Michigan Has An Estimated Million Deer

Weather Conditions Favorable Hunter Prospects Good

Close to a million deer in Michigan, a slight increase in hunters in prospect, and hunting luck fair to good depending on the weather. In brief, that's the preview of Michigan's regular 1948 season which opens, Monday, November 15, made by the Department of Conservation.

According to Conservation Officer Arthur Lietz 2,855 deer were killed in Iosco county last year which was among the first seven high counties of the state. Roscommon was high with 4,759. Eleven thousand two hundred sixty-five deer hunters were in Iosco county's hunting area last year, more than 25 per cent successful in getting their venison.

The Monday opening will spread hunting pressure over a longer period inasmuch as "week-end hunters" will be unable to take to the woods for most of the first week of the season. The conservation department reports that license sales are somewhat greater than in the corresponding period last year.

The department's game division reports that conservation officers and game area men have been seeing more bucks with big racks. Also, there are more bear (the bear season runs concurrently).

Weather conditions, always a vital factor in hunting, can favor hunters in certain sections on opening day at least. A light to fair snow is predicted for the extreme eastern and southern portions of the upper peninsula this week, according to the East Lansing office of the U. S. Weather Bureau. Rain and some snow is also slated for northern areas of the lower peninsula.

A large-scale transfer of conservation officers from southern counties to the northern deer areas has started. Officers will be moving northward for the rest of this week. This year there are 64 more officers on regular duty in the field.

In addition to watching for the usual violations, a special lookout for the illegal use and transfer of deer seals will be kept. Hunters are cautioned about placing deer seals on bucks which they have not killed themselves.

In Our COUNTY BUILDING

The 1949 dog license supplies have just arrived in the County Treasurer's office. These supplies will be mailed to the Township and City Treasurers before December 1st. If any Treasurer is in the Courthouse before that time he or she may have their supply by calling in the Treasurer's office.

The County Treasurer has started work on the 1949 May Tax Sale. All descriptions of property delinquent for the 1946 and prior years taxes will be listed if not paid before December 1, 1948.

At its recent October Session the Board of Supervisors took action setting up a Special Auditing Committee which will meet bi-weekly for the purpose of approving bills for payment by the County Clerk and County Treasurer. This will overcome the necessity that has previously existed that certain bills be held for a three month period until the Board of Supervisors met, before payment could be made. It was felt by the Board that such a waiting period constituted a hardship on the person presenting the bill and so this action was taken. Bills for damage done to sheep and other animals and poultry and bills for fox bounty must still be held for payment until the entire Board meets.

The special Auditing committee was set up at the suggestion of County Clerk Russell H. McKenzie.

The Bounty on foxes, which was established by the Iosco County Board of Supervisors in its October Session of 1947 is producing results of a very satisfactory nature.

A check of the records in the office of the County Clerk reveals that 531 foxes have been killed upon which bounty has been paid.

Reports are coming in from various parts of the County that small game is appearing again in the County and it is hoped that by a continuation of the bounty that Iosco hunters will soon be able to obtain small game in abundance.

Getting the election returns in and properly tucked away and disposed of has been the top priority item in the office of the County Clerk during the past week. However, County Clerk McKenzie reports that everything is under control and functioning normally.

That many voters are not aware of the many details involved in recording the results of an election and getting things properly filed away and taken care of, was indicated this last week when the County Clerk was asked by a voter—"What happens to the ballots after the election?"

That is when the real work begins. As soon as the polls are closed at 8:00 o'clock the election board proceeds to sort and count the ballots on each individual office or proposition. When the count is complete the results are tabulated and sworn to, and recorded in books prepared for the purpose. The ballots are then sealed and placed in the ballot boxes, which are sealed and locked and placed in the care of the City or Township Clerk so that in the event of recount or later Court Action that they may be available.

Statement Book and Tally sheets are filed with the County Clerk, who is Clerk of the Board of County Canvassers. This Board meets at the County Clerk's office on the next day after election at 11:00 A. M. and proceeds to go over the Statement Books and Tally Sheets and compile the returns on a county wide basis. When this compilation is completed, the Board certifies the election of nominees for county office and in turn certifies to the State Board of Canvassers the number of votes cast in the County for candidates for State Office. When the returns for all Counties have been received by the State Board of Canvassers they make compilation of the results and then certify the election of nominees for State Offices. All this, of course, takes a considerable amount of time so that "Official" Returns on the election are not known for several days or sometimes weeks after the election has taken place. However, the "un-

BOOK WEEK

Most of you probably know that Children's Book Week, launched in 1919 to focus attention on the need for better books for young people, was the original of all "weeks." When it was first observed, there was only one publishing house with a special editor for juvenile books. Now there are over sixty. The young people of the United States are the richest in the world in the quantity and quality of books available.

Possibly you have heard this year's slogan, "Books tell the story," and you know the date is November 14 to 20. We hope you will visit your library during that week, and see the number of fine books being published for young readers.

THE TAKES A LEAP

It now can be said officially that "Ike" Eisenhower is president of Columbia university. The formal installation was held the other day with a distinctly global touch. Representatives of 310 American colleges, 38 foreign universities and 87 learned societies showed up.

Columbia is a dignified university and needs no ballyhoo, but publicity of the right sort hurts no institution and Columbia couldn't have won more space in newsreels and newspapers if Ike's installation had had an assist from Billy Rose, Larry MacPhail, Twentieth Century Fox and the Ringling Brothers.

It was the greatest attendance of educational celebrities ever gathered under one tent, and the first time there was emphasis on choreography.

To a casual passerby the ceremonial had touches of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, the Rose Bowl game, the landing in France, the inaugural of Teddy Roosevelt and the funeral of Rudolf Valentino. Colossal was the name for it.

And it could only happen here. A man, never a teacher in his life, unnoted for book learning, essentially a great soldier and the leader of the armies that won a global war was just placed in charge of one of the largest universities on earth. A few years ago "Ike," pictured in cap and gown, would have aroused suspicions of sabotage; to-day he would look odd in a brass-hat.

From the beaches of Normandy to the campus of Morning-side Heights is as long a drive as any the general made in Europe. Grant would have seemed impossible as head of Harvard, it would have been hard to picture Pershing as dean of Yale and nobody ever suggested Admiral Dewey as top man at Princeton. But such is the personality, ability and prestige of General "Ike" that his transformation from the shot and shell to book and quill seems fine and dandy.

What other country could call its top army hero "Prexy"?

"Abilene Ike," conqueror of the Nazis, winding up on University Heights, giving zip to the college spirit, hoping for a good season on the gridiron and wondering how the kids are doing in sociology . . . what a leap and what a man!

We have a notion that once in a while even now the general locks himself in the library, looks at himself in the mirror and then calls the university phone exchange, saying softly, "I think this is Dean Eisenhower; will you please confirm it?"

"Ike" must be an inspiration to the kids. It will seem silly to say "I just can't lick this subject" to a guy who licked the Nazi menace from a standing start, with broomsticks as the early training weapon.

"Ike could have been our next President without half trying. The time cries for a personality of his charm, horse sense and fiber. And he may make it sometime in the days to come. We wish to warn him, however, that he is in great peril. The great roast squab, green pea, wet toast and watercress salad peril, to be exact. (With red, white and green ice cream and the half warm demi tasse.) Those New York banquets may do what Hitler never could do. Don't accept all the invitations, general, and bring your own food now and then.

"As long as we operate this restaurant and inn there will be no adulterations, substitutes or short cuts in cooking. No cold storage or canned foods will be served in our dining room. Everything will be of the best quality and absolutely fresh."—From a folder on the Homestead Inn, New Milford, Conn.

Vanishing Americans

"Live and let live is my motto."

"Let's not be unreasonable."

"Of course, like anybody else, I can be wrong."

"We don't want any trouble."

"Hankie" won a race at Jamaica the other day. Obviously by a nose.

A Communist is a fellow who will give you your last dollar.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Russ Reject U. N. Berlin Proposal; Stalin Hits Three Western Powers As Attempting to Start a New War

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

DIFFERENT COAL STRIKE . . . French troops in battle array march into the Villiers mine in the St. Etienne area of France as the government seized strike-bound coal mines throughout northern France. Vicious rioting and assorted civil battles preceded the government's action in taking over the mines.

REJECTION: U. N. Proposal

Russia wouldn't play ball with the United Nations on the settlement of the Berlin dispute.

A six-power "face-saving" resolution for solving the crisis was presented to the U. N. security council and promptly batted down by the Soviets—to the surprise of no one concerned.

THE RESOLUTION proposed that Russia lift the Berlin blockade immediately; that the four military governors of Germany begin immediate negotiations to implement the Moscow agreement of August 30 for a Soviet-backed, four-power controlled mark in Berlin by November 20, and that a foreign ministers' council be convened within 10 days thereafter to take up other serious differences over Germany.

Russia's stated objection to the resolution was that it provided for the lifting of the blockade before the currency control went into effect.

Previously, the western powers had turned down Andrei Vishinsky's counter proposal for simultaneous lifting of the blockade and putting into effect the currency agreement.

IN REALITY, this point of difference upon which the latest deadlock centered was a minor one, but it served to illustrate the vast gap that must be closed before a meeting of minds between the East and West can be achieved.

MOREOVER, it has become increasingly clear that Moscow does not even have any desire to lift the blockade. It is, for them, too good a weapon with which to attempt to bludgeon the U. S. and the West into granting them further concessions in Germany, including a voice in the operation of the all-valuable Ruhr industrial area.

STALIN TALKS: 'Horrors'

In what is probably the most amazing outburst he has made since the war, Soviet Premier Josef Stalin told the world that the U. S., Great Britain and France are seeking a new war through a "policy of aggression."

The accusation, despite the high level of its source, amounted to nothing more than a repetition of the already stereotyped Russian practice of attempting to turn an opponent's reasoning back on him.

HOWEVER, he added, the "public forces favoring peace" are too strong to permit "the instigators of a new war" to plunge the world again into the "horrors" of conflict.

Stalin named Winston Churchill as "the main instigator of a new war" and predicted that Churchill's "pupils of aggression" would be rejected by the people just as Churchill has been.

Although he did not label President Truman or any other leader as a "pupil in aggression," the implication was too clear to be mistaken, particularly since the Moscow radio had broadcast a prediction that Mr. Truman would be defeated on November 2.

STALIN accused the U. S. and Britain of twice rejecting settlements of the Berlin crisis with Russia and said that debate on the Berlin question in the U. N. security council "was a display of aggression on the part of Anglo-American and French ruling circles."

The British and Americans, the Soviet premier said, declared "null and void" an agreement reached in the Kremlin conferences August 30 that would have

Old-Fashioned, but . . .

Toothaches are old-fashioned. That is the opinion of Dr. John C. Brauer of the University of Washington school of dentistry, a leading authority on children's dentistry and care of the teeth.

Dr. Brauer said few children would experience dental pain during their lives if they practiced preventive measures now known to dental science. Most older people are doomed because of their past habits.

lifted the Soviet blockade and ended the crisis.

HE CHARGED that the western powers fear "most of all" to reach any agreement with the Soviet Union.

"What they want is not agreement and cooperation, but talk about agreement and cooperation, so as to put the blame on the U. S. S. R. by preventing agreement, and to 'prove' that cooperation is impossible."

Stalin's statement obviously was issued as a high-powered propaganda stroke—a move the Russians undoubtedly hoped would tip the Berlin scales in their favor.

Headliners

IN YORK, Pa. . . . Mrs. Walter Sechrist made a wide-eyed announcement that her gas range picks up short wave transmissions made by her next-door neighbor, an amateur radio operator, vowed it had broadcast a conversation between the neighbor and another operator in South America.

IN SALEM, Mass. . . . Robert C. Carter claimed in a divorce suit that his wife had deserted him a block from the church just two minutes after they were married in 1944.

IN HAGERSTOWN, Mo. . . . Thieves broke into the Potomac Edison building, got away with a specially equipped camera set up to take pictures of thieves breaking into the Potomac Edison building.

IN LITTLE BRICKHILL, Eng. . . . Postmaster N. C. Parrott looked down his nose at the man with the gun trying to rob him of his postal receipts, sneered, "The revolver is not loaded, you know." "Sorry," said the crushed desperado, sinking away.

IN DURAND, Wis. . . . Frank Weimirs was forced to reassure his customers as to the fact that he still was in the popcorn and soft drink business after he began making deliveries with an old hearse.

BLUFFING:

In Berlin

Gen. H. H. Arnold, wartime commander-in-chief of the U. S. air forces, turned up in the news with a military man's hearty opinion about what to do with the Russians in Berlin.

"WHY NOT take a motor convoy and push it through the corridor to Berlin?" he suggested. "Perhaps we might have learned something from Gen. George Patton's technique. If Patton were running the show he would take it through."

Russia, he claimed, is attempting a tremendous bluff against the U. S. and the western allies, but is "not ready to fight, doesn't want to fight and won't fight" if someone should call her bluff.

WHAT would the Russians do if an armed convoy did plow through the blockade? "Not much, if anything," was Arnold's laconic estimate.

"It would be a grave and basic error to let the Communists bluff us out in the present deadlock in Germany."

"They are not ready to fight and they do not want to fight. We should curb the national tendency to be in awe of the Russians, an awe amounting almost to fear."

"TIME plays with the Russians. We have the superior power now. They may have it later. Meantime, it would be folly to let them bridge the gap by bluff alone."

Whether he was right or wrong, Hap Arnold at least had done the worrying U. S. public one favor: By reducing the problem to hard, simple terms of pure action and divorcing it from the intricate realm of diplomacy he made it appear more understandable, less overwhelming and less frightening. General Arnold, at least isn't expecting a war tomorrow.

TREATY:

On the Way?

In view of the existing physical and ideological rift which has divided the world into two opposing battalions, it has come to seem almost inevitable that the western bloc sooner or later would devise some kind of informal military treaty for the mutual protection of the nations concerned.

AND A few days before the election word began to creep out from among "high American sources" that a military treaty was on the way.

The report was that drafting was scheduled to begin soon of an agreement pledging full aid to the five-nation Brussels alliance of western Europe. Results of the U. S. election were in no way supposed to affect the plan, since both major parties had committed themselves in principle to backing the Brussels alliance.

SUCH AN alliance supposedly will link the United States and Canada in formal treaty relationships with Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

From a behind-the-scenes standpoint, this will not be a new move. It is highly probable, indeed, that the broad outlines of a north Atlantic pact—with some details sketched in—has been in existence for some time.

The alliance is expected to commit the U. S. and Canada to:

1. BUILD up air, land and sea forces of the Brussels powers.
2. STANDARDIZE equipment and training.
3. CREATE a seven-nation unified military strategic command under an American commander-in-chief.
4. PLEDGE a guarantee of each nation's territorial integrity in case of war.
5. GIVE the North American powers the right to establish air, land or sea bases in any of the five other countries.

U. S. officials expect that the treaty will be ready for ratification by the middle of 1949, barring extraordinary events. How congress will react to such a treaty is, for the time being, a debatable question.

SHIPBUILDING:

Navy Expands

Increasing importance in the minds of U. S. defense chiefs of underwater and air warfare, including consideration of possible attacks across the Arctic, was revealed in a statement outlining the navy's post-war shipbuilding program.

Vice Adm. Earle M. Mills, chief of the bureau of ships, listed the development of advanced prototypes in four major fields as the aim of the building and conversion plan:

"FIRST, aircraft carriers capable of handling the fast, heavy, long-range naval planes developed and under development since the war; second, high-speed, deep-submergence submarines; third, anti-submarine vessels to combat these submarines; fourth, ships equipped for Polar and picket service."

Battleships were not mentioned in the statement, nor was there any direct reference to preparations against air attack over the roof of the globe, but the program's emphasis on polar ships was considered self-explanatory.

IN THIS phase of the program, two destroyer escorts and two submarines will be specially fitted for off-shore aircraft detection. One cargo ship and two floating dry-docks for landing ships will be converted for service in polar waters.

The aircraft carrier part of the program includes the construction, to begin late this year or early in 1949, of the yet-unnamed super-carrier of 85,000 tons, designated as the CVA-58.

Conspicuous First

One of the minor sidelights of the late, great election was provided by Mrs. Fannie Rockwell of Danbury, Conn. She turned 104 years old on October 25 and celebrated this chronological attainment six days later, on November 2, by casting a vote for the first time in her life.

RED PRICES:

Going Up

America doesn't have a capitalistic monopoly on inflation. Russia is getting her share of that uncomfortable condition, too.

Here's what happened in Russia in August: Postal and telegraph rates were boosted 33 1/2 per cent. Train fares and long distance phone call rates went up in varying amounts. In Moscow subway fares jumped 25 per cent and streetcar fares from 50 to 100 per cent.

THE FIGHTING PRESIDENT

U. S. Elects Truman, Democratic Congress

"Now maybe you would like to know why I have made this fight for the people. I will try to tell you. It is a matter of the things I believe in."

President Harry S. Truman spoke those words to the nation's voters on the night before election. And he believed hard enough to get himself re-elected to another term in the White House.

Perhaps he made a wish on a star, too; but in the end it was his own dogged, courageous fight that won him what amounted to a mandate to serve.

His 371 speeches and 31,500 miles of campaign travel, his will to win, his unflinching conviction that he would win and finally the justification by the people of his confidence made Mr. Truman's re-election a truly amazing political phenomenon.

He is President today despite the political experts, despite the public opinion polls, despite the lethargy and lack of support within his own Democratic party and despite all the logic that was advanced to show that a Republican administration was needed for the good of the nation.

Upset the Dope.

What happened? How did Harry Truman manage to upset the dope? Following the initial shock of sheer nation-wide disbelief that he could have made it, it became apparent that there was not one but a combination of several factors operating unfavorably in the President's advantage.

The surprisingly heavy vote was a vital point. It has been axiomatic for a long time in the U. S. that as the number of voters increases so do the chances of the Democratic party.

High prices, high rents, the housing shortage—all of which Mr. Truman emphasized strongly in connection with his assaults on the "second worst" 80th congress—aided in turning the people away from a Republican administration.

Organized labor concentrated on getting its members out to vote against members of congress who had supported the Taft-Hartley law, and that circumstance rebounded to the President's benefit.

The fact that virtually no one realized—with the possible exception of Mr. Truman and a few of his loyal subordinates—that the tide of the campaign had turned in the last two weeks before the election.

Mr. Truman's slugging, earthy drive during the last three weeks before November 2, and conversely, Dewey's insistence upon maintaining the bland, high-level tone to his campaign brought the President a lot of votes.

Finally, the farm states did not come in nearly as strongly. Republican as they had been expected to. Mr. Truman had succeeded in planting a fear, in his Midwest campaigning, that the GOP would do away with farm support prices.

Thus, at 11:30 a. m. (EST) on November 3, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey conceded the election to President Truman, shortly after the pivotal states of Ohio, Illinois and California had definitely gone Democratic.

What can the nation expect from the next four years of Democratic government under President Truman?

U. S. foreign policy will remain basically unchanged, keeping as its mainspring the European Recovery Program. As a matter of fact, it would have retained its status quo under a Republican administration, too. But in any event it is reasonable to assume that most American voters cast their ballots not so much on the basis of foreign policy as on domestic issues.

Whether or not much, if anything, will be done about the Taft-Hartley act is more of a question than it seems.

In the first place, although the Democrats have a nominal major-

The Splinter Parties

Neither Henry Wallace's Progressives nor J. Strom Thurmond's Dixiecrats turned up with a decisive effect on the election. The total impact on the national electorate of Wallace's "love everybody, including Russia" philosophy was extremely small. He polled only slightly more than a million votes, made no great inroads in any state.

Thurmond and the southern state rights party carried four states. Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, proving that the Democrats can win an election without a completely solid South.

He fought and won

ity in both houses of congress, it remains to be seen if they will have a dominating workable majority with enough strength, for instance, to repeal or amend the law.

Also, some Democratic congressmen are not convinced that the Taft-Hartley law is as black a thing as it has been painted.

One of the first demands that President Truman and the Democratic 81st congress will get from the people will be to do something about high prices and inflation. Action along this line probably will take the form of price controls—perhaps wage controls as well. Mr. Truman is likely to try again to get congress to pass the 10-point anti-inflation legislation he first elucidated a year ago.

Truman Receives 304 Electoral Votes to Win

During the dramatic early hours of the election returns, electoral votes seesawed back and forth between Governor Dewey and President Truman, changing as the tide of popular votes from each of the states was tabulated.

In the final compilation, President Truman garnered a total of 304 electoral votes, 38 more than the 266 which were necessary for him to be elected.

Governor Dewey collected 189 electoral votes and J. Strom Thurmond drew the Dixiecrats votes of Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina which totaled 38. Wallace failed to get a single vote.

Growth of Baby Teeth

When a baby is born his first teeth are already formed in the gums, although they usually don't begin to come through until between the sixth and eighth month.

The diet of the mother before the baby was born determines the health of the baby's teeth, which begin growing five or six months before birth.

The permanent teeth as well as the baby teeth begin to form before birth. The baby's diet affects the condition of these second teeth. Calcium in milk and Vitamin D in fish-liver oil are essential for strong healthy teeth.

Strength of Bamboo

India bamboo is said to be an effective substitute for steel for some uses.

The forest research institute in Dehra Dun, India, is conducting further research. India needs an annual minimum of two million tons of steel. She has an annual deficit of one million tons. Her need will increase with the rapid strides of industrialization. It is intended to replace steel with bamboo for domestic purposes.

Researches have so far proved that structures made of bamboo last 30 years, and are as strong as steel in the construction of roofs, posts, doors, window frames and floors.

IN WASHINGTON

WALTER SHEAR, WNU Correspondent

Spell of Weather

PROBABLY the most important information sought by the farmers of the nation each day is, "What's the weather forecast?"

And paradoxically, the prosaic answer to this daily question, not only from farmers but from all phases of society in the Hometowns of the country, comes from one of the most colorful and history-packed agencies in the field of government in Washington—the United States weather bureau.

Established back in 1870 by the signal corps of the army as a meteorological service and using data furnished from army posts, the weather bureau has grown to an agency employing thousands of persons. And in addition some 5,000 volunteers send in daily reports from all corners of the country. Some of the volunteer workers, serving without pay, have worked for the bureau continuously for more than half a century.

In lonely isolated shacks in the far north, upon coral islands of the Pacific and in every geographical district of this country, representatives of the weather bureau note and gauge the winds, the tides, the air currents and all the data necessary for scientific weather prognostications.

Armed with a given set of weather conditions, and with the records of like conditions back over the years, the weather bureau scientists can most accurately predict what the weather will be even months in advance.

In 1891 the weather bureau was transferred to the department of agriculture and later to the department of commerce where it now is.

In addition to operating the general public service, publishing forecasts in almost all newspapers and broadcasting them over 700 radio stations daily, the bureau provides many other services designed for specific needs. The airways weather service provides data for flying conditions throughout the country as well as trans-oceanic flights.

A specific agricultural information service disseminates particular information of value to farmers. A river and flood forecasting service measures depth of water in principal rivers, forecasts their crests and cooperates with the Red Cross, the corps of army engineers and the U. S. coast guard in times of flood.

It operates an extensive forest fire weather warning service. Also active is the hurricane and storm warning service aiding marine interests on the Great Lakes, the Gulf, and the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Here in Washington the forecast center is located at Washington National airport and employs about 90 experts. During World War II army chiefs of staff and commanders throughout the world would not make a move without first consulting the weather bureau experts, for upon an accurate forecast of weather thousands of American lives and the success of our military operations hung in the balance. Production of weather maps is also an important function. These maps are made up at the weather bureau four times a day at six-hour intervals from reports collected at forecast centers by means of radio teletype, telephone and telegraph, giving the complete weather picture over the entire nation.

Public Power

Both Democratic and Republican parties have come out strongly for continued public production of power through government construction of hydro-electric power dams for irrigation and flood control. There, however, the unity of thought ends. The Republicans would have the government and the taxpayers produce the power and sell it to the private power companies for distribution to the consumers. The Democrats would have the government build the dams and also distribute the power direct to consumers as it now is doing. Whether the change will benefit the consumers or the private power companies remains to be seen.

Speaking of public power, 119,375 miles of REA-financed rural power lines serving 320,677 farms were put into operation this year. It brings into the REA system 4,019,376 farms. Approximately 124,000 more farms were electrified by private power companies.

Rayons need gentler handling than cotton both in washing and ironing, and less heat. Rayons become weaker when wet, while cottons are slightly stronger. Rayons should not be as moist for ironing as cottons and should be ironed on the wrong side of the fabric to avoid shine. Above all, the iron should not be too hot.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Poor Rich Woman

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.
By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"IS THERE any way in which a plain and uninteresting woman can make herself the right wife for a popular and successful man?" Anne Wright asks pathetically in a letter that comes to me from Detroit.

"Joe and I were terribly happy in the little place out West," she goes on. "There were friends in our town, gardens, movies, nice neighbors. Everyone had small children, a small car, school worries and meale worries. My mother lived next door and a dearly loved brother and sister with small families not far away. It was all so terribly happy!"

"Then Joe's invention—a long a family joke—actually sold and he was offered a magnificent position here in the East. We have two girls, 12 and 15, and at first they were excited as I was, by the change. But the three of us are homesick now. We've got our fur coats and the big cars with a man to drive us. When we first walked into this hotel suite, we just couldn't believe our eyes. Two sitting rooms, three bathrooms, four big bedrooms and even our own dining room. It was like a dream!

They Entertain Lavishly.

"We give dinners which cost plenty, but they don't satisfy Joe and they are ordeals to me. He can talk, he interests other men. I'm a perfect dud. The girls know it and it makes them uneasy and shy. But I never pretended to have anything but a high school education and my folks were plainer even than Joe's.

"We've got our big cars..."

"We don't belong here and we don't belong rich. We're just making ourselves ridiculous by putting on all these airs. Yet how can I ask Joe to go back to the little cottage in Jay street or make the girls give up all they have in the way of opportunities and new clothes?"

"But Joe knows I'm miserable," the letter ends, "and it makes him sorry for me and yet mad, too. Something seems to have gone out of our marriage, with all this gold coming in, and I don't know what to do. I can't make myself smart, charming and entertaining and I can't make Joe a failure. There's the situation. What can we do?"

Anne, my dear, Joe doesn't have to do anything and the girls are all right. They will accustom themselves to their new glories faster and faster. But you've got to make some changes.

All charming women are not well-dressed chatterboxes. Some of the most beloved women in the world have been the silent type. Sympathetic interest, intelligent listening—these are priceless assets in any social gathering.

Use Pleasant Phrases.

Of course you have to have some pleasant easy phrases ready when you greet your guests, lead them to your room to lay wraps aside, introduce them to each other. Practice this sort of talk as simply as you would have used it at home. It only has to be a hospitable murmur, accompanied by a friendly smile.

For the rest—look lovely and look yourself. Have someone make you the clothes in which you feel comfortable—not too much bosom and arms exposed, full comfortable skirts that are also picturesque. Have your hair always brushed and smooth and your dinner unpretentious.

No woman need be dowdy, dull or plain. With a clear skin, groomed hair, becoming clothes, the homeliest among us is attractive. If there were space here, I could tell you about Hollywood beauties and stars who started life handicapped with weak eyes, bad skins, stutters, homely faces and hopeless figures. Your problem is that of many women. If you lose your Joe, you may be sure it will be your own fault.

XENIA, OHIO.—The automobile is still a mystery to 14-year-old Barbara Jean Gibson. But give her an airplane and she is at home. Barbara Jean has climaxed two years of flying instruction with three solo flights. The occasion was one month after her 14th birthday. Use Imagination, Knowledge To Solve Decorating Problems

By Ertta Haley

IT'S fairly easy to decorate an empty room because all the poor features jump out at you when you first see it—bad light, ugly radiators, poor doorways, dingy floors, too high ceilings, as well as the other common faults. But have you looked over a room that is already furnished and failed to see what's wrong?

We may have lived in a place so long and added so much to it that we fail to realize that some grave faults have been created. Said a woman the other day, "My home was nice when we first moved in. But now, we've added so much, it's different. I feel there's something wrong with the place."

Her rooms were cluttered—not only with furniture, but odds and ends of presents or souvenirs that had come to the place throughout the years. The solution? It didn't cost any money for her to simply get rid of the extra things that cluttered the place, windmills for the kiddies that were patched and scratched, book racks that had been added to take care of magazines and papers that somehow did not get thrown out, pots and plants more than were essential, and crocheted dollies that cluttered the furniture. The room improved and looked ten times better.

Next time you come into the house after being absent for a few days or hours, look at it as though you saw it for the first time? How does it stack up? Are the principles of unity, balance and harmony intact, or have they been disturbed by the passing years?

Disguise Radiators

In These Ways

When exposed starkly in a room, radiators are anything but a thing of beauty. Some are disguised easily, others may take a bit of ingenuity.

The simplest way to treat the exposed radiator is to cover it with metal made for the purpose. This is especially true when the radiator is underneath the windows or against the wall of a room.

Choose the color of the cover carefully so as to make the radiator as unobtrusive as possible. Silver or gilt paint merely emphasizes it; a soft tone such as you use on the walls of the room tend to make it inconspicuous.

The radiator may also be slipcovered to match the color of the walls. This tends to make it a part of the

Be Smart!

Never have collars been so important as they are during this season. The smartest ones are those that reach for your chin. Best examples of this new trend are shown in the models sketched above. The one at the left is in black jersey with a frankly upstanding collar while at the right, cinnamon jersey in a flyfront serves to point up a stunning draped collar of self material.

Rounded Shoulders

Cotton corduroy for dress-up occasions is deftly fashioned into a graceful dress by Mildred Orrick. She rounds the shoulder line, styles push-up kimono sleeves and adds her own beautiful interpretation of the fall skirt.

room, and costs very little in time and effort.

You might build a wooden shelf over the radiator and bedeck this with gay ruffles and make it into a dressing table. This would solve the problem nicely in a bedroom or bathroom, especially if the latter is large enough.

If you have a bulky type of radiator, build a wooden cover with an open front, making the whole unit look like a low bookcase. Place separate units of the same size on either side and use as bookcases. Paint the whole thing the same color as the walls. Use plants or figurines on top of the units.

Make Your Windows

A Decorative Asset

If your windows are too low, they may be made to appear higher if you raise the rods several inches. Then construct a valance to hide, the fact that a rod is being used higher than it ordinarily is.

When you wish to make the windows appear wider, use the above treatment slightly varied. Hang the draperies as far to the side as possible. Then construct a large valance which will hide the fact. The valance should be rather wide and long.

If you have straight windows along a wall, these offer an excellent opportunity for glass shelves to hold plants or ornaments such as a collection of various colored bottles, pictures, or glass. This type of window may be simply curtained at either side, topped with a valance.

If you have a room with two small windows on two adjoining walls, a major but very attractive corner can be made out of this by modernizing. A treatment recently used with much success is to use glass blocks for the corner extending to take the place of both windows.

If you have a lovely outdoor view, it's best to frame this by having a large plate glass window. Don't obscure this with curtains; instead, use dark drapes at either side so that the view can be dramatized and given its proper setting.

For a group of windows in a bedroom, fluffy ruffles are fresh and attractive. The bedspread may match the curtains.

Make Corners Assets With Clever Tricks

Sometimes people forget that corners of a room need special treatment. They, too, can be a decorative asset when intelligently handled.

If Dad likes to retire to a "corner" to read his evening paper or magazine, make this your special project. Select a good comfortable chair, with a foot rest, if he likes it, and set this in a quiet corner. Have a side table for pipes or cigarettes, if he uses them, or a table with a shelf for books, magazines and papers. A good floor lamp with indirect lighting will make the corner a delightful place for reading.

Corners in living and dining rooms may be made attractive by cabinets which are excellent for storage space as they hold so many things. The top shelves may be made decorative with plants, attractive and unusual dishes or books with fine coverings. The lower shelves may be used for linens, scrapbooks, china or silverware.

Other corners lend themselves nicely to corner-type bookcases. If the bookcases are low, you may use attractive prints on the walls, and set a lamp directly in the corner itself for light.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Single Dish Suppers Please Family Tastes; Most Prepare Quickly

EVERY HOMEMAKER needs several special dishes on which she can draw for Sunday night suppers and other occasions when company appears and needs hot and hearty refreshment. There are covered dish suppers at the church which are so popular, and then, too, the youngsters coming home from school games and events may want something to warm them as well as to satisfy their appetites.

Plan to serve either a salad or dessert or both as one of the main dishes, depending upon the appetites, and, of course on the type of supper you are serving. All of the recipes I'm giving you today are bound to be special favorites.

Baked Beans
1 quart dried navy beans
1 teaspoon soda
1 medium onion
1/2 cup molasses
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 pound salt pork
1 1/2 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
Soak beans in cold water (to cover) overnight. Drain, cover with cold water and add baking soda. Bring to a boil and boil 15 minutes. Drain, cover with fresh water and bring to a boil again. Drain.

Baked beans make an outstandingly good supper for Sunday night or for entertaining informally for men folk or youngsters who like their food hearty, but good to eat.

Place the onion at the bottom of the pot and add beans, molasses, brown sugar, seasonings and juice. Cut pork into small pieces and press into the beans. Add enough water to cover the beans. Bake, covered, in a slow (325-degree) oven for five hours, adding more water when necessary to keep the beans from drying. Remove cover, bring pork to the surface and bake for one hour longer.

BAKED BEANS ARE good when served with the following dessert and salad:

*Cabbage-Fruit Salad
(Serves 6)
2 cups finely shredded cabbage
1 cup diced pineapple
2 red apples, cored and diced
Mayonnaise
Toss all ingredients together with enough mayonnaise to make creamy.

Orange Sponge Pudding
(Serves 8)
2 cups bread crumbs
1 pint milk
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 orange
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
2 beaten egg whites
Place bread crumbs in top of double boiler with milk and cook until soft. Then add remaining ingredients. Pour mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake in a slow (325-degree) oven until firm. Serve with the following sauce: Beat two egg yolks until thick; add one-fourth cup of powdered sugar and the juice and grated rind of one-half orange. Just before serving fold in one cup of cream, whipped.

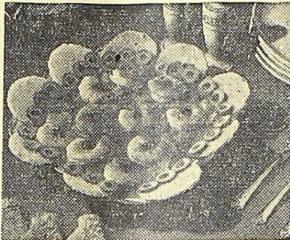

The pudding may be baked as the beans finish since the oven temperature is the same.

LYNN SAYS: Keep Ingredients Available For Making Hot Snacks

Those baking powder biscuits from Sunday dinner can be turned into delicious snacks on Sunday evening. Split the biscuits, butter them and top with a slice of tomato, a slice of cheese and sprinkle with chopped cooked bacon. Broil until cheese melts. Creamed, well seasoned crabmeat may be broiled after being spread on buttered toast rounds.

After a heavy dinner on Sunday, the family will enjoy the light savorness of Shrimp Wiggle for the evening supper. Serve with a salad or just a dessert depending upon how sharp the appetites are.

ONE OF THE following fish dishes makes a delicious supper when the gang gathers at your home or for Sunday night supper as a delightful change from regular dinner:

Shrimp Wiggle
(Serves 4)
2 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups stewed tomatoes
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 cup water
2 cups cleaned shrimp, cooked or canned
Salt, pepper
Toast rounds

Saute onions in butter until golden brown. Add tomatoes.

Simmer for a few minutes. Stir water into flour to make a smooth paste and add tomato mixture. Cook, stirring as mixture thickens. Add whole shrimp. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Serve with toast rounds and garnish with stuffed olives.

Macaroni-Salmon Scallop
(Serves 6)

- 1 cup macaroni
- 1 1/2 pound can flaked salmon
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
- Salt
- 1 1/2 cups thin white sauce

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse. Alternate layers of macaroni and salmon in a casserole sprinkling each layer with onion, green pepper, and salt. Pour white sauce over all and sprinkle top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven. This dish may also be made with tuna fish, ham or chicken.

SOMETIMES WE MERELY want hot sandwiches to satisfy our appetites for Sunday night or after a football or basketball game. But, make these hot and substantial, and serve with a hot beverage and dessert if you want to make a grand meal of them.

Open-Faced Cheese Sandwiches
(Makes 6 Sandwiches)
6 slices lean bacon
1/2 pound American cheese
2 slices onion
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
6 slices bread

Grind together the cheese, bacon and onion. Add mustard and mix thoroughly. Toast bread on one side and spread a thick layer of cheese on the untoasted side. Brown under broiler or in oven. Serve hot.

*Hamburger-Cheese Buns
(Serves 5)

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 5 round buns
- 5 slices snappy cheese
- India relish or piccalilli

Combine beef with salt and pepper and form five round, flat cakes. Fry on both sides until well browned. Split buns, toast and butter them. Cover the lower half of each bun with cheese, slice and let melt under broiler flame. Cover with hot hamburger, spread with relish and serve hot.

Released by WNU Features.

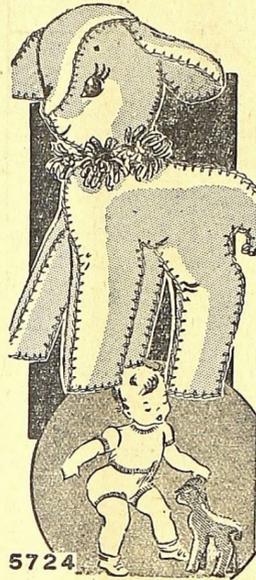

Season mashed sardines with catchup and worcestershire sauce and stir in grated cheese. Spread the mixture on slices of toast and broil until cheese partially melts.

Salami may also be ground and mixed with cream cheese and enough cream of celery soup to moisten. This may be spread on buns or toast for tasty snacks.

Tuna fish salad spread in toasted buns makes a delicious hot sandwich if you place over the tuna fish some nippy cheese and broil until the cheese melts.

Honey During the Ages
Interesting are the stories of symbolic ceremonies associated with weddings among people of Asia, Africa, and Europe. Not the least of these tells of the part played by honey. Honey was respected as an important commodity, as a symbol of sweetness in family relations and of protection against evil spirits, and as a food. History records that in the marriage contracts of ancient Egypt the bridegroom has to promise his bride a definite amount of honey each year. Among the Hindus and certain Central European people honey was used to bless the home or anoint the bride couple. In Rome and among the Slavs honey or a honey beverage was served to the bride and the bridegroom as a special part of the ceremony. In a few countries some of these and similar customs still persist.

official" returns are available to the public in a matter of hours through the courtesy of local election officials and Boards who telephone the results in to the County Clerk's Office for tabulation on a chart which appears in the hallway of the Iosco County Building. Through these unofficial returns newspapers and other agencies for public information are able to give to the public very reliable information on election returns in a very short period of time after the polls have been closed.

The State Department of Public Instruction, through the Commissioner of Schools, is constantly attempting to secure better teachers and to make good teachers better. The theory is that the best teachers and the very best teaching available is the natural right of every school child.

In keeping with this theory the School Commissioner has been quite insistent that all rural teachers keep up their teaching standards. No teacher with a special or sub-standard certificate is hired for a succeeding year unless she shall have completed a minimum of six semester hours of college credit or its equivalent. This credit may be secured in summer school or extension work, or any manner suitable to the teachers.

We also attempt to help the children by helping the teacher in other ways. One of these methods is in various in service training methods of teaching. For instance all teachers are required to teach music to rural children under the supervision of our office and an instructor, who is sent out from the Extension Department of Michigan State College. Another in service method used in helping teachers is by having teachers meetings at various schools where demonstration teaching methods are illustrated. One of these meetings will be held at the St. Joseph School on Friday afternoon, November 12. All rural teachers will receive instruction and demonstration of the teaching of phonics. The demonstration will be under the direction of a very capable teacher, Sister Rene, who teaches the first and second grades in that school. Sister Rene has had specialized training in the lower elementary grades and attended college during the last summer to further prepare herself for better teaching.

Percy Thornton, Editor
Tawas Herald

Dear Mr. Thornton:

I was very pleased, on reading your issue of November 5th, to note that you had instituted a new column headed "In the County Building." I believe that such a column will do much to bring to the people of Iosco County reliable information concerning County affairs. It is my belief that the people of the county are entitled to know how their County Government is being operated and whether such operation is in their best interests. Such a column as you have instituted will do a great deal towards this end.

I shall be glad to cooperate with you in every way to see that the people of Iosco county are reliably informed concerning their County Government.

Sincerely yours,
R. H. McKenzie,
Iosco County Clerk.
