Literary Club Holds Banquet

Dr. Carl Martenson Principal Speaker

The Spiritual Bases of our American Democracy" was the theme of the talk given by Dr. Carl Martenson, Pastor of the First Congregational church of Saginaw, at the banquet given by the Ladies Literary Club of East Tawas, for their husbands.

Dr. Martenson emphasized that the antidote to our present mood of defeatism is faith. Our American Democracy is based on three ideas:

1. Belief in the worth and dignity of the common man.
2. A deep-seated belief in truth and righteousness.
3. Faith in a just God of the universe.

Three important things are also necessary to make democracy work:

1. We must renew it each generation. Our children must be taught our heritage of freedom.
2. We must remember democracy is based on character and honesty. There are "no innocent bystanders."
3. We must put more into it than we try to take out.

The dinner was served at tables beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and gay chrysanthemums. Mrs. Harvey Watson, president, in-

"Yeah. You can't make time payments any more without you put up 50 per cent margin."

"What was the idea putting 'em back again?"

"With daylight saving ended there will be more inflation or something, I guess."

"People are tightening up. It's being felt in the auto business so much that the big dealers have decided to cut out two colors in 1949 models. Did you read about the new car with a luminous body?"

"You mean a car made out of luminous metal?"

"No; it's a paint that makes a car glow at night."

"What's the idea?"

"You can see another car miles away without just depending on its headlights to blind you. It's going to cause a lot of trouble in water-front parking spaces. Luminous necking will never be popular, no matter what colors it is in."

"What do you think of the Hyderabad situation?"

"Notre Dame is always changing quarterbacks. I lose track of the names."

"Yeah. If it's a success over in Paris they may bring it to this country."

"What do you make out of Clay's air lift?"

"I don't think Harry Truman can get in even if he uses it."

"Are you following the political campaign?"

"Only by hearsay. It's good to see the railroads neutral. They're giving both Dewey and Truman all the locomotives they can be photographed in."

"How're you voting?"

"I dunno whether to vote for Truman and less snow on the video screens or go for Dewey and the return of the two-dollar dinner."

"What about Henry Wallace?"

"He's all right, but only in a Disney sort."

"Are you paying much attention to that spy probe? I see they grinded a millionaires on giving money to Communist agents."

"I see she refused to answer on new grounds."

"What grounds?"

"On the grounds what she takes off her income tax is her own business!"

"What do you think of the U. N. doings in Paris?"

"It looks like it will go the full seven games."

"I see where the un-American committee is still probing scientists."

"Yeah. And I can't understand why President Truman in that western speech said Wall street was sticking a pitchfork in their backs."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
Security Council Gets Berlin Issue, Inconclusive Meeting Stalls Action; Russia Proposes Big Four Parley

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer
(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

DEBATE:
Inconclusive

For better or for worse the U. N. security council had become wedded to the problem of what to do about Berlin, but there was no honeymoon.

Russia had boycotted the security council debate, and although Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet delegate, attended the first meeting in body he remained monotonously aloof from the proceedings in spirit.

THAT FIRST session was not only inconclusive but downright dull. No one would have thought that the 11 men mulling over this world crisis in the Chaillot palace in Paris were engaged in deliberations of so momentous a nature that they might turn the balance for peace or war in the world.

While Vishinsky sat dourly and silently—playing the part of the vicarious witness to the hit—the American and French delegates read polite tirades against the manners and morals of Soviet motives and politics.

WHEN THE TWO western speakers were done, Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, acting president of the council, was forced simply to drop the whole business, temporarily at least, with a hollow thud.

After the French delegate had completed his review, Bramuglia waited expectantly for a time, then observed mildly that since he didn't seem to have any more speakers on the list the meeting would be recessed.

It appeared probable that the delegates would take considerable time for studying the charges of the U. S., Great Britain and France against Russia before meeting again. There was a possibility, too, that the security council might delay further formal meditation on the off chance that Russia might lift the Berlin blockade and the Big Four foreign ministers might take up the entire German question.

BIG FOUR:
More Talks?

Russia, whether the Kremlin admitted it or not, was dissatisfied with the way its pet Berlin situation was being handled. The Soviets wanted it out of the hands of the U. N. and in the hands of the Big Four foreign ministers.

EVEN WHILE the United Nations was deciding to discuss the issue, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was sending a note to the U. S., Britain and France urging that the four foreign ministers meet to consider both the Berlin crisis and the problem of Germany as a whole.

It was a peculiar development, inasmuch as it set the western nations to wondering how the Soviets could justify such a conference in view of their flagrant defection in the long, futile and disillusioning Moscow talks which had ended recently.

Molotov's note, however, claimed that the U. N. security council did not have the authority to deal either with the Berlin crisis or the overall subject of Germany.

REVIEWING the six weeks of negotiations in Moscow, the note said that the talks did not break down over a Russian demand for control of all air traffic in and out of Berlin, as the allies had contended.

All that Russia wanted, said Molotov, was some control over air transport to prevent black market money deals.

U. S. Ambassador Bedell Smith had agreed with that condition, Molotov insisted, and quoted him as saying: "It is quite understandable the Soviet government wishes to have certain guarantees against utilization of air transport for illegal currency deals or black market operations. Satisfactory guarantees of such kind could easily be secured."

IF SMITH'S statement is correct, Molotov reasoned, then the Soviet Union believes it is possible an agreement may be reached between the four powers on "a mutually satisfactory basis."

Anyway, Molotov continued righteously, he couldn't see what all the fuss was about. He claimed there was no blockade of Berlin, adding that the "defensive, protective measure" did not threaten international peace and security.

Members of the commission have revealed that among the additional cabinet departments that have been considered—but not decided upon—is a social security department, including public health, public works and education. They are separate bureaus now.

THE REORGANIZATION commission, which is working on all angles of government reorganization, was appointed under an act of the last congress. President Truman appointed a third of the commission and the senate and house each named a third.

Sen. Chan Gurney (R., S. D.) chairman of the senate armed services committee, has proposed a formal military alliance that would pledge the U. S. to fight if the nations of western Europe were to be attacked by Russia.

He announced that he would ask the next congress to approve his proposed alliance and to back it up with a new lend-lease program to help rearm western powers.

One More Alliance

Former Vice President John Garner and President Harry Truman, also a former vice president, staged a cheery reunion when Mr. Truman came to Uvalde, Tex., in the course of his pre-election campaign tour. The two are old buddies from way back, and the visit didn't hurt the President any politically, either, because Cactus Jack is a mighty popular man in Texas.

What Price Bread?

Ever since the price of wheat declined under the impetus of this year's bumper crop a good many inflation-harried Americans have been asking when the price of bread was going to take a corresponding drop.

The answer is that it probably won't, and the reason is that although the price of wheat is down the cost of the other basic bread ingredients are not.

BAKING INDUSTRY leaders, in a considerable ferment over recent charges that bread prices are deliberately being kept aloft, have said—and with some justification—that the present costs of bakery goods reflect "a remarkable achievement in resisting inflationary pressures."

They base this contention on bureau of labor statistics figures which show, among other things, that the baker today is paying $2.53 for the four major ingredients of bread that cost him $1.00 in 1939.

THAT FIGURES out to an increase of 153 per cent in the cost of raw materials; yet the American housewife is paying on the average only about 63 per cent more for her bread than during the 1935-39 base period used by the bureau of labor statistics in computing its cost-of-living index.

Last November, BLS figures show, flour reached a record of 164 per cent over the base period, and in December wheat of the type used for bread flour hit a record high of 214 per cent over the base. And although flour and wheat prices have slid somewhat recently, the flour used in bread now on the grocers' shelves was purchased by the baker several weeks ago when prices were up.

OF THE FOUR major bread ingredients—flour, sugar, shortening and milk—only sugar now has a lower BLS index than bread.

And still another factor which has the bread-makers beside themselves singing in the wilderness is the mounting costs of other elements involved in producing the staff of life—such as labor, machinery, distribution and packaging.

Any way you slice it, it's still inflation.

ASSISTANCE:
For President

Former President Herbert Hoover, who knows whereof he speaks when he dwells on the rigors of being the nation's chief executive, has a campaign under way now to add more members to the U. S. cabinet who could act as "operating vice presidents" assisting the president.

HOOVER IS chairman of the non-political government reorganization commission which will recommend additional cabinet members to act in that capacity.

He did not specify how many will be urged beyond the present nine-man cabinet, but members of his commission said the figure under consideration was three.

"Every president has recommended additions to the cabinet," said Hoover. "There are nearly 90 independent agencies of the government running around loose in addition to the nine cabinet departments."

FOOD, COAL:
Root of Evil

Two shortages, food and coal, are responsible for most of the discomfort and quite a few of the major troubles in the world, a report by the United Nations economic affairs department says.

Scarcity of basic foods and coal have lamed reconstruction efforts, provided an impetus to inflation and generally upset the world's economy by reducing human strength to work and produce.

LEWISIAN:
Anti-Truman

It was an accomplished fact that sooner or later John L. Lewis would have his say about the 1948 election, feeling as he obviously does that no political campaign would be complete without his having expressed an opinion on it.

At the United Mine Workers' 40th convention in Cincinnati the UMW chief shoved his foot in Mr. Truman's campaign machinery by turning a sour and sarcastic eye on the President's bid for re-election.

PRESIDENT Truman is "dangerous to the United States," said Lewis, and he had his mine worker convention delegates agreeing with him. They made it clear that they would not go along with the bulk of AFL, CIO and other independent unions now working for Mr. Truman's election.

While the delegates cheered and applauded his criticisms, Lewis declared that:

"Harry Truman is totally unfit for the position. His principles are elastic. He is careless with the truth. He has no special knowledge of anything. He is a malignant, scheming sort of individual who is dangerous not only to the United Mine Workers but dangerous to the United States of America."

PROCEEDING oratorically in this vituperative vein, Lewis devoted 25 of the 50 minutes he took for his speech to derogating the President in general and specific terms.

He charged that Mr. Truman vetoed the Taft-Hartley labor law only "for the record of his campaign." He said the President prosecuted the mine workers and had them fined twice "because he was too cowardly to send me to jail."

"I WAS WISHING he would put me in jail," Lewis went on reminiscently, "which is what a white man would have done rather than rob you."

John L. Lewis was saving his opinions on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican candidate, for a later phase of the UMW convention. Lewis doesn't especially like Dewey, either.

Statesman

Cordell Hull, former secretary of state, observed his 77th birthday anniversary quietly at Bethesda naval hospital where he has been a patient for the last two years since his retirement from the high public office. Doctors told him he would be able to leave the hospital soon.

URANIUM:
New Find

Practically nobody, except the people who look for it and work with it, knows much about uranium—the raw material of splitting atoms—but the world-wide search for that metal is constant, often frenetic and of inestimable importance.

CLAIMS THAT "another uranium deposit has been discovered" are becoming more and more frequent. And more often than not, the discovery flops completely. Or if it does turn out to be a possible source of supply the whole thing is immediately wrapped in atomic secrecy and the world hears nothing more about it.

The latest of these discoveries, announced recently by Columbia university, might turn out to be productive enough to be of vast significance to the world.

SCIENTISTS have unearthed a new, green mineral which was found clinging to mine walls in the Belgian Congo. It is a relative of the yellow carnotite, from which the U. S. gets its domestic uranium in the Rocky mountains. Carnotite is one of the two best sources of the atomic element, uranium.

Whether the green mineral is plentiful is not yet known. It now is being analyzed at Columbia university. Like the yellow carnotite, it contains about 60 per cent uranium.

If the new mineral proves a good uranium source, the discovery might be the most important of its kind since the atomic bomb first burst upon the world. More than 100 minerals containing uranium are known, but the element has been too difficult to extract.

Unusual Layout Eases House Shortage for Married Couple

LIMA, N. Y.—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Nataline solved their housing problem by going underground.

Faced with high construction costs, the Natalines decided to build the basement of their future home. Today they are living in an attractive, well-designed basement which cost them less than $3,500.

The home consists of a large living room with brick fireplace, bedroom, kitchen, pantry, furnace room, bath and garage. Nataline solved the labor problem by doing most of the work himself.

In five years, the Natalines expect to build the main floor. The basement will be converted into a recreation room, a bar, a laundry and a fruit closet.

Shipbuilder Hunts Petrified Remains of Noah's Ark in Turkey

ANNAPOLIS, MD.—Fred Avery, a model shipbuilder, is going to eastern Turkey to hunt for Noah's Ark. He wants to make a model of it.

Avery fashions ship models for the United States Naval academy here and is known unofficially as commander of the academy museum's "fleet." But building navy ships in miniature has begun to pall.

Avery wants to make an authentic model of the most famous ship of all—the one that Noah built.

Avery has his passport ready and plans to leave on an expedition which he says "has been planned, secretly for more than three years."

The explorers will head for Mt. Ararat, where the Ark is supposed to have come to rest after the Great Flood.

Avery says the backers of the expedition have "good reasons" to believe they have discovered the petrified remains of the Biblical ship atop the 16,915-foot mountain.

The adventurers hope to reach eastern Turkey where snow and ice cover Mt. Ararat most of the year.

Avery is reluctant to discuss the expedition except to say:

"There have been a number of reports that there is something up there. It could be Noah's Ark, preserved under the ice and snow all these years and suddenly exposed by an upheaval in the earth."

"Or for all I know, it could be a house on top of a mountain."

But if it is the famous ship, Avery hopes to be on hand to fashion the first authentic model of Noah's Ark.

Rabbits Lead Golfers Astray in Australia

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA.—Out in Goondiwindi golfers are mad at the millions of rabbits in the district. It's not that they eat the greens, burrow in the fairways or steal the caddies away from the course.

The trouble revolves around the high prices of rabbit carcasses and skins. Local caddies now go rabbiting. Schoolboys make up to $52 a week from rabbits in their spare time. Clever rabbiters are making three times that amount.

Goondiwindi is the center of a sheep raising district in southwestern Queensland.

Bank Needs President; Gets One Through Want Ad in Paper

HOUSTON, TEX.—The Texas bank which advertised for a president in the "help wanted" column has found its man.

Henry Franks Jr. will take over as president of the First State bank of Texas City. For 20 years Franks has been an employee of the South Texas Commercial National Bank of Houston.

"The girl who took my ad laughed," said Dee Walker, board chairman of the Texas City bank, "but the 50 replies I received proved she was wrong."

Walker said the ad brought replies from at least one junior executive of every Houston bank and from as far as Oklahoma and Missouri.

The ad read: "Wanted—Bank president. Opening for president of 2 1/2-million-dollar bank, located within 50 miles of Houston in Texas, in city with population of 25,000."

City Dwellers Have Less Chance to See 'Real' Mule

AKRON, OHIO.—The chances that a city dweller will ever get to see a mule "in person" are rapidly diminishing.

B. F. Goodrich company reports that in 1921 one out of six urbanites could expect at some time during his lifetime to come across a "real" mule. But today, the firm said, only one out of 17 can look forward to the same experience.

The company based its findings on reports of "mule and human populations" and the travel habits of city people. More persons are driving out to the "country," it noted, but when they get there, they are more likely to see rubber-tired tractors than a mule. In fact, there are now less than one-half as many mules and horses as there were in 1921 and 11 times as many tractors.

Washington Digest
Parapsychology Could Do Just Fine on Election Bets

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—It won't be long now before you'll be able to settle those election bets.

A few days after the release of the official record of the negotiations with the Russians over the Berlin situation, I was sitting in the club with a couple of members of the Democratic administration. Talk had grown pretty tall in Paris and that morning, every other person I met, it seemed, asked me: are we going to have war?

But Washington was as calm as a sleeping tabbycat. The club dining room window was open, and a lazy autumn sun swept down through the trees of the park.

Squirrels loafed around, showing little or no interest in preparing for the winter, and when I repeated the question I had heard so often that morning to my two Democratic friends, it aroused very little interest.

"The Russians want Dewey. So we won't have war now. The Soviets know if they started a war at this time, it would cinch Truman's election."

Naturally my friends didn't indicate that they had any doubts as to the outcome of the election, but when we started talking odds, I noticed the conversation was confined largely to the race for the senate. After all, said my friends, even some Republicans concede that Dewey might face a Democratic upsurge.

It wouldn't take much of a push either way. The Democrats have 45 seats now, and the Republicans only 51. The Democrats are confident that only one or two of their candidates are in danger.

On the other hand, there are a number of stiff state fights in progress in which the Republicans are being pushed pretty hard. The Democrats feel that if they can get out a large vote in these uncertain states, they have a chance of winning the four seats that would give them the edge.

In other words the count then would be: Democrats 49; Republicans, 47. That two-vote margin wouldn't assure Democratic dominance on all senate policy matters, of course, because too many senators are given to leaping out of the party corral these days. On the other hand, many issues are bound to be settled along purely partisan lines. But far more important, the party of the majority gains control of the senate committees.

The pre-election battles in which the Democrats seem to have the edge are in Oklahoma, West Virginia, Wyoming, and Kentucky. About in that order. Also Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, and Idaho.

The Democrats admit their weakest points are in Montana and Colorado. The Republicans by no means concede New Mexico, Rhode Island, and Tennessee, but the Democrats don't seem too worried about those states.

At this writing, it is useless to make predictions, for even between these calm moments and the time these lines are in print, skies may fall or some individual may stub his toe. Bets are collected after, not before, elections.

It is fortunate, of course, that all writers as well as all bettors are not equipped with extra-sensory powers. If and when the day comes when we are, the fun will be taken out of reading, writing, and betting.

And that day may come, believe it or not. I feel quite positive from the scientific proof offered, that most of the various forms of the supernatural are untenable. But, after attending a couple of lectures and reading considerable material on "parapsychology," I have become convinced that certain things MAY exist which are at present considered impossible.

I refer to extra-sensory perception, clairvoyance, and psychokinesis. And I see no reason why more scientists shouldn't give these subjects a more thorough looking-into than they have deigned to indulge in up to now. Some have.

Dr. J. B. Rhine, director of the parapsychological laboratory at Duke university, has been conducting experiments along these eerie lines for nearly two decades. He is a very modest man, and he leans over backward to avoid offering any conclusions or making any flat statements concerning these experiments.

I have read his book (heard him speak to an intimate group, take part in a forum and later answer questions at a private gathering under the auspices of the Washington Society for Parapsychology. For almost two decades, as I said, Dr. Rhine and his assistants have been trying to determine whether or not there is a scientific basis for telepathy (the transfer of thought from one human brain to another); clairvoyance (the ability to visualize things or events taking place beyond the vision of knowledge); or for that ability which may involve both of the former, precognition—the ability to predict things which will occur in the future.

And also psychokinesis, the hardest one of all for the cynical to swallow. That is the power of mind over matter, e.g. ability to make dice fall the way you want them to by thinking at them.

Roughly, this is an example of what has been done by Dr. Rhine and others. After long experiment and mathematical calculation, it is determined that by chance alone anybody can pick correctly five cards out of a pack of 25. That is just guessing, and it is even money the subject can do it.

If he is right oftener (and may have been right consistently more often than five in 25) that is MORE than chance. If he is right often enough, it is said that he has extra-sensory perception. In other words, he is able to perceive what the card is without the use of his senses, but rather by some undefined, unmeasured, unclassified ability which science as yet cannot explain.

Clairvoyance is a common experience. An example might be of the mother who has a vivid and alarming impression of a train wreck. It may be a nightmare, a waking hallucination, or just an intuition. The wreck seems to be connected with her son, perhaps with some definite place like a tunnel. It turns out later that her son was actually injured in a wreck at the spot where her dream checked it.

Careful checking of such experiences is now going on, and Dr. Rhine feels that the results in these cases too, appear to show that some unknown process is involved, unexplained in terms of our ordinary senses.

As to psychokinesis, experiments have seemed to prove that dice rolled in a mechanical cage could be made to fall, oftener than they would be by the laws of chance, according to the way the subject wished them to fall.

Dr. Rhine and his associates are trained psychologists. They say they are not trying to convince anyone that the above-mentioned qualities are actually possessed by certain individuals but they are trying to investigate their apparent existence.

And Now a Book
On John Garner

I had another adventure which might be called parapolitical. There was nothing psychic about it, but it included a piece of hindsight that is interesting.

The hindsight is that of former Speaker of the House and Vice-President John Nance Garner. He said he wished he had never left the house of representatives to run for vice-president. He felt that if Franklin Roosevelt had had a man like Speaker Joe Cannon in the speaker's chair—a no-man—Roosevelt could have avoided some of the mistakes Garner thinks he made. In other words, Garner would have liked to play Cannon to Roosevelt.

This came out in connection with a gathering of a few of the news friends of that over-six-foot-tall-Texas who looks like Abraham Lincoln and talks like Will Rogers. A man who was brought up on a ranch, but thought cows were a novelty until he was 10 because all they raised on his father's ranch were buffalo. He is Washington correspondent for more dailies than any one I ever heard of, and once we wangled him one vote for the vice-presidential nomination for the lark of it. Now he's author of a book.

I'm talking about Bascom Timmons and his book, "Garner of Texas," the only complete record of that fiery gentleman from Uvalde whose record for integrity and political ability in the house of representatives is one few can rival.

"Timmy" wrote it from his own notes and absolutely free hand. He probably knows Garner better than anyone on earth. It's a good book. It contains many interesting things including the "hindsight" I quoted.

Timmons is not only popular among newsmen, but he's popular with congressmen, presidents, cops and cats. One of his cats had its portrait painted by Howard Chandler Christy; another was operated on by a specialist at Johns Hopkins, both thereby setting up feline records in their respective fields, as their master has in his. If you're interested in "Garner of Texas," you'll be interested in what Timmons of Texas has to say about him.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
Released by WNU Features.

By INEZ GERHART

IN HIS hilarious book, "There I Stood With My Piccolo," Meredith Willson tells how it happened that the producer of NBC's old "Good News" hour got a boost up the ladder of fame by Norma Shearer who, like some other movie stars, didn't understand radio's split-second timing. So—the show went off the air in the middle of the big scene, and the young producer was fired for not bringing it in on time. He went to New York, got on a CBS sustainer with a character he'd always wanted to play—it was "Archie" of "Duffy's Tavern" fame, and the man was Ed Gardner.

"Battle for Germany," the new March of Time, not only gives a brief historical background of the present crisis, but also shows the progress made in rebuilding the country, and the attitude of the Germans toward the Allies. Also, the activities of a typical German family during an average day are shown. It is outstanding coverage of the situation.

Homa Massey, star with Marx brothers in "United Artists' 'Love Happy,'" agreed long ago to be in New York for the opening of Groucho's first play, "Time for Elizabeth." She made it, but the play closed a few days later, one of the disappointments of the new theatrical season.

Every so often a girl's name is linked with James Stewart's, but at the moment, according to a Warner Bros. report, he says "I've waited this long for marriage and I don't aim to be rushed. In fact, I may keep right on waiting."

Professor Quiz, vacationing on his farm, had to change his telephone number as a result of phone calls from quiz fans asking him for answers to questions on other quiz shows—especially to the name of the mystery melody on "Stop the Music."

Victor Jory, badman of so many film plays (his latest is "South of St. Louis") makes a quick change in his private life. He records fairy tales and Biblical stories for children, and writes songs and plays.

Visitors to the museum in the park headquarters at the edge of Death Valley are going to see a clay model of the Valley sand dunes, before long. It was made by Columbia Pictures' art director Cary O'Dell, for the Randolph Scott-Ella Raines starrer, "The Walking Hills." Columbia presented it to the U. S. Park Service at Death Valley.

The "Mr. Ace and Jane" broadcasts are "my show" to Lestelle Thompson, the Ace family's maid. She has delegated herself to attend every broadcast with a clothes brush in her pocketbook so she can dust Jane off before the show starts.

Guy Lombardo, who broke his left arm in a boat race accident, began leaving off the prescribed sling when conducting his band. The doctor objected. Guy protested that the wide sling looked ugly. The doctor spotted a narrow, belt-like contrivance, and told him to use that. So now Guy wears the new sling, formerly Carmen Lombardo's saxophone strap.

Ethel Barrymore has been added to the cast of MGM's "The Great Sinner," joining Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner, Walter Huston and Frank Morgan. She'll appear as the mother of Mr. Huston and the grandmother of Miss Gardner.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet" went into its fifth year on the air just five days before Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard celebrated their 13th wedding anniversary. . . . Jack Bailey, emcee of "Queen for a Day," says "I'm not the star—it's a washing machine, stove or electric ironer." . . . It's reported that C. E. Hooper telephone interviewers now must preface their inquiries with "This is not a radio quiz contest," to soothe irate listeners. . . . Mary McCarty, a new and terrific bit in a Broadway show, is a former contestant, not winner, on an "Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts" program.

HELP ALLIED AIRLIFT . . . In order to increase the potency and efficiency of the Allied airtift into beleaguered Berlin, more air strips had to be built. Scores of German women, like those pictured above, are aiding the Allies by helping to build a new runway at Tegel, in the heart of the French sector of Berlin. These new strips relieve the heavy burden from the Tempelhof airport.

SOLID AND SOUR . . . James Caesar Petrillo, czar of the musicians union, tries his delicate touch on a harmonica while two virtuosos of that windy instrument bend a couple of pain-wracked ears. It happened in Chicago after Petrillo had admitted the harmonica troupe, known as the Harmonicats, into his musicians' union. Left to right are Jerry Murad, Petrillo and Don Les.

SMILES—BUT NO APPLAUSE . . . Russia's United Nations delegates Jacob Malik and Andrei Vishinsky may smile at photographers but they refused to applaud after the U. S. delegate, Secretary of State Marshall, made his first speech at the Chailot Palace meeting of the United Nation's general assembly. In his speech Marshall served notice on Russia that the U. S. would make no compromise on basic principles.

HANDICAPPED CAMPAIGNER . . . Representative William E. Hess (Rep., Ohio) was not as young as he thought, and when he tried to play ball with some small boy friends he wound up in bed at Bethesda naval hospital in Maryland. Amidst a nightmarish effect of pulleys, ropes, and exercise gadgets he conducts business as usual. He answers his daily mail and also directs his campaign for re-election.

HONOR FLIERS . . . Lt. Francisco Tejada lifts a Berlin child so that she can touch his plane at Tempelhof airport. It happened when Berliners honored airlift fliers on 100th day of the operation.

POLIO TRAGEDY . . . Mother is dead, a victim of bulbar polio, and her two-months-old brother is in the hospital suffering from the dread disease, while bewildered by it all is Claudia Gene Kitchen of San Francisco.

"FELIX" . . . Sgt. William B. Hollman of Daniels, Md., makes an adjustment on "Felix," the new air force bomb which is designed to guide its own fall onto targets giving off heat such as enemy ships, factories and oil refineries.

DA PREEM PERFORMS . . . Yes, it's old satchelfoot himself, Primo Carnera, former heavy-weight boxing champion of the world. He's now wrestling for the entertainment of Brazilians in Rio and doing well at it.

Lawn Painting With 2-4-D
To use 2-4-D effectively on small patches of spreading weeds, a paint brush is a practical applicator that will not spread the 2-4-D beyond the spot to be treated. Unless the brush is reserved for this use (and not used for sprinkling other broadleaf plants about the place with insecticides and fungicides), it should be thoroughly washed out with soap and warm water and left to stand overnight in a quart of water to which a teaspoonful of ammonia has been added.

Tractor Death Causes
Main causes of deaths from tractor accidents are: (1) overturning; (2) falling from tractor; (3) leaving power take-off parts unguarded; (4) catching loose clothing in moving parts; (5) oiling or adjusting tractor while in operation, and (6) falling to keep children off of tractors.

DAIRY NOTES

Hats Off to the Ladies—
To balance off the hard luck stories of too many bull calves arriving a la the ABA route, here's a couple a feminine miracles reported from the field.
Andy Cobb, Clinton County A-BA has had a run of nine heifer calves in a row.
Brown City ABA, Inseminator Manager, Gordon Marian, reports that one of his clients Carl Beutner of Yale, has had 21 heifers out of 25 calves born during a seven month's run. Included in the crop were: one set of triplet heifers by Piebe; one set of twin heifers, by Walker and, one set of mismatched twins.
Despite these examples of heifer luck, ABA members can expect the total of several year's of calves to run about 50-50 bulls and heifers.

Don't Breed Heifers Now
Spring and summer freshening cows pay less profit than fall fresheners. It's hard to juggle older cows so as to break them over to calves in the fall, but heifers can be held over, to be bred in November, December or January. With good luck they can continue to be fall fresheners. Their offspring, if well grown, can be bred at about two years and can thus add to the part of the herd that freshens seasonally to make the most profit.
Milk dealers are hollering for more fall milk, that's another reason for farmers to strive for cows that calve in the fall—market prices should be good.

Just off the Press—
Cream Quality Leaflet
Several dairy organizations and individual creamery operators have requested information to this form to be passed out to producers. An effort was made to give greatest emphasis to cooling since this is probably the most important factor in producing good cream. This should also help to sell producers on the "Why" of the 60°F. state temperature law.

1 1/2 Billion Dollar Road Block!

RAILROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock every day and night of the year.

Although they know this, leaders of 16 railroad unions are demanding a five-day, Monday through Friday, week for one million railroad employes.

They want 48 hours pay for 40 hours work—in itself a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours pay for any work performed on Saturdays, and 16 hours pay for any work performed on Sundays and holidays.

On top of all this they want an additional increase of 25c an hour for every employe!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Summing up these demands, they mean that these union leaders seek to force the railroads to give one million employes an annual raise which would average $1500 per employe!

The total cost of this would be no less than 1 1/2 billion dollars per year, which is more than twice the expected net income of the railroads this year.

You'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employes have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average weekly earnings are higher than the average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In contrast with the demands of these 16 unions, which add up to the equivalent of 48c an hour, the Conductors and Trainmen recently settled their wage request for an increase of 10c an hour.

Railroads Run for Everybody—Not Employes Alone

The railroad industry must serve not one but many groups—producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public—night and day, every day of the year. These unions are proceeding in utter disregard of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends and holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who enters railroad employment knows this.

Strike Threat

On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the threat of a strike will not alter the opposition of the railroads to such unreasonable demands!

New telephone rates for Michigan Bell customers

THE Michigan Public Service Commission has authorized increased rates for Michigan Bell telephone service. New basic monthly rates are effective October 16, 1948. New charges for certain long distance calls between points in Michigan are effective October 20, 1948. This is the first general increase in 22 years. Michigan Bell requested the increase more than a year ago because of sharply increased costs of providing telephone service.

BASIC MONTHLY RATES

Basic monthly telephone rates for practically all types of service have been revised, effective October 16. New basic rates for your community will be listed in a folder enclosed with the first telephone bill you receive under the new rates.

The rate increase will produce 8% more revenue for Michigan Bell. However, the increase in some exchanges will be higher than average—in some, lower than average—in order to establish the same rates for communities having a comparable number of telephones. Your basic rate will be determined by the number of telephones you are able to call in your local calling area.

These uniform rates, fair to all, mean that you will pay the same as subscribers in other towns and cities with comparable local calling areas.

LONG DISTANCE CALLS WITHIN MICHIGAN

The following changes, effective October 20, apply to long distance calls between points in Michigan:

The initial period is changed from 5 to 4 minutes on 15¢ station calls, and from 5 to 3 minutes on 20¢ and 25¢ station calls.

Overtime rates per minute on calls costing 20¢ or more are changed from 1/4 to 1/5 of initial-period rate.

Night and Sunday rates are increased 5¢ on calls between points 48 to 112 miles apart.

TO PROTECT THE QUALITY OF SERVICE ANOTHER INCREASE IS NEEDED

To meet the unprecedented demand for telephone service following the war, Michigan Bell had to tackle the greatest improvement program in its history. So far, $150,000,000 have gone into new and improved facilities—and the program is only half finished! Many more millions will have to come from investors before we will be equipped to give every one the kind of telephone service he wants and needs, whenever and wherever he wants it. Investors will continue to provide that money only if they are assured a fair return.

But our operating costs have continued to rise since we asked for a rate increase a year ago. Looking ahead, even with the new rates, our revenues will not be enough to pay day-by-day operating expenses and still leave enough to pay a fair return to investors. On top of that, we have made a wage offer to the telephone unions that would add substantially to our costs.

All of which means we must have more revenue. So we have no alternative except to ask for another rate increase. But you can be sure that it will be no more than necessary to operate the business and to provide a return that will attract the capital needed to continue our improvement and expansion program.

Farmers Urged to Use AAA Program

The Agricultural Conservation Program is open to all farmers and all farmers should make plans now to use the program next year for their most pressing conservation needs. Every farmer—as a custodian of the soil—has a responsibility to the nation to help protect the nation's most valuable resource and through the program he gets the help of the nation to get this essential job done.

While actual signing up in the 1949 program will not come for several months yet, Earl M. Partlo, chairman of the Iosco County AAA Committee, says the remaining months of the 1948 season are a good time to start conservation plans for 1949. In that way farmers can be sure to take full advantage of the program before the closing up date next season.

Because some farmers are not aware of the seriousness of the conservation problem and often because they do not understand the purposes and provisions of the Agricultural Conservation Program they are not cooperating to the fullest in the national effort to save the soil, the chairman states. There is a program and an elected committee of farmers to administer the problem in every agricultural county in the United States and all farmers can get the benefits of the program.

The locally elected farmer-committee in Iosco County is made up of Earl M. Weaver, chairman; Henry B. Oates, vice chairman, and George Jones, active member. The county office is located in Tawas City.

Use of Silos Recommended
Many silos have stood empty for years which could be profitably put back into use on farms where livestock are being fed. Use of 40 to 80 pounds of molasses as a preservative, 150 to 250 pounds of grain or 30 to 40 pounds of dried whey per ton will help to insure good quality silage. Research has shown that making silage will save 16 per cent more protein and 8 per cent more dry matter than when the same crop is made into hay. This protein saving equals 400 pounds of linseed meal per acre.

Change in Egg Situation
Our eggs are coming from big farms, when 10 years ago they came from small farms. Half of today's eggs come from farms with 200 or more birds.

The 1949 FRAZER

Trailblazer—of cars to come!

Once in a blue moon the stylists and engineers outdo themselves. They create a car that goes beyond today and sets the pattern for cars of the future.

This is what they have done with the FRAZER for 1949!

Low, sleek and differently handsome it is the trailblazer in style of cars to come. Its exclusive colors and fabrics have made the world's leading fashion designers fall in love with it. They call it "the dream car".

The same car, the FRAZER for 1949, has even won the hard-to-win hearts of the test drivers who must relentlessly punish a car mile after mile for weeks on end. They say the Frazer makes such driving no punishment for them. Its driving ease and riding comfort "make 600 miles a day a breeze," they say:

There's a thrill waiting for you at your dealer's today. With 100 new features, improvements and refinements, the 1949 FRAZER is ahead of its time... out front—trailblazing the way for all the cars to come.

First to break clean and scrap tradition, the cars from Willow Run have done it again. Because unlike other "new" cars built since the war, they've road-proved their dependability—2 billion miles worth! Value-proved to a quarter-million justly proud owners. See and drive the new FRAZER now! It's at your dealer's. Kaiser-Frazer Corporation, Willow Run, Michigan.

She Floats Through the Air

By JOHN H. ROSE

Tony silently worshipped the petite trapeze queen but she did not know he existed until his heart and imagination combined to bring about a unique introduction.

TONY had just emerged through the rear flap of the sideshow tent when he heard the steady rumble of the snare drums sounding from the big top just a few feet away. He hurried across the straw-littered area away which was the actor's entrance to the circus. The gayly colored pennants floated in the breeze high above the mammoth canvas. Performers in gay costumes lounged leisurely about the rear of the tent awaiting the grand finale. Lumbering elephants pushed and heaved to move the animal cages into the menagerie tent. The big, tawny cats snarled viciously in anger at having been returned to confinement again after their performance.

But Tony was oblivious to all this activity as he moved intently into the tent, and slipped quietly onto the grass near the end of the hippodrome track. His position gave him a commanding view of the space directly over the center ring. Multi-colored spotlights played upon the spangled figure of a dainty lady silhouetted against the tent top.

The gentle music of a waltz now wafted through the tent from the bandstand. Poised upon the tiny platform, 80 feet above the ground, stood the petite Annette—queen of the aerialists. Many said she was the greatest since Langtry. The swinging bar floated rhythmically back and forth as she swung it gently and evenly away from her. Far across the space atop the tent, her assistant swung a similar bar back and forth.

Annette was readying herself for the highlight of her performance—the feature attraction of America's greatest circus. She was about to perform her triple somersault, defying death, as she swung her lovely, slim body through the top of the tent. There were no nets beneath! The slightest miscue would spell instant death for the intrepid Annette.

With the 4,000 spectators, Tony stared upward as the drums again began their ominous roll, and Annette floated out on her swinging bar. A silent pause! Then the drums increased their pace furiously, and the leading lady of the big top hurtled out and up toward the roof, her body revolving once—

"Tah-ah-ah-ah-ah-ah-r u m pl!" beat the drums.

Twice — "Tah-ah-ah-ah-ah-ah-rump!"

Three times — "Tah-ah-ah-ah-ah-ah-rump!"

She met the bar swinging out to her with perfect precision, and in a trice, stood upon the platform on the opposite side, smiling down on the vast sea of faces below.

A great "Ah . . ." of relief escaped from the crowd, and then the applause resounded throughout the tent.

Tony sat entranced as Annette acknowledged the plaudits of the multitude. Then she quickly slid down the rope to the ground, took several graceful bows, and scampered toward the exit. Already the performers and horses were pouring into the tent for the grand finale; but Tony watched only the movement of the raven-haired beauty, Annette.

Twice each day he came to the main tent to watch the star of the high swings. How his heart yearned for the little French actress, but Annette was entirely unaware of his affection for her.

Tony was billed as Anthony Fragiotto, creator and manipulator of FRAGIOTTO'S MARIONETTES. He was part of the sideshow, and had been with the circus about six months, joining them two months before they left winter quarters.

Tony was in love with Annette. But the shy lad from Vicenza Euganea province, in far-off Italy scarcely dared speak to the star of the show, let alone declare his feelings for her. Tony had been a farmer's son, working in the fields of those rolling plains when a boy. But Giuseppe Fragiotto was no ordinary farmer. He was the village wood carver, and for years had delighted the peasants in the Vicenza region with his puppet shows. Naturally, he taught his son, Antonio, the art.

When Tony was big enough to assist his father in the manipulation of the gayly-costumed dolls, they traveled to Vicenza, Como, and even Padua to present the Fragiotto puppets at the street carnivals.

Then the war had come! The Fragiotto family had gone underground when the Germans flowed into Italy. Eventually Tony had come to America. And with him he had brought his precious puppets. He found work as a farm hand in Pennsylvania where he exhibited his puppets one evening at a Red Cross benefit show. Not long after that night, the circus agent had contacted him, and he was on his way to the circus quarters. There he became part of the strange conglomeration which comprised the side show.

During the months in winter quarters, Tony had seen Annette practicing her feats on the rings and bars high above the ground. Each day he became more enamored of the beautiful aerialist. But how could a poor youth who scarcely spoke English express his admiration for the star of the show?

In the early part of the season, Tony began to formulate a plan whereby he might show Annette how he felt for her. During the hours when he was not exhibiting his puppets, Tony carved furiously, creating new properties, scenery, and characters.

The triumph of this frenzied activity was a beautiful doll—the very image of Annette. Soon the trappings were completed. It was again after their performance.

But Tony was oblivious to all this activity as he moved intently into the tent, and slipped quietly onto the grass near the end of the hippodrome track. His position gave him a commanding view of the space directly over the center ring. Multi-colored spotlights played upon the spangled figure of a dainty lady silhouetted against the tent top.

During the months in winter quarters, Tony had seen Annette practicing her feats on the rings and samble in the side show tent after dinner tomorrow."

"Fine," replied Annette. "I have often watched your charming show. I would be delighted M'sieur Fragiotto. Perhaps you would be so kind as to show me how to make them work?" This was even more than Tony had dreamed might be possible.

"Indeed! Indeed!" he shouted enthusiastically. "I shall expect you then tomorrow."

The next afternoon, Tony was ready with the puppets long before the dinner hour. He talked to them affectionately as he put them through their paces. To Beppo, the clown, he chuckled.

"And now, leetle fony man, you make the boys and girls to laugh, no?" The beautifully carved wooden horses pranced and danced as gracefully as their real counterparts in the big tent across the way. But the truly artistic masterpiece was the replica of Annette. Tenderly, he placed the tiny puppet into place on the aerial swing in his miniature arena.

"My beautiful one," he almost whispered, "we shall see if you can do the triple somersault, reeking your lovely life!" As the graceful puppet tumbled through space at the behest of Tony's nimble fingers, he became entranced in his work. He did not see Annette slip into the tent. He was startled when she exclaimed:

"But . . . it is perfect!" She scampered behind the scenes to examine the trappings of the new show. She oh-ed and ah-ed at the beautifully wrought details of the tiny circus, and when Tony handed her the tiny duplicate of herself, she was utterly speechless. Finally she said:

"Oh, Tony, it's beautiful . . . too beautiful. I don't really look like that, do I?" she queried, looking coquettishly up into his eyes. The blood rushed to Tony's face, and he stammered weakly.

"Oh, Tony, show me how to make her work," pleaded Annette, dancing up and down excitedly like a child with a new toy. "Can you really make her do a triple somersault like myself?"

"Yes," laughed Tony, "but it is not easy. You must practice. Now see," he said, placing the toggle sticks in her hands as she clambered onto the platform beside him. "When you move this one so, the arms and legs do your beeding. When you move thees one so," he indicated the other stick, "the head and body move at your command."

Annette moved the sticks awkwardly, and the little doll gyrated wildly in her hands. In her effort to disentangle the puppet, she became involved in the strings. Tony reached around her shoulders to straighten up the entanglement, when she raised her face, brushing his chin with her soft hair. Her lovely feminine fragrance held Tony entranced, and acting impulsively, he kissed her upturned lips.

"Plees, forgive me, I . . . I . . ." he stammered. But Annette was not angry. Rather she seemed pleased. Ever so tenderly, she cuddled against Tony, and speaking softly, she said:

"But, Tony, little Annette is still all tangled up. She will surely never make the somersault if you do not help me."

Tony's heart was making the somersaults now, as once again he put his arms about her. Then the words came pouring forth . . . the words he had whispered to the puppet Annette.

"Oh, my beautiful Annette," he sighed, "these long months I have loved you. I never dreamed . . ." but his words were lost, for Annette's lovely face was lifted to his, and her warmth and beauty engulfed him as he kissed her long and tenderly.

And Annette—the doll—somersaulted again and again at the end of her tangled strings.

This lamb shoulder takes on its extender in the form of a delightful fruit-bread dressing. The dressing has in it prunes and apricots as well as orange for tartness. The boned meat also makes an easy job of carving.

Dress Economy Cuts Of Meat, Save Money, Please Family Tastes

EVERY WOMAN will agree that there are very few cuts of meat that are really economical, but it's true there are some that are at least a bit cheaper than steaks, roasts or chops. You'll do well to watch for bargains weekly. If you don't want to buy as much meat as formerly, then extend what you get with vegetables or stuffings, and have plenty of other things to go with the dinner.

Don't economize to the extent that the family will grumble about what they eat. Make everything palatable and attractive when served and pay particular attention to having plates look lovely. Here's the time to use pickled fruits and rinds to garnish meat platters without anyone's knowing that even these are an extender.

Fruit Stuffed Lamb Shoulder (Serves 6)

- 1 lamb shoulder, boned
- 2 cups bread crumbs
- 6 cooked apricots
- 6 cooked prunes
- 1 small orange, chopped
- 1 beaten egg
- Salt and pepper

Have lamb shoulder boned and sew it on three sides, leaving the fourth side open for dressing. Make dressing of bread crumbs, diced apricots and prunes, orange, egg and seasonings. Pile into pocket. Skewer or sew edges together. Place lamb shoulder on a rack in an open roasting pan and roast at 300 degrees, allowing 30 to 35 minutes to the pound.

- 1/2 cup ground green pepper
- 2 cups ground carrots
- 1/2 cup soured cream
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 pounds ground veal

Mix all ingredients together. Shape into a loaf and place in casserole or loaf pan. Cover. Bake at 400 degrees for 40 minutes, then uncover and bake for 20 minutes longer.

HERE'S AN INTERESTING variation for drumsticks, using only a pound and a quarter of meat:

California Chicken (Serves 4-6)

- 1/4 pound ground pork
- 1 pound ground veal
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper.
- 1/4 cup crushed pineapple, drained
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 tablespoon water
- Lard for browning
- Bread crumbs

Combine ground meats, salt, pepper, green pepper and pineapple. Shape like a chicken leg on a wooden skewer. Combine beaten egg with water. Roll "drumsticks" in bread crumbs, then in egg-water mixture, and again in bread crumbs. Let

TODAY on the road I met Him:
The very same Jesus who trod
The old, old lanes and the highways
On His beautiful errands for God.

I was troubled and heart-sick and weary
With a load too heavy to bear;
I cried aloud in my weakness
And suddenly He was there,

His gentle hand on my shoulder
Was lifting the burden from me,
And He dried my tears, and I knew Him,
It was Jesus of Galilee:

No different at all from the Master
On the Jericho road that day,
No different at all from the Saviour
Along the Samaria way,

Florida Fishing

The Upper Keys region, off Florida, is famous for its wide variety of fish, estimated at 650 different kinds. Among these are such popular game fish as sailfish, bonito, barracuda, bonefish, grouper, blue marlin, and tarpon, as well as trout, amberjack, kingfish, and hundreds of smaller but none the less entertaining fish.
