Robb Fox Store; Caught At Escanaba

Takes Rifle, Fishing Rod, Money From Tawas City Store

Orrie Davison, 23, of Utica, was brought back to Tawas City from Escanaba charged with breaking and entering the Fox Hardware early Sunday morning and the theft of a 30-30 Winchester rifle, a fishing rod and several dollars in change from the cash register. Davison is out on parole from Jackson on a former breaking and entering charge.

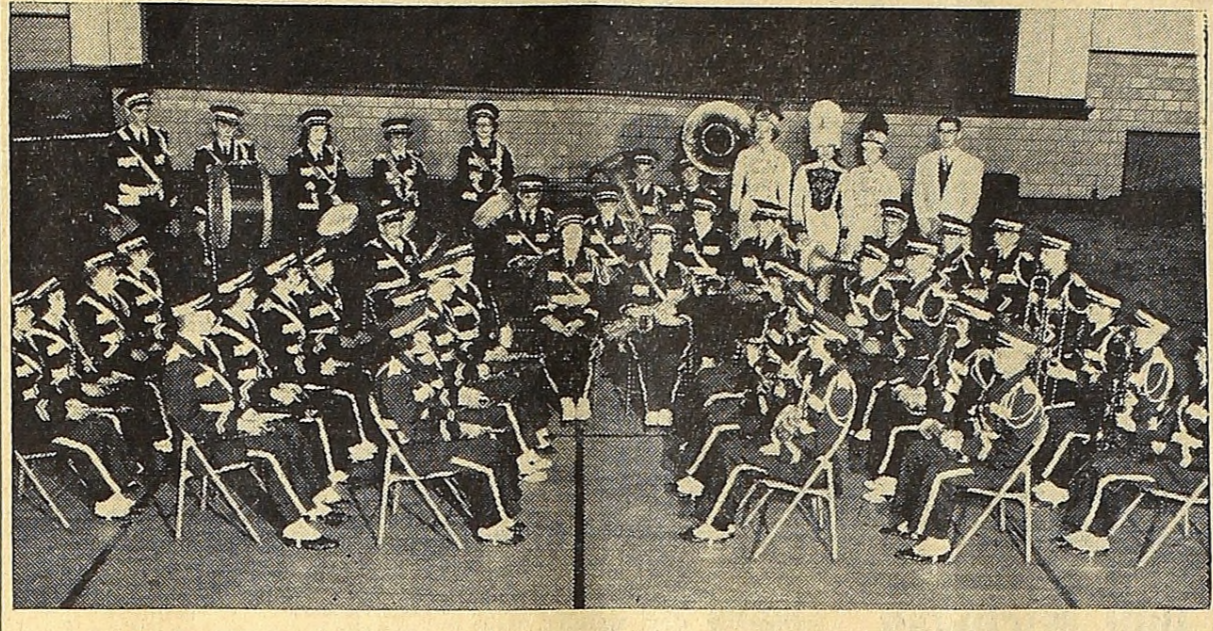

Following an investigation of the Fox premises Sunday morning, State Police broadcast the rifle number and other information secured. Davison driving from here to the Upper Peninsula stopped and had the gas tank of the car which he was driving filled at a service station in Escanaba. While the attention of the attendant was on another customer, Davison drove away without paying for the gas. Escanaba State Police established a road block and Davison was picked up. He was carrying a loaded rifle. He had deserted the car and was found hiding in a culvert tube stored in a lumber yard.

On examination of the rifle number it was found to correspond with the one broadcast from the State Police station here.

State Trooper Walter Wiedbrauk and Police Chief George Ruth brought Davison back to Tawas City Wednesday. The car which Davison was driving had been stolen at Utica, and he admitted that he had planned to rob a hardware store at Vassar, but saw police near the store so he drove away. Davison has a number of charges against him and said that he had violated parole so he was getting camping equipment to camp out in the wilderness in the Upper Peninsula.

He broke into the Fox Hardware in the daylight early Sunday morning. Entrance was gained through a side window opening toward the Whitfield Building.

Elks Win 2 Out Of 3 Games

Win from Oscoda; Split In Harrisville Games

The Tawas City Elks started off their 1952 spring baseball season in good form this week, winning two out of three games played. Last Friday afternoon they won a ten inning game from Oscoda, 3 to 2, and they split in a double-header with Harrisville Tuesday, losing the first game 6 to 2 and winning the second 5 to 3.

In the extra inning game with Oscoda last Friday the winning run was scored in the tenth inning when Davison, who batted for Hughes, singled to right field. Davis fanned and Anschuetz was safe on an error. Herriman walked, loading the bases and Gackstetter brought Davison home with a squeeze bunt.

Until that lone run in the tenth, the game had been tied since the third inning when Tawas pushed home two runs over to balance Oscoda's first and second inning runs.

Revord was the winning pitcher for Tawas, allowing six hits and struck out 18 batters. Mischoud started for Oscoda but was shelled in the third with Somers taking over the mound duties, holding the locals to four hits.

Humphrey and Jordan each had two hits to lead the locals while Revord and Davis each contributed triples; Deibler had three hits for Oscoda.

Tuesday afternoon in the first game of a double-header, Holmes of Harrisville tamed the locals after a two-run uprising in the first inning while his mates pushed six run over. Harrisville blasted Revord for seven hits while Tawas had four. Tawas City committed several costly errors during the game and most of them figured in the scoring.

Rescoe, Davis, Anschuetz and Jordan each had hits for Tawas with Rescoe getting a double to open the game.

In the second game Tawas City turned the tables on the locals after a two-run uprising in the first inning while his mates pushed six run over. Harrisville blasted Revord for seven hits while Tawas had four. Tawas City committed several costly errors during the game and most of them figured in the scoring.

Plan Cornerstone Laying Ceremony

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Tawas Hospital Association Tuesday evening at the Holland Hotel preliminary arrangements were made for a cornerstone laying ceremony. The date has not been set, but the event will be held during the later part of May or the first week in June.

Reports presented at the meeting indicated that construction work on the new hospital building was progressing according to schedule. One wing of the structure is nearly ready for the roof and a large amount of concrete floor has been laid. In a confusion of bricklayers, plumbers, steamfitters, workers laying concrete, and steel workers, a large handsome hospital building is arising.

The report revealed that $135,854.34 had been paid by the hospital association for materials delivered and the labor that has been expended.

To date the Arthur Vollmer Construction Company, general contractor, has received $57,728.70 on construction and material; Bay City Building and Heating, $38,975.92 for heating equipment and labor; Smith Maynard $9,526.19 for electrical work.

Dr. John LeClair, president of the board of directors, appointed Harold Gould and Judge H. Read Smith as a committee on arrangements for the cornerstone laying ceremony. Judge Herman Dehne has been invited to give the address.

Will be Candidate For Reelection For State Senator

Charles T. Prescott announced today he will be a candidate for re-election to the State Senate from the 28th District, comprising ten northeastern Michigan counties. Prescott, who operates a cattle ranch in Ogemaw county, will run on the Republican ticket.

In making public his plans, Prescott promised to continue his vigorous fight for lower taxes, which he said can be accomplished by economizing in government.

"Everyone is in favor of adequate public service and is willing to pay for it," he said. "But no one wants to be taxed and taxed to finance the operation of needless functions created merely to satisfy pressure groups."

He said he was only partially in favor of the broad recommendations made by the Commission for Reorganizing Government, sometimes known as the "Little Hoover Commission."

"Where this commission has suggested a consolidation of certain state agencies and the elimination of others for economy reasons, the program will have my complete support," he said. "But I am definitely opposed to any program which places more power in the hands of a few bureaucrats and entrenched them on the public payroll. I believe in leaving the major decisions of government in the hands of the voters."

Home Town Boy Gets Job

Last Thursday Vera Brown, columnist in the Detroit Times, had this to say about a Tawas City home town boy:

Home Town Boy: Ed Bodking, the sailor, advertising manager for McCord Radiator, was looking over a Tawas newspaper, came upon this item, one of those 40-years-ago today in Tawas.

It read: John Groff left Tawas today for Detroit where he expects to get a job.

Ed points out he made it all right—with Michigan Consolidate Gas Co. He's still there, is building superintendent, one of that organization's pillars and fixtures.

Press Rules

If Dwight D. Eisenhower is elected President, the time may come when American publishers and newsmen who now berate Truman will look back on the free-and-easy press relations of today with signs of nostalgic longing. For Ike's press relations are going to be a lot different from the present system, under which a newspaperman can throw any questions under the sun at Harry Truman and have him bat the ball back most of the time. They will also be a lot different from the present system whereby a White House press conference can be quoted verbatim except for putting quotation marks around the President's actual words.

Ike just isn't going to do it that way. His press relations are pleasant and cordial but are played according to his rules. And his rules so far do not permit questions. Current White House rules whereby you can ask Truman "have you written any more letters to music critics?" or "who is your candidate for president?" are out with Ike.

Furthermore it looks as if free and open press conferences, such as those conducted by Senator Taft and other candidates, would be out when Ike gets back to the U.S.A. between June 1 and the Chicago convention. There will be some press conferences but not many, and detailed questions will not be encouraged. In brief, the old Herbert Hoover system whereby questions had to be submitted in writing 24 hours in advance may be the order of the day under the next Republican President.

British and Bradley

Eisenhower's personal prestige and popularity are so great in Europe that the job of replacing him is much more difficult than is generally appreciated. If it weren't for a little-known event in a muddy Dutch village during the winter of 1944, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, would be the natural choice.

At that time General Bradley had suffered a setback in the Battle of the Bulge following which his First and Ninth armies were transferred to Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery and, with this added American support, Monty hit the German flank through Holland and stopped the Nazis. After the victory Monty's chief of staff phoned Allan Morehead, now press relations officer of the British war ministry, and said: "Monty wants to hold a press conference. What do you think of the idea?"

"I think it would be a great mistake Morehead replied. 'The Americans will be mortally hurt and no good can come of it. Go back and persuade him not to.'"

However, Montgomery held the conference just the same. British, Dutch and American journalists were called into the schoolhouse in a Dutch village where Monty, in a red beret and red blouse and with hand grenades strung over his shoulder, told how he had won the Battle of the Bulge.

Of course, the use of Bradley's First and Ninth armies was not mentioned during the interview and Bradley never forgave Monty for this, as was made quite clear in Bradley's recent masterful book in which he told how, prior to the Battle of the Bulge, Montgomery remained rooted alongside the English channel demanding more troops while American forces chased the Nazis up to the Rhine. That book caused a furor in England and fanned the flames of national jealousy to the point where Bradley couldn't possibly get British cooperation in the NATO army.

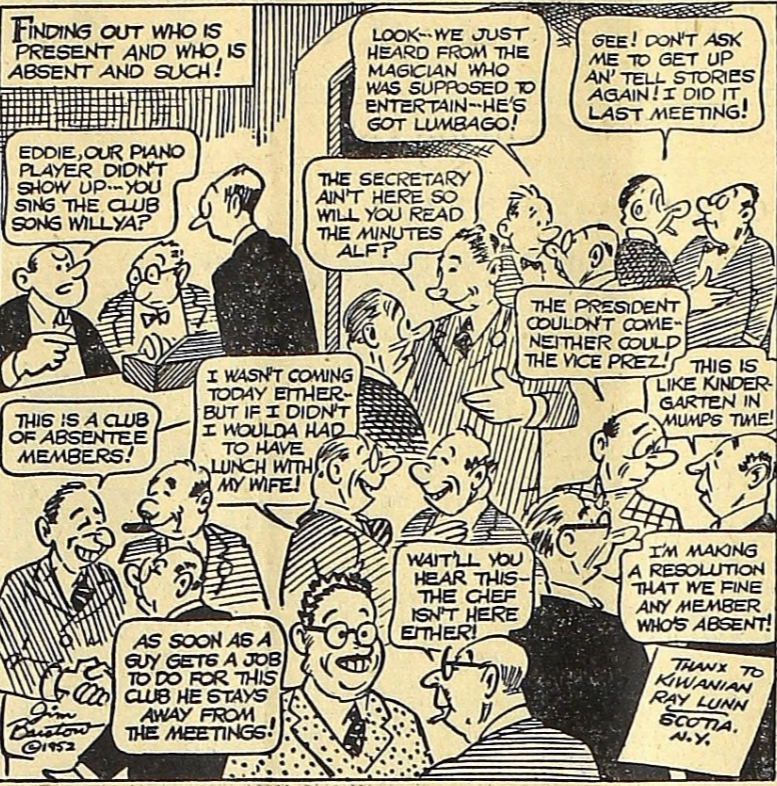

Kremlin's Propaganda

French Communists have adopted a policy of cutting the tires on any American car that looks too prosperous if they find it parked in an isolated street. The strategy behind this policy is not so much anti-American as to make Americans anti-French. American tourists visiting France this summer should bear this in mind. They should also bear in mind the fact that, if the Communists are able to stir up ill will between France and the United States, they will have taken an important step toward thwarting the formation of a unified European army — an army which Moscow fears more than any other single postwar development.

Incidentally, that's why Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, while making a great fetish of tracking down alleged Communists with one hand, plays right into the Communist lap with the other hand by curtailing U.S. Propaganda abroad.

In France alone the Kremlin spends $125,000,000 on propaganda annually, which is more than the United States spends on propaganda for the entire world—thanks to the parsimonious pruning of the senator from Nevada.

WEEKLY EATING CLUB By Jim Barstow

1,000 Michigan Youth Assemble for Boys' State

Arriving by bus, train and family car, 1,000 Michigan youth will assemble June 19 on the Michigan State College campus for the 15th annual Wolverine Boys' State sponsored by the American Legion.

Called the mythical 49th state in the mythical 49th state in the slated to run from June 19 to 27. Each boy will be assigned to one of two fictitious political parties for experience under both the convention and caucus systems.

City and county governments will be set up under a Constitution patterned after Michigan's. After election are held, all further business will operate on a non-optisan basis.

A "Boy-Governor" will fill various appointive posts with the approval of the "Senate." These posts correspond closely to those of Michigan.

While sponsored by the American Legion, other civic groups are invited to sponsor outstanding high school students through Legion posts at a cost of $35 for the nine-day session. Opening day activity will be highlighted by addresses from Michigan's Governor Williams, by MSC President John Hannah and Department Commander Thomas Roumell.

On Friday, June 20, the boys Union, the nine-day program will hold city elections, followed Saturday by county and state elections. Later in the day they will set up mock governmental organizations.

Dwight H. Rich, president and camp director for Boys' State, has arranged a program which will keep the boys busy from 7 a. m. until 10 p. m., when two buglers will sound taps.

Besides the law classes and practical government lessons throughout the day, MSC officials have arranged clinics in sports to round out the brief education period.

With registrations closing the day the lessons in practical government begins, latest figures released by the ruling body of the annual event, Boys' State, Inc., show that 722 boys have been sponsored by Legion posts throughout the state.

HOME EC NOTES by Dorothy Scott, Home Demonstration Agent

Light for everything—that was the theme for last Wednesday's Light Show at the Community Building in East Tawas.

Light for the yard, the garage or shop, the barn—yes, indeed. But light for the home received greatest emphasis, for there people are made comfortable or uncomfortable by the amount and kind of light at their disposal.

Discussions and demonstrations revealed simple ways to check up on both amount and quality for any purpose or any room, whether for preparing food, washing dishes, laundry, ironing, dining, entertaining, reading, study, sewing, shaving, putting on make-up, or for getting heat from that light to bathe the baby, dry off after your shower, relieve an ache, brood the chicks, pigs, and lambs, and to cook the breakfast egg.

Safety was also stressed—safe wire sizes for the purpose in mind, safe fuzing, safe handling of equipment, and incidentally your money's worth from the electric current used. Then there was that fascinating game called "Remote Control." Imagine turning on lights anywhere in the house, yard, or barns from the comfortable warmth of your snug bed.

Suggestions were made and shown for adding to the quantity and quality of light around your home without great expenditure of cash; such as, improving the bulbs used, keeping lamps dust free, replacing old shades, converting oil lamps, bottles, and jugs, making original lamp bases, and raising the height of lamp bases now too low (which permits use of larger shades).

Slides and movies helped summarize the points shown and discussed.

Exhibits of bulbs, and diffusing bowls; floor and table lamps, adequate wiring and remote control, color and light, brooder heating, valence lighting and lamp making equipment rounded out a full day's program which brought many favorable comments. Those in attendance say you really missed a worthwhile event if you were not there.

Spencer Electric and Bay Supply made exhibits of electrical wiring equipment and supplies which added much to the effectiveness of the show.

Some of the lamps and the furniture were provided by courtesy of Evans Furniture Company.

Home Economics Extension Groups, observing their National

Home Demonstration week, made exhibits of lamp conversions and lampshade making kits. Jack Burt, local 4-H Club member, demonstrated the use of non-tamperable fuses.

Many fine door prizes were made possible by local dealers.

It makes each drop of gas say uncle

Then it's fired. And when that happens, a drop of gasoline certainly lets loose power.

This isn't something that happens in a "car of the future."

It happens in a Buick Fireball 8 Engine today. It's a high-compression engine. It's a valve-in-head engine. But it's also a Fireball in performance as well as name.

And it puts extra power under the hood—and extra miles in the fuel back in the gas tank.

Now, power is great, but what goes with it?

Mister, that's something you ought to find out—and soon.

What goes with it is an automobile as sweet-handling, eager and willing as anything that ever made your pulse leap to a faster beat.

It's a car that seems to know what you want it to do—true and sure in its course on a straightaway—beautifully balanced on curves.

It's a car with Dynaflo Drive* to feed power with infinite smoothness—and a road-hugging levelness of ride that took a million in cold cash to perfect.

And it is, with all this, a very tidy bargain. Why not price it, drive it, know it for yourself? We'll be glad to arrange a demonstration.

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

with MORT NEFF

Early Opening Argued

Up and down Michigan trout streams on the opening weekend fishermen argued: Had the early opening on inland lakes taken some of the pressure off the trout streams? Or did you hold with the school that contended trout fishermen couldn't ever be wooed away from the thrill of that long-awaited opening week end?

From our own survey the opening day parade looked just about as long and populous as ever, but that's not the real test. The next month will probably show slackening interest in trout because anglers will be diverted to lakes closer to home—at least that's the belief of our Conservation Department's fish division. And thus the terrific drain on Michigan trout will be somewhat relieved.

Put-And-Take Planting

Just how severe this drain has become can be dramatically demonstrated by the heavy planting program required to keep trout fishermen happy today. In our so-called "put-and-take" system, about 250,000 legal-sized trout are planted just before the season opens. The fish are well scattered over hundreds of miles of streams. A surprisingly large percentage of them are caught on the opening week end. During the balance of the season another 750,000—all 7" or better—are planted, and they, too, are over-anxious to take flies or bait cast their way.

Costly Project

It costs real money to hatch a trout, raise him to legal length, transport him from the hatcheries and release him in a stream that may be many miles away. The figure is said to be about 40c per fish. On a million-fish basis the bill is a little alarming—$400,000.

Whatever fisheries experts think of the idea is neither here nor there. Sportsmen apparently demand it, too. So it's likely to continue for awhile. The day may come however, when the picture will change, and we'll go back to nature's way of maintaining fish populations.

New Rules Point Way

Sometime in the not too far distant future many of our best trout streams may be restricted to fly-fishing only. The new regulations for 1952 point the way. With fly-fishing-only allowed in certain streams, and the limit cut to an adequate ten per day our elaborate and costly trout-planting program may gradually become unnecessary. The money saved may be spent more wisely on stream improvement necessitated by erosion resulting from over-zealous lumber operations. That's where man can help nature. But when it comes to helping nature maintain trout population by raising and releasing a million fish a year, man fails to meet the challenge in more ways than one. If you don't believe it, compare the flavor of a hatchery-raised trout and one of Mother Nature's children of the stream! You'll be surprised!

Mort Neff's "Michigan Outdoors" television show may be seen every Thursday at 10:15 p.m. on stations WWJ-TV, Detroit and WJIM-TV, Lansing.

Wandering Planets Hold May Spotlight--Astronomer Says

With no special astronomical events due in May, the month provides a chance for a good look at two of those wanderers of the skies, the planets.

You probably won't feel any crowding in the planetary traffic lanes, but Mars will get as chummy with the earth as it ever does during May, according to Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

On May 8, Mars will be a mere 52 million miles away and the light from this bright planet will take only about four and one-half minutes to reach us, she reports.

Besides providing a brilliant spectacle in the southern sky throughout the night, Mars will give you a chance to actually note that it changes its position among the so-called fixed stars. The word "planet" is derived from a Greek word meaning wanderer, Professor Losh points out.

So look to the southeast right after sunset early in the month and you will note the bright reddish or orange Mars. It will be just west and above the brightest star in the constellation of Libra. Try to fix their relative positions and then watch how Mars changes its position rather rapidly to the west on succeeding nights.

"The stars maintain practically their same relative positions in the sky for years, whereas a planet changes its position among the stars from night to night," she indicates. "The same westward movement noticeable in Mars can be detected in Saturn during May. Saturn will be about ten degrees above and to the west of the bright star Spica early in the month as it appears in the southern sky. It too will shift westward on succeeding nights at a slower pace than Mars." Saturn is 810 million miles from earth.

This apparent westward movement of Mars and Saturn in relation to the fixed stars is the reverse of the normal movement which is eastward, Professor Losh reports. What is happening is this: we on the earth view the moving objects, the planets, from our own moving observing station. Now that Mars and Saturn are closest to the earth these two planets appear to be moving west as the earth's swifter movement in its orbit around the sun overtakes the slower moving planets.

Two quarter moons are on the May schedule. The first one appeared on the evening of May 1 and the second will come at 4:46 p. m. on May 31.

It is not often that we get two of them in a month, Professor Losh reports.

Sale of Bulbs Require License and Certification

Those citizens of the State who are growing and selling hardy plant bulbs will be vitally interested in an opinion recently received by the Michigan Department of Agriculture from Attorney General Frank J. Millard, according to C. A. Boyer, Chief, Bureau of Plant Industry. The opinion interprets the legal definition of nursery stock to include all hardy plant bulbs such as those of narcissus, hyacinth, daffodil, tulip, etc., thus all of the provisions of the so-called nursery law, Act 189, P. A. 1931 as amended will apply to the sale and distribution of all hardy plant bulbs.

To sell such bulbs in Michigan they must first be inspected and certified before being offered for sale or given away, and the grower must have a plant grower's license before selling the same. In fact, all persons and firms who buy and sell bulbs and are not licensed to sell perennial plants or nursery stock such as trees, shrubs, and woody vines must make applications for a plant dealer's license for each sales outlet at the cost of $2.00 annually. The fiscal year for nursery stock starts September 15 each year and growers of hardy plant bulbs should request inspection early and have license before the beginning of each fiscal year.

Those dealers or growers employing agents either as door to door salesmen or sales clerks must at the same time make application for agent's permits for those persons at the cost of $1.00 each.

Persons or firms in Michigan receiving hardy plant bulbs from foreign countries must notify Mr. Boyer of the arrival of such shipments so an inspection of the bulbs may be made while in the original shipping containers.

They selected Miss Dodder to receive the award, designed to stimulate scholarship, citizenship, and continued contact with good reading after graduation.

4-H CLUB NOTES

Marvin Davenport, District 4-H Club Agent

The 4-H Club reporter says:

Have you ever had trouble with your carrots, lettuce, parsnips, etc. germinating? It can be caused by depth of planting, and liveability of the seed just to mention two. Our 4-H gardeners last year mentioned in their reports how some garden seeds didn't grow at all. A good rule to remember is small seeds such as spinach and lettuce shouldn't be covered with more than 1/4 inch of soil. Medium sized seeds, such as those of carrots and parsnips, are covered to a depth of 1/2 inch. Large seeds such as those of peas, beans and corn should be covered with about an inch of soil. I know many gardeners already have carrots, onion sets, lettuce and peas in their gardens. It is well to take advantage of the good weather but again I suggest that the onions planted for dry onions (after they are 1 inch high) be treated with chlordane as a spray or dust. Be absolutely sure to follow the manufacturers directions in applying. Chlordane treated onion fields or patches should not be treated again with chlordane for five years. The same ground should not be planted to root crops during that same length of time.

For either bunch, pickling or dry onions 3/4 or 1% Rotenone dust treatment every five days for six or seven treatments should prove beneficial. However, after a heavy rain it would be well to repeat the rotenone treatment. Rotenone is not as effective as the chlordane but is safe from objectionable chlordane residues on bunch onions.

A glance at my notes indicates that 4-H Club camp is just around the corner. This year Gladwin, Iosco, Alcona and Osceola counties will be sending delegates. Our Iosco members will be counting up their points accumulated from attendance at meetings, for demonstrations, etc. to see who will be offered first choice in going to camp. Only 30 from Iosco county will likely receive the privilege.

Budget Committee Gives Annual Report

The budget committee of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce recently submitted the following report:

The Budget Committee members were Guy Cecil, Don Anderson, Mary Lynch and James Dillon. These members met and worked on a budget that was turned in at a meeting held on July 11, 1951. There existed then the same question as predominates budget discussions now. Should a budget determine how much money would have to be raised or should the amount raised determine the budget? No satisfactory budget control was used during the past year.

This was discussed at some length at a meeting on February 27th of this year and, at that time C. V. Miller outlined a budget program which he thought was essential if the Chamber is to operate within the funds available.

This committee recommends that a budget be adopted for the coming year and, if necessary, a special meeting be called of the Board of Directors to discuss budget problems. It further recommends that Mr. Miller be called upon to outline his program for budget control.

FAMILY FOOD NEWS—

Rhubarb and Asparagus are Back Again

Rhubarb and asparagus—those two first of Michigan's locally grown vegetables—are back to give your meals that refreshing tang and garden-fresh touch, says Mary Bodwell, food economist for the agricultural economics department, Michigan State College.

Spring-grown rhubarb is usually in season in Michigan in May and June. Green varieties of field grown rhubarb usually appear first and have a distinctly tart flavor. Later varieties run from all green to red streaked green to dark red when fully mature.

Choose fresh, firm stalks that are fairly thick. Crisp stalks will have the best flavor. Buy by the pound allowing 1/4 pound for each serving. Be sure to remove and discard leaves. The leaves contain so much oxalic acid they are actually poisonous.

Wash and store rhubarb in the refrigerator until you are ready to cook in enamel or stainless steel pans. Other utensils may flavor or discolor the fruit slightly and make it less tasty and desirable.

May is also the plentiful supply month for Michigan asparagus. Firm, fresh and bright stalks are best. Fresh asparagus has tightly closed tips. Spreading tips mean the vegetable is overmature or stale. Since asparagus is best when fresh, buy only the amount you can use right away. To keep the stalks fresh at home, wash or rinse the stalks and trim off the tough ends before putting them in the refrigerator. But them in a plastic bag or covered container for storing.

Cooking asparagus so that the stalks are tender and the tips hold their shape is not difficult, says Miss Bodwell. If you prefer to serve the whole stalks, tie the stalks in a bunch and stand

Candidate Puffer Denies Rumor

R. C. Puffer of Grayling, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Tenth District spiked a rumor that apparently has been circulated in the District. The first one that he is a front for the drays. The Candidate said; "I am not a front for any group nor have I been approached by any group seeking any special interest. However, I have always been a teetotaler and have been opposed to all forms of social evil. If elected I will vigorously uphold the law which includes the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages in many parts of the country. At the present time the issue lies mostly with the states and local communities. It is one of enforcement of present laws together with a program of education with reference to its nature and effects. I am making this race for Congress because I believe we have a condition of Moral decay which threatens the very life of our free institutions and if elected to Congress I will vigorously oppose all forms of Social Evil," the candidate concluded.

The Grayling Candidate has been actively campaigning in the field and has made several radio appearances as well as talks before groups within the district. His tour of the District will reach every city, town and hamlet before the August primaries. He reports that he is making good progress and is picking up support in every community where he has visited.

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 20:8-11; Mark 2:23-3:6; Luke 4:16ab; 13:10-17.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 84.
Whose Sunday?
Lesson for May 11, 1952

A newspaper column is entitled "My Day;" not such a conceited title as you might think at first glance. Whose day is this, anyway? Yours, of course. What? you ask in surprise. My day? I have to work from morning to night in the house or on the farm or in the schoolroom or in the office or on the road somewhere. My day, indeed! I'd like to get ten minutes of it for myself if I could.

Dr. Foreman

Now wait a minute. Suppose you do have only ten minutes' worth. What do you do with your own personal uninterrupted part of the day?

But that's not the whole story, not the whole question. The day is more yours than you think. For you can bring, and you do bring, to every day you live, a certain mood, an intention, a spirit. The same scene in sunlight and under heavy clouds is quite different. The same person in sickness and in health is not one but two people.

How Will You Feel on Monday?
THERE is one day of the week which, as Christians believe, is God's special gift to man. It is for everybody's benefit.

Let us suppose there is a town where everybody works, one way or another, for one man, spending most of their time making one man rich. Six days a week, that is; then comes Sunday and nobody works. This is everybody's day, not the boss's day.

Such a town would be a little hard to find; but even there everybody does have one day.

Jesus said, The Sabbath is made for man. Not for preachers, not for a favored few, not even for Jews and Christians only; but for man. The Jewish Sabbath of which Jesus spoke has its successor in the Christian Sunday. It is quite true that Christians appreciate the day more than atheists; but God made Sunday for man just as he sends rain and sunshine on one and all.

Our forefathers sometimes got hold of Sunday by the wrong handle, just as the Pharisees did in their time, with the Sabbath. They talked a good deal about not "breaking" the Sabbath as if it were a very fragile something to be kept under glass and never touched.

No, Jesus meant that the day is to be used; and the purpose of it is to keep man from being broken.

But that is still not all of it. This blessed day is not simply a day which we rise back, so to speak, to our normal level after the weariness of the week has dragged us down. It should be, and it can be when wisely used, a day on which we can grow, mentally, socially, spiritually.

Do you need a rule or guide on how best to spend your Sundays? Then ask yourself this question: How do I feel Monday mornings? I should be a better person Monday morning than I was on Saturday night. The best way to spend Sunday is to spend it in such a way that I shall begin next week a little better than I began last.

The Lord's Day
WHOSE day is it? Jesus said something else about it: The Son of Man (by this he always meant himself) is Lord of the Sabbath. So the Christian church has called it the Lord's Day ever since.

Now this particular Sunday in May happens to be "Mother's Day" in the United States, and every one can understand that there are good ways and poor ways to celebrate Mother's Day. You write your mother or visit her, or if she is gone from this earth you think about her, you spend the day doing the kind of things that she would enjoy doing with you.

So on the Lord's Day you celebrate in Christ's honor.

The Day of God
WE must also remember that this is God's Day, the "Sabbath of the Lord thy God." It is his because he gave it; his because it is dedicated to him.

It is for man, yet; but man is never fully man so long as he leaves God out. Man without God is a ship without water, a bird without air, an earth without the sun. Man needs God; and Sunday is the golden day for finding him.

This is the day when we have the most time for reading and hearing and thinking about God's Word; a day when we have greater freedom to do something in his service; a day when the loneliest soul may find the heavenly Friend.

Fire Burns Over 25-Acres Friday

Fire destroyed 25 acres in the Huron National forest at the south end of Island Lake Friday, before being brought under control by fire fighters, under the direction of Forest Ranger John E. Franson, of East Tawas.

"Five minutes more, and we would have been in serious trouble because of the extreme fire hazard present in the woods at this time," Franson stated.

Three tankers, two plows and a crew of 30 men stopped the advance of the fire, by starting back fires ahead of the blaze. A 12-mile per hour northeast wind added to the difficulty in keeping the fire from spreading.

Franson stated that fresh empty shells found in the area led to the belief that a cigarette carelessly thrown away was the reason of the fire.

The fire was the third reported in the Huron National forest this year, the first two being extinguished with little or no damage.

No burning permits will be issued in Isosco county until the spring fire danger is over, Franson said.

New Books

Books are no substitute for living, but they can add immeasurably to its richness. When life is absorbing, books can enhance our sense of its significance. When life is difficult, they can give us momentary release from trouble, or a new insight into our problems, or provide the rest and refreshment we need. Books have always been a source of information, comfort and pleasure for the people who know how to use them. This is just as true for children as for adults. It is particularly true for children.

In the last few years, writers, artists, and editors have joined forces to make juvenile books so varied in content and so beautiful to look at that adults as well as children enjoy reading them. In 1951 the output reached more than 1000 titles and editors notes predict that 1952 will be even greater. These books, like those for adults, range from the unreliable and the trashy to books of scrupulous accuracy and permanent significance. The treasures of each year's crop are found on the children's shelves in the Iosco County Library.

In choosing the books for the library shelf, the library staff keeps two facts constantly in mind: a book is a good book for children only when they enjoy it; a book is a poor book for children, even when adults rate it as a classic, if children are unable to read it or are bored by its content. In short, the librarian must know the virtues and limitations of hundreds of books in many fields, but she must also know the interests and needs of the children for whom they are intended.

Each spring and fall large numbers of new titles must be examined and selections made. The new children's titles now are beginning to arrive at headquarters. During the next few weeks, each staff member will be asked to scan many of the titles and help with the final selection.
