Prescott Award Will Again be Given at Hale Fair

Thurman Scofield announced today following a meeting of the Iosco County Agricultural Association, that the George A. Prescott award will be continued for the 1952 Fair scheduled to open at Hale, September 17.

The Prescott award had been given annually to deserving 4-H Club boys and girls selected by an impartial committee who based their final choice upon both the individual and his current project. Last year's award went to four young people representing different parts of the county who out-performed rivals in dress making, poultry and hog raising and calf feeding. The award saw these four youngsters attend a football game at Michigan State College, an overnight stay at the new Kellogg Foundation and a general visit of the State College campus with all expenses paid.

This year Wayne Soper, elevator owner of Prescott, has joined Prescott in making the award possible. It is hoped that the department for 4-H Club boys and girls may be continued annually as the Prescott and Soper Award for outstanding youngsters of our community.

In 1895, soon after her marriage to Con Cooper, and when the Locke Mill was moved to Grand Marais, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper took up their residence in the Upper Peninsula. Evolution of Organization in Michigan School Districts

We wrote last week concerning the evolution of school reorganization in the United States. We noted that the movement has been termed, "The struggle against the small district system," and that it began in the cities where the serious conditions caused the ward system to be changed to the city unit. Buffalo was the first city in the United States to so reorganize.

We will consider this week the evolution of school reorganization in Michigan in particular. The laws of New England creating the small administrative units of the schools was in keeping with the times in America which demanded local control and "democracy" in governmental affairs. The small district system spread from New England to New York, and was taken from there by the settlers to Michigan and other western states. Ohio adopted the system in 1821; Illinois in 1825; and Michigan in 1837.

The reorganization of the schools in Michigan began as it did in the United States; that is, by the unifying of the city school systems. In Detroit, for example, there were private and church schools as early as 1816. The first public school was founded in the second ward in 1838. Data show that in 1840 a total of 895 children were attending seven public schools there. The same data show that at this time there were 2,036 children between the ages of five and 17 in the city. After a bitterly contested election in 1842, the people voted to ask the legislature to form one system. The legislative act which followed later in 1842 was the first law for school reorganization in the state. The city of Saginaw, too, was two separate districts until 1926.

As indicated above, the first enactment of the Michigan legislature dealing with the reorganization of schools concerns itself with cities. Since then, six (Continued No. 4, Back Page)

Detroit Boy Drowns in Lake Huron

A 14-year old Detroit boy was drowned Wednesday in Lake Huron, north of Oscoda.

The victim was Norman Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Green of Detroit.

He had been fishing with Paul Awe and his two children of Detroit. Out in a boat about 150 yards from the beach, the boy decided to go ashore. Before Mr. Awe could stop him the boy jumped into the water and started to swim. When about one-third of the way, he cried for help. Before Mr. Awe could reach him with his row boat the boy had disappeared beneath the waves.

After dragging for nearly an hour the Oscoda Fire Department Rescue Squad discovered the body floating beneath the surface. A resuscitator was used but the boy had been in the water too long.

Why He Failed

Lesson for August 17, 1952

THERE IS NO such thing as a "nation" apart from the people who compose it. Destroy the people, destroy the nation; build up the people, build up the nation. Some people are, of course, key persons. What they do and are affects a vast number of people besides themselves. Such persons can make the difference between failure and success for an entire nation. Their tragedy or triumph is their nation's tragedy or triumph. Suppose Napoleon and Hitler had been at last successful? Suppose Alfred the Great and Abraham Lincoln had failed?

Dr. Foreman

A Double-Minded Man

SAUL, first king of Israel, is a tragic illustration of all this. He was a big handsome man with a creditable war-record; so the people elected him as their first king. It was not the first time, nor the last, that a man's military record has misled people to believe that he was good in other respects as a leader.

Saul had some serious defects in his character, so serious that they led to his personal failure. One of these faults was a general instability. He would make promises and not keep them.

You could not be sure whether he was friend or foe. He turned against members of his own family. He professed to want to know God's will and yet he would not do it. He officially stamped out witchcraft and yet he consulted a witch when in trouble. He would make vows and then back down from them. "A double-minded man is unstable in all his ways," it would be written many centuries later. Such a man makes a poor follower, and a fatally bad leader.

A Jealous Man

JEALOUSY is a word too often limited. It should not be confined to the way a boy feels when another one is stealing his girl, or vice versa. It refers to the mean feeling people have about any one who in any way, as they think, is out to "do them in."

Now this King Saul was a jealous man, as most dictators are. One of the great kings of Egypt could not bear to think of any other king as having built better buildings than he; so he employed the royal chisellers to remove from every public building the name of any other Pharaoh and replace it with his own.

King Saul could not be jealous of the kings before him; for there were none. But he could be insanely jealous of any one he thought might be more popular than himself.

So we find him pursuing David vindictively, relentlessly, first making an outlaw of him, then a fugitive among Israel's enemies.

A Superstitious Man

THE FAMOUS STORY (Chap. 28) of Saul and the witch at En-Dor raises a number of questions to which nobody has the guaranteed answers. One thing, however, is clear from that story: Saul was a superstitious man. He thought that the dead could be conjured right out of the ground.

Whether the woman of En-Dor actually conjured Samuel up, or only induced Saul to think she did, the reader must judge for himself. The point is that Saul, who paid small attention to Samuel living, was very eager to talk with his ghost.

Superstition marks a man as full of fears, for fear is the food of superstitions. Fear also was the root of Saul's jealousy; and fear at last drove him to suicide. True leaders must be made of sterner stuff.

A Disloyal Man

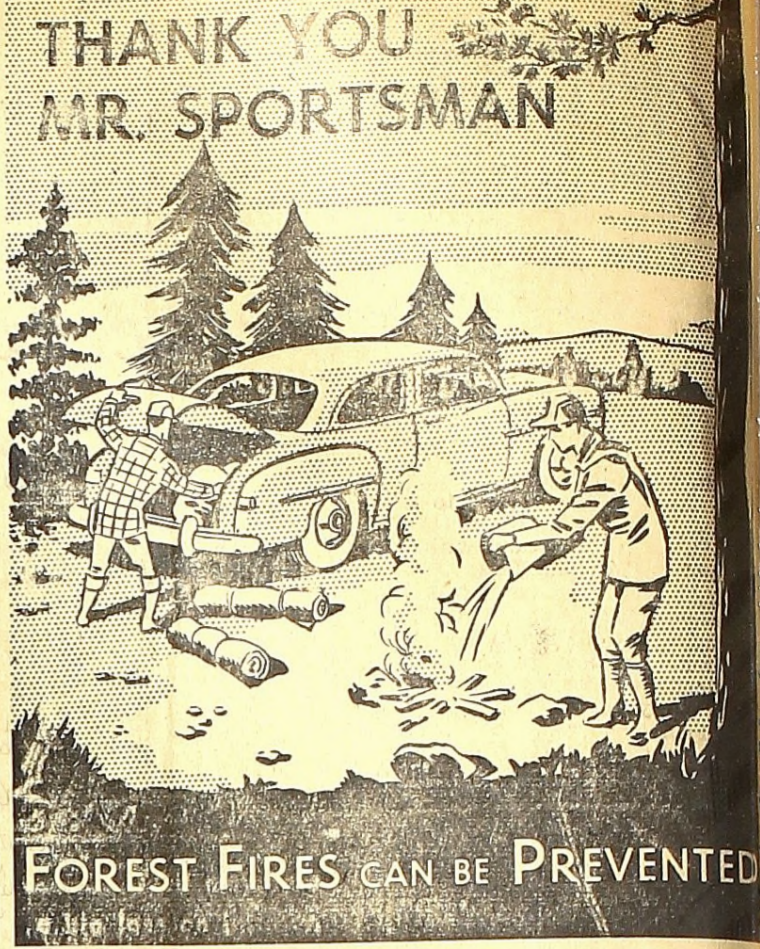

SAUL FAILED not only because he was shifty, jealous and a coward. He failed because he was disloyal to God.

His public career began by his recognizing in Samuel a prophet of God, and in Samuel's instructions the will of God. But as time went on he took counsel only with himself; he listened to Samuel only when it was convenient. And so God rejected him.

Whatever a man's qualifications may be, if he compromises his own ideals, if he will not live up to what he recognizes to be best, if he will not listen to men of God, if he sets his own will above the will of the people, even above the will of God, then he is not only not a wise leader, he is a very bad one.

BUICK'S POWER STEERING?
It's the big NEWS of the year

There is a host of things that endear a ROADMASTER to anyone who loves to drive. There's the might of its Fireball 8 Engine—most powerful ever put in a Buick. There's the thrift of its Airpower carburetor—a four-barrel automatic that literally brings increased power right out of thin air. There's its hushed and luxurious silence—its poised and level ride that cost a million dollars to develop—and the infinite smoothness of its Dynaflo Drive.

But the thing that has brought the most cheers for this big and obedient beauty is Buick's version of Power Steering.*

Gone is the tug of turning, parking, maneuvering in small space. Power Steering takes over the effort of turning the front wheels—makes it a one-hand operation.

Do you have to learn to drive all over again if you have this new Buick feature?

You definitely do not. On the open road, you have that same sure sense of command that you've always had. Coming out of a curve, you can loosen your grip, and the front wheels right themselves just as they do on every Buick.

But you'll notice this: When you suddenly hit loose dirt or sand—or a stretch of rough road—Power Steering smoothly goes into action—helps take up the jerk—makes control of the wheel easier and driving safer.

Wouldn't you like to try out this newest wonder—on a ROADMASTER or a SUPER? You say the word, and we'll do the rest.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

Pontiac Couple
Receive Toast of Tawas Jackpot

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Seaman, 173 Raeburn st., Pontiac, Michigan, were this week's happy recipients of the gigantic jackpot of gifts, meals, fishing trip, overnight accommodations and entertainments awarded to them, as the safe driving winners of the "Toast of the Tawas." Mr. and Mrs. Seaman had spent some time in Cheyboyan, and were on their way to the Tawas to test a boat that Mr. Seaman had recently completed.

The family were veteran tourists of northern Michigan, but had been unable to visit the northland in the past two and one half years, due to Mr. Seaman's recall into the Navy. This being their first trip since his release in February, they were doubly thrilled by their Tawas reception. Their two daughters, Jean, 6; and Marjorie, 7, appeared to be twins despite a years difference in their ages and were alike in their excitement and enthusiasm over their "big surprise". Although the Seaman's originally intended to stay overnight in the Tawas, they extended their visit and didn't leave until Monday morning of this week.

Mr. Seaman, since his return to Pontiac, has been employed by the General Motors Truck and Coach Co., of that city, and was not only very grateful to the Tawas for their hospitality but promised to return soon to again enjoy the "Hospitality Bay" area.

SUGAR NOT ESSENTIAL
Sugar is not essential to preservation of food in canning. It does improve the flavor and appearance, but is not essential. This answers the question of concern to many people whose diets will not permit sugar. It is the heat used in processing which kills the bacteria and preserves the fruit.
Mold on fruit can be prevented by canning the fruit in the jars, and following the directions for safe processing.

TO AVOID SHRINKAGE
Insist upon cotton garments that are labeled "sanforized" if you want to avoid shrinkage that will seriously alter the fit of the garment. Two percent shrinkage means that a women's dress will be about one inch shorter, and five percent shrinkage will change a size 16 to a size 14 in width and a size 12 in length.

HIGH WATER TAKES TOLL
High water is taking its toll of the beautiful trees in the Prescott Park, when the first big elm fell recently. Maple, white ash and elm saplings were planted in 1908 after the slabs and sawdust were covered with a deep layer of sand. A load of sand cost $3.00 in those days, stated L. H. Braddock today. Nearly a dozen of the large trees are now standing in water a foot deep.
3 Detroit Youths Arrested
Three Detroit youths were arrested Monday night for breaking and entering and pilfering. The arrests were made by Trooper Max Waterbury of the Michigan State Police.
The three arrested were Joseph J. Thomas, 18; Joseph C. Cusano, 18; and Richard Montanbault, 17. While making a hitch-hiking tour through this area, they broke into several cabins in AuSable township.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

STOLES are fashion-right this year. It's not unusual for a woman to have two or three of them in her wardrobe to harmonize with her outfits. For over her best frocks, dramatic white or black stoles are very effective; for casual wear, the gayer shades are more appropriate. Stoles have even found their place at the beach in terry cloth which are being worn over wet bathing suits.

WHERE DID STOLES COME FROM?

The stole, as it is worn today, evolved from the fur shoulder scarf which was originated in the early 1900's. However, the first stole known was an ecclesiastical vestment, narrow at the neck and shoulders and becoming wider at the front. These garments, usually embroidered and fringed, are still worn in the church today. Actually, the wrap-around shoulder scarf is not exclusively a 20th century fashion. The modern stole resembles the shawl worn by women throughout history. Perhaps the only difference between the two would be that the stole is used primarily as a decorative accessory, whereas shawls have been known as more practical garments to be worn as a protection against the elements.

EASY TO MAKE

For the beginning crocheter, knitter or sewer, stoles are among the easiest items with which to start. There is no fitting involved, no corners to turn, no involved trimmings to contend with. Just one uncomplicated piece to make—it's like walking down a straight road; there are no deviations to confuse you.

DRAMATIC CROCHETED STOLE

Drape yourself in a brilliant white stole which will add a look of luxury to your dress. This design has a pocket which adds a distinctive touch to this wrap-around—it's practical for carrying a compact and comb; it's extra pretty when you pin a flower or rhinestone cluster on it. In a wink, you'll learn the few simple stitches necessary for making this bit of loveliness. Once you've learned the basic chain stitch, single, double and half crochet stitches (these are the only stitches required for this stole), you'll find that you have a good starting knowledge for crocheting almost anything. Directions for crocheting a NIGHT LIFE stole may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and requesting Leaflet No. WS 104.

New Books

The county library has two new novels about England during the fourteenth and fifteenth century. "The Golden Hand," by Edith Simon is a historical novel of the English Peasant Revolt, the Black Death and the building of the Cathedral of St. Hand. It is the men and women of the story—the lords and ladies, the serfs and serving maids, the priest, the outlaw, the pilgrims, the lepers, that hold the reader from page to page. The builders and neighbors of the Cathedral are made into real people and "The Golden Hand" is their story. "The Green Madonna," by C. E. L'Ami, is the story of fifteenth century England, in an era of adventure and intrigue, when many a lord and prelate ruled his manor by whim and fancy rather than by right and God ... when the common man's slaving earned him nothing and serfs met in secret to plot and plan. The author has recreated the life and thought of a by-gone age into a novel that holds much meaning in our modern times.

"Heaven and Earth," by Carlo Coccioli, marks a new departure from contemporary Italian literature by striking a clear note of grandeur and hope. A man's relationship with his Church, his people and his God is the theme of this moving novel about the life of a zealous priest in war-torn Italy.

New mystery and suspense stories are "Epitaph For a Spy," by Eric Ambler, "A Town of Masks," by Dorothy Salisbury Davis and "The Thin Line," by Edward Atiyah.

The county bookmobile has now finished all of its summer visits to the reading clubs. Sand Lake had eight children receive certificates for reading 10 or more books and also having perfect attendance at the bookmobile. They were Charlyoo McCormick, Judy Frank, Louis Kendall, Gloria Frank, Laurence Frank, Jerry Byrne, Doris Getchel and Janice Pardee. Carol Pingle also earned a certificate.

Taft School had an active group with 10 earning certificates. Marilyn Clemens, Janet Clemens, Wanda Charters and James Smith had perfect attendance records as well. Others earning certificates were Byron Charters, Allen Clemens, Sharon Charters, Martha Smith, Shirley Smith and Ruth Smith. Janice Byrd, Donald Byrd, Stanley Byrd, Coral Ann Wildey, Wayne Wildey had perfect attendance and earned certificates at Long Lake. Margo Neff and Susan Keller also earned certificates.

Hale had 12 children read 10 or more books. They were Gloria Riley, Pat Riley, Daryle Salisbury, Dennis Chrivia, Dale Bielby, Gary French Bill Holzheuer, Donald Drenberg, Vern Ranger, Ronald Wyatt, Mary Lou Bannister and Wilma Wool- ever.

Keep costs down, performance up, with a Dodge

"My Dodge trucks save a lot of money on gas!"

says H. A. ROBINSON
Contract Hauler,
Mobile, Ala.

"On a 200-mile run I save 1 1/2 to 2 gallons of gas. I get this saving seven days a week, and on my two trucks that means I save over $300.00 a year on gas alone. That's good, because each of my trucks makes an average of 50 stops per day hauling mail.

"My first Dodge truck cost me only $54.00 of repair expense in two years. I ran my second Dodge over 103,000 miles in two years and spent only $15.50 on it for repairs.

"If I'd known what I know now about Dodge trucks, I'd have switched to them long ago and saved myself a lot of money."

- ▶ Haul at lower cost with a Dodge truck — 1/2- through 4-ton—that's "Job-Rated" to fit your job.
- ▶ Boost gasoline mileage with features like high-compression ratio and special gas-saving carburetor.
- ▶ Reduce upkeep with such wear-saving features as floating oil intake and positive-pressure lubrication.
- ▶ Enjoy super-smooth performance with Gyrol Fluid Drive, wear-protecting advantage available on all 1/2-, 3/4-, 1-ton and Route-Van models.
- ▶ Come in for a demonstration—and a good deal!

Save on gas and oil. All 8 Dodge truck engines give exceptional economy with plenty of power. You get advantages like lightweight aluminum pistons, improved fuel system with economy control, precision-balanced crankshaft, and other money-saving features.

Save on maintenance. Rugged engines and chassis make Dodge trucks famous for dependability. Upkeep costs stay low because of special Dodge features like 4-ring pistons, chrome-plated top ring, and wear-resisting exhaust valve seat inserts.

Save with long life. Because Dodge trucks last so long, depreciation is less and trade-in value stays up. Long life and dependability are result of such features as alloy steel springs, shot-peened axle shafts, and extra-sturdy frames.

WORK FAST WHEN CANNING FRUIT

No one likes fruit that has acquired a brownish discoloration. It often happens to fruits during the canning period, and here is why. Browning results when peeled fruit stands exposed to the air. Work fast with not too large an amount at one time is a good success rule. Another precaution is to place peeled slices of fruit such as apples, peaches and pears in a solution made with two tablespoons of vinegar and two tablespoons of salt added to a gallon of cold water during the preparation period.

A third preventative is to use the hot pack method of canning, that means the fruit is heated clear through in hot syrup before it is packed into jars for processing. And in processing use the correct length of time, not too much—not too little.

Should you need an up to date time table for processing, one will be sent to you upon request. Just address it to your home demonstration agent, Federal Building, East Tawas.

His bridge spans an ocean

From the bridge—command center of this great seagoing city—the captain watches his implacable foe, the sea. For he knows that in his hands rests the final responsibility for the safety of hundreds.

The captain directs his ship toward the distant port with the sureness that comes only from years of training and experience.

In planning insurance protection, too, training and experience can bridge many perils.

State 4-H Club Show Aug. 26-29

Whether it's raising a fat hog, pitching a low curve on a softball diamond, or turning out a pan of tender muffins—Michigan 4-H youth will have their talents on parade the last week in August.

Plans for the 37th annual State 4-H Club Show on the campus of Michigan State College are set for August 26 through 29, according to Verne Freeman, acting state 4-H Club leader. More than 500 classes of competition will attract contestants from all over the state. About 2,000 members are expected to be on the MSC campus for the full week. Many more will be on hand for just one day. Housing facilities will be available in Shall Hall on the campus, Freeman said.

Money premiums and top honors are goals for members who will exhibit their year's project work. Highest honors will go to two boys and two girls in the achievement booth class. They will earn trips to the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C., next year. Other members will participate in national competition after copping highest honors at the state show.

Last week training and eliminations were held at Gaylord for members in the northern part of the lower peninsula. On July 28, a week-long 4-H Club Week got under way at Camp Shaw in Chatham for upper peninsula members, Freeman said.

Final judging and eliminations will be held in East Lansing the first two weeks in August to pare down the contestants for the State Show.

Iosco County's part of the 2,000 delegates will be Joanne Wendt as a Food Demonstrator, Pavo Bloomquist and James Laidlaw as Tractor Maintenance Demonstrators and Doreen Strauer and Aileen Ward as Clothing Judging contestants.

RESEARCH PAYS OFF

There's been a lot of talk about farmer-hunter relations in Michigan and there's going to be a lot more. In the heavily populated southern and southeastern parts of the state the hunting army is growing bigger every year. The main target is the pheasant and most of the good pheasant-hunting territory is privately owned by hard-working farmers who aren't too fond of trespassers. Hence the "relations" problem. The State is stepping in as peace-maker, putting itself in the farmer's place in a huge research project at Rose Lake near East Lansing.

protective cover in the weed growth along the ditches or fence rows, or in the woodlot. The Rose Lake Station can show you, with proof in practice, that the simple planting of rapidly growing multiflora rose along the fence rows will produce excellent habitat for pheasant and rabbits the year 'round. The multiflora hedge will beautify your farm, too.

Other types of bushy vegetation can be recommended for ditch edges and gullies. Such planting not only helps game but holds the soil together and halts erosion. The wooded section of the farm can be improved, too. A certain amount of cutting is essential—and with the proper treatment you'll not only have more abundant wildlife but the woodlot will give you more valuable timber, too.

Attitude Toward Hunters
With more game on your farm you'll be inclined to allow the well-behaved hunter to hunt over your property—and you can be mighty sure that, with the adequate cover you've helped nature provide, there's no danger of killing off all of your wildlife. Plenty of seed stock will always remain—another point that's been proven conclusively at the Rose Lake project where hunting is permitted under a so-many-guns-per-acre regulation.

If you farmers are interested in a plan to improve your farm to encourage more wildlife population, drop a line to the Game Division in our Conservation Department at Lansing. They're not selling anything. They're giving it away for the everlasting benefit of Michigan Outdoors!

More Wildlife Per Acre

If the farmer's interested—and many of them are—the Conservation Department can show him how to improve his property easily and most inexpensively so that it will support the maximum amount of game without affecting his crop production. At the Rose Lake Wildlife Experiment Station an intensive study of game populations and good game cover has been going on for several years. The Station is built around typical farm land. More than 600 acres is actually under cultivation, so this is a research problem that's entirely practical.

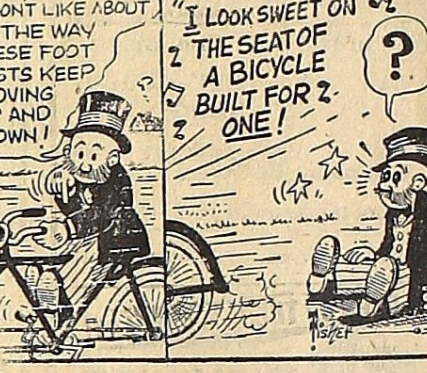

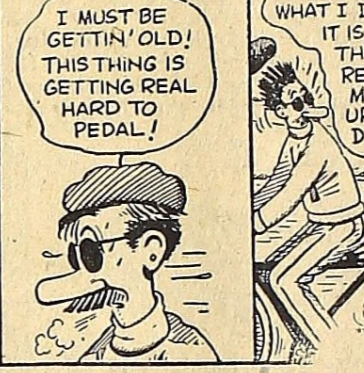

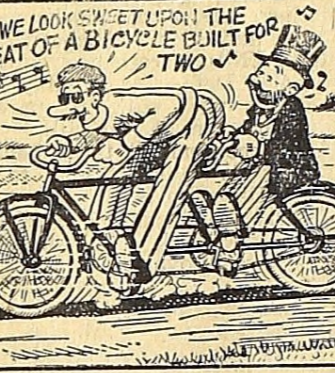

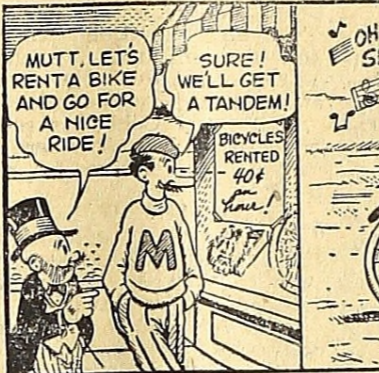

Application of Plan

Let's suppose you're an average Michigan farmer. Your farm includes some perfectly flat acreage, a few gullies or drainage ditches here and there, fence rows, and maybe a woodlot or two. Any game on your farm must find

OPEN PHYSIOTHERAPY OFFICE IN TAWAS

Mrs. Geraldine Lemon has recently opened her office in Tawas City. She received her four year training at Bedford Physical Training College, and the Middlesex Hospital, Physiotherapy School, London, England, successfully passing the Chartered Society of Physiotherapy's examination on completion of her training. She worked in English Hospitals during all the war years, latterly heading an 800 bed municipal hospital's rehabilitation unit. During these years the physiotherapy departments were filled with air-raid and service casualties, fractures, gunshot wounds, chest injuries, paralytic-stage polios, nerve injuries, sprained joints and strained muscles, all seeking relief from pain, and aiming at getting as good a restoration of function as possible with the cooperation of surgeon, physician, physiotherapist, nurse and patient. The "team" as it was called.

Mrs. Lemon married Charles Lemon, a Canadian, and came to Canada in 1946, where she worked for two years at Ontario's Workman's Compensation Board Hospital and Convalescent Center just outside Toronto, where all major industrial accidents from the Province received treatment.

For the last two years she has had her own office in Hagsville, Ontario, giving all types of physical treatment, short-wave diathermy, electrical stimulation, specialized exercises, massage as required, working in close cooperation with the local doctors, the compensation boards and the army camp situated a few miles away.

Her husband is a mining engineer working for the U. S. Gypsum Co., and was transferred to Alabaster in the Spring of this year.

was Area will soon be given a chance to decide whether or not one district will be formed from the 13. As a result, this is the enactment with which we are the most interested. Next week we hope to give a somewhat intensive study of the law in relation of the proposed reorganization of the local area.
