Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smiley spent Monday in Bay City with her brother, Bert Westcott, a patient at Mercy Hospital.

Win District Honors; Take First Game in Class D Regionals

Take Fairview 62 to 54; Play Baldwin Friday

The Tawas City Elks won in the opening game of the Class D Regionals last night at Alma by taking Fairview to camp 62 to 54 in a closely matched game. Tawas City took a 13-8 lead in the first quarter but trailed at the half 23-24. The Elks rallied in the third quarter with a slim one point margin 45-44, when they outscored Fairview 22 to 20. Tawas City wrapped up the contest in the final stanza by scoring 17 points to the opposition's 10.

Art Anschuetz led the locals in the win with 25 points, followed by Gary Humphrey with 13 and Rollie Gackstetter with 11.

A total of 39 fouls were called by the officials, 17 by Tawas and 22 by Fairview.

Tonight (Friday) Tawas will tangle with Baldwin, who drew a bye in the opening night.

In the first encounter of the evening, Bay City St. Mary's won over Sacred Heart of Mt. Pleasant, 63-72.

"Coach Mark Defibaugh's Elks, District Class D Champs Again!" Those were the words on local basketball fans lips after the Elks turned back Hale Saturday night, 62 to 43 to take the three game tourney at the local auditorium. The Tawas City quintet saved their three best showings of the year for the tourney, and well they did, as all three of their opposing teams, Arenac Eastern, Harrisville and Hale played bang-up ball games.

This year's tournament win was the fifth in a row for Tawas City under Mark Defibaugh's tenure as coach and probably go down as one of the Elks greatest showings, and one of the most welcome, as this year's squad is one of the most youthful in the history of the sport here. The local quintet had to be completely rebuilt after graduation took every first stringer from last year's squad. All of the regulars are sophomores and juniors and Tawas City should experience their best seasons during the next two years. After winning their first four or five games in a row at the start of the season, the Elks couldn't find themselves again until their last league encounter with Hale.

No one player could be singled out as the star of the tournament for the Elks, as every one of Mark Defibaugh's charges played outstanding ball. All five of the starters, Gary Humphrey, Art Anschuetz, Bill Brown, Tom Morley and Bob Scarlet were hot on their shooting and amassed 177 points for the three game series.

Art Anschuetz topped the scoring list with 50 points (8-24-18) and played a great game on the backboard. The two forwards, Gary Humphrey and Tom Morley were next with 38 (8-15-15) and 36 (11-13-12) points respectively. Humphrey was hot on set shots and Tom on the backboard tip-ins. Bob Scarlet, Tawas' surprise package, working with Bill Brown in the guard position, proved to be the added extra punch that Tawas City needed in scoring with 24 points (9-5-10) on one hand set shots behind the red line. Brown added his 22 points (7-10-5) and showed his usual cool-headed playing in working the ball into his center and forwards.

Tawas City's defense proved to be the clinching factor in the game, rising to its' heights when the chips were down. Time after time, big Art Anschuetz would block shots from his center slot that were ticked for two points, or Gary Humphrey would "steal the ball" before they reached the red line and pulled the games out of the fire on a number of occasions. Tawas City lanky forward, Tom Morley, proved himself adept at dragging the ball of the back board also.

Tawas got underway the first night with a 48-40 win over Arenac Eastern. Eastern took a 13-9 first period lead, but was short lived when Tawas bounced back in the second with a 15-7 edge to take a 24 to 20 lead at halftime. Tawas scored 15 more points while Eastern had 10 in the third stanza. Eastern took a 10-9 nod in the final quarter.

In the second game Tawas City and Harrisville staged a ding-dong battle with both sides exchanging (Continued No. 1, Back Page)

Would Restore Control of U. S. Senate to States

John R. Rood Makes Tour of Legislatures Now in Session

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rood returned from a month spent at Washington, D. C., and at the capitols of the states having legislative sessions this year, Michigan, New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina, Mississippi and Kentucky, promoting a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States to restore to the state governments control of the United States Senate by repeal of the 17th amendment.

"By this means the state governments would again have power to stop unconstitutional grasping of power by the national government, Congress would be empowered to appoint the president as so often voted in the Convention that wrote the Constitution of the United States, and in emergency remove an unfit president."

Mr. Rood says, "the long history of the human race records no instance of a nation which one man at will appointed and removed all officers, dictated the laws he administered, wrote his own tax ticket, by edict said who could buy what, how much, at what price, how he might use it, who might work at what wages, as in the United States to-day, in which the people escaped total slavery."

"Price pegging does not, never did, never can, fix prices. All such practices have ever done, or can do, is to increase or stop production and supply, until the public in desperation turn to bribery, corruption and buying in the black market; and that all the distress thus imposed falls on the poor, who lack the funds to buy at black market prices"

On his tour, Mr. Rood presented to each senator and representative in the named capitol a free copy of his book entitled "It Is Up to You," and he distributed hundreds of other free copies to press agents and other persons of influence.

Mr. Rood quotes Kipling's "The Old Issue,"

All we have of freedom, all we use or know—
This our fathers bought for us long and long ago.
Ancient right unnoticed as the breath we draw—
Leave to live by no man's leave underneath the law.
Flame and torch and tumult, steel and gray goose wing,
Wrenched it inch and ell and all, slowly from the king.
How's' great the clamor, whatso'er their claim,
Suffer not the old king under any name.

He shall mark our goings, question whence we came,
Set his guards about us as in freedom's name.
He shall take a tribute, toll of all our ware;
He shall change our gold for arms, arms we may not bear.
He shall peep and mutter, and the night shall bring Watchers 'neath our windows, lest we mock the king.
Long forgotten bondage, dwarfing heart and brain,
All our fathers fought to loose he shall bind again.
Step by step and word by word; who is ruled may read;
Suffer not the old kings— for we know the breed.

Club Women to Meet at Shearaton-Cadillac

The Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its annual meeting at the Shearaton-Cadillac Hotel, Detroit, from April 2 to 4, with Mrs. William O. Merrill of Bloomfield Hills presiding. Mrs. Howard Abbott of Reading, program chairman, has asked Senator Blair Moody to address the convention. Others invited to speak are Herbert Miller, tax expert, and Dr. Harley J. Lutz, Professor of Public Finance at Princeton University.

Federation notables appearing on the program besides Mrs. Hiram Cole Houghton, General Federation President, are Mrs. R. I. C. Prout of Wakefield, candidate for the Second Vice presidency of the General Federation and Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, a national Past President and currently assistant to the Administrator of Federal Civil Defense.

There will be the usual events and plans are being readied to make the convention one that will be memorable for all club members who can arrange to attend.

Signs of Spring

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round
BY DREW PEARSON

Cynical Americans

TRAVELING across the U.S. these days you are struck with a new cynicism on the part of the American public. It's a rebellious cynicism, inclined to lay all our troubles on the doorstep of Washington, a feeling of frustration, of disgust with corruption, and weariness with the Korean war. It's an atmosphere that lends itself to any flag-waver or tub-thumper who wants to take advantage of this cynicism by running for office.

This is exactly the atmosphere that swept a lot of Democratic screwballs into office with the anti-Hoover tide of Roosevelt victory in 1932, and it may sweep a lot of Republican screwballs into office this fall.

One dangerous part of the current feeling has been a certain disillusionment with our electoral system. Folks are resentful of the bosses in both parties and they figure that though President Truman probably didn't mean to blurt out what he did about "eyewash" primaries, nevertheless he was telling the truth.

On the other hand there is growing interest in the proposal of Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois and Rep. Charles Bennett of Florida to hold a nation-wide presidential primary, which, though not binding on the delegates, might put a crimp in the party bosses and prevent the traditional picking of presidents in the 3 A.M. quiet of a smoke-filled room.

The smartest thing Mr. Truman could do, in view of his eyewash remark and this public cynicism is to exert some altruistic leadership and help put across the Douglas-Bennett nation-wide primary.

Bossed Delegates

In five states it's a fact that the people have no say whatever in the selection of delegates attending the presidential conventions. In Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia and Louisiana, the delegates are chosen by party leaders and are simply told how they are to vote.

In 27 other states democracy fares little better. These states for the most part follow the plan of state conventions, where the party bosses can railroad the selection of delegates. The bigger states which follow this hand-me-down convention system are: Michigan, Iowa, Indiana, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Texas and Virginia.

Best Primary

The state generally conceded to have the best primary system is Oregon, where presidential aspirants are unable to keep their name off the ballot if they feel they won't make a good showing. Eisenhower's name, for instance, has been kept out of the Wisconsin primary on the belief that he wouldn't make a good showing there but in Oregon, any candidate's name can be entered without his permission, which makes for a genuine popular test.

Nebraska voters had the same "free filing" privilege until 1951 when a reactionary legislature abolished it.

New Hampshire, in connection with which, President Truman used his eyewash term, happens to have one of the nation's fairer primaries.

Flynn's Bailiwick

In New York, which controls the largest bloc of delegates and therefore is most influential in nominating our presidential candidates, the delegates do not have to reveal which candidate they favor. Thus, when New Yorkers vote in a primary, they are forced to vote for pledged party stooges. They do not know whether those delegates will favor Truman, Kefauver or Stevenson; all they know is that the delegates will vote the way Boss Flynn of the Bronx and State Chairman Paul Fitzpatrick tell them to.

Ohio's Tricks

Ohio has still another gimmick which plays into the hands of the bosses. In Ohio, delegates must remain pledged to a certain delegate only as long as their "best judgment and ability" so dictate.

Though it's never happened, this conceivably could mean that delegates could decide the day before balloting started that their man didn't have a chance, and switch to someone the bosses liked better.

Illinois has a similar loophole for countermanding the people's choice.

Hoover vs. Ike

Herbert Hoover, long-time isolationist, is secretly trying to line up delegates against Eisenhower in New York and New Hampshire. . . . By an ironic twist of fate, Hoover underwent exactly the same criticism as Taft now makes against Eisenhower. When Hoover ran for President, he had never registered as a Republican. . . . The growing unpopularity of President Truman in the southwest is similar to that of Hoover in pre-Roosevelt days.

HURRY GIRLS, BARGAINS! . . . In Brooklyn, New York, the bargain basement fullbacks (women to you) had a field day recently as Loeser's department store held a going-out-of-business sale. Here's a view of the mobs that jammed the store and the street outside the store. The police and fire department had to be called in to prevent the ladies from injuring each other in their eagerness to get to the counters where the bargains were on sale. There is something about a bargain that the woman shopper cannot resist—and to be fair to the ladies, we'll admit we see a few male heads in that pushing throng. We don't blame them—the way prices have been.

BACK TO JOB, COMPLETELY CLEARED . . . In New York City, career diplomat John Carter Vincent (right), who has been accused of being pro-Communist time and again by Senator Joseph McCarthy, Republican of Wisconsin, and active ex-Communist, Louis Budenz, former editor of the Communist newspaper, The Daily Worker, sails aboard the liner, S.S. Constitution. Mr. Vincent is returning to his post in Tangier, Morocco. The state department has announced that Vincent has been completely cleared of all charges made against him by political opponents of the department. He will probably face other loyalty courts, despite lack of evidence against him.

FAITH REVIVED . . . The faith, which he lost when he was voted out of his home in south San Francisco, was revived somewhat by a flood of offers of homes in other cities to the family of Sing Sheng, Chinese-American. Their neighbors in San Francisco objected to Chinese living in the neighborhood, because, they complained it would lower property values. Trusting in democracy and Americanism, Sing Sheng put his residence there to a vote and lost—on the eve of Brotherhood Week.

GAS-GERM PROOF . . . This is the Army's new airtight, water-cooled suit, designed to protect a soldier against both poison gas and biological (germ) warfare. The suit is superior to former suits in that it is more resistant to new gases.

BEAUTIFUL BOOKMAKER . . . Bookies usually don't come as pretty as Peggy Walker (right) of 113-08 Sutphin Boulevard, Jamaica, New York City. But the law says pretty Peggy made book on the races and took bets. And here you see her talking the charge over with her attorney, Marie A. Beary, who also is not so difficult to look upon. The two women are awaiting the turn of events and justice outside the felony courtroom in Ridgewood. That's not a racing form in their hands.

HOME AGAIN . . . Lois Weiland has returned to her Pittsburgh home after running away from her scheduled marriage on Valentine's day to Edward Weigner. "It just dawned on me I couldn't marry him," she explained.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Allies in Accord on United Army; Drug May Wipe Out Tuberculosis

EUROPEAN ARMY—The members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have reached agreement on four important points for the defense of Western Europe and the strengthening of the united army which may mean the salvation of the democratic form of government. Each of the points will involve great sacrifice on the part of every government, by soldiers, and by the taxpayers of the participating nations.

Most important, perhaps, was the agreement to provide about 50 combat-ready land divisions and 4,000 operations aircraft for European defense this year in addition to forces Greece and Turkey can make available.

Second, and possibly the most controversial, to approve the general outlines of a plan partially drafted by France, West Germany, Italy, and the Benelux nations to merge their armies into a European defense force. Under this plan the Allies of World War II propose to rearm Western Germany. The arming of West Germany, however, must be approved by the governing bodies of the countries involved in the treaty. Whether the French will ratify the proposal is still in doubt. If turned down by the French National Assembly it could mean the collapse of the unified army.

Third, the N.A.T.O. nations agreed to create a board to make a detailed study of the western world's needs for airfields, barracks, communications lines, and other army-supporting facilities, and recommend how to share the cost of building them.

And fourth, to streamline the N.A.T.O. itself and make it more efficient, on a pattern roughly like that of the United Nations secretariat, instead of the present overlapping boards and committees.

The plan for a 50-division army this year means that 20 more divisions will have to be recruited and armed in the next 10 months. One authority interpreted the plan in these words: "Right now the Reds could walk to France's westernmost Atlantic shore, but by the end of this year they would have to fight their way. By the end of 1954 we would be able to throw them back."

This picture of the big three foreign ministers and West Germany's Konrad Adenauer was made at conclusion of talks at which agreement was reached on outstanding issues for a united European army. Left to right: Dr. Konrad Adenauer of West Germany; Secretary of State Dean Acheson; Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary; and M. Robert Schumann, French foreign minister.

TAXES—The Public Affairs Institute, which describes itself as a nonpolitical organization, has issued a study of U.S. tax laws which points out six loopholes that are costing the Federal government $4,500,000,000 a year and benefits almost entirely those with annual incomes of more than $10,000.

They are outlined as: (1) Percentage depletion—$750,000,000; (2) Income splitting—$2,500,000,000; (3) Failure to include a provision for withholding of taxes on dividend and corporate-bond interest payments—$30,000,000; (4) Failure to increase estate and gift tax rate sharply and tighten up on this levy—$400,000,000; (5) Failure to increase the capital gains tax rate sharply and tighten up on this levy—$400,000,000; (6) Approval of a broadened family partnership provision in the 1951 law—$100,000,000.

More will be heard about this study in the next few weeks as congress gets into full debate over the proposed new tax bill.

RUSSIAN A-BOMBS—On the 34th anniversary of the Soviet army, Russian military leaders and newspapers warned the western world that Russia possessed "atom bombs of all calibers" and said that any aggressor would be met with "crushing, deadly blows." In addition, the same sources charged that "Anglo-American imperialists" are planning to unleash a third World War.

Most observers agreed that the speeches and articles were the usual line of Soviet propaganda that is necessary on an important occasion. But it was noted that the claim clearly implied that Russia has in her arsenal tactical atomic weapons to match those recently developed and tested in the United States.

COST OF LIVING—The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports the cost of living stood still in its latest 30 day survey as measured by the government's new consumers' new index.

Food prices rose about a tenth of a per cent, but clothing and house furnishings were down a little.

The new index stood at 189.1 per cent of the 1935-39 average in mid-January. This was 4.2 per cent above a year earlier and 11.1 per cent above the pre-Korean average. Wholesale prices were reported 5 per cent below a year ago.

ATOMIC SPY TEAM—Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted last spring of stealing atomic secrets for Russia and sentenced to die for treason, heard their sentences upheld by a Federal Appeals Court. Three appeal judges said in their decision: "It cannot be held that these sentences are unconstitutional." Only the United States Supreme Court can now save the Rosenbergs from the electric chair.

The Rosenbergs are the first Americans ever sentenced to death for treason outside a military court. At the time of their conviction, Judge Irving R. Kaufman called Rosenberg worse than a murderer. In his opinion, Judge Kaufman said, the Rosenbergs' treason led to the war in Korea, with its tens of thousands of American casualties.

TUBERCULOSIS—Dreaded Tuberculosis, once the great scourge of mankind, may within a few years be completely wiped out. This hope is centered on a new wonder drug which was used in recent months in treatment of nearly 200 persons in the advanced stages of the disease at Sea View hospital in Staten Island.

Slightly smaller than aspirin (see picture), it is expected to be on the market by summer under various trade names. The pills will cost a TB patient a fantastically low 25 to 50 cents a day.

In the tests at Sea View hospital doctors were amazed at results obtained by the drug. Within a few weeks, high temperatures went down to normal, lung cavities began to heal, patients recovered energy and appetite. Science, at last, may have found the answer in the battle against tuberculosis.

MEAT PRODUCTION

Nation's Packers Store Meat Surplus

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports the nation's meat production continues to grow faster than the consumer can take it off the markets. Production in late February was estimated at 22 per cent higher than at the same time a year ago.

Heavy marketing of lambs, sheep and hogs is reported in many marketing centers. During one week in late February 1,464,000 hogs were slaughtered by packers, compared with only 1,044,000 during the same week a year before. There has been a sharp slaughter increase also in sheep and lambs with storage at a record high.

Beef stocks in storage were up 17,000,000 pounds in January of this year, compared with the previous month.

TELEVISION DISCOVERS MAIN STREET

TV Industry Plans Grassroots Expansion

(This is the first of a series of three articles on the coming of a nationwide television service.)

The television industry is on the threshold of a vast new expansion program, a sweep across the grass-roots of America. It is ready to bring the glittering lights of Broad-way, the dramas of Shakespeare and Shaw, the impromptu debates of world statesmen onto the illu-minated screens of homes in every section of the nation.

Television today is a regional service, confined mainly to the major population centers. But the way is being cleared by the govern-ment for television to become as much a household commodity as radio.

The foundation has been pre-pared. A chain of microwave radio relay towers and a set of coaxial cables now carry video signals coast to coast and into sixty major market areas. And science has de-vised a means of broadcasting these signals over a new section of the air waves, as well as those now in use, to the farmer, the rancher and the village miles removed from present TV stations.

Because of this scientific develop-ment, the government has proposed the licensing of nearly 2,000 new television stations. Towns like Broken Bow, Neb.; Elroy, Ariz.; and Bad Axe, Mich., might soon enjoy the same visual programs that millions watch today in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Nationwide Service

In the opinion of Dr. C. B. Jol-liffe, vice president and techni-cal director of the Radio Corpora-tion of America, this scientific achievement can mean "the advent of a truly nationwide television service, a service that will provide the Main Streets of America with the same entertainment, education and information programs that more densely populated areas have known for several years."

In terms of specific programs, it means that comedians like Jimmy Durante, Martin and Lewis, Milton Berle, Bob Hope and Herb Shriner can become regular visitors to homes in villages, cities and even entire states where no video signal now reaches.

It can mean an intimate look at statesmen and politicians through such programs as "Meet the Press," "America's Forum of the Air," and Edward R. Murrow's "See It Now." It can mean great drama through the "Television Play House," and great music on various televised symphonies and operas, such as NBC's "Amahl and The Night Visitors." It can mean early evening entertainment for the children with "Howdy Doody" and "Kukla, Fran and Ollie."

And it can mean that all these programs will come forth on home screens with the same picture fi-delity and clarity as in the estab-lished television centers of the na-tion. For there can be enough sta-tions to bring a full strength video signal within range of nearly every-one.

The Frequency-Allocation plan for this dramatic expansion was developed by the Federal Com-munications Commission, which is the government's regulatory agency for all wireless services. It tenta-tively pinpointed the location for each of nearly 2,000 stations as a first step toward offering TV sta-tions licenses to these communities.

Pioneering Science

Behind this government action is a colorful tale of pioneering explora-tion by the scientists and engineers of a privately owned American in-dustry. For years they probed into the mysterious upper regions of the radio spectrum — some sci-entists call it the "antarctic" of the air waves — and they determined that television signals could be transmitted successfully through this untapped region.

This was their answer to the fear that has haunted the industry and the government ever since television began its post war ex-pansion—the fear of overcrowd-ing the air waves.

For television, like radio and other wireless services, requires channels in the air waves. If two stations using the same channels are near one another, their signals will conflict. That's why the FCC decided in 1948 to halt new station construction until more channels were available.

All the stations functioning today are confined to a relatively nar-row band of the spectrum known as the Very High Frequency Range (V.H.F.). It has only twelve chan-nels for telecasts, not enough to provide blanket coverage.

So the scientists went after the upper regions of radio space, the antarctic known as Ultra-High Fre-quency (U.H.F.) — and they un-covered a rich lode. Seventy chan-nels which could handle UHF tele-casts! Together with VHF this would provide enough room for everybody!

Ready for Field Tests

The bulk of this intensive re-search campaign was handled by scientists and engineers of the Radio Corporation of America, and its affiliate, the National Broadcast-ing Company. Even before the war, they had worked on transmissions in the UHF range, and by late 1949 they were ready to begin regular field tests.

Their selection of a site for the experiment was Bridgeport, Conn., 55 miles from New York City, a city with a population of just over 200,000. It is in the fringe reception area for television stations broad-casting out of New York. A UHF station here with special receiving antennas could pick up regular tele-casts from station WNBT in New York and rebroadcast them to UHF sets in scattered homes in the area. Since the countryside is hilly, it produces the most difficult pos-sible conditions for commercial broadcasting.

It was for these reasons that the first and only UHF station in the country now operating on a regular basis, KC2XAK, was located on a hill on Stratford, Conn., just outside of Bridgeport. Designed and built by RCA, it started broadcasting Dec. 30, 1949, under the supervision of O. B. Hanson, NBC's vice presi-dent in charge of engineering. RCA built UHF receivers and UHF con-verters for present VHF sets and they were placed in 50 homes in the Bridgeport area. Reports, graphs and charts on performance were compiled and forwarded to the FCC and made available to the entire industry.

Basic Findings

Finally, after conclusive studies of UHF, the teams announced these findings:

1. Properly used and properly al-located, television reception on UHF can be just as clear and stable as on VHF. In some instan-ces it is even better, for UHF pic-tures are not bothered by nearby x-ray equipment, auto ignitions, neon signs, or home appliances, which have been known to play hob with VHF pictures.

2. Present television sets can be readily adapted to receive both UHF and VHF telecasts. (RCA has already demonstrated a small, simple UHF converter which can be easily attached to present sets.)

3. Color television can be broad-cast on UHF frequencies. The FCC based its UHF plan largely on knowledge garnered from the field tests conducted at Bridgeport.

UHF is a new symbol of Ameri-ca's pioneering spirit. It is a key to a new era, an era when all of America will be bound together closer than ever before through a visual medium that brings people and events to life.

Does grassroots America want television? In the opinion of Dr. Jolliffe, it wants it just as much as anyone else.

"Make no mistake," he says, "Main Street is just as anxious for television as Broadway — perhaps more so. For Broadway has its shows and its lights. But for the living presence to be brought to the sitting room in a lonely farmhouse miles from the nearest city—that is truly pushing back the horizons of entertainment and education."

Large sections of Western, Central and Southern United States have no television. Fifteen states were caught in the "freeze" on TV station construction which was im-posed by the Federal Communica-tions Commission in 1948. A dozen others are being covered by a single station.

Many of these states, like North Dakota and Montana, cannot even pick up the video signals of neigh-boring states because the nearest stations are out of television range. For millions of Americans televi-sion has been just something to read about in newspapers and mag-azines, or something to look at briefly on trips to the East or West Coasts.

Now this pattern of regional televi-sion is on the verge of abolition. Like the capillaries in the human body, video signals will soon begin coursing from the main channels of the visual broadcast industry into the remotest regions of the na-tion. The people of Cut Bank and Deer Lodge, Mont., may soon have the opportunity to see national network television shows — and on their own stations, not those of neighboring communities.

Glassblowers' Craft Survives Despite Iron-Lung Machines

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Czech glassblowers, expelled from their Bohemian homeland after World War II, are reported to be among the best dollar earners in the United States Zone of Western Germany. They are proof that their ancient and respected craft of glassblowing still flourishes.

Iron-lunged machines have taken over the mass production of blown glassware and in one hour can turn out several thousand bottles and flasks. Electric light bulbs are now made entirely by machine.

Still big business, however, is glassware that is "handblown," to use a trade expression meaning blown by human lungs.

SHORT STORY

Joe Gets Into Trouble

By M. J. Collins

IT was about six-thirty and Jenny and I were eating supper. The phone had rung several times but, it being a rural line with nine par-ties on it we didn't even bother to listen.

"That was our ring!" Jenny suddenly exclaimed. I answered the phone.

"Your Uncle Joe went to town this morning and he ain't back." It was Aunt Martha and she sounded a bit worried.

"Maybe he had trouble with his car. What was he in town for?" "Took four fat hogs to market."

"Perhaps you should have gone with him." "The last time he took pigs to the market, they didn't want to stay in the trailer so he made me get in with them and if you think that's a nice way for a woman to ride to town—I don't!"

Hardly had I hung up the re-ceiver when Aunt Martha's num-ber rang. I stuck my hand over the mouthpiece and listened. It was the police department and Uncle Joe was in jail. One of the constables had found him trying to open the door of his car, the only trouble was that Uncle Joe insisted the radiator was the door, so he was locked up for safety's sake. I hung up and a short time later she phoned and told me her trouble. "Now don't get so excited," I soothed. "I'll be right over."

By that time Uncle Joe had a grin a mile wide—and a gleam in his eyes.

The miscreant was stretched out in a stupor when the officer opened the cell door.

"Huh!" Aunt Martha sniffed. "The nerve! You can still smell the stuff!" It boded no good for Uncle Joe.

WHEN we reached their place I helped put the still groggy Uncle Joe to bed.

Uncle Joe was just beginning to be himself. "Oh, my head!" he groaned, "my poor head." He raised himself up on his elbows. "Did he get away?" "Did you get away?" Aunt Mar-tha asked, beligerently.

Uncle Joe ignored her. "I parked our car down near the lakeshore, I wasn't paying a nickel to park on the main street, and when I was comin' back across the short-cut, you know where it's all growed up with brambles and bushes, someone came up right smart behind and knocked me out. I think he used a bottle." He shook his head.

"Huh! A fine way to account for that smell!" Aunt Martha snorted. "Did he git my money?" He sud-denly remembered it.

"Well, you haven't got it if that's what you mean." Aunt Martha in-formed him tartly. "Here, you get back into bed, you're wobbly, and let me have a look at your head."

Still growling and protesting he did as he was bid.

"Now you, Joe Quinn, stay quiet!" She wagged a finger under his nose. "I'll get something for your bump and your supper also."

Aunt Martha grinned at me as we went out to the kitchen. A car pulled up by the door.

"Good heavens!" she cried with dismay. "It's Mr. Morrison, the min-ister! Everything is in a mess—and the condition Joe's in—I! You keep mum, Joe Quinn, I'll shut the door and he won't know anything about you."

"I won't stay quiet," Uncle Joe cried. "You can't treat me like a culprit. C'mon in!" Uncle Joe yelled at the top of his voice.

"Well, Joe, you certainly had a spot of trouble," Mr Morrison said when he came into the room. "That bottle must have been strong stuff." Aunt Martha gasped.

Mr. Morrison dug into his pocket and brought out a pocketbook.

"Where'd you get that?"

"Well, Joe, the man that hit you with that bottle and robbed you had a very bad accident and I was called. I'm glad to be a help to both of you," he said handing him his pocketbook.

By that time Uncle Joe had a grin a mile wide, all his money was in-tact and I could tell from the gleam in his eyes that Aunt Martha would have to dance attendance on him to get back in his good graces.

THE HOME TOWN REPORTER IN WASHINGTON WALTER SHEAD, WNU Correspondent

Railroad Report

D. A. HULCY, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, in a recent address before the National Transportation Forum in Washington, not only made an excel-lent political speech from his viewpoint, but he indicated the rail-roads of the country are threat-ened with socialistic government control, that "some folks" would like nothing better than to see the government take over the railroads and other transport, that govern-ment controls are strangling the in-dustry, that "taxation is siphoning off the life-blood of our economy and diverting venture capital for ill-advised government adventure".

Among other things, Hulcy said: "Our transportation industry has traditionally been free and tradi-tionally competitive. It is run by private citizens, financed by private capital and primarily sup-ported by private industry. Competi-tion has incubated the world's best transport services—and govern-ment has entered the picture largely as an umpire or a referee." Let's see if that is true.

From the start the railroads of this country spanning the continent were seldom without govern-ment subsidies either direct or in-direct in land or money. So even from early days, the government, which is the taxpayers of the coun-try, has had a stake in the trans-portion system. But to bring the matter down to recent years, re-cords of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation show that the railroads have come to that government cor-poration, when they could not get money from private financiers, and borrowed some $232,414,165. As of today $98,621,561 is still on the books of the RFC. That's taxpayers' money, not private capital.

In addition, government, which is the taxpayers, is the biggest customer of the trans-portion system. For instance, over the years the government has paid to the railroads bil-lions of dollars to carry the mail — mail subsidies it is called. The postoffice depart-ment estimates the cost of car-rying the mail on railroads alone this year will total $381,000,000.

In addition, more millions are being paid railroads for troop and armament transportation. During the war the railroads' bill to the government totaled some six bil-lion dollars.

Air Transportation

In another field of transportation —air transportation, the govern-ment also has a huge stake. The Post Office department estimates cost of carrying the mail on the country's airlines this year at $142,000,000. In addition, there are some lines which get an outright subsidy from the government. On top of this, there is a government cost for construction and maintenance of airports, beacons, radar and other safety aids which totals more than $274,000,000 for the year.

Shipping Industry

In the shipping industry, another form of transportation, there is an annual subsidy for operations granted the industry totaling something like $30,000,000, plus many millions in construction subsidies under the guise of defense construction, which likely runs as high as $50,000,000 annually. If taxation is siphoning off the life-blood of our economy, as Hulcy says, perhaps the slashes should be made in the transporta-tion industry first.

Venture Capital

Hulcy says this: "I make the challenge once again, on the basis of my talks with men and women on the Main Streets of America. What are we going to do for venture capital to launch new enterprises and to put the necessary yeast for ex-pansion in the older enter-prises?"

In case Hulcy is at a loss, figures from the Office of Defense Produc-tion and the Reconstruction Fi-nance Corporation, show that as of this date business men have made application to these agencies to spend a total of more than $11,000,000,000 for expansion of old plants and existing facilities and the con-struction of new plants, under the five-year rapid tax amortization clause in the Defense Production Act. And that's private capital, most of it, although the RFC has been making some loans for these purposes.

RFC Report

In this connection, the RFC has filed its year-end report showing that the net income of RFC for six months ending December 31, 1951 was $6,300,000, as against $4,700,000 for the previous six months, a total of $11,000,000 for the year. And included in the return was $1,400,000 representing net return from sale of securities of the Den-ver & Rio Grande Western Rail-road and the Western Pacific Rail-road.

4-H CLUB NOTES

D. Art Ibsit of Michigan State College says we are lucky—no ear worms or corn borer on our sweet corn.

Mrs. O. J. Westcott and daughter, Martha, Joanne Wendt, Melvin Timreck, Neil Abbott, Luella Engle, Patricia Bertch and Patricia Ashmore received a lot of information for their 4-H Club activities. Melvin Timreck, the garden project reporter relates this of their project meeting.

Mrs. Meta Westcott brought the meeting to order in the Federal Building at 7:30 p. m. It was a 4-H Club Vegetable Gardening meeting. We talked about making booths for Achievement Day at the Tawas City High School Auditorium. After the meeting we had a movie on insects and plant diseases.

All vegetables grown in the garden were given scrutiny by Dr. Ibsit. His timely suggestion of using DDT to control "slug" damage to the tomato fruit is well worth remembering. The maggots that wanted to eat up Carl Schaafs (and everyone else's) garden last summer when served a diet of 40% wettable chlordane powder joined the great beyond. Dr. Ibsit highly recommended the chlordane treatment for cabbage, onion, radish maggot and all related garden species.

The hormone spray for tomato blossoms got kicked around in the questions and answers session. As stated, the night temperature must be above 60°F in order for the first blossoms to set fruit. Since our night temperatures during early June do not reach 60°F, then the use of the hormone on the blossoms will produce tomatoes 2-3 weeks earlier. Follow the manufacturers directions in making the applications.

Reporter Barbara Wisniewski wrote a nice report on the new Friendship Community Club. Thanks for the "thanks" Barbara, but Miss Scott and myself feel all the credit for your club doing so well belongs to the Pfahls, Currys, Halls, Ulmans, Burts, Durants, Woods and those other parents behind the scenes. It takes a lot of people to make accomplish what all our clubs are doing.

Barbara said that Miss Dorothy Scott gave us a lecture on how to conduct a good business meeting. The meeting was called to order by president Leslie Pfahl.

We had twenty-four members present. Jimmy Curry led us in pledge to the American flag and to the 4-H club flag.

We have planned to hold our meetings on the third Thursday of each month. Each family received a booklet with the coming years program for our club. Grant Wood nominated Franklin Bischoff for recreation leader. Jim Laidlaw motioned nominations closed and Grant Wood seconded it. Frank is now our recreation leader.

Bill Laidlaw nominated Jim Laidlaw for song leader. Bill Laidlaw motioned the nominations closed and Jim Curry seconded it. Jim is now our song leader. Franklin Bischoff selected a committee to help him with recreation. They are: Joyce Wellna, Darlene Groff, and Gale Durant.

We have selected a name for our club. It will be called "The Friendship Community Club."

Each of project reporters gave a report on what their club is doing.

Grant Wood made the motion that the meeting be closed and Jim Laidlaw seconded it. We closed with the song "Taps."

Lunch was served by the Tawas Township Group.

Barbara Wisniewski, reporter Carol Strauer, Sherman Township news reporter said "The In and Out Knitting Club meeting was called to order, pledge was said, we sang some songs. Roll Call was taken. Our girls are getting along fine with their sewing, and their knitting is about done. Our next meeting will be March 18th. That will be our last trip to the home of Mrs. Ruth Bloomquist. Nettie Jean made the motion that the meeting be adjourned and it was seconded by Judy Catalina."

Carol Strauer, reporter

The Busy Bodies Project Club report was sent in by Barbara Wisniewski and she says that "the meeting was called to order by president Joyce Wellna. The ritual was said and followed by all members.

Our vice-president, Sandra Ulman led us in the pledge to the American Flag and then to the 4-H Club Flag.

Roll was answered with our favorite tree.

We all are coming along fine in our sewing and we are sure that we will be done for Achievement Day.

We talked over our plans for the Talent Show.

Judy Ulman made the motion the meeting be closed and Joan Anschuetz seconded it. After the meeting games were played and a lunch of chocolate milk and sandwiches were served.

At the March 1 meeting of the same club, roll call was answered with the name of a favorite bird. All members were present. The club was led in the club song "We're Looking Over the 4-H Clover," by Joan Anschuetz. The Talent show and Achievement Day were discussed. After adjournment square dancing and popcorn were enjoyed.

We had our sewing period ahead of our business meeting, as this meeting was held at Anschuetz School and on this particular night the Boy's Club also met. And believe it or not our voices couldn't be heard above the saws, hammers, etc.

Ronald Norris, secretary's report tells us that Sherman Township Club should be well represented at the Talent Show. Their Club has been busy working up ideas to raise funds to send members to the 4-H Club Show in August.

Tawas City Conservation members let's not forget Saturday, March 15, for the tour with Conservation officer Art Lietz. We hope the weather cooperates.

Iosco 4-H Club Leaders, our 4-H Club Council meeting is scheduled for Monday, March 17 at Grant Town Hall.

Iosco Achievement Day—Thursday, March 20-21. Time of the program has had to be changed in order that our High School band members could attend a concert at Standish. Hence the evening program from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. and Friday from 8 to 10 p. m. The public is invited to see some talent sets, demonstrations and our dress revue. This will be held in the Tawas City High School gym.

East Tawas Garden Club

On Monday evening the Garden Club of East Tawas held a meeting in the Federal Building, with Mrs. Frank Wilkusi presiding. After the business meeting a program on Chrysanthemums was given. Talks were given by Mrs. Wilkusi and Mrs. Arthir Leitz. Pictures were shown on the new varieties, culture and flowering periods of chrysanthemums by Mrs. Wilkusi, assisted by Harold Clark and F. E. Kunze. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilkusi, Mrs. Arthur Leitz and Mrs. E. J. Butler.

East Tawas P-TA

The East Tawas Parent-Teachers Association will meet next Monday evening at the High School. The evening's program will be on Boy Scout work. Ed. Reising of West Branch, Scout Executive will show a Scout film and the local scout or their charter. Refreshments will be given and will be presented with served.

PUBLIC IS CORDIALLY INVITED

FREE WILL OFFERING

For Normal Driving - It Loafs!

You cross over the boundary into another state—and there are the posted rules and regulations.

Maybe the daytime limit for passenger cars is "forty-five"—or "fifty-five." Or, maybe no limit at all... just your own good common sense and the general rules of safety.

Well, whatever the legal limit, your Golden Anniversary Cadillac is going to "loaf"!

Down under its hood is the most powerful engine ever used in a standard American passenger car. There's more power there than you'll ever need—except for emergency.

But don't think that power doesn't work for you—even when you're driving within the legal limits!

It works for your safety... because a great reserve of power is a wonderful safeguard in most of the driving emergencies that present themselves.

It works for your comfort... because no car rides so well, or handles so superbly, as when it "coasts along," with a great percentage of its power still under the accelerator.

And it works for your peace of mind... for it is unbelievably comforting to know you have tremendous acceleration, should the necessity for it arise.

Of course, power has to be harnessed and handled in order to be your friend and servant.

So the Golden Anniversary Cadillac has superb new brakes—larger and more efficient—and designed and built to double the span of their endurance.

And those who want the ultimate in easy handling may order at extra cost Cadillac's new power steering that eliminates up to seventy-five per cent of normal steering effort.

It would take a volume to tell you all the things that have been done to make this a "car among cars." But it will take but a mile or a minute for you to sense what it means in terms of pleasure and satisfaction.

It means something wonderful... too wonderful, in fact, to miss!

Better come in today—for a look—and a ride—and a revelation.

A LITTLE GIRL AND "THE TELEPHONE MAN"

Donna Lynn Stever is six years old. Not long ago she was playing in a neighbor's back yard in Berkley when burning paper from a rubbish fire blew against her dress, setting it afire.

Donna screamed in pain and panic. Then someone pushed her to the ground and rolled her over and over until the flames went out. Excited neighbors rushed from their houses and little Donna was hurried to a hospital.

For days Donna could not talk about the accident. Then, finally, she told her parents the whole story.

The "someone" who had reached her so quickly was "the telephone man" who had been making repairs on a pole nearby. It was he who had slid to the ground and smothered the flames, she said. Then, in all the confusion, he had been forgotten.

But, Donna Lynn's parents saw to it that "the telephone man" did not remain forgotten. Checking with Michigan Bell, they learned that it was quick-thinking Telephone Repairman Robert Eames, father of two small children himself.

It's people who make telephone service good.

ANNUAL TAX SALE
STATE OF MICHIGAN
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF OSCODA IN CHANCERY

In the Matter of the Petition of John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.
NO. 1872

On reading and filing the petition of the Auditor General of the State of Michigan praying for a decree in favor of the State of Michigan, against each parcel of land therein described, for the amounts therein specified, claimed to be due for taxes, interest and charges on each such parcel of land, and that such lands be sold for the amounts so claimed by the State of Michigan.

It is ordered that said petition will be brought on for hearing and decree at the March term of this Court, to be held at Tawas City in the County of Iosco State of Michigan, on the 25th day of March A. D., 1952, at the opening of the Court on that day, and that all persons interested in such lands or any part thereof, desiring to contest the lien claimed thereon by the State of Michigan, for such taxes, interest and charges, or any part thereof, shall appear in said Court, and file with the clerk thereof their objections thereto on or before the first day of the term of this Court above mentioned, and that in default thereof the same will be taken as confessed and a decree will be taken and entered as prayed for in said petition. And it is further ordered that in pursuance of said decree the lands described in said petition for which a decree of sale shall be made, will be sold for the several taxes, interest and charges thereon as determined by such decree, on the first Tuesday in May thereafter, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m. on said day, or on the day or days subsequent thereto as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands and of each and every parcel thereof, at the office of the County Treasurer, or at such convenient place as shall be selected by him at the county seat of the County of Iosco State of Michigan; and that the sale then and there made will be a public sale, and each parcel described in the decree shall be separately exposed for sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person paying the full amount charged against such parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein; or, if no person will pay the taxes and charges and take a conveyance of less than the entire thereof, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. If any parcel of land cannot be sold for taxes, interest and charges, such parcel shall be passed over for the time being, and shall, on the succeeding day, or before the close of the sale, be reoffered, and if, on such second offer, or during such sale, the same cannot be sold for the amount aforesaid, the County Treasurer shall bid off the same in the name of the State.

Witness the Hon. Herman Dehnke, Circuit Judge, and the seal of said Circuit Court of Iosco County this 18th day of January A.D. 1952.
HERMAN DEHNKE, Circuit Judge.
Countersigned,
GEORGE A. PRESCOTT, Clerk.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF OSCODA IN CHANCERY

In the Matter of the Petition of John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.
To the Circuit Court for the County of Iosco, in Chancery:

John B. Martin, Jr., Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four percent and (d) $1.00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as against the same;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

JOHN B. MARTIN, JR.,
Auditor General of the State of Michigan,
for and in behalf of said State.

Dated: January 15, 1952.

Election Notice

Monday, April 7, 1952,
Courthouse Bonding
Proposition

RESOLUTION

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, Iosco County, Michigan

Whereas in conformity with the resolution passed by this Honorable Board in the October session, 1951, authorizing the courthouse proposition to be submitted to a vote of the people on the 7th day of April, 1952 at the general election in the city of Tawas City and city of East Tawas and the city of Whittemore, and also authorizing a special election to be held at each of the townships of the county;

And whereas this Honorable Board authorized the Prosecuting Attorney to prepare the ballots and notices in proper form;

Now therefore this committee submits the following forms for ballots and notices for the approval of this board.

1. Bonding Proposition
Shall Iosco County, Michigan, borrow the sum of Two Hundred Fifty Thousand ($250,000.00) Dollars, and issue its bonds therefore for the purpose of constructing and equipping a new Courthouse building?

2. Millage Increase Proposition
Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Iosco County, Michigan, for all purposes except payment of obligations incurred before December 8, 1932, be increased as provided by Section 21, Article X of the Constitution of Michigan by two tenths (.2%) percent (2 mills) of the assessed valuation, as equalized, of all property in the County for a period of twenty (20) years, from 1952 to 1971, inclusive, for the sole purpose of paying the principal and interest of bonds of said County in the aggregate principal sum of Two Hundred Fifty Thousand ($250,000.00) Dollars to be issued, if authorized by the qualified electors of said County, for the purpose of constructing and equipping a new Courthouse building in said County; this increase to supersede and rescind all increases in the tax rate limitation heretofore authorized by the electors?

3. Election Notice
To the Electors of Iosco County, Take Notice That at a general election to be held on the 7th day of April, 1952 at the city of Tawas City, the city of East Tawas, and the city of Whittemore, and at a special election to be held at each of the townships of Iosco County, the proposition as to whether or not the County of Iosco shall vote the necessary millage and borrow the necessary funds for the construction of a new Courthouse building shall be submitted to the electors.

Iosco County Board of Supervisors
By: George A. Prescott,
Clerk of the Board.
County Treasurer's Statement

I, Grace L. Miller, Treasurer of Iosco County, Michigan find as of March 10, 1952, the total of all voted increases over and above the tax rate limitation established by Section 21, Article X of the Constitution of Michigan, in any local units affecting taxable property located in Iosco County, Michigan, is as follows:

Taxing Unit	Increased rate per $1,000
County of Iosco	0.2%
Years Effective: 1949 to 1958 incl.
Plainfield Township Rural Ag.	0.6%
School District

DESERT DESTINY A SERIAL STORY OF THE MODERN-DAY WEST WRITTEN BY JOSEPH CHADWICK

THE STORY SO FAR: Senora Garrison sends Tracy Hayden to find her grandson, Phil, whom she has never seen. Son Ramon and grandchildren Juan and Ruth fear Phil will take over the ranch. Tracy mistakes Phil's enemy, Jim Conroy, for Phil. Jim, masquerading as Phil, accuses the Garrisons and ranch foreman, Clint Hanlon, of attempts upon his life. Jim clashes with the real Phil, who is in town secretly. Tracy meets Phil in town and is attracted to him and unwilling to believe the evil Jim told her about him. Tracy loves Jim, but is embittered by his masquerade. Ruth, who has discovered Jim's identity, has been flirting with him since her discovery.

CHAPTER XIII "But it's such a little thing, Granny," Ruth said, in English now. "I thought that, since you are so much better, it would not bother you at all."

She was answered in Spanish. When Jim saw her eyes light up, he knew she had got her way. She kissed her grandmother once more, then turned to Jim. "Shall we go now?"

In the hall, Ruth slipped her arm through his. "I'm going to give a party. A big one—sort of fiesta. The guests will wear Mexican clothes, and we'll have the Mexicans from the village supply an orchestra."

"I haven't seen her this evening," Jim told him. But Ruth said, "She drove off in her car just before dark. She was headed toward town."

Jim felt a sudden alarm, guessing why Tracy had gone to Lanassa. When he saw Hanlon's eyes narrow, he wondered whether the man had discovered anything. As Hanlon turned and went out, Jim's uneasiness grew. He was sure Tracy had gone to meet Phil Garrison.

"Neglected? Not at all." They went to the new wing of the house and found the others gathered, as usual, in the rumpus room.

"I've done it, folks!" Ruth exclaimed. "Granny says I may give my party! We'll make it a big one. It's been so long since we've had any fun here!"

Juan looked up from chalking a cue. "That's swell. It'll give me a chance to bring a certain party here. She's something special. I met her in Hollywood, where she's a movie starlet."

"They, too, Helene looks very happy—she dances all the time with Ramon. And Juan is making love to a pretty girl from Hollywood."

"What of Philip?" the Senora asked. Tracy looked away. "I do not know if he enjoys himself or not. It is hard to tell. But he dances often with Ruth."

"That isn't right. They are cousins, and Ruth should leave him for you. Why does not Pete Donohue dance with Ruth? He is in love with her."

"Pete is busy talking to a Hollywood producer, hoping to sell him a story."

The Senora studied Tracy a moment. "And why are you not having a good time? Is it because Philip dances with Ruth?"

Tracy hesitated. "It is because—well, because of Clint Hanlon. He wants me to give him his answer tonight. I can only say no, and yet

"I hate to hurt him. Of course, I am not sure he will be hurt, for I can't believe he is much in love with me."

"You tell him no, Tracy. And then, you flirt a little with Philip—and take him away from Ruth. It is high time he realizes that you are the girl for him. He should have known that the first time he saw you."

Tracy forced a laugh. "Darling, romance nowadays is different. A man no longer falls in love with a girl the first time he sees her. Men are no longer like Jeff Garrison—nor women like the senorita he loved."

"No, not that." She touched his arm, tried to placate him. "I've been expecting to talk to you. Just give me a minute!"

She turned away quickly, but not so quickly that she missed seeing the flash of anger in his eyes.

When he reached Phil, her heart was pounding, but he seemed completely calm as he turned to face her.

"Hello, Tracy," he said casually. "You don't mind my crashing the party, do you?"

She drew him aside. "Phil, why did you come here?"

His eyes narrowed. "I heard something that convinced me I should come now, instead of waiting until Jim Conroy leaves. I've got him where I want him—backed up into a corner. I'm going to stop his little game of masquerade. What's his idea? What does he expect to gain by his fraud?"

Tracy, instead of answering him, asked, "Who told you about this?"

"Clint Hanlon. He questioned that Mexican boy who brought your note to me. Then he came to Lanassa and introduced himself. He was pretty much shocked on finding there were two Phil Garrisons."

"There's something more you should know," Tracy said. "There have been two attempts on Jim Conroy's life—since he came here. If it becomes known that you are the actual Phil Garrison, the next attack—if there is one—will be on you!"

should feel that way. Tracy, you're all confused—and I'm going to confuse you more." He paused, then said simply, "I'm in love with you."

To Tracy, his words were something of a shock. A voice within her seemed to cry out against them, yet another voice seem to give a joyous shout. She stared at him, wide-eyed. She didn't know what to say.

"I'm broke," he went on, "and when I leave here, it will not be to make money. I'll be going back into the scrap. But I want you to believe that I'm not a fortune hunter. I'm truly in love with you."

"Jim, I—I think you are mistaken," Tracy said shakily. "It's Ruth—not me."

He ignored that, saying, "I'm asking you to marry me, darling."

Tracy looked away—and then, suddenly, his proposal, was jolted from her mind.

Jim, feeling her stiffen in his arms, followed the direction of her eyes. His face darkened as he, too, saw Phil Garrison standing there at the side of the patio.

"Oh, Jim, this is awful!" she whispered. "The Garrisons must have learned about his being at Lanassa, and now mean to give everything away to the Senora. It will be a terrible shock. I'm afraid of what it will do to her."

"There is only one way," said Jim. "I'll go to her myself and tell her the truth. Hearing it from me, she will understand. But there's something else. We mustn't forget that someone doesn't want Phil Garrison here—has tried twice to have me killed, thinking I was he."

The Senora learned Conroy's identity. She was almost to him when Clint Hanlon suddenly appeared before her.

"Tracy, I've been looking for you. Will you dance with me?" He smiled. "We have something to say to one another, you know."

"Clint, please wait a little while. There's someone I must see."

"You're avoiding me," he accused. "No, not that." She touched his arm, tried to placate him. "I've been expecting to talk to you. Just give me a minute!"

She turned away quickly, but not so quickly that she missed seeing the flash of anger in his eyes.

When he reached Phil, her heart was pounding, but he seemed completely calm as he turned to face her.

"Hello, Tracy," he said casually. "You don't mind my crashing the party, do you?"

His eyes narrowed. "I heard something that convinced me I should come now, instead of waiting until Jim Conroy leaves. I've got him where I want him—backed up into a corner. I'm going to stop his little game of masquerade. What's his idea? What does he expect to gain by his fraud?"

Tracy, instead of answering him, asked, "Who told you about this?"

Youth Today Lesson for March 16, 1952

YOUTH today has a hard time of it. With bad examples in high places, prevalence of gambling, liquor ads on every billboard and liquor on too many "smart" tables; with divorce almost as easy as marriage and both as easy as whims; educated in elementary schools where it is considered wrong for the teacher to "fail" or punish any one, in high schools that emphasize the body more than the mind, and in colleges where coaches make more than professors and where (as two leading universities recently learned) almost half the student body, it seems, admits to cheating; living in a country where success is measured in dollars and where the Christian church is still in a minority; what chance has a boy or girl to grow up straight and strong instead of weak and crooked?

It Has Been Worse THE best answer to this question is that youth has always had a hard time of it, yet always there have been some who have grown straight and strong.

If this 20th century is a bad one, what about the first? At that time there was certainly bad example in high places, considering that Nero was the emperor and that many persons actually worshipped that cruel scoundrel as a god.

Gambling was done by the "best" people all over the Empire; liquor was even more a part of "high" society than it is today; as for divorce and marriage, the Roman record was worse than ours; as for education, most young people didn't get it, and most of those that did found themselves fitted for only one occupation: politics. The Christian Church was in a far smaller minority than today.

The Right Friends YET it was in that bad century that some of the most famous Christian saints and heroes lived. Timothy, Paul's young understudy, was such a man. He had everything against him, but Paul thought well of him, and Paul's standards were extraordinarily high. His life (or what we know of it from the Scripture references to him) had many qualities worth studying.

Let us look at two of the causes for this young man's high character. One was the quality of his friends. He seems to have been the sort of boy who might have gone down fast if he had taken up with the wrong crowd; but a list of his friends as we know them is a list of strong, original, true-blue Christians. He literally knew the best people, not "best" by standards of Roman society but best in the scale of true manhood.

We have a hint, too, that his mother had something to do with this. She "steered" the boy to the right crowd, one suspects—and that was enough. One of the best things parents can do for their children is to see to it that they run into the right kind of people. This does not necessarily mean the richest or the best educated, but the people with the best kind of character. Youth will grow to be like the older people it most admires; and admiration grows with acquaintance. Tell me who a boy's friends are and I can forecast his future.

Self Control THE other reason for Timothy's character came from inside: self-discipline, self-control. Followers of these lessons may wonder why "temperance" has to be dragged in every once in so often. It's not dragged in; we just dare not dodge it. Temperance just means self-control, in general. In particular, one of the drugs—by all odds the most popular drug—that tends to make the users lose self-control, is alcohol. As the proverb has it: First the man takes a drink, then the drink takes a drink, and then the drink takes the man.

Young people get more than enough urging to become alcoholics. One of the best things one can do for younger friends is to awaken them to the real facts and dangers of all alcoholic beverages. There is a book, "Fruit of the Vine," by Grace H. Turnbull, (printed by the Lord Baltimore Press and published in 1950 at 223 Chancery Road, Baltimore 18, Md.) which is a mine of facts about liquor—the kind of information you will not get in the advertisements. Young people who learn these things the easy way (by reading such a book) may be saved the heartbreak of learning the hard way.

Britain Spring Calendar Offers Many Attractions

NEW YORK—When the dark blues of Oxford and the light blues of Cambridge row their 250-pound shells from Putney Bridge to Mortlake-on-the-Thames on March 29, they will mark the 96th anniversary of the best-known sporting event of its kind in the world.

An annual event since 1656 when the crews wore top hats and, in comparison with the present-day effort, rowed almost in slow motion, the Oxford-Cambridge Boat Race today attracts visitors from all over the world.

Seeking Wins This year Oxford hopes to erase its record of five years of defeat with a gimmick borrowed from America's Ivy League—a training barge in the form of a double-barreled shell, nicknamed "Leviathan." Rowed by sixteen instead of eight oarsmen, it's an aid to the coach in selecting a final crew.

Great Britain has given more sports to the world than any other nation, and the Spring sports calendar is especially good. The flat racing season opens March 26 with the Lincolnshire Handicap, at Lincoln, just three hours from London. On April 5, everything in Britain stops, including tea, for the greatest horse-racing event in the world—the Grand National at Aintree, Liverpool. Special four-day tours by air will be arranged for this event.

Visitors can also see American football's early ancestor—an old British sport called "Hare Pie Scrambling and Bottle Kicking." Played on Easter Monday in Hallaton, Leicestershire, it is one of Britain's many robust, colorful old customs, which are becoming more and more popular with overseas visitors. On Hare Pie Bank near the town, children scramble for pieces of meat pies and villagers kick beer-filled casks toward the "goalposts," two streams a mile apart. The scrimmage that results is clearly a relic of an ancient, if messy, form of American football.

Vivid sporting events in the crisp spring air are just one phase of Britain's early season offering, when a wider choice of accommodation prevails and the visitor can take advantage of low-cost travel rates.

Theater Land The Shakespeare Festival at Stratford-on-Avon will open on March 13, lasting until October 24, the longest season on record. Drama lovers find London a dream of good theaters, varied productions, and a long season, lasting practically the year round. One big attraction is the price; $1 buys good seats. Another advantage is an early 7 o'clock curtain. No need for rushing through dinner (have tea instead); you'll be out early enough to explore the restaurants for a leisurely dinner after the play.

For art lovers, the Royal Academy's winter exhibition runs until March. Many of the paintings now on view are on loan from homes and palaces throughout Britain, and include works by Reynolds, Gainsborough, Lawrence, Turner and Constable. In addition, there's the National Gallery, the Wallace collection, the Tate Gallery, and many smaller showings sponsored by private dealers.

American Ingenuity Broke Bottleneck on Instrument ELGIN, Ill.—How American production ingenuity has perfected an "insurance policy" for ships at sea has been revealed by William H. Samelius, director of the Elgin Watchmakers College. Samelius told how the U.S. jeweled watch industry, which had never made a marine chronometer prior to 1941, began production when European sources were inadequate to meet the demand during World War II.

Not only did the industry tool up from scratch for one of the world's most complicated timing instruments, Samelius explained, but it also improved on European methods by developing a new escapement and balance unit that could be replaced quickly in case the original unit was damaged.

Ship's chronometers, considered the most accurate timepieces manufactured, were developed in England and have been used since 1761 to provide an exact longitude check for ocean vessels.

Why AC Electric Iron Not Used with DC

Q: I have an electric iron, marked "For AC only." Why won't such an iron heat up just as well on direct current?

A: The iron would heat up on DC, but the thermostat which regulates its temperature would not work properly. The thermostat includes a pair of contacts which open when the desired temperature is reached and close, to turn the current on again, as more heat is needed. With alternating current, these contacts do not need to open more than about one five-hundredth of an inch. On direct current, however, the current would arc across the contacts. Unless they were opened at least 3/8ths of an inch, the arcing would continue and the current would not be shut off. With AC the direction of the current alternates 60 times a second, so it is actually at zero 120 times each second.

About Light Tackle

This is the report we promised some weeks ago here to pass on to all angler-readers who are interested in light bait-casting tackle. We have refrained from discussing the subject until we could give it a fair trial. We have given it that trial and are now ready to pass along our findings. Here they are:

The sheer delight in using light tackle for bait-casting is sufficient in itself to dictate its selection.

Will Take More Bass
Over the long haul, this type gear will take more bass—and for these reasons:

1. The smaller lures practical with this gear strike the water with less disturbance and thus will not frighten away prospective strikes.

2. The little lures more closely simulate the fish life on which bass feed and foraging fish are more likely to strike them without too much examination and thus give the angler a greater percentage of "fish-on" experiences.

3. The light line and the compact lures make for easier coverage of wider, further waters and give the angler just that much more opportunity to get at distant bass. Too, the new, spinning-type lures which have gained most popularity resemble in great degree many fly-rod lures and thus afford the angler an almost double-weapon: fly rod lure and distance-casting impossible except with light-tackle casting, or spinning, gear.

Here Are The Facts

Anglers interested in light-tackle gear should know these facts:

You don't have to be rich to get a light-tackle casting rod that will really handle light lures. The Philipson people, at Denver, are producing the lightest and we think the best, bamboo "light-tackle" casting rod obtainable. This rod, weighing only 3 and 3/4 ounces is in the fly-rod field in weight and one can almost cast a fly with it. Yet, it has the backbone and the guarantee to do the job the plug-caster demands of it. This rod will actually handle small fly-rod lures, which we proved to our own satisfaction, if used with one of the light, tournament-type casting reels, and a 4 to 6-pound test line. In the matter of line, silk is undoubtedly the best. Of course, it is more expensive because it won't wear as long, but the ease of casting it and the added distance it gives, makes up for that disadvantage. The rod we mention comes in lengths from 5 to 6 feet, is in two sections and the price is in the range of any angler who is really desirous of owning the right gear for the right job.

Need Level Winder

As for the reel recommended, we don't mean that you have to get a real tournament reel without the level-wind attachment. Unless you are really an old-timer and grew up without a level-wind reel, you'd have the devil of a time laying the line levelly enough on the spool without a level-winder. Instead, the light-weight, narrow spool reels, will all do the job if you have one of the long rods light enough successfully to handle the light lures you will want to use.

The two most poisonous snakes in the world are said to be the tiger snake of Australia and the island viper which is found on a small island off the coast of Brazil.

Wolf's Last Stand

The wolf has left an impressive record with mankind. He has come to symbolize courage, sagacity, power, ferocity, and ruthlessness. He is pictured as a demon, a villain, a scourge—or as a benefactor, a ruler, and a hero. Many knights of olden days and even rulers of men added his name to their own as a symbol of strength and power. The stories about the Anglo-Saxon hero Beowulf (the War Wolf), and the Timber Wolf Division of the present American Army attest to the respect mankind has for this wild dog's fighting ability.

Today, the wolf is making a last stand in the United States. He formerly ranged over most of the country and posed quite a problem for the early settlers. The battle between men and wolves is marked with stories of famous wolves that evaded capture and raided cattle herds for many years. The fight was a losing one for the wolf, and as formidable as wolves often appeared, only a few remain today.

In a sense, those states which still contain a few wolves are fortunate in that the presence of a wild wolf testifies that some unspoiled wilderness does remain.

River Bass

When fishing a river do not be deceived in thinking that the small-mouthed black bass is in the center of the pools. He is more generally found in the bubbly, foaming waters at the edges of the pool or eddy. Only suckers and chub are found in the middle of the pool on most occasions. Neither do the river bass lay close to the surface, as many believe. The fish are invariably at or near the bottom, darting up to take the bait.

Why Does the Mantid Pray Is Old Question

Why does the "praying" mantid "pray"?

The prayerlike pose of this near relative of the cockroach is its normal position both for seizing prey and for defending itself. For their size, mantids are among the most predatory animals in existence, and they are also among the least known of the insects, according to Dr. Ashley B. Gurney, entomologist of the U. S. department of agriculture. There are more than 1,500 species of mantids in the world, mostly tropical, he says. Only 19 are known in the United States, which is the northern fringe of the habitat of these strange little creatures.

One of the most notable features of mantids is their front legs, which bear sharp spines and fold in a remarkable hinged manner enabling the mantid to reach forward, seize a fly or some other insect, and bring it to its mouth. This is the true explanation for the seeming attitude of prayer. Mantids feed entirely on other animals, chiefly insects caught alive. Instances of small birds, lizards, or mice being eaten—after being enticed into the "arms raised in prayer"—have been reported, but some of these probably represent mistaken observation. There is no question, however, that a mature individual of many mantid species can handle any caterpillar, grasshopper, cockroach, or other large insect that comes within its range. Their appetites are enormous. An adult mantis has been known to eat ten cockroaches in less than three hours. Bees and wasps usually have no terrors for the insect, though occasionally a mantid is stung while trying to catch a wasp, and gives evidence of the injury.

You simply apply SURIN right at the point of pain and blessed relief starts as penetration beneath the skin gets under way. Of course there's a reason for this wonder-working new external fast pain relief medicine. It's methacholine, a recent chemical born of research in a great laboratory. It acts speedily to aid penetration of SURIN's pain-quelling ingredients. Methacholine also causes deeper, longer-lasting pain relief and increased speed-up of local blood supply. Tested on chronic rheumatism in large university hospital it brought fast relief to 73% patients and in home-for-the-aged 77%. Totally different from old-fashioned rubs and liniments, modern SURIN brings faster relief, longer without burning or blistering, without unpleasant odor or grease. Simply smooth on SURIN at the point of pain and feel pain ease in minutes. Money-back at your drug store if SURIN doesn't relieve muscle pain faster and better than anything you've ever used. A generous jar costs $1.25. SURIN is not a cure for any of these conditions. McKesson & Robbins, Inc., Bridgeport 9, Conn.

Another way to Save with CLABBER GIRL

Sliced Ham Roll
Biscuit: 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 1/2 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon caraway seed, 6 tablespoons shortening, 1/2 cup milk. Ham Filling: 2 cups cooked, ground ham, 1 cup pickle relish, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1/2 cup gravy or brown cream sauce. Here is a novel and economical way to stretch left-over ham into a lunch or dinner main dish... a real taste treat and so easy to prepare... Notice how Clabber Girl gives leavening that is 'just right' even when coarsening caraway seeds are used to spark up the flavor.

Pound for pound, more people use more Clabber Girl than any other Baking Powder.

Sparkling Windows—
Sparkling, windows and clean blinds can give you a new lease on life. Since windows come in for special attention during these spring housecleaning days, Marjorie Knoll of the Michigan State College home management department has some tips.

Miss Knoll suggests washing the windows with an effective solution such as two tablespoons of vinegar or ammonia in two quarts of warm water. For the polishing be sure the cloth is lint free.

The home economist suggests a soft-bristled hand brush for dusting window shades as art of routine cleaning. In the spring, however a more thorough job can be done if you spread the shade out on a flat surface and dust carefully. Stains can be removed with art gum if they are not too large. Wallpaper cleaner will work on non-washable shades while thick, mild suds are excellent for washable shades. After applying the suds be sure to rinse with warm water, but do not soak the shade. Best way to dry the shade is to rehang and pull it down, Miss Knoll says.

VOTE "YES" ON BOTH COURT HOUSE PROPOSALS

This WILL NOT CHANGE your tax rate. It is only an extension of the present two-mill building fund.

Oscoda, Michigan
February 15, 1952
Voters of Iosco County:
My reasons for favoring the construction of a new Iosco County Court House are many. In the first place, every business man in the county has made changes and improvements to keep pace with the times, while the present Court House, constructed 80 years ago, has become entirely inadequate to take care of today's needs.

It is a fire-trap, endangering irreplaceable records; it does not have adequate vault space, insurance premiums are costly; heating the high ceilinged frame building is costly; offices are overcrowded and inconvenient; and so on.

It is necessary to vote on the bond issue so that the county will have the authority to sell bonds for the amount necessary for construction. The other issue, to extend the time for raising the necessary funds to cover the bonds, does not mean that your tax will be raised in any way. It will remain at the present two mills.

All civic-minded individuals should recognize the needs for these improvements and vote "yes" on both propositions April 7.

(Signed) CHARLES MONROE
Supervisor AuSable Township.

Here is what your Supervisors have to say about the need for a new Court House. THEY KNOW!

East Tawas, Michigan
February 12, 1952
To Iosco County Voters:
I am in favor of a new Court House because to repair the old building and construct adequate fireproof vault space would cost as much as a new building.

I sincerely urge a favorable vote on the two mill tax for the new Court House. This is not an increase in the present tax but is an extension of the period to satisfy the requirements of the bond issue to provide necessary funds.

Your "yes" vote on each proposition will allow an early start on construction of this greatly needed building.

(Signed) EDWARD BURGESSON
Supervisor Baldwin Township

Supervisor, Oscoda Township
February 7, 1952
To Iosco County Voters:
I voted "Yes" approving both proposals in regard to the bond issue and increased time on millage, because, I felt that the county could not afford to take the risks involved in keeping county, township and personal records in the present Court House because of the fire hazard.

Since a way has been found to build the Court House at this time without increasing the tax rate I feel that it should be done as soon as possible.

(Signed) C. S. EVERETT
Supervisor 3rd Ward,
Tawas City, Michigan

Office of the Supervisor
February 15, 1952
To the People of Iosco County:
My reasons for voting to submit to the electors the millage and bond propositions this April 7 are many, but I will list just a few:

1. This relic of ours, was probably adequate when it was built on a site hacked out of the forest primeval almost a hundred years ago; but
2. It is most inadequate now to house all the invaluable and irreplaceable vital records of Iosco County. I think the State's estimate of 10-minute protection on vaults in case of fire is high, but in any case 10 minutes is too close a margin for safety.
3. The building was old when I was a very young lad in Tawas, and believe me anything that old should be retired.

I most certainly will do everything I can to support the absolute necessity of having a new Court House, and urging "YES" votes at the April election.

Most Sincerely Yours,
(Signed) E. H. STICKNEY
Supervisor Oscoda Township
