Tawas City Loses 5 to 4 to East Tawas

Local Team Plays At Alabaster Sunday Afternoon

Tawas City suffered their second loss of the season, last Sunday, when they were over run by the East Tawas Independents, 5 to 4, at the local athletic field.

Except for a bad eighth inning, when East Tawas scored three runs it looked like clear sailing for Tawas City, who was coasting along on a two run lead. Gackstetter, batting for Barr, got a blooper over second, that got away from Wegner for a hit; Katosh struck out; McDonald, next up, sacrificed and both runners were safe when Wegner dropped Look's throw; Peterson flied to left; Coleman singled, scoring Gackstetter; Warner threw to the plate attempting to nip McDonald, but was not in time; Coleman went to second; Wegner covered the bag on Young's throw, but Coleman took Wegner out of play with a football block, and scored as the ball went to left center field. Staudacher grounded out to end the inning.

The Tawas City team out hit the opposition and had men on base in every inning, but just couldn't come up with a hit at the right time.

No batter on either team collected more than two hits each, with Anschuetz, Wegner and Look doing the trick for Tawas City and Staudacher and Fogelsonger for East Tawas.

In the ninth inning, Peterson, East Tawas pitcher, walked the first two men to face him. Wegner, next up, attempting to sacrifice, flied to Gackstetter at first, who then touched second, doubling off McGuire and tagged out Harold Rollin at first, who thought there were three out, for an unassisted triple play, and ending the ball game.

Herb Look, on the mound for the locals, hurled a good game and except for the errors and bad throws could have chalked up another victory. Warner made a fine play in center field, in the sixth, when Coleman flied to center and Warner doubled Peterson off first with a perfect peg to first. Staudacher of the East Tawas second sacker, looked good around the keystone bag, making several nice plays.

This Sunday, Tawas City will play at Alabaster. Drive down and root for your favorite team.

Would Put on Drive To Keep City Clean

Suggest Waste Paper Containers on Street

Twenty-five Tawas City businessmen attended the June meeting of the Tawas City Businessmen's Association at the Legion Hall Tuesday evening.

A discussion on City Park improvement for this summer's project was the main topic of the evening. Ways of building new picnic tables and chairs to replace the old benches of a few years ago, and general park beautification were discussed.

A drive to keep our town cleaner was suggested by the members, and it was suggested that waste paper containers be put along US-23, in order to keep papers from blowing down the streets.

John Brugger addressed the members on ways of financing the tennis court repair project which will begin in a couple of weeks.

The Association is sponsoring the Lee Shows Carnival this summer in the city park, with the money earned from the concessions to be turned into the city park improvement fund.

LIBERTY BELL REPLICA TO VISIT HERE

Pictured above is the full-size exact duplicate of the Liberty Bell which will be displayed locally and will tour the state as the symbol of the Independence Savings Bonds Drive from May 15 to July 4, which urges the people to "Save for your Independence."

Fifty-two of these bells, touring the nation during the drive, were completely donated by America's copper producers. Companies donating the Liberty Bells are the Anaconda Copper Corp.; Phelps-Dodge Corp.; American Smelting and Refining Co.; The American Metal Co. Ltd.; Miami Copper Co. The U. S. Steel Corp's American Bridge Company supplied the stays and hardware used in mounting the bells. The Ford Motor Company is providing the transportation of these bells across the nation.

TO RING HERE NEXT MONDAY

On Display Near Leslie Garage in Evening

"Independence Day" will be coming a little early in Iosco county this year!

The big day for citizens of this area to celebrate Independence—their personal financial independence—will arrive next Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, according to H. E. Friedman, chairman of the Iosco County Volunteer Savings Bonds Committee.

That's the day when Michigan's "duplicate original" Liberty Bell will arrive in the Tawas area to be rung at the courthouse in ceremonies spearheading the campaign to sell a quota of $18,000,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds in this county during the Independence Drive, ending July 4.

The replica, an exact duplicate of America's hallowed freedom symbol, even to tone, is touring the State on a red, white and blue Ford truck to emphasize the timeliness of the Drive's slogan: "Save for YOUR Independence—Buy U. S. Savings Bonds."

On its arrival at 4:00 o'clock the bell will be paraded through the two cities, later going to Oscoda. At 8:00 o'clock it will be on display on property adjacent to the Leslie Garage.

The program prepared by the volunteer committee includes the Legion Posts of East Tawas and Tawas City and the school children of both cities.

"The Liberty Bell is a great deal more than a symbol of the Independence Drive, it is the symbol of our freedom and personifies the American spirit. Everyone is invited to see this breathtakingly beautiful Bell and hear it ring. The bell will be paraded through both cities."

Tawas City, Michigan,
U. S. A.

Dear Mr. Johnson:

This is to inform you that I and my wife Dolly intend to participate in the National Archery Tournament in your city August 18-21 inclusive and that we hope to be able to arrive on August 17 by some means of transportation from New York. Departure on Aug. 22 if nothing unforeseen happens.

With regards to accommodation we should like to get-if possible-one room with two beds. As we according to the very sad currency situation in Sweden will be short of Dollars we will be glad to get no unnecessary luxury. Two Banquet tickets wanted.

With reference to what I said about the currency situation it has been impossible for me to get a cheque for 5 Dollars from a bank, and I am therefore compelled to ask if it will be possible for me to send the money after I arrive in the US, which will probably happen one of the last days of July. I cannot send Dollar bills in a letter from here.

I will appreciate very much to get a confirmation from you stating if my request has been acceptable to you.

Hoping to be seeing you and with best regards,
Sincerely,

Would Increase Iosco Pheasant Population

Propagation Program Started by Iosco Sportsmens Club

The Iosco Sportsmen's Club is sponsoring a pheasant propagation program according to an announcement made this week by William Lee, secretary of the club.

Lee states that the 600 eggs ordered by the club for distribution through the county should be here this week. These eggs will be hatched, the birds raised to eight weeks of age, and released. The aim of the propagation group will be to increase the present stock of pheasants to such a number that the county will be opened to pheasant hunters in the coming years.

The committee on pheasant propagation include: Walter Deering, Alabaster, William Groff and Fred Mills, Tawas City.

The Board of Directors of the Iosco Sportsmen's Club will hold a meeting at 8:00 o'clock next Tuesday evening at the rooms over the East Tawas Recreation. All sportsmen of the county are urged to attend.

The business will include voting on proposals that will be brought up at the annual meeting of the M. U. C. C. convention to be held June 15 to 18 at Ludington. A report on the progress of the proposed skeet and rifle range will be given.

The membership drive is gaining momentum and reports indicate that this club is one of the fastest growing clubs in the state.

Will Rebuild City Tennis Court

High School Students Prepare Site

High school students, under the direction of Coach Mark Defibaugh, have prepared the site for rebuilding the tennis court at the Tawas City Athletic Field.

They lack the $125.00 necessary to purchase blacktop. How about some small donations to help the cause? John Koneske is giving the clay, delivered to the site, and the Mueller Concrete Products Co., the gravel, the McKay Sales Co., and Elmer Erickson are donating the use of their trucks to haul the blacktop. Another truck is needed.

Tennis is a fine game for our young people to be interested in. It will be one of the principal features in the Youth Recreation Program. Help the young people complete the work with a gift for blacktop. John Brugger or George Myles will receive donations for the project.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nation Displays Might on First Armed Forces Day; Atlantic Pact Nations Announce Defense Plans

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

ARMED FORCES: A Workable Team

Any doubts that observers might have entertained about the success of armed forces unification in the United States was dispelled with the observance of the first national Armed Forces Day.

For the observance, America's fighting forces across the world paraded in the mightiest show of power since World War II. The biggest show of all went on in Germany where more than 85,000 Yanks demonstrated their readiness.

The day's message to the world was plain: The United States is awake to the menace of Communist aggression and is readying its defenses.

President Truman took the occasion to tell the public that if congress had passed his universal military training program five years ago "there would have been no cold war."

He also invited all Americans "to take stock of the state of our readiness to defend ourselves against aggression."

And, in general, Americans were pleased and impressed with what they saw on parade. Although the forces were less in number, they seemed well trained, power-packed units that would form the backbone of new armies should the situation arise.

Army, navy and air force put on a united front that was pleasing to observers who remember recent unification squabbles between the services.

BOSTON:

Taste of Tradition

Climaxing its jubilee celebration, staid old Boston let down its hair by serving dinner to 10,000 on the Common and holding a barn dance at the Garden.

Believed to be the largest meal ever served to a seated group, the guests got a taste of tradition by consuming five tons of baked beans, three tons of potato salad, and 3,500 pounds of ham.

Earlier events of the jubilee were designed to call attention to the cultural, business, industrial, and recreational advantages of Boston and New England.

Serving the "baked-bean supper" and all the trimmings took less than an hour, same kind of a record. The trimmings included 2,000 loaves of brown bread, 12,000 individual apple pies, 12,000 servings of cheese, and 12,000 Parker house rolls.

One thousand volunteer waitresses, supervised by 40 home economists and dieticians, served the food.

UNEMPLOYMENT:

Worker's Output Up

According to the federal reserve board the individual worker's increased output has been one of the big factors in the unemployment picture since last summer.

The board analysis of "labor market developments" point to two influences at work on the part of business management:

1. "Large profits and strong financial position in recent years have encouraged business to spend record amounts for new machinery and equipment of highly efficient design.

2. "Intensified competitive pressure on management to reduce costs partly by curtailing employment and by utilizing those employed more efficiently than earlier in the postwar period."

In addition the board reports there is an increased "tendency for married women to work outside the home," and a similar trend among teen-agers.

FARM INCOME:

Likely to Dip

The agriculture department predicts that the cash income of the nation's farmers will be well under 1949 totals.

The department explained: "Prices farmers receive for their products have generally been below those of a year ago, while their costs have declined only slightly. This situation is expected to continue for the rest of the year."

Cash receipts from marketings in 1949 totaled 27.5 billion dollars. Forecasters expect the 1950 total to be approximately 25 billion dollars.

NATIONALISTS:

Ready for Last Stand

Observers believe the long expected last stand of Chinese Nationalists is now underway. They base their opinion on the fact the Nationalists have withdrawn from all except one of their blockading bases along the China coast.

Apart from Formosa and the neighboring Pescadore islands, the only territory remaining to the Nationalists appears to be Quemoy island, off Amoy.

Assails Truman

Sen. Robert Taft is shown above speaking over a nationwide radio network. He charged in his speech that the administration has shaken the confidence of the people and seeks to elect a "subservient" congress to vote into law policies that would wreck the country.

DEFENSE:

West United

At one point in their policy making in recent years, the Russians reasoned, and not without basis, that the western powers would never really be united. That reasoning, however, has received a terrific jolt.

The 12 western nations, members of the Atlantic pact, have agreed to pool their economic and military might into one vast armed force, centrally directed to resist Soviet aggression.

The plan, in reality a unification move, is American inspired. It will "create a balanced collective force," which means each of the 12 nations will contribute specific units to the central western armed force and not try to maintain expensive over-all military establishments, each self-contained in all arms.

The move was seen by military men as the one means of giving the west a balanced defense force, working in harmony, and with maximum efficiency.

The United States is expected to bear the greatest part of the cost, although each nation will share in proportion to its resources. The U.S. share is expected to cost more than $4 billion dollars this year.

That the West is deadly serious and intends to have the plan in operation as soon as possible was evident by the creation of an over-all council of deputy foreign ministers, meeting all year round, to put the plan into force. The council will have a permanent powerful chairman who, it is understood, will be an American.

Some sources predicted the U.S. may require a larger air force and navy under the plan, since this country will be entirely responsible for atomic and other strategic bombing in case of enemy aggression.

DEMOCRATS:

Harmony Disturbed

Surface harmony prevailing among Democrats at the Jefferson jubilee celebration in Chicago was shattered by the controversial civil rights issue, which split the party in 1948.

The Democrats were startled because of the unexpected source of dissension.

Most southerners who attend the Chicago meeting chose to ignore the civil rights panel. Jonathan Daniels, North Carolina national committeeman and former White house aide under both Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, did not so choose.

He sat through the meeting, listening to 16 speakers demand enactment of the Truman program, and then insisted upon speaking at the conclusion.

He told them flatly he could not go along with them in favor of a compulsory fair employment practice act, and added: "you cannot have a prohibition law against discrimination in the south."

He asserted the propaganda for the creation of a fair employment practice commission "gives a weapon to our enemies, the Dixiecrats" and makes it possible for them "to hide behind the civil rights issue while they fight every progressive measure."

Moscow Tool

The independent United Electrical Workers union has been denounced again as "Communist dominated."

Maurice J. Tobin, secretary of labor, and Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, made the charges in speeches at a rally of General Electric workers. The UE was expelled from the CIO last year on charges of having left-wing tendencies.

POLITICS:

Are Both Parties Split?

Observers are wondering if the Republican and Democratic parties both are going into the November election with split political fronts.

The Republican trend came to light in the Oregon senatorial primary which was won by independent voting Sen. Wayne Morse. His campaign is not likely to resemble any other Republican drives this fall.

In Pennsylvania, Governor James H. Duff defeated the old guard Republicans in the senatorial primary.

In many quarters the Duff and Morse victories were seen as signs that many Republican voters think the party needs to offer more than mere opposition to President Truman's Fair Deal.

On the Democratic front, a few more cracks have been added to the split caused by the civil-rights conflict started in 1948.

Southerners are still battling the program, and recently, have generally opposed Truman's plans for more government spending. The Brannan plan has added fuel to the fire of discontent among some of the President's best western friends.

With these points in mind, the September and October political speeches of both parties may prove the most interesting in years.

Meanwhile, a high-ranking Republican took another swing at the President, charging that he seeks a "rubber-stamp" congress elected in November.

Said GOP national chairman Guy Gabrielson: "The 1950 issues now are clear. President Truman has asked the voters to give him a rubber-stamp congress that will approve his program of socialism."

WINNIPEG:

Wet but Undefeated

Flood battered Winnipeg slowly returns to normal. With nearly a fifth of the city at one time under water, the citizens raised a banner proclaiming they were "wet but undefeated" on the court house and waited for the Red river to show its first drop.

Before it came flood waters had reached a record high for the century. Some 100,000 of Winnipeg's 350,000 population were forced to evacuate and many of southern Manitoba's towns were deserted.

When the river showed its first drop, flood waters were about two feet below the absolute peak at which engineers figured nearly all of Winnipeg would be waterlogged and the whole population would have to be evacuated.

Even with the river back in its banks, however, observers said it would be near the last of June before the city would be back to normal.

MRS. ROOSEVELT:

Comforted Distressed

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was awarded the seventh annual Williamsburg Settlement gold-medal award for typifying the American way of life and aiding the underprivileged.

At the presentation dinner, former congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce called her long time political foe the "best-loved woman in the world" and said that no woman ever had "so comforted the distressed—or distressed the comfortable."

"When her justly notable tolerance and patience with the Communists finally gave out, that day tolerance of communism in America ended officially. It is safe to say that her resistance to Soviet communism is a more potent factor in winning the cold war than an extra billion dollars of Marshall plan aid," she added.

Something New

With all the investigations that have been under way in Washington, Rep. Usher L. Burdick of North Dakota has come up with a new one. He asked the house rules committee to approve a resolution to investigate—of all things—congress. The committee postponed action on the resolution indefinitely.

EXPLOSION:

Second in Generation

The stunned and battered community of South Amboy, N. J., 30 miles south of New York City, tied up its wounds and, for the second time in a generation, went about the business of rebuilding.

On May 19 four explosive-laden barges blew up with such force debris was splattered over a 10 to 12 block area. Twenty-six persons were dead or missing and nearly 400 were injured.

FIRE RESCUE . . . A spectacular, early-morning scene, recorded by an alert cameraman, shows rescue activity as a two-alarm blaze guts an East Bronx, New York, tenement. Jack Nomerowsky, taxi driver, and other civilians, carry a naked child down a ladder, while above firemen go about the grim task of further rescue. In window at right, the head of the household yells to firemen below to raise ladder quickly to his window. His wife weeps as youngster calmly surveys the scene. To the left of their window, a couple, the ordeal etched on their faces, cling to each other as they await rescue. Smoke hampered rescue work.

RIGHT TO THE JAW . . . Paddy Young (right), Greenwich Village, New York, follows through to inflict more punishment after rocking Charley Fusari, Irvington, N.J., with a hard right on the jaw in the ninth round of a 10-round main event at New York City's Madison Square Garden recently. The blood that colors Young's face was caused by a badly cut left eye, nicked by Fusari earlier in the fight. The Greenwich villager won an outside chance at a June middleweight title bout by taking a split decision over his opponent. Whether he will be signed for the title bout in the near future remains conjectural, promoters say.

AIR VIEW OF WINNIPEG FLOOD . . . The Red river at Winnipeg, Manitoba, overflowed its banks and forced thousands of persons to seek safety on higher ground. They were forced to leave their homes and belongings to the mercy of the raging waters. Here the flood water has surrounded homes in a veterans' housing area in a suburb of Winnipeg. The Canadian army ordered a section of a north-south Canadian National Railways line blown up to relieve pressure on one six-mile dike, while weary flood officials continued to keep an eye on overstrained dikes elsewhere. There was a chance of the Red and tributary rivers breaking through to cause new damage.

"I AM AN AMERICAN DAY" HONOR GUEST . . . Blonde, pig-tailed Dace Epermanis (right), beside her mother, Walda, has the dual distinction of being the 150,000th displaced person to enter the United States and of being a guest of honor at Washington's sesquicentennial observance of "I Am An American Day." The 12-year-old Latvian girl, who has lived five of her 12 years in displaced persons camps, will live on the farm of Irus Patridge, Perry, N.Y., with her father, Bernhard, her mother, and a brother, Juris, 15. To observe Washington's sesquicentennial, Truman has invited all Americans to visit Washington this year.

Makes Political History

FROM ANY YARDSTICK, the Democratic national committee has set a precedent and made political history as a result of the three-day Jefferson jubilee meeting in Chicago.

Whether the meetings and the speech of President Truman will bring additional votes into the Democratic fold or not is beside the point; what is to the point is that a new method of political campaigning was inaugurated in "bringing the government to the people," meeting them face to face and answering their questions by facts as the Democrats see the facts.

There is every indication that more of this kind of campaigning will take the President and his cabinet to other sections of the country before the fall elections roll around.

FEPC Will Fail

This reporter came away from the Chicago meeting, after talking to people in all walks of life, convinced that the President's fair employment practices commission measure will never hurdle the obstacles in the congress. His entire civil rights program was made the special subject of a panel discussion with leaders from all sections of the country participating, and all speaking in favor of the program.

The handwriting on the wall marking the defeat of the FEPC and an attempt by Democratic leaders to appease the southern opposition was seen when Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, prime proponent of civil rights and author of the now famous "take a walk" plank in the Democratic platform in Philadelphia, paid high tribute to his southern colleagues.

Said Senator Humphrey, in effect: We must recognize the sincerity and the consistency of our southern friends who refused to accept this plank in the Democratic platform. At least there is no hypocrisy evident on their part. The senator, however, could not say the same thing for the Republicans in the senate, who also have a civil rights plank in their own platform.

South Against FEPC

Also one must recognize the courage of Johnathan Daniels, the Democratic committeeman from North Carolina, who, amidst a sea of opposition at the panel, had the fortitude to stand up and declare his state and other southern states could not accept a compulsory FEPC program.

Actually, the sentiment in the northern cities such as Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit, where the administration expects votes to pass the FEPC legislation, is just as much opposed to any anti-segregation proposal as any southerners.

At this writing the only form of FEPC which has a chance of getting through the senate is probably a resolution stating that it is the policy of the federal government to ban any discrimination or segregation because of race or creed, with no teeth in the legislation whatsoever. Southern Democrats might accept such a resolution.

Housing Popular Issue

President Truman received his greatest applause in Chicago on two planks of his Fair Deal program, namely, repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, and rent control and a housing program for low and middle income groups. Of course there will be no T-H repeal at this session and neither will there likely be a housing measure. Even the rent control feature hangs in the balance. As a result the President said he hopes the "obstructionists" are removed by the time another congress rolls around.

Taft Answers Truman

Sen. Robert A. Taft's answer to President Truman's western tour was the same answer he made to the chief executive's program when he first placed it before the congress four years ago. When the President gave his State of the Union message to the 80th congress, the Ohio senator, then as now, leader of the GOP policy committee, declared it would bankrupt the nation.

Now, four years later he makes the same prediction.

Thousands Hear Truman

It is much too early in this campaign to attempt to make any appraisal of the feelings of the people with regard to the congressional and senatorial races, or whether the President's cross-country trip will result in any inroads on the "obstructionists."

The huge crowds everywhere he went, however, are certainly indicative of Mr. Truman's capacity to bounce back from a low to a high place of esteem.

Life Expectancy Up Twenty Years In Half Century

NEW YORK — Medical science has added 20 years to the average life span during the first half of the 20th century.

These are cold figures, but they tell a warm and important story of man's struggle for healthier and longer life.

To be sure, the story is not yet completed. Yet the performance during the first half of this century and the promise of the next 50 years make the ultimate result inevitable:

In 1900 the average life expectancy was 50. The death rate was 17.2 per 1,000. The population was 76 million.

Today the average life expectancy is about 70. The death rate is approximately 10 per 1,000. And the U. S. population is estimated at 150 million.

TB Death Rate Down

To show the progress medical science has made against a single disease it is only necessary to cite the statistics on tuberculosis.

In 1900 the death rate from tuberculosis per 100,000 of population in the U. S. was 194. In 1947 the rate was 33.5.

Tuberculosis was the leading cause of death in this country until 1909. By 1949 tuberculosis had fallen to seventh place.

Medical men are not miracle men. In fact, they shy away from use of the word "miracle" in connection with any of their deeds. But the discovery of penicillin—and the epoch of antibiotics that the discovery made possible—truly is a modern miracle that has given life to countless thousands. Probably penicillin is the most important contribution of medicine to the health of the 20th century man.

Penicillin is a chemotherapeutic agent. No other antimicrobial agent before it had such a powerful effect on so many different diseases. No other drug had ever before done so much for so many diseases.

But penicillin did even more. It helped to blaze a new trail in medicine: antibiotic, or antimicrobial, therapy. Many new and promising drugs, which like penicillin are members of the antibiotic family, have come along to make their contributions to human health. All were possible because of penicillin.

Cost Reduced

The contribution of the scientists, doctors and technicians is well known and has been told many times. Less well known but no less important has been the magnificent production achievements of our pharmaceutical houses and medical laboratories.

One of the original and largest producers of penicillin, Schenley Laboratories, inc., typifies the service industry has rendered. Schenley made its first domestic shipment of penicillin in 1944, to a Massachusetts hospital. At that time low yields and high production costs necessitated a price of around $7.50 per 100,000 units. Since then, the company has made 15 successive price reductions and sells its product at less than one thirty-fourth of the original price five years ago.

Mass production of penicillin has made it possible to ship the drug to hospitals, physicians and wholesale druggists in every part of the United States as well as to 62 foreign nations.

Notables, Friends Honor Casey's Ride to Glory

JACKSON — Casey Jones, the engineer who rode to glory in the wreck of the Cannonball express, was honored again on the 50th anniversary of that fatal run from Memphis to Canton, Miss.

His home town proclaimed "Casey Jones day" and the government issued a special three cent stamp in his memory.

The governor of Tennessee, notables, and just the plain folks of Jackson were on hand for the celebration.

His widow, Mrs. Janie Brady Jones, who still lives in Jackson, was there as were Casey's son and daughter — Charles B. Jones of Jackson, and Mrs. D. G. McKenzie of Mobile, Ala.

Sam Webb, the Negro fireman who rode with Casey, was there also. He jumped to safety just before the crash on April 30, 1900.

Old time railroaders were on hand to hear the song that immortalized Casey:

"All the switchmen knew by the engine's moan, that the man at the throttle was Casey Jones."

Inventor Attaches Gear Shift to Shoes for Hills

TARBES, FRANCE — Jean Brunet, 70, an inventive Frenchman, has announced he has come up with a gear shift for shoes to take the walk out of walking up a hill.

The invention is attached to the shoe sole and adjusted to the angle of the hill. Thus the foot is kept horizontal at all times.

Brunet says for going down the other side just adjust the gadget in reverse and you have it. A special skid proof sole prevents slipping.

Ghosts Haven't Ghost of a Chance in Manhattan But This Haunting Story Gave New Yorkers Pause

By BILLY ROSE

We men of Manhattan are an undaunted and unhaunted lot—or at least think we are—and so ghost stories seldom stand a ghost of a chance in this town.

The other night, however, a real estate man buttoholed me coming out of "21" and told me a chiller about a deserted house in the Flushing section of Queens, and on the off-chance that your scalp can use a tingle or two, I'd like to pass it along . . .

On the night of the big snow three winters ago, a doctor in Queens answered his doorbell and found a smallish man in a faded mackinaw standing on the stoop.

Billy Rose

"My wife is very sick," he said. "I hate to ask you to come out on a night like this, but it's only a few blocks."

The doctor followed him to a large wooden house near the intersection of Vine street and Broadway, and when the man unlocked the door the physician could see by the glare of an unshaded drolight that the lower floor was empty except for a few kitchen chairs and a length of carpet.

"THIS IS NO PLACE for a sick woman," he said. "You ought to have some heat in the house."

The man led him up a creaky set of stairs to the second floor, and in the front room an emaciated woman was lying in an old four-poster bed. She kept coughing into a blood-streaked handkerchief, and though the doctor went through the motions of an examination he knew at once it was an advanced case of tuberculosis.

"I can give her something to relieve the congestion," he told her husband, "but she'll have to be moved to a hospital first thing in the morning."

He then wrote out a prescription. "It'll get it filled right away," said the man, and showed the doctor to the door.

Next morning, wondering how the woman was getting along, the physician stopped by the wooden house, but there was no answer when he rang the bell. Moreover, there were no tracks in the snow to indicate that an ambulance or any other vehicle had pulled up in front of the place.

Puzzled, he went to the office of a real estate agent on the next street and asked if he could get some information about the residents of the house.

"THAT'S A FUNNY sort of question," said the agent. "There aren't any residents and there aren't likely to be any. The house hasn't been occupied in 15 years, and though it's always been on my list, nobody's ever wanted it."

"Do you think squatters might be living in it on account of the housing shortage?" asked the doctor.

"Could be, but I doubt it," said the agent. "There's been a lot of queer talk about that house, and the last family that moved in during the depression could only stand it for a few weeks. The husband and wife slept in the front room on the second floor, and to hear them tell it they were kept awake night after night by the sound of a woman coughing. It finally got so bad they packed and left."

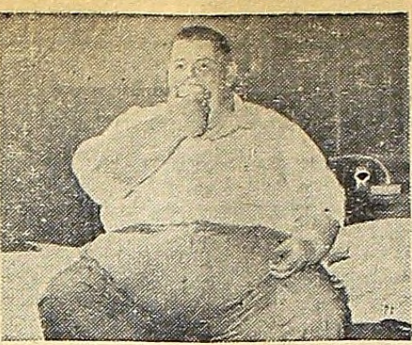

"I know its sounds absurd," said the doctor, "but I examined a sick woman there last night, and if you've got a key I'll walk over with you and prove it."

When they got to the house, it took the agent quite a while to get the rusty lock open, and when they entered there wasn't a stick of furniture in sight. "I could have sworn I saw some chairs and a carpet down here last night," said the doctor.

"Maybe you've got this house mixed up with another one," the agent suggested.

"I still think it's the same place. Let's look upstairs."

On the second floor they went into the front room. It was also empty. Empty, that is, Except for a piece of paper on the window sill—the prescription the doctor had written the night before.

This Is Your Paper Those 'Changed' News Items

By William R. Nelson

"WHENEVER I bring in a news item, why do you always change it all around?"

That question is one of the most frequently asked in every home town newspaper office in the country. Sometimes it is asked in considerable exasperation.

The answer is, of course, that news stories are easier to read, better understood, take less space, when they are written to conform to a somewhat flexible pattern. That style, developed over the years, is fairly uniform in all newspapers because it was designed to evaluate the facts for their news value and tell them quickly and clearly.

A well written, straight news story presents its outstanding information in the opening paragraph, or lead. What follows after that is amplification, additional details.

There are excellent reasons why news story style is best, among them: (1) The reader can quickly read the lead, and quit there if the story fails to interest him or her. (2) It permits cutting or reducing the length of a story, to get it into a particular place in the paper, by eliminating from the bottom. As these bottom paragraphs contain less important details, their removal will not seriously reduce the information the story is conveying.

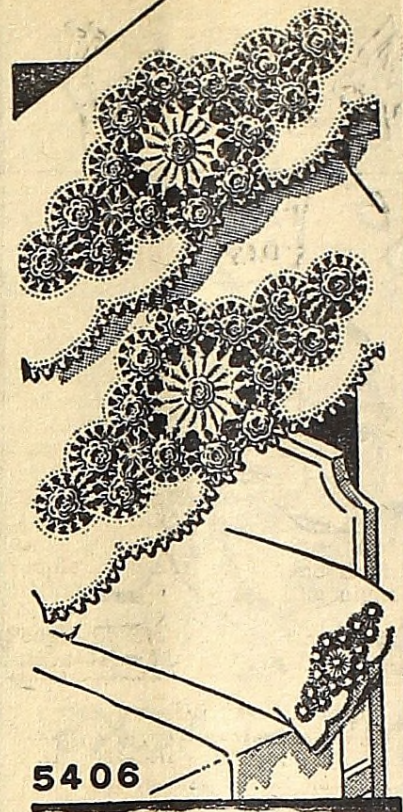

The editor tries to pack his paper with as much news as he can get, written in clear, readable style, and arranged to give the paper a varied and attractive appearance. Yet he cannot prepare the entire content of an issue in an hour or a day.

Because writing, editing, setting type, putting the type in the page forms, and printing, addressing and delivering take time, they must start early enough to conclude at a specified time each issue. If news stories are not written so they can be made to fit the space assigned to them, much time will be lost and the paper will contain fewer stories and be less interesting.

The editor is a specialist whose stock-in-trade is an understanding of what interests people. He welcomes news and does his best to present it in accurate, readable, interesting form.

Next time you bring in a news item, and it is "changed all around," remember that it was rewritten into news style to help you make it of interest to the greatest possible number of readers.

Star Dust STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

WILLIAM HOLDEN made quite a record in 1949—he did five pictures at four studios; this year promises to be equally busy. His role in "Sunset Boulevard" is one of his favorites, though he had to figure a bit over just what to do after Gloria Swanson shot him. That very effective bit of acting came after long study of the character he was playing. His performance is really tops. In private life his severest critic is his daughter Virginia, who reads all his scripts; of this one she said, "Why do you play such heels?" His young sons walked out on a recent picture of his to look at an old Western on television.

Gloria Swanson, after her sensational come-back in "Sunset Boulevard," plans to star in another picture, which she will co-produce with William Dieterle. She has plans to make it in Istanbul, with partial Turkish financing. The story sounds perfect for her—it's about a woman who is in love with a man younger than she, who cannot save her from death.

Rhonda Fleming, star of "The Eagle and the Hawk," is featured in the June issue of Holiday magazine in a color portrait shot at Malibu; she was chosen as "being typical of the 1950 feminine figure in a bathing suit."

Walt Disney studied the appearances and careers of notorious pirates of history before camera work started on "Treasure Island." The famous Blackbeard, the ruthless Israel Hands and others appear as Stevenson characters.

Fred Uttal, announcer on "Mr. District Attorney," has two boys, Bro and Lyn, aged 2 and 1 respectively. He says that if he and his wife has a third one he'll call it Ook—"Put them all together and they spell Brooklyn."

Lew Ayres began his career as a dance band singer, but in his years in pictures, he's done everything but sing. At last, in RKO's "The Capture," he's a singing cowboy—has one scene where he plucks a guitar and sings "Git Along Little Dogie." But Ayres ran into difficulty; he has a true ear, and had to practise hard to learn to sing off-key.

Melville Cooper and Elsa Lanchester were a vaudeville team 25 years ago in London, appearing in a miniature theater owned by Elsa and Charles Laughton. Together now in "The Petty Girl," they did their act for the cast.

THE FICTION CORNER BART'S DECISION

By Richard H. Wilkinson

BART HODGES had lived in the city for two years and he was getting tired of it. Country bred, he longed for the smell of sweet, fresh air, the sound of roosters crowing and cows lowing. He wanted to get to bed to the tune of crickets cheeping and bullfrog jug-a-rumming.

It wasn't as if the city hadn't been kind to Bart. It had. It had taken him to its bosom, and he had prospered. Nor had he been unhappy. He loved the lights, the noise, the hustle and bustle. And most of all he loved a girl.

Tonight, lying on the divan in the living room of the apartment, Bart was troubled with an annoying thought. He wondered, strangely, which he wanted most: Sabina's love or the country.

It was at this particular moment in Bart's speculation that the telephone rang. A strangely familiar feminine voice answered.

"Hello, there, Bart," the voice said. "This is Sadie Blake, fresh in from the old home town. Come down and talk to one of your forgotten friends."

Bart's pulse leaped. Sadie! His boyhood pal! Sadie, whom one day he expected to marry! Sadie, in the city. Here! Now! Fresh from Centerville, with news and notes of the old home town galore.

At that moment Sabina Goodnow was forgotten. There was just one girl in the world for Bart. And that girl was Sadie Blake. He felt suddenly ashamed he had neglected to write, to remember her at Christmas . . .

Sadie, pink cheeked, blooming with good health and freshness, met him in the lobby of her hotel. "Hello, pal," she cried. "Looking just the same. Thinner, maybe. But otherwise old Bart himself."

Her name was Sabina Goodnow, and she adored him.

"Sadie!" Bart stared in open admiration. "Sadie! How good it is to see you. Tell me, how are things in Centerville? How are the folks? Tell me everything."

"Same old town, Bart. Your folks are fine. Your dad owns a new tractor. Polly, the horse, died you know. But I suppose they wrote you that. The voters decided to run town water up to William's Hill at the last town meeting. Not so much danger if fire breaks out now. Ed Salmon ran off with Bob Evans' wife. She came back two weeks ago, and Bob took her in. Shame. Poor kid . . ."

THEY TALKED for hours. By evening Bart was fully appraised of all the events and happenings in Centerville during the past two years, and assured that his folks were well.

He took Sadie out to dinner, and delighted in showing her around. She seemed a little awed by it all, and more awed by Bart's indifference to the many wonders.

"You get used to it after a while," he said indifferently, and stood gazing thoughtfully at the many lights along Broadway. He felt enlightened and no longer homesick. Strangely enough the noise and bustle associated themselves in his mind with Sabina. He was glad to be a part of it all.

He gazed furtively at the comely Sadie and pictured her in the rural setting of Centerville.

They attended a theater and dined afterward at an exclusive night club. Sadie would have liked to go back to the hotel, but she wanted to please Bart.

"Bart," she said, when at last they stood outside the door to her room. "When are you coming home? When are you going to give up all this and come back where you belong?"

Bart looked down into her eyes and saw something that two years ago he had longed to witness. He sighed deeply.

"Sadie, it's been just great seeing you. Just what I needed. A sort of tonic." He smiled at her gently. "I'm not going back just yet, Sadie. There's something keeping me here, something that before I never knew existed. I know now that it's something greater than anything. Some time I'm coming back, and when I do there'll be two of us."

ADEQUATE PARKING REQUIRED

Adequate tourist parking facilities are a requirement of all well-planned motel, tourist court, and cottage establishments, according to Harold R. Clark, county agent.

Because most Michigan tourists come into the state by car, it is necessary to give guests adequate parking space. Trees which have been barked, the deep ruts in grass areas, and damaged building corners are evidence of the lack of proper parking facilities.

The Iosco county agent said in most instances parking areas should be given some durable surfacing other than grass. Constant packing of the ground and oil dripping from the automobile engines make it difficult to keep an attractive lawn in parking areas.

Four suggestions on resort and tourist parking can be found in a pamphlet entitled "Parking; Sizes of Parking Areas," prepared by C.
A. Gunn, extension specialist in tourist and resort structures for Michigan State College. The pamphlet gives dimensions and characteristics of parallel parking, 45-degree angle parking, right-angle parking and parking bays between structures.

Other guides and educational information on planning better tourist accommodations can be obtained from your Cooperative Extension Office, located in the Federal Building, East Tawas, or from the Agricultural Engineering department at Michigan State College, East Lansing.

VINE FARM BUREAU REPORT

The regular meeting of Vine Farm Bureau was held at the home of Roger Earl on Wednesday, May 17th, with several members in attendance. Chairman Curry appointed Margaret Prescott to act as secretary in the absence of Erma Kobs.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Three communications were read relative to resolution on socialized medicine, which our secretary sent to Hon. Homer Ferguson, Roy Woodruff and Arthur Vandenberg. All three responded with nice personal letters stating they were definitely opposed to this legislation. A booklet was enclosed, also setting forth some good arguments against socialized medicine. George Prescott made the motion that these letters and pamphlet be tabled until after the business meeting so all could peruse them at their leisure.

Our director was absent, so her report will be made at the next meeting. She sent a letter to be read by Secretary Bernice Herriman and also some data from the Lansing office. Chairman Curry suggested we defer her report as the data was quite lengthy and time did not permit proper digestion of same. Mrs. Kobs also sent over the Farm Bureau sign to be displayed with the announcement that "same could be purchased for 22c. The letter from Bernice Herriman was read and it was decided to discuss it along with the discussion leader's subject for the meeting, as it had to do with this topic. It contained the following resolution, from the Plainfield Farm Bureau Group—"Resolved that the Plainfield group of Iosco County Farm Bureau, go on record as favoring the corporation excess profit tax for use by the State Highway Department, rather than raising money from the general fund of the State." Margaret Prescott gave a report of the Womens Committee meeting held at the Grant Township Hall at which time movies on the Sister Kenny Treatment for Polio, were shown. She announced that the women had raised enough money to complete both of their projects and the money has been sent out. $25.50 was sent to the Lansing office for the money to send a delegate to Denmark and also for the foreign student fund. Also $25.00 to the Sister Kenny Foundation for the education of Miss Maxine Skelton. Part of this money came from a collection taken, $12.07 at the Grant Township Hall and part from the baked goods sale held at the Hale Community Hall the night of the Victory supper. ($30.15), and the balance from the regular treasury.

The questions for discussion this month are:

1. Why are gasoline and weight taxes a fair method of paying for roads?

2. Should townships be required to match state funds for local road construction and maintenance?

3. Would your group agree that appropriations for road maintenance should be taken from the State general fund?

The estimated cost of road repair now is between eight and ten million dollars. Mr. Prescott stated he believed the only answer was a highway bond issue. An issue with ear-marked increases in gasoline and weight taxes to retire same. In this way people would have an opportunity to vote upon the issue.

His answer to the question, should townships match state funds in repairing roads was "We are doing that to the best of our ability. The roads in Tawas township have been repaired each year with the sales diversion money, we have retained only enough to meet operating expenses. Outside of the money spent for a fire engine, which gives our township complete fire protection—the rest of the sales diversion money has been spent on road construction by the town board.

Chairman Curry, while we were on the subject of the fire engine, made the suggestion that there should be a map at the Fire Department in Tawas City, showing the location of all the farms in Tawas Township.

The following resolution was drawn up by Prescott, "Whereas, the Vine Farm Bureau Group, after discussion of how roads should be financed, recognize the dire need of more funds to repair damages from this spring break up, and whereas, it further recognizes a need of much new construction to bring our roads back into sufficient condition to maintain our present investment, and whereas; this group feels that the corporation tax is an inequitable method of financing roads and does not place the burden of road support where it should go, and whereas, this group further feels that the townships of Michigan are doing every thing possible to repair their own roads, therefore, be it resolved that we go on record as favoring a general bond issue to be voted on by the people of the State of Michigan in order to raise road financing money and that said issue be retired with ear-marked increases in gasoline and weight taxes."

Chairman Curry asked that Norma Kobs be instructed to take this resolution to the next directors meeting and read same. He also asked that the Secretary be instructed to write a letter to the Plainfield Group saying we were sorry we could not concur with their resolution and enclosing our own for their consideration.

Motion was then made that the meeting adjourn. The next meeting will be held at the Walter Miller residence.

MARKETING POULTRY

When is the best time for a producer to market poultry?

This question comes often to Harold R. Clark, county agricultural agent. He cites some information from Henry Larzelere, agricultural economist at Michigan State College, to help answer the problem.

Marketing poultry-chicken in particular, involves two aspects, the economist points out. One is the sale of hens ready for culling and the other is the sale of young males.

Wise poultrymen will remember that the prices for fowl are usually lower in the last seven months of the year than in the first five, he states. It is advantageous to cull more closely in the spring months. Having early hatched chicks will help keep the flock in profitable condition.

Michigan broiler producers can help their price situation by keeping production and marketing from corresponding too closely with heavy producing areas such as Delaware, Maryland and Georgia. A survey shows the indication that broilers brought the best prices in early April and again in September.

Rough, Hilly Terrain

The topography of the country over which a car is normally driven has a great deal to do with the rate of tread wear. For instance, a car driven in a hilly or rolling country, over winding roads, will wear down the tread of a tire much more rapidly than in sections of the country where the roads are straight with very few hills and curves.

Traffic Death Toll Continues Upward Swing

During the first four months of the year March was the only month showing a decrease in traffic deaths as compared with the same period a year ago. Increases were recorded in January and February and again in April, the latest month for which figures have been compiled by the State Police traffic bureau.

The April report shows 128 persons killed, the highest in any April since 1941, and an increase of 37, or 41 per cent, over the 91 who died in the same month a year ago.

Other figures increased for the fourth consecutive month. There were 11,114 accidents, a gain of five per cent over April of a year ago, and 3,114 persons injured, an increase of six per cent.

Urban areas accounted for the greatest percentage increase in deaths in April, but rural areas had higher percentage increases in accidents and injuries.

The record for the first four months stands at 404 persons killed, an increase of 24 or six percent over the same period of a year ago; 11,768 persons injured, an increase of 604 or six per cent, and 47,941 accidents, a gain of 3,500 or eight per cent.

For the nation as a whole the death toll was nine per cent higher for the first three months as compared with the same period of 1949.

Neptune's Toll

About 4,500 persons drown every year in the United States. Many of these tragic accidents occur to people who have gone in the water for the first time in a season. Lack of vigorous outdoor exercise during winter and spring has left their muscles soft and susceptible to quick fatigue. Yet they carelessly swim too far from shore or do other hazardous things for which they are not physically fit—and pay for their folly with their lives.

Gets Promotion

Corporal Joseph R. Dumont, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amil Dumont, Mikado, was promoted to his present grade May 10, 1950, at Spokane Air Force base, Borg, Wn.

Entering the service in August, 1948, he received his basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas, and was transferred to the 345th Bombardment Squadron of the 98th Bombardment Group M at SPAFB in November of 1948 where he is a radar mechanic.

Prior to entering the service he attended Oscoda High School.

GREEN GRASS OF WYOMING By Mary O'Hara

Beaver Greenway tries of the domination of his sister over his niece, Carey Marsh. Mrs. Palmer, the sister, is Carey's grandmother and tries to keep the girl near her at all times.

CHAPTER XX It was a magnificent jump. His great body lifted easily, and then, in the air, seemed forced upward by a second leap of will and determination.

Carey's head came up over the top rail beside Ken. Her face was flushed with heat and excitement. Her linen hat was on the back of her head and damp tendrils of dark hair clung to her forehead.

Ken shook his head. The nausea was getting worse. He jumped down from the fence, made his way around the corral, and with Thunderhead's halter and rope still on his arm, picked up the stallion's trail and followed it up to the woods.

He ran down the slope. A number of the mares had been brought out of the corral by their owners. His eyes scanned them quickly. There were the Stevens' mares and the two Palmminos and Mr. Gildersleeve with Lady Godiva and three other black mares, but no mare that looked like the picture of Crown Jewel.

Mr. Greenway's face was longer, sadder, than Ken had ever seen it. "I am convinced," he said, "that she was internally injured in that fall from the freight car, and even though she was able to run away with Thunderhead, she died later. At the time it seemed to me a miracle that there should have been no injury after so dangerous a fall."

Rob answered slowly, "You may be right. It looks like it. The stallion would never have let her out of his band—unless she were injured or sick."

"That's right, Cap'n," said Tim. Greenway turned to Carey, "Want to stay, Carey?" Carey shook her head. She was almost swaying where she stood.

He put his arm across her shoulders. "You've had enough, my dear. So have I." He turned to Rob. "McLaughlin, I think I'll pull out this afternoon—as soon as we can pack our things. Nothing to wait for."

"No—that's right—nothing," said Rob. "You're not coming in now?" "I think I'll stay and watch the boys break their necks."

Rob Makes Plans To Kill Stallion The Sheriff claimed that he could hit a moving target at three hundred yards with his Marlin thirty and every man in Westgate backed up his boast.

Rob picked up the gun and balanced it. The moonlight glinted on the blue barrel. He fitted the stock to his shoulder. The gun fell into position.

"It was a present to me," said Barrows. "It happens that I did a favor to the President of the Marlin Company without knowing it—tell ye about that some day. Anyway, he looked me up, said he'd like to give me a gun, the best gun they make. The plant's in New Haven. They sent me a circular with all the pictures of the different guns they make. I picked this 'un."

"It feels as if it would shoot itself," said Rob. "It does. Sees, aims, drops on the target. Does everything but pull the trigger. I have to do that." He laughed. "Give it here," said Ross. He balanced the gun. "Sure feels sweet," said he and passed it on. "Want to feel it, Ken?" Ken tried the gun, handed it back to the Sheriff. "Ought to get a wonderful shot from here."

"Be sure you give us time," said Ross. Rob lit his pipe and pulled at it. "There'll be plenty of time, I think. The stallion isn't going to get panicky."

Ken sat in his corner on the rock, holding the halter in his hands. He turned and twisted it. If it could be a magic halter . . . if it could draw Thunderhead's head in, the way a magnet draws a needle.

An excited whinny split the air. The four men stood up quietly. All the mares were on the alert, every body tense, every head turned north-west, every pair of ears sharply cocked.

"This is it," said Ken in a low voice, "We'd better go." He and Ken sat there, staring. Staring at the muzzle which was not black as Thunderhead's was, but pink. Could a horse change the color of his muzzle? It was a long time before his mind really began to work.

Ken got to his feet and examined the horse all over. It was a stallion, about two years old. Then he remembered. "Oh!" he said aloud. Ross sauntered up to him. "What's up?" he asked.

The other men were coming. Ken walked to meet them. "It isn't Thunderhead," he said, "it's Ishmael." "Ishmael!" "Do you remember, when I rode Thunderhead in the Valley of the Eagles, there was one black mare with a little white colt? I told you all about it. She tried to run away from Thunderhead when he was rounding them up. I called them Hagar and Ishmael."

Rob Permits Mare To See Dead Colt They examined the dead horse. The black mare, Hagar, neighed frantically. "That's his mother," said Ken in a low voice. "Gol-durn!" exclaimed Ross. "Damnedest thing I ever heard of! Shot the wrong hoss, did I? I didn't know there was two like this in the country."

Rob was silent. Ken said, "He must have brought the black mare and her white colt with him when he left the valley last summer." The blood was pounding in his ears. Thunderhead was free . . . "He's a two-year-old," he added aloud. "You can see. He's not as heavy built as Thunderhead."

Rob straightened up. "Might as well go on home, I guess," said the Sheriff. Rob was sickened. "I'm going to let that mare out," he said, "we've killed her colt for no reason. Let her see the last of him."

Ken saddled Flicka and went for a ride. He rode out on the familiar road along the eastern ridge of the little valley west of town, then crossed it to the western side. No reason, any more, for avoiding that river bottom. The life had gone out of it. No more quietly browsing mares, no little dancing foals trusting their pinhead hoofs into the soft loam.

The western ridge was unfamiliar to him. It was higher than the eastern and it was heavily timbered. He explored it until he was dripping with perspiration. Looking for water, he traced back one of the rivulets which fed the Spindle River and came upon one of those little pools, quite deep, perfectly transparent, fringed with grass and ferns and rocks which are often found half-hidden at the base of wooded mountains.

He dismounted, stripped and bathed. The pool was fed by springs and very cold. Standing in it, the water, at its deepest, reached just to his neck. Looking down through the translucent brown color, he saw his white body, oddly fore-shortened. Motionless, he watched the ripples die and the water grow quiet.

He got out of the pool and lay basking in the sun until he was dry, then dressed himself. It seemed to him he would like a smoke. It was hard to have to wait until he was eighteen—nine more months; it was time he smoked. Where had he put his boots? He had set them on a near-by rock. He reached for them. One fell off the rock and he had to stand up to get it. Leaning over, he paused. Near the boot was a mark on the ground, a circle. It was shaped like a horse's hoof . . . it was a horse's hoof . . . big as a bucket . . . Pete's hoofprint. No horse but Pete had a hoof like that.

the hoofs pawed at nothing, the horse crashed to the ground. Ken walked slowly toward it. "I guess that did it," said the Sheriff. "Good shot, Barrows," said Rob. He asked the Sheriff for a match. He took his time in re-kindling his pipe which had gone out.

"Go back!" said Ken viciously to Ross, who was at his heels. The little broncbuster stopped still. Ken did not know that as he reached the white mass lying on the ground he groaned.

Blindly he went down on his knees. He drew the head into his arms. Looking over the shoulder Ken could see the great wound and the dark stream welling from it. There was a spasmodic quiver, one deep sigh that answered his own, and all was over.

Ken sat there, staring. Staring at the muzzle which was not black as Thunderhead's was, but pink. Could a horse change the color of his muzzle? It was a long time before his mind really began to work.

Daughter of Czar Reported Living In New Jersey

NEWARK — The old story that one of the daughters of Czar Nicholas II of Russia escaped to this country came to light recently in New Jersey. The attorneys of Mrs. Marie Louise Betelle of Millburn describe their client as the escaped princess.

The story came to light when the attorneys filed a suit for Mrs. Betelle asking an accounting from her husband for thousands of dollars' worth of jewels, among them a diamond pendant once worn by the late czar.

Mrs. Betelle will neither confirm or deny the statements in her suit that she is the late czar's daughter, Princess Anastasia, but her home lends credence to that belief. For instance, it contains many old Russian ikons, oil paintings and exquisite pieces of silver and glass. The paintings, which Mrs. Betelle says were given her by members "of my family," bear the seal of the house of Romanoff. So do magnificent silver serving pieces.

Some quarters report that claims that Mrs. Betelle is heir to the Russian throne are not altogether fantastic. In the 1930's a woman came to this country from Europe and was described by other escaped Russian nobles as Nicholas's daughter. She traveled in seclusion on the Berengaria and was smuggled ashore through a freight elevator, swathed in veils, to escape reporters who had caught the rumor of her origin.

Mrs. Betelle is supposed to have met her husband in Europe where he had become a friend of Prince Henry Ernest August, a cousin of Czar Nicholas. Although Mrs. Betelle will not talk now, she said: "Some day I will tell the world about my life, but not yet."

Barkley From Kentucky, Declines Glass of Water OKLAHOMA CITY — Vice President Alben W. Barkley, that gentleman from Kentucky with a flare for words and a record for moving about that no other vice president has ever achieved, gave forth with a new punch line at a dinner here.

Halfway through a speech before important party leaders, a local politician handed Barkley a glass of water. Barkley turned with a smile and said: "Thank you very much, my friend, but I'm from Kentucky." He returned the glass still full.

Restaurant Choice Row Stalls 70 Rail Trains ATLANTA, GA. — An argument over where freight yard workers would eat their meals stalled 70 trains and made 500 to 600 workers idle. The surprise walkout was at the Inman yards of the Southern railway system, largest freight yards south of Washington.

General manager D. William Brosnan of the railway said the trouble started when the railway made extensive changes at the yards, and had to move the place where free, hot meals were served trainmen.

Union officials protested the change. The company offered to deliver the meals to any point in the yards, Brosnan said, but the union refused. Three days later, Brosnan said, a crew foreman took his switch engine to drive his crew a mile away to a restaurant. Brosnan said the foreman was relieved from duty, and the walkout followed.

Machine-Gun Scare Just U.S. Plane Easing Load RUFFRE, ITALY — Citizens of Ruffre were thrown into momentary panic when they thought they were being machine-gunned. A United States Air Force spokesman soon cleared up the mystery and the Italians settled down to every-day living again.

The spokesman said an American plane with engine trouble shot its ammunition "into the clear" to lighten its load and it was the empty cartridges, not live bullets, that rattled on Ruffre's tile roofs and sent the people scattering. Some Italians thought there had been an aerial dogfight.

The pilot of the F-47 said the plane developed engine trouble and he was forced to drop the external fuel tanks and fire the ammunition. The plane made a safe landing.

Prisoner Learns How It Feels to Ride in Trunk SALINA — Jimmie Cagle, 21, knows how it feels now to be stuffed into a car trunk. Cagle was arrested on a charge of armed robbery after he tied up a motorist and put him in a car trunk.

Sheriff Fred Ball, who returned Cagle to Salina, put the prisoner in the trunk of his automobile and drove 35 miles to lodge him in the county jail. "Well, now you get some idea of how it feels to put someone else in there," the sheriff said to Cagle. Cagle admitted he didn't like it. "Damned uncomfortable and cold," he said.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS International Uniform Sunday School Lessons By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Zephaniah, especially 1:12-18, 3:1-5, 5:16-20. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 111:1-10.

Repentance Lesson for June 11, 1950

ZEPHANIAH seldom has been any reader's favorite prophet. His pictures of doom are enough to send shudders down any one's spine. It is as realistic as if he were describing H-bomb day. But the main point of Zephaniah is plain and practical: Repent! For selfish man and stubborn nation, that is the first necessity of all. Repentance is not merely regretting something one has done. Anybody can do that—and go right on committing the same sin. Furthermore, a man's regret for something he has done may be for a wrong reason.

Suppose an adulterer is sorry for the publicity he got when the newspapers caught up with him? Suppose a lazy farmer is sorry, at harvest time, that he didn't work harder during the summer? That sort of thing is not repentance at all.

Also, repentance is not just repentance-in-general. It is one thing to say, "O God, I am a sinner." It is quite another thing, and a harder one, to kneel and say to God: "You know well what a liar I have been."

Repentance is not real unless it is honest, and it is not honest till the repenter looks squarely at his own sins, knows them for real sins and is willing to call them by the ugly names they deserve.

Repentance as The Bible Sees It THE BIBLE MEANING of repentance is something radical, something life-changing. As the prophets and our Lord set it before us, it means a total change of inner attitude and viewpoint. It does not mean so much stopping something you enjoy, as it means enjoying something altogether different from what you used to enjoy.

For example, you never truly repent of pride until you are really humble on the inside. You never have fully repented of selfishness so long as your biggest "kick" comes from kicking other people around. Repentance means a redirection of life. It means loving whatever good you hated and hating whatever evil you loved.

The question is: Are you content to be what you are, as you are, or do you sincerely want to be a better, indeed a different person? For that, the grace of God is necessary. For repentance means nothing short of being made over.

Are you aware that by yourself you are doomed to be yourself, your worst self? What is needed is not that you shall make yourself over, what is needed is that you shall pray God to make you over. His grace is not forced on the unwilling. The change may not come all at once, not overnight. Yet surely, and it may be swiftly.

There have been persons whose lives have changed in a single night, in a single moment. There are others whose life-transformation has come slowly. But wherever real repentance is, there the Spirit of God has been at work.

Why Repentance Is Needed ZEPHANIAH POINTS UP the same two reasons for repentance that we find all through the Bible. One reason is the judgement of God; the other is the promise of God. These are two sides of the same thing.

Man does not live in his own universe. He lives in a universe which he could not have created—in a sense he is a guest of it. It is a universe God created in love, and rules in love. Work and live "against the grain" of God's law of love, and you are headed for destruction.

To repent means that you come out new, in the image of God. Not to repent means that you are a breaker of God's laws because you do not like his laws. To repent means that (in the language of the ancient Psalmist) you love the law of God.

To the unrepentant, the laws of God are like the bars of a cruel cage. To the repentant, the laws of God are like rails to a locomotive.—the highway of power.

Soft Wood Floor QUESTION: Could you tell me how to finish a soft wood floor? We finished one, put on a filler and then varnished it with clear varnish. But it got too dark and rough.

ANSWER: If you used an ordinary varnish, perhaps that was the trouble. You should have used a regular floor varnish. For another thing, if you sanded the floor before varnishing, are you sure you cleaned up all the dust after sanding? If any dust remained on the floor, that would explain some if not all of the roughness. Some darkening of the wood should be expected, as all wood and also varnishes darken with age. There are special finishes for soft wood floors that prevent splintering, but these must be applied over bare wood; not over a varnish. If you wish a good job, you might consider having a contractor scrape and refinish the floors with the right materials.

Water Hunters Debunked Many professional "dowzers" who employ forked stick "divining rods" sincerely believe in their magic powers to find water underground, but scientists say they are deceived, according to Richards Topical Encyclopedia. 6th Annual Iris Show
June 17 at Mio

The Mio Irisarians, in cooperation with the American Iris Society, will hold Northeast Michigan's sixth annual Iris Show at the Mio Community Building, Saturday, June 17, weather permitting. It may be necessary to postpone the show if the iris blooms are not advanced.

Again this amateur group of iris enthusiasts assume the lead, in Michigan, of carrying on, encouraging and promoting the raising of iris as amateurs in a section where this beautiful flower, was unheard of previously. They have conducted the only accredited iris show in this state since 1940, at which time the Detroit Iris Society held their last show. Considerable interest has been aroused in this event among the Garden Clubs and individuals throughout the counties of Northeastern Michigan, and keen competition has been developed in the specimen stalk classes. Likewise, interest has been increasing in the flower arrangement section of these shows. This section is fast becoming one of the outstanding parts of these shows.

An oriental poppy section was added the third year and this year's show will have added an entirely new section of hemerocallid (Day Lilies).

Schedules for the 1950 show can be secured by writing the show secretary, Devere Dookham, Mio, Michigan. Entry blanks may also be secured at the same time if requested.

The official American Iris Society judge for this show will be Mrs. Frances Horton, who is a hybridizer and commercial grower of iris from Elkhart, Indiana. Mrs. Horton will also give a lecture on iris at the five o'clock luncheon following the show.

Supply Conditions Affect Wheat Allotments

It is expected that supply conditions will require Wheat acreage allotments to be in effect for the 1951 wheat crop according to word received by Earl M. Partlo, chairman of the Isosco County PMA Committee, from the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C. The legislation under which wheat acreage allotments are established requires that they be proclaimed each year by the Secretary of Agriculture unless a national emergency exists.

The chairman explains that each year the national allotment is based on the estimated needs for the coming year after making allowance for the supply of wheat on hand July 1, 1950.

Therefore, the size of the national allotment will not be determined until sometime after July 1, 1950, a which time it will be announced by the Secretary of Agriculture. The supply on hand, July 1, will determine whether the 1951 wheat acreage allotment will be greater, the same, or less than the 1950 allotment.

Individual farm allotments will be established by county PMA committees soon after the national allotment is announced by the Secretary of Agriculture and farmers will be notified of their allotments well in advance of seeding time.

Farmers on which no wheat was seeded for harvest in any of the years 1948, 1949, or 1950, may apply for a 1951 wheat acreage allotment, according to Earl M. Partlo, Chairman of the Isosco County PMA Committee. On the basis of the present supply outlook, it is expected the acreage allotments will again be established for the 1951 wheat crop.

To be considered for an allotment on a new farm the farmer must apply in writing to his county PMA Committee by June 16, 1950. The application must contain evidence that the land for which an allotment is requested is suitable for the production of wheat and that the operator will be largely dependent for his livelihood on his farming.
