

Courthouse to Be Up for Bids Last of July

June Session of Iosco Supervisors Ends Tuesday

A report made by the Special Courthouse Building Committee at the June session of the Board of Supervisors, which ended Tuesday, indicated the work of the committee and Architect Joseph Goddeyne had progressed on the building to where it would be ready for contractor's bids during the last of July.

With only routine business and the auditing of claims by the Claims and Accounts Committee only two days were required for the June meeting.

Elmer Werth, chairman of the Special Courthouse Building Committee, reported that the architect's plans would be ready for inspection by contractors the first part of July. Two weeks are then required for the advertising for bids.

The board authorized County Clerk George Prescott to attend the convention of the State Association of County Clerks, and County Treasurer Grace Miller to attend the state county Treasurer's meeting.

The payment for prisoner's meals at the county jail was raised from 55c to 75c.

Vernon L. Beal, Michigan historical records administrator, will be at the courthouse June 26 and 27 to supervise the destruction of some of the obsolete records and papers in the vault.

County Clerk Prescott reported Supervisors John King and Harold Black were appointed by Chairman Klenow to work with Beal and Prescott on this matter.

It was pointed out by Drain Commissioner Charles Kurtzrock that during past years residents had filled in ditches and culverts along county and state highways which provided relief for the spring run-off of water. The filling in of these ditches and culverts is contrary to statute. The board voted to notify the people by advertisement that such filling in is prohibited and subject to criminal action.

NEW ESTABLISHMENTS

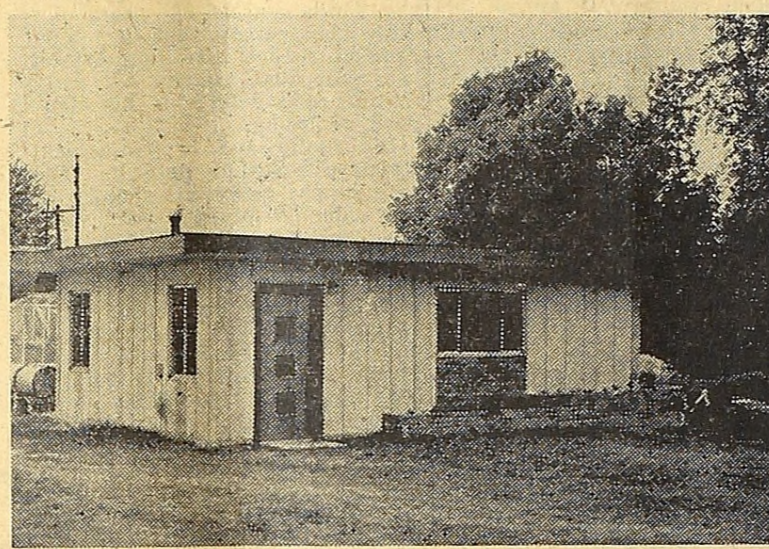

The "Tastee Freez" building on Lake Street was completed last week by Leo Burch for Roy Crabb of Mt. Morris. The building is located on property owned at one time by the late Mrs. L. B. Smith.

Mr. Crabb stated that the place will be opened for business within the next few days as soon as equipment can be installed.

The building at the right is the new Veterinary Hospital established by Dr. Ted Cavell.

It is located on Wheeler and is now in operation. This building is located on the site of the old sales barns of C. H. Prescott & Sons.

Both of these buildings are of modern concrete construction and excellently designed for their purposes.—Herald Photos.

OPS ALLOWS RAISE IN DEPT. STORE PRICES

Department stores now may boost prices on most of their goods starting next Monday. The increases allowed range from a penny or two on small items to a dollar or more on furniture, radio and television sets.

But the Office of Price Stabilization doesn't expect most price tags to be upped. It said many products now are selling below ceilings and the actual prices are determined by competition. OPS authorized the increases to offset a rise in freight and parcel post rates since May, 1951.

The Sin of Greed
Lesson for June 22, 1953

GREED is not modern. It is a modern thing about it is its forms. The Tenth Commandment is easy to dodge if you go by the bare words, like a shyster lawyer. Suppose your neighbor is a bachelor, lives in a rented apartment, has neither manservant nor maidservant, and no cattle of any description. Nothing you can covet! But wait a minute... It says here, "Thou shalt not covet — a thing that is thy neighbor's." That covers everything he has. You can covet his reputation, his job, his girl; you can covet his insurance, his money in the bank, his watermelons. "Any thing" covers a great deal of territory. And any sort of coveting is still sin. Greed in the fourteenth century A.D. are all the same thing at heart. And "at heart" is where greed begins.

Dr. Foreman

Something for Nothing
THE ESSENCE of greed, of covetousness, is wanting something that does not belong to you, without wanting to give anything in return. If I have eggs for sale and you buy a couple of dozen, you are not covetous for wanting the eggs and I am not greedy for wanting the money. It's fair exchange.

Of course, if I charge you too much for the eggs, then I am covetous, to be sure. Or if you want to sneak the eggs out of my henhouse before day, then you are covetous. But buying and selling are neither one sinful. If you have worked for a week and want your pay, that is not greed. If you have rented a house and the landlord wants his rent, he isn't greedy unless he is charging you too much.

The profit motive is not wrong if the man who takes the profit has given fair value in return. The profit motive is dead wrong if all the profiteer thinks about is the profit, without ever a thought of service.

The gambler, the tax "fixer," the sports "fixer", are trying to get something for nothing, and that is the very essence of the sin of greed.

Selling What Ought Not To Be for Sale
SOMETIMES greed reaches the point where the greedy man will sell what ought never to be sold. There are things in this life that are priceless, literally; they can never be tagged with a price-mark. But the covetous spirit will eat out a man's sense of values till he begins to put price-marks on priceless things. There are always buyers, alas!

After the American Civil War, some business men came to Robert E. Lee, who had lost everything he had but his reputation, and offered him what was then a tremendous sum if he would just let them use his name as an officer of their company.

"You won't have to do any work," they said. "All we want is the use of your name." "It's not for sale," said Robert E. Lee.

Another thing that should never be put on sale is the simple doing of duty. True, honest work should be fairly paid. But that is not the point at the moment. Take this Skipper Carlsen of the Flying Enterprise. When he came into port after that famous voyage in which he, stuck with his ship till the last hour before Davy Jones took it down, he was due a certain amount of salary. No doubt, and he had well earned it. If the company paid him a bonus besides, we should all be glad. But Captain Carlsen turned down offers, totaling around $100,000, from radio and television people, just for letting them use him as advertising. No sirs, said Carlsen in effect, what I have done, I did in the line of duty. I'm not selling myself.

So it is with convictions, or with love. They should be priceless, when they are sold, they become worthless. Greed destroys their value.

Out of the Heart
THE TENTH Commandment shows plainly what is true of both evil and good alike. Right and wrong do not consist simply in right and wrong actions. Back of the action is the attitude. Back of the act is the mind, the motive, the desire.

Stealing begins in coveting; adultery begins in lust; murder begins in anger or in contempt. The laws of man can never reach beneath the surface. Even when motives are involved, they are exceedingly hard to prove. But God sees the heart. And he will finally judge us by what he sees there.

New Books

The following new books were added to the County Library collection this week.

THE BOGMAN, by Walter Macken.

Mr. Macken is master of drama, suspense, and the art of telling a good story. In "The Bogman," he captures the aching drama of an Irish orphan who rebels against his dictatorial grandfather, nagging wife, and and vicious neighbors—winning his freedom at the cost of everything else.

HOW TO BUILD YOUR OWN HOUSE, by Hugh Laidman.

Building your own house is a profitable week-end job. Savings on houses of this book are about $4000. The author says if you can saw a board, hammer a nail, and want a house enough to work at it, you can qualify to build your own home. It needn't worry you if you are not already a skilled craftsman. The work procedure of home building is ideal for the amateur. The roughest work comes first, the more exacting later, and the tricky jobs are encountered only after you have gained the experience to cope with them. This clear and easy-to-follow book shows you how in step-by-step, nail by nail drawings.

SHIRTSLEEVE ECONOMICS, by William A. Paton.

Dr. William A. Paton of the University of Michigan believes that today's high taxes and recklessness inflation are a direct result of the average American's ignorance of the economic "facts of life." In this book he presents the fundamentals of economics with such clarity that any fair-minded reader can understand the issue that control his daily conduct and determine his standard of living.

Informally, and in nontechnical terms the author describes the elementary essential factors of the economic process, with special emphasis on those aspects about which there has been much confused thinking and deliberate misrepresentation. Improvement of the average economic welfare can only come about, Dr. Paton points out, by increasing the facilities of production—stock of tools and technical know-how per person. He presents a solid basis for attacking present-day trends in taxation, government interference with the price system and the "social security" program.

This book is a sound guide to understanding of the economic fabric of our country and also provides an understanding of free enterprise. Dr. Paton makes clear that any influence which limits our production is an ominous threat to our way of life.

Other new titles are: "Natives are Friendly," by J. Leeming. "The Reluctant Cinderella," by Jennifer Ames. "This Time Frever," by Elaine Lowell. "Hostage," by Archie Joselyn.

(This body style also available in Windsor DeLuxe with Spitfire Engine.)
White side-wall tires at extra cost.

ITS ENGINE ADDS MUSCLE TO EVERY DROP OF GAS!

To many owners, the mighty 180 H.P. V-8 engine that powers the Chrysler New Yorker is the most remarkable feature of this remarkable car. It is certainly the most discussed automobile engine in many, many years.

This is the engine with hemispherical combustion chambers... the engine that gets more power out of every drop of gas. And non-premium gas at that!

Actually, it puts you in control of more power than you'll probably ever need use. You'll sense this... together with its unequalled response... the very first yards you drive. It runs smoother, more quietly, and with less wear than any other engine ever built into an American automobile.

... and it makes driving (both cruising and the short runs) more fun than you have ever known it to be!

But that's not all. Along with this engine there are scores of other reasons, too, for driving a New Yorker before resolving on any new car. Like Full-time Power Steering that makes steering five times easier... and your control five times greater... in ordinary cars. Like Power Brakes that cut needed pedal pressure by as much as two-thirds.

Like Oriflow shock absorbers that make even bad roads feel "newly paved"... restful chair-high seats... big, wide-opening doors... big windows that let you see more.

It's true... until you drive a Chrysler New Yorker you won't know what you're missing. Why not stop in today?

OUTDOOR ENTERTAINING COSTS LITTLE

Supper parties around the outdoor grill or barbecue set are easy and economical but most of all they perk up summertime appetites because they make simple food festive.

Plan a menu that can be prepared in advance so that the hosts are free to enjoy the fun. Hamburgers can be cut into patties beforehand and placed between wax paper squares in the refrigerator until ready to use. Hearty potato salad, pickles, crisp potato chips, onions, relishes and chili sauce together with cold, refreshing beer complete the low-cost but satisfying fare. To save trips to the yard, stack it all on a big tray, ready to carry out in one load.

When the host broils the burgers, let everyone help himself to food and beverage. It's a smart way to entertain.

OPEN SEASON FOR CAMERAS

If you had a penny for every foot of film exposed to Michigan Outdoors this summer you'd have a corner on most of the copper in the country! However, if you got the penny for only every good picture taken you'd still have to worry about the high cost of potatoes along with the rest of us! Yet a very small amount of application on the part of the snapshotter or movie maker can turn a dull shot into something glamorous.

Color Versus Black and White
There are two very different techniques employed in outdoor photography—one for you color fans, and the other for ordinary black and white "shutter-bugs."

Color film is pretty expensive by comparison to ordinary black and white rolls, so you're inclined to take more pains in your picture making. And the finished product, whether it's an actual color print or a transparency, can be a thing of beauty—or a sorry waste of money! To get anywhere near the proper relation to actual colors of nature you must have almost perfect EXPOSURE! Don't depend on your eye to judge light values when you're setting your camera. The best photographers in the world—with thousands of hours of shooting experience—always use a meter. It may cost as much as $30—but it will always protect your investment in color film—and you'll bring home pictures you're proud to show.

With color MOST of your subject should be in bright sunlight, with shade used as contrast occasionally. NEVER stop down higher than F-11, and in heavy sunlight don't be afraid to open up to f.6.3 or 5.6, especially in early morning or late evening sunlight.

Exposure to the proper light means a lot with color—but it's not quite so important with black and white film. Your over or under-exposed black and white negative can be controlled in making the print, so your errors are more or less forgiven. But less talk about the most important factor of all:

Natural Photography
Natural photography is the art of filming people and places as they really are, and not as they pose! Whether you're taking movies or stills, catch your subjects while they're talking, making the camp fire, cleaning the big fish, or just walking ahead of you down a lovely trail. People's backs make good pictures, too, with the proper surroundings. Next time you get a fresh roll of film in the camera concentrate on this point of natural photography—and next week let's talk about a big word that's easy to handle through the viewfinder—composition. Master this in a couple of easy lessons and you'll bring home golden moments in Michigan Outdoors every time!

Mort Neff's "Michigan Outdoors" television show may be seen every Thursday at 10:15 p.m. on stations WWJ-TV, Detroit and WJIM-TV, Lansing.

Says Sanitation Answer to Fly Problem

Sanitation is the answer to DDT-resistant flies, advises LaRue Miller, Chief of the Section of the Environmental Sanitation, Michigan Department of Health.

"While repeated experience has proved that even the most potent insecticides such as DDT are effective only until flies develop resistance to them, it has also proved that flies do not develop any resistance to sanitation," he asserts.

To be successful, a fly-control program must rely heavily on elimination of fly-breeding and fly-feeding places and tight screening, with insecticides playing an important secondary role. It must be carried out cooperatively by the individual and the community.

The individual can do his part by making his own premises as fly-free as possible.

In residential areas, garbage is the most important feeding and breeding medium. Garbage cans should be made of metal, should be clean and kept tightly covered at all times. Rotting vegetable, fruit or animal matter, piles of decaying leaves and grass, manure piles—all good feeding and breeding places—should be removed.

Screens should be in good repair, and all buildings in which humans live or in which food or milk is prepared or stored should be screened tightly.

All fly resting places such as under the overhang of roofs, doorways, windows, the garbage can and surrounding area should be sprayed with DDT, chlordane or lindane solutions.

Because flies have a yen for travel and the ability to range freely over distances of four miles, the community must add its efforts to that of the individual to assure freedom from these pests.

The community program should extend into outlying areas where there are garbage or rubbish dumps which are natural breeding places. Usually they are few in number and can easily be included in a municipal clean-up program.

Community programs should include the cleaning up and spraying of the business areas which ordinarily are more heavily invaded by flies than residential areas. They should also provide complete garbage pick-up service (twice a week is needed to prevent fly breeding).

Flies are born, live and eat in the foulest refuse and are among the few living things which man has found serving no useful purpose. They are prodigious breeders, and if all the progeny lived, one pair could produce 191 septillion descendants between April and August. Besides being a nuisance to man, they are a hazard to his health, being capable of spreading 20 human diseases, including dysentery, typhoid fever and tuberculosis.

Despite all control measures, an occasional fly will get into the house. When this happens, swat it.

A call traced—a life saved

One Monday morning recently, Telephone Operator Frances Malkiewicz of Detroit saw a flashing green signal caused by partial dialing. She plugged in and asked the customer for the number being called. But all she heard were moans from the other end of the line.

Frances quickly rang for the Chief Operator, Margaret M. Halligan, veteran of 38 years of telephone service. Margaret asked the customer for her address, but, finding her unable to talk, had the call traced.

Within a short time, police arrived at the customer's house, found that Mrs. David C. Fearn had been stricken ill. A physician was called immediately.

Later, the doctor paid tribute to the alertness of Chief Operator Margaret Halligan and Operator Frances Malkiewicz in helping to save Mrs. Fearn's life.

Povish's Diana Tops Dairy Record for May

Diana, a registered Holstein owned by Arthur Povish topped the Iosco County Dairy Herd Improvement Association in May by producing 3220 pounds of milk and 103 pounds of butterfat. She averaged 104 pounds of milk daily. That's 12 gallons of milk. She fills a ten gallon can and has 19 pounds to start another can. Lassie, a registered Holstein, owned by the County Farm, was a close second with her 2280 pounds of milk and 96 pounds of fat.

Clarence Carpenter, Supervisor, reported five cows that produced over one ton of milk. They were Diana, Lassie, Mable, owned by Arthur Povish and Lottie and Jerry owned by the County Farm.

The County Farm led the association for herd averages with an average of 1314 pounds of milk and 50 pounds of fat per cow. Arthur Povish's herd was a close second with an average of 1306 pounds of milk containing 47 pounds of fat.

The 200 cows in the 14 herds in the association averaged 989 pounds of milk and 35.1 pounds of fat.

Ike's Talk-Technique

GENERAL EISENHOWER has developed a technique for warding off embarrassing questions not unlike that of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He outtalks the other fellow. Illustrative of Ike's method was his treatment of Harold Stassen during the latter's visit to Paris.

Stassen, who had been campaigning lustily though not too successfully for the Republican nomination, obviously wanted to talk politics with the man who looked like he might be the successful candidate and whose views he shared far more than those of Senator Taft.

He was invited to dine with the Eisenhowers, but several other people were at the dinner table, and after dinner Ike spent over an hour giving a blackboard talk on NATO. As the evening concluded, Stassen said he would like to drop in at Ike's office in the morning to say good-bye.

Graciously, Eisenhower said it wouldn't be necessary. He appreciated the courtesy, but it would be too much trouble for Stassen. Stassen insisted. He didn't mention the fact that he had had no chance to talk to Ike alone, but it was obvious he wanted that opportunity.

Finally a 15-minute conference was arranged for the next day. But during that 15 minutes, the general delivered another talk about the problems of Europe. It was a fascinating talk, but completely non-political.

The ex-governor of Minnesota left for home completely undeflected on political matters.

Truman Won't Change

In a private chat with Congressman Victor Anfuso of Brooklyn the other day, President Truman bluntly nailed rumors that, despite his I-won't-run announcement, he would nonetheless be drafted by the Democratic convention.

Anfuso, an attorney, left no loopholes in his question on the possibility of drafting Truman.

"Assuming, Mr. President," inquired the Brooklyn Democrat, "that the person nominated by the Republicans is so diametrically opposed to the administration's foreign and domestic policies that you think he would not serve the best interests of the country, and assuming further that the Democratic delegates in Chicago express a desire to nominate you as the best exponent of our foreign and domestic policies, would you agree to reconsider your decision not to run and accept a draft?"

"I would not," Truman replied forcefully and without a moment's hesitation.

Koje Island

Inside facts in the continuing prisoner crisis on Koje island are not too mysterious. First they boil down to the natural desire of U.S. military men to handle prisoners with as little manpower as possible.

This has always been American policy. The best U.S. troops are saved for the front.

As a result, South Koreans were largely used for policing Koje island. They operated under a relative handful of Americans, and, since it was impossible to escape from the island, nobody worried very much about what happened, including the fact that there was considerable fraternization between South Korean guards and South Korean prisoners.

The situation did not get serious on Koje island until the United Nations command began screening prisoners in an effort to establish which wanted to return to the Communists, and which wanted to remain in South Korea.

At this point U.N. officers struck a hard core of Communists prisoners who objected to screening. However, the American command simply detoured this hard core, segregating them in compound 67, and went on to prisoners who were easier to deal with.

4-H CLUB NOTES

Marvin Davenport, District 4-H Club Agent

The 4-H Club reporter says:

About seven 4-H Club members in Inosco county have circled June 30 on their calendars as the day 4-H Club Camp at Michigan State College gets under way. Final preparations are being made by more than 1,400 lower peninsula youngsters who will converge on the East Lansing campus for their 34th annual camp. Marvin Davenport, 4-H Club agent, announced today.

A well-rounded program of educational and recreational activities has been set for the four-day meeting. Facilities of the college, including the modern Shaw Dormitory, will be turned over to the 4-H'ers.

Blossoms, blossoms everywhere and hormone sprays a plenty! Early tomatoes are as a result of the use of hormone sprays on these first blossoms. A night temperature below 60 degrees F is not conducive to natural setting of blossoms. That is where the hormone sprayer comes in. Don't use a fly sprayer or garden sprayer to apply it. The spray must be directed on the open blossom. Follow the manufacturer directions.

Lenora Hass, our county librarian tells me she has a copy of the "4-H Club Story." Why don't you ask her for it if you want to read about how 4-H Club work got its start? It is well written and worth your attention.

Delores Runyan, Burleigh Wizards 4-H Club secretary has sent in a list of new members: Ted Goupil, Maurice Bellville, Tommy Dorsey, Kathleen Provost, Larry Bowen, and Harold Provost. Marie Chipps, Vice President, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president.

Sally Ann Runyan tells me that Marie Sabin has joined their flower garden club. We know she will get a lot out of 4-H Club work. The girls in Mrs. Douglass' club apparently exhibited in the flower arrangement class at Mio. That is good experience for our young people.

Patricia Williams tells me their club has done some project re-arranging with the guidance of Norman Sibley, their 4-H Club leader. At their next meeting they will be completing plans for their July 18 4-H Club tour. The Taft Jr. Farmers club reporters reports that they attend their regular 4-H meeting June 2 at the Reno school conducted by President Lloyd Hutchinson. Our local leader, Norman Sibley, read some changes to be made in some of our projects. The Jr. leaders passed out some bulletins to the members. Songs were led by Victor Johnson.

June 5th, our leader, Norman Sibley and the Jr. Leaders met at the school and discussed many things of importance that should be taken care of soon.

This is Sally Ranger's report of the Hale Flower garden club's trip to the Mio Iris Show. Recently some of the flower gardening girls of Hale went to the Iris Show in Mio. The girls who went were: Sherrill Scofield, Sonja McGirr, Mary Jane Douglass, Joan Bielby and Sally Ranger. Seven of our members entered exhibits in the show, with two winning ribbons. They were Mary Jane and Sally. Mary Jane won first on her corsage and Sally third on her arrangement. We had a lot of fun. We took a sack lunch for one dinner and ate it by the AuSable river. We enjoyed the flowers very much. They showed some movies of Iris after we at supper.

Jack Burt, Pavo Bloomquist and Jim Laidlaw were in my office about their demonstrations. With the assistance of Robert Dubrish, Standard Oil Company representative, Jim and Pavo have added a lot of new angles to their demonstrations.

Don Phillips and Charles Nash of East Tawas are co-leading a 4-H archery club. At the first meeting, Junior Leader Robert Jones was busy getting acquainted with names such as Herb Wendt, Joanne Wendt, Martha Westcott, Bill Freel, Joyce Freel, Garry Chevy, Neil Gottlieb, Roxie Roach, Randy Fox and others. Bob's reports should keep you well informed of their club's progress.

The Hale Vegetable Garden Club had a judging practice session at the home of Mrs. Blanche Douglass. The boys really got an insight on judging.

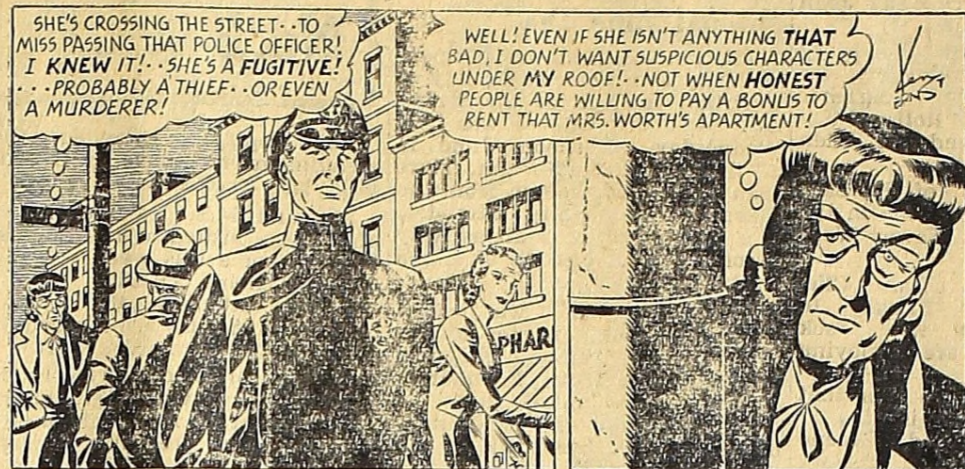

Our 4-H Club Camp is just around the corner—June 25 to 28. Are you going? Swimming, softball, volleyball, archery demonstrations, wildlife study and movies will be in store for those attending.

Our 4-H Club week delegates to Michigan State College will be in East Lansing June 30 to July 3. They will be a part of the 1200 delegates attending this program. It will include Beverly Pringle, Pavo Bloomquist, Robert Douglass, Patricia Williams, Leslie Pfahl, Ailene Ward and Richard Aulerich. Ask them about their trip when they return.

Calendar of Coming Events:
Friday, June 20, Grass Day at James Mielock farm on M-55.
Wednesday, Thursday Friday and Saturday, June 25 to 28, Hardwood Lake 4-H Club camp.

3 Promotions Made at D. & M.

Promotions in rank were handed to three veteran audit department members recently, according to an announcement released by A. J. Sevener. Boasting a total of 101 years of railroad service between them, the three men are: Fred B. Lomas, Pat H. Mulholland and Henry Etherington.

The announcement of the promotions listed the following title assignments: Pat Mulholland, Assistant to Auditor-Revenues; F. B. Lomas, Assistant Auditor Disbursements; and Henry Etherington, Station accountant and travel auditor.

Lomas' assignment follows various positions, all on the D. & M., commencing in 1920 when he started as laborer in the mechanical department at Tawas. Following that job, he became crew caller and car department bill clerk and later, came to the general office as clerk in the time keeping department. Then followed positions as claim clerk and statistical clerk, audit office, chief timekeeper, payroll accountant and since 1945, disbursement accountant.

Mulholland started his career in railroading with the old B. C. G. & A., also known as the "White Line," in 1917 as station clerk. The following year he was appointed agent, which position he held until 1928 when he came to the D. & M. at Alpena as rate clerk in the freight office. In 1936 he became rate clerk in the audit office, Tawas City and later, revenue accountant.

Etherington began his railroad career in 1918 as a clerk in the local office of the Temaskaming and Northern Ontario (now the Ontario Northland Railroad) at Swastika, Ontario. After about two years of railroad, he took time out for a course at Shaw's business college in Toronto and then returned to railroading with the Canadian National as relief agent. He later transferred to similar work with the Michigan Central and in 1920, came to the D. & M. as agent at Twining. He subsequently held the position of agent at Cheboygan and National City. He transferred to the audit office in 1946 as chief clerk and traveling auditor. Etherington boasts of having worked as clerk-operator or relief agent at over forty stations in Ontario and Michigan.
