Drowns While Dipping Smelt At Oscoda

Dragging River Fails to Locate Body of Emery Richards

While dipping for smelt off the crash boat landing at the mouth of the AuSable river last Friday night, Emery Richards of Union City, Indiana, accidentally fell into the rapid moving stream and was drowned.

Efforts by Coast Guard, State Police and the Isosco county sheriff's department to recover the body have been unavailing. The Coast Guard duck was used in dragging the river, but the stream is swollen and the current swift and it is thought that the body was carried out into Lake Huron.

Two companions Carl H. Kripp of Richmond, Indiana, and H. Keevey of Three Rivers, Michigan, said that he was swept away by the swift current before they could go to his rescue. The three men had come on the fishing trip to Oscoda from the west side of the state where they were employed clearing brush along Consumers Power Company lines.

Richards was unmarried and his sister at Union City was notified of the tragedy.

Fall at Court House Fatal to Oscoda Man

James MacGillivray Was Former Member of Detroit News Staff

James MacGillivray, 78, of Oscoda, prominent Isosco county citizen, died yesterday afternoon (Thursday) at the Alpena General Hospital. Mr. MacGillivray had been taken to the hospital Wednesday afternoon suffering from injuries received in a fall at the Isosco county courthouse.

Mr. MacGillivray came here Wednesday to transact some business at the Isosco County Abstract office and at the courthouse. While going down the basement stairway at the courthouse he fell from the second landing to the basement floor, his head hitting the concrete step at the foot of the stairway. Hearing the fall, Louis Braddock and other personnel of the Isosco County Social Service office and the Isosco County School Superintendent's office ran to the scene of the fall where they found him unconscious. He was taken by Jacques Ambulance Service to the Dr. H. R. Hess office and later to Alpena.

Mr. MacGillivray was a member of one of Isosco county's pioneer families. At one time on the editorial staff of the Detroit News, he was well known as an out-of-doors writer, and was an authority on conservation and Michigan wild life. For a number of years he served Oscoda township on the Board of Supervisors. He was keenly interested in and had taken an active part in the civic affairs of his community.

C. of C. Makes Annual Membership Report

Report of the Membership Committee for 1951-1952: "As Co-chairmen of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce Membership Committee for the year 1951-1952, with the splendid cooperation of the members of the Committee, we can report a total of 238 members," stated Sanford LeClair and Harold Pfeiffer in their annual report. "This is the largest number since the Tawas Chamber was organized five years ago, with a total of $4,945.00 raised. There were 59 new members, 26 voluntarily raised the amount of their dues.

"During the coming campaign personal contacts should be made. The Chamber must be talked up and sold in this area and it can only be done by calling on the individual member.

"Undoubtedly there are many who have been members since the formation of the Chamber and who immediately send in their dues upon receipt of their statement but will his condition continue? It might be wise, therefore, to call on everyone this year. We realize that this takes considerable time and effort but if it makes for a better relationship and more cooperation, the time is well expended."

County Clerk Comments on New Law

"My feeling is that the townships and cities were handling it very efficiently, and that the change will place a burden on the county clerk's office," was County Clerk Prescott's comment on the new law governing registration of births and deaths which went into effect yesterday (Thursday).

Previously births and deaths had been reported to the county clerk by city and township clerks. Now in unincorporated subdivisions of the county, physicians and funeral directors will report directly to the county clerk. In Isosco county this new law will not affect reports from Tawas City, East Tawas and Whittemore. In the townships the reports will be made to the county clerk, not to the township clerks.

It's the Pickeroon—
Log Salvage Train Had Flats, Eight-Man Crew, Steam Loader

George Dane, retired D. & M. conductor, has come with a $64 question—who remembers the "Pickeroon"?

For the enlightenment of the modern generation of railroaders and to revive old memories, he explains. "The Pickeroon was a train set out once a year to pick up logs which had fallen from cars in logging runs. This train consisted of a string of flats, perhaps 15 or 20, and a steam loader to pick up logs."

"This machine had a boom on it and was equipped with a chain with tongs attached," related Dane. "It required as a crew: an engineer, fireman, two tong men, one for each side of the train; a top loader, brakeman and conductor. When the car ahead of the loader had been partly loaded and the car behind it completed, it was necessary to run to a siding and switch the loader in order to place it in proper position for further loading."

The first steam loader engineer, Dane recalled, was Mr. McArthur, who was also a locomotive engineer. The first conductor on this work is believed to be John Kinville. The conductor had to be familiar with log markings since each company and mill had a mark of its own. When all the logs were picked up, they were taken to a sorting yard where they were unloaded, sorted, and then reloaded for shipment to owners—the Churchills, the Richardsons, etc., according to the various marks. The return logs were paid for according to scale.

Most of this work was done on branches around Onaway and Tower since most of the lumbering in those years was on the north end between Alpena and Cheboygan. The main line was combed too for these salvage logs.

Occasionally this Pickeroon train was sent down the line around Prescott. These branch tracks were very rough and loose logs would fall against supporting stakes, break, and drop to the ground. Sometimes a half carload would be lost in this manner.

"The last engineer to operate the power loader was Phil Brousseau," mused Dane, "and William Bonker was the last conductor to operate such a train."—by Dorothy K. Leitch in the Detroit and Mackinac, "The Turtle."

Candidate for U. S. House of Representatives

Elford A. Cederberg, two-term mayor of Bay City today announced he will seek election as a Republican candidate for the office of United States Representative from the Tenth Congressional District.

Cederberg pledged a vigorous campaign throughout the district to assure victory at the primary election and at the general presidential election next November.

Cederberg said, "If I am elected to this office I shall direct my efforts towards common sense economy in government and to the return to the states and local governments those functions and revenues that have been usurped by the Federal Government. I shall measure any decision in the field of foreign affairs solely by its direct value to the security and welfare of the United States."

The 34-year old mayor is now serving his fourth year in the chief elective position in Bay City. In private life, he is the manager of Nelson Manufacturing Co., a Bay City producer of house trailer accessories.

A native of Bay City, Cederberg was born there March 6, 1918. He attended grade and high schools there, and also Bay City Junior College.

The Otyokwa Group of Camp Fire Girls gave a 6:30 dinner for their parents at the Grace Lutheran Church Monday evening. The group leader is Mrs. Robert Dubrish. Other Camp Fire leaders were guests.

An active member of his community, he is an immediate past president of the Bay City Lions Service Club, and has held office as a director of the Bay City Junior Chamber of Commerce as well as membership in many other civic organizations. He is a member of the Bay County Board of Supervisors. He has also been active in Republican circles.

Cederberg makes his home at 714 Garfield Avenue with his wife and two small children.

In his first term as mayor Cederberg won distinction by his successful efforts to bring the city's budget into balance by an intelligent program of economy.

More than other mayors in the city's history, his four years of administration have been marked by successive appointments of representative citizen committees to study the major problems of Bay City and to act as advisory groups. His most recent such appointment, of a mayor's full employment committee, has resulted in complete coordination of local attempts to increase employment in the Bay City area through the securing of defense and other contracts.

High Water Havoc
High water is playing havoc with fish and wildlife throughout Michigan. The constantly rising, underground water table is causing lakes, rivers and streams to maintain extraordinarily high levels which may be expected to continue far into the summer, and the effect on fish, game and you, Mr. Sportsman, is far-reaching!

Fishing Holes Move
Your favorite trout pools may have moved a few hundred feet—or they may have disappeared altogether. Spring freshets don't have too much effect on the contour of river bottoms, but when flood stages continue for any length of time, as they're doing now in Michigan, there'll be some changes made! Silt, sand and gravel move like straws in a hurricane when high water hits. The old fishing holes you've known for years fill up. New channels are cut, especially near a bend in the stream. Bank erosion takes place destroying those hot-weather hiding places for trout. And, worst of all in trout streams, some of the larvae of flies, clinging to stones along the bottom and waiting to hatch later in the season may be washed away and destroyed. This obviously can have a profound effect on fish food.

Spawning Habits Changed
Persistent high water in lakes will bring about drastic changes in spawning areas for pike, bass, bluegills and many other species. Pike, in particular, will spawn in drainage ditches and swamp lands tributary to lakes—areas that might have been high and dry a year ago. This year's record-breaking smelt run made it possible to dip practically anywhere along the shores of the Great Lakes because the silvery little fellows found countless new spawning grounds in hundreds of brand new drainage outlets created by flood waters. One Saturday night recently it was said that on U.S. 23 between Omer and Tawas—a stretch of a good 20 miles—cars were parked in a continuous line on both sides of the highway, while their owners caught smelt along the entire Lake Huron shore. Almost 10,000 people dipped in the Tawas area alone on a single night! The take-home payoff for dippers will reach an all-time record this spring.

Feeding Grounds Move
Look for bass, wall-eyes and bluegills in different parts of the lake this year. While weed-beds remain at the same old stand, minnows will move closer to the new, flood-created shore for the protection of short, thick grassy beds. In the late evening and early morning hours this will be the happy hunting ground for their enemies. And there, Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Fisherman, you'll find the big ones that get away, but never too far to talk about forevermore!

Bookmobile Makes 9th Trip to Iosco Schools

The County Library Bookmobile began its ninth visit to schools this past week. The May schedule will be as follows:
May 1—Sherman School
Watt School
May 2—Alabaster.
May 5—Hale.
May 6 and 7—Oscoda.

All books in schools will be picked up the last week in May. East Tawas and Whittemore Branch libraries and headquarters office will be closed on May 8 to allow the librarians time to attend the Michigan Library Association District meeting at Ewart.

Three sets of Childcraft have been placed on the shelves for children, parents and teachers use. Childcraft is planned as a set to guide children from infancy to adolescence. It is arranged according to subject. Volumes 1-6 are anthology volumes of poems; fairy and folk tales; animal friends and adventures; life in many lands; and stories of great men and famous deeds. Volume 7 gives stories of the world around us, while Volume 8 discusses creative play and hobbies. There is also a volume on art and music and another on science and industry.

Three volumes are especially prepared for parent and teacher use. These volumes discuss the growing child; his learning ways; and the guidance for his development.

Parents are especially urged to use this set. They will find valuable materials in guiding their children and wonderful material for the bed time story hours. All volumes will circulate separately.

Calendar
April 27-May 3: National Home Demonstration Week.
May 8, Thursday: Care and Adjustment of Sewing Machines School, Hale Community Building.
May 9: Care and Adjustment of Sewing Machine School, Reno Townhall.

This is National Home Demonstration Week, a time when a special effort is made to recognize the accomplishment of some extension group, a member, or community service activity.

A while ago I heard that Mrs. Robert (Helen) Curtis, of Whittemore, has been making application of a good deal of the information presented this year on home lighting. A visit found her very pleased with results obtained.

In her dining room is a suspended central fixture with five sockets. It gets a good deal of use because her husband often works at the dining table evenings. Part of the problem created was a light glare in the eyes of others who were sitting in the adjoining living room.

After the first light lesson, Mrs. Curtis replaced the old style bulbs with new 50 watt GA 25's which have a yellow ceramic coat. These bulbs cut glare and are also attractively styled. She says they did the trick by relieving the discomfort to persons in the living room, and providing a better quality and quantity of light for her husband's work.

The Curtis believe in plenty of light for easy, comfortable seeing, and a lamp is provided for each chair. Shades for three lamps have been replaced with polylux ones which she made. These are translucent, attractive, and permit more light from the same lamp and bulb.

New type Delta white bulbs, have softened the quality of light provided by two table style lamps used on the buffet. And when one of the kitchen's fluorescent tubes needed replacement, Mrs. Curtis remembered the lesson suggestion for combining warm and cool tubes for more satisfying color rendition. Now her fixture has one of each, and she is most happy with the result.

Evidences of other lesson information applied appear in the Curtis home. The remodelled kitchen cupboards, for example. She planned and built them herself, a central hallway provides private access to the bathroom. I discovered too, that Mrs. Curtis can build stone walls, fireplaces, upholster furniture and is a collector of antiques—wood brass and copper, which she often uses in her paintings. My favorites were the nature scenes, however, and a fishing scene is the most recent one.

How very nice the Reno townhall is looking these days. The new kitchen with workspace and cupboards is a real treat for the women when serving time comes, adds to the appearance of the room, too. A kitchen shower to fill the cupboards is in the offing. And the Venetian blinds are all installed. The walls are clean and attractive in a soft green—a very pleasant place to go for community meetings. These accomplishments are a tribute to the efforts of Reno Extension group women.

Reno leaders provided the "homey" touch with bouquets of pussywillows and daffodils for the county leaders meeting, "Family Fun," on Friday, April 25 at Reno Hall.

The leaders really had a very good time with this lesson. Mrs. Lennah Backus, specialist in family relations from Michigan State College was the instructor. One of her assignments, to be done in about ten minutes, was to write a telegram using the letters in the words, "Family Fun" in that order, and to complete a poem beginning with the words, "In the Good Old Summertime." The results caused so much merriment when read aloud that we are going to share some of them with you.

Telegrams: "Folks and mice invariably like your food until noon."—Ida Miller. "Found a monkey in Lulu's yard. Fixed up now."—Mrs. Donald Huey. Poems:
In the good old Summertime
We used to have lots of fun on a dime.—Rachel Pagel.
In the good old summertime
When the grass is green
And the air sublime,
I love to sit at the end of the day
And smell the odor of new mown hay.
—Mrs. Ed. Robinson.

In the good old summertime,
As we work and sweat
How glad we are when it's dinnertime.—Sophie McDonald.
In the good old summertime
The frogs are a-hollering,
The cows are a-mooing,
The skeeters are a-biting
All in the good old summertime.
—Mrs. Donald Huey.
In the good old summertime
When the family car is seen
And it is coated with dust
You would not know it was green.—Mrs. Wm. N. Boies.
Mrs. Tracy Vary and her very clever charades which really "stumped" everyone. Fact is, charades can be a great deal of fun, but they have become a lost art among this generation. Attending the leader training

It is axiomatic that the house you build will be no better than the builder. If your finished house is to have an "A" rating, the builder must have an "A" rating in honesty, ability, experience, financial status and credit standing.

Not One of Michigan's Snakes Has Deadly Bite, Wayne Biologist Says

Anyone planning a vacation or a hunting trip in Michigan can omit that bottle of snake-bite remedy in packing his bags.

According to Dr. Charles W. Creaser, chairman of the Wayne University biology department, in Detroit, no one in the state has ever been known to die from the poison of the bite of a local snake. "Contrary to popular belief, many Michigan snakes thought to be venomous are completely harmless," states Dr. Creaser. "The only poisonous type in the state is the massasauga, or swamp rattler. Its bite may give a person a few bad hours but has not been known to cause death in Michigan."

Death-dealing rattlers are, of course, found in other parts of the United States, and fear of them is widespread.

"People not only mistake Michigan's non-deadly rattler for the deadly type, but they also mistake the common water snake for the water moccasin, and the fox snake, because of its copper color, for the copperhead. Wholesale slaughter of harmless specimens has resulted."

The bite of a harmless snake is easily distinguished from that of a poisonous specimen. Dr. Creaser points out. Non-poisonous snakes, such as abound in Michigan, have needle-sharp teeth that produce a whole group of tiny punctures. The wound of the harmful snake, on the other hand, consists of one or two distinct punctures in the flesh, made by one or both of the two fangs which carry the poison.

Snake-bite wounds in general appear more dangerous than they really are because of the profuse bleeding. Snake saliva encourages blood flow by preventing coagulation.

Along with popular misconceptions about possibilities of death from Michigan snakes, other mistaken ideas have sprung up. Dr. Creaser says Milk snakes do not milk cows. Whip snakes do not beat people to death, and rattlers do not need to be coiled to strike.

Queen of Holland

THE QUEEN of Holland told the President that historians would credit two men with doing more than any others to stop the march of communism—Dean Acheson and Harry S. Truman.

In a sense newspapermen are day-to-day historians—though not always accurate ones. They have to write fast, make snap judgments; but, from piecing together these snap judgments and judging them through the vista of time, history books are written.

Seven years ago, this columnist was in Pittsburgh on a speaking engagement when called upon to make a snap judgment regarding current history. Franklin D. Roosevelt had died, and I had to go on the air immediately without a prepared script to predict the future of the new President of the United States.

I predicted that he would be another Andrew Johnson; that, like the turbulent days which followed Lincoln, his administration would be featured by strife and dissension; he would almost be impeached, but that his basic policies would be right.

Seven years after Mr. Truman took office, I believe both my prediction and the Queen of Holland will be proved right.

Courage and Corruption

The paradox of Mr. Truman's administration is that he has shown great courage and wisdom on his major policies, but has sabotaged his own greatness by terrible public relations, personal spleen, and the appointment of mediocre—sometimes corrupt—men to carry out his policies.

And by so doing, he has helped sidetrack the course charted by the late Franklin Roosevelt, just as Andrew Johnson unwittingly sidetracked the reconstruction program of Abraham Lincoln, thereby setting the south back two decades.

For what Harry Truman doesn't realize is that when he doesn't clean up corruption, he undercuts his greatest goal—international cooperation. Or when he writes a snide letter to Bernard Baruch or to the Washington Post music critic, he undermines his program on civil rights, labor and everything else.

For, as any President loses prestige and popularity, in direct proportion he also loses the ability to push his program through congress.

Herbert Hoover proved himself no statesman when he let unemployed veterans concentrate in Washington until they formed a bonus army of 20,000 and had to be driven out with cavalry and tanks. Franklin Roosevelt, later facing the same problem, never let the veterans concentrate in Washington. He sent them outside the city to Fort Hunt, Va., 100 a day, to be rehabilitated and returned to their homes. He met the problem before it became serious.

Likewise Harry Truman showed great statesmanship when he threw American weight behind Greece and Turkey in 1947 when those two key countries were about to topple into the arms of the Kremlin. He looked ahead.

Again Truman established a mighty milestone against communism when he had the courage to pioneer the Marshall Plan. Undoubtedly it saved western Europe from Moscow's grip.

The same was true of the North Atlantic Pact and a united west European army. This was what Queen Juliana had in mind when she told the President that he and Dean Acheson would go down in history as doing more than any other two men to stop the march of communism.

Mistaken Loyalty

By coupling the secretary of state with the President, the Queen put her finger, probably without realizing it, on the fundamental key to Harry Truman's successes and failures. As he has picked good men, so he has succeeded. As he has picked poor men, so he has failed.

Dean Acheson, despite the McCarthy critics and some personal idiosyncracies, will go down in history as a great secretary of state.

On the other hand, the greatest scandals of the Truman administration have involved income taxes. And at the head of the Treasury department controlling taxes, sits a nice but complacent mediocrity, John Snyder, who holds office only because he is an old Missouri friend of the President.

The president has supported his secretary of the treasury just as vigorously as he has supported his secretary of state. His loyalty to neither can never be questioned. But sometimes loyalty to the country and loyalty to great policies must be placed before loyalty to friends. And loyalty to an old friend at the head of the Treasury department has weakened Harry Truman's courageous major policies more than he himself will ever know.

4-H CLUB NOTES

Marvin Davenport, District 4-H Club Agent

The 4-H Club reporter says:

Our young men attending the softball clinic last week had no one else to thank but Mr. Helmbold of Hela, W. H. VanPetten of Whittemore, Mr. Giddings of Tawas City and Mr. Creaser of East Tawas. If the fellows remember all they were taught, our 4-H Club softball league should see a lot of strike outs, hits, base stealing and low scores (if all that is possible in one game).

A thank you to Art Aulerich for his cooperation in making the clinic possible. He and Bill Winters have been a big help in promoting the softball league in our county.

Now Girls! Don't go away mad. We will have a session for the girls if there are enough interested in it. I've heard from two quarters already—Hale and Whittemore. Are there any more?

I had a nice visit with Eilert Barnes who is acting as one of Junior leaders for the Hale dairy project along with Dick Parkinson. These young men will help the dairy members a great deal if the members will come to the meetings, listen and do as Eilert and Dick will suggest. If any of the dairy members are looking for calves let Dick Parkinson or Eilert Barnes know. I will gladly help to locate them.

The Friendship 4-H Club had their community meeting last week. Parents attending included: Mrs. Clayton Ulman, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Curry, Jr., and Fred Pfahl. (We all hope Mrs. Pfahl, the community leader, who lost her voice some time ago, finds it soon). Miss Scott the Home Demonstration Agent showed the members some things about Judy and Sandra Ulman's clothing projects while yours truly made some comments about Jim Curry's Tractor Maintenance book and the electrical exhibits (brought in by members whose names I did not have).

I think Les Pfahl, Jim Curry, Barbara Wisniewski had a good start as 4-H Club officers. With the members learning their ritual, and songs led by James Laidlaw, and games by Judy and Sandra Ulman, the next meeting should be one to attend. Les Pfahl, club president appointed a committee of fellows to plan the Mother's Day banquet.

This next week on Wednesday, May 7 the Farm Bureau and the Cooperative Extension Service will honor the Iosco 4-H Club leaders at a banquet in the Hale Community Building.

As our nearly 300 4-H Club members know without these voluntary leaders our program wouldn't exist. These leaders are parents and friends volunteering of their time and effort in directing our young people in activities that will make them useful, helpful and intelligent citizens. It is fitting that our Iosco County Farm Bureau and the Cooperative Extension Service honor these folks for their contribution to the young people of our county.

At the banquet leadership pins will be presented to the leaders and special awards to their 4-H Club members will be recognized and exhibited.

Our speaker for the banquet is one of the outstanding leaders, not only in Michigan, but in the United States.

The meeting was called to order by the president Leslie Pfahl. The ritual was said by vice president Jimmy Curry and followed by members.

There were seventeen members present and a few visitors. Roll call was answered with a riddle or joke. Believe us there was a few good ones.

Marvin Davenport gave a talk on summer projects. No one has enrolled in any summer projects, as yet. We hope to have some soon.

The softball clinic was discussed. And also a talk on a softball league for our Friendship Club.

A committee was selected to plan and serve at the Mother's Day banquet. They are: Francis Koppler, Richard Pfahl, Alvin Long, Jim Laidlaw, Leslie Pfahl, Jimmy Curry. All Boys! Good Luck!

Mr. Davenport presented each of the members with their certificates and pins. Mr. Davenport gave a talk about tractor maintenance.

Miss Scott gave a talk about the clothing project.

The same recreation committee will be held over until next time because we didn't have time for recreation. (Recreation, a lot of arguments).

Barbara Wisniewski made the motion the meeting be closed and Jimmy Curry seconded it.

A lunch was served (pot-luck) after the meeting—Barbara Wisniewski, Friendship Community Club Reporter.

Our first meeting was held on April 24, 1952 in the agriculture room in Hale High School. We elected officers and distributed bulletins and materials—Ronnie Ropert, 4-H Club reporter.

Greyhound Hold Fifth Annual Efficiency Drive

May 6—at 12:01 A. M. marks the start of Greyhound's fifth annual system-wide efficiency drive, according to an announcement by A. H. Polk, Director of Safety and Personnel of the Great Lakes Greyhound Lines.

All personnel of all Greyhound operating companies are being enlisted in this annual campaign in which special and additional attention is focused on courtesy, appearance, safety practices and other principles of operation and service which have enabled Greyhound to gain the top position in the field of highway transportation. In addition, the efficiency drive will be somewhat like a spring house cleaning campaign for all of Greyhound's facilities, including buses, stations, restaurants, commission agencies and garages.

"All of these factors necessary for passenger satisfaction are emphasized in our daily operations," Mr. Polk explained. "However, a concerted drive throughout the nationwide Greyhound organization for peak efficiency before the start of the heavy travel season of the summer has proved to have a lasting and beneficial effect.

"Originally, the efficiency campaigns were confined almost entirely to drivers. But other groups of employees voluntarily joined in the movement to step up daily courtesy, appearance, and safety practices in their departments and the results were excellent. Now everyone in Greyhound is cooperating."

At the present time, supervisors are contacting all personnel to explain the objectives of the efficiency drive. Starting on May 6, they will grade each employee and check the appearance and cleanliness of all Greyhound properties.

Greenbacks from GREEN FORESTS

PAYROLL
RECREATION

Mill payrolls, taxes paid by forest industries, wood harvests, useful forest products—all can be counted up in hard cash. It's harder to put a price tag on recreation—fishing, hunting, picnicking—and harder still to compute in dollars and cents the vital part forests play in soil and water conservation. Green forests make our community, our state and our country strong, prosperous and beautiful. Keep them that way by being careful with fire while you're in the woods.

Guard Aims at Full Camp Attendance

Participation of every Guardsman is the 1952 field training goal of the Michigan National Guard, it was announced today by Brigadier General George C. Moran, the Adjutant General.

To assist in achieving that goal General Moran today sent letters to the secretaries of Chambers of Commerce in all National Guard communities asking their assistance in promoting adequate military leave policies among local employers. Michigan's own 56th Infantry Division and several attached units will train at Camp Grayling. The 300th AAA Gun Battalion of Manistee and the Upper Peninsula will train at Big Bay on the shore of Lake Superior. All units, totaling more than 7,500 officers and men, will be in camp from August 16 to 30.

Unit commanders in all National Guard communities have been instructed to seek military leave for their men to help achieve full camp attendance. For the past five years attendance at field training has averaged more than 90 per cent of strength. Individual Guardsmen will be urged to contact their employers early to make arrangements for military leave.

For Good Luck? Find Old Coin Nailed to Ship Hull

In the days of wooden ships it was the custom to nail a coin to the keel of a boat before it was launched. Do any of our readers know why?

In the debris from the Fort Meigs, recently removed from Tawas Bay, Kenneth Grenke found a German two-pfennig piece dated 1874. The coin apparently had been nailed to the Fort Meigs in the days of square cut nails.

Chrysler V-8 Saratoga Sedan, gasoline economy winner in Class "F". Entered and driven in the 1952 Mobil Oil Gas Economy Run by Chrysler Dealer Mel Alsbury, Hollywood. It was one of three Chrysler FirePower V-8's to win in their respective classes.

180 HP CHRYSLER V-8 FIRST IN 3 CLASSES IN ECONOMY RUN!

Here is truly dramatic proof that Chrysler's great new FirePower 180 HP V-8 engine design sets an entirely new standard of efficiency among American passenger car engines!

In this annual economy test, rigidly supervised, and limited strictly to stock car entrants, cars competing are divided, by price and size, into 11 standard classes. The route, from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, covered 1,415 miles of every possible kind of driving. Average speed for all cars was just under 41 miles per hour.

And in 3 of the 11 classes, the Chrysler V-8 engine was best for gasoline mileage.

In Class "F", this magnificent new engine won first place for a Saratoga 6-passenger sedan (125 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4010 pounds). In Class "H", it won first honors for a Saratoga model 8-passenger sedan (139 1/2-inch wheelbase, 4510 pounds). And in the top price and size, Class "I", it was again first, in a Chrysler Crown Imperial Sedan (145 1/2-inch wheelbase, 5360 pounds).

To travel these substantial cars at this speed under these conditions gives additional proof, we believe, that here in the FirePower V-8 engine is the finest and most efficient engine ever put into an American passenger car!

WE INVITE YOU TO DRIVE THIS ENGINE, YOURSELF...

The same engine which has just scored these remarkable accomplishments is no farther from you than your own Chrysler Dealer. He will welcome the chance to let you take the wheel and feel for yourself what Chrysler has done... not only in engine performance, but in power steering, power brakes, new shock absorbers, passenger comfort... to deserve the title: "Finest Car America Has Yet Produced!"

CHRYSLER the finest car America has yet produced

ing to school at Blint Hill Farms Infantry Division at Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

Private Vernon R. Grove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Drumm of Route 1, Tawas City, recently completed eight weeks of basic training with the 8th Station, Warrenton, Va. He spent last weekend in Washington, D. C., seeing the White House and Blair House.

Private Grove has been assigned the Light Truck Drivers Course conducted at Fort Jackson by the 12th Engineer Battalion of the 8th Infantry Division's Specialist Training Regiment.

During primary training, he fired the standard infantry weapons, engaged in platoon and squad tactics, and underwent intensive physical training. Most of the men completing the eight weeks training will attend a service school which will qualify them as specialists in one of the Army's career fields.
