Progress Reported in Peace Talks; Republican Accepts Clean-Up Job

PEACE TALKS—After weeks of stalemate and pessimism, an unexpected feeling of optimism surrounded the Korean peace talks. There were reports of a possible early settlement. However, the hard core of disagreement on fundamental issues which have delayed an armistice have been shoved aside only temporarily and must be settled eventually.

On three issues the Communists and Allies have reached agreement: (1) Red Cross teams from Allied countries will work jointly with national Red Cross representatives from Red China and Red Korea in handling the prisoner exchange; (2) The Communists clarified their stand on paroles. The oath would require only that prisoners refrain from participation in the Korean War, instead of all "acts of war"; and (3) The Communists agreed to return U.N. military prisoners—about 11,500 men—within 30 days after an armistice.

There was one development on the world scene, however, that could hurt future peace talks. Jacob A. Malik, Soviet representative in the United Nations general assembly, in a final attempt to frighten U.N. members into agreeing to immediate discussion of the Korean question in the assembly, charged that the Anglo-American block is not only preparing a third world war, but "this world war has in fact begun."

Why should Malik make such a statement if agreement in Korea is near? A number of observers are wondering if the Chinese have finally determined to have peace in Korea, even over the objection of their Moscow masters? And, is it an indication of the much rumored split between Russia and China?

The diplomats may speculate and express their hopes, but the people in the home towns of America remain skeptical about the whole thing. In their minds there are too many unanswered questions. They are inclined to believe there will be peace when the documents are signed, the prisoners exchanged, and their sons are returned home.

TRUMAN HEADLINES—President Truman caused two recent headlines in newspapers across the nation that raised considerable speculation in the home towns of the nation. The first was his announcement that he would not take part in the New Hampshire primary and calling the present system of presidential preference primaries in the states so much "eyewash". The second was his appointment of Newbold Morris, a Republican, to head his long-heralded cleanup against government corruption.

As for his first statement, President Truman was correct to a certain extent. As far as he is concerned personally the state primary system is "eyewash". A president can usually get the nomination before the actual balloting begins simply by announcing he will take it. This seems to be the case with President Truman. However, for the party out of power, state primaries may accurately define the trend of thinking in the home towns and bring added strength to the winning candidate.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN

The President's statement was further highlighted by the fact that a few days later he completely reversed himself and ordered his name not be taken from the primary ballot. In a letter to the New Hampshire secretary of state, Truman explained he had been urged by the Democratic party to leave his name on the ballot. The letter was also something of an apology to New Hampshire voters who party officials felt might be offended by Truman's "eyewash" statement.

As for the second headline, home towners who have become skeptical about any cleanup of Washington corruption, were asking themselves just what is the true significance of the appointment of Morris, a highly respected lawyer and a self-styled Abraham Lincoln Republican, to the job that has been refused several times.

Generally, the reaction was mixed, depending on which side of the political fence the observer was on. Republicans, voicing suspicion, said they hoped it was not a ploy on the part of the administration to use Morris as a window dressing while sabotaging his efforts to clean house. Democrats praised the appointment, saying his selection should be reassuring to the people.

BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN—The State department has issued a report of conditions behind the Iron Curtain that will be of interest to every home town who has wondered just how the "little people" in Soviet controlled territory feel. The information was accumulated from interviews with refugees and has been set out in six points:

- (1) Most of the refugees disliked Stalin and other Soviet leaders and most of them denounced the Communist chiefs "in terms of unmeasured abuse".
- (2) They appeared to believe that war between Russia and the United States "is almost inevitable" and could be prevented only if the men in the Kremlin feel it would be suicidal for them.
- (3) The sorest nationality problem in the Soviet is anti-Semitism.
- (4) The ultimate goal of world domination held by the Kremlin is considered to be unchanged. But the means by which the Red command moves toward that goal is highly flexible and involves "secrecy, deception and terror as basic ingredients."
- (5) The standard of living in the Soviet Union is so low as to arouse discontent and is responsible for much crime and other social problems.
- (6) Although dissatisfaction with the present regime exists, a serious problem would exist in Russia if the Communist regime were to collapse or be overthrown. It would be necessary for the Russian people to undergo a process of re-education.

BRITAIN—Great Britain, beset by economic woes and the breaking down of relations with many former subjects in far corners of the Empire, has entered a period of mourning for King George VI who died February 6.

Only a few days before his death, King George made his first public appearance after a long and serious illness, to wave bon voyage to the plane that was to carry Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, on their commonwealth tour.

King George VI was one of Great Britain's most beloved monarchs. And it was during his reign that the British Empire struggled through its greatest crisis—World War II and the years of economic strain that followed. Elizabeth now becomes Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh her Prince Consort. Their son, Prince Charles, is heir apparent.

Egyptian rioters are shown after they surrendered to British troops in the Suez canal zone. During the past few weeks all has been calm in Egypt as the new Premier conducts talks with the British in an attempt to settle the Suez and Anglo-Egyptian Sudan problems.

THE PUBLIC DEBT

Each Individual's Share Is $1,829

As congress battles over a new budget, the public's debt nears an all-time record with federal, state and local governments together owing a total of 282.3 billion dollars. Of this sum, 255.2 billion was federal, 6.4 billion state, 20.7 billion local.

Since 1946, when the public debt was 285.3 billion, state and local debt has climbed 70 per cent, it was estimated. Figuring the public debt across the nation on a per capita basis, every man, woman and child is in the red $1,829, due to the combined indebtedness of federal, state and local governments. Each American "owes" $1,653 because of Uncle Sam's debts, $41 for state indebtedness and $134 due to the borrowing of local governments.

AMERICANS IN RED PRISON . . . Four Americans, held by the Reds in an unidentified Communist prison camp in North Korea, pass their time writing letters. This photo is one of several obtained recently by I.N.P. staff correspondent Dave Cicero from Red sources in Korea and flashed to the United States by radio. According to the caption accompanying the picture, the four are identified as follows: Roy H. McClain, Rochell, Ill.; Quincy Moore, Farmersville, Calif.; Robert Gorr, Sheboygan, Wis.; and Billy Brown, Houston, Texas. It is not known whether the names were given in left or to right order.

JEWISH VETS COMMANDER MEETS CHIANGS . . . In Taipei, Formosa, Paul Ginsberg, national commander of the U.S. Jewish war veterans, chats with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the "Missimo" during his recent visit to Formosa as part of his far east tour. After his Formosa visit, Ginsberg said at a Hong Kong press conference that he believes there will be a cease-fire and armistice in Korea. He said also that Chiang told him that he believed the use of 30,000 Nationalist troops in Korea would help overcome the language difficulties which at present prevent Chinese Communist troops from surrender to the United Nations forces.

NATO NAVAL COMMANDER AND STAFF CHIEF . . . Admiral Lynde D. McCormick (right), newly-appointed supreme commander of the North Atlantic treaty naval forces, and Admiral Cato D. Glover, named McCormick's chief of staff, look at a world globe surrounded by miniature flags of NATO nations at the NATO naval chief's headquarters in Norfolk, Va. McCormick's appointment makes Norfolk, Va., the naval equivalent of Paris, France, in the NATO command setup for the defense of the free world.

SKIN GRAFT SUCCESS FOR TWINS . . . In San Antonio, Texas, Pvt. Leonard Kojowski (in wheel chair) visits bedside of his identical twin, Leo, who suffered severe burns from a phosphorous bomb in Korea. Leonard gave Leo a new lease on life in a skin graft of 210 square inches. Doctors flew Leonard back from Korea for the operation because skin grafts from one twin to another are permanent and do not slough off. Both had a bandage check and are reported doing well.

PLAN WEDDING . . . Eddie Crisanello is in jail in San Pedro, Calif., on a burglary charge, but that isn't a barrier to plans for a new life. He was visited by Marlene Eason, who told him, "I love you and want to marry you." Her mother has given consent to their marriage.

GOVERNOR ACCUSED . . . Governor William Beardley of Iowa was accused in Washington of being guilty of tax fraud and of being given "preferential treatment" by the government. The charge was made by Rep. O'Brien (D., Ill.)

THE READER'S DATE BOOK Red Cross Plans Fund Drive; Wildlife Week Is Scheduled

The American Red Cross has designated the entire month of March for its annual fund campaign with which to finance its civilian activities during the coming year.

During the past year the Red Cross has given much of its time to collecting blood for the armed forces. This program has cost millions of dollars for the operation of bloodmobiles, nurses and assistants.

Recently, at Bloomfield, N.J., the Red Cross conducted a demonstration in citizenship when 450 wide-eyed members of the high school graduating class watched 144 employees of a local industry donate a pint of blood each.

The students were assembled in the gymnasium of the school to watch the donors, all employees of the Schering Corporation, go through registration; temperature; pulse and weight; fruit juice; medical history, blood pressure and hemoglobin; venipuncture (the actual donation of one full pint of blood); and canteen, the strengthening sandwiches and coffee after donation.

Americans will want to take an active part. Each time we put off writing a letter, some lonely man is going to turn away empty-handed from mail call. So we call our project our "Be Sure to Write Today" program."

Shown in the picture with Commander Hilton is John Vandercook, news commentator of the Liberty Broadcasting System. The network is actively cooperating in the V.F.W. project by announcement on a number of programs, accompanied by the playing of "Be Sure to Write Today", which the V.F.W. has adopted as their special theme song for the project.

Home town organizations could make this project their own during the coming year by writing to men in service from their area.

High school seniors (above) are shown a bottle of blood by Red Cross medical director Dr. Joseph Seymour and chapter chairman Marie A. Rieper as climax of unique blood donor demonstration in the high school gymnasium. The entire graduating class watched 144 employees of a local drug firm donate lifesaving pints for armed forces as an object lesson in good citizenship.

For the Red Cross it was a bumper day. A Bloomfield quota of 125 pints for the armed forces was exceeded with the yield of an even dozen pints. And it was a demonstration in citizenship for the high school seniors that will not soon be forgotten.

The home town that does not have a local Red Cross chapter will find the state organization cooperative in establishing one. In times of disaster the American people traditionally turn to the Red Cross. For the next month the Red Cross will be asking the nation for help.

National Wildlife Week Observance March 16-22

National Wildlife Week in 1952 will be dedicated to preservation of a species of wildlife about to pass from the American scene—the diminutive Key deer of Florida. Plans for the annual observance, scheduled for March 16-22, were announced in Washington by Carl D. Shoemaker, conservation director of the National Wildlife Federation.

Chairman for the week will be Ed Dodd, creator of the popular newspaper and radio outdoors feature "Mark Trail."

National Wildlife Week has been an annual observance since 1938 when it was proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and is sponsored by the non-profit federation as a means of calling public attention to the broad and pressing problems of natural resource management. The 1952 celebration will mark the beginning of a new series in which each year a particular kind of wildlife—some species considered in critical or precarious condition—will be given special attention.

Every home town sportsman is aware of conditions in his own locality. And while the 1952 goal will be to save the Key deer from extinction, here is an opportunity to impress upon the public local needs for wildlife preservation.

As part of this year's observance, the federation has created a special fund, known as the Key deer fund. Contributions will be used first to keep a special protection officer on the job in the Key deer area. This will supplement an effort already started by the Boone and Crockett Club and the Wildlife Management Institute in cooperation with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Also, the federation will use the fund to help improve the island habitat of the deer, through such measures as constructing water-holes for the animals and protective fences along highways.

There are only about 30 of the unique toy deer still living. They cling to a precarious existence on the coral islands known as Keys off the southern tip of Florida. Menaced by illegal hunters from the mainland, hounded by dogs, and imperiled by forest fires, the deer now face a new threat.

Because of the centuries-long adjustment to its own island background, the surviving herd cannot be transplanted.

National Wildlife Week will be marked by proclamations by state and local governments, speaking programs throughout the country, window displays, advertising campaigns and other media.

The National Wildlife Federation was organized in 1936 and now has active affiliates in 42 states. It represents more than 4,000,000 sportsmen and conservationists.

V.F.W. Sponsors Letter Writing Campaign

V. F. W. Commander-in-Chief Frank C. Hilton, (seated) reads some of the many letters which prompted the current Veterans of Foreign Wars "Be Sure to Write Today" project urging letters to our servicemen in distant stations, especially Korea.

"Our armed forces in Korea, in Europe, and in distant posts in this country eagerly look for letters bringing news from home," said Commander Hilton in announcing the project. "They are writing to newspapers throughout the country saying they are lonely for a letter from home—and home means just anywhere in the United States."

"In a newspaper in a town I visited recently, there were the names of nearly 60 men—men in all branches of our armed forces—who had written to the paper asking for mail from home. In other cities I saw similar lists. I read some of the letters.

"That is why we are initiating this project, a project in which I feel confident not only our own membership but all

Staff Works Months to Renovate Capitol Building for Congress

Old West Has Given Way to Modern Civilization

By Wright A. Patterson

I KNEW the old west, the west of Indian fighting days, only through the experiences of acquaintances who had been a part of that valiant little regular army of under 25,000 men, which subjugated the Indians and opened the plains and mountains from the Missouri river through the Rocky mountains.

Among those I knew was Gen. Nelson A. Miles, then commanding the department of the Missouri, with headquarters in Chicago. As Chicago correspondent of the Army and Navy Journal, it was a part of my job to call on the general each week, seeking news of the army.

From him I never secured very much of his experiences in the Indian wars. He was much more interested in telling me of his social engagements. At that time he was a social lion in Chicago, made much of by the society leaders, and he liked it.

operation with the proper authorities, for ceremonies held in the building and on the grounds which comprise 131.1 acres.

He is also charged with the structural and mechanical care of the senate and house office buildings, the capitol power plant, the legislative garage, the Library of Congress building and grounds, the United States Supreme Court building and grounds, the United States Court of Claims buildings, the United States court house, the United States Court of Appeals building, and the Columbia Hospital for Women.

The architect of the capitol is also the acting director of the Botanical Garden, and is charged with its operation as well as the house and senate restaurants. He serves as a member of the Capitol Police-Board, the Commission for Enlarging of the Capitol Grounds, the District Zoning Commission, and the National Capitol Housing Authority.

THE CORNERSTONE of the capitol was laid September 18, 1793. The north wing of the old building, containing the senate chamber, now known as the old Supreme Court room, was constructed between 1793 and 1800. The senate chamber was ready for occupancy for the second session of the sixth congress which met November 17, 1800.

After the British burned the capitol building in 1814, congress met in a brick building in northwest Washington known as Blodgett's Hotel, but the accommodations were inadequate. A group of public spirited citizens built a larger wooden building on Capitol Hill on the site of the present Supreme Court building and offered it to congress.

The addition of the present house wing in 1857 and the senate wing in 1859 made the construction of a new dome necessary for the preservation of architectural symmetry. The dome of the original central building was made of wood covered with copper. This was replaced by the present one of cast iron, completed in 1865.

The first major changes in the house and senate chambers during the more than 90 years of their occupancy were made between 1949 and 1951. Temporary steel girders were removed and the old roof and skylights were replaced with a new roof of concrete and steel construction, covered with sheet copper.

The 250,000 tourists who visit the building each year, as well as the congressmen and their staffs, and citizens generally can be proud of Mr. Lynn's work during his 29 years of stewardship as overseer of the capitol, to which part he was appointed by President Coolidge in 1923.

THE FICTION CORNER CIGARETTE TRICK

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

JOE Frazer finished his dinner, pushed back his chair and produced a cigarette. Extending his left hand horizontally, palm down, he placed the cigarette thereon, struck his left wrist sharply with his right hand and opened his mouth. The cigarette bounded into the air, somersaulted and missed popping into Joe's mouth by a hair.

Joe was clever at other things, but the cigarette trick was his special achievement.

Watching this performance from across the table, Bess, Joe's wife, considered screaming hysterically, but controlled herself. Instead she decided on another course...

A year before they were married, when Joe and Bess first met, Bess had thought it was cute. Like all of Joe's ways. The first time it happened they had dined at a tiny country inn. After the meal Joe had produced a cigarette, tried four times to successfully perform his trick, and succeeded on the fifth attempt.

Joe was clever at other things, too. But the cigarette gag was his special achievement. During the year that elapsed before they were married Bess must have seen him perform it a hundred times.

After the first hundred, Bess began to weary of the cigarette trick a little. She didn't say so, of course, because Joe was pretty proud of his achievement.

And so they were married. They went to Maine for a week's honeymoon, and Bess saw the cigarette trick performed, without variation, 21 times. They came back to Worcester and began housekeeping. Joe resumed work and was gone all day. Dinner was the only meal he ate at home, and so Bess had to watch the cigarette trick only once on week days and three times on Sunday. But that was enough—enough to drive her almost mad.

After six months of it she found herself waiting at the end of each meal for sight of Joe reaching for his cigarette, for the vision of his gurgling laugh, for the vision of his triumphant grin. She felt like the condemned man who awaits the first shock of current.

She took measures to absent herself at the ritual, but they failed. Joe required an audience and he always waited patiently for her return. He expected her smile of approval.

Bess realized Joe thought the cigarette trick a noteworthy accomplishment. He was vain. It wouldn't do to ask him to stop. His ego couldn't stand the gaff. No, she had to think of some other way and think of it quickly, before the funny wagon backed up to their door one day and took her away...

Joe applied the match to his cigarette, inhaled deeply and exhaled contentedly. His look was the look of a man of smugness, complacency, superiority. Joe was clever. Joe knew it. He was the life of every party, because he knew so many cute tricks.

Bess reached for the cigarette box. She drew forth a cigarette. She extended her left hand outward horizontally, palm down. She placed the cigarette thereon. She suspended her right hand above the wrist of her left and smiled at Joe.

Joe's idle interest quickened. He was amused. Poor Bess. "Try it," Joe urged patronizingly, "Go ahead and try it. See how you make out."

Bess tried it. She smacked her left wrist sharply. Up bounded the cigarette, somersaulted, Bess' mouth opened. Her head remained stationary. The white cylinder, as if responding to a magnet, darted toward her lips. She caught it and hung on.

Joe's jaw dropped. His eyes bulged. He gaped. Bess gurgled triumphantly and struck a match. "The first try," she chortled. "No four out of five for me."

Joe Frazer no longer performs his cigarette trick for the entertainment of wife and friends. Bess is happy. She hopes Joe won't develop any more cute tricks. It takes too much time and patience to perfect them. Two hours every day for two months.

Sinus Trouble Aided Star to Radio Fame

Sinus trouble is not usually a stepping stone to success, but it was in the case of radio's fabulous "Lonesome Gal."

Jean King had been a smash hit over Dayton's WING for two years as the purveyor of a frankly sentimental style designed to appeal to lonesome listeners. She acquired a large listening audience with a honey-voiced approach that goes something like this:

"Hi, baby. This is your Lonesome Gal who loves you better than anyone else in the whole world... Gee, I missed you over the weekend..."

But after two years in the east, Jean's sinuses were taking a beating from the weather and she packed up and headed for Hollywood. Although stations there were skeptical about her possibilities, she "packaged" her shows by tape recording for subscribing sponsors and then put it on KHJ, Los Angeles. It was then heard on four stations and grossed $185 a week. Today, it has more than 50 outlets in major cities in the U.S. and Canada and stands to gross a cool $150,000 to $200,000 in 1951!

"Operators' teamwork brings aid!"

Mrs. Alice Vanderhaegen

After one of this winter's snowfalls, Mrs. Joseph Sopko of 10710 Somerset, Detroit, began clearing the driveway of her home, when suddenly she had a heart attack.

She managed to get into her house, reach the telephone and dial "Operator." But she couldn't give her own name or address—only that she was "very sick" and wanted help from the neighbors—no one else, just her neighbors.

Kathleen Shankin, a new operator, was on duty at the time. She sensed something was wrong, and quickly handed the call to Mrs.

Alice Vanderhaegen, evening chief operator. Patiently, reassuringly, Mrs. Vanderhaegen talked to Mrs. Sopko and finally managed to get her address. Mrs. Vanderhaegen immediately checked the records and located the telephone of a neighbor whom she called for help.

The neighbor went right to Mrs. Sopko's assistance. In short order, a doctor had the patient taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Sopko's recovering now, thanks to the alertness and competence of two telephone people.

No Place for a Heavy Foot!

You'd find it out, in a mile or so, even if we failed to tell you. But we think it's best if we tell you now—

—you must treat the accelerator with special respect when you drive the Golden Anniversary Cadillac!

Down under the hood of this gorgeous car is the most powerful engine ever used in standard American production.

So take it easy—wherever you drive.

Don't use that power to bolt away when the light turns green—and other cars have their ways to make in the traffic lanes beside you. And never use it for unnecessary speed, or for dominating the highway.

Use it, instead, for the thing it was put there for——use it to give you that easy, floating, comforting ride which can come only when your engine is "loafing," and most of its power is in luxurious reserve——use it to give you that "shot ahead" when an opening shows in the traffic line—or when your safety calls for a blast of power—

—use it for a thrilling sense of mastery over car and time and space—

—use it, in short, for happiness and luxury—and for adding satisfaction to every mile you drive.

As you would expect, this amazing performance is but one of the wonderful virtues that have been added to the Golden Anniversary Cadillac.

There is marvelous new beauty—inside and outside. There is a wholly new type of power steering—available as optional equipment at extra cost. And there are literally scores of refinements and improvements of vital importance.

For its "year of years," Cadillac has certainly built its "car of cars."

Come in and see it—whether you feel you are ready for a Cadillac or not. It's an inspiration to inspect it—and an experience to drive it.

But if you do drive it, please remember—it's no place for a heavy foot!

STATE OF MICHIGAN IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF IOSCO IN CHANCERY

In the Matter of the Petition of John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Iosco, in Chancery:

John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four percent and (d) $1.00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays: a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc. JOHN B. MARTIN, JR., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State.

Dated: January 15, 1952.

Secret of Courage
Lesson for February 24, 1952

There are different kinds of courage. One is physical, either enduring pain or enduring the prospect of it. Another is moral, enduring ridicule and slander, or the prospect of it. Some occasions call for both kinds.

Just as there are different kinds of courage, so there are different causes of it. Physical courage may be in some cases no more than the result of ignorance.

Dr. Foreman

A passenger on a boat during a storm said to an old salt: "I'm not a bit afraid." The old Irish seaman sniffed. "Them as knows nawthin' fears nawthin'," he said.

Men who have been in combat can recall some character who lacked all the virtues but one; he was never afraid. Physical courage can even be instilled by drugs or by rum. But moral courage cannot be induced by drugs, alcoholic or otherwise.

It takes more than a tough nervous system to stand up against slander, hatred and ridicule. Some men who can take a razor-blade and calmly operate on themselves for snake-bite, cannot stand the sight of human snakes who try to hiss them down.

The Inner Circle

JESUS was always on the lookout for brave men. Indeed, he made brave men.

There were three men in his innermost circle—Peter, James and John. They were men of quite different temperaments; tradition reports that they differed widely in age also. But for whatever reasons, Jesus treated these men differently from the other nine.

That is, he kept them close to him on certain occasions when the rest were left behind or shut out. These three were his only companions at the mount of transfiguration. They were the only three he allowed in the room where he brought Jairus' little girl back to life. They were the three he took with him into the garden of Gethsemane to share his agony. They failed him there—they failed him at other times as well. But the point is that Jesus kept on with them, he did not give them up as hopeless cowards, he gave them more of himself than he gave to any other mortals in his time.

It was as if the Master had said to himself, these men, at least, shall know me. And though they failed him, the time came when they did not fail.

Our story in Acts shows how these men stood up against odds; against all the weight of popular opinion, all the force of law, all the attack from the leaders of society, these men stood up with a simple courage. They showed both physical and moral courage at the same time.

And even their enemies, surprised and baffled and blind as they were, understood the secret of their courage: they knew that they had "been with Jesus."

Heroes Without Medals

NOT all heroes wear medals. To this very day there are Christians who show the same kind of courage made famous by Peter and John. When a minister in Louisiana or Kentucky speaks out against the gambling which has become an octopus in his community; when he not only risks a dynamite bomb on his front doorstep from the gambling lords, but the name of "crackpot" from his neighbors; when the ministerial association of Gary, Ind., dares to stand up against powerful business interests in that city in the name of decent housing for the poor; when a Frank Graham of North Carolina dares to stand for Christian fairness to the Negro even when it means continual slander and political defeat; when Kefauver dares to stand up against corruption; you can be sure that the secret of such courage is the old one: these men have been with Jesus.

The story of Christian missions is full of such things. More than fifty years ago a heathen mob was about to tear a missionary named Pitkin to ribbons. They asked him if he had anything to say first. "Yes," he said, "tell my son to come out here and finish my work."

They killed him; but the son did come. And one of his first converts was a man who as a boy had seen the elder Pitkin die. He had never been able to forget that kind of courage.

In our own time another missionary, with the axe literally above his head, was asked: Aren't you afraid?—Afraid of what? he said. If you kill me I shall go straight to heaven.
