A MUCH appreciated friendmore than only an acquaint ance-of 30 years and more is Dr Frank P. Thompson of Chicago.

Dr. Thompson's vocation is that of an eye specialist. In his profession he has an exceptionally large practice. For 18 months out of each two years he follows that vocation assiduously. that on many a six-month stretch and seems none the worse for the experience.

He goes into Africa in the simplest possible way. A small number of native carriers accompany him, enough to transport only the barest necessities, including his cameras. His purpose is not the killing of African game but to photograph it in its native habitat, especially the elephant and the hippopotamus, on which he is ranked as an outstanding authority.

GUIDES are a non-essential, for Frank Thompson knows Africa, and he knows African wild life. He knows where to look for those animals of which he wants pictures, and how to get to such places. Once he enters the expanse of African jungle, bush and forests his friends seldom hear from him. He is out of the reach of postal services, of telegraph or radio sending stations.

While what he is doing as his avocation involves constant danger, his friends have learned to realize that Frank can take care of himself. He always has come back, though he has faced both charging elephants and hippopotamuses. On occasion he has shot the enraged beasts as a choice between his life and that of the charging animal.

During World War II Frank suspended his avocational trips into wild Africa. The war was being waged in Africa as well as throughout the remainder of the world, and wild men added to wild beasts represented more hazard than he cared to encounter.

ON HIS photographic expeditions Frank has, on some occasions, undertaken to secure specimens of such African animals as museums or other educational institutions might need to complete a collection. His one trophy, other than pictures, that he brought back from his recently completed expedition, was the long neck and head of a giraffe. It now has joined the collection of trophies covering the walls of the club rooms of the Adventurers club, of which he is an outstanding member. It was a specimen the club did not have until Frank Thompson completed its collection.

It was at the Adventurers club that

30 years and more. FRANK does not consider his expeditions into Africa as adventures. He thinks of them as but a play time. Unless others who know Africa and its wild denizens happen to meet across or around a club table, he does not talk of them. When, under such conditions, he does talk it is in low tones, and in a matter-of-fact way that displays no slightest element of boasting.

I have heard him tell of charging elephants and hippopotamuses, when it was a case of his life or that of the enraged animal. Under such conditions Frank will shoot, and he cannot afford to miss. Should it be possible to step aside and let the animals pass, he does not attempt to stop them. To Frank Thompson such incidents were not adventures, they were but ordinary incidents of his picture-taking play time in Af-

Pressure 'Out' in Berlin Controversy; British Welcome Lilibet's Princeling; Farmer Priority Looms in Legislation

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer-(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

PRESSURE:

Polite 'NO'

Sore point in all the Berlin controversy continued to be the Soviet blockade of the ex-Reich capital. The Big Three Western powers still blamed Russia for continuation of the crisis through perpetuating the blockade, and President Harry Truman had given emphatic evidence that he planned no further discussions with Russia on the subject until the blockade was lifted.

Following his return from a Florida vacation, the President went into a full-dress review of American foreign policy with Secretary of State Marshall and W. Averell Harshould say. His riman, U. S. ambassador-at-large weight, I would guess, is under 130 in Europe.

The gravity with which United Nations leaders viewed the Berlin situation was evidenced in the efforts of U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie, and H. V. Evatt, general assembly president.

THESE TWO made urgent appeal to chief executives of the four big powers-going over the heads of these nations' U. N. delegations to do so-to bring the Berlin dispute to an end and thus bring about world

This appeal was without avail The United States, France and England said "no," politely but firmly. They declared the issue must remain in the hands of the U. N. security council until the Russian blockade is lifted. Russia reacted as usual, blaming the Western powers for the stalemate.

Evatt and Lie argued that the dispute cannot be settled within the cramped confines of the security council and should be aired in the wider fields of the general assem-

AGGRAVATING the situation was the coming winter with its consequence obstacles to the air lift. The Russians appeared content to wait out this phase of American aid to Germany in the apparent conviction, or hope, that bad weather would so impair air lift efficiency as to make it negative in the battle for Germany.

If the situation were to be resolved by diplomatic means, American thought and procedure on the question would carry top weight with the Big Three.

Under this setup, President Truman's evident intention to spurn discussion of the problem unless the Berlin blockade were lifted, would indicate the United States was prepared to continue the "cold war" with the Russians, and to bet with the elements that the air lift would continue to be efficient and that Premier Stalin and his Communists would have to come to terms in the PRESIDENT TRUMAN reiterated that he planned no American mission of any sort to Moscow, and that he and Secretary Marshall pressuring in discussion of the Berlin question, even if it came from top chieftains in the U. N.

PRIORITY:

For Farmers

The man with the hoe put the "X" where it counted November 2, and, as a result, America's farmers are to reap a share of President Truman's smashing victory at the polls.

Even now, administration chiefs are moving to give the nation's farmers top priority over labor in any legislative program coming up for action by the next congress.

THE FARMER'S reward is to come immediately-not in the future-and the outlook is that labor may have to stand behind the farmer when awards for a part in President Truman's triumph are to be handed out in a legislative program. Best friend of the farmers when the plums are to be passed around is Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan. No doubter of where credit for Mr. Truman's victory belongs, Brannan already has assigned Louis H. Bean, department economist and election forecaster, to prepare charts and graphs to show the President that he owes his election primarily to the farmers. THAT ISN'T all that will be done to insure the farmers a fair return on their investment in Mr. Truman, for top level planners are drafting a new "flexible" price support program to go into effect early in 1949. instead of 1950, as would have been the case under the Republican Aiken farm bill.

Add to this the fact that Senatorelect Clinton Anderson (D., N. M.)

Missing Link?

Anthropologists appear to have turned up another "missing link" in the evolution of man.

The latest find, discovered in an ancient Transvaal cave in South Africa, may provide a clue to the earliest known of man's ancestors. The bones of this prehistoric creature, who may have lived a million years ago, indicate he might have been a "man-ape" who carried weapons and built fires.

Day of Judgment

Hideki Tojo, former prime minister and top war lord of Japan, was found guilty of wartime atrocities by an allied tribunal in Tokyo and was sentenced to death by hanging. He is the last survivor of the infamous Hitler-Mussolini-Tojo axis.

former agriculture secretary, took a direct hand in supervising drafting of the new measure and personally will introduce it, and it becomes evident the farmer's happy place in the administration sun is most assured.

BASIS of Brannan's contention that farmers elected Mr. Truman: If it weren't for the farm states in the agricultural west, the 11 industrial states on the Atlantic seaboard that voted for Governor Dewey would have swung the election Republican.

How will farmers fare under the administration plan? Here's the projected program:

To protect the farmer against anticipated crop price fall-offs, he would be given a flexible price floor that would protect growers, but would not burden U. S. taxpayers with any extended permanent subsidy of farm surpluses.

PROVIDE adequate storage facilities for farmers in corn and wheat belts to prevent loss of bumper Extend reclamation and soil conservation benefits to more farmlands and provide an increased rural electrification for more farmers, this to be sponsored and paid for by the government.

This, then, is an extension of the benefits which farmers may have felt were imperiled in the Dewey program, and for which they felt they were voting when they cast their ballots for President Truman.

Infant Rex

For hours the solemn-faced constable had kept his vigil in the chill were in accord on all questions.

The President would stand for no in the face of the huge throngs that pushed against the gates he guarded, he waited for the word.

At last he saw a royal page, garbed in blue, walk stiffly from a palace doorway. The page strode to the constable's side, bent over and spoke in a low voice.

THE CONSTABLE'S face lighted, he walked quickly to the iron railing against which the crowd was densely packed and declared exultantly: 'It's a boy!" Then throwing his head back, he shouted: "A prince has been born."

To Princess Elizabeth, heir-apparent to the throne of England, and her consort, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, had been born a son. A prince by a special royal decree of King George VI issued several days before the birth of the child. Their young prince was born just six days short of the royal couple's wedding anniversary, November 20.

THE NEWS that Elizabeth's child was a son told the usually stolid Londoners what they wanted to hear -that the royal heir was a child who might someday be their king.

Into a world of crisis and unrest, an age of a dwindling empire for Britain, was born a princeling whose future as a potential ruler is fraught with imponderables.

Both he and his mother would be cut off the line of succession to the throne should a son be born to the king and queen; monarchial governments, even of the benevolent type, are fading from the world scene; the contracting empire's dimensions are subject to speculation, but even were these things nonexistent, there is the last and greatest imponderable of them all-the

You probably will recall that the U.S. had a presidential election (sounds of screaming) a few weeks ago. It was the biggest upset since Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern in Chicago, and it will take its place as one of the most unusual in a long line of distinguished American elections. MILLENNIUM:

Very Unfunny

When a radio comedian backs off from laughs, the event rates in news value with the man-bites-dog item. But there's method-about $16,000 worth weekly-in Arthur Godfrey's madness. Godfrey is the guy who has ordered his musicians not to laugh at any of his jokes. THE RED-HEADED radio comic explains wistfully that his musicians used to laugh at his jokes, sing with him and "have all kinds of fun." But that's all over now, Godfrey says. He adds that union rules provide that if his musicians laugh at his jokes, or join him in songs, they will come under an additional union, the American Federation of Radio Artists. And that, says Godfrey, would mean an extra cost of $800 to $900 a week for each musician.

His men would sing choruses and they'd kid each other, the comedian says, but now "if they open their mouths to sing they come under AFRA'S jurisdiction. That adds the

A picture of carefree contentment, President Truman accoutered himself in casual shirt while tripping lightly through his postelection vacation at Key West, Fla. He whiled away the drowsy hours by formulating the broad outlines of his administrative policy for the next four years, and paused for a moment to turn down a proposal for another Big Four conference at this time.

NEW LIGHT:

From Isaiah

New light and interpretation may be thrown on the Old Testament by discovery of the complete scroll of the Prophet Isaiah. All 66 chapters of the book, with only a few portions missing, have been found.

One of the most dramatic Biblical discoveries of all time, the scroll was brought to light recently when four of the oldest Hebrew manuscripts thus far known were found in a cave near the northern end of the Dead Sea.

Scholars date the Isaiah scroll as early Maccabean, or second century B. C., which would make it the oldest Biblical document yet to be discovered intact.

THE DISCOVERY of a complete Isaiah scroll, dating back a thou-sand years before the oldest one known, promises scholars an opportunity to seek new meaning from the Bible, and to determine by comparison the extent that errors may have found their way into Biblical manuscripts with the passage of Bible scholars point out that the Book of Isaiah, like all of the Bible, came down to us as the result of many copyings by scribes who would make additional scrolls as the old ones wore out.

Zionist Believes Earth Is Flat Despite Photos

ZION, ILL.-Recent rocket photographs showing a curve in the earth's surface don't mean a thing to the faithful in this sectarian com-

The photographs, taken from 57 miles altitude over White Sands proving ground, N. M., were shown to M. J. Mintern, overseer of the Christian Catholic church, which holds that the earth is nearly flat. Overseer Mintern said "when you have something really worth while in the way of proof that the earth is spherical, let me know."

Mintern is the successor to the late Wilbur Glenn Voliva who maintained a standing offer of $5,000 to anyone who could prove to his satisfaction that the earth is round. Overseer Voliva had not paid out the money when he died six years

The concept of the flat earth with four definable corners is based, Overseer Mintern said, upon a literal interpretation of the Old Testa-

"We have heard of a short passage to Russia across the north pole," Overseer Mintern said. "But, has anyone ever gone in a straight course over the so-called south pole from Chile to Java?"

The overseer said the theory of the flat earth was a "side issue" in his church beliefs. "There are things we don't know, and that applies to the earth, too," he said.

Ex-Trolleyman Hurtles His New Bus Into Brush

WILKES - BARRE. - For 28 years Andrew Ondash was a trolley operator who knew every inch of rail along the line. He knew, too, that everywhere the tracks went, the trolley was sure to go. Then his company put busses on the line he served those many years.

The new mechanism was unfamiliar. But Andrew took a firm grip on the wheel and turned. The bus let the highway, hurdled a ditch and ploughed 10 feet into underbrush.

Andrew's bosses said it was all right. They felt everyone must learn, some time.

Inventor Perfects Device To Detect Carbon Monoxide

SANTA MARIA, CALIF.—William C. Darby, who nearly lost his life to carbon monoxide 15 years ago, has invented a device which will set off an alarm when the tasteless, odorless and colorless gas is detected.

Secret of the detector is a chemical substance which, when processed on a glass plate, will discolor from exposure to varying concentrations of carbon monoxide.

The detector continuously samples air at the same cubic feet per minute that the average person breathes. By glancing at a built-in meter, a person can observe the amount of gas to which he has been exposed. When the concentration reaches a dangerous point visible and audible signals are set off.

Darby regards the possibilities or the use of the detector as unlimited. He claims that it is readily adaptable to industrial buildings, garages, homes, ships, aircraft, hotels, mines and tunnels, serving not only as a carbon monoxide detector but also as a fire detection

Manager in Crowded Store Defies Threats of Bandit

OMAHA, NEB. - A holdup man backed down when the manager of the store he planned to rob defied him to make the holdup in the presence of shopping crowds.

Amil Martin, manager of the store, said he was accosted in the rear of the store by a well-dressed man who had what appeared to be a pistol stuck in his waistband and declared "this is a stickup."

Martin said the man handed him a paper bag and ordered him to go to the safe and fill it. When he refused, he said the man reached for the gun and asked, "Do you want it right now?"

"I then walked up to the front of the store," Martin related.

When the would-be robber asked him what he was going to do Martin said he replied "I'm not going to do anything. If you hold me up you'll have to hold up the whole

The man looked over the crowds of shoppers and replied as he departed, "Okay, Mac, you win, but don't follow me."

Shepherd Loses His Flock In Fog but Dogs Do Not

LONG BEACH, CALIF.—Ground hugging fog that enveloped the coast line, separated sheepherder Francisco Rivera from his flock. He wandered futilely in a blank, soundless world, groping about meadows, straining for a tinkle that would tell him his flock was near by. When the fog had lifted somewhat he notified police. Officers helped him cruise in search of his sheep. They found them near Lakewood village, five miles from where Francisco last saw them. They were grazing peacefully. Keeping them in tow were Francisco's two shepherd dogs. The fog hadn't bothered them.

Washington Digest

The Election Has Changed Both Democrats and GOP

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON .- There are two experiences which no one should miss if he can help it. Coming into Paris, the "city of light," and Washington, "the city of magnificent distances," at twilight by airplane.

Lately I dropped down from the clouds upon Washington, with the lingering embrace of southern sunlight about me. The tiny sparkling lights below winked their welcome. But this esthetic experience ended bruskly when I left the airport. The winking lights stared, and by the time I reached the National Press club, eyes winked but they belonged to my colleagues who patrol the beat from the White House to the bragged about my tan, and then carelessly inquired: "What is going to happen in congress next month?' One of the colleagues answered:

"Harry Truman is lucky. He owes one debt he never will have to pay -to Henry lace. When Wal bowed himself out he stepped on the red ruffles BAUKHAGE of Miss Democrat's petticoat, and pulled it along with him."

And it was generally admitted that much of the stigma connected with the charge of "coddling Communists" was removed when Wallace left. Like the Pied Piper (not of Hamelin, but once of Iowa) he piped away a lot of the "lunatic fringe" which is the eternal headache of all political par-

The rodents in this case (both red and pink) followed the piper's dulcet promises. But the piper was unable to take his revenge. Unlike the flutist in the poem who lured Hamelin's children away when their parents wouldn't pay the rat-exterminator, Henry's piping titillated few Democrate ears. The voters didn't follow.

There were other unwept losses among Harry Truman's alleged supporters. He won the election without the solid south. The other end of the Democratic spectrum colored by the views of those who preferred mint juleps under the fragrant magnelias, to straight Yankee or middlewestern spirits withdrew discreetly and completely to their jasmine-curtained verandas. This doesn't mean they won't be heard from later, but they aren't the worry they once were.

While no one would bracket the conservatives with the "lunatic fringe," the Dixiecrats did cause many embarrassments to the Democrats. Now they are at least separately ticketed.

The Republicans likewise derived certain healing qualities from the cold douche they took on November 2, not unlike Mr. Truman's. A number of their die-hards died in the struggle with the electorate.

Minority - Leader - to - Be Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, is no wild-eyed radical. So what he says on the subject of change (which is what the radical always wants) is significant.

Joe warned his friends back in Attleboro, Mass., a district which probably will elect him as long as he chooses to run, that the Republicans in the recent campaign offered the people "too many Brahmins, too many plutocrats." These Republican candidates, said Joe, likewise offered too little personality, did not appeal to the people, and formed a narrow circle which prevented what he called "expansion and the opening of ranks." (Of whom could he have been thinking?)

"We digressed too far from the people," the former speaker said, and the "GOP must reorganize in the cities and towns, getting in new blood at every level." Joe was speaking then out of his deep political wisdom.

Social Legislation Is Here to Stay

Rep. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican national committee in the recent campaign, gave another significant postelection warning to his party. Republicans must recognize, he said, that legislation embodying social gains is here to stay.

So it would appear that these men, and many of the other Republicans who now represent the GOP in congress, are as happy to be relieved, not of a lunatic fringe like the Democrats, but of an albatross around their necks.

The Republicans who are trying to re-form their ranks and re-build for 1950 are by no means pessimistic. To quote Joe Martin again, he predicted that the GOP would snap back quicker than they went out. They know now, if some of them didn't before, they must keep in step with the times. One of the great problems the Republican national committee faced in the campaign was reconciling the progressive ideas set forth in Mr. Dewey's speeches with the somewhat pleistocene attitude (as one observer described it), of some of the ex-candidates for house and senate.

Witness the embarrassing situation in West Virginia, not to men-tion Illinois. The New York governor simply couldn't stomach crossing the borders of West Virginia to embrace its recalcitrant senator.

Chicago on the other hand is a railway center and it was necessary for Governor Dewey to change trains there and "in Rome do as Romans do." He did, and endorsed the Republican senatorial candidate from Illinois. But the citizens of Illinois did not.

Had Mr. Dewey been elected, and had the Republican senator from Illinois been re-elected, the White House would have faced difficulties, among them the embarrassing paradox: Sen. C. Wayland Brooks opposed the Marshall plan which Dewey strongly endorsed. Taking that as a guide, it seems possible that Brooks could have been counted upon to vote against a Dewey-Dulles foreign policy as he did against Mr. Truman's.

Liberal Thought Growing in U.S.

The election, I believe, caused thoughtful people to emerge with one idea which the entire nation, regardless of its politics, will have to get used to. The thought is not original with me, but it is one that was mentioned by the only person who did predict the election result (except the man I lost a bet to). Agriculture Economist Bean said something like this:

The wave of liberal thought which appeared to have reached its zenith under Roosevelt is still on the upswing. Apparently the natural post-war reaction stopped it, but didn't start it going in the opposite direction. Now some of you may not like that thought, but it were well to accustom oneself to the idea. Nor need you expect the pendulum ever to swing as far back as you might wish. Personally, I enjoy riding behind a spanking team in a buggy "with the fringe on top," and I wonder if we wouldn't all be better off if the internal combustion engine had never been invented. But I am willing to admit, things being what they are, that we have traffic lights and other annoying regulations. At any rate, when President Truman takes the rostrum to deliver his message in January, he will look out on a congress which, his friends claim, he fashioned in large part with his own hand. Or I might say with his own sharp tongue from a back platform.

Harry Truman went out and fought tooth and nail, no holds barred, for the kind of congress he wanted. The people, whether or not that was their only intention, gave it to him.

And now as one somewhat cynical observer remarked to me: "Harry's got what he wanted, God help him."

He has to deliver now. The "Wednesday Democrats" have turned out to be Saturday's children when it comes to getting jobs in Washington.

You may not own a share of American Telephone and Telegraph Company stock or a telephone company bond, and yet you may be an investor in the Bell System and Michigan Bell.

Many banks and insurance companies are holders of Bell System securities. So, if you have a savings account or an insurance policy, indirectly some of your money may be invested in the telephone business.

But who are the other investors in the Bell System? Altogether there are more than 700,000 of them in addition to insurance companies and other financial institutions. They are school teachers, widows, housewives, farmers, mechanics, business men, telephone workers people in all walks of life who have put their savings directly into Bell securities.

Few businesses in America are so widely owned by the people they serve. No one person or institution owns as much as one third of one per cent of A. T. & T. stock. There are about 75,000 more owners of the business than there are employees of the business.

These dollars from investors are important to good service. They are used to build and expand the telephone system. As a customer, you expect good telephone service. As an investor, you expect security and a fair return on your investment.

iple First Used by Caddis Fly

The submarine principle was used millions of years ago by an insect known as the caddis fly. The young of certain caddis flies build a "submarine" of selected materials found on the bed of a stream or lake, binding them to-gether with silk. By attaching or detaching bubbles of air to their cases and thereby altering the specific gravity, the flies are able to rise or submerge in water.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Traitorous Cheats

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features. By KATHLEEN NORRIS

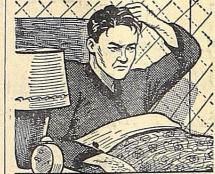

OW can a man be sure his wife is not cheating on him?" asks Van Harrison of East St. Louis. "I've got a very pretty wife," his letter goes on, "and, of course, when I'm at home she is all devotion. But I'm not at home much and I have a feeling that Doreen does pretty much what she wants to do when I'm away.

"Last year she got hold of some handsome furs, said she had picked up a pawn ticket in the street and found that they were overdue on payments and could be bought. Well, I investigated that. I felt like a heel doing it and it seemed straight enough, but it could have been framed, too.

"Now she has two good-looking air-weight suitcases, about $50 worth of stuff, and she says a friend sold them to her for practically nothing, because the friend had new ones. I haven't the nerve to ask her what friend and follow that up. I know she dresses better than any of the other women on our size income. Now other women are beginning to hint that Doreen isn't playing fair.

Job at Home

"How's for getting a job at home, even at a sacrifice?" continues this anxious yet inarticulate husband. 'She seems to see every show that comes to town-well, I could take her to shows. We have one kid, now 11, and something he said to me yesterday about Mamma's interests and Mamma's friends has kept me awake one whole night.

. . . awake all night . . .

It will keep me awake a lot more if I don't settle the matter. Can a woman cheat and get away with it these days, and what are the men doing about it?"

Unfortunately, Van, I say in answer, a woman in Doreen's position can cheat easily. And if you change your job and attempt to keep too close a watch on her, if she actually is cheating, she will break away.

Honor isn't affected by a man's absences, nor a woman's opportunities to be untrue. Honor is a matter of her mind and her soul, of what she was taught and trained to do as a child, of character and background and of that innate fineness that comes naturally to a woman whose home influences have been sound.

Training Is Key

If Doreen hasn't had the advantages of a good mother and father and sound training in decency and honesty, nothing that you can do will cure her. And there's where the vital, the tragic importance of giving children a good start comes in.

Raising small children, cooking and housekeeping, watching the family health and planning the family meals can seem but a dull task to an ambitious, pleasure-loving, vital woman, but it is a more essential one than any that a scientific genius ever enjoyed.

The service a good mother and father do for their town, for the nation and for civilization generally is beyond all words. Every child that grows to maturity with a normal healthy mind and body, with a sense of duty, a willingness to serve rather than be served, to work for a plan rather than wait for the realization of a fairy-tale, to be unselfish, to be interested in the affairs of others, to be selfreliant and to develop a sense of humor is fortunate throughout his

And to the mother who breaks up her home, scatters her children, regales her friends with complaints of the children's father and to that mother who, like Doreen, cheats while Van is away and collects gifts from this lover and that, while laughing at the man she promised to honor, I can say only that you are laying a careful foundation for the ruin of your own lives and making certain the unhappiness of your children's lives.

'Anti-Boogie-Woogie' Unit Set Up in Soviet Zone

In the interests of raising the morals of Berlin's younger set an "anti - boogie - woogie" committee has been set up by the Communistsponsored "Kulturbund" at Meerane in the Soviet zone of Germany. The committee has cut out for itself the task of "raising the cultural standards of modern ballroom dancing by introducing youth to the modern dance forms." And "modern" doesn't mean "jive."

Homemade Presents Are Sure to Please Discriminating Friends

A DAY or two or three spent in the kitchen instead of out among Christmas crowds will yield several lovely as well as edible presents to give your closest friends.

Most people are so busy around the holidays, not only with shopping but with entertaining that food presents will be really welcome. Think how nice it is to receive some colorful jelly to serve with Christmas dinner or a homemade coffee cake done up in gala wrappings!

Make a gift list of food presents, then bring out the recipes and decide just how much of each to make. Wrap prettily and deliver just as you would other presents. Keep a few extra boxes of food gifts to give just in case someone you'd forgotten drops in unexpectedly.

If you put up a lot of jellies, jams and preserves during the summer, bring these out and wrap in gay paper and tie with fancy bows. Even one jar makes a perfectly delightful present.

For more elaborate presents you might want to give several jars on a tray that may be used for relishes or sandwiches.

JUST IN CASE you do not have enough jars of jelly from summer, here are some recipes to replenish

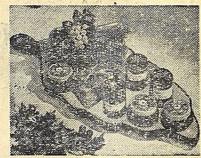

Cranberry Jam

(Makes 13 6-ounce glasses) 7 cups prepared fruit 3 cups sugar

3 cups light corn syrup

1 box powdered fruit pectin To prepare fruit, add four cups water to about three and one-fourth pounds of fully ripe cranberries. Bring to a boil and simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Sieve pulp to remove seeds, if desired. (For spiced cranberry jam, simmer fruit with one-half teaspoon ground cloves and one teaspoon cinnamon

Presents made in your kitchen reflect your interest and thoughtfulness to the recipient of the gift, especially if you give gay and orful jars of jellies and other canned goods. Use some of the stock you put up this summer for or one and one-half teaspoons of any desired combination of spices.)

Measure sugar and corn syrup into a dry bowl and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a five to six quart kettle filling up the last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary. Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil Pour in sugar and syrup at once, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, one-fourth teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard one minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Apricot Jam

1 pound dried apricots 11/2 cups sugar 1 cup seedless raisins 34 cup water in which apricots were soaked 1 orange Wash apricots and soak in water enough to cover for one hour. Slice orange fine and cut each slice in fine pieces. Mix all ingredients to-sterilized cans or jars and seal at

Christmas Tree Coffee Cake (Makes 1 tree cake)

1 cup ready-to-eat bran 1 cup scalded milk

1/4 cup shortening 1/4 cup sugar

1 teaspoon salt 1 cake compressed yeast or 1 package granular yeast

1 egg, well beaten 234 cup sifted flour

Combine bran, milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Stir until shortening is melted, then cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in this mixture. Add egg. Stir in flour to make a soft dough; cover. Let stand ten minutes. Knead on lightly floured surface. Place in a greased bowl. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Form dough into a long rope or roll about one inch thick; swirl back and forth on a cookie sheet in shape of a pine tree, reserving a small portion of the dough to use for the trunk of the tree. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk.

Bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven for about 25 minutes. When cool, frost with uncooked icing (made out of powdered sugar and a little milk) and decorate with candied cherries to represent lights on a tree.

HERE IS an excellent fruit bread to have on hand for the holidays because it will keep fresh for weeks if kept wrapped in waxed paper and placed in a tin. Slice it thin and use for sandwiches. It makes a lovely gift.

Fruit Bread

(Makes 3 loaves) 12 eggs

3 cups sugar 6 cups flour

2 tablespoons baking powder 2 cups chopped seedless raisins 2 cups chopped walnuts 1 cup chopped, candied orange peel Beat the eggs and sugar together for 10 minutes on an electric mixer. (Hand beating will take an hour so you'll have to enlist help from the youngsters!) Fold in the flour and baking powder which have been sifted together. Add the fruits, mixed and floured with a bit of extra flour. Bake in greased loaf pans in a slow (325-degree) oven for one hour. This is a nice bread for a gift. It's rich and has a distinctive flavor because of the walnuts. Serve it for sandwiches when entertaining, rather than for a meal.

Woman's World

Select, Make Thoughtful Gifts That Will Be Used, Enjoyed

By Ertta Haley

EVERYONE'S mysteriously busy and happy. Everywhere there's a sign of the Christmas spirit-in the early bit of holly on the front door, in that extra branch of pine the front lawn, in the house ablaze with lights and full of laughter and long consultations on Christmas presents.

It's a job, this business of gift giving, but none of us would do without it because it's such joyous work. But pause and think a little before deciding on a gift. Does the chosen present fit into the scheme of life of the receiver? Will it be of use? A thing of enjoyment? Something to be prized or shown off with pride when presents are unwrapped?

These are the things to consider, then to make the choice, and even perhaps to make the gift.

An inexpensive apron sewn with loving care may be more prized than a jewel which does not fit the wearer. A thoughtfully chosen lingerie set may be more prized than gloves or slip that don't fit the wearer. A rag doll may be more precious to a child than a fancy doll she must handle carefully to prevent breakage.

It's just amazing how many things can be made at home, and made more quickly than even shopping for them in the Christmas rush. If some spots on your gift list are empty, then check over these ideas I'm giving to see if they won't fit some names on the list. You may be able to make something nicer than you could buy.

Presents for Home Are Appreciated

Any woman who has kept house for any length of time knows how cheerful a thoughtful present can make her home. If the present is

Be Smart!

Button, button, everyone's wearing buttons this season. In an era of rich fabric and an unusually strong trend toward ensembling a costume of the same material, buttons have come into an even greater importance. More than any other decoration, they accent line which is the basis of undated smartness in your wardrobe planning. Teday's buttons take on rich coloring as well as the effect of jewelry in many cases.

News for Knitters

Latest invention for knitters is this spindle bracelet that fits securely on the wrist and enables the knit-one-purl-two enthusiast to jump to answer the phone, rescue the baby from the jam closet, or answer the door without dropping her yarn on the floor for the cat to tangle. The yarn unwinds quickly and easily from the spindle. The bracelet is made of plastic and has a cap that fits down over the spindle to keep the ball of yarn in place.

Personal Gifts May Be Simple or Elaborate

Handkerchiefs and lingerie are iissing from some woman's gift list, so you can always choose these items for her. Now that cotton lingerie is so much in the picture, the home seamstress easily can make some half or whole slips for her friends.

Slips themselves may be simply tailored or lace encrusted, depending upon how the particular woman likes her lingerie. Either will be quite simple to make from your own or purchased patterns.-

The main things to remember are to buy closely woven, washable material and to construct the garment well. Lace that starts leaving the slip after a washing or two brings with it too many mending problems so it's best to make certain it's attached well. Baste first and then sew securely by hand or use fine machine stitching.

If you plan to give handkerchiefs, you may want to monogram them at home. If you buy them, make the gift something special by putting in some lovely little sachet bags with them. The sachets can be purchased inexpensively and be covered with brilliant or pastel satin or crepe cut into heart or flower shapes.

Gifts for Small Fry

Are Fun to Make Have you ever made a sweet pinafore for a little girl? A pair of neatly tailored over-alls for a young man? A pair of knitted booties or a shawl for a new baby? You have a real treat coming if you try them now to give in time for Christmas.

Even though the item is simple and takes only two hours to put together, the mothers will appreciate a new article of clothing for their youngsters.

You'll enjoy making soft, downy booties and tying them with huge pom poms of the same yarn. You'll like the feel of plastics for making little aprons for girls, bibs for the

Then there are all sorts of patterns for animals. These are quickly put together and make Christmas bright for the young ones. Striped cloth for zebras, a mustard gold for lions, gray for elephants, chocolate brown for horses. Dye scraps if you want to save buying cloth.

if you're a woman facing the vexing question of what to get him, here's a two-way perfect solution: If he's a smoker who likes his cigarettes on the cool, mild side, get him a carton or two of Camels. Their choice tobaccos are sure to please him on Christmas Day. Or perhaps he enjoys smoking a pipe, too. If so, mellow Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco will round out your gift selection in a mighty handsome manner. Both items are right in keeping with your holiday sentiment; they come gaily wrapped in special Christmas packages. The Camel cartons contain 200 cool, mild Camel cigarettes. And the pound tin of Prince Albert is brimful of mild, tasty smoking that has truly earned the title - the National Joy Smoke. Each gift has space for your written greetings. When you give Camels and Prince Albert for Christmas, you can be sure of pleasing him! They're easy to order, too; a local dealer is well supplied right now. (Adv.)
