Dear Aladdin: Turn in your lamp. There's no use hanging onto the thing any more. Television makes anything you can do from now on smalltime stuff.

Nothing irritates me much more than the fellow who belittles video's appeal, takes a snooty attitude about it and insists he never bothers to look at it unless he is in a tavern. He belongs with the boys who denounced the telephone as lacking in popular appeal, and said that the movie was a flash in the pan. He probably didn't think the radio would ever get anywhere. I doubt if he welcomed the electric light.

If a football game played on a distant battlefield and recorded photographically via the air waves on a screen as far as one hundred miles away isn't miracle stuff I am a bum judge of wonderland happenings. If I am not having a fantastic experi-ence when I fling myself into an easy chair in Magnolia Center, twist a dial and see every move in a football game, a vaudeville show or a prize fight in Bagdad on the Subway, then the guy who rode on the magic carpet was just the last man in a soapbox derby.

Yeah, I was a little late going for television. Like many others, I elevated my eyebrows and cracked "Who wants to see people on the radio? It's tough enough lissenin.' " A premature peek at the early model video sets was responsible in a way. I got scrambled pictures and my images came through the hamburg grinder. But not long ago I decided I could be wrong, which was quite an admission. To make a long story less boring, I got me a video set. And I am satisfied Aladdin, my boy, you can do no more, even if you get a bigger lamp and team up with Einstein, Aesop, Merlin, Caliostro and Circe.

Sure there's "snow" in the picture now and then with occasional flickers. The images get the blind staggers at times. But would I squawk over minor details if I could go to the Bose Bowl without getting off a sofa? Would I complain of a slight annoyance if I could be at the world series, an epic football game and a Washington spy investigation without bothering to put on my shoes or socks?

Is it only a small wonder when a philharmonic orchestra, a Broadway show, six sporting events, a trip to South America, a visit to Miami, a polo match and a couple of golf tournaments can be transported directly into my living room between the Spanish table and the piano . . . and without any of the bother of getting tickets or catch-

Aladdin, my boy, you're through. There's no use trying to top your accomplishments. Turn in the lamp and relax with me. I need company. The wife is leaving me. Wait until video really goes in for fashion shows, Gable's latest releases, the divorce hearings and the gossip columnists in person.

Yours, Elmer.

Come Again

DIPLOMACY:

Trip Canceled

To President Truman, for engineering the abortive deal to send Chief Justice Fred Vinson to Moscow for personal talks with Kremlin leaders on the atomic bomb, went the credit for producing the most heroically proportioned diplomatic faux pas of the year.

It happened very swiftly and very simply. Mr. Truman deciding suddenly to try his own hand at straightening out the tangled foreign mess, started making preparations to send Vinson to Russia.

THEN the state department heard about it. Robert Lovett, under-secretary of state, profoundly shocked, notified George Marshall who came winging frantically across the Atlantic from Paris to stop the President from committing what he considered a blunder of immense gravity.

The Vinson trip was called off, of and President Truman backed hastily away from the whole business after issuing an abashed note of explanation.

BUT THE memories lingered on. Mr. Truman, in the minds of those who knew or thought they knew about the international situation, had gone completely beyond the pale with this momentary, headstrong effort.

His campaign opponent, Gov. Thomas Dewey, at first wavered between righteous anger at what he obviously considered a deliberate flouting of the established bi-partisan foreign policy and elation that the Democratic candidate had made | Soviet generalissimo. So Stalin got such a grievous tactical error.

And although the Dewey camp was astute enough to realize that its cause would benefit more if it magnanimously ignored the affair than if it leaped in for the slaughter, BIG FOUR: it nevertheless redounds to the New York governor's credit that he did not take advantage of this internationally dangerous situation for his personal gain.

Significance

Why was President Truman so widely and thoroughly castigated for making what he undoubtedly looked upon as a sincere, constructive attempt to clear up the Russians' "misunderstanding" of the problem of atomic control?

Because his intention of sending Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow represented a serious divergence from the basic characteristic of U.S. foreign policy-toughness with Russia.

MR. TRUMAN'S proposal amounted to a softening up of the labori-ously built "get tough" attitude of the U. S. toward Moscow. It was tantamount to saying in a pleading voice, "Let's get together once more and try to talk this thing severed last August in Moscow. out."

Current history has proved that the kind of personal diplomacy the President sought to institute in the Vinson trip has been completely unavailing in dealing with Russia since the war. Moreover, insofar as personal diplomacy always tends to bypass the United Nations, it usually has an ill effect on international relations in general. IN THE final analysis, a personal visit to the Kremlin by Vinson probably would have upset the en-One western spokesman com-mented simply, "The Russian reply is unhelpful." CHURCHILL:

Grim Accents

At the British Conservative Millions to Small party's annual convention in Llandudno, Wales, Winston Churchill, never a man to deal in flimsy optimism when the going was tough, talked in grim accents about the world's peril.

HE WAS the old pre-war, noappeasement Churchill as he warned, against letting any French breach appear in the line of western re-. sistance to Soviet drives.

To the United States he said, in effect: Keep those atomic bombs. Destruction of the U.S. atomic arsenal now would be tantamount to

"If it were not for the stocks of atomic bombs now in the trusteeship of the United States there. would be no means of stopping the subjugation of western Europe by Communist machinations backed by Russian armies and enforced by political parties.

Such a settlement, according to the view of the wartime British prime minister, could be arrived at only after the Russians had released their grip on satellite states, released the German and Japanese prisoners they "now hold as slaves," ceased to "oppress, torment and exploit" those parts of Austria and Germany they hold and called a halt to disruptive operations elsewhere in the world.

BUT CHURCHILL would not be a party to issuing any "false hopes of friendly settlement with Soviet Russia." Actually, he said, the Berlin blockade may precipitate a war at any time.

ALIENS:

On the Job

The U.S. is hiring scores of aliens, many of them in countries behind the iron curtain, to staff its 27-million-dollar international information program.

Leland J. Barrows, deputy director of the state department's office of information and education, told the senate appropriations committee that the department planned to add 278 aliens and 60 Americans to overseas duty by the end of the 1948 fiscal year.

WHAT WILL they do? Barrows said that the aliens-14 of whom will be added to the American embassy in Moscow-would be used primarily as translators, clerks, messengers and in other work associated with the U.S. foreign information program.

Testimony before the committee showed that the state department gained the committee's reluctant approval of its foreign-hiring plan, despite the objections of Chairman Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) who contended that it would provide a fertile field for Communist infiltration into government functions.

GEORGE V. ALLEN, assistant "This means that Stalin's waiting secretary of state, countered that actics have prevailed. There will there were certain jobs that had to be performed overseas that could best be done by aliens.

He said aliens could be employed much cheaper for certain tasks where they can be watched fairly easily, even though Americans may suspect their loyalty.

While the U.S. state department was exerting all its influence to prevent a return to direct negotiations This departure from the norm in the business of hiring federal emwith Russia at this time, the Soviets ployees was a new wrinkle in the posite course of action by demanding that Big Four discussions of the government that very probably will be attracting considerable public attention within the next few months.

The builders put alcohol in the pipes to prevent freezing during construction and apparently some had not been removed when the pipes were drained. Apparent lack of a check valve allows the alcohol to back into the water supply line when the water pressure is low.

Absent-Minded Professor Forgets Back-Seat Driver

CHARLOTTESVILLE, IND. - W. J. Cunningham, 72, Cambridge, Mass., a retired professor in the Harvard graduate school of business, and his wife, Ethel, 64, were driving home from a 6,000-mile vacation trip to the West coast. He stopped the car at Greenfield, Ind., to look at a road map. Mrs. Cunningham got out to mail a post-

Forty-five minutes and 30 miles later, Cunningham was driving along U. S. 40 when he noticed his wife wasn't in the car.

Cunningham started back to find her. En route, he stopped at Knightstown, Ind., and called a state policeman. Cunningham parked his car and joined Trooper Fred Forst. Meanwhile, Sheriff Jack Rubush saw a well-dressed woman walking on the road with a crowbar in her

"Are you in trouble?" he asked. "No," the woman replied. "But I'll tell you a funny story about an absent-minded professor."

Rubush drove Mrs. Cunningham to Charlottesville and there they met Forst and Cunningham.

Farmerette Complains Because Driller Strikes Oil on Land

FRISTOE, MO. - When a well driller told Mrs. Lou Brooks Thomas, 73, that he had struck oil on her farm, she objected. "All I want is good drinking water," she said, "and you can't get that from an oil well." Bill Barnes, the driller, related that he hit a pocket of oil while redrilling a water well on Mrs.

Thomas' farm, near this west-central Missouri town. Mrs. Thomas ordered the well sealed with concrete and another one drilled nearby. In drilling the second well, Barnes reported finding a similar rock formation and a slight coating of oil on the water at 102 feet. Mrs. Thomas told him not to go any deeper. She said she was afraid he might strike oil again. Bald Law Student Defeats Coeds for Queen Title

UNIVERSITY, MISS.—A slightly bald law student, Frederick T. Carney, defeated three coeds in a queen election at the University of Mis-

Billed as "the candidate with the fringe on top," Carney led the field with 610 write-in votes. In a campaign speech he said:

'Gen. William T. Sherman said, 'if I'm nominated, I'll not run; if I'm elected I'll not serve.' If I'm elected I will serve."

But the student executive council ruled Carney out because he had not submitted his candidacy before the deadline. They ordered a run-off between a couple of the girls.

Autumn Brings Washington A Potpourri of 'Occasions'

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator. WASHINGTON .- After a tropically terrible summer the capital burst into autumnal glory with cool weather providing the zest and zip necessary to meet the feverish renewal of activity after the summer doldrums.

Let me review some of the varied events which provided pungent relief from the news of diplomatic quarrels, political billingsgate, and war.

Out at the airport, an American Airlines plane, christened for the occasion "Don Gaspar de Por-tola," dropped out of the skies. Down the ramp came a black - bearded, helmeted Spanish Conquistadore, resplendent in flowing scarlet cape and shining broadsword. Next came a charming Chinese girl in her ruffled dress, alluring as a lotus blossom. Then a less exotic crowd of beauties. sportsfolk, business men, headed by the mayor of San Francisco. They had come to tell us about the resumption this year of the Portola Festival at the Golden Gate. (They visited eight other major cities, too.)

Don Gaspar de Portola was the famous explorer who was sent to America from Spain in 1769 to chase the Jesuits from California, the English from Canada, and the Russians from Alaska. He didn't quite fill that order but he did locate and explore San Francisco Bay and discover a couple of other har-

I paid my respects to His Excellency Don Gaspar, to the tall, slim, pretty and modest water-nymph, Ann Curtis, Olympiad winner, and to my old pal Jimmy Abbey, onetime international photographer who made even Stalin "look pleas-ant." Now Jimmy is an ABC com-ture made from the actual photoant." Now Jimmy is an ABC commentator on the Pacific coast.

But something better was to come. We sat down to luncheon and I felt right at home! There was Chef John Lischetti, of the Nugget Grill, founded way back in the gold rush days when nuggets were the medium of exchange. And better still there were sand-dabs, that strange flat creature sans-scales in

George C. Marshall As a Humanitarian

The Marine band blares out a march from the platform overlooking the huge Presidential room of the Statler where more than 500 guests are gathered for the ceremony in which Variety International, that cheerful and charitable in the flesh as well as on the group of show folk, is to confer its screen.) annual Humanitarian award.

In march the guests of honor, statesmen, diplomats, tycoons, actors, legal lights, and whatnot. They stand at their places at the head tables which form two tiers banked

A fanfare and George Catlett Marshall takes his place amid cheers that drown the music. The salute to the colors. We sit down to drown any modicum of sorrow that has survived the preceding reception. Speeches are short and good. Marshall, as secretary of state, could say little that was new, something that was grim, much that was encouraging and all of it "off the record" for we are already in the midst of parlous international negotiations.

Variety club president reads the citation:

"The career of the Hon. George Catlett Marshall has embraced leadership in peace as well as in war.

"Soldier by profession, he has ever displayed a conspicuous and consistent genius for the military.

"Shunning the opportunity to seek surcease from the cumulative burdens of two world wars, his devotion to principle and country has led him along the paths toward world amity and peace since the end of hostili-

"As author of the Marshall Plan, he translated into gener-ous and inspiring fulfillment the shining hope for liberty, honor and dignity of free men everywhere.

"We salute the breadth of vision and warmth of heart of a great and beloved American." And so to bed.

Review of Byrd's

Antarctic Expedition

Rain pours, we drive through the slippery Washington streets to the navy yard (now the naval gun fac-

The Washington navy yard was planned by President John Adams when French aggression made "freedom of the seas" a menacing international issue. Work began on the site in 1800. Here the "Wasp' and the "Hornet" were built to play their roles in the War of 1812, here the "Constitution" and the "President" came for overhauling and re-

We stop at the sentry box: "Guests of Admiral Davis." The marine sentry salutes. We know our way to the officers' club. Handshakes and refreshments and into a bus that takes us to the event of the evening which the rain prevented us from witnessing aboard the hulking LST moored to the dock in the Anacostia river.

So we must go indoors to see one of the most thrilling things I ever graphic record of the 1946-47 ex-ploration of the Antarctic under Adm. Richard E. Byrd. I hope you saw or will see it-"Secret Land." It had its premier on Navy Day, in 80 cities. The commercial movie makers used the official film taken by navy, marine corps, coast guard and army cameramen on the scene. The picturing of disaster, of rescue, of tragedy, of suspense, of achievement, (in most cases the actual event as it happened) are something for which I have no comparison. One purpose of the 1946 expedition which was a follow-up of Byrd'sl original 1929 undertaking when he established "Little America" and explored the great Antarctic ice cap, was to train the navy in polar op-

Another aim was to make further discoveries and release the "unknown treasures' (which Byrd's earlier explorations indicated were there) for the benefit of mankind. Even the "routine" operations, the ships amidst the ice-floes, the landing on the ice-cap, the erection of the tent city and the operation of the planes, was an inspiring and thrilling sight, a tremendous tribute to the American skill in mechanical achievement, in personal endurance, bravery, ingenuity. It will make you proud to be an Amer-

Admiral Byrd didn't look much older than when we bid him Godspeed before he started on his first Antarctic venture. That was close to me for I was connected with the organization that syndicated the story for the press. But I was struck with the passage of time, and the years of study and research that have intervened, when I looked at Dr. Paul Siple, polar authority and geographer. (He was present

Paul Siple was chosen to go on the 1929 expedition after winning in a competition involving 600,000 Boy Scouts of America. Then he was a tall, slender lad of 20. Now he's stocky and graying. As a prominent geographer he has done important research for the war depart-

The story of the Antarctic is studded with great names - Scott, Amundsen, Shackelton, to mention only three-as well as with sacrifice and tragedy. This picture of the "Secret Land," less secret now, shows the tremendous advances in technology made since the days of the early explorers.

It took thousands of years to shape the penguins' wings into the fins which make his survival in a polar land possible. In a few years in the laboratories and factories of America we have shaped the means which make survival and exploration possible in the same environment - exploration and discovery which some day may be of tremendous benefit to mankind.

The Russians last month kept scheduling Red air maneuvers over Berlin airlift corridors. Perhaps because of the overcrowded condition of the heavens over Moscow, Minsk, Pinsk, Baku, Tartu and Stalingrad?

FROSH AT EIGHTY-FIVE . . . Fellow-students cluster around their new classmate, Louis Rich, as he began his first semester at Bergen junior college in New Jersey. Such attention is not usually paid a freshman, but student Rich is 85 years old. He says he decided that college must be a good thing after he reared six sons and put each of them through college. To be completely in character, Rich has gone kind of semi-rah-rah in campus clothes. As yet, he hasn't decided whether he'll become a fraternity man or not.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT . . . John Casper, of Milwaukee, Wis., proudly posed with 14 of his 15 children when he took them to visit their new sister Patricia (held by nurse Mrs. Leonard Knitter) at St. Michael's hospital where the baby was born. The children, from left to right, are: Evelyn, 20; John Jr., 19; Catherine, 15; Barbara Ann, 14; Raymond, 13; Marguerite, 11; Phyllis, 10; Richard, 9; Donald, 8; Jerome, 7; Alice, 8; Marianne, 4, and Lawrence, 2, who is holding a photo of Robert, 18, in the army in Mississippi

A COP CAUGHT HIM . . . When Patrick Marotta of Boonton, N. J., built a miniature automobile with a real engine for his five-year-old son, Tommy, he never dreamed that his paternal devotion would lead to trouble with the law. The car, which is said to have cost $3,000 to build, is registered under state law, but Tommy has no license to drive it. So when an eagle-eyed cop saw Tommy cruising down the street, he doled out a ticket. In court, the recorder ruled that he wanted to investigate the case personally and to inspect the tiny car.

TEN HORSEPOWER IN ACTION . . . In these days of power-driven machinery, a ten-horse team is as rare as that day in June. This team is in use building an irrigation canal in the Murray valley soldier settlement, Victoria, Australia, where between 500 and 600 miles of irrigation channels are being excavated. The horses are used in preference to power machines because stamping of the horses' hoofs helps bind the soil on the banks of the channels. Notice the size and weight of the horses in this team. No wonder their feet bind the soil.

How Much Housecleaning?

THROUGHOUT the campaign the voters heard the endless refrain of promised economy in government, of firing the bureaucrats, of a house-cleaning in Washington. At the Republican national convention, Governor Dewey pledged a great housecleaning in the federal agencies.

Out in Des Moines on September 20, Governor Dewey said: "I pledge to you that on next January 20 there will begin in Washington the biggest unraveling, unsnarling, untangling operation in our nation's history"

Senator Alben W. Barkley, the Democratic vice presidential nominee answered by saying: "A bureaucrat is a Democrat who holds some office that a Republican wants; and the only sort of housecleaning you will get in Washington in the event of a Republicau victory in November will be the changing of the political complexion of those who hold the offices."

This reporter is convinced, after being here in Washington for several years that the only method of curtailing federal employment and expense is to curtail government services. We have pointed that out in this column many times. And yet instead of curtailing services, congress continues to enlarge upon present services and actually to add new ones.

It will be remembered how in 1946 the Republican leadership pledged to fire a million federal employees and knock six billion dollars off the federal budget. Even the then national chairman of the GOP, Carroll Reece, said the Republican controlled 80th congress would fire from 500,000 to 1,000,000 employees.

And yet today, aside from the armed services, there are from 20,000 to 40,000 more people on the federal payroll than in 1946 and the number still climbs.

Democrats, too, have agreed about the necessity of reducing governmental expenses. But the fiscal experts see only one method of reducing employment to any extent if present services are to be continuued, namely, more efficiency through better organization of the governmental set-up.

This now is being studied by a committee headed by former President Herbert Hoover and a report is to be made to the new congress in January.

The first full post-war year under a Democratic controlled congress, the 79th, saw governmental expenditures of 42.5 billion dollars fixed for fiscal 1947.

When the 80th congress came into power, the budget for fiscal 1948 sent to the congress by President Truman called for expenditures of 37.5 billion dollars. Expenditures actually amounted to 36 billion dollars.

The budget for fiscal 1949 as submitted in January, 1943, by the President called for expenditures of 39.6 billion dollars and the latest estimate of the budget bureau is that they will actually amount to 42.2 billion. Thus the cost of government is practically back to the 1947 fig-

Everything Is Growing

The three biggest agencies, the national defense establishment, the post office and Veterans administration, have 75 per cent of all the employees, more than a million and a half. The national defense estab-lishment is growing. Post office is putting on more people and asking for more money to meet a deficiency. The Veterans administration work will not reach its peak for sev-eral years. Cost of living for government has gone up along with private living costs. Then there are the items of expense-the four biggest: foreign aid, defense, veterans and the national debt. These also account for 75 per cent of the total cost. All the rest of the government has only 25 per cent of the employees and the cost.

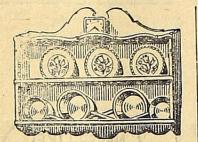

Cost of operating the general government amounts to about 2.8 per cent of the total. Social welfare, 4.8 per cent; transportation and communication, 3.8 per cent; agriculture and agricultural resources, 2.1 per cent; housing and community facilities, 0.8 per cent; labor, 0.2 per cent; education and research, 0.2 per cent; commerce and industry, 0.2 per cent; tax refunds, 6.6 per cent.

What do the bureaucrats get? In August, 1939, the average federal worker got $2,140 per year which, if he had a family of four, left him with $2,065 in net purchase power after taxes. In October, 1947, the average federal worker got $2,856 a year, but with a family of four he had only $1,569 left in purchasing power after taxes.

So when the next President sends his budget to the congress in January, don't expect it to be much below the 40 billion dollar level of the last three years.

NO THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking Camels!

Yes, in this test, hundreds of men and women all across the country smoked Camels—and only Camels—an average of one to two packages a day—for 30 consecutive days. Each week their throats were examined by noted throat specialists—a total of 2470 examinations—and these doctors found not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels.

Clark reports that matted grass along fence rows and weeds around trees are good places for these animals to hide.

A number of methods are used for control. Mechanical protectors of wire netting; cleaning sod away and mounding around the trees with cinders or gravel; killing mice by means of poison bait; pruning the trees; and painting trunks of trees with repellent.

Killing the mice has grown most effective. This can be done by the use of poison bait, placed along the surface runways, or in the holes in the ground made by mice. The poison bait can be obtained from the Grand Rapids Crowers, Grand Rapids, which is the distributor for Michigan.

Hints for using the bait can be found in Extension Bulletin 196, "Protecting Fruit Trees Against Mice and Rabbits," which can be obtained from agent Clark's office.

Satisfactory control of rabbits is usually possible by the use of a repellent which is applied to the trunk of trees. A repellent formula is given in the extension bulletin.

Naming Month of May

How the month of May got its name is a subject of controversy among historians. Accoring to the World Book encyclopedia, the most widely accepted story is that the month was named after "Maia," the Roman goddess of spring and growth. But some scholars claim May was 8 month sacred to the "Majores" or older men, just as June was sacred to road. the "Juniores," or younger men.

Safer "Pick Up" at Home

Some of the picking up that must be done around the house is difficult or even dangerous if done by hand. Because burns and cuts are some of the most frequent home accidents suffered by women, more care should be taken with hot and sharp articles. Use tongs to lift jars from hot water in canning, large vegetables from cooking water, baked potatoes from the oven, hot rates or lids from the fire. Use tongs to lift silverware from hot rinse water.

Save Old Wool

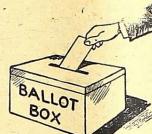

Woolen garments which cannot be worn any longer still may "earn their keep" as rug making materials. The garments should be ripped apart, washed with mild soap, and pressed under a damp cloth. Material then should be graded according to weight Into heavy, medium, and light, and stored by grades. Storage boxes should contain a few moth balls. They should be well wrapped and protected from rats and mice. Within a few years, enough of each material will be saved for a beautiful rug.

To the Farmers and Laborers of Iosco County

Sixteen years ago in 1932 the People, both Republicans and Democrats elected to place our country's welfare in the hands of the Democratic Party.

In 1932 Farm and Home Mortages were many. Foreclosures of Mortgaged Farms and Homes were frequent. Farm products sold for little or not at all. Wages were small when jobs could be had. Most savings accounts were gone. Despair was in almost every home.

Pork sold for 3c per pound. Men who were fortunate enough to have a job received 25c or less per hour. A man and team of horses received 50c per hour. A man and truck 75c per hour.

Today your position in life is different; BUT Farm prices are dropping and Manufactured goods are increasing in cost to you. The 80th Congress scuttled Price controls. Corporation profits are the highest in history. Are we heading for conditions that existed in 1932?

Our Committee urges you to vote Democratic Tuesday.

The counter man reminded Harv of someone he knew—a brilliant man whose life had been destroyed by a selfish, beautiful woman.

It was dark and cool inside after the heat and glare of the midafternoon New Mexico sun. Settling in one of the tiny booths which lined the wall, we ordered some lunch. Except for the counter man and a tired looking waitress, the place was empty. I noticed Harv staring intently at the

"He reminds me of someone," he answered. The girl came with our lunch, and we ate quietly for a few moments. Harvey continued, then,

"Did you ever know Mark Stevens?"

I sipped at my iced tea before replying.
"Nope; he was before my time.

But, of course, I've heard about him. Who hasn't? Isn't he the chap

As we strolled back to the airport, I asked the question that had been in my mind ever since Harvey started that story.

some Hollywood glamour gal took over the hurdles?"

Mark nodded. "Elsa Armstrong. The face and figure that launched a thousand hopes! Elsa the beautiful. Elsa the magnificent." He lifted his tea glass in toast,

"Hail, Elsa! Destroyer of menof Mark Stevens in particular. Would you like to hear what really happened, Stu?"

I lighted a cigar as I replied in the affirmative. Harvey settled back in the booth as he recounted the story of Mark Stevens.

"Twenty years ago, this business of ours was just a puppy. And the master of that puppy was Mark Stevens. His was the brain that built the advertising business. You really owe that $150 suit you're wearing to him, Stu. Mark Stevens lifted us out of the mire and into the moola. We all owe him plenty.

"Mark built his organization by buying talent where he found it, and he had a genius for finding it. I remember I was doing advance work for Williams' Brothers Carnival when I met him. We got together in San Antonio one night, and the next day I was working for him. Just like that.

"I started small-writing copy on some accounts that weren't too important. And all the time I was watching the master, learning all the little nuances and twists, getting set for the day he saw fit to move me up a notch. It wasn't long in coming either. The firm was marching, and I was right in

"After about a year, Mark opened a branch office in Chicago. I went there as copy chief. From that move, both the business and I mushroomed. Dallas, Seattle, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco. Five years after that meeting in San Antone, I was head of the San Francisco office. We had branched out all over the country, but this San Francisco outfit was second in importance only to the home office in New York. "When radio and advertising had a happy marriage, the Mark Stevens Associates really hit the top. We opened a Hollywood office and began handling only the largest accounts. I came down from San Francisco to head the new office, and Mark made almost monthly trips to the coast to give his pershe was like. A lovely, fragile beauty, and that's an inadequate description. But she was smart, too. len and I were bound for the coast on a brief business trip, seeking a new contract for one of our major cubes against its hard surface as he reminisced. Then he continued,

"She wasn't an actress; even in those days talent was an important item, but Elsa's only talent consisted in looking so beautiful it hurt. Strangely enough, she didn't want to be a star. Elsa was hunting something entirely different. She wanted money and position. Mark had both, and Elsa took him like Grant took Richmond. The first thing I knew, I was back in New York and Mark had taken charge on the coast. Or rather, Mark was on the coast and Elsa had taken

"I lost track of events then, until one day the auditor came to me with the remark that Mr. Stevens' personal account was in terrible shape. Together we went over it. I decided that the auditor's original evaluation was strictly an understatement. The bills Mark had okayed seemed to indicate that he alone was trying to support half of California's furriers and jewelers. A few days later I began to hear complaints from different accounts that their affairs on the coast were not being handled properly. I decided to fly out and see what went

"Mark met me at the airport. He was . . . ah, well . . . definitely not in the best of condition. He was unshaven and mussed. The meeting was most embarrassing for me, and I piled Mark into a cab and directed the driver to Mark's home in Beverly Hills. He passed out on the way, and when we got there, I had one rugged time getting him upstairs and into bed, even with the sympathetic and capable help of the cabbie. This done, I returned to Hollywood and the office.

"There, I began to ask questions. The answers weren't pretty. Mark hadn't been in the place in weeks. But his bills had. His and Elsa's, that is. Oh, she had a personal account, too. It figured on the books as his, which explained why we in the East didn't know about it. I decided to see Elsa.

"She wasn't available at home, so I started to make the rounds in pursuit, finally catching up with her at 'The Players.' She wasn't alone. I sent word to her table that I would like to see her, and in a few minutes she joined me.

"I told you she was beautiful, Stu. When she sat down beside me, I almost forgot what I had wanted o talk to her about. She was loaded with diamond doo-dads, and in each one I could see Mark's money reflected. That snapped me out of the trance and into the purpose of our tete-a-tete.

"I told you she was tough, too. Brother! She was hard as nails. No, she'd not seen Mark in a month. Why? After all, a girl has to look out for her future. And Mark had been troublesome. Stuffy about her friends. I asked if the guy she was with belonged in that category. She merely shrugged. I got the idea. I rather pointedly asked her how if she and Mark were through, her bills continued to come | Right Answers.

into the office. Another shrug; Mark owed her something for the way he'd acted, she felt.

'My personal opinion was that he'd acted pretty generously toward her. Too generous, from the shape both he and the firm were in. I said so. And I nearly choked when she agreed with me. Yes, she was very candid about the whole thing. Very candid, indeed. I almost gagged. I gave her a brief idea of what I thought of her, adding that we weren't paying any more bills. Without further ceremony, I

"When I got back to Beverly Hills, Mark was awake, sober, and sick as a dog. I told him I'd seen the books . . . and Elsa. I told him a lot of other things, too. Boss or no boss, I got the whole works off my chest. But it wasn't Mark Stevens I was talking to. It was the beaten, wasted shell of a man I once knew and respected. He took it all without a word. When I finished, he just sat there, nodding his head foolishly. I walked out in disgust. I never saw Mark Stevens

"The rest of the story you've heard, Stu. How he walked out on everything and just disappeared. The company was taken over by the associates; but his genius was gone, and a few months later we folded."

Harv snapped open his cigarette case, lighted the smoke casually, indicating that was the end of the story. Finally, I broke the silence

"And what became of Elsa?" "Elsa? Oh, she dropped out of sight shortly afterwards. A scandal washed her up in Hollywood." A PPARENTLY Harvey was no longer interested in the story or its principal actors. He just sat there watching the counter man, and I was mulling over the details of the story, thinking about how easy it was for a guy to go haywire. Just then, one of the airline employees looked in, saw us and announced that the flight would start in twenty minutes. We rose to leave. While I paid the waitress, Harv walked over to the counterman and said quietly,

"Good luck, friend." As we strolled back to the airport, I asked the question that had been in my mind ever since Harvey started that story. "Harv, that guy back in the restaurant . . . was that Mark Stev-

He smiled. "No, that wasn't Mark. Didn't even look like him." "Then why," I asked, "did you happen to recall the story of Stevens? And why did you wish him

"Because, if things haven't changed, there's weather ahead for him," he replied softly. "You see, the waitress in there was Elsa.'

Plan to Bake Once a Week (See Recipes Below)

Simplify Baking

WHILE OUR MOTHERS and grandmothers had more to do than those of us who are homemakers, they somehow managed to find an afternoon a week in which to fill the house with fragrant and delicious odors from the oven with weekly

To me, this was one of the most delightful times in the whole week because then I, too, could get my hands into pie crust or sweet roll dough. It was great sport! But, naturally, this was not the only blessing that came from weekly baking. We usually had delicious homemade bread as well as rolls or coffee cake for breakfast. To save time, the dinner for that evening was usually a baked one, a fragrant meat loaf or taste-tempting casserole with a delicious baked pudding for dessert. Then, too, the cookies jar was filled for the best part of the week, and that meant cookies for the lunch boxes and more delicious tidbits when we came home from school!

Are your families missing these treats? Then organize the household schedule at once so that you can bake once a week, and fill the larder with such delicious things as can only come from home baking.

But how can you make all these things in one day? Here's how: mix cookie dough and store in refrigerator; make ice box dough for sweet rolls, and store this, too. Bread dough can be mixed in the morning; or, if you are making quick breads, these can be mixed in a few minutes right after lunch.

You can plan the baking for any day of the week. We usually do it Friday or Saturday afternoon, so there will be a cake or pie in the house for Sunday, and, of course, bread, rolls and cookies for the whole week.

IT MAY SOUND ambitious to atduring Finals' week, on account of tempt all this in one day, but it really isn't once you get into the swing of it. Do all you can the evening before, and keep on hand such things as piecrust and biscuit mix. Refrigerator cookies, too, take no time at all to bake, and they're easily mixed ahead of time.

shopped. They rode happily to the top floor, then were afraid to come and screams for mama down, echoed through the building to a lower floor till she heard and went to their rescue. Had other mothers recognized that pretty mother, fans would have mobbed her!

David Butler put on make-up to direct himself in a scene for "Two Guys and a Gal" at Warner's. The plump director played himself as a director-said his last appearance in films was 21 years and 80 pounds

Robert Fellows, who became a paramount director with "Wild Harand recently did "Sealed Verdict," has come up the hard way. Starting with bit roles for De Mille, he has been everything from office boy to junior writer to assistant director. In 1941 he did two pictures simultaneously — "Pittsburgh" for Universal and "Bombardier" for RKO.

Signs of the times: Governor Dewey, speaking on September 21 in the time spot held by "My Friend Irma," got a Hooper rating of only 12.7 - several points lower than that usually won by the CBS Monday night program. Winchell, Lux Theater, Godfrey's Talent Scouts, Stop the Music, Bob Hope and Mr. District Attorney topped him in the latest poll.

Brian Roper, English child actor, came all the way from London to play one of the principal roles in "The Secret Garden" for MGM. Margaret O'Brien and Dean Stockwell head the very fine cast.

The annual party launching a new year for Irene Beasley's "Grand Slam" was the best one yet. It was really a family party, not a big affair for the press. "We just asked the people we liked best," some-body explained. Irene, one of radio's finest, proudly showed everyone the beautiful diamond and garnet pin her sponsor had given her.

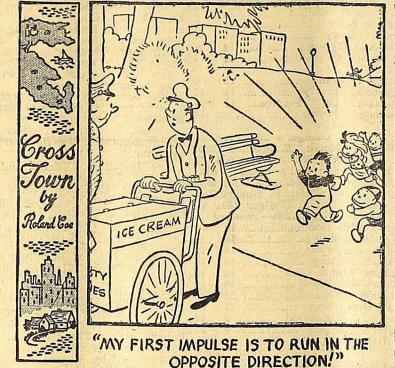

"Night Nurse," a hit when it was released in the early '30s with Barbara Stanwyck, Ben Lyon, Joan Blondell and Clark Gable, is to be remade, with a new script, new cast and Alex Gottlieb as producer.

With his difficulties with Columbia Pictures settled, and a new contract signed, Larry Parks is set as the star of "Jolson Sings Again." He will also make pictures for his own producing organization. He and his wife, Betty Garrett, plan to form a company to produce plays in which they will star, later adapting them for motion pictures.

Children who like to pick out tunes on the piano with one finger should not be discouraged; they may grow up to be famous onefingered jazz pianists, like Lionel Hampton, the drummer. He displays this talent in "A Song Is Born."

Sam Hearn, famed as "Schlepperman" on the Jack Benny air show, and his brother Lew, have been signed for featured comedy roles in "Happy Times," with Danny Kaye. Both were headliners in vaudeville in the old lush days. They'll be made up to look like twins, though there is really a difference of six years in their ages.

Had you so desired, these figures could have been substantiated at believe.

Complete reports of the year's business will be given by the offore such misleading publication. Actually the percentage cost of Administration and Operation in Iosco County is 23.92 per cent. This compares with a statewide average of 23.57 per cent. Thus Iosco County is 25.77 per cent. of 23.57 per cent. Thus Iosco Counsince 1940 by fifty percent or more as a rough approximation, due to the fact that many tourists have moved to Iosco to stay, after having enjoyed its attractions for a short time. Although this increased population should increase the cost government, officials of Iosco County have been able to hold costs down to the State average by strict economy. I would like to ask you this question, Mr. Smith:

What was your purpose in publishing this article? Was it to give accurate information to citizens of Iosco County or was your purpose to discredit Iosco County

If your purpose was to give accurate information to citizens of the County how do you explain this error of $45198.59? If your purpose was not to discredit County Officials why was your paper sent to boxholders instead of regular subscribers alone? Did you know that records were available in the County Clerk's office to substantiate the statements I have made above? Do you intend to correct the misleading statements in your articles by giving the same publicity as your original article was given? I will expect an answer by

Thursday morning, and will expect a correction in your issue of October 28th on the same page, in the paper and mailed to boxholders, so that your readers may not continue to be misinformed regarding this important matter.

Sincerely R. H. McKENZIE. Iosco County Clerk.
