More Witnesses To be Called For Inquest

Seek Cause of Chester Carolton's Death Last Sunday at Sand Lake

Chester Carolton of Sand Lake died early last Sunday outside the Sand Lake Tavern, possibly the victim of a saloon brawl in which he had had no part. An inquest to determine whether Carolton had died as a result of injuries or natural causes, was started Tuesday and adjourned to next Monday.

Dr. W. G. Gamble, Jr., of Bay City, pathologist who had performed the autopsy, testified Tuesday morning when questioned by prosecuting Attorney Herbert Hertzler and the inquest jury, that the death of Carolton was due to a hemorrhage at the base of the brain and extending into the spinal cord. He stated that the condition of the hemorrhage indicated that it was caused from pressure as from a blow with the hand or fist, as in a "rabbit punch," or from a fall against some hard object.

Testimony at Tuesday's session of the inquest disclosed that an altercation had started Saturday evening, between Walter C. Mathias of Saginaw and Graham Patterson of Rochester. The bar room was crowded with hunters. Mathias was standing at the bar near a table occupied by Patterson and four deer hunting companions, Harry Sitek, William and Donald Sumner and Bronson Hill, all of Armada. The argument ended with bad feelings between the two men.

Mathias testified that at about closing time he went out of the tavern and hearing someone say "Come on, let's get him," he took a swing at Patterson. He missed and Patterson knocked him down. As he arose someone grabbed him and held him. He said that he heard someone say, "Chet was knocked out."

In her testimony, Mrs. Chester Carolton, the widow, said that as she with her husband, and Emil Mathias, father of Walter Mathias, were leaving the tavern, she saw two men in red hunting shirts start toward them. She ran back into the tavern to get an officer who was there. When she came out she saw a man a white shirt moving his arm up and down and someone struggling to get away in a group behind a truck. She said, "I heard someone say 'That wasn't the fellow you were after.'"

Albert Slade of Pontiac testified that on leaving the tavern he saw a fight in progress. Behind a parked truck he saw a man hit a person on the ground. It was Carolton apparently unconscious. Slade picked him up while his assailant disappeared in the crowd.

William Sumner, a Macomb county deputy sheriff and his brother, Donald, who were with Patterson, were questioned by Prosecuting Attorney Hertzler. Donald Sumner declared that he did not strike Carolton. When Prosecuting Attorney Hertzler asked William Sumner about burning the white shirt he had worn that evening, Sumner said, "I burned the shirt because of the publicity." He said there was blood on the sleeve which had evidently come from a bleeding ear. He said he had been clipped behind the ear. He testified that he had tried to separate Patterson and Mathias and that he did not hit Carolton or see anyone do it.

The inquest was adjourned until Monday to call additional witnesses. The members of the jury are: Eugene Hanson, C. E. Pierce, Harry Morley, Edward Burgess, William Fitzhugh and Russell Rollin.

Chester Carolton was an employee of the National Gypsum Company and the well known throughout the county. He was 53 years of age. The deceased is survived by the wife, his parents residing at Kansas City, two sisters and two brothers.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning from St. Joseph Church. Rev. Robert Neumann officiated. Interment was in St. Joseph cemetery.

Among the out of county relatives who attended the funeral were Mrs. Joseph Runchey of Cleveland and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walker and daughter of Bay City.

East Tawas Man Hit By Stray Bullet

A stray bullet from a deer hunter's rifle hit A. J. Merrill of East Tawas Monday morning.

Merrill was doing some electrical work at the Michael Oates farm near Alabaster when the accident occurred. The wound was treated by Dr. O. W. Mitton.

Miss Leona Ziehl of Bay City is spending a week at her home in this city.

Bags Spotted Albino Buck

In the above photo are Ed Martin, left and Fred Martin, right, of Kawkawlin, Michigan, who had good luck on their hunting expedition last week. Ed shot a 85 pound spikehorn spotted Albino buck three miles west of Sand Lake. Fred shot a big eight point buck, also last week, near Sand Lake.

With the 1948 deer season entering the final days, Conservation Department authorities believe the kill may be off at least 10 per cent from the 1947 estimate of 109,375 animals.

In the first days of the season, one of every four hunters crossing the Straits of Mackinac after hunting in the upper peninsula had killed his buck. A severe storm during the season's first week-end handicapped hunters, but most of those who hunt in the upper peninsula plan to remain until they get their deer, or until the season averages a kill is reported for the north half of the lower peninsula where the estimated kill in the 1947 season was 67,128.

Downstate counties opened this season to deer hunting with shot-guns and buckshot loads may produce a kill in excess of 300 animals.

Tawas City Boy to Enter Naval Music School

William Severer of the city successfully passed the examination at the U. S. Navy School of Music at Washington, D. C., on November 18 and was transferred to the U. S. Naval Training Center at Great Lakes. Upon completion of his training there he will return to the U. S. Naval School of Music. He passed the examinations with fine marks.

Dan Henry, Commander U. S. Naval Reserve, in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Severer said "May I congratulate you for your son and assure you that the Navy is to glad to welcome him aboard. Throughout his career in the Navy he will live by the highest standards and his character will be continuously strengthened by his associations in the service."

Herbert J. Kobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kobs of this city, who recently enlisted in the Navy is now at US Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois. His brother, Donald, also in the Navy, is expected home next week on a 30-day leave. He has been in Naval service one year.

Benefit Party Planned for Hospital Fund

The Tawas Hospital Association is planning a big Benefit party to be held Tuesday evening, December 21. Watch for further announcements.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our appreciation to our neighbors and friends for all their kindness in our bereavement.

The Wellna Family.

Mrs. Mary Wellna

Mrs. Mary Wellna, aged 80, a resident of Tawas for nearly fifty years, died Thursday, November 20, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Agnes Erard of Detroit. Mrs. Wellna had made her home with her son, Leo, at the family home in Tawas Township.

The former Mary Ann Averdnt was born September 17, 1868, in Skitz, Germany. She was married to Alex Wellan in 1891, and came to the family homestead in Tawas Township early in 1900.

Surviving are her brother, John Averdnt of Alpena and her sister, Mrs. Belle Chestler of Tawas; four daughters: Mrs. Agnes Erard, Mrs. Martha Halock, and Mrs. Frances Bay of Detroit, Mrs. Elizabeth Harwood of Ferndale, also five sons, Martin of Dearborn, Stephen and Edward of Detroit, John of Alabaster and Leo of Tawas. Twenty-two grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at St. Joseph's church following prayers at the Jacques Funeral Home. Interment was made in St. Joseph Cemetery.

Mrs. Earl Herriman

Mrs. Earl Herriman passed away at her home Wednesday morning after several weeks illness. Funeral services will be held Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jerry Whitney of Sand Lake road at 1:00 and funeral services at the Hemlock Road Baptist church at 1:30. Rev. Frank Turner of the Baptist church will officiate. Obituary next week.

Aged Whittemore Man Dead

Services for Joel Chipps Held Monday

Funeral services for Joel Chipps, 80, long-time resident of Whittemore, and a retired farmer, were held Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the Whittemore Methodist church. The Rev. Rolland Brooks officiated and burial was in the Latter Day Saints church cemetery there.

Mr. Chipps died Thursday at his home following a month's illness from a heart ailment.

Born November 16, 1868, he married the former Miss Lucinda Morin, of Whittemore, in Tawas City August 1888. With his wife he had celebrated the 60th anniversary of their marriage this year.

Surviving are his widow, three sons, William, of Detroit, Norman and Dornis, both of Whittemore; five daughters, Mrs. Ralph Jennings of Bay City, Mrs. Vernon French, of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, Mrs. Herbert Currie, of Detroit, Mrs. Clayton Pipes, of Whittemore and Mrs. Charles Trombley, of Detroit; 35 grandchildren; and 15 great grandchildren.

AN APOLOGY

Last week in the list of Tawas Herald prize winners in the contest for reporting first deer shot on the opening morning of deer season, the name of Con Detrich was accidentally omitted, much to our discomfiture and embarrassment when called to our attention later. We wish to apologize for the error.

In Our COUNTY BUILDING

Drawing of the Jury for the term of Circuit Court which opens December 7th was made this week at the office of the County Clerk. Inquiry has been made several times at the County Clerk's office regarding the manner of selection of jurors for the Circuit Court. The following information may prove interesting.

The first step in which selection is taken at the time when the Board of Review meets in the township or city. It is the duty of the Supervisor and Clerk of each township and the Supervisor or Assessor and the alderman of each ward in each city, to make a list of persons to serve as such jurors for the ensuing year. These persons must, of course, be properly qualified and suitable persons, who are Citizens, and whose names appear upon the tax roll. Any person who has made application to serve as a juror cannot be placed on the panel. At least one person for each one hundred inhabitants of the township or ward must be listed.

When these names are received by the County Clerk with whom they must be filed, it is his duty to write the names each on a separate piece of paper or small cards, each of the same size and appearance. All such slips of paper or cards for each township and ward must be placed in a separate envelope or package.

Fourteen days before the date for holding of circuit court it is the duty of the Clerk to draw from such envelopes or packages the names of at least 24 persons to serve at such term of court. The drawings must be witnessed by the Sheriff and at least one justice of the peace, who shall have been previously notified of such drawing. Such names are drawn consecutively from the township and ward envelopes or packages so that the jury will be representative of the county as a whole.

It is the duty of the Sheriff to notify the persons whose names are drawn of the date when they are to appear for duty on the jury.

All persons whose names are drawn must serve unless excused from such service by the Circuit Judge.

Rural School Officers: Regarding TUITION

You have by now, received your tuition bill from any school which now enrolls any of your children as students. We wish to draw your attention to the facts pertaining to this tuition charge so that you will follow the law in this matter.

1st—All children must have been enrolled by the receiving school on November 1st, 1948. You are positively NOT to pay any tuition on students who dropped out before Nov. 1st, nor do you pay tuition for any children who enroll after November 1st. Again, pay only for those who were enrolled in the receiving school on November 1st.

2nd—All tuition must be paid before February 1st to be eligible to receive any allowance on state aid and allowance will be made up to $50.00 per pupil.

3rd—Any school district which does not assess a 4-mill school tax is not eligible for any state aid of any kind.

Elks Defeat Sterling In Opening Game

Tawas City Will Play Mio December 7; East Tawas December 10

Coach Mark Defibaugh's Elks made a clean sweep over Sterling Tuesday night in the season opener at the local auditorium, when the Varsity squad came out on the long end of a 38 to 27 score over the Hawks and the Reserve squad winning from the Arenac lads 34 to 22.

The Elks, in their new Maroon and White uniforms and jackets took a 12 to 9 lead in the first quarter from the Hawks only to lose it a few times during the second period. At the half the score stood 19 to 15 with Tawas High on top. In the third quarter the Tawas City boys piled up eleven more points while holding down the opposition to five tallies. In the last quarter the Elks again out-scored the Hawks 8 to 7.

Big guns in the scoring column were Don Westcott and Barry McGuire, who garnered 19 and 13 points respectively. Bruce Myles, Herb Look and Doug MacDonald, while not tallying as many points as their team mates, held down the Hawks with their fine defensive work. Two new boys are regulars this year. Barry McGuire, who was on last year's reserve team and Doug MacDonald who was substitute guard last year on the varsity. Other new faces on the Elks this year are Herriman, Gingerich and Lasky, all from last year's reserve subs, from last year's Varsity squad.

The above mentioned team got into the game in the last quarter, and while not making too many points put up a good defensive fight against the Sterling lads.

Reserves Win Opener from Little Hawks

The Tawas City reserve squad shellacked the Sterling second team 34 to 22. This scrappy bunch, comprised of mostly Freshmen Sophomores, started off the game by holding a 8 to 2 lead at the first quarter. They garnered six more points in the second period, while the Sterling Reserves crept up one point by dropping in seven. In the third quarter the Tawas lads sunk eight points to Sterling's five. They sewed up the old ball game in the last quarter when they tallied 12 points while holding Sterling to eight.

The members on this year's Reserve squad are: Grack, 12 points; Del Myles, 9; Phillips, 4; Herriman, 3; Bronson, Trask, Koepke each made two points. Leslie, Dockter, N. Westcott, Brown and Toms.

The next scheduled game will be with Mio, there December 7. December 10, the teams will meet East Tawas, there.

Young Women's League

A meeting of the Young Women's League was held Monday night at the club rooms. The Christmas dance, which is informal and open to the public, will be held at the Roller Drome on December 17.

The YWL voted to organize and sponsor a Juniority Club in the Tawas. Appointed by Mrs. Sophie Barkman, President, to serve on this committee are Mrs. Olive Barnett, chairman, Mrs. Lutie O'Loughlin and Kennetha Barnes.

"The Gay Nineties" is the name of the production which has been selected by the YWL for presentation near the end of February. Mrs. Marion Bontokoe is now working on the selection of a cast. Members who wish to take part are requested to contact Mrs. Bontokoe.

Mrs. Leontine Filipiak introduced Mrs. A. E. Giddings who presented an interesting review of the book, "Tomorrow will be Better," by Betty Smith, author of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn." Mrs. Giddings gave her listeners a keen insight into the every-day lives and events of the Shannons, a typical tenement family of Brooklyn, and in particular the experiences of daughter, Mary Shannon, heroine of the story, and her husband. "It is a commonplace story of commonplace people, warm and real in human relationship," stated Mrs. Giddings. Many who heard her review will now want to read the book.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Ruth Oates, Mrs. Margaret Keiser, Mrs. Lee Cater and Mrs. Dorothy Gould.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

The family of the late Mrs. Katherine Dehnke hereby express their appreciation for all the expressions of sympathy and helpful courtesies extended to us in connection with our bereavement.

Sincerely,
Her children and grandchildren

Sponsors Window Display Contest

Winter Sports Council Offers $750 in Prizes

The East Michigan Winter Sports Council will again sponsor a "Winter Sports" window display contest during the month of January, open to stores and shops throughout Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Michigan. Equal cash prizes, totaling $750.00 will go to winners of the contest, which will be divided into two groups: Group A, for stores in cities with a population of over 25,000; Class B, for stores in cities having a population of 25,000 or less. This method was decided upon to encourage small-town stores to compete on an even basis with stores in larger cities staffed with expert display men.

Theme for the window display will be "Winter Fun in Eastern and Central Michigan" and any store handling hunting, fishing, winter sports equipment and apparel, will be eligible to compete.

The contest, which runs through the entire month of January, will be judged by members of the editorial staff of Display World, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Closing date for entries is midnight, February 9, 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Murray and son, Luke, Jr., and wife of Columbus, Ohio, returned Friday to their homes after several days visit here with relatives and hunting.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

New Crisis Appears in Germany As Russ Threaten Berlin Airlift; Rent Control Extension Proposed

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

AIRLIFT: New Crisis

Morally defeated in their efforts to make good the blockade of Berlin, the Soviets were brewing up a new batch of trouble to keep American planes out of the skies over the German capital.

The Russian military administration in Berlin charged that foreign planes had flown illegally over the Soviet zone of Germany and threatened to force such planes down if it ever happened again.

IT HAD all the earmarks of a desperate, last-ditch attempt to keep the U. S. airlift from succeeding in its mission of supplying food and fuel to Germans inside the blockaded zones.

But American officials weren't having any of it. In a brittle reply to the Soviet letter, Brig. Gen. C. K. Gailey stated that if any Americans were injured as a result of a plane's being forced down the full responsibility would rest on Soviet shoulders.

THE RUSSIAN letter, received from Lt. Gen. G. S. Lukyanenko, chief of staff of the Soviet military administration, asserted that "foreign aircraft not bearing identification marks of nationality" had flown over Soviet territory both within and without the international air corridors.

His missive concluded with a flat, two-point threat of Red intentions in the future:

1. SOVIET air patrols would force down all unidentified aircraft over the Soviet zone.

2. SOVIET air patrols would force down all foreign aircraft appearing over the Soviet zone outside the limits of the air corridors and greater Berlin.

The incident was tabbed as "the latest crisis in the Berlin situation, but in comparison to the other crises that have come and gone this one appeared to be little more than a tempest in a teapot. It seemed to convey the impression that the Russians were losing their grip—that they couldn't even foment a real, hot crisis any more.

Not that the affair was to be taken lightly. In an atmosphere charged with hostility it wouldn't take much more than the intentional destruction of one American plane to touch off a serious conflict.

CONTROL: On Rents

One of the promises that President Truman made to the people during his campaign tour was that he would secure an extension of rent controls.

And scarcely had the startling election day passed before a concerted rent control effort was being brought under way by the Democrats. Rent Director Tighe E. Woods announced that he would ask the new congress not only to extend but to strengthen the present rent control law.

HE SAID he would ask congress to extend the rent law for 12 months past its present expiration date, March 31, and to close what he considers three big loopholes in the present act.

"The shortage of rental housing is more serious today, especially in the smaller communities, than it was a year ago," he declared.

In addition to extending and buttressing the present law, Woods indicated that he probably would propose that congress give him new authority to restore controls, or impose them for the first time, in areas that may be boomed by new defense activity.

These are the changes he will ask:

1. EVICTION CONTROLS—Restore federal control over evictions. Now evictions are left to local courts. The result, Woods said, is a serious black market in rents.

2. TREBLE DAMAGES—Give the rent director power to sue rent violators for three times their overcharge. Now only the tenant can bring such suits. This means that landlords usually get off with simple repayment of the overcharge.

3. CRIMINAL SANCTIONS—Provide jail terms and fines for convicted violators. This would give the rent director a weapon to back up his orders.

Woods was confident that the new Democratic congress would receive his proposals cordially, and most sources on Capitol Hill confirmed that belief.

POLLING THE VOTES

Strides Made in Production of Electricity

While the output of electricity has more than doubled in the past eight years and has been rising to new record heights for each successive month, the unit cost to consumers is less than before the war.

In a recapitulation of strides made by the industry, an article in the November issue of "Business Comment," bulletin of the Northern Trust company, states that power production during the first nine months of 1948 was about 11 per cent above the corresponding period in 1947. Output in 1947 was 15 per cent above 1946.

The electric power industry now serves more than 40 million customers, contrasted with 29.1 million customers as of December 31, 1939, an increase of more than one-third.

LUCIUS CLOBB On Election Polls

Lucius Clobb, elder statesman and political pollster of Pauboo county, wore a strained expression as he opened the frosted glass and chicken wire door of Mayor Ryerson Bucket's office.

"Mornin' and a variety of congratulations, Rye," said he. "Mighty glad to see you overhauled in the same old hole in that chair seat. That upstart Clem Gropper that the opposition put up as a candidate agin you run a poor race, didn't he?"

"You mean," snapped Rye Bucket, "the upstart that you were running around the county winding your horn would win the election hands down? You and your scientific barber poll. Ha! The mayor snorted stridently.

"Now, Rye," said Mister Clobb with some dignity, "you shouldn't talk like that. I voted for you. Or I would've if I hadn't sneezed in the voting booth and blew out the candle so I couldn't see where I was making an X. Turned out that I didn't get an X in any one of those damned circles about your (yuk) barber poll!" yukked the mayor.

"Well, now that was what I thought was a genuine scientific poll from which I thought sure I could predict the outcome of the election. I was so blinded objective that I didn't ask nobody nobin'."

"Then bow in the name o' Harry could you get any opinions?"

Mister Clobb combed his whiskers reflectively. "That's why I called it a barber poll," he said. "Day after day I sat in Ebenezer Swack's barber shop and watched people get haircuts. I figured I had a system."

"When a man come in and said to Eb, 'Clippers all around, Eb,' I figured him for a Demmycrat. And anybody who come in and asked to have the sideburns left on—well, that could be be but a Republican? I thought they'd vote accordin' to their haircuts."

"Beauty of the system was that it didn't involve no subtle unknown quantities like the quick sibilin' of a man's opinion or the deep currents that flow beneath a man's conscious thinkin'."

"Yeah, a beautiful system, Mr. Clobb," sighed the mayor in a more kindly tone. "I'm kinda sorry it didn't work out right."

"Thanks, Rye," murmured the elder statesman, and his whiskers twitched. "It was beautiful. A beautiful system."

INDICTED: Thomas

Red-fighting Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R., N. Y.), chairman of the house un-American activities committee, was in hot water, and it was making his neck as red as the political complexion of any Communist he had ever pointed a finger at.

AFTER two months of ominous rumblings to the effect that something dire was in store for the GOP congressman who had caused the administration so much trouble by shouting that the government was employing Communists, the news broke: Thomas was charged by a federal grand jury of conspiring to pad the payroll of his congressional office.

The indictment accused Thomas and his former secretary, Miss Helen Campbell, of conspiring to maintain fictitious employees in Thomas' office so the salaries paid to these persons could be diverted into Thomas' bank account.

At his Allendale, N. J., home, Thomas growled, "I have nothing to say at this moment." But he would have an opportunity to speak when his trial got under way, probably in January.

Meanwhile, it appeared certain that the spectacular Communist spy investigation which held the national spotlight last summer now was deadlier than a month-old red herring.

Miss Helen Campbell, ex-secretary to Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R., N. J.), is involved with the congressman in a federal grand jury indictment on charges that he "induced" her and another employee to "kick back" their salaries to him.

Woman of the Year

For "eminent achievement" in the field of commerce and industry, 70-year-old Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth (right) was honored by the American Woman's association as the nation's "Woman of the Year." Mrs. Fanny S. Sweeney presents the award. Dr. Gilbreth is the mother of 12 children and grandmother of 18.

CHINA WAR: Panic

In Nanking, Peiping, Shanghai and other terrorized cities along the China coast the words on the lips of all foreigners was "when will the Communists come?"

And the Chinese themselves, torn with indecision, doubts and mob violence, were wondering the same thing.

"FOOD RIOTS and strikes flared in Hankow, Shanghai and Nanking. Undisciplined throngs roamed the streets. People were trampled to death or injured. Police fired on the rioters. The evacuation of Americans from China was being carried out hastily but efficiently.

In north central China the position of the Nationalist forces was growing worse hourly. Suchow and Pengpu were reported virtually isolated by Communists. The Yangtze river was feared open to a Red crossing that would expose Nanking.

THE WHOLE economic structure of the Chiang Kai-shek government appeared to be crumbling and sliding into a Red ruin in the wild melee along coastal China. Value of the gold yuan plummeted downward.

The question was not only, "when are the Communists coming?" but "how long will the central Chinese government last?"

This appeared to be the great, all-consuming crisis in Chiang Kai-shek's decade-long struggle to maintain a spark of life in the Chinese republic. But the cold, smothering wind of Communism was blowing strong.

RED TROOPS had taken control of Manchukuo, former National stronghold in the North, and that victory appeared to be the key which the Communists could use to sweep down into the vital areas of China itself.

For Chiang and his woefully weak Nationalist government the past 12 years had been nothing but an agonizing battle against imperialism—from the Japanese Fascistic brand beginning in 1937 to the Communist type which presents the current peril.

REBUILT: By Stassen?

In the clear, bitter post-election light the Republican party turned upon itself in a fury of self-examination and didn't like what it saw.

MOST OF the top-level influential party members wanted to see some changes made, and most of them seemed to think that Harold E. Stassen was the man to make them.

As a result, the former governor of Minnesota, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, may be assigned the job of rebuilding the GOP for the 1952 presidential campaign.

STILL licking their wounds, GOP leaders were urging the youthful Stassen to lead a movement to shape the party along more liberal lines. Those party liberals were planning to meet with Stassen for a "brass tacks" discussion of a party reconstruction.

Stassen was refusing to comment on the reports that he might step in as general contractor for the reconstruction job, but it was a known fact that he was being swamped with requests, many of them from Republican bigwigs, to undertake the task.

"I THINK the situation calls for some reflection," was the only comment the man who had been defeated by Governor Dewey for the GOP presidential nomination would make.

One of Stassen's promises when he dropped out of the presidential nomination fight at Philadelphia last June was to work toward strengthening "the liberal viewpoint within the party."

MILLIONS DEAD: Legally Now

The United Nations has made public a projected world convention for declaring dead the millions of refugees, soldiers and other persons who disappeared between 1939 and 1945 under circumstances suggesting "death as a consequence of events of war, of racial, religious, political or national persecution."

It is aimed to solve such problems as inheritances, adoption of children and remarriages.

U. S. Survey Reveals Continued Prosperity For Farm Families

WASHINGTON.—The department of agriculture predicted continuing improvements for rural family living due to increased incomes of recent years.

Reporting for the first time on the outlook in different parts of the country, the department noted among farm families:

In the Midwest—Savings high, bonds not cashed generally; new auto purchases slow, enough liquid assets for home improvements.

In the South—A far greater variety of foods being consumed at the farm table than 12 years ago; also more prepared foods used.

In the West—Except for fruit raisers, incomes high, prospects for continuing high incomes good because of increasing population, home improvements widespread.

Ruth C. Freeman, University of Illinois specialist in home accounts, who made the Midwest study, said that rural family living has been "greatly enhanced" in recent years.

"The opportunity for choice in connection with family living purchases has given the homemaker a different outlook on life," she said.

"A feeling of security has been developed through the family's accumulated savings, payment of debts, and prospect of some stability of income through farm price supports."

In 1947 a typical farm family spent two and a half times as much as they did the year before on household equipment, the most commonly purchased items being vacuum cleaners, washing machines, stoves, refrigerators, and home freezer lockers.

The U. S. Vice Presidency Called an 'Unimportant' Job

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON.—Just what are the thoughts of a vice president of the United States between the time of his election and the time he walks in and makes his opening address to the United States senate?

"There can be great judges, great governors, great senators, great representatives and great presidents. A vice president may move into the presidency and be a great President. A great man may be vice president, but he can't be a great vice president, because the office in itself is unimportant. In my judgment, the four most potent offices in the nation are: The President, the speaker of the house, the majority leader of the senate, and the chief justice of the United States."

These were the remarks of former Vice President Garner as quoted by Bascom Timmons in his book, "Garner of Texas."

When "Cactus Jack" gave up the speakership of the house to accept the vice presidential nomination he called the office "a no-man's land somewhere between the legislative and the executive branch."

I don't know whether Mr. Garner was any more reluctant to accept the vice presidential nomination than was Alben Barkley. Or than Governor Warren was, in accepting the Republican vice presidential nomination, for that matter. Warren, in particular, put up a lot of sales resistance. Dewey during the night after his own nomination, conferred with party leaders and came up with Warren's name for the vice presidency.

Warren at first refused, but accepted after Dewey promised to give him cabinet status and administrative duties, if elected. As Dewey put it, he wanted Warren to have a "full partnership" in helping to run the government.

Party loyalty was Alben Barkley's reason for accepting the job. He has been a hard worker in politics for 43 years. As senate Democratic leader for the past 11 years, he has faithfully steered administration programs through the upper house. Until the GOP captured the senate in 1946, his power and prestige were immense.

He probably will be asked to attend cabinet meetings as former Vice President Garner was asked by Roosevelt. Before Garner accepted, he made an agreement covering three things:

"In the first place, in order to serve the President and the country in that capacity, I did not feel I should make a public statement. I also suggested that we agree during my term in the vice presidency and association in the cabinet that I would not make any recommendation for public office unless I was asked for a recommendation.

"The third part of the agreement was that I would not make any recommendation as to national policy unless I was asked."

Garner Didn't Get Far Out of Touch

When Garner heard Mr. Dewey's statement regarding his conception of his running mate if he were elected, the sage of Uvalde said something to the effect that most of the time when he was vice president he was so worried that the Republican senators would put something over on him in case of a tie vote that he never dared to get more than a block away from the Capitol steps.

While it is quite true that the vice president is a member of the executive branch of the government, his chief function is presiding over the senate and casting a vote like any other member of the upper house in case of a tie.

If he were too closely associated with the executive branch of the government he might fail in his really important role, that of rallying support for administration measures in his own party and doing what he can to keep the majority party as favorably inclined to the White House as possible.

Most vice presidents with a sense of humor have been careful not to take themselves too seriously. Vice President Marshall (under Wilson) made a considerable contribution to the climate of Washington by indulging in wisecracks and offering a sharp contrast to Wilson's less frivolous utterances.

Mr. Garner took a somewhat similar line when he said at the end of his first term: "The job is delightful. I like it. But it is entirely unimportant."

Boy Has 17 Years to Pay Fine for Smashing Window

BURY, ENGLAND.—Four-year-old Stephen Jones has 17 years to save up three dollars to pay a judgment.

The obligation grew out of an incident involving a stone about the size of a peach and the glass frame of a greenhouse. The county court held Stephen and the stone were responsible for a smashed pane of glass.

Then the law took a curious twist. The action, it was held, was against Stephen, not his father. And the judgment was against Stephen. But a judgment cannot be collected from a legal infant, so the greenhouse man has to wait until the boy is 21 before he can collect.

'Worst' Reckless Driver Ends Wild Spree in Jail Cell

WICHITA, KANS.—Fining the motorist $600 and sentencing him to five months in jail, Judge Roy Rogers said the case was the "worst instance of reckless driving" ever brought to his attention.

Joseph D. Rosario Jr., 30, drew the penalties for:

Speeding 80 miles an hour at night through heavy downtown traffic in a 20-mile zone; running 12 traffic lights; driving without a license; reckless driving; driving without lights; driving on the wrong side of the street; possessing liquor in violation of Kansas dry laws and resisting arrest.

The wild chase, with two motorcycle officers in pursuit, ended with Rosario's car smashing to a stop in a clump of shrubbery.

He wasn't hurt.

REAL CAMPAIGN HEROES

The real standouts for real courage, strength of purpose and endurance in the presidential campaign were not Thomas E. Dewey or Harry S. Truman.

They were Mrs. Dewey, Mrs. Truman and Margaret Truman. What the women folks of a presidential candidate had to endure amounted to "heroism" beyond the call of duty, and there should be a medal for it. Nobody got knocked around on the altars of patriotism more than these girls.

There was the great burden of having to smile, to laugh, to seem unruffled and happy when everybody knows that no woman gets a kick out of rattling around railroad yards day after day and night after night and to what purpose? To hear their OWN husbands talk!

How things went to pot around the house! How the dust accumulated! How the dirt piled up behind the doors! And the mixup over the laundry! The milk that wasn't stopped! The things that happened to Fido!

Mrs. Truman, Margaret and Mrs. Dewey "seen their duty and they done it." They seemed pleased, calm and cooperative. No photo showed a frown on their faces, which is more than could be said for their husbands. They conveyed the idea, "How wonderful that fate has cast me in this glorious role!" But what they really were thinking was, "If this cockeyed ordeal goes on one more hour I'll scream," and, "If the old man drags me onto another platform I'll come out against him myself!"

Their thoughts if recorded might have run like this: "Another terrible day of it! . . . How long does this sort of thing go on? . . . Suppose a man does get to be President of the United States, what does his wife get? . . . Indigestion! Circles under her eyes! A loathing for railroad trains and cracked hotel mirrors!

"From log cabin to White House . . . That's what a man likes to dream of. . . . But the trip the wife has to make! . . . From home comforts and regular meals to switchyard blues, screwball cooking and hurriedly applied mascara! . . . I want to confess something. . . . Everytime I heard my old man begin a speech with 'I am very happy to be here tonight,' I could have hit him with a chair! . . . That isn't what he told me after we got back on the train!

"If I don't see another motorcycle policeman in 10 years it will be wonderful! . . . I developed a phobia against train schedules, ice-water coolers, porters, conductors, auto cavalcades and the rattle of manuscripts. . . . And that husband of mine left out the one campaign promise I wanted. . . . A pledge to get a law against cold toast, awful coffee and defective Pullman plumbing!

"Thank heaven it's over. . . . Now I can get into a house-wraper, disconnect the door bell, yawn when I wish, and call up the neighbors and ask how all the radio soap operas came out in my absence.

Yoo Hoo, Eric!
"Moments of suspense as a beautiful girl stares into his bestial eyes! . . . Moments of excitement as a killer realizes the enormity of his crime! 'You're everything that is bad but I never loved a man like this before,' she says. Don't miss 'Kiss the Blood Off My Hands.'" — From the announcement of a new movie.

Where do people get the idea that juvenile delinquency is in any way aided by the movies?
Joe Stalin now comes out with a statement that the rest of the world is desperately trying to bring on another global war but that he will oppose it to his last doubletalk.

Joe says that the trouble is that other nations BREAK THEIR AGREEMENTS! Take it from there, Vishinsky!

We liked the reply a sweepstakes winner says his wife made when he woke up early and told his wife he had just dreamed his horse had finished second. "Aw go back to sleep and dream him in first," she replied.

NAVAL MANEUVERS . . . U. S. naval maneuvers in the North Atlantic included simulated amphibious attacks on Newfoundland's grim and rocky shores by units of the marines clad in special arctic assault gear. Here is the initial phase of a tactical exercise. As a mortar group hits the dirt under the watchful eye of a naval helicopter, the supporting naval vessel maintains a simulated covering fire, theoretically against a heavily defended air base occupied by a major world power. The exercises were the most extensive held since World War II.

SOVIET RECEPTION . . . Russian Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin is all smiles as he greets U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark and Mrs. Clark on their arrival at the Soviet embassy for the reception commemorating the 31st anniversary of the Russian revolution. It was a brilliant affair, featured by the most unproletarian chow. Other important U. S. figures who attended included Henry Wallace, the nation's leading disciple of a soft policy towards Russia, and Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the American bureau of standards.

ISRAELI BOMBS . . . This photo, released by the Israeli government, shows the Israeli air force bombing Gaza, seat of the Egyptian-sponsored Arab government for Palestine. Direct hits are being scored on the Gaza marshalling yards where military stores were destroyed. Many of the Israeli pilots have seen service during World War II in the air forces of allied countries. Since this photo was made, the United Nations has succeeded in stopping much of the firing and bombings, although battle still flares from time to time.

END OF A "BUZZ" . . . Minutes before this dramatic picture was taken, the plane in which Harold Salvino, 21, and Richard Runge, 19, were flying, plunged to earth with their north of Miami, Fla. Both men were critically injured. Runge told police that Salvino, the pilot, lost control of the tiny sport plane when they were buzzing the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Runge, Richard's parents. The motor of the ship conked out and they struck the earth—as shown—a short distance from the Runge home. The ship is a total wreck.

MIRROR of your MIND Bad Taste Questions
By Lawrence Gould

Are "personal questions" in bad taste?

Answer: I was brought up to believe so, and I've learned since that they defeat their own purpose. Trying to pry information out of people which they do not want to give you not only antagonizes them, but makes sure they'll tell you just as little as they possibly can. On the other side, most people want to talk about themselves and will seize the first opportunity to do so if they do not feel you have an axe to grind in listening to them. The less curious you seem, the more you'll find out by what psychiatrists call the "passive technique."

cent when the letters contained slugs the size of a 50-cent piece. I wonder whether more people might not have been honest if the amount had been larger. A sum which is "no real loss" has a special appeal to the wish to get something for nothing.

Can a child be spoon-fed too soon?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. C. Anderson Aldrich, professor of pediatrics of the Mayo Foundation. He cites this as characteristic of how we "expect young children to behave in ways for which they are not ready," since often the muscles of the lips and tongue have not been properly developed at the time we ask a child to adopt this new way of eating. "Premature attempts to train children in bowel and bladder control" may be still worse. Because they can't meet our demands, "children become confused, resistant and subject to emotional storms."

Are most people honest in small matters?

Answer: Rather more than half are, report a group of psychologists who dropped postal cards or stamped and addressed letters on the sidewalks of several cities. Eighty-five per cent of simple letters were mailed by the finders, but the figure dropped to 54 per

Weak Heart Can Rest Too Much
By Dr. James W. Barton

WE ARE hearing and reading so much about coronary thrombosis (occlusion) that we may forget about the old-fashioned disease known as congestive heart failure, in which the heart muscle itself has become weak and is unable to pump sufficient blood for the patient's needs.

While a leaking valve may be putting extra work on the heart muscle because it has to pump some blood twice, most cases are caused by infection which not only damages the lining of the heart and valves but also weakens the heart muscle itself.

When the heart muscle begins to fail and congestion occurs, there will be swollen ankles, breathlessness, enlargement of the liver and general weakness. Because of these symptoms and because the patient is more comfortable while at rest, he is not inclined to be on his feet or do any walking.

Should the patient with chronic congestion of the heart rest "all" the time?

HEALTH NOTES

While everybody has a light layer of fat under his skin, the overweight has a thick layer of fat there. This means that the heat manufactured in the body cannot easily get to the surface to be thrown off.

The use of drugs is not a safe method of reducing and should not be used except under a physician's guidance.

Pay Heed To Highway Signs And 'Stick Around' Awhile

Signs and signals are among the biggest helps to safe driving, the National Safety Council says. "They give drivers warning of the dangers that lie ahead. But they are worthless unless seen and obeyed. The safe driver will follow these signposts:

1. Give signs, signals and markings the same respect you would a traffic officer. Here's one place you may lose if you cheat.
2. Reduce speed and be on guard when you see a diamond-shaped sign (this shape carries a warning) or a round sign (this signifies a railroad crossing is ahead).
3. Come to a complete stop at an eight-sided or octagonal sign. This shape means only one thing—stop!
4. Know what an oblong sign says. This shape carries regulatory messages such as speed limit.
5. Heed the cross-buck sign at railroad crossings. If there is a flasher or wig-wag, wait until it stops operating before crossing. There may be another train you can't see.
6. Watch for the signs of life even on familiar roads. Three-fourths of the drivers in fatal accidents lived within 25 miles of where the accident took place.

THE NEW JEEPSTER is Willys-Overland's latest—a distinctive sports phaeton with fleet performance that makes each trip a driving thrill. The Jeepster weighs less than any other standard-size car . . . rolls up record-breaking gas mileage . . . rides with road-hugging smoothness.

WILLYS-OVERLAND BLAZES THE TRAIL WITH SEVEN PIONEERING CARS AND TRUCKS

THE 'JEEP' STATION SEDAN is a perfect family car, with the luxury and comfort of a sedan plus the spaciousness of its all-steel station-wagon body.

THE JEEP' PANEL DELIVERY offers smart appearance together with low operating costs, thanks to low weight and the 'Jeep' Engine.

4-WHEEL-DRIVE 'JEEP' TRUCKS

outperform conventional trucks on cross-country hauling, extreme grades, through mud, sand and snow. 'Jeep' trucks, both 2- and 4-wheel drive, cut hauling costs through long service and low operating and maintenance costs.

The first station wagon with all-steel body and top—the 'Jeep' Station Wagon—showed the way to wider practical usefulness and greater safety.

The 4-wheel-drive 'Jeep' Truck is the first volume-produced vehicle of its kind—designed for off-road duty, for tough grades and bad roads.

The 'Universal 'Jeep' is the first all-purpose farm vehicle built for use both in tractor work and for hauling or towing at highway speeds.

The new Jeepster is America's lowest-weight standard-size car—distinctive in appearance, far ahead in economy.

The 'Jeep' Station Sedan is an entirely new type of car, combining sedan comfort with station-wagon spaciousness.

This pioneering by Willys-Overland—fitting cars and trucks to actual needs—has brought world-wide success to these more useful, more economical vehicles. We invite you to see how fully Willys-Overland's postwar products meet your transportation and hauling needs.

THE 'JEEP' STATION WAGON with all-steel body and top, is dual-purpose—a smooth-riding passenger car and a practical vehicle for hauling.

THE UNIVERSAL 'JEEP' is America's most versatile vehicle for farm and industry, serving as tractor, mobile power unit and for hauling.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Care of the Aged

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

FRANCES CARSON of Seattle writes me a variation of an age-old problem. This is a part of her letter.

"Seven years ago, when my husband's mother died, we moved into the old family home with his father, saving ourselves a high rent and giving our three children welcome space and a garden to play in. Frank's father was then 60. He never had been a good husband or a good father.

Everything about the house was run down and there were many bills—over $2,000 in all. Old Mr. Carson had had a slight stroke. When he had done anything at all, he had been a chemist and used the entire third floor of four rooms and bath as his laboratory.

"For more than five years I took care of the house, my father-in-law, three boys and finally a baby girl. Frank and I cleared up bills by plenty of sacrifice and hard work.

"All this time, Gramp, as the children call him, was an irritable and trying burden. His breakfast had to be carried upstairs to him and he wanted his dinner at four, believing in eating only two meals a day. He was very ugly with the children and they avoided his company. That laboratory upstairs was a constant menace.

Has Second Stroke.

"A year ago Gramp had a second slight stroke. Giving him the impression that it was merely for observation, we got him into a home. We have left him there. Twice he has taken taxis and come home and twice Frank and Billy, one of the other brothers, have taken him back. It has made us sick with compunction and worry, but we have been firm.

"... after all, he is old..."

"Meanwhile," Frances' letter goes on, "I have put the top floor in spick-and-span order and rented it furnished for a sum that wonderfully helps out our crowded budget. If Gramp came back, there would be no other place to put him, I'd lose my rent and have to let him once more reduce the top floor to confusion and disorder.

"But meanwhile, also, our friends have taken it upon themselves to plead Gramp's case. After all, he is partially disabled. After all, he is old. Can't we, they argue, put up with a little extra work and inconvenience for the sake of an old man who was once rich and prominent? Even our minister has spoken gently and gravely to both Frank and me.

"These good friends, of course, can't see the daily weariness and strain of it," Frances concludes her letter. "Mine are fine boys, but constant criticism and nagging upset their nerves, as they do mine.

Sons Had to Work.

"Incidentally, not one of the sons finished high school, for they all had to work in their middle teens. Their father often was absent from home for long periods. They feel no resentment, they want him to be comfortable. But they don't want him around. Does this sound utterly wrong and heartless?"

Your father-in-law is reaping what he has sowed. He is physically cared for, well fed and comfortable. Your own household goes on more smoothly and happily without that additional burden. With four children, a garden, tenants, meals and housework, you have plenty to do. Rise above the maddening interference of your friends, to whom Gramp evidently is making an appeal. If you can get your doctor to say that Gramp is far better off where he is, keeping to meal hours and controlled by the routine of an institution, by all means do so—it will give you a usable weapon.

But whether you get that or not, assume a firm attitude, saying to everyone with mild sympathetic amusement that poor Gramp would not be happy anyway and is really an institution case now. Let it go at that.

Navajo Couple Have Trouble Getting a Marriage License

GALLUP, N. M.—Two young Navajo Indians sought a marriage license from the county clerk.

It took quite a while, because the office was jammed with voters waiting to register.

Finally they got their slip of paper and went off to the minister.

He had to send them back. Their "license" turned out to be a carbon copy of their voting registration blanks.

Period Gown

Cotton velveteen is used in this formal which reflects old world beauty. Designed by Celia Phillips, the neckline is cut low in front and has a decollete effect. The tiny waistline is high in front and dips low in back for a bustle silhouette.

this season. It's being used, to warm effect, not only for skirts that can be treated as I've just explained with jersey, but also in lovely dresses.

Velveteen is too heavy to drape like the softer fabrics, but it makes lovely full skirts when gored because it's heavy enough to stand out beautifully.

High collars, interesting button treatments, long sleeves and other trends can be observed in the new velveteen dresses being seen right at the moment.

When Going to a Party Wear Faille or Taffeta

For the young in figure, the classic style in tissue faille or taffeta uses a full, long skirt, a slim top that buttons to the waist with preferably a portrait collar or a rolled collar and short, simple sleeves with little shoulder padding.

Any variations of this style, of course, will be fashion-wise just so the silhouette conforms with those now being seen.

Satin and brocade are what we call party materials, and these, too, are very popular because they have so much "swish" and give a luxurious feeling.

Satins have come out in beautiful muted colors so they are worn to great advantage by the mature woman. However, they're not confined to the older set. The well-draped satins which show good figures to advantage are being worn by younger women, too.

Brocades are often seen in figures, and this makes them an excellent choice for more formal occasions. These make picture pretty skirts and are often seen with plunging necklines, slim bodices and short sleeves. They're being used, also, in the very dressy suits that are excellent for so many holiday occasions.

All lace gowns are exquisite for formals, but some laces are used in combination with satin and velvet. The velvet stole to be worn with the lace evening gown is gaining in popularity as the holidays approach. You may also wear it with velvet or satin shoes and a handbag done in the same fabric. Altogether the combination is pure luxury!

When choosing velvet, have it match or contrast the costume. The colors are jewel-like, but have one that is most flattering to your skin, eyes and hair.

Lounging Apparel Shows Same Trend as Dress

The full skirted dresses we've been seeing as well as the chin-high necklines and long, simple sleeves have become well established now for daytime clothing. You'll have a nice surprise when you see these same features in lounging apparel.

Do have something nice to wear around the house as you just don't know when someone will pop in with a personal greeting or a present. It's best not to wait to see if you'll get a new lounging robe for Christmas, because for use you'll need it sooner.

The coachman type of robe is being seen quite extensively. This has the large cuffs and big revers to the waist. It looks double-breasted but usually only two buttons are used because of the large revers.

Be Smart!

One of the best wardrobe friends of the busy woman is the basic dress. Now it takes on all the smartness and savvy when combined with a streamlined jacket or a short and unusually flared topper. It's a particularly practical idea for the style conscious young business woman, especially when developed in the new lighter weight woolsens of the season. With foresight, the jacket can be teamed with an appropriate separate skirt as well.

Traced to 1816 'Celeripede'

Joseph B. Nispece, French physicist best known as one of the inventors of photography, was active in other fields as well. In 1816 he invented the "celeripede," or "hobby-horse"—two wheels and a crossbar upon which the rider sat while he propelled himself with his feet against the ground. It was the forerunner of the modern bicycle.

There were a few minor improvements during the next two or three years. But the price was high and the machine was not within the reach of ordinary folk; thus it became known as the "dandy horse." It even reached America, but the natural crudities of the device finally ended the craze.

The idea of propelling oneself on wheels, however, had taken root. The velocipede, or "boneshaker," was the first crank-driven bicycle, developed in 1865. It was well named. With heavy wooden wheels, thick iron tires and a massive iron backbone, these machines were extremely heavy and they vibrated in a terrifying manner over the rough roads.

Then came the tall "ordinary," with front wheels sometimes over five feet in height. But it was not until 1876—a little over 70 years ago—when H. J. Lawson invented the first rear-driven bicycle. Then followed many patented improvements and in 1877 Col. Albert A. Pope of Boston organized the Pope Manufacturing company, launching the bicycle-making industry in the United States.

Pneumatic rubber tires followed in 1889. Free wheels, which enabled the bicycle to coast, were introduced in 1894. By the turn of the century the tandem, or "bicycle built for two," had become exceedingly popular. The bicycle industry, spurred by invention, zoomed to new heights.

Today it is estimated that more than 60,900,000 bicycles are in use throughout the world, 12,000,000 of them in the United States.

Italian Riviera Is Cheaper Than French

If you are confused on the "Riviera" shores of the Mediterranean, as between Italian and French, this may help: The French Riviera begins at Marseilles and runs past the resort cities and towns of Cannes, Nice, Cap d'Antibe and Juan Les Pins to Monte Carlo. There begins the Italian Riviera, much less expensive than its French neighbor.
