The fight will open at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night with a bout between "Tarzan" Wogoman and "Battling Bill" Rapp. Other local boxers on the card for the evening are Greenwood, Worth, Davis, McConaig, Mandock and O'Loughlin. These boys will meet boxers from the Pinconning Athletic Club.

Elks Play East Tawas Indians Tonight

After a two weeks lay-off during the Christmas holiday season, the Tawas City Elks will tangle with their old rivals the East Tawas Indians, tonight, at the East Tawas Auditorium. Both teams are pretty evenly matched and should provide local cage fans with some good basketball. There will be three games, with the two reserve squads breaking the ice in the first contest, the girls in the second and the two varsity squads battling it out in the final game.

In games around the county in the Rifle Valley League will be St. Michaels at Whittemore, Rose City at Hale and Arenac Eastern at St. Joseph, of West Branch.

Delinquent Tax List Completed

The list of the 1950 annual May delinquent tax sale has been completed, states County Treasurer Grace Miller. The list will be published in the Oscoda Press this year.

Mrs. Miller says, "This list contains 411 description of property on which the 1947 and prior years taxes have not been paid."

"The first publication of this sale will be February 23, 1950, and will be published five weeks, prior to March 28, 1950, this being the opening day of court for hearing on this sale."

"Any description on which the 1947 and prior tax was not paid by October 1, 1949 is subject to listing but the County Treasurer's office has made it current as of December 1, 1949. Any payments being made prior to May 2, 1950, will protect the property from being offered for sale."

New Beauty, Added Conveniences go in 1950 Motor Cars

Many automobile dealers are announcing the new 1950 car models during this first week in January. The largest amount of automobile advertising, in point of number of makes and inches of space, ever to appear in the Tawas Herald is being published in this issue.

Humphrey Motor Sales, Tawas City. Studebaker cars and trucks.

McKay Sales Co., Chevrolet cars and trucks and Cadillac cars.

Cowan Motor Sales, DeSoto and Plymouth cars.

Ed. Graham & Sons, Chrysler and Plymouth cars.

Orville Leslie & Sons, Ford and Mercury cars and trucks.

PERCHVILLE PARADE SATURDAY

Seeking weather favorable to formally establish "Perchville" on the ice of Tawas bay the founders of the village went up to Oscoda Thursday to seek help from the Chamber of Commerce weather man there. But no dice. Chief Blue Cloud was away.

So tomorrow (Saturday) morning, starting at 10:00 o'clock, the parade and ceremonies will go on without his weather medicine and use the ice as is. Starting at "South of the Border" the parade of 30 colorful cabins will go along Lake street to East Tawas. Making a short digress up Newman street, the column will make its way up US-23 to the village site on the bay. Here with due formalities the fish shanties will be placed on their locations, streets named and a Mayor of Perchville inaugurated.

The idea, originated by Harold L. Gould, has an appeal to fishermen, and a number of down state men have filed reservations for the use of cabins.

"He's at the corner of Perch street and Smelt avenue," or "down on Herring street," will be familiar phrases to the wives of many of our businessmen within a short time.

Initiate Child Hearing-Test In Iosco County

Four County Project Sponsored by State Department of Health

Monday and Tuesday at the Oscoda Public Schools will open the new hearing test program sponsored by the State Health Department and the four-county health unit. A county wide hearing test of school children above the fourth grade will be made in each of the four counties.

In Iosco county the testing centers will be at Oscoda, Hale, Whittemore, East Tawas and Tawas City. Rural school children will be brought in to the centers by bus. The first testing period will be in the Oscoda area next Monday and Tuesday. The days for the other testing centers will be announced later. Poor hearing has long been recognized by instructors as one of the major handicaps to the child's progress in school work.

Arrangements for this worthwhile program were made Wednesday at a meeting in the new school annex at Rose City. County school superintendents and superintendents of schools from each of the four counties were in attendance and took part in the arrangements. Iosco county was represented by County School Superintendent Russell Rollin, the superintendents of the five schools, Supervisors Theodore Bellville and Harold Black, and Grace Hanna, county nurse.

Approximately 250 children can be tested in a day. 40 children at a sitting. Mrs. Muriel Horton of this city has been employed as an assistant in the work, which will be conducted by the State Health Department and District Health Unit. Dr. Crandall of this health unit was very instrumental in securing this program for the district.

Rose City is very proud of its new school annex in which the meeting was held Wednesday. Built at a cost of $6,000.00, the unit has a large shop room, fine home ec room and much needed additional class rooms for the school.

Automatic Transmission in Low Price Field

The automatic transmission hailed as the most revolutionary driving aid since the advent of the self-starter, makes its first appearance in the low-price automobile field, Saturday, January 7, with the introduction of 1950 Chevrolets.

Chevrolet's application is an exclusive development known as Powerglide. A product of company research covering the entire post-war period, it is the chief element in an optional, extra-cost "power ten." Included is a larger, more powerful engine and many refinements that extend throughout the line of new passenger cars.

Also presented for the first time to the retail automobile market is the Bel-Aire, a luxurious, six-passenger coupe possessing the swank of the convertible with the practicality of the solid top. With the Bel Air as leader, the latest series contains two individually-tyled two-door sedans and two four-door sedans, sport coupe, business coupe, convertible coupe and all-steel station wagon. As in the 1949 models, when Chevrolet set new volume records to once again lead the industry in sales, most of the bodies are available in "special" and deluxe treatments.

Improvements though the 1950 chassis and bodies are many. A new "Power-Jet" carburetor eliminates the "lean" periods in gasoline feed and affords quicker warmup in cold weather. Larger exhaust valve capacity helps power output. Each of the six-cylinder passenger car engines follows the traditional, economical valve-in-head design. In the new bodies, stylists have accomplished striking effects with smart, two-tone upholstery and fresh fashioned exterior metalwork.

The Powerglide automatic transmission makes use of hydraulic torque conversion, a method of smoothly transmitting power to wheels that received considerable impetus during the war in the search for more maneuverable armored vehicles.

Torque, or the force of rotation generated at the main crankshaft, is now transferred through rapidly whirling oil. The force is increased in direct proportion to throttle pressure, as with the conventional clutch and gear transmission. However, instead of the "steps" involved with mechanical gear linkage to reduce engine speed as the car gathers momentum, the flow of power to the rear wheels is fluid and variable. Once the car is moving with the lever in "Drive" position, no shifting action is necessary regardless of the number of traffic stops and goes.

To bring the car to stop the throttle foot is moved to the brake as desired. Resumption of forward movement in traffic is obtained merely by depressing the throttle.

Because engineers must recognize that driving is not confined to forward movement on level, paved highways, the "R" (Reverse) and "L" (Low) position are incorporated on the quadrant. Although the drive continues through the converter, low and reverse gears increase the power on the rear wheel by definitely fixing the ratio of revolutions between the crank and propeller shafts. To provide the gears a simple planetary gearset is built into the transmission.

Climate of Jericho

Lying 800 feet and more below Mediterranean level, the garden acres of Jericho extend toward the Dead sea, lowest surface level on earth. In summer Jericho is torrid, and waves of heat make the desolate white marl hills seem to dance a waltz. In winter, when Jerusalem lies frozen under a blanket of snow, Jericho near by and far below, is a sunshine paradise.

Milk Cow Production

Average production of the 23,200,000 cows milked on farms in 1948 was about 5,020 pounds.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Orderliness Adds Beauty to Your Home

By Erta Haley

ONE REASON why we have the saying, "Woman's work is never done," is the fact the caring for the house is ever present. True, you may have finished cleaning your home from top to bottom, and have every drawer and shelf in perfect order, but when the morning comes, there's always dust to wipe or threads to pick from the floor.

Of necessity, homes have different standards of cleanliness and orderliness, and these influence standards of housekeeping. Homes with toddlers will always have toys on the floor; those with school children may have books and clothing scattered in various places.

Standards should, however, be kept as high as possible, because we seldom go as high as our standards, and often not as high. However, when we do have high standards, we, at least, try to approach them, and we do have a goal which keeps us striving.

Caring for the home is not a job just for mother. It's a responsibility that belongs to everyone who lives in the home, and these duties should be well defined.

Everyone should contribute to picking up to keep the house from looking as though items were constantly tossed about. In a home with many people, it should be a

Ribbon Hat

This smart hat designed by Florence Reichman uses about four yards of six-inch width ribbon. Around the buckram head band, the ribbon is folded neatly, then sewed at the top. A tip of the ribbon is sewed into this at the top and then a bow is tied from the same ribbon before cutting. The bow, of course, will have three loops and one end. The other end makes the tip of the hat. If this seems too complicated, says Mrs. Reichman, you could always just tie a bow and sew it on.

needed; otherwise, simply dust them. Curtains and drapes should be cleaned with the vacuum attachment, as should be overstuffed pieces.

Books in cases need dusting once a week or once in two weeks depending upon the community in which you live. Remove each one and dust thoroughly.

Care of Floors, Rugs Can Be Made Simple

If the room has scatter rugs on a bare floor, these should be removed to be cleaned outside if possible. If you prefer, use a brush or a vacuum cleaner on them. Rugs which are readily lifted will be made more fresh in appearance if they can be shaken or hung on a line, so their nap is at least partially restored.

Floors which are uncarpeted may be dusted with a mop which is either dry or chemically treated, and used only for this purpose. Some homemakers prefer to go around the floor with a vacuum attachment to get at the dust. Others like to wash the floor, then to go over it when dry with a special floor finish which gives it a gloss or waxed finish.

Be Smart!

Here are more interpretations of one of the most flattering coat fashions of the season, the use of glowing velvet. You'll find coats with large collars often displaying a rich expanse of velvet. In other cases, where the collar itself is more intricate or intended to be manipulated there may be only a touch of velvet. Another very new, and extremely smart fashion is the coupling of voluminous velvet muffs with the velvet collars, or you may turn to tiny velvet hats and berets, which are one of the fashion hits of the season.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Long Engagement Thing of Past

IS THERE ANYTHING we can do to stop the unthinking young marriages that lead to so many unthinking divorces?" asks Doris Day (not her real name).

She is matron in a dormitory that houses some 200 college girls, on the campus of a midwestern university. "They plunge joyfully into matrimony without any consideration for anything except their newfound passion for each other," her letter goes on, "and in a pitifully short time the realities of rent and food and clothing swarm over them; they feel cheated and tied; and only under exceptional circumstances can they hold together, or be expected to hold together."

And Miss Day, who is Scotland born—and has herself been married, and is war-widowed—observes that she was engaged to her young man at the age of 20, and married to him eight years later, and that their 10 years together were cloudlessly happy.

"In my country," she writes, "long engagements are considered quite natural. A girl and a man find an affinity, they plan their future and then, perhaps, he goes off to Africa, China or India to get his start. Or he gets a position with one of our many banks, oil companies, or shipping firms that simply do not permit employees to burden themselves with domestic cares until a certain financial stage is reached.

Their Happy Plans

"It seems to me this delay," continues the letter, "makes for character and self-control. The girl trusts her man, and he trusts her. And as the time of the wedding approaches, their happy plans, their preparations, the presents and trousseau and finding of the new home, are surely the more delightful because of the long wait.

Well, Doris, wonderful lives have been built out of those egg dishes and cold little rooms, money shortage and young discouragement. Spring comes and the baby comes and, when they take the baby west to see Grandma and Grandpa, Sandy gets a job in hospitable Oregon or California, the little new family will get on its feet among a million others who have fought the same good fight.

If Sandy and Elinor have character enough—or only the beginnings of fine character—and if they know that love has to be built slowly, like the house and the income and the baby, then they're all right. I hope they are.

But long engagements? Well, perhaps blood in Scotland and England runs more slowly, is cooler. Or perhaps pounds, shillings and pence loom more important in the eyes of lovers than do dollars and cents over here.

But nobody dares talk long engagements here. The wedding date is usually set before the engagement is announced at all, and as for the quiet talks, the plans, the reading of books, the placid postponement until say, 1954 or 1956—our young people would laugh that out of court.

Whatever we think, they will continue to place the wedding date only weeks, rather than years ahead. So we can only remind them that a boy-and-girl marriage can grow into the miracle of human happiness that is a good marriage, if meanwhile, the boy and girl have grown to real manhood and real womanhood.

Russians Top Name-Callers

Even Originate Words In U.N. Verbal Rows

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — The Russians easily won the name calling championship of the 1949 United Nations assembly.

They also introduced some new developments by calling people lice, beetles and cockroaches and keying their campaign to what they call American worship of atomic energy, or bombolatry.

The individual champion name caller and word coiner was the Soviet Ukraine's fiery, white maned Bolshevik, Foreign Minister Dmitri Z. Manuilsky.

There was some name calling from outside the Soviet orbit, principally in the still bitter Arab-Israeli battles over Palestine. But that was minor league compared with the Russians.

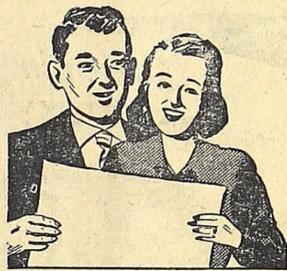

Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo tried to stop the flow of name calling and succeeded only partly. Once he ruled that a speaker who offended would be cut off the amplification and translation system.

When that failed to keep the words off the air, Romulo ruled some of them out of the record, but not out of the public print or out of the ears of radio listeners.

Romulo said in September that he wanted to make this go down in history as the peace assembly of the 59 nations. It did not.

Western nations were generally firm, but unoffensive, in description of personalities. Britain's minister of state, Hector McNeil, a Scot with a burly tongue and a liking for repartee, once referred to "Sgt. Maj. Vishinsky and his little platoon." On another occasion McNeil referred to the Russian foreign minister as Mr. Vishinsky, begged his pardon, and made it Prof. Vishinsky.

McNeil and Vishinsky punctuated one full day of debate with fables based on the struggles of the animal kingdom for survival to picture each other in parable.

... they plan their future ...

"Aren't slow-developing things nature's way, after all? Spring and summer, the coming of a baby, the slow rise of a man to a position of responsibility, the slow gathering of household goods in the slowly-acquired home—doesn't all this come closer to a real ideal of living?"

"Isn't it better relished than this rush of today's adolescents into the most sacred of relationships, the skipping of all formalities and preliminaries, the childish assumption that ignorance and passion and novelty are all that is needed?"

"Right near the campus," writes Doris, "there is a couple aged 19 and 20. They ran away and were married in a neighboring state eight months ago. The girl's family continued to send her $100 a month. The boy's family has never answered his exultant wire."

Baby Expected

"In a few weeks there will be a baby. At first they were delighted about this baby; now they are not so sure. The boy has left school and taken a job in a shoe store. The girl plans to go home for the baby's arrival and tells me in tears that she won't come back. Sandy is so changed, she says, so irritable lately. They can't do anything, can't afford night club dinners or movies. Their rent is $55 a month, for three small unheated rooms in the rear of a village house. Elinor is sick of money talk and the egg dishes and the splashy bathroom and the oil-cook stove, and feeling so rotten all the time."

All small pieces of furniture such as coffee tables, small chairs, hassocks and the like should be moved. You can then get around the floors and the rug much more readily.

If you're waiting for the last straggler to come down to breakfast, you can start the actual moving of these small items and be so much ahead on cleaning. There's much to do to clean these things properly.

Small pieces of furniture can be dusted more properly when they are moved. Lamp bases with china or pottery or metallic finishes can be cleaned and polished more said nothing about it. Later Mrs. Johnson found out what had happened, and had the butcher arrested for theft. He protested that he couldn't be held for theft since he hadn't actually taken the wallet but had merely found it. However, the court decided that his conduct amounted to just about the same thing and found him guilty as charged.

Well-cleaned homes add . . .

rule that whoever looks at papers and magazines should pile them after use. The same applies to clothing and personal effects.

Keeping the home in good condition is a habit that does not come about overnight. It's the result of years of practice, and should be started with small duties as each child reaches a sense of responsibility. It should never be made an unpleasant task, but rather one in which there is joy in seeing cleanliness and order result from certain efforts.

Orderly Home Yields To Thorough Cleaning

Do you have to stop to pick up clothing, papers, ashtrays and other such items before you start the thorough cleaning of a room? Something's amiss in your own or the family's habits, if this must be done for it delays the big cleaning jobs from five minutes to an hour or more.

It may seem like a lot of work to move all items from a room before doing thorough cleaning, but the results of cleanliness are greater and so is the sense of achieve-

Brooklyn 'Hermit' Has Changed View; Talks of Romance

NEW YORK.—The Brooklyn hermit, Paul Makushak, who was dug from a 10-year exile in a cramped, filthy hole in the wall almost a year ago, now has a new slant on life.

He is living a normal life, he says, and wants to "forget" the past. He is a husky, 33-year old man who now works in his father's tailor shop.

His ill kempt beard is gone. His tangled hair of the hermit days has been cut and now is kept neatly combed. Neat clothes have replaced the rags he wore.

"I was contented in there," he recalled of his strange exile. "I did not want to come out. I was tired. I was sick of the world. I enjoyed the rest. I did not like the way the world was going. I never had a desire to leave the place, but I would not want to go back. Now I have different ideas."

Makushak was sealed in his cubicle in 1939. It had no running water, no toilet and only a dim light. His mother lowered food to him through a hole and guarded the secret of his existence for years.

He finally was dug out by police after his mother went to a hospital. Makushak said he is interested now in the outside, in radio, television and store windows filled with articles he had forgotten.

The future? "I hope to get married," said the onetime hermit of Brooklyn. "I want my own home. I want to live a normal life."

New, or 'Lost' Comet Discovered Near Pisces

PASADENA, CALIF. — The California Institute of Technology has reported that a new, or "lost" comet has been discovered by astronomers at Mount Palomar observatory.

Dr. Alber G. Wilson and his assistant, R. G. Harrison, identified the comet from photographs taken by the giant Schmidt telescope.

At first they believed the heavenly body was a minor planet, but changed their identification when later photographs showed a tail. Distance and size of the comet were not determined, but Dr. Wilson said it is in the constellation of Pisces and was moving away from the sun.

The discovery was made from some of the first photographs taken with the 48-inch Schmidt telescope for the five-year National Geographic society survey of the universe.

Treasure in Old Jewels Found in Mansion Trunk

CHICAGO, ILL.—A treasure in diamonds has been found in the false bottom of a trunk in the cluttered old mansion of a 95-year old widow who died recently.

Ralph Berkowitz, attorney for a trust company, disclosed the find. He said the diamonds weighed about 1,050 carats and were set in 300 pieces of jewelry.

The gems were found stuffed into medicine bottles and match boxes. Some were wrapped in yellow, crumbling newspapers. The value of the treasure had not been determined.

Berkowitz estimated that the diamonds, together with uncrated antiques which filled many rooms of the rambling mansion, would bring the estate of Mrs. Lnda Bell Titus Knox to more than $500,000.

Mrs. Knox died in a small third floor room in the mansion in a once prosperous west side neighborhood.

Neighbors knew that Mrs. Knox was wealthy. Her estate included 27 pieces of real estate in the Chicago area. She also owned homes in River Forest and Wilmington, Ill. Not even her lawyers knew of her treasure in diamonds.

In addition to the gems found in the house, 75 pieces of jewelry, about half containing diamonds, were found in her bank vault.

A search of littered desk drawers in her home turned up $5,000 in cash and $22,000 in uncashed checks and money orders. Berkowitz said many of the checks were so old they could not be cashed because of the statute of limitations.

Badge-Flasher Maneuvers Poolhall Out of $5,000

KLAMATH FALLS, ORE.—A distinguished looking gentleman walked into the crowded Klamath billiard hall, flashed a badge at two employees and said: "This is it, boys. Come along with me."

District Attorney Dayton Van Vactor, in reporting the event, said the visitors then picked up the poolhall's strongbox containing $5,000 and led the puzzled employees to the county courthouse.

There he told them to be seated outside Van Vactor's office. He asked Van Vactor for the city attorney and was directed down the corridor. With the strongbox under his arm, he walked out of sight down the hall.

After a time, the two employees left their seats and asked the district attorney for an explanation. Then the search began.

Van Vactor said the man was traced to the airport—but that was the last seen of him and the $5,000.

Gotham Cabbie Cheers Up Fares With Neat Puns

NEW YORK.—For 29 years now Abe Heller, New York cab driver has been spouting puns for his passengers every time the meter clicks.

In fact, his puns have become a part of his life and of the lives of his passengers, too. He even carries his puns into his home on W. 64th street where he lives surrounded by four radios, a television set, jukebooks and Sam Katz. Sam Katz is his cat.

"I have heard it stated that the pun is the lowest form of humor," Heller said with great dignity. "But don't you believe it. The party who said that was just jealous.

"Say, here's a new one," he cracked, "what chemical do you get from the telephone company? The answer is 'nitrates'. Get the idea? I originate jokes to amuse my fares. Most of them love it. I very seldom get paid off without a tip."

Always Thinking
Stockily built and with the gleaming eye of a punster perpetually thinking up his next horror, Heller announced a standing offer for Milton Berle and anybody else who fancies himself a fast man with a gag.

"I will wager $1,000 nobody can outpun me," Heller challenged. "Berle says there's nothing new in jokes. Maybe not in his. But get this: A Ubangi dame got fresh with her husband. 'Lissen,' he says, 'don't give me none of your lip. That's new, that's fresh stuff, all my own.'"

Heller, who hacks his own cab nights, said proudly he can drive a passenger from South Ferry to Yonkers and make a pun practically every time the dinger (meter) clicks, without repeating himself.

"I give it to them in continuity," he declared. "Like this: What has Irene Dunne lately? She went to Veronica Lake to be near Dinah Shore where Larry Parks his car, and she wouldn't have gone, only Preston Foster. She's a nice girl who considers Robert Young but Victor Mature. She don't like fellows with beards and says, 'Isn't Monte Woolley?'"

Comics Puzzle Him
Sam Katz poked his paw at Heller, who sparrd neatly and went on: "I can tell pretty fast whether a fare is susceptible to jokes. Sometimes it's like batting your head against a stone wall, so I clam right up."

Passengers entering Heller's chariot have been startled to hear him ask: "Why is the floor of a cab like a restaurant?"

Before they can recover, Heller yak yaks: "Can't you see it's an auto mat?"

"Professional comedians," Heller said, "puzzle me. They look so sad when they get into my cab, and when I give them a good one, they look sadder."

Heller said his ambition is to write gags—and get paid for them. "Another fellow and me," he said, "had a chance to get on television, but we got sinus trouble. Nobody would sign us."

Solid Silver Bars Taken From Sunken Spanish Ship
MIAMI, FLA.—The Smithsonian institution in Washington, D.C., has revealed it has bought one of the ingots of solid silver recovered from a sunken Spanish galleon in the Florida keys.

Dr. Alexander Wetmore, secretary of the institution, said the bar had been bought from Charles M. Brookfield, Florida representative of the National Audubon society, and that it was "more than 200 years old."

The find was made by Arthur McKee, city recreation director of Homestead, Fla., last Memorial day while pursuing his hobby of making underwater pictures.

McKee, who has searched the keys for nine years as a hobby, says the ship was inside the reef and "more than three miles from land."

He would not divulge the exact location but said the wreckage lies in less than 60 feet of water.

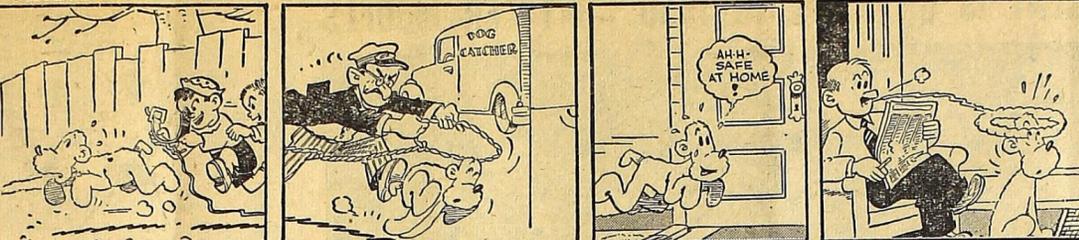

"The ship carried at least six guns we can see," McKee said. "It lies in sand with coral grown partially over the wreck."

"I took pictures of the cannon and then came across some bulk and tried to move it. I got all excited and called to my crew to send down a line. The silver ingots were lying in ballast."

McKee did not disclose how many ingots had been recovered but exhibited two, weighing 80 and 80 pounds, in addition to that bought by the Smithsonian.

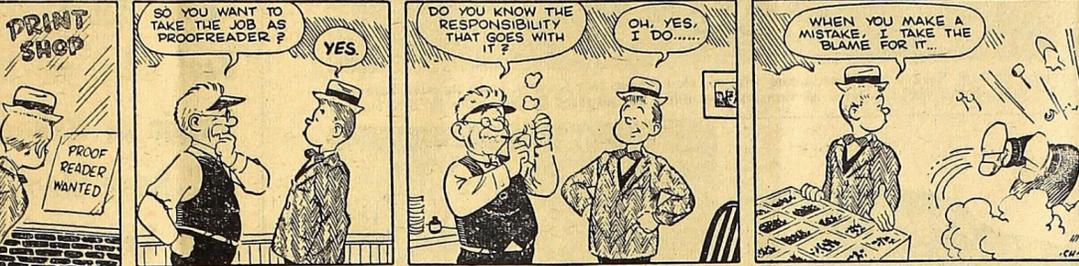

The vessel was not identified, McKee said, except that it was a Spanish craft and some of the wreckage bore Spanish markings, similar to those on the silver ingots.

ACCENT IS ON STYLE IN 1950 CHRYSLER MODELS

The Chrysler 1950 New Yorker four-door sedan, with restyled longer rear fenders, more massive bumpers, new radiator grille, better visibility from the larger rear window and powered by the 133-hp. Spitfire engine.

Rear view of the Chrysler Windsor series Newport, a new steel top "convertible" with distinctive styling around the rear window and no window or door posts to obstruct the view when windows are down.

Interior of the 1950 Chrysler New Yorker four-door sedan, showing the new arm rest on the doors, a waffle pattern in the door panel upholstery and the center arm rest in the rear seat.

Introduces New Car Styling

In its 1950 line, now on display in dealer's show-rooms throughout the country, Chrysler offers new styling, inside and out, including entirely new upholstery in virtually all models; the introduction of an entirely new body style available in both the six and eight cylinder lines; improvements in the instrument panel, larger brakes on the six-cylinder models and an improved booster in the brakes of the eights; increased visibility through a rear window that has 27 percent more glass area; a slight increase in height, width and length, a wider rear tread on the sixes, and a refinement of numerous features introduced in the 19-49 models. Nineteen body styles are listed and 15 standard body colors, eight of which are entirely new.

Appearance improvements begin at the front bumper and are carried through to the rear bumper, giving the new line distinction and individuality. Different styling features have been incorporated in the sixes and in the eights, so that one point of difference between the other at first glance. Among the points of difference between the two lines are the parking lights, the length of the molding on the front fender, the nameplate on the front of the radiator and the wheel cover.

Front-end styling features an entirely new die-cast grille, comprising three heavy horizontal bars, topped by a fourth bar that curves down at the ends. In the sixes, a new rectangular parking light is located below each headlight between the top and bottom of the grille. These bars extend out to wrap around the fender. In the eights, a new round parking light is installed in a chrome grille plate under each headlight. This chrome plate fills the space between the top and bottom bars of the grille. Seven thin vertical bars are placed between the horizontal bars of the grille. A new enamel-plate nameplate with chrome wings is placed just above the center of the grille in the sixes. The name Chrysler in script is used on the eights in this position. There is a new hood ornament on the hood.

Front bumpers are two inches wider than in the preceding model and new-style bumper guards complement the deep-section bumper and frame license plate holder.

Other changes are a longer rear fender, new large combination tail light, massive rear bumpers, new larger rear window, improved instrument panel and interior styling has been given additional touches of elegance in all models.

THE HOME TOWN REPORTER IN WASHINGTON

WALTER SHEAR, WNU Correspondent

Oleo Issue Looms THE SECOND SESSION of the 81st congress which convened Tuesday likely will be another long drawn out session despite the fact that 1950 is an election year and all members of the house and 32 members of the senate are up for reelection.

During the first session President Truman, through continual hammering, cajoling, stubbornness and at times through threats, kept congress in session for ten long months and as a result forced through a portion of his Fair Deal program. And while the experts do not believe he will keep this session in Washington for 10 months, he will again seek by all the pressure at his command, to force through as much of the remainder of his program as possible.

Members of the congress have had about two months rest and have learned first hand just what the folks in their respective states and congressional districts want. And this knowledge is expected to temper or control the decisions of congress insofar as the rest of the President's program is concerned.

The state of the union message of the President urges the completion of his program and sets out for special treatment that part of the program which he considers most vital to the well-being of the nation.

Well up on the congressional agenda will be the repeal of the tax on oleo, passed during the first session by the house and now resting in a senate committee. And there will be renewed and forceful pressure brought to bear on the Brannan farm program about which the Democratic high command during the past year has sought to educate the farmers and win their approval, particularly in the Midwest, which is expected to be one of the battle grounds of the 1950 election.

Challenge Accepted

It will be remembered that at the Des Moines conference, the Democrats adopted a resolution which accepted "the challenge of the Republican leadership to make the farm program offered by the two parties the major issue of the election campaign of 1950 in the Midwest." And since that conference held last June, the Democratic national committee and the senate and congressional campaign committee have been beating the bushes attempting to convince the farmers of the superiority of the Brannan plan over any plan offered by the Republicans, all in spite of the fact that the National Grange and the Farm Bureau Federation have adopted resolutions opposing the plan. Only the National Farmers Union has approved it.

In these midwestern states the Democrats have set their sights on capturing at least 21 congressional seats now held by Republicans and will give real battle in an effort to unseat Senators Homer Capehart of Indiana, Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, Forrest C. Donnell of Missouri, Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, Chan Gurney of South Dakota, and Milton Young of North Dakota.

In the 11-state area, however, there is only one Democrat up for reelection—Sen. Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois. At this writing, it appears the Democrats have little hope of unseating Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio.

Tax Hike Unlikely

Despite all the talk about increased taxes at this session of the congress, the political wiseacres here can see little hope of such an eventuality in an election year. If there is any tax increase it likely will take the form of corporate tax increase and very likely some of the excise taxes may be removed.

And because this is an election year there are indications that votes at this session will be more closely along party lines than during the past session... that the issues may be more clearly defined and that there is likely to be more party unity expressed, except perhaps among the Democrats on the question of civil rights, where again, the Dixiecrats of the southern states are expected to use the threat of filibuster to prevent a vote on such issues as the poll tax, anti-lynching and fair employment practices act.

Democrats Ahead

In the senate, the Democrats appear to have some advantage insofar as the election is concerned. While they have 20 senators up for reelection and the Republicans only 12... ten of these Democrats come from southern or border states, such as Kentucky and Maryland.

And in New York state, Sen. Herbert Lehman must run again since his election recently only filled out the unexpired term of Sen. Robert Wagner.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Huge Crop Surpluses May Bring On Widespread Federal Farm Controls; Three Pact Nations Unify Defense

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CROP REPORT: Punitive Plenty

It was an ironical twist that American farmers, by producing in 1949 the second largest crop in all U.S. history, may have shackled themselves with broad government controls for years to come.

The year's harvest acreage was the largest since 1932 when depression-ridden farmers sought to offset declining prices by expanding production.

Except for bad weather during the growing season in some sections of the nation, the 1949 crop total might easily have set a new record. Even so, the harvest was so large that the U.S. department of agriculture felt called upon to invoke production controls of various kinds to reduce the volume next year. These controls probably would extend to cotton, peanuts, major types of tobacco, rice, potatoes and soybeans.

The agriculture department said the huge harvest was the result of uniformly large production of most crops, rather than record volumes of a few individual ones. Records were marked up only for rice, dry beans and peas.

The figures: Corn, three billion, 378 million bushels; livestock feed-grain, 126 million tons; vegetable oil-seeds; soybeans, flaxseed, peanuts, cottonseed, 15.33 million tons; tobacco, two billion pounds; fruit production, nine million, 800 thousand tons.

Yields per acre were above average for most crops, although wheat, flaxseed and dry peas were notable exceptions. Nearly 163 million tons of the eight grains were harvested during the year.

COMIC BOOKS: Get Last Laugh

There may not be any laughs in current comic books—as so many psychologists, psychiatrists, educators and ministers have charged—But there was certainly more than an abdominal chuckle for the comic book entrepreneurs, themselves, in a spectacular respectability recently accorded their products.

For, as amazing as it may seem, the U. S. state department was to incorporate the comic book technique in its latest bid for the minds of non-Communist Asiatics.

WITH THEIR THEMES based on the lives of American heroes. 260,000 copies of the picture-series books had been scheduled for delivery early in January.

The books were to be sent to South Korea, Thailand, French Indo-China and Indonesia. The hope was that through hand-to-hand circulation information about the history and background of the United States would be spread widely in areas under strong Communist pressure but which, as yet, had not capitulated.

THE SERIES was to include 32-page books of the lives of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Walt Whitman, Abraham Lincoln, Andrew Carnegie, Jane Addams, Thomas A. Edison, and George Washington Carver.

PANCAKE DAY: Idea Spreading

A familiar and popular event in some United States communities, unknown in many more, National Pancake day is beginning to catch on in many localities.

An ancient as far as international observance goes, the event has been observed elsewhere in the world for hundreds of years. No "artificial" "Johnny-come-lately" idea, the day has long been observed in Great Britain and many other countries in Europe—always on the day before Lent begins.

THE NEXT Pancake day falls on February 21, 1950, when here in the United States, some communities will mark the day in city-wide celebration, a sort of mid-winter fair at which everyone eats pancakes. In many other communities, church groups (frequently Episcopalians) have long observed the day with quiet breakfasts, luncheons and suppers—all of which feature pancakes.

UMBRELLA: For Amphitheatre

Most everyone has speculated about it and when it would come, but now, apparently, it has arrived—a revolutionary rain-defying umbrella for an amphitheatre. According to the designers, it can cover the amphitheatre in two and one-half minutes at the flick of a switch. The device isn't actually on the market yet, but will be built next fall to house activities of the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera.

Raps Big Steel

Everett Kassarow, executive secretary of the CIO, tells a congressional committee that big steel's hiking the price of steel is a "scandalous situation" and asks the committee to investigate it. In the recent price raise, the steel industry said recent welfare and pension concessions to labor made the increase necessary.

PACT DEFENSE: One Broad Pattern

Probably pointing the way toward a general North Atlantic pact policy, the United States, Great Britain and Canada have worked out procedures for practically a complete exchange of information concerning military weapons and fighting techniques each country develops.

THE OFFICIAL announcement to that effect was a guarded one, but defense department spokesmen said the three nations will pool all data on just about everything in the way of conventional weapons used by their respective fighting forces and together will study such advanced weapons as guided missiles. There was no indication of the atomic bomb in this "share-the-know-how" deal.

The goal, according to the announcement, was to make not only standard weapons interchangeable, but to draw on the incentive techniques of scientists and the "operational procedures" developed by military planners.

THE STEP, in any manner of speaking, was a prudent one if the democracies are convinced that among the best avenues of peace is one that leads to the ultimate in preparedness.

There is a most plausible school of thought among international diplomats, that if a consolidation of sufficient strength is mustered by the western powers, there need be no fear of World War III, no matter how much the Russians might desire one. For whatever else may be said of Russia's Stalin, he has never been branded as a complete idiot.

After Stalin, of course, anything might happen, for ambitious men oftentimes let their ambition cloud their vision to the extent that they can't see where they are going. Give such men enough power, and the war everyone fears might well be in the making.

TOP 10 MEN: Rated Outstanding

More than 1,500 newspapermen had been called upon to choose, in their opinion, the 10 outstanding men of the world during 1949. At first blush that would appear to be a staggering assignment, but there is no newsman worthy the name who won't give you an opinion on anything at any time.

THE TEN "outstanding men of the year," as announced in the 1949 Year News Annual were: Dr. Albert Schweitzer, religion; Dean Acheson, U. S. Secretary of state, statesmanship; Dr. Ralph Bunche, world peace; Dr. Charles Seymour, Yale university president, education; Walter Reuther, president of the CIO-UAW, labor; Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodgers second baseman, sports; Serge Koussevitzky, Boston symphony orchestra, music; Arthur Miller, "Death of a Salesman," drama; Stanley Kramer, producer of the movie "Home of The Brave," movies; Milton Berle, radio and television.

CRITICS of these selections might charge that the selectors let the headlines of the year, rather than the gentlemen's accomplishments, get in their eyes when they made their choices.

New Probe Asked

Whatever else might occupy congressmen, there appeared to be no lacking of probe subjects. For instance, Representative Buchanan (D., Pa.) announced that a special house lobbying investigating committee would begin looking into real estate and medical issues. Buchanan is chairman of the committee which will do the looking. The committee also will investigate "other-side" lobbying.

RUSSIA: Going to Sea

Tom Paine's phrase, "sunshine patriot," might well apply to any segment of the Russian army, since the Soviets have no warm water port for winter operations; but if the authoritative publication, Jane's Fighting Ships, was to be believed, the Russians must be planning to change all that.

ACCORDING to the article, Russia is building three 35,000-ton battleships equipped to fire radio-controlled aerial torpedoes. It said the Soviet navy also is speeding construction on a fleet of 1,000 submarines including a type "with a great range and a very high submerged speed."

How did Jane's penetrate the iron curtain to a degree necessary to glean that information?

The publication itself says merely that a "hitherto reliable source" relayed the report, and added that it passed along "with reserve... conflicting information in the informant's report" that one of the three battleships is still in the yards, but "two others of the same class are believed to be in commission." Jane's emphasized that it had "no substantiation of this report."

THE ARTICLE noted that the United States and Great Britain have only one battleship in service between them—and that is the U.S.S. Missouri. But, it added, "there are signs that new fleets are in the making."

Continuing, the article declared: "Warships are being designed not as improvements or developments of previous classes, but from first principles for a specific role of countering a potential enemy type. In the next few years we are likely to see... the atomic-bomber carrier, the guided-missile control vessel, the task-force command ship, the anti-submarine cruiser, rocket destroyers, fast, low-lying frigates and gas-turbine ships."

Which would indicate that the navy hasn't been as dormant as the air force might have liked it to appear in the unification rows in congress.

HOUSING: For 'Forgotten'

According to an impression prevalent in the capital, President Truman intends to press congress for some action to spur construction of medium-priced housing.

And, as must have been inevitable, the "forgotten man" was again brought into the picture. The capital sources mentioned that Mr. Truman's administration would recommend that this housing be designed to help the so-called "forgotten man" in housing—the middle-income worker of the nation—to own his own home or get better rental accommodations.

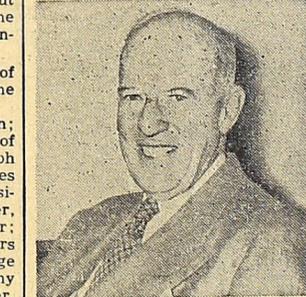

IF ANYTHING can be done in that respect, the "forgotten man" would surely be most grateful—but the manner in which the housing problem has been kicked around in Washington could be blamed if the "forgotten man" adopted an attitude of "I'll believe it when I see it."

The new housing program, according to reports, will be on the "must" list of early consideration by the lawmakers, but that "must" isn't as formidable as it sounds, for most Americans will remember that Mr. Truman was unable to get any action on a lot of "must" legislation in the first session of the 81st congress.

However, no one could be ruled out for trying, and if any successful housing venture should result, there would probably be an air of forgiveness all 'round.

THE LEGISLATION which the President is reported as ready to sponsor is said to rely mainly on private industry to do the job.

Talks for Hiss

Francis B. Sayre, former U. S. assistant secretary of state, testified that Alger Hiss, former state department attaché who is on trial for perjury in connection with stolen secret documents, had a "very good" reputation for integrity and veracity in 1938 when Hiss was Sayre's "right hand man."

DIPLOMACY: Classes for Japs

As part of the policy of speeding readmission of Japan into the world family of nations, U. S. state department officials have disclosed that this nation soon will start training more "important" Japanese diplomats to aid in that effort. It was disclosed at the same time that plans have been made to bring several hundred Japanese members of parliament, newsmen, government officials, and students.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS International Uniform Sunday School Lessons By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Acts 2:1-41. DEVOTIONAL READING: Joel 2:28-32

The Church Dynamic

Lesson for January 8, 1950

THE CHURCH is not meant to be a club, a lecture-hall, a debating society, a rest home, a music hall, an entertainment bureau or a burial association. It has something to do along all these lines, of course. But the Church is meant to be a place and channel of power. One of the last things Jesus, the Founder of the Church, said to his friends was: "Ye shall receive power when the Holy Spirit is come upon you." Not you shall receive comfort, or wealth, or insight, or any other good thing, though all of them have their place. What Jesus highlights is power.

Dr. W. M. Horton, in his little book on the Christian faith, asks: When is a church not a church? His answer is: When it has lost the Holy Spirit. That is a good New Testament answer.

The early Christmas could not have imagined a church without the Holy Spirit, because in fact there had never been one without him. It was the coming of the Spirit on that summer day in Jerusalem that actually made the church, in the first place. True, it was not made out of nothing.

But suppose the Spirit had never come? What would have happened? Sooner or later the little band would have grown tired of waiting, would have given up faith in Jesus' promise, would have drifted off one by one, and the Christian church would have died before it was born.

Tongues of Fire

THERE SEEMS to be something mystic, mysterious and unreal about the Holy Spirit, to most people's minds. We read in Acts about the flaming tongues of fire, about the rushing mighty wind, about Christians talking in strange languages; and then we go to our own church and find there no fire, no wind; only ordinary English is spoken by everyday people, the same people we have been seeing all week.

We get to thinking the Holy Spirit is just something in the Bible, some experience they could have away back yonder, but not here and now. After all, looking over the church from that day to this, and around the world at the present day, how many cases, authentic genuine cases of fire-on-the-head or storm-in-the-church-house, do you find? Not many! Does that show the Holy Spirit is not here any more?

We must remember that St. Paul met with much the same questions. Did a man have to speak in strange tongues to be sure he had the Holy Spirit? Fortunately, Paul stated in so many words what the fruits of the Spirit are: Love, joy, peace... Look up the rest of it in Gal. 3:22-23.

You may take St. Paul's inspired word for it: If you ever see a church, a Christian group, that is notable for love, joy, peace... gentleness, goodness, faith... you may be sure the Holy Spirit is there. We do not gather grapes from thorns nor figs from thistles, Jesus says. You don't have the fruits of the Spirit without having the Spirit. And that is Power. Said a great Australian preacher: Show me a church where the members treat one another with more real love than the people outside the church treat one another, and you will find men crowding the doors of that church to get in.

How Can We Get the Holy Spirit?

WE CANNOT GET the Spirit by wishing ourselves back in the first century. We can have the Holy Spirit now, on the same terms as always. There are no new conditions, no complicated rules, no application blanks to fill out. Jesus said: God will give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him; Paul said: Covet earnestly the best gifts.

In any church, if there is even a small group who want the power of God in their lives, who want his power for the church, that little group can change that church and change the community. Power passes through a wire when one end of it is attached to a dynamo and the other end to a machine that is doing some work.

Prayer—that is the touch with God. Service—that is the link with man. So power will flow through the Church when at one end it is in touch with God, and at the other end it is doing something real for human needs.

An Iosco woman and a former Iosco county woman were winners in the recent national Crosley Shelvador refrigerator contest. Each woman won a fine Shelvador for Christmas.

Brahmans Tackle the Mid-west

Cattle imported from India may some day compete with established beef cattle breeds in Midwest markets. One Nebraska farmer, hybrid corn pioneer, says Brahman will be as popular in a few years.

Corn belt farmers scattered thinly from Nebraska to Ohio are experimenting with herds of Brahman and crosses of Brahman on regular beef herds, according to the November issue of Successful Farming magazine.

What they find may show whether we can get all the improvement we need within our present breeds and whether existing lines of breeding have the greatest possible ability to convert more grass and legume into beef.

Do Brahman beef calves weigh 80 to 100 pounds more by weaning age and dress out to four percent higher than the usual run of cattle? Do they make economical feedlot and pasture gains and endure heat and insects better than anything we have today? Studies show Brahman and Brahman crosses have done wonders in the South. They have also made headway in the West and Northwest.

Whether the Midwest beef producer would benefit from feeding a cross of Brahman on the Hereford, Angus or Shorthorn breeds is a question. Some of the reports sound quite good, others only fair.

Fred Becker, a Hershey, Nebraska farmer who crosses Hereford cows with a Brahman bull, says: "I was the first in this community to plant hybrid corn, and now I am the first to breed Brahman. I fully believe that Brahman crossbred cattle will in time be as popular as hybrid corn."

"Crossbred Brahman steers will weigh from 80 to 100 pounds more at weaning time, and I have sold three-year old steers off grass weighing 1,308 pounds at the St. Joseph market," Becker says. He adds, "I don't usually take a dock, but even if I do, the extra weight on the animals more than makes up for it. They dress out a higher percentage of meat."

Another Nebraska farmer says: "About half my 75 to 80 yearlings are half Brahman and the other half are straight Angus about the average 100 pounds, heavier same age. As an estimate right now, the Brahman cross breeds will average about 100 pounds heavier than the straight Angus. It is my personal opinion that the crossbred animals will eat about the same amount as the regular breed but will make more gain on the same feed. Both men claim Brahman have more stamina and insect resistance.

A Kansas breeder, however, maintains that a Hereford-Short-horn-Brahman blend seems to attract as many flies as other cattle. He adds the animals are easily handled and seem to be more intelligent than English breeds.

Last winter's blizzards took a heavy toll of cattle in Nebraska. But farmers with Brahman or crossbred do not agree as to their ability to withstand severe winter weather. Observations in other parts of the Midwest as to winter hardiness of Brahman are equally conflicting.

More experiments are necessary to determine whether Brahman-crossbred cattle have a place as beefmakers in the Midwest. They may cause important changes in cattle raising.

New Dodge Cars Now on Display

The new Dodge cars which will be introduced January 4 will have a fresh styling appeal, new low body lines and many refinements in design, according to Arnold Bronson, who has returned from a dealer preview meeting in Detroit.

Mr. Bronson said that pictures of the new Dodge cars, specifications and full details on body types were released December 27 and the new cars will be on display in his showroom on January 4.

"Dodge's production and retail deliveries this year have been the highest in Dodge history," he said. "We're confident of doing better next year with the new improved models. They're beautiful cars. I personally believe they are the finest values we've ever had."

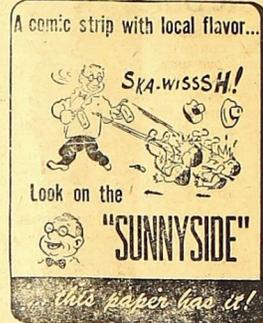

Mr. Bronson cordially invites everybody to his gala open house January 4 through 7.

Farm Homes Improved
Farm families have used their larger incomes to improve their houses, says the bureau of agricultural economics. The number of farm houses with modern bathrooms more than doubled from 1940 to 1947 and more than a million were supplied with running water. Much remains to be done. In April, 1947, two-thirds of the farm houses still had no running water and four-fifths were without modern bathrooms.

Meat Figures
Farmers probably receive a higher per cent of the consumer dollar for meat than for any other farm product.

Record Flour Export Year
The United States in 1948 exported the largest quantity of wheat and flour ever exported in any one country in any one year in all history.

Buick Has Most Comprehensive Line Since Pre War

Buick announced for 1950 its most comprehensive line of cars since pre-war days, and for the first time offered models in a wide range from the newly-invented lower price field to luxury custom models in the upper brackets. The cars are completely new from styling and engineering standpoints, boasting more powerful engines, new ad roomier bodies, greater comfort, ad sweeping fender lines carried through the length of the body.

Together there are 19 models in the line with seven in the Special Series and six models each in the Super and Roadmaster Series.

Basically the cars are on three different chassis but one model in both the Super and Roadmaster Series is on a lengthened chassis to accommodate a more spacious body.

A new engine is offered in the Super Series while the Roadmaster and Special engines have undergone changes to give increased performance.

Highlighting the style of the new cars are lower lines, the apparent use of more glass and Buick's characteristic full taper-through front fenders flowing in smooth lines through the entire body length. These lines are accentuated in the medium and higher priced models by a stainless molding running most of the length of the car.

Two distinct body styles are utilized in the Special Series, the Jetback and Tourback designs, which are available in the four-door six passenger sedans. The Jetback, and ultra-streamlined body with sweep back, is available also on the two-door three passenger coupe and the two-door six passenger sedan.

The Tourback styling, with its spacious trunk and generally roomier dimensions, is used in the four door models in the Super and Roadmaster Series cars, and the two-door models are Jetback. In addition these series each will have a convertible, a Riviera and an Estate Wagon.

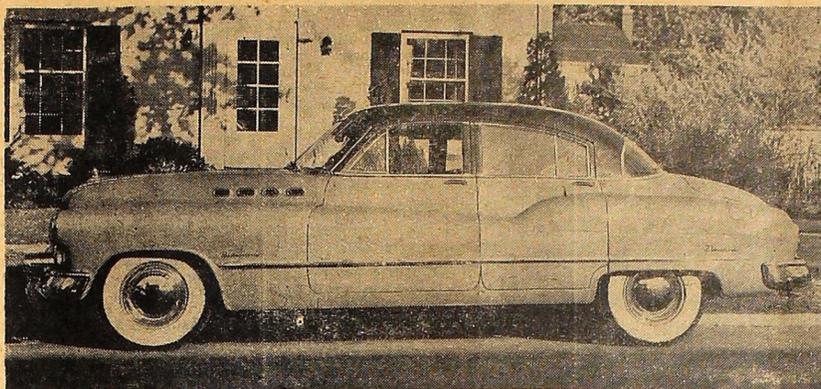

The Special Series is being increased with introduction of deluxe models, the first time in the history of the Special that deluxe models have been offered.

Buick's exclusive Dynaflo transmissions continue to be standard equipment on all Roadmaster models and optional in the Super and Special Series. Nearly 350,000 of these troque converter transmissions have been installed on Buick cars since Dynaflo was introduced in 1948, and during 1949 approximately 70 percent of all Buicks were equipped with Dynaflo.

Displaying The Flag

The flag never should be reduced to the role of a mere decoration by being tied into knots or draped over a speaker's stand. For this purpose bunting should be employed. When used on a speaker's platform the flag should be displayed over a staff or from a wall curtain at the rear. When the flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from a windowsill, balcony, front of building or similar position the union should go to the peak of the staff, unless the flag is flown at half-staff.

Buick Roadmaster for 1950

Tops in the Buick line for 1950 is the stately Roadmaster six passenger sedan. Inches shorter than its predecessor the car has a more powerful engine, a completely new body and features a one-piece curved windshield. Note the full taper-through of the front fenders, the wrap-around bumpers, spacious trunk and the narrow rear quarter panel permitting the rear window to come well around to the side providing better rear vision for the driver.

Public Approves New Pontiac

Based on public acceptance and product reputation, 1950 is likely to prove the best sales year in Pontiac's history, is the belief of L. W. Ward, general sales manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

"We have in the 1950 models an improved product over the 1949 Pontiacs which set-off an unflattering and record breaking demand," Mr. Ward said. "During 1949 more than 360,000 persons bought Pontiacs and these cars, in price, performance and appearance, Pontiac appears to fit all the motoring desires of most persons. And, now, as deliveries are becoming easier, we feel the trend to Pontiac will be even more pronounced."

As a result, Mr. Ward declared, Pontiac schedules for 1950 have been set at the highest level in company history.

"Pontiac added many thousands of new friends and admirers during 1949," he continued. "Add these to the millions of satisfied Pontiac owners and the styling and improvements of the 1950 and you have all the ingredients for a great sales year."

Pontiac dealers, generally, now are able to give speedy delivery on the exact Pontiac a customer desires, equipped exactly as he wants it, Mr. Ward said.

Now on display, the new 1950 Pontiacs offer twenty-eight apt performance and mechanical improvements—headlined by a substantial increase in eight cylinder power.

Pontiac again gives its customers an extremely wide choice. Chief-tair and Streamliner lines are continued with standard and deluxe styling, six or eight cylinder engines and Hydra-Matic or Synchromesh transmissions.

From bumper to bumper, inside and out, calculated design touches have enriched and highlighted Pontiac's traditionally rich appearance.

Owl, Heavy Eater

Owls have to be smart about hunting food because they require such a large amount. The little burrowing owl eats its own weight every 24 hours, and an old barn owl with a brood of three or four to feed must capture more rodents in a single night than a dozen cats, simply because its voracious young eat their own weight every 12 hours.

Record Flour Export Year

The United States in 1948 exported the largest quantity of wheat and flour ever exported in any one country in any one year in all history.

Land of Lobsters

Nova Scotia is the world's largest producer of lobsters, and remarkably enough, its geographical outline resembles a lobster. It is almost entirely surrounded by the sea and has a coast line more than three times as long as the entire Pacific fringe of the United States.

Ants build tiny shelters of mud and vegetable material for their aphid cows in the crotches of shrubs.

"Yes, We Have Liability Insurance"

"My husband insisted that we take out liability insurance as well as fire coverage. And I'm glad we did. Only last week a workman fell and injured himself while repairing our roof. The insurance company promptly took care of the matter, relieving us of worries."

No wonder they're calling them "TOP CHOICE FOR 'FIFTY'"

They're greater in power—higher in compression—a standout in styling—dreams to drive—and now there's a Buick beauty for 1950 to fit practically any budget

No, we just couldn't hold back the whole big Buick line for 1950.

They're too good-looking—too much fun to drive—too jam-packed with stepped-up, higher-compression, ready-to-ramble power—to be kept under cover.

So maybe you've already seen some 1950 Buicks on the highway.

Maybe you've noticed the extra "git up and travel" they have—glimpsed the wide, curving windshields (one piece in most models)—noted, approvingly, that the typical Buick taper is now found in all Buick fenders.

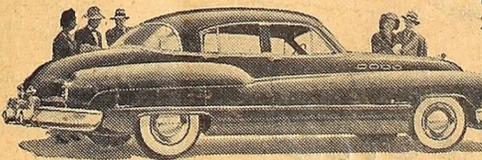

Maybe you've even heard some things...

That there are more than a dozen-and-a-half models to choose from. That there are three power plants in the Buick line—all of higher compression, all stepped up in power.

That all models are big and roomy inside—some rear seats are better than a foot wider than before!—yet in every instance, shorter over-all, so easier to handle, park and garage.

Above all, maybe you've heard of exciting news on price...

That Dynaflo Drive, for instance—standard on ROADMASTER models, optional on all others—now costs 20% less than on 1949 models.

LOTS OF LUGGAGE SPACE, plus a high-fashion rear-end treatment, graces the Buick fourback Sedan models for 1950. This is the ROADMASTER, and above is the SUPER version of this much-wanted 4-door, 6-passenger Sedan.

Phone your BUICK dealer for a demonstration—Right Now!

POWER NEWS WITH A REAL PUNCH!

Here's just one part of Buick's three-way power story for 1950—the brand-new F-263 valve-in-head straight-eight. Packing a wallop that makes the SUPER a stand-out performer of the season, here is still higher compression and still greater power in no greater overall size. You'll get this new engine on all SUPER models, in 124 hp with Synchromesh transmission, 128 hp with Dynaflo Drive.*

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

That in the full line—SPECIAL, SUPER and ROADMASTER series—there is a Buick to fit practically every budget above the very lowest!

Hadn't you better see him—right now—and see if you, too, don't find Buick "top choice for 1950"?
