STATE POLICE PATROL CUT BY RIOT AT JACKSON

Michigan State Police and arrest activities slumped sharply in April due to the assignment of troopers to the Jackson prison riot during the last 10 days of the month.

According to the department's monthly activity summary, officers made 6,167 arrests, including 5,554 for traffic offenses. Compared with the previous month this was a decrease of 31 per cent. Total man hours on patrol dropped 25 per cent.

A total of 4,912 complaints were handled in all matters and 20,865 property inspections and 2,765 liquor inspections were made. During March, officers handled 5,270 complaints and made 28,523 property inspections and 3,938 liquor inspections.

When the prison riot broke out April 21, the department mobilized 250 officers from posts throughout the lower peninsula, which necessitated curtailing patrol and general police activities. For a brief period another 50 men were mobilized for possible trouble at Ionia reformatory.

About 150 officers remain on duty at the prison.

The East Lansing headquarters identification bureau received 6,283 sets of fingerprints during April. This brought the total number on file to 3,592,084 of which 1,828,756 sets are in the criminal section and 1,700,328 in the non-criminal.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 20:15; Luke 10:1-12; 19:1-10, 45-46.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Amos 8:6-15.

Persons and Property

Lesson for June 8, 1952

STEALING can be done in more ways than one. The essence of it is keeping some one from having what he should rightfully have, and what he would have if you did the right thing by him. This "some one" may be a railroad company, or it may be yourself.

Dr. Foreman

If you pass your little girl off for ten years old when you buy a ticket when she is really twelve, you are stealing from the railroad. If you waste good money while you are making good money, and never learn to save, so that you become a pauper in your old age, then you are stealing from an old man—yourself, in fact.

Money Should Be Good for Something Good

JESUS never bothered to tell people stealing is wrong. They know it. As Billy Sunday used to say so often: "When a man starts to tell you that stealing's no sin, don't argue with him. Search him!"

Jesus said a great deal about property, but most of what he said was positive, not negative; about the right use of property, not its abuse. One of his most difficult parables is the one in Luke 16 known as the parable of the "unjust steward."

On first reading it looks as if Jesus, or the rich man in the story, were praising a man for being dishonest. But we know Jesus would not do this. Dr. A. B. Bruce suggests that what Jesus was driving at was something like this: the employer of the "unjust steward" was not praising his dishonesty but his shrewdness in making the most of his opportunities.

We can all admire the smartness or a rascal even while we are condemning his rascality. We can wish that so much smartness were used for a better purpose.

"The children of this world are wiser... than the children of light," suggests that good people are not as smart as they ought to be. Jesus goes on to say, "Make friends by means of the mammon of unrighteousness." That is to say, although money in itself is neither good nor bad, and although money is often used for bad ends, it can be used for good purposes.

The real value of money is the good that can be done with it. Money lost by gambling (for instance) does no good; it is picked up by another gambler who will lose it in his turn. Money spent on an education, on the other hand, or sent to support a foreign missionary, is money invested in a brighter future.

The Pocket-Book Nerve

DR. J. G. PATTON says it's very doubtful whether a man is a true Christian unless he dedicates to God not only himself but what he has. It is easy to say to God, "Take my soul," because (as most people suppose) they have no special use for their souls right now; but it is much harder to say, "Take my money," because most people can think of plenty of uses for their money.

And yet it is never possible to give money to God, of course. He has no pockets, he has no bank account, he does not need to buy anything. When we speak of dedicating our possessions to God what we mean is devoting them to the cause and the service and the purposes of God.

The story of Zacchaeus is a case in point. This wealthy (and none too honest) businessman never did say right out, "I believe in Christ," or, "I want to go to heaven," or even, "I repent of my sins." So far as the story goes he was not even baptized.

Yet Jesus—and who should know better than he?—said, "Salvation is come to this house." Long before this Jesus had said, "By their fruits ye shall know them." And what Zacchaeus said he was going to do with his money was a very good sign of his conversion. When a man's pocket-book has been converted, the man usually goes with it!

Stealing in Church

THE STORY of Jesus and the money-changers brings out something else. Right there in the Temple stealing was going on, and respectable people had done nothing to stop it before Jesus came on the scene.

Stealing can still be done in church. When a congregation underpays the minister or the janitor, they are stealing; or if the minister and the janitor are lazy and no-account, they are stealing from the congregation. No one is free from the temptation.

New Books

The following new titles were added to the Isco County Library book collection during the past week.

"Gown of Glory," by Agnes Turnbull. The author of "Bishop's Mantle" has written another best seller. The theme of the new novel is the life in the home of the Presbyterian minister in a small Pennsylvania town. The time is the early 19-00's.

"Crooked Way," by Elizabeth Spencer.

This is a story of life in the Delta country of Mississippi. The central character, Amos Dudley, is a farm boy who had both religion and a mean streak. He was determined to marry Ary Morgan and he achieved his purpose. But success did not bring content, until he brought some of his poor relations to share his wealth.

"Jumping Jupiter" by Ernestine Gilbreth Cary.

A story of life and politics behind the scenes in a big department store. Mrs. Carey was co-author of "Cheaper by the Dozen."

"Son of Adam Wyngate," by Mary O'Hara.

Author of "My Friend Flicka" and "Thunderhead" has chosen to write an entirely different novel from her earlier books. In this story the son and central character is minister Bartholomew Wingate, a mystic, who is now faced with a decision of sacred or profane love and with his over-attractive wife, Louise, moved by urges she cannot control. There is his brother Ramsey, against whose sinister will to take and to dominate he has fought all his life, and Edith, his sister, whose own husband has been seared in Louise's flame. Not least are his five children who have their own tragic comedies. Among the minor individuals in this compelling human story is Father Gerity, a Catholic priest who understands Bartholomew's struggle.

Other new books this week are:

"Nice People Murder," by Mary H. Bradley. "Mrs. McGinty's Dead," by Agatha Christie; "Green Fingers and Other Poems" by Reginald Arkell; "Shoot to Kill," by Wade Miller; "Grand Right and Left" by Louise Kronenberger. "The Houses Between," by Howard Spring, "Autobiography of a Hunted Priest," by Graham Greene.

"Spring comes to Michigan" is attractively pictured in the magazine, Inside Michigan, for the month of June. Lakes, streams and woodland are shown with all their recreational appeal.

COUNTY AGENT NEWS

HAROLD R. CLARK
County Agricultural Agent

June is Dairy Month—a time when special tribute is paid to the great dairy industry which contributes so much to the economy and nutrition of America. This is the 16th year in which processors and dairy farmers have given special emphasis to the outstanding virtues of milk and its products. During this month they lay away a certain small amount for each pound of fat produced which goes towards advertising milk and milk products. And why not? It is now and always has been our most economical food. It is cheaper now, on the basis of wages, than before the war. The rise in costs of dairy products has been less than other foods. Its high nutritive value makes it an essential part of everyone's diet. It is indispensable for the growing child and has contributed to the life expectancy of the American people. It takes one million and a half persons to produce, process and distribute dairy products and one in every fifteen American families is dependent upon the dairy industry for a livelihood.

There is no threat of an economical substitute for milk in sight so it appears there is a good future for the dairyman.

It will soon be hay making time. In the average June there are not many days of ideal hay making weather. Yet in this month, the legumes and grasses contain their highest nutritive value. Cheaper milk and meat is produced from the early cut grasses. For these reasons farmers have been adopting new ways of storing these highly nutritive grasses.

Several Iosco county farmers now have field choppers and are going to make grass silage which requires very little or no time for drying. For good grass silage moisture is the important factor. The amount of moisture required depends upon the pressure or height of the silage. For trench or pit silos and depths not to exceed ten feet in the upright silo, no wilting is necessary. The crop should have 65 to 70 percent moisture for the bulk of the silo with some wetter material on top. Adding molasses or other preservative will benefit the keeping quality only when the silage is too wet. Tramping for a week or two after filling will reduce surface loss.

Those farmers who have a mow drier will run into less weather hazards than those who depend upon the sun to do the complete curing. For safe keeping, mow hay should be cured to 20% moisture.

This is the time of year when damage to sheep and poultry by dogs become prevalent. Dogs running at large have become quite a hazard to sheep breeders and poultry men.

We are reminded that the owner of the dog is responsible for all losses caused by their dog. These sad losses can be reduced when the owner knows where his dog is at all times. Dogs can be tied at night and any other time when no one is at home. We all like well behaved dogs but livestock losses by dogs is a serious problem and every dog owner should be in sympathy with this hazard and keep their dog under control at all times.

Picture of a Pair who just waked up

HERE in the driveway is a Buick. It has just arrived. It belongs to this proud young couple. They've just "arrived" too.

They've arrived at a discovery—the discovery that owning a Buick instead of a "low-priced car" isn't so much a matter of money.

It's a matter of knowing the facts of life. Buick prices are closer to the prices of smaller, less powerful, less distinguished cars than most people think.

Why don't you check into this?

You'll find you could pay $300 to $400 more—and still not match the horsepower of this nimble beauty.

You could pay hundreds of dollars more—and still not get any more interior room, or richer fabrics.

But that's only part of the story.

The big thing about any car is the way it goes.

So you ought to find out how this car rides the road—the freedom from bobble, the way that cost a million real dollars to develop.

You ought to sample the way Dynaflo Drive* feeds the power—with a steady swoop and unbroken smoothness in city traffic, on hills, or out on the open road.

And you ought to know how it feels to touch off that Fireball 8 Engine. With all its might, this high-compression valve-in-head gets a lot of miles from a gallon of gas.

We'll tell you this—because a lot of folks have told us this: No matter what car you're driving now—no matter what cars you've looked at—they'll never seem the same after you try this one.

Just give us a chance to prove it—and you'll have a lot of fun.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Memorial Plaque Dedicated at Whittemore

The dedication of the Soldiers plaque and Memorial services sponsored by the Whittemore Women's Club Memorial Day and held in front of the Community building at 10:30 a. m. The ceremonies were very impressive and witnessed by a large audience. The plaque was placed on the memorial which the club had erected last fall. The program opened with the High School band and fifteen veterans in uniform marching from the high school. After the National Anthem by the band, and Allegiance to the Flag, the invocation was given by Elder Arthur Stoutenburg of the Latter Day Saint Church. Mrs. Helen Curtis president of the Women's Club extended greetings and then introduced Henry Thompson, only veteran of the Spanish-American war left. He wore 53 years ago, while serving his country.

The dedication address was given by Rev. Henry DeRussell of the St. James Church.

A basket of flowers was placed at the foot of the Memorial by David Goupil, who lost his father in service.

Acceptance of flowers and short remarks in behalf of the Veterans was given by Don O'Farrell.

The band played two numbers and was followed by remarks and Benediction by Rev. Hill of the Baptist Church. The program ended with taps.

All those taking part are to be commended for their part in a very impressive ceremony. A ceremony followed at the cemetery with flags placed on all soldier's graves by the veterans.

Around Home Tips

A use for left-over parsley? Here is one to try out and prove to our own satisfaction. Parsley has a bright green color which means it is a strong deodorizing agent. So try parsley as a deodorizer in your refrigerator. Leave it exposed, of course, and it will act in the same way as commercial deodorants.

Free space in home freezers may well be allotted to a supply of broiler fryer chickens that are plentiful now in most markets. Cut-up chicken, because it can be packaged flat, takes up the least freezer space. A convenient arrangement is to pack together the meaty pieces—breasts and legs. Livers and gizzards are best wrapped separately from the rest of the chicken. A container of tender chicken livers is handy for a Sunday morning breakfast.

These young birds may also be frozen whole to be used for quick roasting.

But whether you freeze these tender birds whole or cut up, be sure to wrap them closely and seal the packages tightly, using moisture-vapor proof wrapping. Freeze fast at below-freezing temperature then hold at zero.

How many carrots does your family need in a year? Some homemakers tell us they keep raw carrots for snacks—the children like them if they are ready to eat. That may mean adding a few feet of carrot row to your garden. A 35 foot row will yield about three-fourth bushel of carrots, and you ought to plan for storing at least two-thirds of a bushel of them.

Other good green vegetables for your family garden this year include broccoli, lettuce, spinach, brussels sprouts, cabbage and peppers. Tomatoes, eggplants, and cauliflower grow easily here in Michigan, and are you remembering about the advantages of succession planting? That means planting at intervals of a few weeks some vegetables so that you may have fresh, tender ones week after week.

BREEDER CALF FIELD DAY IN JULY

Demonstrations on handling feeder calves and yearlings, pasture improvement, parasite control and selection of beef breeding stock will be featured at a beef cattle field day in northern Michigan in mid-July. Michigan State College animal husbandrymen are cooperating with Hereford cattle breeders of Michigan in arranging for the event on July 19 at the Prescott ranch near Prescott, in Isco county.

This Northern Michigan Hereford Field Day will be an all-day event according to W. L. Finley, extension specialist in animal husbandry at Michigan State College. Senator Charles Prescott has one of the largest farms in Michigan, 6,500 acres upon which he has more than 1,200 head of Hereford cattle.

An outstanding speaker is being contacted for the event which will be of special interest to beef cattle producers in Michigan.

BANGS TEST PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Dr. L. F. Thayer, Federal Veterinarian and Dr. R. L. Alkire, Veterinarian from the Lansing office were in the office Thursday and announced that Dr. Thayer would start Bangs testing in the county next month. They plan to use the new ring test method. So that farmers can have a better idea of this program and discuss individual problems, a meeting was held at the Grant Town Hall next Monday.

FORECASTS TOP STRAWBERRY YEAR

Now that those tempting boxes of fresh strawberries are back many homemakers may like to quickly review how the supply situation looks for this season, how long the season will last, and when to expect the most reasonable prices.

Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialist at Michigan State College says this is going to be a top strawberry year, both in supply and quality—and the price is expected to be reasonable.

Strawberry growers in Michigan have increased their acreage of strawberries, and with good weather a banner year is in prospect. Growers in Berrien county, usually Michigan's earliest strawberry harvesting area, report that most growers of Michigan berries will be picking by June 5.

Remember that whenever you buy strawberries you're getting much more than delightful flavor for your money.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

China Lobby

FOR months able Congressman Frank Karsten of Missouri has been sitting on various congressional proposals to investigate the China lobby. He has been authorized by his committee chairman, Congressman William Dawson of Chicago, to proceed with a probe of mis-expenditure of U.S. funds sent to China, and various material along this line has reached his hands. However, Karsten hasn't moved and some people are wondering why.

Here is a secret Chinese cable which may give the answer. It indicates that in any probe of the China lobby, other congressmen would be involved.

The cable, dated March 1, 1951, was sent to Chiang Kai-Shek from his military attaché in Washington, Gen. Pei Tsung-Kan, and involves Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota. It indicates first, how American politics have been mixed up in Chiang's affairs; second, how changeable Chiang has sometimes been about different American leaders. The Cable reads:

"Yesterday your humble subordinate called upon Congressman Judd to deliver your oral message. Judd requested me in turn to cable the following message to you:

"Last year Congressman Judd cabled General MacArthur persuading him to appoint General Wedemeyer to go to Formosa to assist us. However, General MacArthur, after his visit to Formosa, discovered that we were utterly disgusted with General Wedemeyer and intended not to accept him. Therefore, the proposal made by Judd ended without action. Now, Judd is trying to convince us to forward a secret message to General MacArthur expressing our intention of welcoming General Wedemeyer."

Interesting Angles

One significant question raised by this cable was whether Congressman Judd was violating the Logan act by trying to get certain U.S. officials appointed to foreign posts when it was not within his province to do so.

Another revealing angle is the manner in which Republicans in congress apparently have been operating with General MacArthur for some time behind the back of the White House. March 1, 1951, when the cable was sent, was before MacArthur was fired and at a time when Truman had already warned him to refrain from meddling in state department policy in Formosa.

The White House had long suspected MacArthur of working secretly with ex-Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts to whom he sent the final letter resulting in his dismissal.

The Potato Puzzle

A lot of people, especially housewives, have been wondering why they can't buy potatoes today when a year ago the United States was burning them.

They recall mountains of spuds being shipped to Spain for practically nothing, whereas this year we are importing potatoes from Canada.

The answer is one which ought to please harassed Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan, for it proves he was right. Brannan took a terrific beating during the surplus potato years, but he always contended that the farmer was just as entitled to crop insurance as the aviation companies were to lush mail subsidies.

Today the potato shortage shows that crop insurance probably saved the housewife money in the long run. This insurance took the form of a price support, guaranteeing the potato farmer, as well as certain other farmers, 60 per cent of the parity price.

Due to the hullabaloo over surplus spuds, however, this price support was removed by congress on the 1951 potato crop. Result: many farmers switched to other crops. They were afraid of being caught with a surplus and a disastrously low price of spuds.

Potato Arithmetic

However, arithmetic shows that without the farmers' price support, the housewife and the taxpayer combined will pay more for their spuds this year than last.

Last year, the housewife paid a total of $610,000,000 for her total potato bill. This was $2.60 a bushel for 238,000,000 bushels (minus waste in shipment), the amount we consumed domestically out of the 1950 crop.

The above bill, plus $65,000,000 paid by the taxpayer to support the price, makes a total cost to the housewife and to the taxpayer of $675,000,000 for the 1950 potato crop.

This year, however, the housewife bought 228,000,000 bushels, paying an average of $3.54 or a total of $807,120,000.

HOME EC NOTES

by Dorothy Scott, Home Demonstration Agent

When the pressure of this world seems to crowd mothers—it is time to take a walk into the woods with the children to look for flowers, birds, and the healing joy of God's outdoors, and to hear the laughter of children.

"Why didn't I apply my apple picking methods to my housework long ago? You may hear yourself saying this after you learn the magic of making your hands work at the same time.

Washing woodwork, using both hands instead of one is both faster and easier once you catch on. Here is the trick in saving motions. The two hands should begin and complete the same work at the same time. Think of washing a door, for example. Move your arms in opposite directions—not in the same direction, and move them at the same time. Continuous curved motions are preferable to straight line motions. Why? Because straight line motions make for sudden sharp changes in direction. So, keep the two hands working together in curved motions. You can save from 15 to 25 percent of your cleaning time, save energy too.

Another question. Can you use both hands to remove dishes from the cupboard, or put them back? Tests show that you can reduce the time for these jobs by one-half if you teach both hands to work at the same time.

That unwanted dusting job, too, can be done with more quickly if you use both hands—two dusting cloths or a pair of dusting mitts.

Your nylon pretties are not shrinking violets, so do not be afraid to treat them with a firm hand, so advise the textile specialists.

Nylon is a strong fiber, it does not shrink, so have no fears about tossing nylon garments into the washing machine or automatic washer. It is the best way to keep white nylons white. One precaution, though, do not combine white nylon with colored items in the same washer load, for nylon fiber is very susceptible to dyes and will pick up dyes from other fabrics.

If you count the snacks you serve when friends drop in as a part of the day's food, you are playing with your calorie count. A simple, tasty snack is hot tomato juice as a cocktail served with rye wafers.

You will be disappointed if you depend upon storing your fresh products for freezing in the ordinary cartons which you buy cottage cheese or ice cream. They are not sufficiently vapor-moisture resistant.

Tired of ironing, not much time to iron? Then investigate the white slips of puckered fabrics. They are not quite so smooth as nylon or rayon slips, of course, but they are real labor savers for you who have limited time for laundering.

Susie packs her own small suitcase when she goes on a vacation trip. We heard about Susie from her mother who says their family does not dread travel with the children since they came upon this plan.

Susie packs her own things into her own suitcase. She puts in the things she most wants. The suitcase is small, so Susie carries it herself. The contents vary from time to time. What does Susie pack? When very young she packed her favorite rag doll, a book or two, and one of her puzzles. Later she packed the doll and the book, but she added clothes for the doll. And then many, many miles were ignored pleasantly while Susie dressed and undressed her doll.

This year Susie says she wants to include her paste-board push out dolls which means she can easily have several dolls with changes of clothing, for all, but all in one compact package.

Marvin Davenport, District 4-H Club Agent The 4-H Club reporter says: The vegetable gardens are in, the work begins! If you used tar paper disks you were reasonably safe from cutworms. In getting some radishes out of the garden last week, I found our friend the maggot with us again this year. Those maggots already in the radishes are there to stay, but you can keep further infestations to a minimum by applying a solution of 40 to 50% wettable chlordane powder. Be sure to read and follow the manufacturers directions. I talked with Charles Nash of East Tawas Saturday morning and he plans to meet with our young people interested in archery in our office in the Federal Building, Saturday at 9:30 a. m. Any of our young folks between the ages of 10 and 20 years (boys and girls) are welcome to attend. At this meeting plans will be laid for making archery equipment and conducting tours and a tournament this summer. After our county contest a team of Junior archers (10-14 years) will be sent to Gaylord to compete with 26 other county contestants. A district Jr. and Sr. Archery team will be named and sent to East Lansing in August to compete for State championships. Anyone between 10 and 20 years of age that is interested is asked to attend. Robert Janes of East Tawas indicated a few of his friends besides himself will be here for this archery club organization.

Friendship Community reporter, Barbara Wisniewski, gave this account of their club's last meeting. The meeting was held at the Grant Township Hall. Before the meeting a banquet was held in honor of our mothers. The boys served the girls and their mothers. They did a very good job of it, too. After and before the banquet Ruth Meyer and Arthur Abbott played on their guitars. It was a talent act. The oldest mother, the youngest mother and the mother with the most children present each received a corsage. They were: Mrs. Goodale (oldest) Mrs. DeWayne Hall (youngest) and Mrs. Laidlaw had three children present. There was a poem about Mother's Day and a short skit by the boys.

After the banquet, the meeting was called to order by President Leslie Pfahl. Our vice-president James Laidlaw led the group in the pledges to first, the American flag and then the 4-H flag.

Sandra Harris, secretary for the Hale Food Preparation club tells us that Ginger Wilson has joined their project club. She also says that Bonnie Bowers and Sally Ranger gave a demonstration. Sandra says that Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Webb will be teaching them ways to prepare breakfast. I might add that many of our 4-H Club secretaries might be with Sandra when she writes up her secretary's report. She does a perfect job.

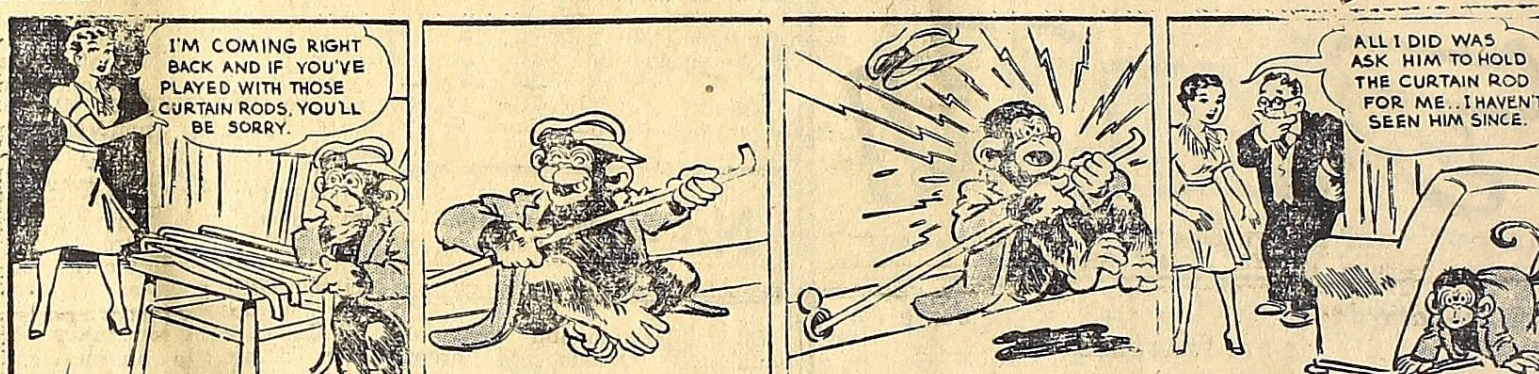

Coming Events: Sunday, June 8—Iris Show, Mio, 4-Her's are invited. Thursday, June 12—Practice judging and county eliminations. Members will be notified. Monday, June 16—County Eliminations, Selection of Talent Acts, demonstration teams and judging contestants for Gaylord camp. Friday, June 20—Grass Day at Jim Mielock's.
