Senator Prescott
Guest Speaker

Women's GOP Club
Hold Luncheon

The Iosco County Women's Republican Club held a luncheon at one o'clock Wednesday at the Parish Hall of Christ Church, Episcopal. The dainty luncheon was served to about fifty women by St. Anne's Guild.

The speaker's table was decorated with an arrangement of daisies and purple astors. There were also bouquets of cream and pink glads. Mrs. Jensen, president of the club, presided over a short business meeting. Plans are being made to entertain the voting young people of the county in the near future.

Mrs. Mary Prescott Wilson, as program chairman, introduced her father, Senator Charles Prescott, speaker of the afternoon. The Senator explained appropriations for roads, universities, institutions, etc. in our state and changes that should be made, and on Communism in our country.

He also spoke of the creative Capitalistic Government. What it has done for us, and what it has done to us. He closed with the remark that it is most important in these perilous times that we know the background and principles of the people who are to represent us in government.

Iosco Fair at Hale Opens Wednesday

New Features
Added to 4-Day
Event Program

$1000.00 Increase in Premiums in Various Departments

Iosco county's eighth annual fair will open next Wednesday with a four day exhibition and program of entertainment. Plans are now complete for the event, and a cordial invitation has been extended to everyone to attend and enjoy the four-day fair.

The exhibition includes live stock, farm products, home economics, art, handicraft, antiques and a 4-H Club show.

Among the entertainment features are races, midway, parades, band concerts, horse pulling contests and athletic events.

Additional entertainment for fair patrons has been arranged during the past week states T. G. Scofield, secretary-manager.

"A harness and hitch race will be held on the race track in front of the grandstand," he stated. "The team will have to be completely harnessed, hitched to a wagon and then raced around the track. It should provide plenty of excitement and spills. Also many entries are being received for the horse racing. The fair board of directors are exerting every effort to bring back saddle horse racing to our county fair," Scofield added. "It used to provide us with plenty of sport and I believe it has been missed."

The 4-H club show promises to bring plenty of competition among the boys and girls. In addition to the regular liberal premiums, 4-H club leaders throughout the county say that the $25 cash award offered by George A. Prescott, 3rd, to the club dairy member showing the greatest progress in his project has stimulated a great deal of interest. Another $25 cash award for 4-H club activity has just been donated by the fair management learned today. The Iosco County News and the Tawas Herald will give $10 first prize for the best club float in the million dollar parade and $5.00 for the second prize float. The remaining $10 will be pro rated among other places.

A fire fighting demonstration will be held in front of the grandstand showing the new fog system of fire fighting. Playland Shows will be featured on the midway with rides and games for kids and adults with half prices for all kids on Wednesday, August 30. The fair management again reminds the children to apply at the office for free chances on the boy's and girl's bicycle to be given away Wednesday afternoon after the free grandstand show.

Make Inspection
Trip to Caseville

Chief Frank Morey of the Tawas Coast Guard Station and four members of the Tawas Auxiliary Flotilla spent the week-end on a boat inspection trip to Caseville and Bay Port aboard a coastguard picket boat.

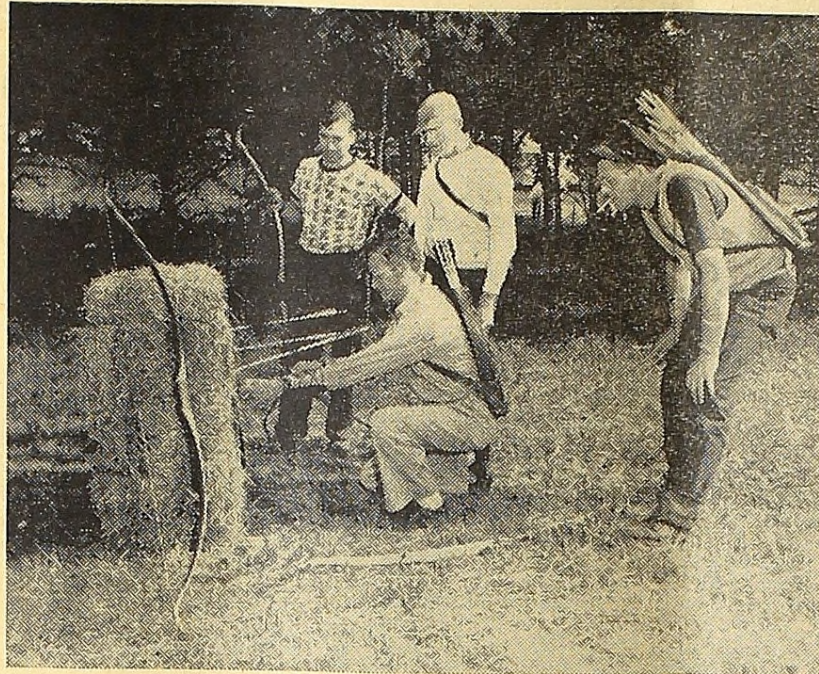

While entering Caseville harbor Saturday night, a 19-foot utility inboard in distress was sighted off Caseville Park beach. The water, too shallow for the picket boat at that point, combined with high winds and heavy surf, made it necessary to dock the picket boat and borrow an outboard motor to attempt the rescue. Chief Morey effected the rescue without incident in spite of the weather conditions, and the fact that Charles Uhan, owner of the distressed craft was frightened to the point of incoherence.

During the overnight trip 14 motor boats were checked for seaworthiness and equipment. Chief Morey is to be commended for the fine cooperation he has given the local auxiliary flotilla members and the excellent opportunity which he has given them to gain such fine experience in seamanship.

Mr. and Mrs. Moffat Wallace of Hamilton, Ontario were callers at the home of their cousin, Mrs. Rose Watts, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Culham and Mrs. Minnie Culham left last Friday for their homes in Cabri, Sask., Canada, after spending a few weeks here with relatives and friends. They will visit enroute to their home in Bay City, Flint, Detroit, Decatur, Illinois and Brant-

West Branch Wins
Division Title

Defeat Alabaster in Tie Playoff Sunday

The Northern division championship was settled last Sunday when West Branch downed Alabaster 5 to 3. Both teams were tied for first place with nine wins and one loss.

This game "wasn't the game" these two teams had previously played against the other, when each won a game by a one run margin.

Both teams scored a single run in the third, and then the Alabaster defense fell apart with West Branch scoring four runs in the fifth. This looked like the ball, with Neubecker going good, but Alabaster came back with a run in the seventh and one in the eighth, trying to overtake the Branchers. The four run lead was just too much, and they fell short by two runs.

Both teams made 10 hits, but Alabaster's poor defensive play with nine errors was all that West Branch needed.

Alabaster 001 000 110—3 10 3
West Branch 001 040 000—5 10 2
Neubecker and Thompson; John Martin and Tate.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kobs of Saginaw were here Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Manley, missionaries for more than 20 years in South India, will be one of the feature attractions of the Annual Meeting of the Alpena District Baptist Association which will be held at the Tawas City Baptist Church, August 29 and 30. The Hemlock Road Baptist Church is acting as host for these meetings.

The Manleys will speak at 2:00 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday, and at 2:30 p. m. on Wednesday.

Other speakers of interest to the public are as follows: At 4:15 p. m. Tuesday, Rev. Richard Grenz of Alpena Fourth Avenue Baptist church; 10:15 a. m. Wednesday, Rev. John B. Kerr of Hale Baptist church; 11:15 a. m. Wednesday; Rev. R. J. Karney, director of rural and urban churches Michigan Baptist convention; and 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Rev. Charles Hulbert, Portage Avenue Baptist Church, Kalamazoo.

The public is cordially invited to attend any of these meetings. The association is made up of Baptist churches in the northeastern Michigan area.

Dr. and Mrs. Manley, now back in the United States, have an exciting and inspiring story to tell of medical and evangelistic mission work in South India. They tell their story, not in a lecture but rather through a dramatic presentation, with Mrs. Manley, appearing as a high-caste Indian woman and Dr. Manley as an itinerant native teacher. They are clothed in the colorful costumes of the Orient as they give their interpretation.

Dr. Manley, who describes himself as "not a reverend," just a plain layman country doctor," has served as a medical pioneer. He helped to build the great Clough Memorial Hospital and started medical work there, working in a mud hut dispensary while the hospital was being built. He considers it a great privilege to have been able to build a hospital in the city where he was born. His parents, the Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Manley served almost 40 years as representatives of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society. When he was a boy, Dr. Manley spoke only Telegu, and did not learn English until his parents took him to America.

Dr. Manley received his medical training in the United States, having been awarded his P.H.B., M. Sc. degrees by Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kansas, his M. D. degree by the University Medical College, Kansas City and his Doctor of Tropical Medicine degree by Harvard at Cambridge, Mass.

It is from this close contact with life in India, from their great work with the Indian people, and also from their adventures in having to kill wild tigers, panthers and bears that Dr. and Mrs. Manley give their dramatic interpretation of life in India and the great need for Christianity there.

Picture by Oscoda Man Appears in Post

A picture of "Wimpy the Otter," by John Sawyer of Oscoda, was used to illustrate a story in this week's "Saturday Evening Post," entitled "Nature's Cutest Playboy," by George Heinold.

Sawyer, former head of the photographic division of Buick Motors in Flint, and now has a resort advertising agency in Oscoda, photographed the otter in action at Alpena last spring. Mr. Sawyer remarked that "Wimpy" was about the most energetic animal he had ever seen, and had to use a fast shutter speed to "freeze" his antics. This issue marked the first time that he has had a picture published in the "Post," which is quite a feat because of its nationally known reputation. Sawyer, previously has had pictures published in "Iron Age" and the "National Geographic" magazine.

Free Schools Can Safeguard Democracy by Teaching Truth

This is the eighth of a series of 10 articles from the booklet "Good Citizen" published by The American Heritage Foundation concerning the rights and duties of an American.

The seventh promise of a good citizen: I will support our system of free public education by doing everything I can to improve the schools in my own community.

Many "isms" and ideologies are being peddled and sold around the world today.

Most of them dismiss, ignore and brush lightly aside the inalienable rights of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

Isn't it fortunate that we have at hand a system of education which can give to our boys and girls the knowledge and ability to separate the true from the half true — to look "isms" straight in the eye?

The coming generation, with minds and hearts reinforced with such knowledge, is more powerful than an army. Our public school, our private schools and our schools conducted under religious auspices all must provide the climate and the soil for the roots and the fruits of freedom.

So, good citizen, keep our system of education strong.

THE SCHOOLS are yours. You pay for them. There is much that you can do to improve them, and the need is urgent.

Teachers enjoy—or ought to enjoy—freedom from social and political pressures; freedom to seek the eternal truths and to present these truths in a way that will stimulate young minds to look for truth and be able to recognize it when they find it.

Teachers should be proud of their profession. They deserve the friendliness, sociability and respect accorded to doctors, lawyers and members of other professions.

Teachers should be able to live their private lives as any other self-respecting citizen lives his—neither playing "Mrs. Grundy" to the community nor being dictated to by the social arbiters of the community, whoever they may be.

Help to make your schools a force for national unity by protecting our children from bigotry and prejudice.

It has been said, "America fears no enemy but ignorance."

The generation which did not fight the war is trying to understand what happened, why it happened, and what can be done to straighten out the world.

Help it to find out through even better, stronger, freer schools which bring to it the distilled truth wrested from the experience of all recorded time; which encourage the search for truth; and which foster the undeveloped talents which are America's greatest source of wealth.

MARK TWAIN, referring to a foreign dispatch, once said . . . "the vast expense of maintaining the army has made it necessary to retrench, and so the government had decided that to support the army it would be necessary to withdraw the appropriation from the public schools . . ."

"It is curious to reflect how history repeats itself the world over. Why, I remember the same thing was done when I was a boy on the Mississippi river. There was a proposition in a township there to discontinue public schools because they were too expensive. An old farmer spoke up and said if they stopped the schools they would not save anything, because every time a school was closed a jail had to be built.

"It's like feeding a dog on his own tail. He'll never get fat. I believe it is better to support schools than jails . . ."

This article is Chapter 7 of the booklet "Good Citizen" produced by The American Heritage Foundation. A complete book may be obtained by sending 25 cents to The American Heritage Foundation, 15th Street, New York, N. Y.

THE FICTION CORNER

DETECTIVE PETERS

By Richard H. Wilkinson

ORION DIDN'T look like a detective. He realized this for a fact when the girl with the chestnut brown hair came up and spoke to him.

"You're Orion Peters, aren't you? Mrs. Keith told me. I'm June Ingalls. It's going to be a gorgeous wedding, don't you think? Have you seen the swimming pool yet?"

Orion knew at once because of her easy informality she had mistaken him for one of the guests. And suddenly he decided to go on with the game.

"Hello," he said cheerfully. "It's nice to see you again. No, I haven't seen the pool. Is it new? Shall we go look at it together?"

They went and looked at it. In fact they swam in it.

They stayed near the pool for almost two hours. At the end of that time Orion came to two decisions. First, he decided that the girl was the loveliest, most beautiful creature he'd ever known. Second, he decided he was a fool. At first this business of pretending to be a guest smacked of a lark. Now it was different. He was falling in love.

He went back to his room and changed into his tux. He'd have to go down and keep his eyes on things and avoid June Ingalls, if he could.

He took up a station within observation distance of the table where the gifts were placed and acted as much like a guest as he knew how. June was not among the crowd that milled around the living room. He was convincing himself that he was glad of this, when a feminine voice behind him said: "Why, Mr. Peters, you're standing here like a statue. I mean, shouldn't we dance, or something?" "I'm dreadfully sorry," he said. "I hurt my ankle in the pool this afternoon. I'm afraid dancing's out, for me."

Orion decided that the girl was the loveliest, most beautiful creature he'd ever known.

"Oh, how wretched! Is there anything I can do? I mean, oughtn't you to see a doctor, or something?" JUST THEN Orion's desperate glance fell on the table where lay the gifts. There was a man standing at one end talking to a woman. The woman had a fan, which she maneuvered skillfully. Behind his ruffled folds the man to whom she was talking suddenly darted out a hand, scooped up something on the table, and thrust it beneath the tails of his coat.

Orion came back to earth with a jolt. He started toward the man, who was moving through the crowd toward the terrace door. He caught up with the fellow just as they got outside and fell into step beside him.

"All right," said Orion when they reached the end of the terrace. "Take it easy and you won't get hurt. You're under arrest."

The man looked at him quickly. Orion didn't have time to lift his arms in defense. Something struck him a terrible blow on the head. He swayed, caught himself, glimpsed the thief racing down the steps.

Orion anticipated the direction of the man he was chasing by leaping the fish pond and making a flying tackle at the fellow's legs. They went down in a heap.

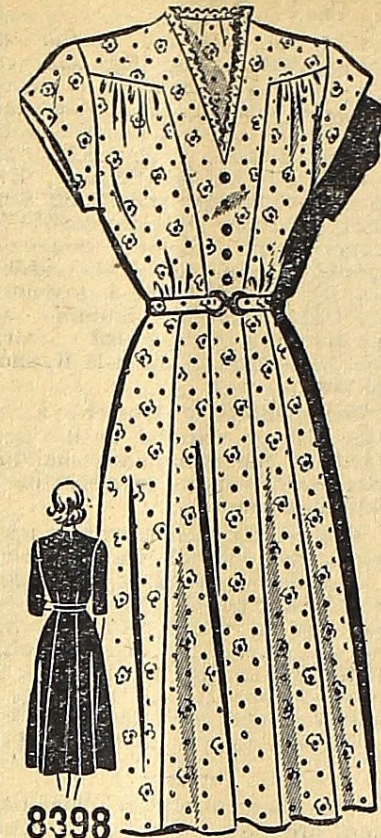

When he opened his eyes there was a crowd of people around. He heard snatches of conversation and guessed that the thief had been captured and everybody thought that he, Orion, was quite a hero. Then he knew that his head was pillowed on something soft. He saw a face bending over him.

"Well, that settles it, I guess," he grinned. "Now you know. But I'm not really a detective. I go to law school nights and detect days and week-ends."

"It doesn't make a particle of difference," June told him. "I'm Mrs. Keith's secretary. She asked me to see that you were looked out for. Can I help it if you thought I was a guest? And now that you know the truth, I suppose you don't like me any more?"

"Suppose," said Orion, "you let me ask a question." She agreed and he asked it and she blushed as she said, "yes."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

By INEZ GERHARD

ROSEMARY CLOONEY, now getting the Cinderella treatment from CBS, starring on their "Songs for Sale" and "Stepping Out," comes from Maysville, Ky., and still has the small-town outlook. Asked what style she uses in her singing, she doesn't know; she just sings. In the year since she was just a singer with Tony Pastor's band she had reached celebrity status, but is still celebrity-shy, when she meets the big ones. Leaving the broadcasting studio one day, she saw Clark Gable getting into a taxi; jumping into another cab, she cried, "Follow that car!" and pursued Gable's cab for seven blocks, gazing at the back of his head!

Adolphe Menjou did right well recently with a hobby. His collection of United States coins was sold by the Numismatic Gallery of Beverly Hills for $134,000. A $2.50 gold piece dated 1841 brought the top price, $5,100.

Bill Pine picked Lalo Rios, a Mexican born youth without previous acting experience, for an important role in "The Lawless," but said afterward that till the picture was released nobody could tell whether Rios would continue as an actor or not. His performance was so impressive that Pine and Thomas have cast him in their forthcoming "Passage West."

Joan Fontaine and 75 other members of the cast of "Mr. and Mrs. Anonymous" donned heavy coats, galoshes and mufflers and battled man-made snow and sleet one day last month; Producer-Director George Stevens was shooting Christmas scenes!

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET

Beggar Has New Angle—Can You Spare a Teddy Bear?

By BILLY ROSE

There's a beggar in New York with a new sales approach: "Can you please, Mister, spare the price of a teddy bear for my sick little daughter?"

It so happens that this panhandler hasn't got a sick little daughter, but that doesn't mean you have to turn him down if you meet up with him. His story is hearts-and-flowers stuff, and I'll tell it to you as it was told to me the other night by Charlie Washburn, the Broadway press agent . . .

"A few days before Easter," said Charlie, "I was standing in front of a toy shop on Fifth Avenue when a seedy-looking guy tapped me on the arm and asked if I could spare the price of a teddy bear. When I told him to quit his kidding, he explained he wanted it for his sick little girl, and that if I didn't think he was on the up-and-up he'd write his name and address on a piece of paper and I could have it delivered.

Billy Rose

"Well, filled with the old Easter spirit I walked into the shop and picked out a five-dollar bear, but when I handed the slip to the girl who waited on me she gave me a funny look and said I was the third person that afternoon who'd ordered one sent to that address.

"IT SMELLED LIKE a good human interest yarn, and so I had her wrap up the toy and set out to deliver it myself. It was a flat in a walk-up tenement in the 50's near Tenth Avenue, and the door was opened by a woman who looked as if she could use a little sleep.

"What you got there, she said, 'another teddy bear?'"

"How'd you know? I asked.

"I've been getting two or three every afternoon for the last month," she said "Where'd you run into Tim?"

"Tim, it turned out, was her husband and he had been missing for several weeks. Things hadn't been going well with them for quite some time, and when his unemployment insurance ran out last March the going got real tough. Then, to make things still worse, their three-year-old daughter, Peggy, had taken sick and the doctors at the clinic couldn't seem to do much for her.

"THE TEDDY BEAR angle had come about this way: Shortly after Peggy became ill, she asked for a teddy bear and kept talking about it all the time. Tim said he thought it would do her more good than all the medicine, but what with the room rent and food, they just couldn't afford to buy one. A month ago he walked out of the house, and ever since teddy bears had been arriving at the rate of two or three a day.

"With all those toys," I said to the woman, "your daughter must be a happy little girl."

"They're too late to do any good," she said, "Peggy died two days before her father left. And the teddy bears probably wouldn't have helped anyhow—she had leukemia."

"When I told her I couldn't understand why a man was mooching teddy bears for a dead child, the woman said she was afraid Tim had cracked up. He was never one to accept reality anyhow, and in his fuzzy condition he probably still thought the kid was alive.

"Well, then," I said, "what have you been doing with all the teddy bears?"

"The woman told me she had gotten to know the doctors at the clinic pretty well, and when her husband disappeared they had found her a job at the hospital as cleaning woman.

"There are a lot of kids in the charity ward where I work," she said, "and they get a big kick out of those teddy bears."

Printer's Point System

A point is 1/72 of an inch because up to the middle of the 18th Century very little had been done to standardize type sizes and then an arbitrary measure was chosen for a scale, divided into 72 parts, and the divisions were called points.

FARM FACTS
from your County
Agricultural Agent

Harold R. Clark, County Agent

Twenty-five young men and women of the Junior Farm Bureau and their leaders met at the Grant Town Hall for one of their regular meetings. My wife and I were invited to attend and had a wonderful time. Harold Smith is president, Grant Wood is vice president and Marion Herriman is secretary. Frank Smith and Henry Hobart are adult advisors. These young people intend to have good times when they meet and so recreation is an important part of their program. They make the old folks join in the games too. But these young people are serious and have set up objectives. Since they need funds they will be running an eat stand at the fair. In my talk to them, like all old sages, I told them that they are to be the leaders of tomorrow. I told them it is important that they become good leaders, but it is also just as important to be good followers. What any organization accomplishes is not determined by what kind of leaders but by the cooperative spirit of the entire organization.

I understand that this Junior Farm Bureau is taking a definite responsibility in planning and conducting the Farm Bureau picnic which will be held at Rollways Park, Labor Day.

Plans for the fair are rounding up in good shape. Marvin Davenport who is Superintendent of the 4-H Club department has his committees all organized so that the entries and the judging will run smoothly. Lyle Bielby is in charge of Crops and garden exhibits; Mrs. Blanche Douglass, home economics, Walter Matrens, electrical and handicraft; Donald Schaner, livestock and poultry, and Frank Stoddard, Tractor maintenance. The garden crops, home economics, handicraft and electrical exhibits will be placed in the basement of the Hale community building and the livestock and poultry entries will be housed in the 4-H livestock building.

The exhibits of Women's Extension Groups will be in the basement of the community building. Mrs. A. T. Vary is chairman of the exhibit committee.

The 4-H Council is setting up a booth that will tell the 4-H story.

Anyone who wishes to see Mrs. Wendt, Marvin or myself will have to go to the fair for that is where we will be. We are setting up office at the fair so that we can meet and serve people. It will be easier to supervise the educational exhibits.

We will see you at the Fair!

"The best fertilizer demonstrations are right on the farms where something goes wrong with the equipment when making the application," says Eugene Milligan, Veterans Instructor. And that certainly was true on three veteran's farms he, Lyle Bielby and I visited the other day. In DeLois Rapp's alfalfa field we saw two of three bare weedy strips in what was otherwise a good stand of alfalfa. DeLois said he was applying 300 pounds of 3-12-12 fertilizer to the acre when seeding oats a year ago last spring. The fertilizer compartment plugged upon him those few times. Jerry Whitney was bubbling over with pride when he showed us his second growth alfalfa. A year ago Jerry received some AAA fertilizer and decided to top dress his alfalfa meadow. He set his fertilizer drill at 200 pounds per acre but because of the condition of the fertilizer it wouldn't go through so he opened the drill up until fertilizer did go through. In figuring up his rate of application he found that he had applied 500 pounds to the acre. Now he is glad he did.

Farm Bureau in Iosco Communities

The Reno No. 1 Community Farm Bureau met August 17 at the Nate and Vernon Anderson's, with eight members and four visitors present. The chairman, Vernon Anderson called the meeting to order at nine o'clock with the roll call, treasurer's report and minutes of the previous meeting being read by the secretary, Mrs. Lyle Robinson. The meeting was turned over to the discussion leader, Frank Smith, who had as his topic, "Are You Prepared to Vote this Fall?" Four questions were asked and answered. The director, Lyle Robinson read two resolutions brought from the Wilber Farm Bureau group. The first involved the opening of the pheasant season in Iosco county. But as the Sportsmen closed the season again two days after opening, no action was taken. The second was amended as: We the Wilber Farm Bureau group resolve, that due to the dangerous night parking on the Wilber Road at the Glendon farm where traffic slows down or stops to watch deer, that the State be responsible to clear traffic or stand damages.

The Reno No. 1 Farm Bureau group wishes to amend the Wilber resolution; that to include parking on bridges or approaches that are not clearly visible or wide enough for two lane traffic. A committee of six was appointed to see that everyone eligible votes this fall. They are: Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. Alberte Clemens, Mrs. Lyle Robinson, Vernon Anderson, Frank Smith and Lyle Robinson. The meeting adjourned with refreshments served by Mrs. Genevieve Jacobs. The next meeting will be September 21 at the Frank B. Smith home.

Democrats United

DESPITE the war in Korea this is still an election year and when the 81st congress should be united behind the war effort there is a definite "pot calling the kettle black" trend with Republicans blaming the administration for lack of preparedness in Korea and the Democrats citing the record of GOP votes against appropriations for Korean aid.

Instead of a clear cut election on the domestic issues, no one can now predict the public reaction to the war situation. Certainly all previous plans of both parties as to issues will be thrown into the discard. Republicans are now soft-pedaling the "welfare state" and "socialism" issue in favor of blaming the war on administration foreign policy mistakes.

Increased prices, high taxes and the revival of controls and rationing may cause a major swing from one party to another. No one here ventures to guess now whether this swing will go to the Democrats on a basis of patriotic support of the war effort, or swing to the Republicans on the basis of irritation over the controls and lack of trust in the administration. Also certainly, at this stage of the Korean war, President Truman has deferred any nation-wide stump of the country in favor of Democratic candidates and will give his whole attention to the military and economic aspects of the war picture.

At this juncture, however, the Democrats seems to be more united as to policies than the Republicans. In the first place, as a result of the primary elections, it appears that the Dixiecrat split in the Democratic party is a thing of the past. All major leaders in the Dixiecrat split received sound defeats in the primaries. These include Gov. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, running for the senate; former Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas, national chairman of the Dixiecrat party, running for governor of that state; and the victory of Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana over the opposition of Leader Perez, national director of the States Rights national committee.

Progressive Party Split

Also, for whatever it is worth, the Progressive party headed by Henry Wallace which drew some votes from the Democrats in the last election has been split wide open with the defection of Mr. Wallace from their policy of supporting Joe Stalin. Wallace made a statement in which he said he must go along with his own country in the war against the Communists.

GOP Split on Policy

The Republicans are still having internal party troubles and so far cannot seem to settle on a given policy of opposition. While Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the policy committee with Senator Wherry, of Nebraska, the minority floor leader, and a few others seemed in determined opposition to giving the President powers for all-out mobilization. A group of house Republicans want to go even farther in clamping down more controls than the President asked.

Engineers Oppose TVA

The private power industry is hailing a report of the engineers' joint council on water power resources which criticized the present set-up for harnessing river for irrigation, flood control, conservation and hydroelectric power, as directly in line with the position of the private utility industry.

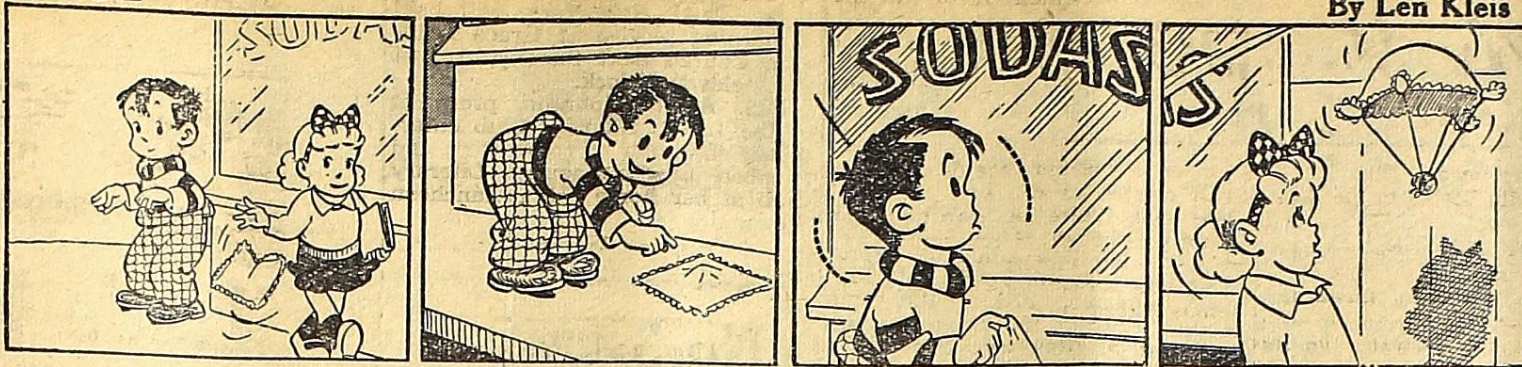

The engineers joint council represent some 100,000 engineers and their report, in no uncertain terms, criticized the overlapping functions of the army engineers, the department of the interior and other federal agencies which are now engaged in this work of water resources practices. The engineers also are opposed to a federal authority such as TVA to work out these problems.

What they did propose is a state pact and that "collective action through the medium of the federal government is justified only for two purposes: to do things essential to national defense or otherwise of substantial benefit to all the people throughout the nation or to aid in financing construction cost of works for the benefit of a limited number of people on terms equitable to all other citizens.

Of course the proponents of river valley authorities also oppose the overlapping functions of the various government agencies and declare the only economically sound procedure is through an integrated river valley authority.

The only parallel line with the private electric industry as advocated by the engineers is in the matter of taxes. The engineers declare that in cases of federal revenue producing developments, "the principle should be extended to provide for the payment of state and federal income taxes and excise taxes."

To Mothers of Little Gals From 5 to High School Age

How does your daughter grow? With naturally curly hair? If so, we'll cut her hair in a style that will be trim and tantalizing. This plan is not only helpful to you, but good for your child. Most little girls are coquettes at heart. We'll wager a child who looks pretty as she can will be as smart as she can — and happier in school.
