never played in another tournament.

The roughest part of golf is that every mistake you make is your own. No opponent has anything directly to do with it. He can't hit one by you, block you, tackle you or knock you out. He can't do anything to you. You inflict your own punishment.

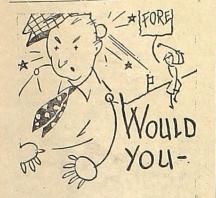

Golf was first called "an 'umblin' game" by George Low over 30 years ago. It is also an infuriating game at times. When Jerry Travers, a great competitor, won his U.S. Open at Baltusrol in 1915, he was a nervous wreck for over two weeks afterwards. And Travers had just about as fine a set of nerves as I've ever seen.

Farm Machine Show At State Fair

The 1948 Michigan State Fair The 1948 Michigan State Fair will this year feature about 140,-000 square feet of space ocupied by a display of the newest inven-tions and latest types of farm machinery, according to Delmont L. Chapman, member of the Board of Managers of South Bockwood of Managers, of South Rockwood.

Mr. Chapman says the display will include everything from self-propelled combines to the latest types of hay bilers, and self-pro-pelled corn pickers.

Anaplasmosis A Menace Livestock producers in the southern states are calling on research workers to find a way to combat anaplasmosis, which kills 40 per cent of the cattle infected. It is presumed to be caused by a microscopic parasite spread by ticks or other carriers.
