

Drop Close Game Sunday to Alabaster

Play Games at Houghton Lake Saturday Night and East Tawas Sunday

The Tawas City Independents dropped another close one run decision last Sunday to Alabaster, by the score of 3-2. This is the third NEM League game the locals have lost by one run.

Mern Warner made his first start on the mound this season for the locals and hurled three and one third innings before loading the bases on two walks and a hit Herb Look relieved him and went one and two third innings, before being relieved by Manager Rollin because of wildness. John Martin went the route for Alabaster and retired nineteen batters via the strikeout route. Neither team did much hitting with Tawas City getting five and Alabaster three.

Tawas City drew first blood in their half of the first inning, when after two were out, Wegner doubled to right and scored on the next play, an error by the catcher. Alabaster retaliated with a run in the fourth, to tie the game at one-all. P. Erickson flied out, John Erickson walked, Jerry Gracik singled and E. Erickson walked, filling the bases. At this point Warner was relieved by Look and C. Herriman laid down a bunt to squeeze a run home. Alabaster collected two more runs in the fifth, when Bolen and Hill walked, John Martin then struck out with Bolen stealing third and Hill second. Pat Erickson then flied out to McGuire in right, whom ade a perfect peg to the plate, but the ball got by Look and Youngs, with both runners scoring. Tawas counted their last run in the sixth when Groff doubled and scored when the catcher threw wild into left when Groff stole third.

Harold Wegner, with a double and single and Groff and Gingerich with a double and Youngs with a single, were the only Tawas players to get a hit. Bolen, Gracik, and Dan Dailey production, "When My Baby Smiles at Me," with Robert Mitchum and Myrna Loy and an Alice Faye and George Murphy musical, "You're a Sweetheart" are but a few of the scheduled films to attract local movie-goers.

The Ashmun Brothers, well established in the theatre business, currently operate theatres in Caro, Frankfort, Marlette and Sebawaing; drive-ins at Caro, Saginaw and Bay City; and who do the buying and booking for the Chesaning Theatres; intend to run a continuous summer schedule through September 15.

With no increase in prices, Larry Robinson of Caro will be employed as the projectionist, assisted by local personnel in the box office.

Tawas Playground Opens Monday

Program Directed by Coach Mark Defibaugh

Supervised recreation at the Tawas City Park begins next Monday with Coach Mark Defibaugh in charge.

Daily except Sunday, the recreation periods are from 1:00 to 4:00 o'clock each afternoon.

Included on the program will be volley ball, soft ball, horseshoes, tennis and swimming. A special roped off swimming area will be provided for youngsters. If parents see that their children go to the beach during the recreation periods the youngsters will be under adequate supervision.

The mornings will be spent by young people, under Coach Defibaugh, working on the tennis and volley ball courts. Another project planned is removing the slabs from the swimming area at the park.

Swimming and water safety classes are planned for the summer.

321 Votes Cast at Hale Election

John Mortenson and Mrs. Zillox New Trustees

John Mortenson of Long Lake and Mrs. Lulabelle Zillox of Hale, last Monday, were elected trustees of the Plainfield Board of Education in one of the largest school elections ever held at that place. A total vote of 321 was cast.

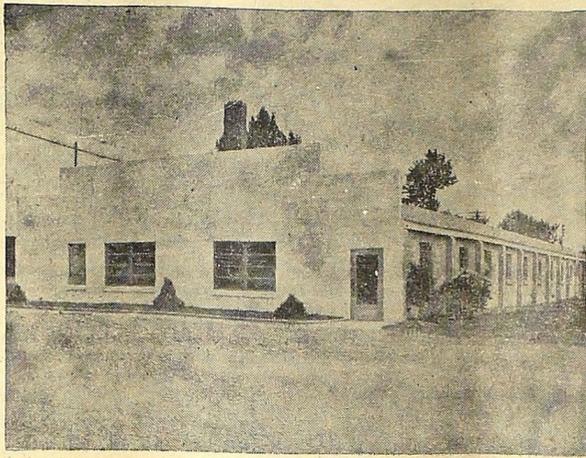

Mrs. Zillox received 234 votes and Mortenson 219. Harold Adams received 100 votes and Charles Neff 95.

Mortenson and Mrs. Zillox succeed Charles Neff and A. E. Greve.

Wedded 25 Years, Two Hale Couples Honored

Honoring Rev. and Mrs. John Kerr and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buck of Hale, on their 25th wedding anniversaries, a reception will be given Monday evening, June 19, at Dorcas rooms, Hale.

Industrial Plant Completed Ahead of Schedule

Two weeks ahead of schedule, equipment of the Tawas Industries, Inc., is being moved into its handsome new industrial building on First street. The division located in the Case Building and offices will be moved today (Friday). The main plant, now at East Tawas, will follow later. Remaining construction work on the building is being rapidly completed.

This large, 58 by 160 foot building (pictured above) represents a fine and modern industrial addition to the city, which will provide offices, storerooms, and ample floor space for the production of oil filters and other specialties. James Boomer is general contractor.

Ashmun Brothers Renovate Theatre

Saturday Sets Date For Summer Billing

Workmen are busily renovating the Bay Theatre for their summer billing commencing Saturday, June 17 under the management of Merkel Fader of Caro.

The Ashmun Brothers, proprietors of the Family Theatre, intend to bring to the Bay some of the more outstanding film productions for your entertainment for the summer season. The opener, "Father is a Bachelor," starring William Holden and Coleen Gray is followed by the Betty Grable and Dan Dailey production, "When My Baby Smiles at Me."

"The Red Pony" with Robert Mitchum and Myrna Loy and an Alice Faye and George Murphy musical, "You're a Sweetheart" are but a few of the scheduled films to attract local movie-goers.

The Ashmun Brothers, well established in the theatre business, currently operate theatres in Caro, Frankfort, Marlette and Sebawaing; drive-ins at Caro, Saginaw and Bay City; and who do the buying and booking for the Chesaning Theatres; intend to run a continuous summer schedule through September 15.

With no increase in prices, Larry Robinson of Caro will be employed as the projectionist, assisted by local personnel in the box office.

3 Flint Men Face Breaking and Entering Charge

Rounded up for Isoco Thefts; Held on Flint Robbery Charges

Deputy Sheriff Herman Huber of Hale secured information which led to the jailing at Flint of John Shufelt, Robert Allen and Vernon Denkins. The three men are charged with breaking and entering business places at Flint as well as Hale and Whittemore in this county. They are Flint men.

Following the receipt of information, Deputy Sheriff Leon Putnam and Trooper Frank Harris spent Monday and Tuesday at Flint where they rounded up the three men. Flint authorities immediately jailed Shufelt, Allen and Denkins charging them with robberies perpetrated in Flint. The robberies there had been in seven or eight grocery and food stores.

The breaking and entering in Isoco county had been at the Danin & Co. store and Bellon Pharmacy at Whittemore and the Hale Elevator.

Three Flint youths are being held at the Isoco county jail in another breaking and entering case.

When taken by State Police and local authorities the boys had a car loaded down with groceries and blankets. The boys admitted breaking into cabins at Cook Dam and one cabin on the Monument road.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Humberger are vacationing with relatives in Ohio.

Three Knifed In Family Argument

Ralph Smith Held at Jail on Felonious Assault Charge

Ralph Smith of East Tawas was arraigned Tuesday before Justice John Bolen and was bound over to circuit court on a felonious assault charge. His arrest followed the knifing of his wife, a step-son and a visitor at his home last Sunday evening.

The fracas Sunday afternoon started in an argument over prices on scrap iron between Smith and his partner, William B. Riggs, who are in the junk business. Riggs suffered a broken jaw and cuts about the face. He went to his home for treatment.

Later Paschel Smith suggested that his step-father go over and see about the condition of Riggs. In a fit of anger Smith attacked his step-son, and the visitor, August Ziviski, with a knife. Mrs. Smith tried to interfere in the fight and Smith slashed her with the knife.

Mrs. Smith and the two boys jumped into their car and started out for aid when they met State Troopers from the East Tawas Post.

An investigation of the assault was made by State Police and Prosecuting Attorney Reginald J. Barnett. Smith had surrendered peacefully.

The injured group were treated by Dr. O. W. Mitton.

Receives Bachelor of Science Degree

Neil A. Libka, of Tawas City, will receive the Bachelor of Science degree in graduation ceremonies at Central Michigan College June 10. He is one of 366 June graduates. Also eligible to participate in commencement exercises are 137 February and 84 August graduates.

Libka has a major in commerce and minors in economics, geography and mathematics.

Jack Carlson Graduates at University of Michigan

Jack Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carlson graduates with a Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Michigan Saturday afternoon at five o'clock. The British Ambassador to the United States, Sir Oliver Franks will deliver the Commencement address.

Jack has been in the University band four years and of the University of Arts Chorale the past year and a member of the Vaughan Club. He has been the President of the Michigan Methodist Youth Organization for two years.

Jack will attend the University of Michigan next fall and plans to finish for his Master's degree.

Mrs. W. L. Finley and children, Dwight and Carolyn of Lansing visited Friday in the city. The children attended the school picnic.

Goes With Study Group to Europe

Miss Margaret Gaul Sailed Monday

Miss Margaret Gaul, principal of the Erin School, East Detroit, left for New York, Monday, June 12 to sail on the S. S. Georgic for Liverpool, England. She is a member of a study group from Wayne University. Dr. William Reitz, a professor in the College of Education, is conducting the tour.

The purpose of the trip is to make a comparative study of education in England, France and Germany. Touring Europe in a chartered bus, the group will visit such educational institutions as nursery schools, kindergarten, elementary and secondary schools, teacher's colleges, and all the major universities.

Extended sight-seeing trips to Ireland, Italy, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, and Austria will be made, which will afford an opportunity to explore the cultural background of the countries visited. Some of the important cities on the itinerary are Dublin, London, Edinburgh, Paris, Rome, Florence, Venice, Salzburg, Munich, Zurich, Stuttgart, Bonn, Cologne, Heidelberg, Brussels, and Amsterdam.

Miss Gaul will arrive back in New York on September 2, just in time for the beginning of the fall term. She is a graduate of Tawas City Schools and Isoco County Normal and is the youngest sister of Harry Gaul of this city.

Two Isoco County Teachers Honored

A reception honoring Miss Helen Applin and Mrs. Frances Bigelow was held at the Methodist Church parlors Sunday afternoon. The reception was sponsored by the East Tawas P.-T. A. Baskets of purple and white lilacs decorated the room and the serving table had a centerpiece of pink and white cut flowers. Mrs. C. J. Creaser, Mrs. Paul Dixon, Mrs. Glen Hughes and Mrs. William DeGrow poured and cakes, candies, nuts, tea and coffee were served.

Supt. C. J. Creaser gave a short talk and made the presentation of gifts from the Faculty and the School Board. The P.-T. A. presented them with guest books signed by the guests present. Short talks were given by the guests of honor. Both teachers wore lovely corsages.

Mrs. Bigelow has taught in West Branch, Hale, Whittemore, and East Tawas and Miss Applin has taught 33 years in East Tawas.

Two Graduate from Junior Colleges

Two Isoco county young people graduate from Michigan junior colleges.

One of the honor graduates of the 1950 graduating class of Flint Junior College was Philip E. Giroux, a former pupil at the Watts School and graduate of the Tawas City High School. Philip is the son of Mrs. Nona Giroux, a former Hemlock resident. Graduation exercises were held on the Oak Grove Campus.

A recent graduate with high honors from Bay City Junior College was Miss Joyce Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith, former residents of the Hemlock Road. Joyce formerly attended the Greenwood School and is a graduate of Bay City Central High School. Commencement exercises were held in the Junior College Auditorium.

Local Women Attend Meet of Allied Patriotic Orders

Mesdames Eva Robinson, Jennie Meyer and Georgia Yaneer, and Miss Edna Otis were in Bay City last week to attend Department conventions of the Allied Orders of the Grand Army of the Republic. During the business sessions, Mrs. Robinson and Miss Otis were elected members of the delegation to attend the National convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, to be held in Los Angeles, California, in September. Miss Otis was appointed Department press correspondent for Michigan for the Daughters, and also named to the delegation to attend the National convention of the Woman's Relief Corps.

Attend Detroit I. O. O. F. Lodge Meeting

County Clerk Russell H. McKenzie left today for Detroit where he will attend a meeting of Diamond Lodge I. O. O. F. this evening. Diamond Lodge is conferring the second and third degrees on Governor G. Mennen Williams. A dinner will follow the degree work.

Russell A. Rollin came home Saturday after a 17-week sojourn in Mercy Hospital following an auto accident. He is able to get around quite well with crutches, but hopes to discard them soon.

Mrs. Mary Flynn and brother, Joe Ruel, of Rose City were visitors in the city Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shepard of West Branch were Thursday guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodale.

New Tawas Softball League Will Open Season Monday Evening

Final preparations for the coming season were made by team managers and officials in the Tawas Softball League meeting, Wednesday night at the city hall. League President, Don Seymour, presided over the group, the league schedule was drawn up and the by-laws were discussed by the members.

The new league has eight teams entered: Tawas City Fire Department, Beckett Real Estate, Tawas City Lutheran, Rollin Auto Body, Tawas City Junior Fire Department, Anderson Coach, Nelkie Dairy and the Tawas All Stars.

The nights for league play are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and the teams will play three rounds during the summer months at the new Tawas City diamond, near the disposal plant and at the D. & M. diamond, on Tawas Beach road.

This week's schedule finds the Tawas City Fire Department and Beckett's at the Tawas City diamond, and Tawas City Lutheran vs. Rollin Auto at the D. & M. diamond, on Monday night.

Tuesday night's pairings will be Junior Fire Department and Anderson Coach at D. & M. diamond.

HONORED

STEPHEN S. NISBET

Steve Nisbet Honored by Alma College

Receives Honorary Degree of Doctor Of Laws

Stephen S. Nisbet, a former Tawas City resident and one of Western Michigan's favorite citizens, received another much merited recognition last week when his alma mater, Alma College, conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. He is resident of Fremont and one of the outstanding men in Michigan's educational system.

The Muskegon Chronicle in an editorial congratulating Nisbet said:

"As we have noted in the past, Mr. Nisbet, who is director of public relations for Gerber Products Company, is one of those persons to whom recognition is secondary, which may be why he gets a sizable amount."

"Just to list his current activities is to show the kind of citizen he is. Over and above his regular vocation, he is a member of the Michigan Board of Education, re-elected for a second six-year term in 1949; president of the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan, chairman of the Board of trustees of Alma College, recipient of the Silver Beaver Award for his many years in Boy Scout work. His other activities in the field of education, interscholastic athletics, church, business and civic life are well known."

"Now he has an honorary LL.D. after his name, Stephen S. Nisbet, LL.D. But it won't change him. He will still do the work first and let the credit follow along as it may. As he has proven so ably, there is no better formula."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shepard of West Branch were Thursday guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodale.

Mrs. Mary Flynn and brother, Joe Ruel, of Rose City were visitors in the city Thursday.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

GM-UAW Sign Five-Year Contract; June Grad Job Prospects 'Good'; Fuchs Puts Finger on U. S. Spy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

LABOR:

Historic Contract

An unprecedented five-year contract, hailed by labor and management alike as an important stabilization move in the labor world, has been signed by General Motors Corp., and the CIO United Auto Workers.

In the eyes of many, the most startling thing about the contract was not its terms and duration, but the fact that both management and labor are happy about it.

The agreement includes a four cents an hour increase, $100 pensions for retired workers, and a cost of living formula. The union estimated immediate benefits total 10 cents an hour.

Walter Reuther, UAW-CIO president, described the agreement as "the most significant development in labor relations since the mass production industries were organized."

Speaking for management, GM vice president Harry Anderson said the unusual and unexpected agreement was "historic in labor-management relations."

The contract is the longest ever written in the industry and assures the company of five years of uninterrupted production.

Labor observers are almost unanimous in their agreement that such contracts—long term ones—would exert a stabilizing influence on all industry.

In Washington, Secretary of Labor Tobin said the contract is "great news."

"It means that there is confidence in the future prosperity of this industry and its ability to produce so efficiently that it can continue to pay higher wages, and at the same time insure greater security for its workers when they are ill or retired," he said.

ESPIONAGE:

Successful Spy

The attorney general has announced the capture of another spy, Harry Gold, 39, of Philadelphia. As usual with the capture of a spy in the United States, the agent had operated very successfully, delivering, according to reports, top atomic bomb secrets to Russia.

Gold, whose family name is Goldnitsky, "has admitted his contacts with Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the imprisoned British atomic scientist, and has given a detailed account of his activities," the announcement said.

Gold was reported to have received written and oral information concerning atomic projects in this country and delivered them to agents of the Soviet Union.

"I thought that I would be helping a nation whose final aims I approved along the road to industrial strength. Particularly was I taken with the idea that whatever I did would go to help make living conditions far more advanced along the road as we know them here in the United States," Gold said.

The charge against Gold said that he did "conspire" to obtain "documents, writings, sketches, notes and information relating to the national defense and with intent and reason to believe that it was to be used to the injury of the United States and to the advantage of a foreign nation, to wit, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics . . ."

A number of observers were beginning to wonder if the United States has any atomic secrets left.

DRAFT LAW:

Its 'Draftless'

By a vote of 216 to 11, the house extended the selective service law for two years and sent the measure to the senate for its approval.

The measure has been called a "draftless" draft because it would be extended on a stand-by basis. Youths attaining their 18th birthdays would be required to register as at present, but they could not be ordered into uniform unless congress declared the existence of a national emergency requiring expansion of the armed forces.

Before passing the measure, Chairman Vinson of the armed services committee, told the house that "this nation must be prepared for an indefinite time in the future to counter promptly, with every means available, an attack by modern weapons."

QUINTUPLETS:

No Boy Friends

To millions in Canada and the United States it seems like only yesterday that the nation's newspapers carried headlines of the birth of the Dionne quintuplets. In the minds of many they are still little girls.

The rude awakening came with the recent observance of their 16th birthday. But Papa Dionne said the girls would have no boy friends for two more years.

RED CHINA:

Almost in U. N.

The British labor government had spoken out for admission of Communist China to the United Nations. Which meant, most observers agreed, it was now only a matter of time until it became an actuality.

Political students based their reasoning on the fact that France will not stand in the way of admitting the Communists, and, the American position is that the U.S. will not sponsor Red China but will agree to any majority decision.

Ernest Bevin, Britain's foreign secretary, in a statement to the house of commons, said:

"We think it is better for the new China to be inside the U.N. We do not want to ostracize anyone on political grounds."

No matter how one wishes the picture to appear, observers said acceptance of Red China into the United Nations means the Nationalist cause is a lost one. It is now publicly admitted.

Interwoven in the picture was the cautiously worded statement from U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie in London that there is hope of ending the cold war by careful negotiation.

What is there to negotiate the cynics wanted to know? France, Britain and the United States will accept Communist China and Russia will come back into the United Nations—for as long as it pleases her. When it is expedient, she will withdraw again.

GERMANY:

New Army?

The three big western powers—United States, France and Britain—have protested to the Soviet Union of the creation of a police force and militia of 50,000 men with "the character of an army" in eastern Germany.

Obviously based on recent reports by deserters, the three governments charge the force is not "an ordinary police force, and it does not have ordinary police duties." Its weapons, the note of protest said, include machine guns, howitzers, anti-aircraft cannon, mortars, and tanks, and it receives basic infantry, artillery and armored training.

"It must be regarded, therefore, as a military force," the United States note protested.

Observers agreed that the United States was not worried so much about the military capabilities of this force at present. This government is concerned, however, with the fact it could form the nucleus of a new German army or "an internal security force to maintain Communist control."

POTATO BUGS:

Latest Laugh

Every once in a while, the Russians come up with a conspiracy that is so ridiculous it gets a belly-laugh from many nations. If nothing else, the latest one at least relieved the tension of international affairs for a moment.

The East German Communist government charged Americans with spraying potato bugs over East Germany from planes.

According to reports circulated by radio from Soviet dominated East Germany, the American planes flew over forbidden areas of the occupied zone, that is, outside the prescribed air corridors to Berlin—and spread potato bugs.

In all seriousness the Germans reported: "Potato bugs were found in bunches up to 100 after an American plane had passed. There is great indignation among the population about this criminal plot."

The American airmen laughed heartily and one said he didn't know there was a potato bug east of Kansas.

Visits Stalin

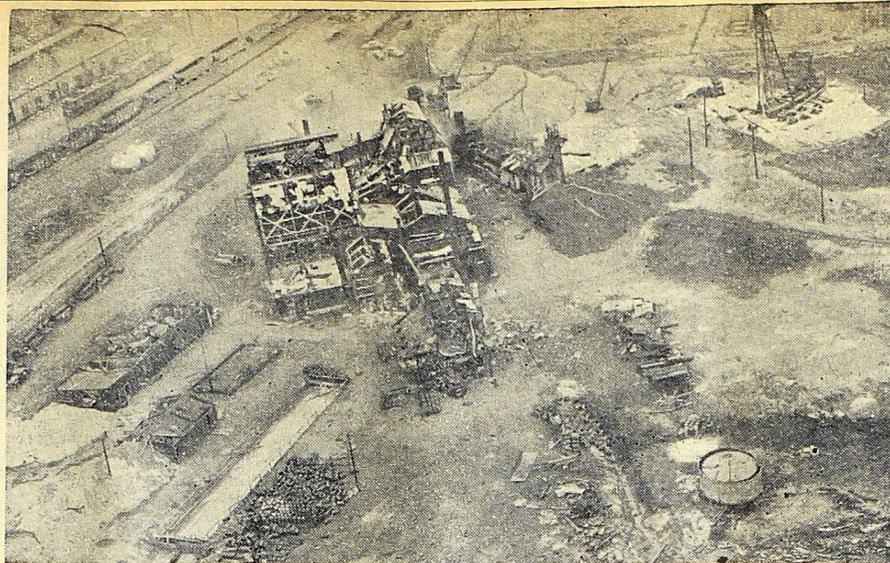

Trygve Lie, secretary general of the U.N., is shown talking to newsmen on his arrival from Europe, including a trip to Moscow where he conferred with Joseph Stalin. He remarked the cold war could be ended by "careful negotiation."

JAPAN:

Russians Sail

The unexpected departure of the Russian mission to Japan, including Lt. Gen Kuzma Derevyanko and 48 staff members, started rumors that the Kremlin was not happy about the mission's activities in Japan.

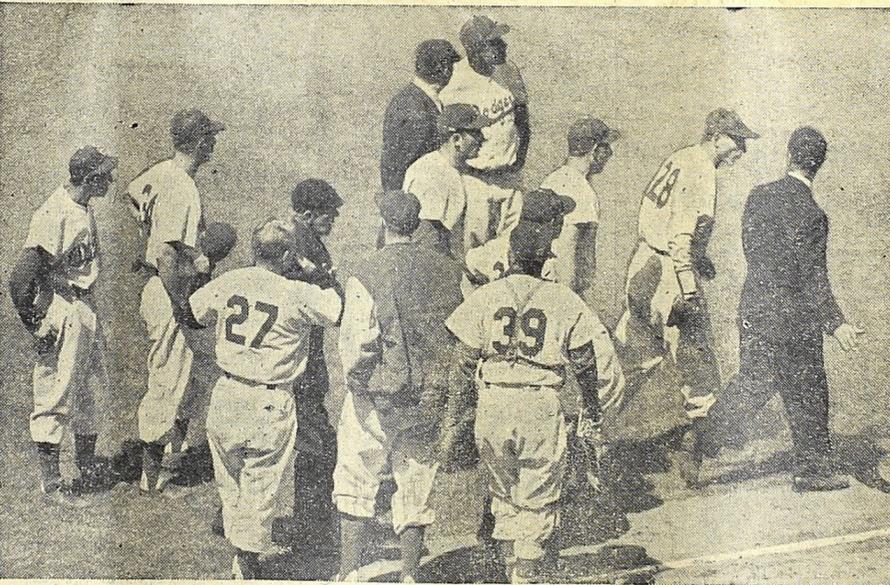

According to some observers the Russians have come out second best in a long running quarrel with Gen. MacArthur over nearly every phase of the occupation.

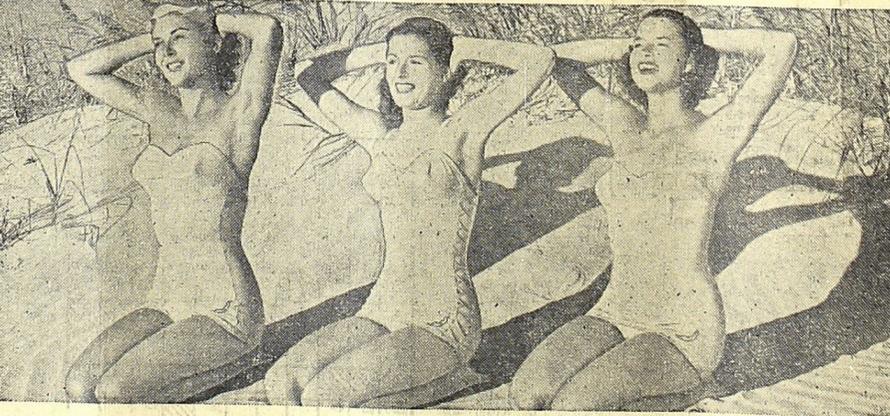

SHATTERED IN AMBOY BLAST . . . This is an airview of the demolished American Chemical company's plant at South Amboy, N.J. This destruction was caused by an explosion which left the harbor-front city beneath a rubble of glass and timber. The blast occurred when four shell- and mine-laden barges erupted at the South Amboy docks. The town counted at least four known dead, 20 to 25 missing and at least 300 injured. It was believed that virtually all the dead and missing were employees of a stevedore company in charge of loading the barges. The explosives were to have been shipped to Pakistan.

SINATRA FLIES HOME TO SEE NANCY . . . Frank Sinatra, radio and movie crooner, returned to New York from Europe aboard an American overseas airliner and told newsmen that he is bound for Hollywood to see his estranged wife, Nancy. But "the voice" refused to say whether he would discuss divorce plans or reconciliation with Mrs. Sinatra. He also reiterated his denials of persistent reports linking him romantically with raven-haired film star Ava Gardner, who in turn is reported to have lost her heart to a Spanish bullfighter. And a Spanish night club singer in New York claims the bullfighter belongs to her.

SWEET OR SOUR, IT'S RHUBARB . . . Where else could this be happening except in Brooklyn. Seems the Dodgers as a body took exception to a ruling by first base umpire Donatelli in the third inning of a recent Cincinnati-Brooklyn contest. Donatelli called the Reds' third baseman Wyrostek's home run fair and the Brooks called it foul. The Brooks are not citizens who take an adverse decision quietly, and they had a few choice adjectives for Donatelli concerning his character and birth. Donatelli is the umpire farthest left in the picture. He was supported by two of his colleagues, but that did not silence the vociferous Dodgers. Brooklyn won.

THAT LUCKY OLD SUN . . . Sun-kissed sands, a trio of beach beauties and shimmering shadows add up to a very pleasant occupation for the cameraman. Another fortunate fellow is that lucky old sun who has nothing to do but smile down upon scenes like this all day. The photographer was too busy with focus to get the young ladies' names and addresses and telephone numbers—there's something about cameramen beyond comprehension. But we'd say this Daytona Beach, Fla., scene is an inspiration to every ambitious beach comber. The beauties are a departure from the usual flotsam and jetsam. Wonder what lucky wave washed them ashore.

Cloud of Doubt

THIS REPORTER has just returned from a trip through the great, prosperous middle-east, the breadbasket and the industrial center of the nation.

And beneath the prosperity, the vigorous planning, the optimism, the heartiness and friendliness of this segment of the nation, there is discernible a faint cloud of doubt, uncertainty and perplexity in the minds of these people.

You ask about it and they cannot put their finger on anything definite. It is something they look upon with a degree of suspicion and distrust, or a lack of understanding.

And here in this great city of Washington, at its most beautiful this time of the year, with its stately buildings, its broad, shaded, smooth avenues spreading across the Potomac to the red soil of Virginia and eastward to the rolling Maryland hills, the reason for this feeling on the part of the midwest people is obvious. For there on capitol hill, beneath the white dome which dominates the picturesque setting of this metropolis of democracy, there is instability and distrust; there is hysteria and witch-hunting; there is name-calling and character assassination. They are, in fact, burning down the barn to kill the rats.

Communists Abetted

Months ago and repeatedly since, this column has pointed out the existence of this condition which has caused an evil atmosphere of fear and hysteria, brought to a climax in recent weeks by the charges of Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin concerning Communist infiltration in our state department. In the minds of most responsible and thinking people here in Washington, these canards have been proven both irresponsible and ill-founded.

But there can be no doubt that because of these cries of "wolf, wolf" the condition of uneasiness noted in the midwest has been fostered in the minds of the people there and everywhere. There also is little doubt that the objectives of the Communist fifth columns, not only in this country, but in every country, have been aided and abetted. For that is the aim of the Moscow plotters of Communist activities, to disunite, to destroy confidence, and to create suspicion in democracies and free governments throughout the world. This policy of destroying confidence, of causing unrest among the population has been used to advantage by Communists many times.

George Keenan, counselor of the state department in a recent speech in a midwest city said: "The atmosphere of public life in Washington does not have to deteriorate much further to produce a situation in which very few of our more quiet and sensitive and gifted people will be able to continue in the government. The margin of safety with which our country moves in the world today is not great enough to permit us to be reckless and wasteful with the talents and idealism of those people we depend upon for the generalship of our peacetime battles."

Majority Are Honest

This nation must win this cold war or as an alternative, fight a hot war. This nation must hold and continue to hold the respect, the faith and confidence of not only our allies, but of nations everywhere who are looking to the United States to beat back communism and totalitarianism wherever it appears. But the suspicion created by what is now called "McCarthyism," both at home and abroad, is not only a deterrent, but making it well-nigh impossible for our representatives to sit around the conference table with other nations of the globe.

So it is time the people of this country make up their minds, either believe as the Kremlin would have us believe and withdraw into a cocoon of isolationism, leaving the rest of the world to the foes of everything we believe in, or once and for all time sweep away these false clouds of suspicion and unite behind our government in its all-out fight to win the cold war and keep the peace.

Of the workers in the federal government, 999 out of 1,000 are honest, loyal, able Americans.

Our FBI, our central intelligence, our department of justice, our military intelligence know who are Communists and who are not. They are not stupid. They knew during the war the movements of every spy, every saboteur, every Nazi in this country. None got away. But they did not capture them by witch-hunting or yelling sensational charges from the house-tops.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET

This Guy Khrustalev Must Have a Lot of Crust, Making Fun of Poor Old Joe Stalin That Way

By BILLY ROSE

Generalissimo Joseph V. Stalin Chairman, Council of Ministers Kremlin, Moscow, U. S. S. R. Dear Joe:

If I may be so bold, I'd like to call your attention to a matter which is no laughing matter, even though it's been getting a lot of laughs lately. Namely, the recent efforts of your propaganda boys to win friends and influence people in this part of the world.

Take, for instance, last winter's lollapalooza about how your engineers were nudging mountains with uranium. We degenerate democrats, whether you know it or not, are a fact-minded people who thrive on details. When a fellow says he's Napoleon we want to see his birth certificate, and when he's atomized an Alp we want to see the hole in the ground.

Billy Rose

Then there were the recent hunderings which claimed that every doodad from the wheel to the flying saucer had been invented by a Russian. Now, I can't doubt that many an important idea has been hatched between the carpathians and the Urals, but when your propaganda machine gives the rest of the world credit for nothing but the Lindy hop and the bubonic plague, a lot of folks who might otherwise be friendly begin to titter—and even your legitimate claims get lost in the clutter.

OUR MASS REACTIONS were neatly summed up a few months ago when The New Yorker cartooned a group of your agents in China discussing policy. "The main thing is to handle them with tact," said one of them. Let them think they invented gunpowder." Some issues later, the same periodical ran another captious cartoon in which several Politburocrats were debating the question, "Shall we invent television now or wait until they perfect color?"

As another, and admittedly pica-yune, example of what I'm getting at, let me tell you about my own experiences with your editors and copywriters.

Every now and occasionally, as some idle-eye in your press division has apparently noticed, I take a playful poke at your regime in my column — an event which certainly doesn't figure to precipitate a crisis of state. But instead of filing it in the wastebasket and going about their business, your name-callers have twice made the mistake of answering back — and both times with the finesse of a lumberjack trying to lat.

The first time, a year ago, both Pravda and Izvestia reported I was a "white slaver" and that my lumpy-dumpy little cabaret was "the biggest bordel in the world." And as if that weren't enough, they went on to say that my partners in this enterprise were John Edgar Hoover and Bernard M. Baruch.

Well, as might have been expected, this bombastic bombshell exploded nothing but giggles. Time magazine reprinted the item as a gag, my chorus girls threatened to picket the Russian consulate, and the syndicate which handles my stuff picked up a few more papers.

ALL OF WHICH should have taught your word-wasters a lesson, but it didn't. A few days ago, someone mailed me the February issue of your magazine, Novy Mir (New World), and—lo and surprise!—in it was an article by one P. Khrustalev which, by way of documenting the degeneracy of American culture, described me as "a gangster with three chins" who "murdered a man and grabbed his capital."

I took this, I assure you, as a plaudit rather than a potshot. On your way up, as I get it, you knocked off a couple of banks yourself, and since have undoubtedly knocked off an opponent or three. Khrustalev, it was evident, meant to be complimentary when he word-painted me in the image of Soviet Citizen No. 1.

All kidding aside, though, don't you think it's about time you sent for your typewriter assassins and pointed out that their releases are getting more howls than hosannas? And while you're at it, you might point out that Joe Goebbels' theory—the bigger the lie the more apt it is to be believed—only works with people who desperately want to believe the lie.

One thing more: I fraternally suggest you keep an eye on this Khrustalev fellow who said I had three chins. Such a man, in a reckless moment, might describe his premier as having two heads.

Sincerely,
Billy Rose

WHAT SAY? . . . Sporting his first new hat in 50 years, Frank E. Gimlett, famous hermit of Arbor Villa, Colo., and advocate of a return to the gold standard, shows how he regained control of his speech after suffering a stroke last February.

This Is Your Paper 'A Little Late' Means Trouble

By William R. Nelson

A PUBLICITY chairman of a prominent civic group rushes breathlessly into the newspaper office, her face a picture of worry. "I hope you will forgive my being late with our news, but I simply forgot what day this is," she begins. "I just have to get this announcement into the paper."

In a metropolitan newspaper office nothing could be done to help her. Deadline is deadline there. But, in the home town paper office it is sometimes difficult to be so rigid about deadlines. In the hypothetical instance cited, let us assume an exception is made. Here is what would probably happen.

The breathless chairman would go her way much relieved. Although received after deadline time, her organization's news will be in the paper, as usual.

At the newspaper, however, the chairman's tardiness has precipitated a chain reaction of upset schedules that will affect virtually every member of the staff.

An editor will have to handle another news story. One or more items already in type will have to be shortened to make room for the late story. Type already set will have to be discarded and more set. Page dummies will have to be altered. Lockup of page forms will be delayed. Printing and distribution will be off schedule.

This probably exaggerated example of what happens when someone imposes late news upon the paper, is duplicated, even more disruptively, whenever an advertiser fails to get copy to the paper on time.

As long as humans are prone to forget, have accidents, or otherwise be delayed in performing duties, it will probably be necessary for stores and newspapers to occasionally accept such impositions. But these disruptions of necessary schedules will be materially reduced, no doubt, when people fully realize what inconvenience their tardiness causes.

Whenever you have news or advertising for the paper, get it in well ahead of the deadline. You will get better service, and have the satisfaction of knowing that you did not impose upon the newspaper's people.

Star Dust STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

RONALD COLMAN has emerged so completely from professional retirement that nobody would be surprised if he returned to his first love, the stage, where Lilian Gish discovered him years ago and had him engaged as her leading man in "The White Sister." His radio show, "The Halls of Ivy," Wednesday nights on NBC, was the first step. Next came the hilarious United Artists picture, "Champagne for Caesar," his first film in three years. Colman is wonderful as a double-or-nothing quiz contestant who runs his take up to a $40,000,000 jackpot. Even the talented parrot who plays "Caesar" can't steal scenes from him—quite a feat!

Lowell Thomas, CBS newscaster, had quite a week recently. The doctor let him discard the crutches he'd been using for seven months, ever since he was thrown from a horse while trekking through Tibet. And his son was married, with Thomas as the best man. The beautiful wedding took place in a charming church in Greenwich, Conn. James Melton sang.

Jan Sterling's standing at Paramount was boosted so high by audience reaction to her work in "United States Mail" and "Union Station," when they were shown at sneak previews, that she was given a top assignment in "Ace in the Hole."

Mona Freeman has been worried; she's so little and looks so young that she feared she'd never get roles where she could look her age—25. "I could just see my daughter growing up," said she. "And going to the movies with a boy friend, pointing to a bobby-soxer on the screen and saying 'That's my mother'." But now Mona's happy; she looks her age in "Branded."

Stewart Granger is going to be stuck in costume pictures for a long time to come. M-G-M was delighted with his performance in "King Solomon's Mines," and will now turn him into a swashbuckling hero. He will do "Robinson Crusoe," "Ivanhoe," in full-blown Technicolor, followed by that old favorite, "Scaramouche," and then will don uniform for Kipling's "Soldiers Three."

THE FICTION CORNER

VANITY ALL

By Richard H. Wilkinson

"EVERY MAN," said Inspector Joe Warren, frowning over the letter which he held in his hand, "has a weak point. In the case of 'The Flash,' most darling criminal of this city's criminal history, it appears to be vanity."

3-Minute Fiction

"The fellow has become drunk with his success in accomplishing two outstanding robberies. And now he has taken to writing us letters, stating just where he's going to be at a certain time and what he plans to do."

Detective Fargo blew smoke rings at the ceiling and evaded his chief's eyes.

"So far," he said, "he seems to have been pretty successful in carrying out his plans. This is the third letter we've received."

"Each time The Flash has appeared where he said he would at exactly the time denoted in his letters. And while we've stood idly by he's committed his crimes and escaped. What's he up to this time?"

"The Devonshire party," Warren growled. The truth of Fargo's statement scored him. "Mrs. Devonshire is planning to wear that valuable emerald her husband brought her from Europe a month ago. The Flash states in this letter that he intends to steal the emerald and defies us to stop him."

Fargo crushed out his cigaret. "Have you taken any steps to prevent the robbery?"

"Fargo, as you know, the Flash's disguise is perfect. He'll appear at that party as a guest, or servant or someone with whom the Devonshires are but slightly acquainted. I want you to go up there early,

The butler's face was white and drawn.

meet Mrs. Devonshire when she comes down stairs and stick with her until the last guest has gone. Then see to it that the emerald is stored away in a safe before you leave. I'll have Johnson and a couple of other men mingling with the guests."

Warren stepped quickly inside. And at that moment Mrs. Devonshire, accompanied by her husband and Detective Fargo, came flying down the stairs.

"What's happened?" Warren barked at Fargo, ignoring the incoherent babble of Mrs. Devonshire.

"It's gone," Fargo grated. "About an hour ago, I was standing behind Mrs. Devonshire in the reception line. Someone poked a gun in my back and told me to walk backwards. When I saw the fellow's face I knew it was The Flash, because he was a dead ringer for myself."

"A ringer for you!" Warren gasped. "What the devil do you mean?"

"I mean," said Fargo grimly, "that his disguise this time looked like me, generally speaking. He forced me into a closet and cracked me over the head. Naturally no one noticed that anything was happening, as Mrs. Devonshire was exhibiting her emerald at the time."

"Ten minutes ago I came to and began to kick on the door. Devonshire opened it. I rushed to Mrs. Devonshire and discovered that she had just missed her emerald. — The Flash has outsmarted us again!"

Warren slumped wearily into a chair. "Tomorrow," he groaned, "every newspaper in the city will have the story. It will be the most humiliating moment of my life."

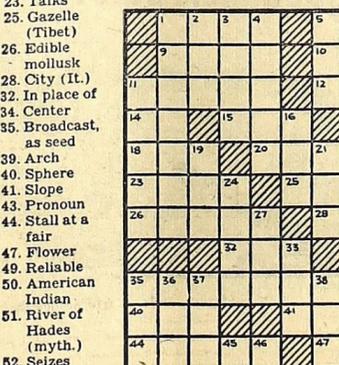

Fargo smiled bitterly. "Every man has his weak point," he said. "Yours seems to be vanity."

FARM BUREAU MEETS WITH TOWNLINE GROUP

The May meeting of the Iosco County Farm Bureau Board of Directors was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barnes of the Town Line Group. There were nine directors present, also the District Representative, Arlo Wasson.

Mrs. Vary reported that the County Women's group had raised sufficient funds to file their state quota and has also given a donation to the Sister Kenny Foundation for the training of more technicians.

Two of the three resolutions presented to the Board in April were adopted, however the third was tabled for more consideration and will be voted on at the June meeting.

West Reno, Sherman and Reno No. 1 submitted resolution so similar that it was decided to send the one from the Sherman group to each director for consideration at their next meeting. It reads as follows: "Resolved, that the Sherman Group go on record as favoring an increase of two cents tax on gasoline or any other fuel used on the highways. We also favor an increase in weight tax on commercial vehicles to be used for the construction and improvement of the highways of Michigan.

It was recommended that each group talk over Farm Bureau Service needs, where the best location, and any other helpful suggestions and report at the next director's meeting. Mr. Mathews asked that each Director talk to his group and get its opinion about asking a Veterinary to come to Iosco county and how many would be willing to guarantee him $3.00 per year to be deducted from services.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ball and Kitty Lou spent the week end at Cass City and attended a wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith and daughter, Jean, of Lansing, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pfahl.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stark of Lupton were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Will Herriman.

Mrs. Clara Smith and Mrs. Alton Durant were West Branch visitors on Monday.

Many children and teachers from Hemlock Baptist Church are attending Bible School this week in Tawas City.

Sam and Charles Bamberger, Mrs. Cecil Levi, Charles Brown, Russell Binder and Robert attended the Beef Cattle sale at Gladwin on Friday.

Miss Ruth Herriman came home from Wheaton College, Illinois, on Saturday for the summer vacation. Mrs. Will Herriman and Mrs. Henry Smith met her in Bay City.

Mrs. Will White and Mrs. Ellen Perkins of Reno spent Sunday evening with their sister, Mrs. Charles Brown.

GRASS DAY SPEAKER

C. R. MEGEE

Dr. C. R. Megee, assistant dean of agriculture at Michigan State College, will be the featured speaker at the Grass Day for farmers in this area on June 21.

The event for Iosco county farmers will be held at the Albert DeRuiter and son farm, one and one half miles east of Falmouth in Missaukee county.

Dr. Megee is author of more than fifty articles, bulletins and books on grasses and legumes and was a farm crops specialist before he became assistant dean.

The Grass Day program will begin at 9:30 a. m. with tours of demonstration areas. At 1:00 p. m. there will be a short speaking program, followed by demonstrations on seeding of grasses and legumes and hay and silage making.

Harold R. Clark, county agricultural agent, believes farmers will find the program valuable. Those who intend to try grass silage will find many valuable suggestions at the Grass Day event.

Womens Extension Groups Hold Council Meeting

On Wednesday, June 7 the Iosco Women's Extension Groups held a council meeting in the Conference Room of the Cooperative Extension Service Department in the Federal Building, East Tawas.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. George Olmstead, county chairman. Roll call was taken with the following present at the meeting: Mrs. Donald MacDonald, Tawas City, Mrs. Stanley Shellenbarger, Hale, Mrs. George Olmstead, Oscoda, Mrs. Iva Vary, Whitmore, Mrs. A. W. Miller, Whitmore, Mrs. Ed. Robinson, Whitmore, Mrs. Herbert Wendt, Tawas City, Harold Clark, County Agricultural Agent, Miss Margaret Harris, State Home Demonstration Agent, Michigan State College.

Final plans were made for the Women's Extension Picnic which is to be held June 29 in the Tawas City Park. Friends and children of Women's Extension members are welcome at the picnic. Everyone is requested to bring their own table service.

Election of officers was held, the following being elected for the coming year. Mrs. A. W. Miller, chairman; Mrs. Ed. Robinson, vice-chairman; Mrs. Herbert Wendt, Secretary-Treasurer.

The afternoon session was turned over to Miss Margaret Harris, State Home Demonstration Agent, Michigan State College. She discussed the program for 1951.

The following lessons were decided upon: Color schemes for the home; Meals for Middle Years, Insurance, New Fabrics in 1951 and a lesson on Flowers.

War on Coyotes

Airplanes are being used extensively in Nebraska for killing coyotes, and latest reports show 146 of the marauders eliminated in the past few months in Greeley county. With one plane two hunters killed two coyotes for every hour in the air. Contributions from farmers are being used to defray expenses for gasoline, oil, ammunition and a fair wage for the pilot and gunner.

Restoring Leather

Often a slightly worn or faded piece of leather can be restored to service by a good cleaning and a little leather renewer — or, in the case of suede, a good stiff brush and suede dressing. But if the article is of no use as it is, rip it apart and use the leather for a belt, slipper soles or some other needed item that will save buying new garments. You can cut hard leather with a razor blade, and soft leather with strong shears.

High Radio Tower

Highest earthen structure in eastern America is the radio tower of FM station WMIT. Although it is situated on Clingman's peak in North Carolina, which is 20 feet lower than 6,621 foot Mount Mitchell, the tower overtops the observation platform of Mt. Mitchell.

FARM LABOR MOST IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION

Labor, which amounts to 40 per cent of the total cost of farm operation, is the most important considerations of the dairy farmer, says Harold R. Clark, county agricultural agent.

A survey of farm records, made by Byron Bookhout, Michigan State College agricultural economist, shows that milking takes about one-half of the time spent on the dairy herd.

Milking alone takes as long as feeding, bedding and cleaning the barns. Many man hours of chore work can be eliminated by making more effective use of equipment and also by doing such minor things as relocating a door, changing a hay chute, and centrally locating a light switch.

Perhaps the most important way of cutting down on farm operating costs is to improve work methods. This may be accomplished by keeping the milker units as close together as possible and by milking the cows in order as they stand in the barn. "Managed milking," sometimes referred to as "fast" and "four" minute milking, is another labor saving cost-cutting operation.

Experiments have proved cows can be trained to milk within three to four minutes. Keeping the milker on the cow too long does not add to production, and it may injure the cow's udder.

Arranging the hay chutes so hay can be dropped into the feeding area is another way of saving time and labor, as an extra handling of the feed will be eliminated, the agent concludes.

CLARK ADVISES - -

Harold R. Clark, County Agent
Growing Tomatoes in Michigan

The tomato is a crop which can be grown successfully in all parts of Michigan in suitable varieties are selected and proper measures taken to protect the young plants.

Harold R. Clark, county agricultural agent, calls attention to a new folder, "Tomato Growing in Michigan," recently prepared by staff members of the Michigan State College horticulture department. A copy can be obtained from the county extension office or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan.

Of special interest at this time of year is the section on cultivation, irrigation and mulching. The horticulturists point out that plants should be cultivated soon after they are set and at frequent intervals thereafter to control weeds. Later cultivations should be shallow and the cultivated strip between the rows narrowed gradually to prevent possible injury to the roots.

Irrigation is beneficial for tomatoes. It increases yield, prevents blossom-end rot and dropping of blossoms sometimes caused by hot, dry winds. The agent also points out that mulching saves cultivation keeps fruit off the ground, helps to conserve moisture and lessens the amount of blossom end rot.

A number of helpful hints are given in the folder, says agent Clark. Included is a section on the control of tomato insects and several sections on harvesting and marketing.

Grasshopper Invasion of Michigan in 1950?

The time to control grasshoppers is when they are small and before their wings grow where they can move into crops, warned Harold R. Clark, county agricultural agent.

What are the prospects for grasshopper invasions in Michigan in 1950? The county agricultural agent has word from Ray L. Janes, extension specialist in entomology at Michigan State College, that on an average the situation will be about the same as in 1949.

Each fall surveys are made of the adult grasshoppers. Last fall the number was about the same as in 1948. Weather, however, will have a lot to do with how well they hatch out and grow. Dry weather tends to make the Michigan problem worse.

The county agent advises farmers to watch their fields for grasshoppers and at the first sign of activity, get after the small bugs. Recommended controls are the same as for last year.

The agent recommends: Control early with a bait. Baits can be made from the following materials:

Bait No. 1—Sodium Fluosilicate, 6 pounds; Bran, 25 lbs.* sawdust, 75 lbs. water 5 to 7½ gallons

Bait No. 2: Chlordane, ½ lb; bran, 25 lbs.* sawdust, 75 lbs.* water, 5 to 7½ gallons.

Bait No. 3—Toxaphene, 1 lb; bran, 25 lbs.* sawdust, 75 lbs.* water, 5 to 7½ gallons.

The chlordane or toxaphene can be bought either as concentrated emulsions or as wettable powders for making baits. These same materials are used as concentrates for sprays.

* 25 pounds of bran or 1 part by volume.

 75 pounds of sawdust or 3 parts by volume.

 This may not be the exact amount of water needed. Both bran and sawdust may contain different amounts of water at different times. This will alter the amount of water needed to make a finished bait.

Asphyxiation

More than half of the annual total of deaths from asphyxiation by illuminating and other gases occur during the winter. It's a great temptation to keep the windows of the home tightly closed on bitter nights, but the practice is neither healthful or safe, report the safety specialists of the Association of Casualty and Surety companies.

Water for Corn

Corn planted on poor soil requires more water to produce a given amount of corn than does corn growing on fertile soil. In other words, a liberal supply of fertilizer makes corn plants more efficient in using available water.

Use for Paper Clips

Paper clips are very useful in sewing. They can be used to fasten edges of cloth together to save time from basting. These clips are also helpful to hold plants in place both when sewing and in ironing.

Many Madisons

More than half of the American states have cities or towns named Madison. There are 27 of them, including two in Alabama; located in different counties. Adams is next, with 26 states, according to the Railway Express agency.

Lacquer Finishes

Automobiles are no longer painted and varnished but are coated with a material, actually more durable than the metal it protects, which is in large part soluble cotton. Today's widely used lacquer finishes are made from cotton, corn, and air. From these basic sources the scientists derives his starting chemical materials, to which are added pigments and plasticizers.

Laying Hens

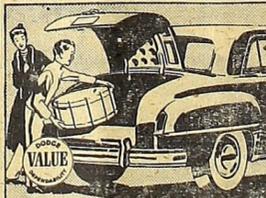

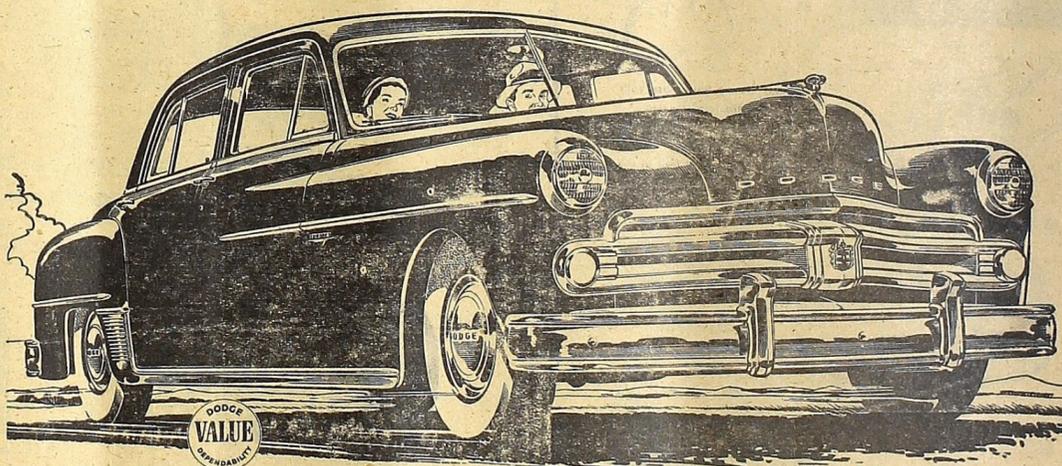

A good laying hen producing 180 to 200 or more eggs a year will eat about 100 pounds of feed.

Sources of Pitchblende
The Belgian Congo contains the largest proven pitchblende deposits. Elizabeth II, near the mines, boomed during wartime to a town of 20,000, nearly all African natives. In 1940 it exported to the United States more than 1,000 tons of uranium ore. By 1941 Belgian Congo shipments to the U. S. were cut in half, and Canada supplanted Africa as the principal source of U. S. Supply.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
In the Circuit Court for the County of Iosco

IN CHANCERY
James L. Aldrich, Plaintiff, vs. The Banking Commission of the State of Iowa, as successor to First Iowa State Trust and Savings Bank of Burlington, Iowa, a dissolved banking corporation, formerly the Iowa State Savings Bank of Burlington, Iowa; the unknown heirs of James W. Brooks, deceased, and of James W. Sanderson, deceased, Walter P. Sharp and "Mary" Sace, wife of Andrew Sace, whose first name is not known, or their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, Defendants.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
At a session of said court held at the courthouse in the City of Tawas City in said county on the 19th day of April, 1950.

Present: Hon. Herman Dehnke, Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the bill of complaint in said cause and the affidavit of Herbert Hertzler attached thereto, from which it satisfactorily appears to the court that defendant, the Banking Commission of the State of Iowa, as successor to First Iowa State Trust and Savings Bank of Burlington, Iowa, is not a resident of the State of Michigan but is a resident of the City of Des Moines of the State of Iowa and that the other defendants above named or their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, are proper and necessary parties defendant in the above entitled cause, and

It further appearing that after diligent search and inquiry it cannot be ascertained, and it is not known whether or not said other defendants are living or dead, or where any of them may reside if living, and, if dead, whether they have personal representatives or heirs living or where they or some of them may reside, and further that the present whereabouts of said other defendants are unknown, and that the names of the persons who are included therein without being named, but who are embraced therein under the title of unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cannot be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry.

On motion of Herbert Hertzler, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that all said defendants and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, and assigns, cause their appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order, and in default thereof that said bill of complaint be taken as confessed by the said defendants, their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns.

It is further ordered that within forty days plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, such publication to be continued therein once in each week for six weeks in succession.

(s) Herman Dehnke.

Countersigned:

Dorothy Bublitz, Deputy Clerk of Circuit Court
Take notice, that this suit in which the foregoing order was duly made, involves and is brought to quiet title to the following described piece or parcel of land situated and being in the Township of Baldwin, County of Iosco, State of Michigan, described as follows, to-wit:

STATE OF MICHIGAN
In the Circuit Court for the County of Iosco.

IN CHANCERY
Lloyd G. McKay and Rose M. McKay, Plaintiffs, vs. The Iowa State Savings Bank of Burlington, Iowa, Francis E. Fields, Willard Elkins, Trustee, their unknown heirs, legatees, devisees and assigns, Defendants.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
At a session of said Court held in the courthouse in the City of Tawas City in said County this 19th day of May, 1950.

Present, Honorable Herman Dehnke, Circuit Judge.

In the above entitled cause it appearing that the defendants, The Iowa State Savings Bank of Burlington, Iowa, and Willard Elkins, are not residents of this State, but do reside in the State of Iowa and Indiana, respectively, and that the defendant, Francis E. Fields, is a resident of this State and that process for his appearance has been duly issued, but the same could not be served upon him personally because his present whereabouts are unknown and his present whereabouts cannot be ascertained, therefore, on motion of H. Read Smith, attorney for the plaintiffs,

IT IS ORDERED that the defendants, and their unknown heirs, devisees and assigns, enter their respective appearances in said cause on, or before, three months from the date of this order, and that within 40 days, the plaintiffs cause this order to be published in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper published and circulated within said county, said publication to be continued once in each week for six weeks in succession; and that a copy of this order be sent by registered mail to each of said defendants, at their last known address, within 20 days from the date of this order.

FAMILY TREAT. They'll all have fun in this roomy 4-door Sedan with generous luggage space for trips. Shown here is the SPECIAL. Same body type available also in the SUPER series.

Look at the FUN you're missing!

SURE, we know—a car is a "necessity" these days. A modern family "couldn't get along without one." Or so you tell yourself.

Come, come, sir! We know, and so do you, the real reason you got the new-car fever—and the kind of car you are hankering for.

You want a car with some fun in it, don't you?

A car you'll get a big bang out of every time you see it parked in front of your house—every time you slip into its front seat—every sweet and easy mile you travel in it.

Well, come see what this beauty does for you.

How the doors swing open in warm welcome at a thumb touch on a button. How the broad seats invite you to take it easy. How the big straight-eight under the bonnet snaps into purring life at your toe-touch.

And then note—

How smoothly you slip away from the curb—especially when Dynaflo* is handling the power transmission.

How firm and steady the whole car feels. How it holds on curves, free of "heel-over" and sway. How each coil-sprung wheel quicksteps over bumps and rough spots that mean jounce and jiggle on most cars—how buoyantly road-free a Buick is.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT

This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Germans Mad About Burlesque Shows

Nearly every big-city German night club has at least one female performer whose specialty is undressing in public. The customers flock in droves to this new wrinkle in German entertainment. It reminds old time Germans of the spicy entertainment that sprang up after World War I.

The girl most West Germans prefer to see is a sloop-eyed brunette named Laya Raki. She says she is half Dutch and half Indonesian.

She does a dance called "The Indian Gravestone" which definitely is out of the cemetery class and which leaves her quite chilly from the waist up. Since Miss Raki is a girl who might give pause to Jane Russell, the customers love it.

They blow foam off seidels of beer and applaud wildly when her gold scarf is discarded and she dances in a smile and a G-string. A tour of Frankfurt night clubs yields a bounteous harvest of undressed entertainment, but the German version of the American strip tease rarely is subtle.

In one night club a flashily dressed master of ceremonies announced Miss so-and-so would dance a tango.

A weary orchestra thumped away while a black-haired frau-lein trudged aimlessly about wearing a G-string and two feather fans. Occasionally she dropped her fans to bare her chest to the enthusiastic audience.

It was anything but a tango but nobody seemed to mind.

One night club run by a German woman has rung in another version of undressed entertainment.

Every night at 12 o'clock a 10-minute motion picture of semi-nude girls is shown.

The scenes are set in the night club. While a man and woman hold hands amorously, girls with bare chests and loin cloths made of artificial butterflies or orchids simmer daintily.

It has the place packed every night.

Mr. Troutt

C. W. Troutt, of Lebanon, Tenn., well-known manager of square dances and operator of several trucks, now joins in a few steps of the dancing, much to the amazement of friends who know how severe aches and pains of neuritis have made him almost an invalid for some time.

This blessed relief came to Mr. Troutt as HADACOL helped overcome his deficiencies of Vitamins B, B₂, Niacin and Iron. This relief came to him after these horrible pains had haunted him, making it possible for him to carry on his business activities only through sheer determination. He didn't let aches and pains kill his spirits, however. Then, one of the musicians at his square dances brought him a large economy-size bottle of HADACOL. Gave Him HADACOL.

"I am tired of seeing you suffer with these aches and pains," said the musician. "I bought you this big bottle myself because I want to see you start getting well."

Here is Mr. Troutt's own story: "I have suffered with aches and pains of neuritis for some time. I have tried dozens of preparations but have had little relief. My greatest pains have been in my knees and ankles and recently there have been pains in my wrists. One of the greatest horrors was to be unable to sleep at night. Since taking HADACOL I have been able to sleep and it is wonderful to get rid of those terrible pains in the knees, ankles and wrists. I have found in HADACOL the only relief that has come after years of search."

You'll Feel Great . . . with the first few bottles you take, or your money back. There is only one HADACOL and it is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. So give this remarkable HADACOL medicine a chance to help you if you suffer from deficiencies of Vitamins B, B₂, Niacin and Iron. Remember that HADACOL is amazingly different and amazingly effective because it treats the real cause of such troubles. Make up your mind to take HADACOL regularly. Refuse substitutes. Insist on the genuine. You can't lose a cent, because it's sold on a strict money-back guarantee. Only $1.25 for Trial size. Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50.

If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny post card. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.50 hospital economy size or $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied.—Adv. © 1950, The LeBlanc Corporation.

GREEN GRASS OF WYOMING

By Mary O'Hara

Thunderhead's tremendous leap enables him to slay his way up and over the wall. Righting himself after a somersault resulting when he hit the ground, he is off with a flashing of white legs and flailing hoofs! The searching party fails to find Crown Jewel and Greenway fears she was injured and has died. Greenway and Carey Marsh says goodbye to Ken and the others. Believing Thunderhead will return to the mares after dark, preparations are made to shoot him. A white stallion appears and is shot—but it isn't Thunderhead. Is it Ishmael, Bager's colt, come to be with his mother. Ken finds Old Pete's hoofprint.

CHAPTER XXI

"Plain as day!" he suddenly yelled, hastily pulled on his boots, mounted Flicka and put her on the trail. The marks were conspicuous in the soft loam of the mountain-side. Now he was sure. Two horses had traveled this way, one was Pete, the other a tall horse with long legs and small hoofs. Where these two had pushed through the brush, weaving in and out among the largest trees, they had made a sort of path which Ken and Flicka easily followed.

It was late that night before Ken and his father went up to the room they shared, Ken more silent than usual because the thoughts and emotions that surged within him were conflicting; one silenced the other. He had led his father and Mr. Greenway and Collins out to inspect the tracks on the mountain-side, and the little town buzzed with the results of that inspection. The English filly was not dead; she had run off with Pete. Ken was undoubtedly a hero, but he had not seen Carey again.

Rob did not start to undress but sat down in one of the rocking chairs and lit his pipe. Ken sat down in the other. Windows were wide open, the flimsy white curtains hung straight in the lifeless air. The room was left in darkness because of mosquitoes.

Rob began to talk. There was a note of jubilation in his voice. "Damned glad you found those tracks! Changes the whole picture. I was beginning to feel pretty small—bringing the gang out here to get Mr. Greenway's filly, costing him a lot of money, and going back with nothing and less than nothing!"

"Now," said his father, "you can load up here with everything you need in the way of provisions. I won't leave until I've seen you off. Take plenty. You might catch her in a week, or it might be six. Let's see—what's the date today? The twelfth, I think."

"That's right. Howard left eleven days ago."

"Ken—even though it leaves me in a fix, yet I'm glad it wasn't Thunderhead that was killed. Don't misunderstand me—if I had to do it again, I'd do the same thing, and if it was Thunderhead he would be killed if he couldn't be caught, yet, all the same, I'm glad it wasn't. Bad enough to have that other one lying dead out there. Ishmael."

Rob States Certainty Of Ken Finding Horse

Rob placed his hand on Ken's knee and gave it a little squeeze. "It's all turned out pretty well, son, and now the rest is up to you. I know you can do it. I'm counting on you."

Ken's eyelids swept up, he broke into a vivid, charming, self-conscious smile. And Rob felt a pang, for the look in the dark blue eyes was like Nell's.

Again the curtains blew straight into the room. A rising wind swished around the building and there was a sudden crack of thunder.

"Here it is," said Rob, going to the window. Ken followed him.

Half the sky was clear and luminous, the bright moon in the zenith. The other half was a heavy bank of dark clouds that were moving rapidly, shoved up from the northern horizon.

"Goodbye to Pete's tracks," said Ken dolefully.

The clouds were churning, one layer against another layer, great chunks torn loose by the wind and sent flying. Lightning split it again and again and thunder rolled and tumbled in the mountains. Northward, the storm was beating on the earth—rain—snow—they could not yet tell what it was. But even as they watched, the bank of clouds was shoved up and across the zenith, over the moon, and the world was inky black, crackling about their ears.

"Hail," said Rob into Ken's ear, as the familiar sharp patter hit the streets and the roof of the hotel. "You're in luck."

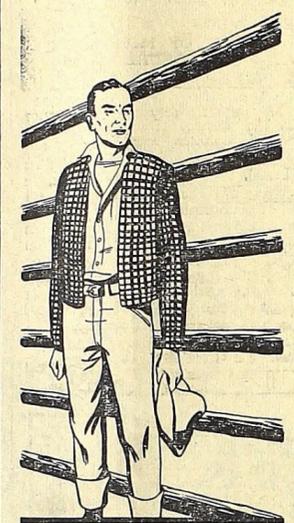

"Thank goodness," said Ken, knowing that hail would not erase the horses' tracks but freeze them into a hard mold.

The din increased. Rob went around the room closing the other windows.

"Better come to bed," he said, "this'll be over in a few minutes." "I will," said Ken, but he did not move. The storm had swept away all his dread and given him, instead, exultance. The luck was with him. Thunderhead had not been shot. Jewel had not died. Neither of them was lost beyond recapture. Nor was the prospect of his visit to the Greenways entirely hopeless. If his luck held and he caught up with the horses soon, there were still weeks of summer to spend with Carey and with the horses on the practice track of the Blue Moon.

Ken was on the trail of Pete and Jewel. Crossing it, near where he was now sitting by his campfire, was another trail. He knew those hoofprints. They were unusually large, the prints of a horse who had never worn a shoe. There were cracks in the edges, several big pieces of the hoof chipped off. These were hoofs that took care of themselves, had never been pared or shaped, good broad hoofs to carry a great weight without stumbling. They were Thunderhead's hoofs; and they went north. And Pete's and Jewel's, after having come from the corral in a northerly direction for fifteen miles or so, had then swung around, following a tiny creek. They were now heading due east.

Thunderhead's trail was the older. He had not crossed their trail, they had crossed his. If it had been the other way around, Thunderhead might have overtaken them. Did horses actually follow trails, smelling it out on the ground the way a dog does? He decided that they don't, they just sniff the air, smell horses from a great distance, know whether they are mares or stallions. He wondered if Thunderhead, from where he was now, somewhere to the north, could smell Pete and Jewel, off there to the east, and decided he probably could not.

There came a sharp sound, a series of cracks, louder and louder, and suddenly the deep crash and great groaning of a tree going down. Prickles went up Ken's spine and he felt his scalp contracting. If you really listened for the voice of God, you began to hear it in strange places and strange ways.

Jewel was with foal by Thunderhead and her time was near.

Ken Starts on Hunt To Find Thunderhead

The wind was cool. The hail-storm had broken the heat. Ken's eyes went to the line of bluish white behind the highest of the timbered mountains. Snow—fairly thick snow. There must have been a fresh fall up there when it hailed down here. Now and then the smell of it was on the wind. Now and then a current of air poured down, like a cold tide, delicious and oddly chilling.

Ken flung his slicker on the spongy turf, a blanket over it, another rolled up for his head, took off his boots and lay down, covering himself with a third blanket.

In the morning he stood naked on the banks of the stream, rubbing himself with his bath towel after having bathed in the miniature waterfall. His teeth were chattering, air and water were cold and the sun was not yet up over the mountains. There was not a cloud to be seen. It was going to be a glorious day. He was in haste to be gone.

He fed himself and his horses, packed Sparks carefully and was off to the north on Thunderhead's trail.

After that he made better time, picking up the tracks of his quarry often enough to be confident. On the fifth day, he came out of the hills to the edge of the North Platte River. It brawled across his path, wide, shallow, rapid. Thunderhead's tracks led into it. He had crossed that river.

Ken made his camp under an overhanging cliff, back from the river a few hundred feet. Over him and on all sides of him was the forest, sighing in the rain.

He was wet through. He fed the horses and hobbled them. He changed his clothes, hanging his wet things around the fire on sticks. The saddle lay on the ground steaming in the heat from the fire. He cooked and ate his supper, cleaned up, put the things away, all in a state of confusion and misery which was almost panic.

Five days. Five days to get here; if he started right back, five days to reach the trail of Pete and Jewel where he had left it—and what would these ten days and the winds and rains have done to those tracks? And if he went on and followed Thunderhead as he had planned to, what would this down-pour have done to his trail? It might take him a day—two days—even to find it again.

He had wasted time enough hunting for Thunderhead . . . Forget him . . . forget the race . . . forget all that he had so wanted for himself . . . Do what he ought to do. Return to Pete's trail and go after him and Jewel and bring back, for Carey and for Mr. Greenway, the thing his father had made himself responsible for. His father's parting words sounded in his thoughts again. They were clear enough. Had he been crazy—going off on this wild goose chase when his duty so clearly led him elsewhere? There was even the horrible thought that, due to this long detour, he might not succeed in coming up with Pete and Jewel in time. This hit him a blow, and with it came a premonition that that was just the way it was going to be. He was going to fail, and serve him right if he did.

Damp and unhappy, he crawled into his blankets and slept the night through. The morning was dark and drizzling. Once again he climbed the little eminence near by and swept the flats across the river with his binoculars. Thunderhead might be near. Silly to turn and go back, when perhaps just a half-day's travel, just a few hours, separated them! He called at the top of his lungs, he whistled, he looked minutely, steadily, until his eyes were watering with strain. No sound but the urgent brawling of the river. No movement but the swaying of the trees, the low, windswept clouds.

Crown Jewel With Foal Sired by Thunderhead

It was a despairing goodbye look which he cast upon those flats and hills. He put all thought of Thunderhead, of the visit to the Blue Moon, of the steeplechase, away, and ran down the hill, saddled Flicka, and headed back the way he had come.

The wind again. The forest roared, a battery of pine cones pounded the earth, and Ken, his thoughts drawn outward, lifted his head and listened. There was power! An endless wild sweep of power! His eyes lit up, his lips parted, smiling. All alone there on the edge of the forest he was listening for God.

There came a sharp sound, a series of cracks, louder and louder, and suddenly the deep crash and great groaning of a tree going down. Prickles went up Ken's spine and he felt his scalp contracting. If you really listened for the voice of God, you began to hear it in strange places and strange ways.

Jewel was with foal by Thunderhead and her time was near.

August, and the summer heat pouring down the valleys. Grass, belly deep and still green, untrod, unseen by man, touched only by the winds that bent it into billows, marking it with undulating ripples of light.

How good it was to eat! Sweet, succulent, rich, tubular mountain hay, exactly what was necessary to provide milk for a foal.

It was not easy to find at this time of year, when, on the plains, the grass had turned dry and brown. Only in the mountains were there these small valleys, occasional clearings, little pockets of lushness which the horses could find by smell, one patch leading to the other.

They grazed as they walked, one step at a time, the enormous mottled bay and the trim English filly, a black satin beauty with a clean-cut diamond of pure white between her eyes and a long pear-shaped pendant hanging from it.

Pete's great size, inherited from Clydesdale, Suffolk Punch and Belgian ancestors, gave him a threatening appearance, but this was contradicted by the spirit of gentleness and humility which emanated from him, especially from the gaze of his large brown eyes. These beautiful eyes and the heavy black forelock above them gave him the look of a wondering, friendly child, peering out from under a dark bank.

Jewel had grown taller, her mane and tail were wild and sweeping and full, but her head was the delicate, beautifully drawn head of an English thoroughbred, and her body and long legs had the fine lines of a dancer.

Both horses were in top condition, their coats shining with a glossiness which would have been the envy of any groom.

They had been grazing all day on a tundra where sheep had grazed before them. The place was saturated with the smell of them. Here, on the lower edge of the tundra, the forest came to meet it, and it was into the forest that Jewel had disappeared.

British Diver Says Spanish Galleon Has Been Found

TOBERMORY, SCOTLAND—The search for a sixteenth century Spanish treasure galleon, reported carrying about $68,000,000 in gold ducats when sunk, has been found according to some reports.

The British navy has been searching for the ship for weeks. They recently came up with two silver medallions from the wreck of Tobermory bay where the search was conducted. The navy, however, called off the operation.

The Duke of Argyll owns the galleon, if there is one, and the treasure. The navy operation was for practice. Any other move to recover the gold is up to the duke.

According to old stories, the galleon Duque Florencia of the Spanish Armada, was sunk in 1588 while carrying gold to pay Spanish fighters attempting a conquest of Britain. A decree of King Charles I gave the wreck to the Dukes of Argyll.

Small boys all over Scotland have thrilled to the adventure. They have read every word printed about the search.

If any gold is found the duke will have to turn it over to the British treasury for modern pounds sterling and a treasury spokesman commented:

"Thirty million gold ducats would make a very useful contribution indeed to the nation's gold reserves."

Lieutenant Comdr. Reay Parkinson, boss of the treasure hunt, is confident that the galleon has been found.

Traitor Gives Eyes To Blind Parisian

PARIS—Maurice Bey, was condemned and executed for being a member of the French gestapo organization. As one of his last gestures he offered his eyes to science.

At dawn on the day of execution physicians were at hand to remove the corneas. Upon completion of the execution they were removed and placed in an eye bank at the hospital.

The following day the corneas were transplanted to the eyes of a sightless Parisian. Bey was executed by a firing squad.

Many Captives in Russian Labor Camps, Returnees Say

BEBRA—German prisoners returned from Russia—191 of them—laughed with bitterness when informed that the Soviet reports all but 13,000 of them have been returned to their homes.

"Why, there are tens and tens of thousands still there. We just left them, just in the camps we came from," one said.

"Why, the Russian officers themselves told us in Brest-Litovsk two weeks ago that they expected another 150,000 to go through that one transient camp," said another.

Each of the tattooed, vermin-infested men on the train had a personal story of a Russian slave camp still filled with prisoners.

One man said, "I saw them working in a coal mine, standing in water up to the waist. They are all sick from it."

Albert Rether, 26, said: "We were always hungry. They gave us enough to live on, but not little enough to die."

Another said: "Hunger is what most men died of. Hunger and typhus. Nobody will ever know how many. At Brest-Litovsk, from 1945 until now, they buried more than 3,000."

Rolling Pin Rule Is Enthroned in Ozark Town

STELLA—The name Stella is a woman's name, so the women of Stella—the town—took over after a recent election and are running the community.

It all began when the ladies had their names placed on the ballot as a joke. The men in the little community of 300 thought it would be a better joke to give them a vote or two.

The result—Stella has a woman mayor and all-woman city council. Westcott. She opened the first meeting of the council using a rolling pin instead of a gavel.

Said the mayor: "We women believe the town has been needing new blood for a long time. The men have run the women as long as we've had a town. Now it's their turn to jump when we say 'frog!'"

The first major problem that faced the new administration was the appointment of a dog catcher—a woman in an administrative capacity and a man as her assistant to do the work.

Ungrateful Owl Nips Nurse And Hand That Fed Her

TENAFLY—Hildegard, an owl, has nipped the hand that feeds her. Hildegard was struck by an automobile and injured. Mrs. Herbert E. Carnes, president of the New Jersey Audubon society, nursed the owl back to health.

Recently, while showing Hildegard to visitors and after feeding the owl ice cream from a spoon, the bird attacked Mrs. Carnes. It required hospital treatment to close the wounds.

Hildegard has been banished from the sanctuary.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Malachi. DEVOTIONAL READING: Malachi 1-6.

Help for Our Times

Lesson for June 13, 1950

FOR TIMES that are dull, time without hope, Malachi is the prophet. When he lived the exile was over; but it was no golden age. In the dingy little city of Jerusalem, rich and beautiful no longer, lived only a comparative handful of rather poor people, dragging out a monotonous existence. To these people, living in discouraging times, Malachi had, and has, a message from God.

His prophecies do not have the bitter tang of Amos nor the melancholy of Hosea, the grandeur of Isaiah, the dramatic power of Jeremiah or the eerie visions of Ezekiel. But with inspired common-sense, he offers in the name of God a simple remedy with four ingredients.

Better Leaders

SPEAKING DIRECTLY to the leaders of the people, namely the priests, Malachi condemns them for not really taking stock in the thing they were doing. How we need that today! If the church today in any place is dead, you may be sure there are some dead leaders. Dead from the neck up, that is. And not necessarily the preachers.

Many a good preacher breaks his heart for lack of support. How many men and women, in your church, can the minister count on to fill in where they are needed, without making up a dozen reasons why they "can't" do it?

Why do Christians talk and pray as if their religion were all-important, but act as if everything else came first?

Law Observance

ANOTHER THING for which Malachi pleads is law observance. (E.g. 2:8; 3:5) They did not need new laws, for they had good ones. What they needed was to obey the laws they had. This again is what our times need. We have so many laws now that only an expert can keep up with them. No civilized nation could live, to be sure, under the unchanged statutes of a generation ago.

Nevertheless, if all the legislatures in America were to resolve to pass no more laws for five years, and if for five years the energy, time and money spent ordinarily on getting up new laws were put in on educating the people in the laws now in existence, and in fostering law observance and in preventing and punishing crimes, ours would be a better country.

The Unbroken Home

GAIN, Malachi stands for the unbroken home. He knows that no country can be strong when its homes are weak. (2:10-17.) In the year 1948 there were about 420,000 divorces in the United States, and 1.80 million marriages.

That is a divorce rate of about 23 per cent. In some states the percentage of divorce is even higher. Indeed, in one large midwestern city it was announced in the papers about two years ago that the marriages had "caught up with" the divorces, i.e., they were at last having more marriages than divorces! This was an extreme case.

To say nothing else about it, 420,000 divorces and 12,000 desertions means that in the United States alone there are at least 432,000 persons who have no regard for the most solemn promises.

Support The Church

FIRST AND LAST, Malachi asks for better support of the church. You need the church, of course; but then the church needs you. There is need for better leadership in the first place, and better support from the common man. Few persons want to live in a community without churches; yet a mere church building will not effect community life in the least. A beautiful building and a tall white spire are not a church.

The only church which will help a neighborhood is one in which the neighborhood takes an active part, a church where neighbors together worship God and where they are inspired to plans and acts of service for their fellow-men.

The main object of the church is not to shore up the country; still if you want a better country, one of the best ways to support it is to support the Christian church. For of all the institutions in the nation, the church is the only one devoted to the purpose of transforming human lives.

HOUSEHOLD TINTS

Sunday Breakfast

Add new interest to an old favorite by serving sliced bananas between two or three helpings of golden French toast, made from nutritious enriched bread. Then smother all with maple syrup, jelly, or confectioner's sugar. Crisp bacon, hot pork sausages, or fried ham make this tempting fare perfect for Sunday morning breakfasts or daily lunches. Try it with other fresh and canned fruits too. It's a real treat.

Coffee to Horse Radish

Use an after dinner coffee spoon for old-fashioned cocktails or tiny bowls of mustard or horse radish.

Extending Soups

Add to the appetite appeal and nutritive value of your favorite soups by serving them with croquettes made from crusts of enriched bread. Simply cut the crusts into cubes, and saute them in butter or margarine until golden brown, adding onion and celery salt for flavor.

Tasty Ham Garnish

For a garnish for ham, serve peach halves filled with raw cranberry and orange relish.

Cooked Celery Dishes

Cooked celery may be served in a variety of ways. Team it with peas or carrots, if you like, serve it creamed or add it to leftover soup.

To rid a plant of aphids, pour soapy water over it.

Drive home the facts...
and you'll drive home in a new Chevrolet

There's nothing like making your own tests—getting your own facts—and being your own judge of value before buying any product!

That's why we invite you to come to our showroom, take out a new Chevrolet without any obligation whatever, and learn from your own experience why more people buy Chevrolets than any other make of car.

your own eyes tell you it's more beautiful... inside and out! And then press the accelerator, glide forth and experience a combination of driving and riding ease, performance and economy, and roadability and safety exclusive to this one low-priced car!

Yes, we cordially invite you to drive home the facts of Chevrolet superiority in your own way and at your own pace; for we know when you do this you'll decide to drive home in a new Chevrolet!

Look at the new Chevrolet from every angle! Let

Come in... drive a Chevrolet... and you'll know why it's first and finest at lowest cost!
