8 Supervisors Ask Review of Equalization

Petition Filed With State Tax Commission

Following adjournment of the Isosco County Board of Supervisors Wednesday, eight board members signed a petition asking that the equalized valuations, as adopted by the board in an eight to nine vote, be reviewed by the Michigan State Tax Commission.

The eight supervisors declare in the petition to the tax commission that the determinations of the equalization committee adopted by a majority vote of the board is discriminatory to certain sections of the county and is unfair, unjust and burdensome to those sections.

"The undersigned," states the petition, "believe that the only way taxation of the county as a whole can be justly determined is by the action of the State Tax Commission—reviewing the equalized valuation as set, and adjusting said valuation more equitably among the townships, and cities of the county."

The signers are: Supervisors C. S. Everett, Tawas City; Howard Staebler, Sherman; Victor J. Anderson, Alabaster; L. S. Little, Grant; Charles Monroe, Aulsebrook; John B. King, Tawas City; Fred Brabant, Tawas City; Glenn Long, Tawas.

The organization of the board and equalizing the assessments were the principal items of business of the seven day April session which ended Wednesday. Architect Joseph Goddard, who is preparing plans for the new courthouse, was present to get ideas from the supervisors and county officers which will be incorporated in the plans of the structure.

The Board of County Road Commissioners, with their report, brought in a check for $21,000.00 as payment for money borrowed from the county for road purposes.

It was voted to abolish the old courthouse sinking fund, and that all monies credited to that account be transferred to the new courthouse sinking fund.

National Forest Reserve money amounting to $3,514.94 was allocated to the several townships entitled to this money.

The annual reports of the several governmental departments of the county were made at this session.

The total assessed valuation is $13,953,705 according to the 1952 assessment rolls. The State (Continued No. 3, Back Page)

Seeks $75,000 from D&M in Damage Suit

Injuries Received In Crossing Accident Three Years Ago

A $75,000 damage suit blaming an Isosco county accident three years ago on use of an air horn instead of a steam whistle has been filed against the Detroit and Mackinac railway in circuit court at Bay City.

Plaintiff is Miss Margaret Krumm, formerly of this place. She suffered "fractures, contusions, lacerations and concussions" when her car was hit by a D. and M. Diesel locomotive, April 23, 1949, in Tawas township, Isosco county, according to the suit.

Miss Krumm alleges that an air horn on the locomotive was so similar to the sound of a truck horn that it "did mislead, misinform, and entrap" her and lulled her into "false security."

The suit charges the railroad failed to have the locomotive equipped with a steam whistle as required by state law at that time. Miss Krumm's attorney said the law was not amended to permit use of air horns on locomotives until several months after the accident.

The D. and M. is currently fighting in the state supreme court a $25,000 verdict returned here two years ago on the same issue. Circuit Judge Karl L. Leibbrand refused to overturn the jury's decision on grounds use of an air horn was illegal. The verdict in that case was obtained by Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Kowalczyk, 247 Coolidge drive, Bay City.

Dismantle Old Residence to Make Way for New Business

Dismantling of the old Smith residence on Lake street in this city was started Monday by Arthur Stark and Leo Burch, and Thursday ground was broken for a new building for Roy F. Crabb, of Mt. Morris who purchased the property last February.

Mr. Crabb, who has a franchise with Tastee-Freeze of Michigan, Inc., is establishing a chain of drive-in sales and the building will be a part of the group. The new building will be of cinder block construction.

The dismantling of the old house removes one of the early landmarks of the city and a home which had been the residence of two families prominent in the life of Tawas City since its establishment. It was originally owned and was the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Whittemore.

Following Mr. Whittemore's death, Mrs. Whittemore disposed of the property in 1887 to James H. Watson. During that year the property was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Smith and ownership continued in the Smith family until two months ago.

Mr. Smith at that time was in the lumbering business and operated on holdings in the Tawas area, at Loon Lake in Plainfield township and along Smith creek. He was one of the early sheriffs of Isosco county.

During the early days a hotel was established in the building. It was known as the Courtland. Mrs. Aurelia Buch, widow of the late Emil Buch, Sr., recalls that she was employed in the dining room of the Courtland during the 1890's.

Mrs. Aggie Wright

Death came to Mrs. Aggie Wright at the County Infirmary last Saturday morning, April 19. She had been at the farm since 1939.

Aggie Wrathel Wright was born in Brussels, Canada, on August 28, 1878 and was 73 years and seven months old.

The body was taken to the Moffat Funeral Home where services were held on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Elder Frank Slye of the Latter Day Saints Church officiated. Interment was at Whittemore Cemetery.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Lizzie Barnes and one brother, Wesley Wrathel of Port Huron.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dodson spent the week-end in Detroit.

Gain Made in Book Circulation at Iosco Library

Story Hour for Children Held in Tawas City and East Tawas Libraries

Daily, monthly and yearly records of circulation are kept in all branches of the Iosco County Library. In this way gains or losses may be noted and studied. Several things may affect the circulation of books, for instance, the season of the year or weather conditions, the quality of the school relationship in any one locality, the helpfulness of the attendant in supplying the needs of the patron, a supply of fresh reading material and a number of other less easily defined reasons.

In comparing the circulation of books during the months of January, February and March of 1951 with the same months in 1952 we find that a considerable gain has been made in three of the branch libraries and the school circulation as served by the bookmobile. The figures are as follows.

Tawas City	3,527	3,994
East Tawas	2,888	4,282
Whittemore	1,343	1,575
Bookmobile	11,290	14,782

The total gain in circulation in the county for this period was 3,590.

During the first three months of 1952, 90 juvenile and 360 adult books were processed and distributed making a present total collection of about 14,000 books. Of interest to club groups and school organizations as well as individuals will be the 16 volumes which feature humorous dialogues and monologues, farces and skits which may be produced with a minimum of stage scenery and rehearsal. Material or amateur magicians is also available.

Inquiries have been made by parents and children regarding the story hour. In East Tawas, the library is opened at 1:00 p. m. on Saturday. At this time the attendant, Mrs. Bowman, conducts a story hour for children of three and four years to eight years of age. In Tawas City, Miss Arlene Leslie has the same group at 1:30 p. m. on Saturday. Library hours in East Tawas are 1:30 to 5:30 p. m. every week day except Wednesday, and also on Tuesday evening from 7:00 to 9:00. In Tawas City the hours are 1:30 to 5:30 daily except Friday. On Wednesday noon the library is open to accommodate the children of the school busses.

Mrs. Newvine pointed out Mr. Wasson presented a movie while lunch was being prepared.

The Community Committee, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Newvine hope to have a similar meeting in the near future for all group Secretaries and discussion leaders.

Meadow Road Farm Bureau The Meadow Road Group of the Farm Bureau met at the home of James Blust Monday, April 14, 8:30 o'clock. Glenn Long gave a discussion on "A Constructive Farm Program for a Free America."

A District Women's Committee Farm Bureau will be held May 5 at 12:00 noon, Hale, Michigan.

In another spot you will find details about the Light Show featuring ways and means for improving quantity and quality of light—in your home, in farm building, and in your yard.

This event has been planned to share with you some of the very excellent lighting information about which extension agents and public utility staff personnel throughout Michigan learned at recent light workshops.

Packed into the hours between 10:00 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. on Wednesday, April 30, will be all that it is possible to bring you from that day and a half session. Do plan to arrive early so that you will have plenty of time to examine the exhibits and talk with us about them before the movies and other program numbers get under way.

There will be time planned for viewing exhibits in both the morning and afternoon, and program numbers will be divided between morning and afternoon also.

This will be our seventh annual National Home Demonstration Week. It gets under way on April 27 and ends May 3. Joining in observance of the week will be Iosco county's 119 members of six extension groups—Tawas City, Laidlawville, Reno, Whittemore, Hale, and Mclvor.

Home demonstration work is part of the Cooperative Extension Service, sponsored jointly by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Michigan State College, and the counties. In Michigan there are some 40,000 women who belong to home demonstration groups. The program reaches all 83 counties under the direction of 53 full-time agents and a state staff of specialists and supervisors.

Planned to improve living in both homes and communities, the home demonstration program covers all phases of homemaking. Special lessons are prepared by specialists in home management, clothing, parent education and child development, nutrition, and home furnishings.

Related subject matter in landscape gardening, pest control, national affairs, safety, citizenship and others is also selected by the groups for study.

Our county program is formed by local group members who select topics that fit their needs and wishes. Leaders of groups are trained and they in turn teach the lessons to other group members. Last year more than 1480 meetings were conducted for training Michigan local leaders.

Observances of National Home Demonstration Week will be many and varied throughout the country—exhibits, achievement day events, publicity, posters, teas, and radio programs. A number of these programs will be presented on national hook-ups, and others will be on Michigan stations.

Wayne county sponsored programs will appear on CKLW, April 29, 10:00 to 10:30 a. m. and on WXYZ, May 2, 10:00 to 11:00 a. m. There are the Myrtle Lab bit and Bud Lanker programs, respectively.

The Michigan State College station WKAR (870) will feature a program each day at 11:15 a. m.

This is one of a series of meetings for eastern Michigan's 11,000 restaurant operators, being set up by the Detroit District OPS, Sidney H. Woolner, deputy director of the Detroit office, has announced.

Such meetings will be held in key cities throughout the district. Woolner said, so that OPS price specialists may explain provisions of this new restaurant regulation (Calling Price Regulation 134) to operators of eating and drinking establishments.

The regulation, which became effective April 7, provides that restaurants and other eating establishments must post dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for their principal meals, food items and beverages. It freezes prices at the level charged during the week of February 3-9, 1952 with permissible adjustments by operators who have been charging prices lower than permitted under the old restaurant regulation (CPR 11).

Prices must be posted no later than April 25, in a place where they will be easily visible to customers. Posters are being mailed out by OPS to restaurants.

The posters have spaces for 40 principal food and non-alcoholic beverage items customarily served by eating places. If an eating establishment also serves alcoholic beverages, a poster with spaces for listing ceiling prices for 20 items must be displayed.

The new regulation applies to restaurants, European-plan hotels (including room service), taverns, cafes, cafeterias, soda fountains, catering establishments, field kitchens, lunch wagons, and delicatessens.

Under the old restaurant regulation, ceiling prices were figured by a formula involving the restaurant's percentage of food costs per dollars of sales. Under CPR 134, posted ceilings replace this formula pricing method.

The new regulation requires that quality and quantity of food and beverages must be maintained, with any decrease in quality or quantity to be considered a violation of the regulation as a direct overcharge.

In order that OPS may determine compliance, the restaurant operator is required to keep records of food costs and sales. Operators were also required to file their ceiling prices with the Detroit District OPS office, by April 22.

Gives Advice on Combatting Off-Flavor Milk

Off-flavors in milk are a year around problem but may often become worse in the spring, according to Don Murray, Michigan State College extension dairyman.

Flavor is important in selling dairy products and it should be fresh and clean, Murray points out. A simple precaution will help to insure a high quality product.

Feed flavor is present when milk is produced. It is usually stronger in the night milk than in the morning milk. Such flavors are caused by feeding hay or silage, or grazing in pasture just before milking. It can be corrected by feeding after milking and taking cows off pasture a couple of hours before milking. Some weed flavors may take longer.

Bacteria in high numbers can cause flavor changes such as in sour milk. Good sanitation, clean cows and equipment will help to prevent such flavors.

Absorbed flavors are caused by cows breathing air in poorly ventilated barns. Proper ventilation and fresh air are the best remedies or this "cowy" or "barny" flavor.

Murray says that cows late in lactation often produce salty flavored or bitter milk. Mastitis may change chemical composition. Such animals should be eliminated from the regular milk supply.

Foreign material can cause flavors associated with medicine, fly spray and gasoline. Murray advocates avoiding exposure of any dairy utensils and milk to such products.

The housewife has a responsibility, too, the dairyman says. She should put milk in the refrigerator as soon as it is delivered in order to protect it from the light.

29 Contestants Take Part in Forensic Contest

Winners Take Part in Regionals at Mount Pleasant

The District Forensic Contest with Mrs. Florence E. Perry acting as chairman was held in Whittemore on Wednesday, April 9.

Twenty-nine contestants representing West Branch, Oscoda, Arenac Eastern-Twinning participated in the five divisions.

Clarence R. Murphy, speech teacher and drama coach at T. L. Handy High School in Bay City acted as critic judge.

Arenac Eastern and Oscoda are newcomers in the forensic field and deserve praise and commendation for the excellent training and fine quality of work done by the entrants. Especially outstanding was the interpretative reading given by Mary Carrow of Oscoda. She gave a scene from Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," with remarkable understanding and skill.

Placing first in oratorical declamation was Velda Killey of Whittemore, who gave "Not Just Born." Robert Mead of Oscoda, with "United We Stand," placed second, and Wilma Kovich, of Whittemore third. Others in this division were Elaine Gregg and Cora McDowell of Arenac Eastern with "Golden Windows," and "What is America?"

Gary Schroeder of Oscoda gave "Sink or Swim." Representing West Branch were Carolee Lucas with "Oh Say Can You See?" and Darlene Clemens with "Golden Windows."

In original oration, Joan Winter of West Branch placed first with "Tuberculosis Can be Cured," and Melba Shaffer of Whittemore ranked second with "The Uncertainty of Youth."

Mary Ann Whitechurch of West Branch with "The Result of Neglect," and James Fullerton of Arenac with "Our Nation's Weak Heart," also gave fine speeches.

West Branch had no competition in extempore speaking and James Huml won first place with the subject "Crime is Still Big Business." and Douglas Piar second with "A United Germany."

Beside Miss Carrow and her selection from Romeo and Juliet, Lois Coppler from Oscoda read a selection "Twenty Pieces of Silver," from Arenac, Bathsheba Anderson gave "The Moonlight Sonata" and Naomi Swartz, the reading "Dolly Madison." Sandra Carlton of Whittemore read "Chief Operator," and third place was given to Mildred Crawford for "Bury the Dead," second, Jackee Thompson for "Sixteen." Both of these contestants were from West Branch. First place went to Whittemore's Jeanette Bellville who read "The Night of the Storm."

Humorous reading is a new division this year and will doubtlessly grow in popularity Kathryn Larsen with "The Dance," and Sally McLaren with "Ma's Monday Morning" took first and second places for West Branch. Roger Hall, Whittemore's only contestant placed third with "The Cremation of Sam McGee," which was also read by Alfred Scully of Oscoda. Doris Lieber with "Quiet Please," and Larena White with "The Bear Story" ably represented Arenac.

The Junior class under the direction of their sponsor, Mrs. Ida Dorcey served a supper for the contestants, coaches and guests at six o'clock.

Many parents and friends of the contestants came from the neighboring towns to hear the program.

Much credit goes to the coaches for the time and effort spent with these young people: Miss Elyse Heinecke of West Branch, Mrs. Ruth McCormick of Arenac Eastern, Norman Vaughn of Oscoda and Mrs. Perry of Whittemore.

The first place winners will attend the regionals contest to be held in Mt. Pleasant on May 5.

THE . . . First Step . . .

In planning a home, the first two considerations, and of equal importance, are cost and location.

The cost should be that which you can easily afford, a figure which can only be decided upon after analyzing several factors. For the cost is not the price named in the contract, it is the amount which must be paid out each month to satisfy principal, interest, taxes, insurance and reasonable upkeep. Total up these monthly payments and then add to them your cost of living, a reserve for medical and dental care, plus a reserve for savings and emergencies. If this total does not exceed your present and anticipated income for the period set to pay for your home, you have arrived at the right cost of your home. If you go beyond that cost, you will be letting yourself in for considerable future worry, inconvenience, and perhaps financial loss.

Location is not only important for several reasons pertinent to itself, but a carelessly selected location may add to the annual home cost. Neighborhood obsolescence results in a rapid decline in property values with resultant financial loss. The site must be within reach of schools, churches, recreational and shopping centers; be adjacent to good transportation and have available sewer, water, electricity and telephone. And most important of all, it must be in a neighborhood, the character of which is not on the downgrade.

We will welcome the opportunity to plan your home with you, and will promptly give free estimates on your plans and specifications for a new home, store or industrial plant.

Waldo Curry's Peggy, a registered four year old Holstein topped the four year old class with exactly a ton of milk of four percent test for a total of 80 pounds of fat. Lassie and May also produced a ton of milk each. Arthur Povish's Judy, a registered four year old Holstein in her fifth month produced 1710 pounds of milk and 59.9 pounds of fat. In her first five months of lactation she now has a total of 11,000 pounds of milk and 386 pounds of fat.

CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

McGranery Is Honest

JAMES Patrick McGranery, new attorney general of the United States, has several interesting attributes. He is as honest as the day is long; he is married to one of the most beautiful and brilliant lady attorneys who ever practiced law, and he is so loyal to Harry Truman that every political whim the President has will be anticipated in advance.

Jim also knows where most of the bodies are buried in the Justice department. And having this knowledge, he could probably dig them up—if he wants to. But the chances are he won't.

For the new attorney general also knows that the Justice department has become the most important political arm of the Democratic party. There was a time when the post office was the great political boodle-bag of the political party in power. But no more. Today, postmasters are largely under civil service and the postmaster general himself is a career man.

But the Justice department, which has the power to put men in jail or save them from jail; which has the power to grant pardons, prosecute for tax frauds, compromise taxes, collect claims against corporations, settle war contracts, bring antitrust suits against the motion picture industry, the investment bankers, the newspapers and any other industry has become by all odds the most potent civil arm of government.

White House Friend

That's why the man who runs it must be one of the trusted friends of the White House. That's also why it took courage on Truman's part to fire Howard McGrath; for Howard likewise knows where the bodies are buried—and might remember some of them.

Finally that's why Jim McGranery, an old and intimate friend of the President's, was picked for this all-important job.

The new attorney general is not only a friend of the President's, but almost equally important, he is the friend of kingmaker Matt Connelly, the White House secretary, who has become one of the busiest busy-bodies in Washington.

Originally Connelly picked his old friend McGranery to become chairman of the Democratic National Committee, replacing Bill Boyle. Then he discovered that ex-Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania and Democratic committeeman David Lawrence, the mayor of Pittsburgh, were down on McGranery, so Connelly boosted Frank McKinney into the party chairmanship instead.

McGranery also is a first-hand eyewitness of the grab which the politicians made for the Justice department one month after Harry Truman came into office. At that time Jim was assistant to the attorney general, the No. 2 spot in the Justice department and was doing an A-1 job.

His chief, another Philadelphian, was Francis Biddle, a straight-laced Pennsylvania blue blood who gave the Justice department an honest and forthright administration. Puritan Biddle and Irishman McGranery were an effective, efficient team.

McGranery on the Spot
Shortly after Vice President Truman became President of the United States, however, the politicians round him cast hungry eyes on the Justice department. They decided Biddle would have to go.

But Biddle embarrassed Truman by going down to the White House, telling him he quite understood that a new President would want to have his own attorney general, reminded him that he had already submitted his resignation, and pointedly asked who his successor was going to be. His successor, Truman said, would be Tom Clark.

At this Biddle almost dropped dead. He had been on the verge of firing Tom Clark as chief of his criminal division. "Don't take my word for it," he told the President, "call in your friend Jim McGranery and ask him what he thinks of Clark."

MERCURY BEATS ALL COMERS IN MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

GRUELING 1,415-MILE TEST

What a test to prove Mercury's superiority! This year's Mobilgas Economy Run covers a 1,415-mile course from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, Idaho. This longest and toughest test extends from below sea level in sweltering Death Valley to 8,010 feet in Arizona mountains. Mercury outperformed all others and won both the grand Sweepstakes prize and first place Class C trophy.

3 WINS IN 3 YEARS!

1952's challenger wins Grand Sweepstakes Prize against all entries!

Mercury's done it again... captured the coveted grand prize in this "world series" for automobiles.

And this isn't the first time! Just look at the record: three out of three times winner in its price class; two out of three times Sweepstakes winner against all cars in every class!

The Mobilgas Economy Run is a punishing, 1,415-mile run open to all cars of every make. Unlike old-time stock-car classics, it tests on-the-road economy rather than speed.

Every car is a stock car, selected at random by the A.A.A. To assure an equal chance for all, regardless of size and weight, ton-miles-per-gallon performance* determines the winner.

The results are now in the record book. A 1952 Mercury Monterey Special Custom Sedan with optional overdrive swept the field with a 59.7188 ton-miles-per-gallon mark, averaging 25.4093 miles per gallon. And the engine that did it is Mercury's famous V-8.

That's something to think about when you buy a new car.

Right now, in our showroom, is a 1952 Mercury similar to the one that won this official, impartial test. Why not stop around and give it a try? No obligation, of course.

*Ton-miles-per-gallon equals the car weight (with passengers), multiplied by miles traveled, divided by gallons of gasoline used.

Idols Up-to-Date

Lesson for April 27, 1952

SOME PEOPLE THINK Jesus somehow did away with the Ten Commandments. Nothing of the sort. He showed them in new lights, showed them in a depth and height few if any had suspected; but he had no intention of abolishing them. One thing he seldom did—merely repeat the Commandments. That was hardly necessary, as most of his hearers knew them by heart. We fail not so much because we don't know what they mean.

Dr. Foreman

To the First Commandment, Thou shalt have no other gods before me, Jesus gave a startling new meaning. Readers of the Gospels will observe (and not only in this week's Scripture by any means) that Jesus demanded supreme loyalty, absolutely without exception. Christians take this seriously, when they are serious Christians, and we accept the tremendous claim sounding through such words as "if any man hate not . . . he cannot be my disciple."

In short, Christians understand that loyalty to God means loyalty to Christ. Taking orders from God means taking orders from Christ. We do not believe this to be idolatry because when we worship and honor Christ we do not pay this tribute to a mere man but to the One God who was one with his Son, and in him.

The "Almighty Dollar"
THE KIND of idols the ancient Israelites worshipped are no more. At least we see no more gilded calves, no more sacred pillars or brass snakes.

But modern man worships idols still, and even Christians are tempted to do so, just as much as any ancient Israelite. One of these perennial idols, of course, is money.

We measure success with a dollar yardstick; a man will do almost anything, not only not to be poor but even in order not to seem to be a little worse off than his neighbor. We should never forget Martin Luther's definition of a god: Whatever a man hangs his heart on and depends on, that is his god.

How many people hang their heart on property? It is not that money and what it will buy are evil things; the evil begins when we take a good thing and look at it as if it were the best thing.

The Crowd
ANOTHER POPULAR IDOL goes by various names. The most common name for this many-headed idol is "everybody." When we let "everybody" make our minds up for us; when we feel we just must do something, or have something, that "every one" else has or does; when we decide on what's right and what's wrong by taking a poll, or counting noses, then we are putting people in the place of God.

You can't get "ought" out of "is." You can't find what is right to be done merely by looking at what is done.

It is very poor arithmetic that adds up a million wrong acts and concludes that if a million people act that way it must be right! Everybody may be right, everybody may be wrong; but in either case it is God who is Judge; not man, not a million men. "One with God is a majority."

The Last Idol
ABOUT THE LAST IDOL a man ever throws away is one that is hardest to see, because to see it you have to look at yourself. The idol to which each of us bows down—far too often; the idol that takes God's place over and over again; this is none other than a man's own self.

"I am the master of my fate," he says, "I am the captain of my soul." Most sins come about in this way, don't they? Essentially that is what sin means, saying to God, "Get out of my way, let me by. Stop giving me orders, let me run my own affairs as I see fit."

Not that a sinning man consciously says such a thing, but when a man steers by his own cloudy notions instead of God's eternal Light, he has the wrong pilot in the cockpit. Perhaps the most foolish of all things is to try to use God, in such a way that these idols may smile upon us!

We want God to bless us so that we can become rich; we want God to make us popular with the crowd; we demand that God help us in our own selfish plans. So even our prayers may be idolatrous.

With Chrysler POWER STEERING plus Chrysler POWER BRAKES

At the wheel of a new Chrysler, you have quicker, surer control of motion than you've ever had in a car. You can't imagine what it's like till you drive it! With this full-time power steering, hydraulic power does 4/5 the steering work at your gentle pull on the wheel! You also turn the wheel 1/3 less distance. And on rough roads, soft shoulders, snow or sand, "wheel fight" just doesn't happen. Your hand actually has five times the usual steering control, through every minute of every mile . . . with the same sure "wheel feel" at all times!

Most Streams and Lakes Open to Fishing this Week

The most liberal fishing season kickoff in years, April 26-27, likely will draw about 300-400,000 fans or as many as a third of the 1,200,000 some licensed anglers who will wet a line before 1952 ends.

The conservation department anticipates fewer trout fishermen, 40-500,000, but more general season and other anglers, 260,000 or more, as compared to last year. An estimated total of 250-300,000 trout and non-trout fishermen celebrated separate openings in April and June in 1951.

First joint opening of trout and general season and probability of high and roily streams will tend to lessen trout streams fishing pressure, increase army of open fish and pike fishermen on lakes. Many southern Michigan sportsmen will bypass both northern lake and stream angling to get a mess of bluegills close to home. Some persons will be joining the fishing force for the first time, as customary each year.

Many of the spring spawning runs up rivers and creeks from the Great Lakes may be at their peaks about the same time. Last season top smelt and perch runs were underway between April 19 and 29 in the lower peninsula and between April 25 and May 7 in the upper peninsula.

Every fish found in Michigan except black bass can be taken and about all inland lakes, streams, rivers and creeks and Great Lakes and connecting waters will be legal fishing territory by April 26. Only the black bass will have to cool his heels until June 21.

In the seven day longer trout season this year, there is one major creel change. Number of brook, brown and rainbow per day or in possession is cut from 15 to 10 when taken from streams, continues at five from lakes, but in no case may the creel contain more than 10 pounds and one trout. Regular seven-inch minimum size limit applies except for marked portions of the AuSable North and South branches and the Pine river where a 10-incher is the smallest keeper.

Marked are other small stretches of experimentally-designated trout water, where fishing is mostly by permit and special rules apply. Trout ponds subject to special rules are posted. These ponds and designated trout lakes are listed in the fisherman's fish law digest which he gets with his license.

Fishing license is needed by any person fishing inland waters, when he has passed his 17th birthday. As before, the resident angler will pay $1.50 for his regular license and those who fish for trout an extra dollar for the required trout stamp. The wife of the resident fisherman can fish for trout or other species on

4-H CLUB NOTES

Marvin Davenport, District 4-H Club Agent

The 4-H Club reporter says:

"There are a lot" says Mary Lou Bannister, ale Community Club Secretary. There were 33 members present to consider enrollment in summer 4-H Club projects. Eilert Barnes and Richard Parkinson have indicated their interest in leading the dairy project for that group.

Softball is in harmony with the weather we have been having. I hope it continues because the Dow Chemical team will be up Monday, April 28, at 1 p. m. to train our 4-Her's in some of the finer points of the game. The clinic will be held at the Arthur Aulerich (Minneapolis, Moline Implement Dealer) place of business on M-55. A ball park was constructed by Mr. Aulerich for use by our 4-H Club members and other groups. With good weather, a lively program will get underway at 1 p. m. We expect the groups to be finished by 4 p. m. Any of our readers are welcome to attend. The Dow Chemical team under the management of Jim Walsh will conduct the clinic and probably provide us with a demonstration on "how it should be done."

Might I suggest you jot Wednesday, April 20 down as a date to remember? The East Tawas Community Building will be the place of an Electrical School from 10-3 p. m. Do you want to know which bulb you should use? Have you often wondered how some houses burn to the ground with the cause of fire listed as unknown? Consumers Power Co. and the Cooperative Extension Service are conducting this school free of charge. Door prizes will be given away. Have you your garden plowed? Michigan State College garden specialists say certain vegetables should be in the ground as soon as the ground can be worked. To name a few would include Peas, Onion seed or sets, Early carrots, spinach, lettuce, chard, parsley, radishes and beets. Let us not forget to use 50% wettable chlordane powder to control those onion maggots. Write our office if you need any bulletins on controlling insects and disease in the garden.

I was very happy to have had a visit with Al Donovan of the Cedar Lake Ranch last week. He indicated their interest in helping some of our 4-H Club members get started with beef breeding projects.

Robert Dubrish, Standard Oil Co., representative was in the office and as a result of our conservation our Tractor Maintenance members all have a big surprise, coming. Curious? Our May 12 4-H Club leaders will supply the answer.

Tax Commission has equalized Isosco county at $24,000,000. The board feeling that the commission's figures were unjustified passed the following resolution:

Whereas, it has come to the attention of this Board that the state valuation on the property in Isosco County is considerably higher than justified:

And Whereas, approximately sixty per cent of the land area of said Isosco County is state and federal property;

And Whereas, the valuation recommended by the State Tax Commission on the three largest industries in said county, namely Consumer's Power Company, U. S. Gypsum Corp., and National Gypsum Corp., has been accepted and used by this Board of Supervisors;

And Whereas, at the present time the said county of Isosco is losing thousands of dollars in valuable property by erosion caused by the high water condition prevalent upon the Great Lakes;

And Whereas, the said county of Isosco is principally a recreational and tourist county;

Now Therefore, Be it hereby resolved that the State Tax Commission be asked to reduce the valuation of Isosco County to conform to the present conditions now existing in said county, and to further conform to a valuation based more equitably on the actual valuation of the property in said Isosco County, State of Michigan.

Fire Permit Needed

Any persons desiring to burn over land or start brush fires are warned that "permits to burn" are necessary. The law requires such a permit when the "ground is not covered by snow."

The strong winds, combined with the sunshine during recent weeks, has resulted in increasing fire danger and both conservation officers and Forest Service officials urge full cooperation in the matter of burning, with a view toward the growing hazards.

Permits may be obtained from: Bert MacGregor, Tawas City, phone 3; Hale and Seven-Mile Hill fire towers; Key men, Charles Bellville, Whittemore; Ernest Herzog, Hale Telephone Co., Hale; Herman Huber, Hale; Howard Hofacer and Conservation Officer, Jack LaFear, Oscoda; phone 27F2; Conservation Officer A. G. Leitz, East Tawas, phone 7033 F2; Ranger John E. Franson and Assistant Ranger Harold Peterson, East Tawas, phone 243, or from the U. S. Forest Service towers.

In East Tawas and Tawas City permits may be obtained from the Fire Chief or city marshal. All state and federal towers are now being manned. Stiff penalties may be imposed for failure to properly secure permits and observe the necessary regulations.

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

Fish "Elevators" Operating
Man-made obstructions to natural fish spawning activity in Michigan streams and rivers call for a helping hand for wall-eyes and rainbow trout at this time of year. At the Newaygo Dam on the Muskegon, the Homestead Dam on the Betsie and the Tippee Dam on the Manistee, the Conservation Department is supervising fish "elevator" projects. Close to 12,000 big spawners—mostly wall-eyed pike—will be trapped or netted and then released above the dams to complete their spawning runs. Some will return to the Great Lakes thru the water flow at the dams, while many more will remain up-river to challenge the skill of Michigan anglers this summer.

10,000 Wall-eyes Netted
Greatest activity along these lines is at the Newaygo Dam on the Muskegon River. A heavy run of wall-eyed pike has been in progress there for the past two weeks. Winch-operated dip nets are located along the river bank just below the dam. Major runs occur at night, and under close supervision of Conservation Department personnel, local citizens man the nets transferring the catch to live boxes. Next morning aerated tank trucks move the fish upstream above the dam, distributing them at various points along the river. All fish are weighed, sexed and counted, and the transfer continues until a total of 10,000 wall-eyed pike have been netted. The cost of the project is borne by the Consumers Power Company, owners of the Newaygo Dam. The big spawners range up to ten pounds in weight, and all 10,000 fish in the quota will probably be taken in less than a two week span.

Rainbow Lift Progressing
At the Tippee Dam near Wellston on the Manistee River, and the Homestead Dam on the Betsie just below Benzonia, traps are built into the power structures to catch the big steelhead or lake-run rainbow trout. Between eight and nine hundred will be lifted at Homestead within the next two weeks, while as many as 1200 may enter the Tippee Dam trap for distribution in the upper waters of the Manistee and Pine Rivers.

There is a striking difference in the appearance of the steelhead on the Betsie and on the Manistee. Fish taken at the Tippee Dam on the latter river bear the brilliant-hued rainbow stripe from gill to tail, while the Betsie 'bows are bright silver with only a hint of the vermilion stripe.

April 12th Opening Disappointing
Thousands of fishermen who greeted the April 12th steelhead season for the first time this year found high, roily waters and water temperature below 40 degrees. Most fish were taken from the Betsie River near the dam, where, for some unknown reason, the run of trout was well advanced. Elsewhere fishing was fair to poor, with only small concentrations of spawners in the rivers!
