WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
U. N. Says Cease Fire in Palestine; Truman Asks More Defense Funds; U. S. Atom Control Plan Approved

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CEASE FIRE:

Holy Land

Almost before anyone knew what was happening fierce fighting between Israeli and Egyptian forces had flared into bloom in the Negev, southern Palestine desert area.

ISRAELI government spokesmen said the purpose of the Israeli attack was to smash open the road to Jewish settlements in the Negev. Blocked transportation lines had prevented the Jews from running supply convoys to isolated settlements in the district.

But Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting Palestine mediator for the U. N., in his report to the security council, told a different story. Blame for the eruption of fighting in the Negev, he said, was not a "question of black and white."

"Each side has soiled its hands in the grim business of trying to win a war through the instrumentality of a forced truce," was his version of the conflict.

By the time the battle had proceeded savagely for six days the harassed U. N. security council had had enough. It commanded both Arabs and Jews to issue immediate cease-fire orders.

Earlier, Bunche had attempted to promote a three-day truce in the fighting, with each side holding the positions it then was occupying. The effort fell through, however, when Israel rejected the proposal.

EVEN as the security council acted the fighting was spreading from the Negev to other fronts in the Holy Land—along the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway, where Trans-Jordan forces were grouped, and northeast of Tel Aviv in areas held by other Arab forces.

Results of the security council order, at the outset, at least, were disappointing. Each side tried to shift the blame to the other; neither appeared willing to hold the battle.

Palestine truce observers informed the United Nations that the Israeli forces generally appeared to be the attackers in the new fighting that had developed outside the southern front in the Negev.

CONTROL PLAN:
For Atoms

How to establish effective, workable control of atomic energy on an international scale is one of the rocks upon which the U. N. has almost founded more than once, but the situation began to look a shade or two brighter when the United Nations suddenly steered its resistance to almost impossible Russian demands on the issue.

OVER the objections of the Soviet bloc, the U. N. political committee overwhelmingly endorsed the western plan for atomic control as a necessary basis for eventual elimination of atomic weapons.

The conflict which has kept the atomic control problem deadlocked for so long is simply this:

The U. S. and the West insist that an air-tight system of international control and inspection must be established before the U. S. would feel safe in destroying its atomic weapons.

The resolution which the political committee adopted is generally in line with the American policy. The plenary session of the general assembly was expected to give it a routine final approval.

Peculiarly enough, this was the first time since Bernard Baruch presented the American plan to the atomic energy commission in June, 1946, that all of the United Nations had a chance to vote on it. Previously atomic energy was discussed only in the security council and the atomic energy commission.

SHORTLY prior to the U. N. action the U. S. had demanded that the world group turn the deadlocked problem over to the five great powers and Canada for direct negotiations.

At that time Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate, had told the 58-nation political committee that the U. N. could go no further in its efforts to control the atom until the Soviet union agreed to "participate in the world community on a cooperative basis."

HOW much good the U. N. vote of approval would do as long as the Russians continued to object was a question that remained hanging fire.

It was conceded generally that, regardless of how much satisfaction the western nations might achieve by thus overruling and snubbing Moscow, the paramount problem—that of preserving the peace—probably had not been moved very far along the road to a solution.

DEFENSE SURVEY

Experts Eye U. S. Mobilization Plans

Top military planners are rushing work to complete a spot-check of United States mobilization requirements by November 15.

The check will disclose whether the United States over-all strategic defense plan makes sense and whether it can be applied readily.

Mobilization experts intend to find out if the requirements, listed by the army, navy and air force can be

George Polk

Last May, George Polk, CBS correspondent, was taken out on Salonika bay in a boat where he was blindfolded, bound hand and foot and shot through the head. His murderers: Communists. Their motive: Simply to produce a murder, the blame for which might be pinned on the rightist Greek government in order to defame it abroad. Gregory Staktopoulos, Communist Salonika newspaperman, confessed he had witnessed the slaying and implicated three other Greek Communists.

DEFENSE:

Big Budget

World tension had slacked off slightly, but according to President Truman's estimate on next year's defense budget the U. S. doesn't intend to relax its vigilance on that account.

THE MILITARY budget for 1949 will be a neat 14.4 billion dollars—that is, if Mr. Truman's current request doesn't get trimmed. It represents an outlay about two billion dollars higher than the figure at which defense spending is running now.

(It doesn't make any difference whether President Truman won or lost the election. He still was required to prepare budget estimates for the congress convening next January.)

The President said that his defense officials had wanted a budget of around 23 billion dollars for the fiscal year starting July 1, but that he had cut them back to the 14.4 billion figure.

WITH RARE candor he admitted that it would take a Croesus to maintain spending as many billions as the officials wanted. His own aim, Mr. Truman said, was to get a military program the country could pay for.

He added that he hoped eventually to reduce military expenditures to above five to seven billion dollars—a remarkably optimistic statement, coming as it did before the election when he was conceded virtually no chance of being able to control any kind of governmental spending after the first of the year.

ATOM PLANE:

Seven Years?

Look up into the sky in about seven years and you might see an atomic-powered airplane scudding across the clouds. Scientists now think there is a good chance that nuclear-propelled aircraft will be in production by that time.

AN OAK RIDGE scientist, David M. Poole, startled the atom-conscious public with the announcement that the theory of an atom-driven airplane has been worked out to completion and is ready to be translated by engineers into actual plans for such a plane.

The nuclear scientists have thought out a way to tap the power of a mobile atomic pile, Poole said. Now it's up to engineers to make the idea work.

Poole disclosed that the scientists have made up their minds how to make the best use of the power whose source is the heat generated in an atomic pile.

What kind of engine will be used to chain the tremendous power concentrated in the uranium fuel? The rocket-thrust motor was tried and abandoned, said Poole. Steam turbine, turbo-jet and ram jet all were crossed off.

THE POWER unit will be a "nuclear rocket." Just what a nuclear rocket might be is top-secret information. All anyone can even guess at at this point is that it probably involves a new principle of application of power.

SQUABBLE:
Yugoslavia

Russia continues not only to have great and grievous trouble with the United States and differences of opinion with most of the member countries of the United Nations, but her political rift with the up-start satellite also is growing worse instead of better.

THE TROUBLE originally began within the framework of the Cominform (Communist Information Bureau), the master organization through which Russia controls her satellites, when Marshall Tito said his nation would not bow to the Cominform edict ordering Yugoslavia to make itself a precise model of Soviet Russia in all political and economic aspects.

And in recent weeks the "heresy" of Tito and the central committee of the Yugoslav Communist party has become more absolute and more determined than ever.

THAT holds true despite the fact that Yugoslav Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj, has been displaying firm adherence to the position of the Russian bloc in the United Nations general assembly arguments.

WALLACE:

On to '52

Henry Wallace, the incorrigibly incorrect visionary, who stumped the political experts by getting his Progressive party on the ballots of 43 states, now is working hard to keep his party alive for the 1952 campaign.

In a pre-election speech in Detroit he criticized "doubters" who argue that although a new party is needed, it shouldn't be formed until 1949.

WHILE Wallace didn't name any names he obviously was referring to the United Auto Workers, headed by Walter Reuther, who had announced plans to form a "genuine" third party of progressive-minded people after the election.

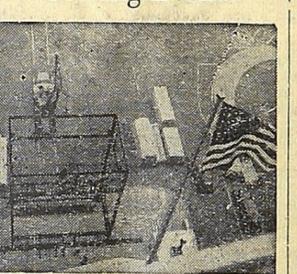

The UAW leadership had condemned the Wallace third party as a Communist-inspired movement and supported President Truman for re-election.

IN THE waning days of the campaign Wallace was appealing to his followers to stick with him after November 2. "I hope you are with us all the way after November 2," he told one audience, putting heavy emphasis on the word "after."

"You've got to drive it home to the rank-and-file of the UAW, and all labor: 'Where do we go after November 2?'"

But wherever they were going, it didn't look like Wallace would be in a position to do much guiding.

Coming Event

All the way through the now historical election campaign one thing was sure: Somebody would get to be President. On that theory work was begun last month on stands in front of the Capitol building in Washington which will be used for the inauguration ceremony next January. This odd-angle view was taken from the Capitol dome.

JAPAN:

On the Spot

Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, former military governor of occupied Japan, admitted he might have made a mistake in not leaving the Japanese a few guns for their own protection.

IT BOILS down—as most international difficulties do these days—to a matter of Communism and Communist influences inside the country.

As a matter of fact, said Eichelberger, Communist pressure in Japan and the Far East in general may force the U. S. to carry out a limited rearmament of the Japanese.

"I believe I went too far in disarming the Japanese," he said. "They need a few machine guns and rifles to protect themselves against internal disturbances."

"IF AND when the American army withdraws, the Japanese will have to be given something with which to defend themselves—a strong police force or a small army."

Communist influence in Japan, he said, "is about the same as it is here. They are a nuisance beyond their numerical strength. But it's always the wrong guy that gets the pistols."

ANOTHER GONE:
Nazi General

Former German Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch died in the British military hospital at Hamburg, Germany, where he was under guard awaiting trial as a major war criminal.

The British army's announcement of the death did not state the cause. Von Brauchitsch, who was 67 and had been ill for some time, was scheduled to come up for trial in Hamburg in January.

Modern Pied Piper Lures Rats to Death With Clever Devices

VANCOUVER, B. C.—James G. Anderson lures rats to extinction with cunning alone.

"If you know rat psychology," said the rodent wrecker, "you can't miss."

The secret, he says, is that rats are cowards.

One day Anderson and a recording engineer caught 50 rodents in a rat round-up in a Vancouver warehouse. They poked and prodded the prisoners till they began to squeal. Then they recorded their cries.

The amplified recording was played back in the warehouse. Terrified rats stampeded from the building.

This is the chase 'em away technique. But then Anderson came up with an even more diabolic device. He and the engineer trapped a lady rat and recorded her lonesome wail. They took the record to another warehouse and turned it on full blast. Gentleman rats came rushing from their ratholes to their doom.

Anderson shoots trapped rats with a special pistol.

He inherits his talent from his father, John Anderson, a rodent exterminator before him. James runs a pest exterminating business, but specializes in rodents.

Given 50 men, James thinks he can clean every last rat out of Vancouver.

"I'll either catch 'em," said he, "or run them out of town."

Sound of Silo Explosion Fails to Awaken Farmer

ST. CHARLES, ILL.—Maurice Regnole, a farmer, is a sound sleeper.

While he took a hard-earned night's sleep, his silo exploded. The blast blew off the silo roof—sent it soaring 50 feet—and bulged its concrete walls.

The silo collapsed onto the barn. The barn folded onto the feed shed. The feed shed knocked over the windmill. The windmill dropped onto the implement shed.

Blaming silage gas, Regnole told neighbors he had heard a slight noise during the night but he didn't get out of bed to investigate.

Sardine Fishermen Catch Biggest Hauls at Night

SAN FRANCISCO—Sardine fishing, California's 60 million dollar industry, is geared to the phases of the moon, according to Dr. Robert C. Miller, director of the California Academy of Sciences.

Miller pointed out that sardine fishing is carried on in darkness, and "not only at dead of night, but in the dark of the moon."

He explained that California fishermen locate schools of sardines by the luminescent streak they make in the water by stirring up microscopic organisms. On the other hand, he said, in Washington, Oregon and British Columbia, the sardine fishermen do their fishing in full daylight.

Another strange fact, he observed, is that fishermen from the northwest who can find their sardines in daylight without much trouble, take to night fishing when they come to California.

Swank Home Owners Engage In Used Furniture Racket

CLEVELAND.—Police are cracking down on a second-hand furniture racket in swank suburban Shaker Heights.

Some women in the suburb, police reported, have been buying used furniture at junk shops and auction sales, advertising later that they were leaving town and selling their furnishings.

Prospective buyers, impressed by the lavishness of the homes, would buy the junk furniture at more than three times the original price. The Shaker Heights women put "sold" tags on their own high-priced furniture to prevent its purchase by bargain hunters, police said.

Some 25 wealthy matrons reportedly have been engaged in the racket. Police say that in some cases the husbands of the enterprising women knew of their activities and were "highly embarrassed."

B-29 Drops 21-Ton Trial Bomb in Penetration Test

WASHINGTON.—The world's biggest bomb, a 21-ton missile, has been dropped in a penetration test at Muroc army base in California.

The bomb, made by the army ordnance department, was not charged with explosive. The test was to find how fast the bomb would fall and how deep into the earth it would penetrate.

A specially equipped B-29 Superfortress took the bomb up and dropped it.

One thing the air force wanted to find out was the effect on a B-29 when such a big weight was suddenly released.

The army and air force are expected to keep secret virtually all details of the test.

The heaviest bomb dropped prior to the test was one of 1½ tons used in experiments in Germany by the United States air force and the British Royal air force.

Washington Digest
U. S. Presidents Respect Members of Fourth Estate

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—In this post-election calm which has settled over the domestic political scene, many a vest, shirt, blouse, or slip in the Capital conceals a palpitating heart.

What about my government job after the glad (?) New Year? The regular classified civil servants haven't much to fear. They can't be fired without cause, and no matter how thorough a new administration's housecleaning may be, most of the furniture lands right back where it was before, although here and there, you may at first fail to recognize an old friend in a new slipcover.

Long ago most 100 per cent New Dealers in high places displayed the wisdom which they felt was the better part of valor and va-moosed. Others assumed new colors. Some who had not been too careful previously to keep the right hand from knowing what the left hand was doing gradually began to grow ambidextrous and soon were able to write the lesson on the blackboard without exposing the wedding-ring finger.

Baukhage

There is however one class of permanent Washingtonians which goes on like the brook. But even individuals in this class may find the nature of their daily tasks differing slightly as administrations change. I refer, of course, to the Fourth Estate which now includes commentators (since radio newsmen as well as newspapermen are eligible to the National Press club), thus establishing at least a minimum standard of merit.

Naturally we who cover the White House always wonder what manner of man we are going to have to handle. While a new incumbent is learning the art of getting his name favorably inserted into a Washington dispatch or broadcast we have a chance to learn the care and feeding of the source of news which feeds the news to us.

Once Dewey had a bad reputation in this regard. But then, most candidates are suspect before they start, since it is taken for granted that they all are subject to the disease of presidentialitis which affects victims differently.

Coolidge, for instance, was perhaps least afflicted with this malady that attacks the strongest individual when he walks under the white-pillared portico of 1600 Pennsylvania avenue to stay for at least four years. And Coolidge was about as rich in front page material of his own making as the clam he sought to emulate.

I remember a remark William Hard, now an editor of Reader's Digest, once made to me:

"Cal never seemed to suffer from presidentialitis." (Hard invented the word, I believe)—"he is the only occupant of the White House I know of who, when he lay down to take his daily siesta, didn't think when he awoke that the world had gone to pieces."

No newsmen, except toward the last, could complain about Franklin Roosevelt's news conferences. Regardless of what one might think of his views, his news was always printable. It will be hard to produce another such.

The heavy majority of those who traveled with Dewey on his campaign trips had nothing but praise. But a few of those who had experienced his press conferences, and had enjoyed—or otherwise—his press relations in earlier days were cynical.

"Wait," they said, "until the honeymoon is over."

I found it hard to get concrete predictions. I myself had seen a vast improvement in Dewey's press relations over the years since his first campaign. And I see no reason why a person can't and doesn't learn.

On the train, whenever he could (and that is the way most of the correspondents described it—"could," not "would"), Dewey went into the press car attached to his train, chatted individually with the fellows, learned to connect names with new faces, answered questions, and at least appeared to be frank and free with his "off the record" remarks concerning Republican doubts and fears, real, imagined, or assumed. He sometimes took time for a game of chess "with the boys."

There was, however, much less informality in the atmosphere of his entourage than there was in Truman's. The Dewey affair moved so smoothly that a creek or two would have been welcome. Like the farmer in the poem "so even ran his course of life the neighbors thought it odd."

There was one man who made press relations on the Dewey campaign train a joy—well, two men. One was Jim Hagerty, trained reporter himself, who is expected to be the public relations secretary in the White House. The other was a man who probably won't be in Washington at all—Dewey's veteran political adviser, Edwin Jaeckle.

There was no conflict between the two, a rare situation indeed. Jaeckle supplemented Hagerty.

This would seem to contradict the sharp charges of Warren Moscow, author of "Politics in the Empire State" which came out this fall. Moscow, one of New York City's top-rank political reporters, who also covered Albany, claims that Dewey shut down news sources during his governorship in an attempt to thwart any criticism. That he even tried to lay down a press conference rule that a question was "off the record," thus covering up the fact that an answer had been given not to be made public or had been refused. Moscow asserts that Dewey wanted to be the oracle, the one and only, the sole source of what should be reported.

If that was true earlier in Dewey's career, the dapper New Yorker who has been widely-touted of late for being able to take advice and for being able to pick people who know how to advise, has had some good advice. If he should revert to methods such as Moscow describes, two things would happen; first, he would suffer; second, he would fail in his attempt, and the effects of the effort might be permanently disastrous.

Free Press Is Best Check

Some presidents have tried to conduct government by disturbing the "checks and balances." It never works long and the freedom of the press is one of the checks—a principle that is part and parcel of the American concept of government.

A notable example of how the very weight of the news, legitimate news, breaks through any wall, was the case of the financial conference called by President Hoover just before the end of his regime—1931, to be exact. Hoover had no intention whatever of deceiving the public. He simply didn't understand that you couldn't have a gathering like that without making an adequate explanation of some kind. At any rate just a bare announcement was issued.

The next day at the White House news conference, Hoover said "I would not comment on the meeting (though the notice had appeared in the papers), and that he considered it the duty of the press not to print anything which was only partially true, or else incomplete.

Richard Oulihan of the New York Times, one of the most beloved and respected correspondents who ever covered Washington, and an outstanding leader, made a typically dignified, but very emphatic protest then and there. He said it was out of the question to ask the reporters not to get as complete a story as they could, it was pointed out by another well-known reporter that the press would have to have the story, and the reporters would have to get it, regardless of the President's wishes.

The President refused at first, but the reporters insisted. Finally he agreed to give out an official statement after the conference.

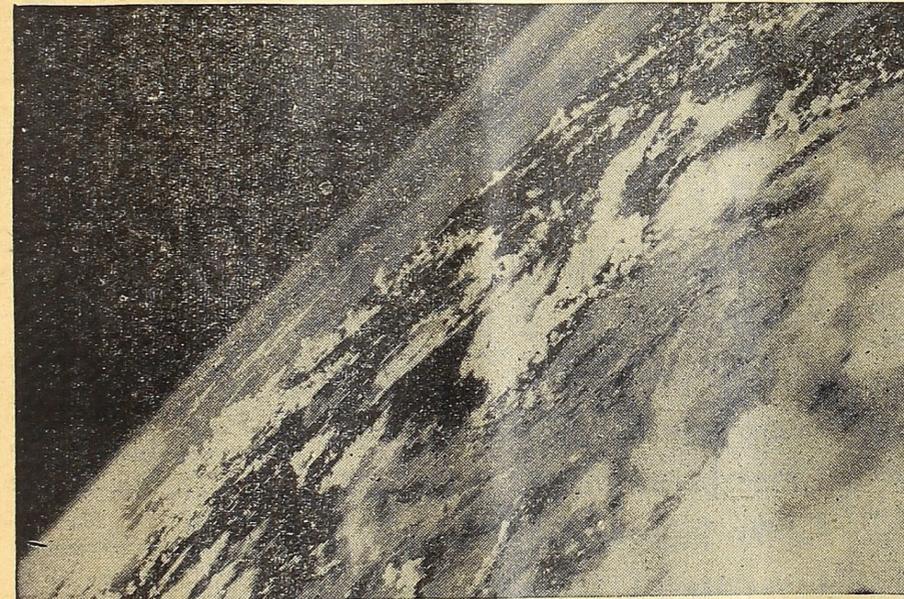

I have known other examples of short-lived gag rules. One which Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau tried to establish an order that none of the treasury officials could talk with newsmen. He might as well have told reporters not to read the market quotations. It failed. Legitimate news continued to be reported as it always had been.

DIFFERENT KIND OF CHURCHGOERS . . . Before the war the Memorial church at the end of Kurfuerstendamm Strasse in Berlin was filled to overflowing with worshippers on Sundays. Now the church, a gaunt Gothic wreck, symbol of the war's devastation, stands as a silent warning to those who seek gain by force. Nothing is sacred to Berlin's hungry, poverty-stricken people, and now they can be seen on Sundays scrounging through the ruins of the church for scraps of wood for fuel or perhaps a bit of metal they may sell for money with which to buy food.

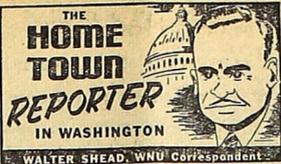

HEDGE HOPPING—AND HOPING . . . This photograph has all the charm of an old racing print—and the photographer who made it must have felt like an old line infantryman facing a cavalry charge. This slightly violent event was the Foxcatcher Plate steeplechase, fourth race on the final day of the Rose Tree Fox Hunting club's 89th annual fall meeting. These are the vital statistics—not that they make too much difference. The races were held over the club's course near Media, Pa. The steeplechase, which is a stylized, accelerated version of fox-hunting without the fox, is wonderfully thrilling to watch and not infrequently is productive of some bloodshed, bruises and broken bones.

WE'RE ALL DOWN THERE SOMEWHERE . . . Mother Earth shows her curves plainly in this photograph made by a camera installed in an aerobee rocket which was lounging around 57 miles up in the air at the time. The rocketborne camera filmed a 1,400-mile strip of terrain extending from upper Wyoming into Mexico. The aerobee actually attained an altitude of 70 miles at the peak of its flight. Cameras used in the experiment, sheathed in steel and protected against the shock of landing, were battered but in fairly good condition when found after the drop.

'NEITHER SNOW NOR RAIN' . . . Here is the high point of the race to determine the champion letter carrier of the United States, held as a feature of the convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers in Miami. Instead of letters the postmen carried bags of coconuts. They ran to a line on which was an array of king-size mail boxes, complete with a bathing beauty on top of each one. There they transferred the coconuts from their bags to the mailboxes and hopped it back to the starting point. Earl M. Logan of Staunton, Va., won the championship on this postman's holiday.

VA Does a Job

JUST a block down the street from the Western Newspaper Union news bureau here in Washington stands the block-long, 10-story building housing the Veterans' administration.

It is on 15th street between I and H streets. At noon and at 5:00 p. m. some 12,000 employees are cause for a traffic jam as they hurry out of the cavernous building for lunch and to transportation facilities to their homes. These men and women of the Veterans' administration comprise a cross-section of America for there are represented citizens of every state in the Union, 90 per cent of them veterans themselves.

The Veterans' administration has had its ups and downs, its turn at scandal and inefficiency. Established in 1930, it has, however, worked for the betterment of and to administer laws passed for the nation's veterans of all wars.

Since World War II its problems have become gigantic, for the scope of its operations is tremendous, working as it does for the nation's 18 million veterans of all wars and their families who make up one-third of the country's population. By 1952 it is estimated that veterans and their families will comprise 43 per cent of the population.

Veterans' administration is overseeing the training of more than 2.8 million veterans in schools, colleges and on-the-job. More than four billion dollars have been spent on veterans' education and training alone since 1944—more than half of it last year.

It maintains 130 million administrative records which does not include 100 million insurance records. It handles 125 million pieces of mail a year, more than normally is handled by Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Kansas City or Seattle.

It is the largest life insurance business in the world. It maintains 21 VA hospitals with 100,000 veterans as patients. It is training doctors, nurses, psychiatrists and other professional men in the field of medicine. It maintains 13 field branches. It handles tens of millions of visits by veterans to offices for aid and advice and its responsibilities are on the increase in housing, in administering new laws, and as the families of the veterans grow for it serves not only veterans but their dependents and families.

A voice out of the blue from Leslie S. Hubbard, president of the Northeastern Poultry Producers council says: "Farmers have had seven or eight good years and if they're not ready to stand on their own feet without government supports now, they never will be." He said the price support law is a "hopeless botch . . . useless as a long range program and plain damfoolish for the immediate future." NPPC claims 100,000 producers in 13 states from Maine to Virginia.

High Cost of Fishing

Fish and other sea food grow wild, so to speak. You don't have to buy feed for them. But according to cost of living statistics the retail price of fish has increased over 200 per cent since the 1934-39 average.

Your Home Town Reporter can understand this if personal experience is a criterion. Four of us recently drove from Washington to the New Jersey coast off Barnegat light house, "the finest fishing grounds on the north Atlantic coast."

We hired a 40-foot sea-going boat and guide for the day—cost $45. A case of refreshments cost $3.50; lunch, breakfast and dinner for four, $10.80. Twenty gallons of gas, $4.80. Total cost, $64.10.

The four of us worked hard all day in a choppy sea. We caught one blue fish, three flounders and three small sea bass—total, eight pounds. Which made our fish cost us $8.25 a pound. A boat that docked next to us, though, took a 650-pound tuna.

Just for the record, only seven building and loan associations have been placed in receivership by the Home Loan Bank board in the past 14 years. The 2,566 building and loan associations insured by the board have increased their combined reserves from 181 million dollars in 1941 to 585 million dollars this year.

Price-Fix System Doomed

It is almost a foregone conclusion that the 81st congress will pass a law which will nullify the decision of the U. S. Supreme court on the so-called basing-point system of fixing prices. The decision declared unlawful the practice of cement companies filing identical bids which included real or phantom freight charges on cement. Steel and other industries were affected. The senate committee likely will recommend the bill.

YOU'LL never tire of this smart, well-tailored blouse and skirt pair. A "must" in every junior wardrobe—ideal for the business gal, too. Choose a pretty, bright wool plaid, for instance, for the skirt, and crisp white for the blouse—have short or long cuffed sleeves.

Eating Eels Not Popular

Prejudice against eels is denying Scots a valuable food, according to the recent report of a Scottish scientist who places eel fillets at the top of a list of ten nutritious fish foods.

Roasted, boiled, baked, stewed, fried, pickled, or in jelly, eel meat long has been enjoyed by many Europeans and Asiatics. The ancient Romans found it a great delicacy. An old French recipe calls for drowning the fish in wine, and then stewing it.

In Japan, eel eating has been regarded since ancient times as a remedy against summer lassitude, something like a spring tonic.

Splendid Cough Relief Is Easily Mixed at Home

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your kitchen. Once tried, you'll never be without it.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. Never spoils. Tastes fine.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is surprising. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you sleep. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

Pinex Is Swift Acting!

30-Day Test of hundreds of Camel Smokers revealed

NO THROAT IRRITATION DUE TO SMOKING CAMELS

In a recent test, hundreds of men and women all across the country smoked Camels—and only Camels—an average of one to two packages a day—for 30 consecutive days. Each week their throats were examined by noted throat specialists—a total of 2470 examinations—and these doctors found not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels.

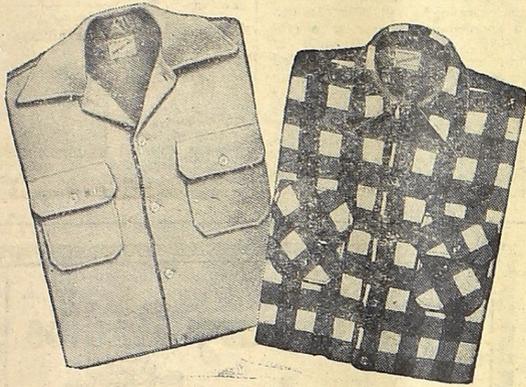

Prove it Yourself! Make the Camel 30-Day Test in Your T-Zone!

Dry Cleaning
Only safe way to dry clean is to send clothes to the cleaners. But if you insist on cleaning at home, never do it in the house. The tiniest spark—even the static electricity from rubbing wool or silk—can ignite some fumes. Keep hands out of the fluid as much as possible, air the clothes in the yard, keep children and pets away.

Safety in Driving
One of the simplest ways to prevent automobile accidents is to drive a car that's kept in safe operating condition. Equipment items suggested as having special relation to safety are: headlights, tail and stop lights, brakes, tires, windshield wipers, steering and wheel alignment, the muffler and exhaust system, the windshield and other glass, the rear-view mirror, and horn.

Wooden Boxes As Toys

Wooden boxes are valuable as outdoor play equipment, and all sizes and shapes can be used. One day the child will use these boxes to make a train, and the next day they will serve for table and chairs at a tea party. There is no end to the pleasure and satisfaction children may realize from an assortment of boxes.

Milk for Throat Irritation

Workers in coal and iron works in North Derbyshire, England, drink milk to soothe the throat irritation caused by the dusty atmosphere. More and better work also results.

Netherland's Population

Population of The Netherlands has virtually doubled during the last 50 years and now stands close to the ten million mark (9,672,217 on December 1, 1947). The distribution of population is uneven, however; for instance, density of population reaches 1,500 per square mile in North-Holland province, 1,900 in South-Holland province, but only 240 in the eastern province of Drenthe.

Anaplasmosis A Menace

Livestock producers in the southern states are calling on research workers to find a way to combat anaplasmosis, which kills 40 per cent of the cattle infected. It is presumed to be caused by a microscopic parasite spread by ticks or other carriers.

Great Britain at Play
 It is estimated that the number of British workers who now receive holidays with pay is 15 million. For most of this vast holiday throng, with their families, and for the great majority of the higher income groups, the seaside is the natural playground for the annual vacation. And on every national holiday from Easter to late autumn, thousands pack excursion trains and coaches for a weekend, or even a day, beside the sea which is so near as to be within easy and cheap traveling distance for all.

Westminster Hall
 Westminster hall in London, built in 1097, adjoins the new palace yard—"new" in 1094. Westminster hall saw the gathering of the noted parliament of 1265. The trial of Charles I, later beheaded, was held there. So was the trial of Guy Fawkes, who in 1605 planted gunpowder in the cellar to blow up parliament. His unsuccessful exploit long has been commemorated by a traditional search of the cellars before each parliamentary session.

 Dorothy Jean Hudman, Plaintiff, vs. Rayburn A. Hudman, Defendant.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
 At a session of said Court, held in the Courthouse in the City of Tawas City in said County this 16th day of October, A. D. 1948.

Present: Honorable Herman Dehnke, Circuit Judge.

It satisfactorily appearing to this Court by affidavit on file that the defendant Rayburn A. Hudman is not residing in the State of Michigan, but is in the United States Marine Corp and that his last known address was c-o Postmaster, New York, N. Y. On motion of H. Read Smith attorney for the plaintiff IT IS ORDERED, that the said defendant, Rayburn A. Hudman, cause his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order, and in case of his appearance that he cause his answer to the plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after service upon him of a copy of said Bill of Complaint and notice of this order, and that in default thereof that said Bill be taken as confessed by said non-resident defendant.

AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that within twenty days after the date hereof, the said plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Iosco, and that such publication be continued once in each week for six successive weeks, or that he cause a copy of this order to be served personally on said non-resident defendant, at least twenty days before the time above prescribed for his appearance. AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant at his last known postoffice address, by registered mail, and a return receipt demanded sixty days before the time herein prescribed for the appearance of the defendant.

Lawn Painting With 2-4-D
To use 2-4-D effectively on small patches of spreading weeds, a paint brush is a practical applicator that will not spread the 2-4-D beyond the spot to be treated. Unless the brush is reserved for this use (and not used for sprinkling other broadleaf plants about the place with insecticides and fungicides), it should be thoroughly washed out with soap and warm water and left to stand overnight in a quart of water to which a teaspoonful of ammonia has been added.

Use of Silos Recommended
Many silos have stood empty for years which could be profitably put back into use on farms where live-weights of molasses as a preservative, 150 to 250 pounds of grain or 30 to 40 pounds of dried whey per ton will help to insure good quality silage. Research has shown that making silage will save 16 per cent more protein and 8 per cent more dry matter than when the same crop is made into hay. This protein saving equals 400 pounds of linseed meal per acre.

Things Are Rough in Peru
While the U. S. price index rose 8.9 per cent last year, living costs in Peru soared as high as the Andes—increasing 45.1 per cent. Between August, 1959, and December, 1947, living costs rose 89 per cent in the U. S. compared to 207 per cent in Peru, according to the Municipal Finance Officers association. Among 11 nations for which comparable statistics are available, Canadian living costs have increased the least since before the war. Though the Canadian price index rose 14.9 per cent in 1947, it is only 45 per cent above the 1939 level of that country.

MORTGAGE SALE
Default having been made in the condition of a certain mortgage made by Raymond J. Paplinski of 912 Broadway, Bay City, Michigan, to Emil A. Hazards To Bees
Honey bees meet with many hazards. They are attacked by spiders and many insects, by birds, mammals, and bacteria, protozoans and fungi. They are subject to specific diseases, many of which are destructive. They are also subject to poisoning by chemical sprays through the increased use of agricultural chemicals; in fact, chemical poisoning has become a greater hazard than bee diseases.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Love Knocks Again

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.
By KATHLEEN NORRIS

WHEN Natalie Curran was 37, and the speedy growing up of her teen-age son and daughter was beginning to remind her that middle age was dead ahead, she met a man at a church social.

He was a stranger in town; charming, successful. Natalie asked him and his wife to join the bridge club that met every two weeks in various houses. He accepted gratefully, and slowly, deliciously, he and Natalie began to fall in love. This made all last winter a time of enchantment to both. For they restrained themselves, of course, because of poor Alma and Howard. Alma is Owen's wife, and Howard, Natalie's husband.

"Since, then, the thing," writes Natalie, "has become an absolute agony to me, and from his brief notes, from the tone of his voice if we meet, I know it has to be Owen. It obsesses me through every waking hour; it devours me like a fever. Since those heavenly days when we were always together, even if the children and the others were with us, I seemed possessed.

Knows It Is Wrong.
"I know it is wrong for a wife and mother, a church and club member, to have allowed this to go so far. But it has gone so far, and now neither of us feels that it can stop. Life is one awful struggle to keep apart, against the fearful need to be together. Owen will telephone me that he is coming out for a moment, and then he will not come, and I know by what a bitter effort he has kept himself from coming. Neither one of us has ever known a feeling as forceful as this before; we feel that it is something that came to us unasked, and that must have more significance, some rights.

... I have lost 24 pounds.

"Now as to Alma, his wife, and Howard, my husband, they are rather alike. The sort of persons who are satisfied with one chair, near the fire, near the radio, glad asparagus is in season, concerned in the children's homework, feeling that paying bills and not being late at the office, or with dinner, is the last end in life.

"I'm not sneering at them, I'm not disliking or wanting to hurt anyone, but I'm a woman desperately, madly in love. The thought of being with Owen, being his, makes me feel as if I were soaring away from earth, from reality, from everything except the glorious fulfillment of the highest and finest dream of which human hearts are capable. Are you going to tell me that all this must be smothered and crushed and allowed to grow cold and be forgotten? Is that all it means?"

There is a great deal more to this letter, poured out on five close-type pages. Natalie is really distracted and really suffering, and the situation is not one to rouse either scorn or mirth.

Divorce Brings Trouble.
The mess into which Owen and Natalie would precipitate their innocent families by divorce would affect them far more deeply than it would Howard, Alma and the children. There simply wouldn't be any end to the uprootings, disillusionments, heartbreaks, resentments. To tear children's hearts with divided loyalties is a common enough thing nowadays, but it is a fresh tragedy every time.

Natalie would lose everything she values in her life. And finally she'd lose Owen. For these two wouldn't get much past the honeymoon before the inevitable shames, explanations, difficulties would make their going very rough.

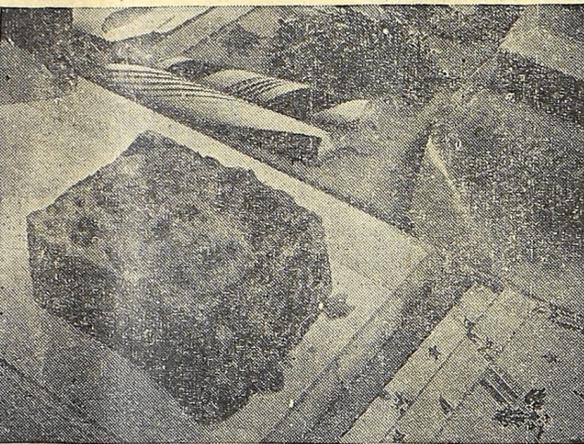

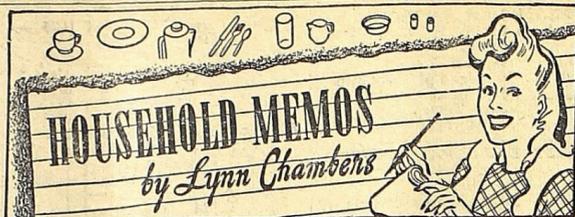

Wake up, Natalie. Life can be sweet again, when you've outgrown this rather arid and bitter moment. What you feel isn't the grand passion. There never was any such thing.

London Salesman Will Attempt To Sell Diapers in Africa

LONDON.—A go-getter salesman is off to Africa to try selling diapers to the natives.

Wilfred Walkers, 60, who has three small children of his own, invented a new diaper with a snap-on rubberized cover and a disposable interior.

"I shall carry out demonstrations on the Gold and Ivory coasts," he said. "I want to introduce hygiene and reduce the mother's work."

Bake Your Fruit Cakes Early
(See Recipes Below)

Early Christmas Plan
IT'S NOT TOO early to think of Christmas now, especially if you want to have fruit cake and plum puddings on hand. These foods are best when mellowed and ripened for several weeks before being eaten.

Then, too, it's a good idea to get some of the work out of the way before the holidays are literally on top of us. There's a lot of work to preparing the ingredients for both fruit cake and pudding because they both require chopped fruit and long baking and steaming time.

WHITE OR LIGHT fruit cakes find many admirers each year. This fruit cake is not as heavy as the dark kind, and you may find it nice to vary with the latter variety.

White Fruit Cake
¾ cup butter
1¼ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons lemon juice
6 egg whites, beaten stiff
1¼ cups powdered sugar
½ cup candied cherries
½ cup candied pineapple
½ cup blanched pistachio nuts or almonds
½ cup sultana raisins

Cream butter thoroughly, then add flour mixed with soda. Sift sugar into beaten whites, combine with the first mixture and add lemon juice, fruit and nuts, cut fine and sprinkled with flour. Stir thoroughly and bake in a loaf pan lined with buttered waxed paper. This baking will take about one hour in a slow (325 degree) oven.

Because the dark fruit cake is so rich, it's a good idea to steam it first to cook thoroughly, then to bake it, for drying out. The cake will be more moist when prepared in this way, and you will be able to slice it thinner.

Dark Fruit Cake
1 pound brown sugar
1 pound butter
1 pound flour
12 eggs, beaten separately
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon grated nutmeg
¼ pound each, candied orange peel, lemon peel, citron, all cut fine
½ cup molasses
½ cup fruit juice
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
½ pound almonds, blanched
½ pound pecans, unbroken
2 pounds seeded raisins
1 pound sultana raisins
1 pound dates
1 pound figs
1 pound candied pineapple
1 pound candied cherries

Cut pineapple into small pieces. Remove stem end from figs and cut. Stone and cut dates. Mix all these with one cup flour. Mix the remaining flour with soda and spices. Cream the butter until fluffy, add the sugar, then the well beaten yolks and stir well. Add the flour mixture alternately with molasses and fruit juice. Gently fold in the beaten whites, then the dates and raisins and other fruit, and nuts. Line four bread pans with waxed paper and butter. Pour batter into pans, two-thirds full. Set pans in oven, 300

LYNN SAYS: Garnish Foods Properly To Stimulate Appetite

Garnishes make food more attractive and thus stimulate digestive juices to aid the way in which we use foods.

Keep garnishes simple, fresh, appropriate and easy to make. Edible garnishes are far superior to merely decorative ones.

Lattice potatoes are effective for a platter of fish or chops or steaks. Add parsley for color, if desired.

degrees, in a pan filled with one inch of hot water. Bake one-half hour. Cover with waxed paper and bake for two hours. Then remove pans from water and bake one-half hour longer. Remove from pans; remove paper and wrap in fresh paper. Store in tightly covered tin.

IF YOU'RE LOOKING for a simpler fruit cake, particularly for a small family, here's one that is very tasty.

Simple Fruit Cake
½ cup shortening
½ cup brown sugar
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups seedless raisins
½ cup candied citron
½ cup candied orange peel
½ cup candied pineapple
½ cup candied cherries
½ cup pecans, chopped

Cream shortening and sugar, beat in eggs. Add raisins and all fruits, diced fine, and the nuts. Fold in flour which has been sifted with spices, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Bake in greased waxed-paper lined pan in a slow (275 degree) oven for one and one-half to two hours.

If you bake rather than bake-steam the fruit cake, have a small dish of water in the oven so that the cake will also have more moistness and will be glossy in appearance.

Trimnings put on the cakes should be placed on after they have baked for two hours. Almond halves, candied pineapple and cherries are most frequently used.

Plum Pudding
1 cup flour
1 pound seeded raisins
¼ pound citron, lemon and orange peel, cut fine
½ cup seedless raisins
½ pound chopped almonds
½ pound bread crumbs
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon ground allspice
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup suet, chopped fine
1 cup molasses
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup pickled peach syrup

Sift flour over fruits and nuts and mix well. Mix remaining dry ingredients, add suet and work in evenly; blend in eggs, molasses and fruit juice. Pour into buttered molds two-thirds full and cover with waxed paper. Place in a steamer or top of double boiler and steam slowly and steadily from four to eight hours, according to the size of the mold. Store as for fruit cake.

One-half hour before ready to serve, start heating the pudding.

Released by WNU Features.

Roast duck takes well to a garnish of endive with orange slices or rice cups filled with currant jelly.

Sausage, meat balls and chops are attractive when they are placed on a mound of rice, mashed potato, macaroni or a green vegetable such as spinach.

With a roast of beef, lamb or mutton, use browned potatoes or mashed potato cups filled with green peas or diced vegetables; boiled onions with sprays of parsley; slices of carrots or turnips fried in deep fat.

Clever Presents for Everyone
Are Easily Made From Scraps

By Erta Haley

Christmas Idea

Any little child will be as happy as this little girl if you are resourceful enough to make a gingham dog and calico cat which "side by side at the table sat." You may create the patterns yourself. You'll need only a bit of gingham and calico, cotton stuffing and hot iron mending tape plus a bit of time to put the animals together.

contribute some presents for a grab bag or party or even for a sale. If you need none of these, you'll have some homemakers whom you will want to remember during the holidays.

The most welcome gifts are those which say they're made just for you. These need not run into expense, if that's the way your budget operates, but they can be personalized. Even if you make some appliqued pot holders, plan them to harmonize or match with the color scheme of the kitchen of the friend to whom you're giving.

Plain towels for kitchen or bathroom can be made glamorous if you sew on floral appliques, obtained from the local sewing center. These, appliques may also be used for shower or window curtains or lunch-eon sets or tablecloths and napkins.

Another idea that won't take long to whip together is the sachet. Odds and ends of felt or scraps from old-linen slips and satin lingerie pieces make minute bags to hold sachet powder. With your sewing machine you can whip up enough for several dozen such gifts in an afternoon or evening.

Soft Dolls, Animals Are Easy to Make

An appealing idea to use for a gift is "The gingham dog and calico cat" made either for your own youngsters or for some little tots you may know. If you can't buy patterns, they're easy enough to create and make from gay scraps of material.

First, make the pattern for a sitting-up dog and another for an erect cat. Cut the identical back and front of the dog from pieces of red plaid gingham. Cut the identical back and front of the cat from pieces of purple calico.

Iron an eye, a nostril and an ear on the front of the dog with pieces of hot iron mending tape. Iron an eye and whiskers on the back of the cat with hot iron mending tape.

Now place cotton stuffing between the back and front of each animal. Seal the backs to the fronts with hot iron mending tape.

No, they don't even take any sewing! And of course, you can create any number of other animals in the same way.

Use Ingenuity To Create Gifts

Cultivate your observation to a high degree in these next few weeks if you really want to make useful and welcome gifts. Every time you pay a call, check to see if you can find some spot that could use a homemade gift.

If you're playing bridge at someone's home, see if the lady of the house couldn't use an extra bridge table cover. These are very attractive made out of simple gingham, or they may be quilted on the sewing machine if you have the time for a fancier job. Monograms or appliques may be added depending upon how elaborate you want to make the gift.

Or, what about your neighbor with a baby? Could she use an extra pair of corduroy overalls which will take two or three hours to make?

What about the brand new baby who is teething? They can never have enough bibs. You can make a set of two or three or more very easily out of scraps of material. Old Turkish towels are an excellent source of material, by the way. Cut them oblong and bind them with hot iron mending tape of a contrasting color. Cut a semi-circle for the neck and the bind. For the bib strings, simply fold a length of the tape and press together.

Are someone's bedroom slippers run down? Patterns for slippers are available, or you can make them yourself. Sturdy cotton bags, those which come already printed or the white ones which you can dye to match robes, are excellent source material. Contrasting binding may be used to decorate them.

like covers for the heads of the golf clubs. Finished off with tape, the gloves can be tied snugly around the club heads, protecting them from scratches. Then, to aid in selecting the club desired, use the zig-zagger attachment to stitch the club number on each mitt.

There are many different types of gifts to make for the sisters in the family. For example, if her taste runs to glamor accessories, try making a huge waist-nipping belt of gay felt. Attach felt suspenders that narrow at the waist-line and widen over the shoulders. With a bag and hat to match, and the entire ensemble decorated with felt flowers, the young miss can step out brightly on her trip to town.

Be Smart!

Extremely short hair styles and little hats, the inseparable combination, are much in the fashion news these days. The berets that have special fashion significance turn casual with a distinct backward stance in the trend set by more formal present day hats. You'll see the smartest ones being worn high, in gay colors that make them a bright topknot for a college or career girl.

QUICK... RUB IN Ben-Gay

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When using scouring powder on a dishcloth, first rub soap on the cloth and then apply cleanser. Now rub vigorously on pots and pans and see how readily they will polish.

To remove printing on flour sacks rinse well in cold water to remove all the contents. When dry, wet in kerosene, roll and let soak overnight, then wash in the usual way.

If the curtain pins have become rusted, soak them for a few minutes in a bowl of water to which ammonia has been added. Then take them out and rub with a dry cloth to remove the loosened rust.

Do not use shellac on a window sash. It is not recommended for wood which is exposed directly to sunlight.

Crackers spread with peanut butter and broiled until bubbly make excellent appetizers.

Remove any meat that is to be broiled or roasted from the refrigerator and let it reach room temperature before putting in the oven. It not only saves fuel but results in a better flavor.

You can handle thorny plants easier by getting a pair of ice tongs and using them instead of your fingers.

By INEZ GERHARD

IF YOU suffer from a frustrated desire to go tiger hunting in India, you can at least see how it's done nowadays. Columbia's "Song of India," starring Sabu, Gail Russell and Turhan Bey, features a hunt with all the modern trimmings. This modernized "Shikar" carries its own electricity plant, uses walkie-talkies, has a portable generator, electric traps, and infra-red ray equipment and film for photographing the trapped tigers in the dark. The old-fashioned way sounded more exciting!

Jody Gilbert couldn't get standard acting roles because of her southern accent, and couldn't get rid of that Texas influence. So she learned some 30 other dialects to go with it and become a character specialist. Now in CBS' "Life with Luigi," she has appeared in 89 pictures. It is only in the last three years that she has had non-dialect roles.

Agnes Moorehead does just fine in Hollywood—her latest picture is "Johnny Belinda"—and on the radio, where "Sorry, Wrong Number" gave her her best-known role, but she is happiest on her Ohio farm, between Zanesville and Cambridge.

Patricia Neal, the pretty blonde playing opposite Gary Cooper in "The Fountainhead," once worked in a New York restaurant, cutting up pies. Her salary was only $12 a week—but she got all her lunches for nothing.

On the set for "Mr. Joseph Young of Africa" at RKO, Robert Armstrong said he's decided to make acting in motion pictures his life work. So far he has had 20 years of it! Aged 51, looking years younger, he said, "Take life easy, sleep a lot, keep your ambitions within your talents, and you can last at least 50 years as a movie actor."

If you have noticed a familiar voice on the "Sam Spade" show it probably belongs to June Havoc, co-star with Alan Ladd in "One Woman" at Paramount. Her husband produces the radio show and she goes on cognito, for fun.

Joseph Cotton thought he was a hero when a dropped cigarette started confetti to flickering wandy during a New Year's eve party sequence for RKO's "Weep No More." He stamped on it, then learned it had been fire-proofed!

Eddie Bracken, whose hobby is picking pockets for fun, went to the monthly Traffic Safety Club luncheon of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce and humiliated several important police officers by relieving them of various valuables. He returned the loot after lunch, but they swore they'd never see another Bracken picture, even on passes.

If you think that Golden Cloud, the Palomino stallion ridden by Errol Flynn in "Montana," looks especially beautiful, remember that he was sponged with milk every morning before working in the picture. It seems that otherwise his shiny coat would toss too much light into the camera. Dried milk permitted gloss, but prevented reflection.

"Girls like me, with prune faces and skinny legs, relieve the monotony. And that's why it's easier for us to get jobs." Mary Wickes said it, after explaining that in Hollywood pretty girls are as thick as ants at a picnic. "I figure I'm set as a sour-puss actress for the next 50 years, if I want to act that long," added Miss Wickes.

ODDS AND ENDS—Richard Basehart got the leading role in Samuel Goldwyn's "Roseanna McCoy." Gary Merrill, who has taken over the title role in radio's "Young Dr. Malone," also plays the romantic lead in "The Right to Happiness." Redcaps at Chicago's rail terminals have had to learn enough about radio to tell thousands of travelers from which hotel "Welcome Travelers" is broadcast. Gene Autry should be known as "The Flying Cowboy." In the past year he has logged 864 flying hours, an average of 72 a month, almost as much as commercial air line pilots are allowed.

Sturdy Express Wagon For Junior to Have

IF YOU want to make some little boy happy and at the same time develop his interest in woodworking, build one of these sturdy express wagons from the full size pattern offered below. It is easy to build.

Pattern is merely traced on the wood specified. User then saws and assembles exactly as and where the pattern indicates. Full size patterns, step-by-step instructions and numbered assembly illustrations take all the mystery out of building. All materials can be obtained at your local lumber yard. No special tools are required.

A cheerful Christmas note is the news that your Christmas budget can be made to perform wonders with little time and effort. Just write down the names of friends who smoke; then visit a neighborhood dealer. He'll be well stocked with gay cartons of mild, flavorful Camel cigarettes and pound tins of mild, mellow Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco—the National Joy Smoke. Both gifts come ready-dressed in colorful Christmas containers. You can even dispense with the usual fussing with cards, due to the novel space provided for personalized season's greetings on the wrappings of both items. Your budget will like these modest gifts. And your friends are certain to welcome holiday-sent Camels and Prince Albert! (Adv.)

Fingerprinting Snowstorms
An instrument that "fingerprints" a snowstorm by recording geometric shapes, sizes and frequency of occurrence of snow crystals falling in the storm has been developed by weather scientists, according to the National Patent Council. The new instrument, with the help of simple mathematics, makes it possible to count the snow crystals in a storm and thus provides information about the relative numbers of fine nuclei in the atmosphere which are necessary to keep a storm active.

Front Seat Shopping

Soon customers may be able to do all their shopping for groceries, drugs, auto supplies and other products from the seats of their automobiles. A Chicago architect has designed a grocery store which makes this possible. Each department of the store is actually an island flanked by a driveway. The housewife drives up to the meat island, for example, picks up her purchase through a window and then drives on to the fresh vegetable island. Both time and shoe leather will be saved by the plan which also solves the problem of what to do with junior while shopping.
