

THE TAWASES WELCOME YOU

85 Veterans To Arrive by Plane Today

Guests of Iosco V. F. W. and Community For Three Days

Eighty-five World War II veterans from Percy Jones Hospital, Battle Creek, are scheduled to arrive here today as guests of the Tawas. A three-day program of entertainment, scenic tours, and fishing trips have been arranged for the men. The event is sponsored by Iosco Post, Veterans of

To Our Guests from Battle Creek;

In the name of the people of the Tawas we wish to welcome you and to offer every facility available for your convenience and enjoyment. We hope your visit to our community is a pleasant one.

John D. LeClair,
Mayor of Tawas City
H. L. Klenow,
Mayor of East Tawas

Foreign Wars. The Chamber of Commerce, American Legion Posts and other organizations of the community and many citizens here are cooperating to help make this a pleasant outing for the veterans. The men will arrive by planes at Oscoda Flying Field at about 10:30 this morning. Following a jet flying show at the field, a special Detroit & Mackinac train will bring them to Tawas. The trip to Oscoda will be in military planes and a General Motors plane furnished by Paul Garrett, General Motors executive.

The special train service from Oscoda was given by the Detroit & Mackinac Railroad Co. and Charles Pinkerton, Jr., president of the railroad. On their arrival here Mr. Pinkerton is honoring the veterans with a luncheon at Gifford's Grill. Here the guests will be welcomed by Mayors, John D. LeClair and Henry Klenow.

This afternoon will be spent in scenic drives through the AuSable River and Silver Valley district. A group picture will be taken at the monument and a finished print will be given to each man as memento of the occasion. (Continued No. 3, Back Page)

Literary Club Holds Opening Meeting

The Ladies Literary Club held their opening meeting Wednesday afternoon at the club rooms. The room was decorated with bouquets of colorful garden flowers. The president, Mrs. Harvey Watson, gave the President's Greeting. Mrs. Frank Humberger led community singing.

An interesting report of a trip to Interlochen and the new Art Gallery was given by Mrs. Herbert Hertzler. She presented the Penny Art Fund Plan for Club Women for art projects within the state. After the meeting refreshments were served. The serving table was lovely with a large pink and white anniversary cake, commemorating the 64th opening day of the club. Hostesses were: Mrs. Russell McKenzie, Mrs. A. J. Carlson, Mrs. Neva Moffatt, and Mrs. Frank Humberger.

The next meeting will be held October 19 with a banquet at the Bards Hotel. Dr. Carl Martenson of Saginaw will be guest speaker.

Pleads Guilty to Felony Charge

At circuit court which is now in session, Homer W. Davis pleaded guilty before Judge Herman Dehnke to the charge of "Entering with Intent to Commit a Felony." Davis is out on bond. Davis had entered Hutch's Hut in Plainfield township, September 10.

Other cases on the calendar will be tried as follows: Jack Tate and Edward Tate vs. George Worley and wife. Set for October 14. Wm. Look & Sons vs. Alfred F. Myer. Set for October 15. Selma Honecker vs. Milo Kemp. Set for October 2. Herman Wegner vs. Francis and Mary Weaver. Set for October 1.

Sustain Severe Injuries In Quarry Accident

Orval Proper is in Saginaw General Hospital with a broken pelvis and Charles Bernard is suffering from severe bruises about the right eye and face as a result of an accident Sunday in the quarry at Alabaster.

The accident occurred shortly after midnight when a locomotive rolled into a worked out hole in the quarry.

New Water Main Completed Connects New Well With Water System

Otto Taylor & Sons, contractors, of Saginaw have completed the water main connecting the new well and the present water system, and have repaired the damaged Whittemore street bridge. This contractor is now establishing the grade, drains, culverts and catch basins on that portion of Lake Street between US-23 and the Townline, and the Townline from Lake street to US-23.

To connect the new well with the existing water system required 673 feet of main. Next week, Wm. Dale & Co., are scheduled to erect the pump and connect it to the main.

The Whittemore street bridge is again in use after being out of commission since August 27. It had been badly damaged when a Pfeiffer beer truck driven by Paul Ruel crashed through the rail and overturned into Tawas River.

Public Trap Shoot Sunday Afternoon

The gun club will hold a trap shoot in the Tawas City Park starting at 1:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The shoot will be held under the Lewis plan. Prizes will be given. Everybody interested in shooting are invited.

Tawas Kiwanis Club Guests of Bay City Club

Joseph Mayne Speaks On Europe's Struggle For Freedom

The Tawas Kiwanis Club was entertained Thursday evening at Bay City by the Bay City Kiwanis Club as part of the Inter-Club activities.

The speaker of the evening was Joseph Mayne of the Central Kiwanis Club of Detroit. Mr. Mayne's topic was "Europe's Struggle for Freedom." He pointed out the struggle that the minority groups in Europe have, and need the assistance of the people of America to help them gain the goal of freedom such as we enjoy.

The Traveling Gavel, which was presented to the Tawas Club last month, was in turn left with the members of the Bay City Club to pass it on, and keep the cycle of Inter-Club visits going. Twenty members of the Tawas made the trip.

Killed When Truck Crashes Guard Rail

Ferndale Man Victim In Accident on US-23 at Alabaster

Leonard W. Krull of Ferndale, who resided with his uncle near Harrisville, was killed early yesterday morning (Thursday) when the truck which he was driving crashed through the guard rail on US-23 at Alabaster. He was driving a stolen truck.

The accident was discovered at 7:00 o'clock Thursday morning. State Police and Coroner E. D. Jacques investigated the death.

Wilcox-Shover

In a candlelight ceremony read Monday evening at the Wesleyan Methodist church, Miss Marinda Wilcox became the bride of Earl F. Shover.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wilcox, Sr., of Bay City, and Mr. Shover, also of Bay City is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Shover of Tawas City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowning in a traditional white satin wedding dress with hooped overskirt of marquisette, caught up at the hemline to reveal white satin scalloped ruffles. The gown was further designed with a gathered dropped shoulder effect and marquisette yoke, edged in pointe d'esprit lace. The same lace edged her fingertip illusion net veil which was fastened to a cornet of orange blossoms. She also wore marquisette gauntlets.

The bridal bouquet was of white Killarney roses, stephanotis, and white satin streamers tied with swansonia, centered with a rose corsage.

Mrs. Edward Bedell, as matron of honor for her sister, chose a pastel pink gown featuring a sweetheart neckline, nailhead-studded bodice and Chantilly lace bustle. She also wore Chantilly lace gauntlets and a matching pink headdress. Her cascade bouquet consisted of orchid Johanna Hill roses and white bebe mums tied with pink ribbons.

As bridesmaids, the Misses Lillian and Leona Shover, of Tawas City, were identically gowning in taffeta dresses styled with V-neck lines, bustle bows, and two rows of lace extending from the bustles to the hemlines. Their gowns were aqua and yellow, respectively, and their bouquets were of yellow chrysanthemums and tallsman roses with the aqua gown, and bronze mums and tallsman roses with the yellow gown.

Ervin Shover was best man for his brother, who was also attended by George and Eugene Wilcox. Ushers were Roland Conley and Harold and Richard Shover, brothers of the bridegroom. Upon their return from a few day's trip through Western Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Shover will make their home at 411 West Thomas Street, Bay City.

George Melvin Falls

George Melvin Falls passed away at Santa Anna, California, after suffering a paralytic stroke August 4. He passed away at five o'clock September 20. He was 72 years of age.

He was born of Wilber pioneers in March, 1876. He is survived by his wife, Bertha, one daughter (Helen) Mrs. Arthur Thurston and three grand children of Thompson, Minnesota; four sisters, Mrs. E. F. Abbott, of Hale, Mrs. May Westervelt, of Wilber, Mrs. Oren Misener, East Tawas; one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Minthorn of Oroville, California, besides many nieces and nephews.

Rt. Rev. Hubbard Here Sunday

Celebrant at Morning Episcopal Services

The Rt. Rev. Russell S. Hubbard, who was recently consecrated Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, will visit Christ Church Sunday. He will be celebrant at Holy Communion at 8:00 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. and will preach at the later service.

Bishop Hubbard, before coming to Michigan, was rector of St. Saviour's Church, Bar Harbor, Maine. He was also Canon Missioner of the Cathedral at Portland as well as being in charge of the missions in the eastern part of the Diocese of Maine. Mr. Hubbard is 45 years of age and following his graduation

USG Employees Enjoy Plant Picnic Sunday

Barbecue Dinner Feature of Event; 300 Persons Served

A large group of United States Gypsum employees at Alabaster enjoyed a plant picnic Sunday at the Alabaster town hall and school grounds. Perfect weather added to the pleasure of the day.

Following a beef barbecue and pot-luck dinner, at which an estimated 300 persons were served, the quarry-mill baseball rivalry was renewed. Perhaps the less said the better about this seven inning exhibition, as the official score-keeper had to use all of his fingers and most of his toes to compute the mill team's runs, while two fingers took care of all that the quarry could score. However, the main object, that of a good time for all, was accomplished and the quarry has already begun laying plans for revenge next year.

Special mention should be made of Pete Baker and his hard working crew consisting of Art Ziehl, Jr., Red Hill, Bill DeLosh, Gus Goedecke and Bill Maynard who performed all the work on the food and refreshments end, and of Miss Clara Bolen and Mrs. Harold VanDuesen who so ably organized and supervised the games for the children.

Smith-Dickson

The St. James Church, Whittemore, was the scene of a very pretty wedding ceremony Saturday morning, uniting in marriage Miss Mildred Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Turner Route 1, and Robert Dickson, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brines of Midland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white illusion over satin, with fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations and gardenias. The bridesmaid, Jane Musselman of Flint wore a gown of pink illusion and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Acting as best man was Leo Hanley of Midland. Ushers were Harvey Smith of Turner and Robert Brines of Midland.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the wedding party. A noon buffet lunch was served at 12:00 noon, followed by a reception from two until four o'clock at the home of the bride.

Wedding guests were present from Port Huron, Lansing, Detroit, Flint, Bay City and Midland.

The young couple left by plane from Ireland Airport and will spend their honeymoon in Chicago. On returning from their trip they will reside in Midland where the groom is employed by the Dow Chemical Co.

For travel the bride chose a fuschia suit with black accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias.

John Hamilton

John Hamilton, formerly of East Tawas and a resident here for many years passed away in Port Huron last Monday. Death was due to heart trouble. Funeral services were held in Port Huron Tuesday evening and the body was brought to East Tawas for burial. The funeral was at 12:00 noon from the Moffatt Funeral Home, under the auspices of Baldwin Lodge, I. O. O. F., and the Odd Fellow burial service was held at Greenwood cemetery.

Relatives who survive are two daughters, Mrs. Lavina Stores of Port Huron and Mrs. Eva Kinney of Ferndale, Washington. Mrs. John Hamilton, wife of the deceased, passed away in September, 1941.

The Hamiltons were owners of the East Tawas Laundry on Newman Street for many years while residing here.

Mrs. Lavina Stores and son of Port Huron and George Hamilton and daughter of Lansing attended the funeral.

The Rebekah Lodge served dinner to relatives and friends after the funeral at the Odd Fellow Hall.

Mrs. James Brigham, Mrs. William Schneider and Chelsea McIvor of Sherman township were business visitors in the city on Monday.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Indian Troops Invade Hyderabad, Endanger Country's Shaky Peace; Russia Confuses Crisis in Berlin

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

INVASION: Hyderabad

Too Many Farmers?

WHY, with the increased demand for farm products and the fact that farming is more prosperous than ever before in its history, is there a continual and rapid decrease in farm population? The bureau of agricultural economics in answer to that question told this reporter that the basic reason is simply that there are too many farmers. As a matter of fact, the farmers can do the job they are doing with many less farmers than there are today.

Actual farm population of the country as of January 1 this year was 27,439,000 which is a decrease of three million since 1940. So in seven years there was a migration of three million persons away from the farms and to the cities.

Even so, there are still more than enough farmers to do the gigantic job of production which has been asked of the farmers of the nation, for one out of every three adult persons who live on farms has either a part-time or full-time job in the cities and towns.

In 1944 which was one of the peak years of farm production there were only 25,630,000 persons living on farms, the main reason being that the young men had gone to war.

There simply isn't room enough or work enough on the farms to take up the population born on farms. Farm population would double itself in a generation. The birth rate in the rural areas is 19.1 as compared to 17.1 in urban areas to every 1,000.

For three decades, technological development, increased yields per acre despite rapid population increases of the nation as a whole and consequent increased demands for more food, have brought about a trend of migration away from the farms. And were it not for the higher standard of living brought about by the advent of electricity and other conveniences on farms, this migration would be even more rapid than it is today.

Machine and power tools, better housing and schools, the automobile—all have been a deterrent to prevent this out-farm movement, but it hasn't been enough and the simple fact remains that the nation still could do with fewer farmers and still produce sufficient quantities of food to feed the country and part of the world.

Even back in 1930 when there were not many jobs in cities, one out of seven farmers went to the cities to work. In 1940 one out of five farmers worked in cities and towns and as pointed out above, today one out of three adults make their living or part of it working off the farms. While this migration has been mostly from the smaller and less economically prosperous farms, even on large commercial farms and the better family-size farms the ratio of adults working in the cities holds good.

Cabinet Post

Many of the political dopsters here say that the next secretary of agriculture, if Governor Dewey is elected, will be Congressman Clifford Hope of Kansas, chairman of the house agricultural committee. Probably standing head and shoulders above Congressman Hope as a statesman is Sen. George D. Aiken (Rep., Vt.), who will head the senate agricultural committee in the 81st congress, and who is author of the new long-range farm bill. But Senator Aiken is too independent and too liberal.

This column predicts the next secretary of agriculture, provided, of course, Dewey is the choice of the people, will be someone like Milton Eisenhower, president of Kansas State college and brother of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Farm Co-ops Grow

Despite fights being made on farm co-ops by some politicians, membership in the past year has increased by 400,000 to 5,436,000 members according to the co-op research and service division of the farm credit administration. Business of the 10,125 co-ops increased 16 per cent to $7,116,000,000 for the year. Sixty per cent of the business was in the 10 states of California, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, New York, Wisconsin, Ohio, Missouri, Indiana and Washington

Events in India were a far cry from the days when Mohandas Gandhi's philosophy of passive diplomacy prevailed among the affairs of that sub-continent. Indian troops, strongly supported by armored units, had invaded the princely state of Hyderabad (see map) whose Moslem ruler—called the Nizam—had refused to join with the other Indian dominions even though Hyderabad's population is predominantly Hindu.

THAT WAS THE whole story. The Nizam and his small, compact Moslem court would not agree to follow the other Indian princely states in according to the Dominion of India which was established last year.

The Nizam, often called the richest man in the world, and the only surviving heir of the great Mogul empire, wanted to rule an independent Hyderabad. Whether he could have succeeded in doing that, even if the dominion government had not opened hostilities against him, is questionable. Hyderabad is completely landlocked and has no access to the sea except by courtesy of the states surrounding it. All of its imports and exports, therefore, must pass through India.

WHILE HYDERABAD might profess its independence as a state, chances are that the economic and political conditions of actual independence never could be achieved. Can India's invasion of Hyderabad be justified? Not too easily, if at all. It was not a matter of sending a police force into the state to quell internal disorders. It was, apparently, a deliberate act of aggression and as such should go before the U. N. security council for judgment.

From a practical standpoint there was not only no need for the invasion but there is an actual danger ful solution was getting buried deeper and deeper. That all this confusion was being fostered deliberately by the Soviets was quite evident. Their purpose for so doing was more obscure.

THE RUSSIANS want full control of Berlin, taking that as their immediate objective. Ultimately they want to force American occupation troops completely out of Germany, after which Russia could take over the great German industrial potential, including the inestimably valuable Ruhr section. However, there might be still another reason for this display of Soviet diplomatic aggression which was planned almost a year ago to erupt this fall.

The Russians might be trying to harass the western nations to the point where the entire Berlin issue will be dumped in the lap of the United Nations. Once the crisis comes under U. N. jurisdiction the Russians might plan to use the inevitable squabble as a pretext for resigning from the world organization and taking their satellite states with them.

THE EAST-WEST split into two opposing power spheres then would be complete. Moreover, the U. N. itself probably would be reduced to total impotency in guiding international affairs. And the question of whether the Soviet Union is entertaining motives like these might be answered by the end of the year. For the western nations were determined that if they didn't get some satisfaction from Moscow soon they would arraign Russia before the United Nations this fall.

involved. There are no linguistic or racial differences between Hyderabad's Hindus and the Hindus of adjacent states. The boundaries of Hyderabad are arbitrary and historical, not dependent upon the geography of the vicinity.

INDIA MIGHT well have refrained from pushing the issue for a year or two, pending a peaceful settlement. The potential danger lies in two phases of the situation:

1. THE HYDERABAD war might prove to be the factor that will precipitate violent conflict between Hindu and Moslem Pakistan, whose more or less peaceful relations now are strained and uneasy. 2. IT IS A BLOW to the British Commonwealth, to which both India and Pakistan still belong. With the Russians acting the way they are, any disturbance of the delicate balance of power that still prevails in the East could bring still another catastrophe down upon the world.

RUSSIANS: Fantastic

Not even the most starry-eyed Pollyanna could deny that the U. S.-Soviet fracas over Berlin was downright fantastic and getting more so every day. The whole thing simply had stopped making sense, even to many of the diplomats who were embroiled in the situation.

WHAT CHANCE was there for any logical kind of peace when, even while western diplomats were in Moscow attempting to work out a formula with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, the Russians in Berlin were inciting riots, kidnapping western sector policemen and firing on American planes engaged in the airlift?

One complication was being piled on top of another, with the ensuing result that any possibility of a peace-

Russia Is Well Supplied With Manpower

Russia and the Soviet satellites are appallingly well supplied with manpower for military purposes, according to official estimates in Washington. In Soviet Russia alone there exists a tremendous reservoir of able-bodied men for land armies. Best estimates indicate the existence of 175 divisions of Russian ground force and security troops, embody-

COTTON: Lift Dat Bale

With the largest cotton crop since 1937 being harvested this year, Uncle Sam is making ready to stage a comeback in the cotton buying business.

Of the 15,219,000 bales to come off the land, the cotton trade estimates that about a third will go into storage under federal loan.

TWENTY-ONE MILLION people in the United States depend on cotton for their livelihood, and the fate of the cotton crop, therefore, is not only a personal but a national concern.

The federal government is coming into the picture because cotton prices are coming down. They have reached 31.04 cents a pound, which is pretty close to the support floor of 30.74 cents.

Here's what happens:

WHEN THE COTTON grower hauls his crop to the warehouse he gets a receipt for it, and then he either sells the cotton at the market price or accepts the government's standing offer to lend him money on it.

If he chooses to accept the loan, he is paid 30.74 cents a pound on the average—the exact price depending on the kind and quality of the cotton.

Then he is free, for one year, to sell the cotton for more money, provided the price goes up. If he doesn't sell it within a year the government becomes owner of the crop.

PROBABLE EFFECT of this operation will be to keep a lot of cotton off the market this year, thus preventing the price from dropping through the support floor. Also, it will result in the government's ending the year with several million bales of cotton on its hands.

BIG FOUR: Or Little 14?

The U. S. government's spectacular suit against the "big four" meat packing companies—Swift, Armour, Cudahy and Wilson—promised to be one of the biggest anti-trust actions since President Theodore Roosevelt said something about carrying a big stick.

Filed by the justice department in federal court in Chicago, the suit asks that the four companies be broken up into 14 separate firms. Specifically, the U. S. wants Swift and Armour to be carved into five separate companies each and Wilson and Cudahy each to be split into two firms.

TOM CLARK, attorney general, said in a statement: "The four defendants named in the complaint are charged with suppressing competition in the sale of meat and meat products." The Sherman anti-trust law is being invoked in the action.

Clark described the suit as "another in a series of cases instituted by the department of justice in furtherance of its program to free the production and sale of food and food products from monopolistic restraints."

THE PACKERS had another story to tell, however, with "playing politics" as one of their key phrases.

Said John Holmes, president of Swift and company: "It is significant that the charges appear at the beginning of this fall's political campaign. Apparently an attempt is being made to shift responsibility for inflationary price trends.

"No one can control either livestock prices or meat prices," Holmes fumed.

INFRA-RED: Frost Killer

The day—or night—of the old-fashioned smudge pot as the main buffer between plants and killing frost may be nearing an end.

Science has taken over to come up with a new kind of frost killer, development of which was sponsored by the American Iron and Steel institute.

THE CONTRAPTION, known as the Plymouth infra-red lamp, is in a fair way to affect materially the nation's agricultural system, the institute thinks. Reporting on the new device, the institute pointed out that while farmers will find the lamp invaluable in saving crops during the first touches of frost, the growing season actually may be extended as techniques for its use are developed.

Dr. Arthur W. Farrell of Michigan State college, one of the men responsible for development of the infra-red machine, cited an example: "On September 2, 1946, to take one example, Michigan had a two-hour killing frost. The next frost did not occur until October 1, a month later. Had tomato and melon growers been able to protect their crops for about two hours on the morning of September 2, they would have had four more weeks of very favorable growing weather. As it was, they lost everything."

THE FROST dispeller, made up of sheet steel and a little ingenuity, will put an end to some of nature's nonsense. The lamp is composed of a circular piece of stainless steel, shaped in cone-shaped steps, with an oil burner within the framework. When the burner is put into action, the steel heats until it becomes cherry-red. At this point, infra-red rays are thrown off, spreading over the area to be warmed, even entering the ground in their intensity.

BLIMP: Biggest Yet

Biggest blimp the U. S. navy ever ordered and the first to be contracted for since the war soon will be under construction at the Goodyear Aircraft corporation in Akron, Ohio, the U. S. navy bureau of aeronautics has announced.

The ship will have a helium capacity of 825,000 cubic feet and an empty weight of about 34,000 pounds. It will be 324 feet long, 71 feet wide and 92 feet high.

Washington Digest Hull Realized the Gravity Of Post-War Readjustment

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—"I wish," he said, "I wish I could burn this into your minds and memories for the next 50 years at least—that the human race this hour, this day, this week, this year is confronted with the gravest crisis in all its experience, and that we who are here on the scene of action, at this critical time, have the responsibility of saying what way the world is going for 50 years to come."

Those words I recorded in 1945 as the war in Europe was drawing to its close. They were spoken by a man now retired from public life who is living to see their significance growing each day—Cordell Hull who on October 2 reached his 77th year.

He spoke that sentence at an off-the-record press conference in his office in the old State, War and Navy building and the fire of conviction in his voice created such an impression that he asked him to let us quote him directly that one sentence. For that reason I have been able to reproduce it literally.

Since that day in 1945 we have seen President Roosevelt die and Secretary Hull retire; peace come in Europe; the United Nations founded and then, all unexpectedly, the new and terrible force released which brought the sudden cessation of hostilities in the Far East.

We saw, too, (few of us realized it) a tiny cloud no bigger than a man's hand, take shape on the horizon of world relations. Cordell Hull realized the necessity of maintaining friendly relations between the United States and Russia. Against the advice of his physicians and the wishes of the wife to whom he was devoted, he flew to Moscow to talk to the one man upon whom the future of world peace then seemed to depend.

I had the great privilege of talking with Secretary Hull on the eve of his departure for Moscow. When I was shown into his office he was sitting at the great desk in the room from whose windows have looked so many of the great statesmen who have been America's spokesmen to the world.

The office of the secretary of state has been removed from the ancient rococo building next to the White House which, with its high ceilings, its gloomy marble corridors, wide stairways and its fireplaces, which was filled with a certain odor of sanctity, slightly tinged with a touch of obsolescence which spoke of days and eras that were gone forever.

Today, the offices of the men who direct our foreign affairs are housed in an ultra-modern building, air-cooled, brisk, almost modernistic in its design. But I can imagine that History, as she solemnly records each day's agenda of 1948, must smile a bit ironically when she notes the similarity of today's record and that which was the chief concern of Cordell Hull.

When he rose to greet me on the occasion of my earlier interview with the courtesy which was a natural characteristic and one not acquired by acquaintanceship with the masters of diplomatic protocol, his desk was covered with papers. He indicated them with a gesture and explained that they all dealt with his forthcoming mission to Moscow.

We talked for a long time and the viewpoint he expressed then concerning our policy toward Russia remained unchanged on his return.

Russia's Background

Forms Her Attitude

I saw him again with a small group after his return and he reminded us that Russia's attitude must be considered against her background, that she was a nation which had been virtually locked up for 25 years and during all that time had heard nothing but epithets against her, that she had cultivated the habit of slapping back twice as hard whenever she heard anything she thought was criticism against her.

Thus, a defense psychology was built up, a suspicious attitude toward the whole world, which made the Soviet psychology entirely different from ours. Each had much to learn from the other, both must improve, and that, Hull said, would take time.

He felt very much the same way when he concluded his memoirs this year and offered this advice.

"In dealing with the Soviet Union we must never waver in this determination or give any evidence of weakness, or cease to insist that, although she is entitled to freedom from intervention in her domestic affairs by any other nation, her government has no right to force communism on other nations or to intervene in their domestic affairs in any other way."

As Cordell Hull looked back on his long period of public service the last years of which covered the most trying times up to then that our nation has faced, he came to the conclusion which more and more of our great leaders are reaching today and he said:

"We have a desperate need for more religion and morality as the background for government. The religious and moral foundations for thought and conduct require strengthening here as well as throughout the world. There is no higher civilizing influence than religious and moral concepts. Corruption and tyranny can be driven out of government only when these concepts give men the faculty to recognize such evils and the strength to eliminate them."

If the political pendulum swings at the next election as is likely, and the logical appointee for the office of secretary of state is named, it will be John Foster Dulles. It will be a satisfaction to many to know that he shares the views of Mr. Hull in so far as they both recognize the importance of the influence of religion in the carrying out of our relations, domestic as well as international.

For those who, as Cordell Hull said, "are here on the scene of action at this critical time," this fact is vital, since we have the responsibility of saying "what way the world is going for 50 years to come."

Charles E. Hughes—Two-Career Man

To mention the office of secretary of state naturally brings forth memories of another great statesman who held that office and whose death occurred recently—Charles Evans Hughes.

Chief Justice Hughes had a remarkable career. In fact, he had two careers, each lasting 43 years. The first as a brilliant and successful lawyer in private practice and the second as a public servant holding among others two of the highest positions in public life in America, secretary of state and chief justice.

I happened to be present on two occasions within a few hours of each other which might be the high and the low point of any man's career.

With a group of reporters covering his headquarters in New York on election day I bid him good-night, fully believing as he and all of us did, that he was the president-elect. I saw him the next morning when he came to the door of his hotel room with a grandchild in his arms to take in the morning paper which recorded the late returns from the West and gave the majority of the electoral votes to Woodrow Wilson.

That same night Woodrow Wilson had gone to bed accepting defeat. The only paper supporting him which failed to haul down the flag (signal of Republican victory) was the old New York Evening Post whose special correspondent, David Lawrence, had predicted Wilson's re-election and stuck to it when he was almost alone in his belief.

How much of a disappointment Hughes suffered it's hard to say. No man was ever more reluctant about accepting the candidacy and the fact that he received such a proportionately large popular vote must have been gratification enough. He looked forward with anticipation and pleasure to his return to private life but his keen interest in the law caused him to accept the judgeship on the world court.

He made a brilliant secretary of state under Harding and continued under President Coolidge. His selection as chief justice of the supreme court by President Hoover was perhaps a most fortunate thing in the light of the crisis brought about by the famous "court packing" fight under Roosevelt.

His success as Chief Justice was due not only to his remarkable knowledge of the law but his tremendous capacity for work and his ability to reconcile different points of view among the members without attempting to enforce his own legal viewpoint upon the individual.

Hughes was a brilliant speaker. He spoke naturally and easily, yet with an excellent choice of words. Although he was extremely dignified in appearance and manner he was able to convey a warmth of feeling which immediately aroused sympathy and interest in an audience.

"BUZZIE" WINS POLIO FIGHT . . . The grandson of the late President Roosevelt, Curtis "Buzzie" Boettiger, 18, appears pale and a bit shaky following his recovery from a minor attack of polio. Following his release from the Corona, Calif., naval hospital, he applied for a passport. He will accompany his grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, to the United Nations sessions in Paris. Beside "Buzzie" is his mother, Mrs. Anna Boettiger.

FORSAKES SOCIETY . . . Pretty 19-year-old Constance Murray, Long Island socialite heiress, is shown at the wedding of her sister Catherine. Constance has since given up this life to enter the Convent of the Holy Child, New Sharon, Pa., as a novitiate Catholic nun.

MIGRATION TRAGEDY . . . Police and ASPCA agents in New York were baffled at the phenomenon of hundreds of small birds, falling dead and dying into the streets surrounding the Empire State building. Two of the theories advanced for the mishap were: one—the birds flying in the darkness, struck the side of the world's tallest building; two—they had been poisoned on the way. An ASPCA agent and a policeman are shown putting the stricken birds in a box.

INDIA'S PRIDE—"C. R." . . . To the first Indian governor general, Chakravarti Rajagopalacha Rajagopalachari, goes much of India's adulation since the death of Gandhi. The governor general is more generally referred to as "C. R.," or "Rajaji" at most. During a tour of south India many women transferred necklaces from their necks to that of their loved "C. R." Such a scene is pictured here.

Savory Fish Dishes Appeal to Appetite, Are Kind to Budget

ARE YOU LOOKING for versatile as well as economical main dishes these days of high prices? Fish will fill the bill on both counts, and none of the family needs turn up his nose at these delectable foods we've concocted. They're truly delightful and refreshingly different.

A small inexpensive can of fish when combined with other nutritious ingredients such as bread, milk, cheese and vegetables makes a hearty and protein-rich dish that really satisfies. Serve a salad and light but tangy dessert and you have the foundation for your meal.

FOR THOSE DAYS when you have to economize but still have something the family cheers about, select foods from this parade of recipes. They're kind to the food budget.

Tuna puff uses such nourishing ingredients as eggs, milk and bread crumbs to make a hearty and satisfying dish out of a small can of fish. Bake it in individual casseroles for a colorful edging around the vegetable platter.

*Tuna Puffs (Serves 6)
 4 tablespoons butter
 ½ pound sliced mushrooms
 4 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 Few grains cayenne
 1½ cups milk
 4 eggs, separated
 1 cup freshly grated American cheese
 1 7-ounce can flaked tuna fish
 2 cups fresh bread crumbs

Melt butter in saucepan, add mushrooms, cover and cook five minutes over low heat, stirring occasionally. Remove mushrooms. Add flour and seasonings to butter left in pan and blend. Gradually add milk. Stir and cook over low heat until thickened. Beat egg yolks slightly, add some hot sauce and blend; return to remaining sauce and cook two minutes longer. Fold in grated cheese. Remove from heat. Add drained, flaked tuna and mix thoroughly. Cool. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold in fish mixture. Pour into six large, buttered custard cups or individual casseroles. Bake in a moderately slow (325 degree) oven, 45 minutes or until firm. Serve with lemon. For baking in a large casserole, allow one and one-quarter hours baking time.

Salmon-Rice Loaf (Serves 6)
 1 1-pound can red salmon, drained
 2 cups hot cooked rice, blanched
 2 tablespoons butter
 Juice of ½ lemon
 3 eggs, well beaten
 Salt and pepper to taste
 ½ cup sliced stuffed green olives

Flake the salmon, add the rice which has been thoroughly drained and to which the butter has been added. Add lemon juice, olives and seasonings to taste. Fold in beaten eggs. Turn into a buttered pan into the bottom of which a buttered piece of paper has been fitted. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 45 to 50 minutes or until loaf has cooked through completely. Unmold and garnish with lemon slices and parsley.

loaf that is served with a very colorful pea sauce that compliments the fish loaf perfectly:

Shrimp Loaf (Serves 6)
 2 eggs
 1 cup milk
 3 cups soft bread crumbs
 2 cups canned shrimp, cleaned and shredded
 2 tablespoons parsley, chopped
 2 tablespoons onion, chopped
 ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ teaspoon pepper

Beat eggs; combine with milk, add bread crumbs, shrimp, parsley, onion, salt and pepper. Mix lightly and place in a well-oiled loaf pan. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 45 minutes. Serve with broiled tomatoes and the following sauce:

Pimiento Pea Sauce
 4 tablespoons butter
 4 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 2 cups milk
 2 pimientos, chopped and strained
 1 cup cooked green peas

Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour, salt, pepper and worcestershire sauce. Add milk and, stirring constantly, cook until thickened. Fold in pimientos and peas. Serve hot.

IF YOUR FAMILY likes crab meat, extend it cleverly with spaghetti. The same recipe also can be made with rice in place of the spaghetti. Use one-half cup uncooked rice and cook in boiling, salted water until tender. Rinse and drain.

Crab-Spaghetti Casserole (Serves 6)
 1 9-ounce package spaghetti
 1 can cream of mushroom soup
 3 tablespoons butter
 1 cup milk
 ½ pound sharp American cheese
 1¼ cup flaked crab meat
 ½ teaspoon pepper

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Heat soup, add butter and milk. When hot, remove from heat and add cheese, saving a little of the latter Nutritious and tasty noodles will extend many seafoods, and will look attractive when baked in a casserole. With this you need serve only a crisp fruit or vegetable salad and an especially delicious dessert to make the meal complete. It's a good idea to plan a baked dessert so that the whole meal can be prepared in the oven.

to sprinkle on top of casserole. Combine cheese sauce with spaghetti, crab meat and pepper. Place in greased shallow casserole and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in a hot (400 degree) oven for 25 to 30 minutes.

Salmon Rarebit
 ¼ pound sharp cheese
 1 cup tomato puree
 ½ teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 1 cup evaporated milk
 1 1-pound can salmon

Melt cheese over boiling water, blend in tomato puree and seasonings gradually. Add eggs to milk and stir slowly into the cheese mixture. Add salmon broken in large pieces and heat for five minutes. Serve hot on toast.

Stews make meat go a long way because you can add lots of vegetables, gravy and dumplings to them.

One cup of tuna fish flaked combined with one cup of biscuit mix, one cup of corn kernels and one-half cup of milk and two eggs, separated, makes a nice fritter batter and will serve six to eight people. Green peppers stuffed with ham, seafood, meat or chicken extended with macaroni make an excellent combination for a satisfying supper or luncheon dish.

AROUND THE HOUSE

On washdays wear an oilcloth apron made of an old tablecloth. This keeps you dry from neck to hem. If there is enough material, you can make a matching bag in which to carry clothespins.

Baked apples served a la mode make a party dessert. Put vanilla ice cream on a warm half of the baked apple.

When making jellies and preserves, keep a small saucer on the side of the stove to hold the spoon after stirring the mixture. If rested on the stove the sirup frequently bakes to the stove and this hardened mass is difficult to remove.

Convenient storage place for playthings for the convalescent child is a fabric shoe bag which can be hung beside the bed. Crayons, pencils, scissors and paper fit easily into the shoe pockets.

Put a sponge in a bowl of left-over starch and let it absorb the starch. Then when you have a petticoat ruffle that needs a bit of starch, dampen the sponge and squeeze the sponge into water for sufficient starch.

If one key in an otherwise well-behaved piano suddenly refuses to play, don't send for the repairman. First, look inside the instrument to see if, as so often happens, some small object has fallen on the strings.

Farmers' Exports

Nearly all of the farmers who operate the more than 150,000 farms in Kansas grow one or more crops for export and benefit directly from foreign trade, according to a United States State Department report.

The report cites Cuba's importance as a purchaser of this country's farm and other products and comments that under the stimulus of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements program, Cuba's imports of wheat flour from the United States increased from $2,935,000 in 1933 to $5,383,000 in 1938, or about 83 per cent.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read.

Dr. H. Prescott was present and spoke to the council about locating an office on Lake Street in the former Prescott home. Dr. Prescott advised to consult our city attorney Mr. H. Read Smith in regard to opening an office in the above named location.

The following bills were presented for approval by the Committee on Claims and Accounts.

Andy Gingrich, rivets for snowplow ..... $ 34
 Harry Tom's grease job ..... 1.50
 Tawas Hi-Speed, gasoline ..... 99.50

It was moved by Alderman Jacques and seconded by Alderman Coyle that the bills be allowed as read and the Clerk be instructed to draw orders for same. Roll Call: Coyle, Fox, Jacques and Rodgers. Nays: None. Carried.

Communications were read from the Michigan Municipal League and the East Michigan Tourist Association.

A letter from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, Lansing, Mich., requesting the approval for a new Club License for the V. F. W. Iosco County Post No. 5678, 268 West Lake Street, Tawas City, Michigan, was read. After discussing the matter, it was moved by Alderman Jacques and seconded by Alderman Coyle that we approve the request of the V. F. W. Iosco County Post No. 5678, 268 West Lake Street, Tawas City, Michigan, for a new Club license and dance permit. Roll Call: Yeas: Alderman Coyle, Fox, Jacques and Rodgers. Nays: None. Carried.

The matter of connecting the new well to our present Water System was discussed. As the new well is located on German Street in the Out Lot of F. Scheffler & Co., Addition to Tawas City it will require the laying of water pipe for the length of two blocks to connect with our present system. It was thought advisable to hire a contractor to install the water pipe. It was moved by Alderman Fox and seconded by Alderman Jacques that the Supt. of Public Works, W. A. Mallon be authorized to hire Otto Taylor and Son of Saginaw, Michigan to install the water line.

The City is to pay Mr. Taylor when the work is completed. This item to be a loan to the Water Department. Roll Call: Yeas: Alderman Coyle, Fox, Jacques and Rodgers. Nays: None. Carried.

The Mayor advised the council that it would be of benefit to the city if a delegate or delegates from the city council would attend a hearing at Lansing, Michigan of the Rivers and Harbors Committee in connection with the survey of Tawas River and Harbor.

Mr. R. J. Cooke presented the plat of Brown's Addition to the City of Tawas City for approval. This plat was checked by members of the Council. It was moved by Alderman Fox and seconded by Alderman Jacques that the council approve the Plat of "Brown's" addition to the City of Tawas City and authorize the clerk to sign same. Roll Call: Yeas: Alderman Coyle, Fox, Jacques and Rodgers. Nays: None. Carried and carried that we adjourn.

NO SONG IS LOST

By C. S. MONTAYNE

MARIO went through the cool, cloistered half light of the living room in Edna's Amarillo Canyon bungalow and sat down before her baby grand piano in the work-room where the shade of the trees outside lay in thick, green dusk. He swept aside a heap of Edna's penciled manuscript, smiling a little superciliously, for her composing efforts invariably amused him, and let his thin, nervous fingers roam the keys.

Usually melody soothed away any inner disturbance. But this afternoon, his talk with Hammond at the studio lingered unpleasantly. He found himself playing the elusive, fragmentary tune that had been in his mind for some days. He had thought it might be pointed up, eyes were mysteriously enigmatic, her full lips parted. At that moment Mario decided again that she was lovely—lovely enough to excite romance, to thrill and inspire him.

He wondered, abstractly, while he lighted a cigarette, why he wasn't in love with her. Perhaps it was that strange superiority he felt—the constant knowledge that he had come to Hollywood from the concert stage, that the music he wrote was good, so much better than the banal, tinkling tunes Edna laboriously ground out. It was true she had earned a great deal of money and fame of a sort from the full length cartoon comedy she had set to music. But he reminded himself, men like Hammond weren't contracting for her to write arias eyes on the open doors, listening.

She was playing the same tune he had toyed with when she had come in. But this time the melody had a meaning, a significance. It built itself in a melodic tone picture that gripped him and held him fascinated. The middle part that had hung suspended, escaping him completely, was now a bridge that carried the burden of the theme surely across to its exquisite climax.

"Something like that?" Edna came back through the cloying gloom. Mario stood, his young face earnest and intent, his hands trembling.

"Yes, something like that." "Go in and write it down before you forget it." She spoke casually. "Pencil and score sheets on top of the piano. Help yourself."

"But—" She pushed him away, gently, decidedly. "Hurry, before it goes." Brennan, who was doing the lyrics, put words to the melody the next morning in Mario's hotel room. At noon Hammond heard the song, approved, and took Mario out to lunch.

"Funny how a little urging can get you artistic guys underway," he grunted. "Frankly, I don't like highbrow musicians. I'd rather work with the Tin Pan Alley variety—people like Edna Sheridan, Tommy Dorlan. But that's a good tune. Sounds like a natural."

It was after five when Mario's taxi took him to Amarillo Canyon. The Great Dane barked ominously when he opened the iron gate, but the dog was chained and Mario went on to the letter-box and key Edna left for him. There was a note saying she'd be back in an hour, on the living room table, an open manuscript on the piano rack. Mario saw its title, "No Song Is Lost," when he switched on the shaded light and sat down to play.

But he reminded himself, men like Hammond weren't contracting for her to write arias and spot hit numbers for the type of picture, and the operatic star, on which he had been at work.

hammered into a production number that could be played straight or used to satisfy the jittery inhibitions of the swing-minded. Hammond had set a deadline for the thing he wanted. He had been very decided when he told Mario the song, words and music, must be in by the next afternoon.

Mario was embroidering the theme, trying to give it substance and body, when he heard Edna's car outside. Her Great Dane barked joyfully, the iron gate banged shut, her heels clicked rhythmically on the polished floor.

"I thought I heard you playing. Been here long?" Her slim hand slipped into his. "I looked for you at the studio. Hammond said you left at one."

Her hair seemed to glimmer in the light and shadow; her long, oval and spot hit numbers for the type of picture, and the operatic star, on which he had been at work.

They dined on the terrace. The moon swung up across the canyon and the stars came out, one by one. Mario, lounging in the candlelight, told her his troubles.

"Tomorrow afternoon . . . am I an automaton to have a crank turned . . . and music come out? That song I was playing—" He gestured with his thin, artistic hands. "It is what Hammond wants, I know that, but—"

"It fades into nothing," Edna interpolated softly.

He nodded, deep in thought, hardly conscious she had gotten up and gone into the bungalow. He lifted his brooding gaze when he heard the ripple of the piano. He jerked his head sharply left, his

SHE had raided a Los Angeles delicatessen. When she put her car in the garage, she called for him to help her with the packages. Mario carried them in to the glistening porcelain table in the model kitchen.

He looked deep into the enigmatic eyes Edna lifted. He tried to answer her smile, but his lips were stiffly serious. She frowned, watching his expression change dramatically.

"What did Pete Hammond think of the number? Why do you look at me like that, Mario? What's the matter? Something gone wrong?"

"Very wrong!" He was trembling oddly, the blood was pounding through him, his mind was confused. Only one thing had any clarity, any vision. "Why, Edna?" he heard himself asking in a strange voice.

"Why—what?"

His hands closed about her shoulders. He was drawing her to him, hardly aware of what he did. "That song," Mario said all at once. "No wonder it was elusive, haunting! I must have heard it here the first night I came! It must have hidden in some far corner of my memory! It was your song—the theme piece you did for that cartoon nonsense—so good you took it out, shelved it! Why, Edna—?"

He broke off. She was close to him now and quite naturally, simply, her arms linked themselves about his neck. And she was smiling, not enigmatically, but happily.

"What is the theme of all music of all life?" she asked, unsteadily.

Mario laughed. "Love, of course!" he told her, before he put his own arms around her and leaned to kiss the warm red of her curved, glowing mouth.

You guessed it, this is about those characters with crew cuts at one end and argyle socks (the ones you knit for them) on the other—boys, that is. Everybody knows that their latest fashion favorite is the collarless cardigan sports jacket, a la Sinatra, but only our hi style scouts could round up their latest fads—and only you would be interested in them.

Boys and Curls — Frankie Laine isn't the only one who can sing, "Just Because My Hair Is Curly," now that a new wave has swept over the high school boys — a Permalon Wave, we mean. Seems out in the Middle West, they're letting the front of their hair grow long and then curling it with those home permanent sets. Well, a forelock comes in handy when you have to honor your partner in square dancing.

News in Neckwear—The latest fad with his T shirts is a cotton bandanna kerchief, worn around the neck and slipped through a ring in front—preferably a friendship ring with a sentimental inscription. Looks as if he's been influenced by your silk scarfs.

Close Shave—Although we don't like to believe it, one of our Oklahoma scouts declares that the latest fad among the local Big Wheels is to shave their heads completely. Serves us right for complaining about their Crew Cuts. How hideous can they get, is what we'd like to know? Maybe we'd better not try to find out; there are times when "It Pays to Be Ignorant."

Hose for Joes—Miniature argyle socks are the latest good-luck trophies to hang in their jaloopies. Of course, they're made by their favorite Needle Nudgers. And, boys who have big collections of hand-knit argyles, are now wearing different patterns and colors together, instead of matching pairs. Such a dazzling display!

Added Attraction—As if Spike Jones recordings didn't shatter the air waves enough, some disc jockeys have discovered that they can add their own sound effects to records with hilarious—and noisy—results. Wait 'til you hear what they do with the "Bells of San Juanita!" In comparison, "My Old Flame" is a lullaby!

Minor Detail.

From now on when we chance to meet, I'll turn my head and cross the street.

The things he said, I can't forget, I'll cut him dead—with no regret. I can't forgive our bitter brawl, His insults are beyond recall— The only point on which there's a doubt Is what our quarrel was about.

Bare Trees

Grace Noll Crowell

SO DELICATELY beautiful, These bare trees are as lovely quite As when their boughs were tossed by wind. Or filled with crimson light!

They stand against the winter sky Revealed in all their fragile grace: Black inkly lines that write God's own Clear message on blue space.

He does not leave us desolate, Even these stripped trees, starkly bare, Hold beauty enough to warm the heart And melt the icy air.

Imagination Is Key to Simple But Effective Table Settings

By Erta Haley

Seasonal Setting

"OH, HOW I wish I were artistic and could do interesting things with my table settings," is a frequent cry heard when women gather. It happens especially when someone has put forth some thought in her table setting.

Well, you can all relax, that is, all of you who don't think you have artistic ability. If you know anything about color, and add to that your common sense, you can do something out of the ordinary.

Have you a red and white checked cloth? This is very seasonal currently and can be used for a baked bean and cider supper. Use some charming pottery plates for the dinner, brown mugs and a centerpiece of glowing red Indian corn arranged with dark green leaves in a polished wood salad bowl. Is there anything simpler?

What about using a gourd or a hollowed out squash for the centerpiece, with bittersweet or leaves or any array of fall fruit spilling out of it? This is very effective when the tablecloth is a mustard shade of yellow, a dark chartreuse green or a glowing tangerine color.

You don't have a cloth in any of those colors? Fix one out of a worn sheet, some four or sugar sacks, dyed to one of the shades just mentioned. If the sheet needs stiffening, run it through a light starch after the last rinse so it will be crisp and new-looking.

It takes but a little imagination, as you can readily see, to make effective table settings.

Informal Settings Are Easily Made

For breakfast, lunch and family dinner or supper you can use all manner of simple fabrics to create the background for a meal. In fact the materials for many of these may be in the scrap bag right at this moment.

Select table trimmings . . .

Old pillow cases and sheets are excellent if they have enough material in them worth saving. Cut these into the proper sizes either for cloth or mats, with napkins to match if you like. Finish off the edges simply by hemming, then dye them in shades you will want.

Old tablecloths which are worn and frayed can be cut down for mats, the size for which is 11 by 17 inches. Luncheon napkins are 17 inches square, dinner napkins are 19 inches square and tea or bridge napkin is usually 11½ inches square.

Good colors to use are red pepper, chili green, made by using a jade green shade in the dye, or a patio

Be Smart!

Beltlines are the lifelines of fashion. Plan yours to add a smart note to costumes, particularly gold or silver or some of the ultra smart dark ones in all colors. Plan them, too, as accessories for your new outfits as belts are headed for as important a place in the limelight as ever. The popularity of period designs continues, the scrolls and antique figures as important as ever. Very new is the flashing display of more than one buckle, often arranged in a series around the entire waistline.

don't use Harsh Laxatives

Keep regular this healthful way—

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination. No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C, supply valuable amounts of B<sub>1</sub> and C. They alkalinize; aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days. USE CALIFORNIA SUNKIST LEMONS

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
Released by WNU Features.

By INEZ GERHARD

JOAN DAVIS was the most excited member of the audience at the Laguna beach playhouse on the opening night of "Junior Miss." Her daughter, Beverly Mills, was appearing with the rest of the CBS cast of the radio show in the stage play of the same name. Though

JOAN DAVIS

Joan had taught Beverly the special Davis comedy technique, she had never realized how perfectly Beverly had picked up all mama's gestures and tricks. Said Joan at the end of the first act, "I'll sue that kid!"

Cathy Lewis, who had been ill most of the summer, was ordered off at least the first few "My Friend Irma" broadcasts by her doctor, whereupon husband Elliott Lewis pared his air schedule to two shows, "Gregory Hood," on Mutual, and the role of "Frankie Remley" on the Phil Harris show. Joan Banks stepped in as substitute for Mrs. Lewis opposite Marie Wilson.

These semi-documentaries are growing more and more popular. Eagle-Lion has one coming up, "He Walked by Night," based on a case in the Los Angeles police department files, which will star Richard Basehart and Scott Brady.

After a cross-country trip, Ted Malone reported that the radio personage the most people asked about was Eloise McElhorne, the firebrand of "Meet the Girls." Recently, when the show moved to Hollywood and she stayed back in New York, the public demanded her return till she gave in. And she was chosen in the first place because "she looked so sweet!" To the women who ask if that little wasp hates men because she's never had a beau—she has plenty! She's pert, pretty, and no man-hater.

After completing his first western, "Black Velvet," Howard Duff hung up his spurs in preparation for his next film, an untitled documentary-type picture about an international gang of thieves, his fifth in little more than a year.

American history will bob up all over the air this season. "Cavalade of America" presents it on Mondays on NBC; Sundays, "Carnegie Hall" brings Dr. Frank Black, soloists and commemoration of an historical event, with Gene Hamilton's commentary and appropriate music. And there'll always be historical sketches on other programs, of course.

According to the Motion Picture Herald's poll of movie theater operators, the number one star of tomorrow is Jane Powell of "A Date With Judy" and "Luxury Liner." Cyd Charisse is second, Ann Blyth third, Robert Ryan, only man in the first ten, is fifth. Those men who run our theaters really know what they're talking about, too, as polls of the past prove it.

After five years as a blonde on the screen, Marilyn Maxwell turned brunette to co-star with George Raft and William Bendix in "Race Street." She says she'll wait to see what the fans think before deciding to turn back.

Listening to an announcer's description of the California climate on the 1928 Rose Bowl game broadcast, Ken Carpenter decided to move to California. He'd been in advertising. There were no openings in that field—so he became a radio announcer. His first full-time job was another Rose Bowl game, in 1934. In 1935 the Bing Crosby program made him an actor.

ODDS AND ENDS—The bustle worn by Alexis Smith in "Montana," at Warners, is made of plastic and was invented by Milo Anderson, designer of film fashions. . . Alan Young, set for the Jimmy Durante show, expects to open his own comedy air show in January. . . Joseph Cotten wanted to be a circus clown; now collects books, pictures, costumes, information about clowns. . . Hugh Herbert ("A Song Is Born") started his professional career speaking all the lines of the male players in silent films. . . Singer Ilene Woods has a new hobby—between radio rehearsals she knits argyle socks for her husband.

Traveling Zoo Brings Animals To All Children

CLEVELAND.—"Hey, ma, guess what. I just petted a skunk!" In most places that admission would cause anything from inflated nostrils to screams of horror, but in Cleveland, mother just says, "Oh, that's nice. The traveling zoo is around again."

The traveling zoo is one of three mobile entertainment units that cruise the city's streets. They bring a museum, a vaudeville show and a zoo to people who otherwise might never see the real thing.

The oldest of the three, the traveling zoo, first took to the road in 1942. The recreation division of the board of education, realizing that the park zoo is inaccessible to many people, decided to bring a capsule-sized animal collection to the people's doors.

They built a gay little jeep-pulled trailer with bright colored animals painted on it. It is equipped with cages for about a dozen small and relatively tame animals. A schedule of stops at playgrounds and parks was arranged. The sponsors fixed up a public address system, and got a lecturer to talk about the specimens. The zoo makes four stops a day, five days a week. During its season, 100,000 people see it.

Youngsters Hear Talks.
The crowd of youngsters, liberally sprinkled with adults, hears a 45 minute talk, consisting of stories and facts about the animals.

Then some of the exhibits are brought into a roped off "petting pen," where the youngsters are allowed to play with them. The zoo now is carrying an opossum, raccoon, duck, horned owl, skunk, goat, bantam rooster, armadillo, fox, hawk, rabbit, monkey and some turtles.

Of this crew, the fox has become the show trouper. He is a great ham, thriving on attention. He sits up and practically "mugs" at the throngs of excited children who crowd around him.

The Showagon, another traveling unit, played to its first audience in 1944. Also unique in this city, it gives five evening shows a week to an average crowd of 3,000. During its season, 150,000 people flock around the brightly painted truck, which opens up to an 18-foot-square stage.

Local Talent.
The talent is recruited through a series of auditions, held in the city's huge public auditorium. Most of the acts—singers, dancers, mimics, magicians—are teen-agers, although there is no age limit. They serve without pay, but are eager to hitch their star to the Showagon. Many of the acts have gone on to professional careers.

After the vaudeville show, the street is roped off and the band plays on for street dancing. A Showagon visit is a high spot in every neighborhood, and the idea has been borrowed this year in Denver, Colo., and Cincinnati, Ohio.

The "portable museum" is a huge trailer, which had been used during field expeditions out west. Visiting hospitals, orphanages, schools, homes for the aged and other institutions, it has attracted more than 100,000 people in the less than a year it has been touring.

After 46 Years, Champion U. S. Money Burner Retires

WASHINGTON.—The man responsible for burning more money than anybody in history is quitting it for good.

He is Benton C. Gardner, retiring after long service as chief of the treasury's currency redemption division.

For 46 years, his job has involved sending to the incinerator paper money in such bad shape it had to be replaced with new bills. During that time, he has sent so many billions up in smoke no complete tally is available.

But last year alone, it must have amounted to more than five billion dollars. That's how much fresh money the treasury's printing and engraving bureau turned out to keep the supply in good shape.

As if you didn't know before, it's easier to get rid of money than it is to make it.

The government keeps a couple or so thousand employees busy turning out fresh cash. It keeps one—a man named Edgar Gary Jr.—to shovel the old stuff into the fire.

Beekeepers Honor Inventor Who Devised Simple Hive

GREENFIELD, MASS.—One hundred years ago a Congregational minister with a sweet tooth invented a "bee space."

Now beekeepers throughout the nation have erected a plaque in his memory.

The inventor was the Rev. Lorenzo L. Langstroth, who devised a hive, shaped like a box, from which racks of honey could be removed and empty ones substituted without disturbing the bees.

Until his invention in 1848, it was almost impossible to remove honey filled combs without dismantling the hive and destroying the bees.

A dinner will be served Friday evening at the Odd Fellow's Hall.
 This will be followed with an entertainment of scenic moving pictures of this area and group picturing.

Saturday morning the men will be on their own with an opportunity for fishing trips, and sight seeing, or whatever each one desires.

Saturday noon a pancake lunch-en will be served by representatives of the Pillsbury Flour at the Eagles Hall. The afternoon entertainment will be airplane rides, a trapshoot in the Tawas City Park, fishing, speed boat trips, bowling
 at Tawas City and East Tawas Recreation halls, and roller skating at the East Tawas Roller Drome.

Dinner Saturday evening will be served at Davison's Restaurant,
 "Below the Border." This dinner honoring the men from Percy Jones Hospital is being furnished by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Slaven and
 Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davison.

Roy McMurray will act as master of ceremonies at the evening's entertainment at the Eagles Hall.
 The program will include vaudeville acts, dancing acts by Ruth's dancing school, singing and dancing.

Sunday morning will include church services at the various churches of the community, fishing trips or whatever the guests may desire. Luncheon will be served at the Eagles Hall.

Starting at 1:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon a public trap shoot will be held at the Tawas City Park.
 Guests from Percy Jones Hospital will be furnished ammunition for the shooting events Saturday and Sunday, furnished by the Iosco Sportsmen's Club. Prizes are offered in these events.

Other entertainment in the afternoon will include fishing, boating trips and scenic drives.

The visit here will be concluded
 Sunday afternoon with a vension dinner at the Barnes Hotel. The vension will be furnished by the
